DRESS and MANTLE MAKING

The Fashionable West End. To the Ladies: We have during the past two years contemplated the establishment of a Dress Making Department, in connection with our other branches. The difficulty of obtaining a suitable person to take charge, has, up to the present time, only prevented us from doing so. We have now great pleasure in informing you that we have secured the services of Miss Morrison, of Toronto, a lady of first-class abilities, highly recommended to us, and we believe eminently qualified to give complete satisfaction in every respect. Miss Morrison has for the past ten years occupied a stylish and elegant and fitted in one of the leading Fashionable Dress Making Establishments in the City of Toronto. Miss Morrison is also an experienced Mantle maker, and all orders entrusted to her will be executed in a style equal to anything that can be obtained in the largest cities. Orders for these departments will be received on and after Monday next, the 4th of May. A. O. BUCHAN, Fashionable West End Dress, Mantle and Millinery Establishment.

FROST - Guelph and vicinity was visited this morning by another hard frost which severely injured the fruit blossoms, &c. Sundry "too bads" are to be heard at all points to-day, not to mention the particular sort of "shame" by which one citizen characterized it.
THE RACES OF MANKIND - This is a publication in parts which, when complete, will make a rare addition to any library. It is a description of the characteristics, manners, and customs of the principal varieties of the human family, profusely illustrated. For sale at Anderson's bookstore.
OBTAINED THE PATENT - The Bruce Reporter understands that the W. G. & B. R. Co. have obtained from the Government the patent of the reserve at the harbor for which they recently applied. When the necessary buildings are erected thereon, a great improvement will be effected in the appearance of that portion of the town of Kincardine.
MOUNT ROLL ASSASSINMENT - The assessment roll just revised shows the following totals: Real estate resident roll, $158,660; real estate non-resident, $14,700; making a total real estate, $173,360; personal estate and taxable income, $28,650; grand total resident and non-resident rolls, $202,040; acres assessed, -resident 588, non-resident 116; total acres assessed, 704; cattle, 127; sheep, 18; hogs, 20; horses, 90. It also shows a population of 1,658 souls.
BURGLARY - From the Orangeville Advertiser we learn that burglars entered the railway office at the Orangeville station, drilled a hole in the safe, and blew it open with powder, taking all the money deposited in it, amounting to about $200. Some workmen who were engaged on the line were suspected, and searched, but no evidence was obtained that they were the guilty parties. It is now generally believed to have been done by professionals.
HIBERNICA - The advance agent of this talented Company, Mr. H. A. B. Williams, was in Town yesterday making arrangements for two Exhibitions to be given in the Town Hall on the 4th and 5th June. The Hibernica represents scenes in Ireland and is presented in connection with the pleasing Irish drama entitled "Kitty O'Connor," with Dan Morris as Barney the Guide, supported by a company of twenty ladies and gentlemen. The press and private individuals speak highly of the performance, and we are sure they will receive a "bumper" house in Guelph.
BASE BALL NOTES. Maple Leaf's attend the meeting to be held at the Queen's to-night. Special. The 3rd game of the championship series between the Philadelphia and Baltimore nine on Thursday afternoon ended in the defeat of the latter by a score of 3 to 6. Time 1h. 40m. The Mutuals went through the Harvard's on the same afternoon in Boston to the tune of 8 to 3. 2h. 10m. The Milton prize was won by the Scotch Club by a score of 61 to 30. Such fielding as that wouldn't do in Guelph. The Silver Stars of Georgetown are angry because the Guelph Union didn't face them on the 24th. How was it?
A Dog's Race with a Locomotive. Passengers on the noon train Sunday on the Boston and Providence road were quite interested in a pointer dog. The canine would not violate the rules which forbid passengers to stand on the platform, and he was too modest to enter the passenger car, which was crowded, principally by ladies. His master was in a dilemma, and before he had time to resolve what to do the train started, and so did the dog. The locomotive whistled, screeched, and the dog yelped defiance as the race began. At times the ambitious animal would be ahead of the engine and then he would fall behind. Every window in the train had a head or two peering out watching the race, and all sympathized with the dog. He seemed to realize that he was an object of interest, as he would make an occasional snort and show terrific speed. Between the Health Street Station and Boylston, the Stoney Brook runs under the railroad, and the bridge is not planked. The pointer went pell-mell between the guides and down into the stream. But he suddenly emerged and regained the track, and reached Boylston just as the train stopped. Had it been any other day than Sunday the dog would have been saluted with hearty cheers by the ladies and gentlemen whose interest he excited. As it was, he gave three yelps for himself and almost upset his master, so glad was he at meeting him on terra firma. - Boston Times.
RECORDED DEATH - The Walkerton Telephone says: - It is rumored that Joseph Walker, the father of the Town, died a few days ago at Manitowish Island. On enquiry, we learn that, while the report may possibly turn out to be correct, as yet it has not been confirmed. Colin Campbell has just arrived here from Manitowish, and he states that when he left, Mr. Walker was suffering from a severe illness, from which he was not expected to recover. From this fact the story of the old gentleman's death originated.
A boy the other day swallowed a clock-work toy. The thing was wound up, and they say there was a terrible time when it began to revolve in his stomach.

