

Weekly Monitor, PUBLISHED Every Wednesday at Bridgetown.

HENRY S. PIPER, Proprietor.

Terms of Subscription—$1.50 per annum, in advance; if not paid within six months, $2.00.

Advertising Rates. One Inch—First insertion, 50 cents; every after insertion, 25 cents; one month, $1.00; three months, $2.50; six months, $4.00; twelve months, $7.00.

One Square (two inches)—First insertion $1.00; each continuation, 25 cents; three months, $3.00; six months, $5.00; twelve months, $8.00.

Half Column—First insertion, $4.50; each continuation, $1.00; one month, $1.00; two months, $1.50; three months, $2.00; six months, $3.00; twelve months, $5.00.

A COLUMN—First insertion, $8.00; each continuation, $2.00; one month, $2.00; two months, $3.00; three months, $4.00; six months, $6.00; twelve months, $10.00.

Yearly advertisements charged 25 cents extra per square for each additional alteration.

The average daily circulation of the Weekly Monitor is 12,154, being considerably larger than that of any other paper published in the City.

The average circulation of the Weekly Monitor in the City of Montreal is 10,200, exceeding by 2,000 copies a day that of any other paper.

This paper is also well stocked with all the latest news from all parts of the world, and is constantly increasing. From the way in which the paper has outstripped all competitors it is manifestly "THE PAPER OF THE PEOPLE."

Hardware and Carriage Stock EMPORIUM, MIDDLETON, Annapolis County, N. S.

OUR IMPORTATIONS this season have been unusually large, and our Stock in the following lines is very heavy.

Building Materials, SUCH AS—FLOOR BRICKS, FINE LATH to 40d, CEMENT, GLASS SHEET AND BELGIAN GLASS, 3rd and 4th, from 7x9 to 30x40.

BOILED AND RAW OILS, PRESSED BY THE CELEBRATED "BLUNDELL & SPENCE, LONDON."

SHEET ZINC, DRY AND TARED SHEATHING SHEET LEAD, LEAD PIPE & 1/2 IN BORE.

Brandram's Celebrated London Lead, in which we keep two grades—No. 1 and No. 2—the latter taking 2100 LBS. GALLONS OIL TO THE HUNDRED.

Our Stock for Inside Furnishing is also replete with everything needed, such as—Mortise Locks, Mineral and Porcelain Mortise-knobs, Inside Silver Glass Knobs, Loose Pin and Loose Joint Butts, in Plain, Japanned, and Silver Tipped, Sash Fasteners, Thumb Latches, Top and Bottom Bolts, &c., &c., &c.

ALSO: GRAINING COLORS, in Light Oak, Ash and Walnut. Dry Colors for Tinting, &c., &c., &c.

The above comprises one of the Best Bought and Best Selected Stock of BUILDING MATERIALS in the Lower Provinces, and is well worth inspection. Come and see us, or send for our Price List.

With our general full assortment Carriage-Bent Stail, Bar and Bolt Iron, Moon-eye's Horse Nails, &c., &c., &c.

Wholesale and Retail. BESSONNETT AND WILSON, Millinery, Ready-made Clothing, Boots and Shoes, Groceries, Confectionery, Glass Ware, Stationery, Room Paper, &c., &c., &c.

1000 AGENTS WANTED FOR VISITING CARDS, Games, &c., &c., &c. Sample Pack, 2c. Water Pen, 5c. Oil Chromo, 12c. 50 Tinted Cards, with name blank, 30c. Cards to Album, 30c. Dream Book, 30c. Cards Courtship, 30c. Toy Steam