He was afflicted with Bright's disease of the kidneys, but the immediate cause of death was paralysis. Having been a free mason for many years, and Chaplain of the Order, he was interred with Masonic honors.
FAST TIME - On Fleetwood course, on Wednesday morning, Mr. Bonner drove his famous stallion "Startle," to a road wagon, the first quarter in 84 seconds, the second quarter in 83 seconds, making the half mile in 1 minute 7 seconds. This is the fastest half-mile ever trotted to a road wagon by any horse except the great "Dexter."
BURNED TO DEATH - One day last week an Indian, name unknown, who had been working in the bush on the 4th concession of West Flamboro, near Millgrove, went to his shanty to prepare his dinner, when, it is supposed, he accidentally set fire to the building, and was first smothered, and then burned in a horrible manner.
SINGULAR DEATH OF A BURGLAR - While a family were watching the Great Eastern Circus on Thursday at Windsor, three men entered the house for the purpose of robbery. They were discovered, and one of them jumped through a window, cutting the artery of his leg. He ran around the block, then fell down, and in about five minutes was dead from the loss of blood. The two others escaped through the back door.
RIS BROKEN - On Thursday morning, when the telegram was received that the Oakville bridge was in flames, the G. W. R. Fire Brigade, Hamilton, was ordered out to be sent to extinguish the flames. While a reel was being hurried out of an engine house, a fireman named Towley was caught by the hub of a wheel against the door jamb, and was seriously crushed. A rib on the right side was broken and some severe bruises sustained.
LADY CRITICS - A committee of fifty or sixty ladies, of approved literary and religious tastes, has been selected from several churches of Boston, whose duty it is to discuss all unprofitable and improper books already in the Sunday school libraries. Their meetings are held semi-monthly, and the merits of thousands of books have already been discussed. Nearly four thousand books have been examined, and only one thousand have been accepted, from which the severity of their criticism may be inferred.
BURGLARY AND ARREST - No small excitement was created in Port Erie by the arrest of several parties on Thursday afternoon for breaking into the Grand Trunk cars. Two men, Joseph Lannagan, bailiff, and John Forsyth, have been sent to jail, and another was undergoing examination before the magistrate. On Friday afternoon two others were arrested in Buffalo, and warrants are out for the arrest of several more. Some tea and dress goods were found on the premises of Joseph Lannagan.
PRESENTED TO THE QUEEN - The following Canadians were presented to Her Majesty at the drawing-room, held at Buckingham Palace on the 8th inst. - Sir Hugh Allan; by the Earl of Kimberley; Lady Allan, by Countess Granville; in the absence of Countess Kimberley; Miss Abbott, by Countess Granville; in the absence of Lady Kimberley; Hon. J. C. Abbott, member of Executive Council, Canada, by the Secretary of State; Major John Walker, Canadian Militia, by Sir Hugh Allan; Mrs. John Walker, by Lady Allan; Miss Walker, by Lady Nugent.
ONE OF THE SIX HUNDRED - One of the survivors of the six hundred heroes of the battle of Balaklava, says the Chicago Inter-Ocean, has recently come to this city from Canada. This gentleman entered the British service as a private in the ranks and served in India and the Crimean campaigns. He was frequently promoted for his soldier-like qualities until he attained a captaincy. In the "Charge of the Light Brigade" he received eleven wounds, six of which were severe enough to leave permanent scars. His story is that the "noble six hundred" was ordered to "charge for the guns," all thought they had an easy task in the capture of a few field pieces. They never dreamed, he says, of the 30,000 Russians who were lying in wait behind the batteries; 500 were killed on the field, and only one escaped unscathed; yet in spite of the storm of shot and shell they spiked the guns, and all that were left of them found their way back to the British lines. Of the survivors of this memorable charge, three are now in England, two in Canada, and one in Chicago. They each receive a pension of £100 per annum from the British Government. After the Indian campaign the gentleman sold his commission and came to America.

THIS MORNING'S DESPATCHES

Report Denied. George Francis Train. The Greeley Statute. Proposed Settlement. $300,000 Reward. Boston Fire--Total Loss. New York, May 31. A Washington dispatch says the report that Gen. Davis has allowed any portion of the surrendered Modocs to be armed and sent in pursuit of Captain Jack is wholly discredited by the Secretary of War, and Army Officers generally. Self-respect, it is added, would prevent him from engaging murderers to do the work assigned to soldiers. George Francis Train leaves at once for Europe, after instituting proceedings for $50,000 each against Surgeon Gen'l. Hammond, Doctors Clymer, Parsons, Andrews and Cross, for malicious libel. He also brings suits against Wm. E. Dodge, Morris K. Jessup, Anthony Comstock, Judge Davis, and others, whom he charges were instrumental in keeping him in prison. The subscription to the Greeley statute now in the hands of Mr. Whitelaw Reid amounts to $10,688. An effort is being made to effect a settlement with the creditors of the late Banking House of Bowes Bros., by the payment of 50 per cent. of indebtedness free of expense to the creditors. It is said that a reward of nearly three hundred thousand dollars is dependent on the extradition of Macdonnell, the alleged Bank of England forger, and in whose behalf two writs of habeas corpus have been granted. Boston, May 31. The total loss by the fire is estimated at $1,250,000. THE BOSTON FIRE. FURTHER PARTICULARS. At about 10 a. m. a strong north-east wind set in, which prevented the fire extending northward. The entire fire department, and assistance out of town, battled with the flames. The dealers on streets exposed to the fire removed their goods on to the Common immediately opposite, including Brooks & Potter, who were among the burned out at the late great fire. The grove, west of the corner of Masonic Temple, corner of Tremont and Boylston streets was not touched, and was saved on account of its non-combustible character. The buildings between that corner and Washington, on Boylston, were low structures, filled with fire-traps in the rear, and were burned, including the Boylston Bank on the corner of Washington street. The piano factory of Mr. H. T. Miller, on the opposite corner from Chickerling's, on Hayward-place, escaped. The buildings in the rear are for the most part private dwelling-houses, except on Essex-street down to Chancery-street. During the progress of the fire the tall steeple of the Rev. Mr. Dunn's Presbyterian Church, on the corner of Harrison-avenue and Beech street, took fire from the window and consumed the balcony of the church, largest of the town. The streets leading to the scene of the conflagration were filled with teams containing valuable merchandise. Among the stores burnt were wholesale and retail, clothing and dry goods, boots and shoes, theatrical goods, dining saloon. The fire interfered with the observance of Decoration Day, and caused a partial suspension of business, and attracted large crowds to the scene of the conflagration. A Woman of Business. Lady Charlotte Guest, the widow of the great Welsh ironmaster, is the owner of the largest coal mines in that country. Her ladyship is generally observed to be in a state of great excitement when the time comes for making up the balance-sheet, and orders a copy to be sent her by telegraph wherever she may be. Recently she was in London residence, and when the festivity was at its height, a courier arrived from Downias with a tin box containing the expected document. Lady Charlotte ordered it to be brought to her in the brilliantly-lighted saloon, where she was surrounded by a circle of her ladyship's friends and relations, who probably enjoyed a sneer at the cinder-hole. The company laughed, for they thought of the cinder-hole, but the Welch ironmaster's wife bided her time for she knew the laugh would be with her, as she opened the tin case and drew out the document. "And so that's a balance-sheet," exclaimed her friends, crowding round the paper with the double entries on the red lines, and they looked on it as a phenomenon. They had never seen one before, and if they had they would have thought it was something belonging to a ship. "But what are the profits?" cried they, as Lady Charlotte scanned her eye over the paper. Lady Charlotte, seeming not to heed them, said, as though she spoke to herself, "Three hundred thousand pounds - a very fair year" and she re-committed the balance-sheet to the tin case. "Three hundred thousand pounds profit! What! You don't mean in one year!" "I do not mean in one year!" said a Border countess, "to a husband with such a business. Three hundred thousand pounds! Only think! And all from that nasty cold iron!" It beats the glass slipper! BREAKFAST - EPY'S COCOA - GRATEFUL AND PLEASANT. By thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a richly flavoured beverage which will save us many heavy doctors' bills. - Civil Service Gazette. Made simply with Boiling Water or Milk. Each packet is labelled - JAMES EPPS & CO., Homoeopathic Chemists, London. The Waterbury American says a parent in that city thinks he will have his newborn daughter christened Glycerine. He says it will be easy to prefix Nitro to it when she grows up, if she takes after her mother, who is always blowing up everybody.

The Debate on the San Juan Boundary Arbitration.

(From the Times, May 31) We fail to discern a single point in which the debate warns us to be wiser or better next time, or to keep a sharp lookout that there shall not be a "next time" at all, unless, indeed, there came a change in the spirit and manner of our diplomacy, of which at present there is not even the gleam of a promise. Lord Enfield supplied the history of the question, and Mr. Gladstone the thread of wise policy which lead to the result; but, as both assure us, the result, though in itself rather a disappointment, yet was inevitable, we must infer that, as long as our statesmen continue as wise and good as they now are, they will secure conclusions which at the cost of a passing mortification will give us peace in our time. Lord Enfield is perfectly right in taking us a good long way back in the matter for the truth is there is not a man in England old enough to remember the beginning of these boundary questions - nay, of this very question, for it was eight years before the beginning of the century that Vancouver made a minute and careful survey of the coast, correcting several former maps and charts, and taking possession of the whole coast in the King's name. For all the early part of this century the only claim chargeable on our Government was that of ignorance. It advanced claims, it negotiated, and it made treaties a good deal in the dark, while the people we are dealing with knew at least a great deal more about the Continent than we did. They knew enough to measure our ignorance and to take advantage of it. The happy period of peace at any price with the Americans, as an avowed principle of British diplomacy, was inaugurated by Lord Ashburton, who no doubt was sent out to surrender as much as he could with any show of decency. We did not really care for the territory, and only wished to save our honor. Over the Border. Sir Hugh Allan, the champion of the Canadian Pacific Railway, cannot induce the London capitalists to nibble at the bait he holds out to them. He is trying to raise a loan of $80,000,000, but cannot get a cent. They don't trust him, those men of the money bags, they very sensibly have no faith in a railroad through British America. Sir Hugh has, moreover, some unpleasant charges to refute when he gets home. He is implicated in the corrupt use of money to carry elections for railroad candidates. It is said that $360,000 were disbursed for that purpose. And in addition to this it is charged that the $10,000,000 subscription with which this Pacific Road scheme was started is an utter sham. All this is doubly shocking from occurring in the Dominion. The serpent has entered Paradise, and whether, or whither, will the Right Hon. Anson Green Peas Dodge fly now? We are sorry for Dodge - very. It is to be feared that he will be forced to become a wanderer on the face of the earth, simply because he cannot find a "political atmosphere" pure enough for him to breathe long in any one country. We are only afraid that he will try the United States again pretty soon. - Buffalo Express. Not Orthodox. That the morals of the Tory press are in a bad way no one doubts - their defence of the $340,000 Yankee bribe would prove that, even if there was no other proof. That the tempers of the Tory journals are as sound is easy ascertainable by those who read their columns. But worse than this is the unfortunate fact that their religious sentiments are growing very loose. A few weeks ago the Leader expressed itself as being very doubtful of the power of Providence to raise up another such statesman as Sir John Macdonnell within any reasonable time. No later than Tuesday last, the Brantford Courier laid it down thus: "Such creatures (as the Brant Reformers) were never anticipated by the Almighty when he caused the earth to teem with the myriads of animate and inanimate objects, or he would have given them a place and a name among the objects of his creation. Now, in the name of Orthodoxy, we protest against such assumptions as those. Unless the editor of that journal was actually present at the creation, he is in no position to say whether the Brant Reformers were included in the original design or not. Any way, they do appear to have a place in creation, and that place is just one niche above the Brant Tories at present. But, leaving that aside, would it not be better taste in Tory journalists to refrain from casting reflections on the power and foreknowledge of the Deity when they desire to say something very hard against the wicked "Grits"? Haven't they enough to do in defending the John A. Allan treason, without having a fling at Providence every time the "Grits" prove too much for them. - Hamilton Times. THE PROPOSED BONUS AT STRATFORD. On Saturday morning Mr. G. J. Brydges, managing director of the Grand Trunk Railway, accompanied by Mr. Hannaford, Mr. Spicer, and other gentlemen, arrived at Stratford station, where they were met by members of the town council. A confab was held on the subject of the proposed bonus for the establishment of a round-house. Mr. Brydges pretended to demand an immediate answer on the subject - yes or nay. The deputations of civic worthies gave a most decided affirmative response, and everything was lovely. A discussion subsequently arose as to the manner in which the money was to be paid, Mr. Brydges wishing to have the cash. Mr. Brydges also intimated that on the granting of a bonus of $6,000 per mile by the municipalities interested, the Grand Trunk would equip and run the proposed road northward on the same terms as existed between the Great Western, and the Wellington, Grey & Bruce, and other roads. On Tuesday, Mr. Bell, Solicitor of the Grand Trunk, met the town solicitor, and between them a by-law was drawn up, which we understand will come before the council on Monday evening for consideration. Having an overflowing exchequer, our Municipal loan fund indebtedness reduced to a bagatelle, and our taxes, prospectively, a mere flea-bite, or course Stratford can well spare a trifling bonus like that sought to be wrung from the taxpayer. The wonder is that our Tory council didn't offer a decent bonus - say $100,000. - Beacon. There were five cases of sunstroke in New York on Thursday. The French Assembly have voted to rebuild the column of Vendome.

THE TEMPTATION.

CHAPTER XXI

THE TERRIBLE REVELATION. "Oh, heaven, is this real?" she at length gasped. "Is the horrible thing true?"

"Would you be here, if it wasn't true?" said Dick, with a grim, ferocious smile. "You wanted an explanation of our roundabout journey—why we went all the way to Flushing and stayed a week there, why we came across in a lugger and landed at night at such a lonely part, and why we drove through the night by bye-roads to this out-of-the-world place. You understand it all now, I think?"

"I am to be kept a prisoner here," faltered Annabel. "In course you are, and Mrs. Langton takes possession of Rockstone."

"Oh, God, had I known how she coveted it, I would have given it to her," she moaned. "But I will do so yet," she wildly cried. "Let her take it; only let me free, and I swear never to molest or go near her."

"Not a bit of use in asking that," replied Dick. "Here you are, and here you stay, and here have Moll and I got a snug berth in keeping you. 'Tain't likely we should be so soft and green as give up the game in that there way."

"And I am to be immured here as long as I live?" burst forth Annabel, in wild and frantic tones. "I am to be shut out from freedom, from society—all who know me are to believe me dead?"

"Aye—all!" "No, no, Dick; you do not mean anything so terrible as immurement. It is not in your nature to be so cruel. I am young; life to me is bright with hope and coming joy. You have not the heart to inflict on me such utter misery—I who never harmed, injured you."

"Never injured me?" roared Dick, with sudden ferocity. "That's a lie, and you know it. Didn't you and Weston cross my path in Woolman's Lane? Didn't he strike me a blow meant to kill me—a blow which my arm will never get the better of? Harke, girl, I swore that very night to have revenge for it, and I meant to hunt you both out, though I took years to find you. I didn't need to do that. Fortune brought you to my hand, and the means of a sweet revenge along with it. Ha, ha, he'll pay a heavy price for that blow. By this time the letter is on its way to America which tells him that you are dead."

"Oh, heaven, is it so?" exclaimed Annabel with a sharp and anguished cry. "It is," he returned, in savage triumph. "In a week or two he will receive it, and his heart will be wrung. Oh, what I could see it; but I can fancy it, and some time or other I may look on his wretchedness. Mayhap, I may have a chance of torturing him still more by telling him how he was deceived, how for long you were in my power, and how you suffered. Ha, my revenge will be double; aye, three-fold, and every drop of it will give me pleasure. For you, this is your prison as long as you live. Never again will you get outside the walls of this place. Do you know what place it is? It's the house where Nell and I were brought up, and the story goes at Rockstone that I have come here with Nell, who has gone mad. This tale will also serve for those who live in these parts, though hardly anyone comes this way. Not a living face will you ever see but Moll's or mine; never will you pass through the door at the foot of the stair. I'll give you the run of the rooms in this store, for the windows are all like that one, and are too small for you to get through, and too high to leap from if you could. There, I think I have made everything pretty plain to you, and I hope as how you are pleased with the explanation you were so anxious to get, though, mayhap, you would like to be alone to think it over quite quietly."

To this long brutal speech, every word of which fell like a stunning blow, Annabel listened in dumb, motionless rigidity. She heard and understood every syllable of it, yet the first crushing effect was so complete that the malignant detail of particulars was powerless to add to her agony. For the time she was past feeling. Consciousness was fully active, but sensation had ceased, so that she was able to hear the infamous revelation in all the fulness which Dick gave it with an outward calmness which might have been mistaken for stolid indifference, only the wan, blank face, the stony eyes, the bloodless lips and cheeks, showed Dick that for a time her senses were frozen by the shock, and that by-and-by realization would come, and with it a measure of woe and suffering sufficient to shake the thirst even of his hellish revenge.

One look of concentrated and fiendish gloom bestowed on her after he had done; then, with a mocking laugh, he tramped down the stair, leaving her to meet in solitude the wave of agony and despair which was slowly but inevitably surging towards her.

MANUFACTURE OF COCOA.—"We will now give an account of the process adopted by Messrs. James Epps & Co., manufacturers of dietetic articles, at their works in the Easton Road, London"—See article in Cassell's Household Guide. J206mdw

Is your throat sore or are you annoyed by a constant cough? If so, use promptly "Bryan's Pulmonic Valves." They will give you instant relief. They relieve the air membrane of phlegm or mucous, and allay inflammation, and no safer remedy can be had for coughs, colds, or any complaint of the throat or lungs, and if taken in time their efficacy will soon be proved. Sold by all Druggists and country dealers. Price 25 cents per box.

There is a case of a lady near here, who was a great invalid with Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, and great weakness and Debility, who could get no help till she used the MEDICAL VICTORY, and it has actually cured her. The family are delighted. Her husband says she is entirely a new person. There is something remarkable about DEPEW'S MEDICAL VICTORY. It sells rapidly and no one has a word against it, but these who use it recommend it highly to their neighbors. B. CARNAHAN, Roslin, Ont.

The Blood owes its red color to minute globules which float in that fluid, and contain in a healthy person, a large amount of iron, which gives vitality to the blood. The Peruvian Syrup supplies the blood with this vital element, and gives strength and vigor to the whole system.

ANOTHER EXCITEMENT.—The old world has another excitement more intensely interesting to neutral nations than the war. Diamonds have been discovered at the Cape of Good Hope, where the wonders of Sinbad the sailor seem to be fulfilled—while every one in this Dominion of ours is astonished at the wonderful effects of the "Canadian Pain Destroyer" in curing colds, coughs, rheumatism, neuralgia, summer complaints, &c. For sale by Druggists and country dealers. Price 25 cents per bottle.

Ontario Agricultural College and Model Farm.

We heartily rejoice that the proposal to establish an Agricultural College for the Province of Ontario at Mimico, has been finally abandoned. Had it been gone on with public patience would have been exhausted and an enormous sum expended, before any practical results could possibly have been obtained.

The precise locality to be selected as the site of the institution seemed to us a very unimportant matter. Of vastly greater moment is it that the land should be of good quality and capable of raising with good tillage, first-rate crops. And even of greater importance is it that the institution should be situated on a sound, practical importance and have at its head a man thoroughly up to the day in the science and practice of agriculture, of large experience, of considerable force of character, of kindly manners, and with enthusiasm enough in his composition to infuse warlike vigor into those around him.

ELECTION CORRECTION.—A case came before the Court of Queen's Bench at Picton on Friday which ought to be a warning to violent political partisans as to how they attempt coercion in times of excitement. At the last election in Prince Edward, Sully Worlan, Esq., a wealthy citizen, carried to the polls the vote for Mr. McCuaig an employee on his farm. The man, however, seems to have been "otherwise minded," and when he got ready to do so, he voted for the man of his choice—Mr. Ross. Mr. Worlan does not appear to have resented the course of the voter at the time; but afterwards when they arrived home, it was shown that he fell upon the victim of his wrath and gave him a serious beating—the final result of which, although so many months have elapsed, is not yet fully demonstrated. The man is crippled, and may be so for life, if more serious consequences do not ensue. Mr. Worlan was sued for damages laid to two thousand dollars and prosecuted by R. P. Jellett, Esq., of this town, who recovered the full amount of the claim and costs. It was thought by many who heard the trial that the thousand dollars would have been recovered as easily as two thousand, and that righteously.—Ontario Chronicle.

GREAT WESTERN DOUBLE TRACK.—The contractors for building the double track on the Great Western from Glencoe to Windsor have been let, in four sections, and the contractors for each section are preparing to commence work at once. The contractors for the sections between Chatham and Glencoe are Messrs. Carpenter, Seymour & Bowles, of Chicago. The firm will be the lead quarters of the firm while they are prosecuting the work. It is said the Company had some difficulty in arranging with owners of land through which the line passes, for the extra twenty-five feet right of way required for the double track, $200 per acre being demanded in many cases. The Company refuse to pay any such figure, and where parties refuse to come to terms, propose to take possession, and allow the owners of the land to seek their remedy in arbitration or otherwise. It is the intention of the Company to have the double line ready for traffic this fall.—Chatham Courier.

A BEAUTIFUL HORSE.—There is nothing that can contribute so much to render the horse beautiful and elegant, as to improve his condition and make him that is desirable, as "Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy," it has been used by many persons who own valuable carriage and other horses with decided success, and so well pleased are they with it that they always keep it on hand in case of emergency; it may be given at all times with perfect safety. Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurd & Co. is on each package. Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, Ont., proprietors for Canada. Sold by all medicine dealers.
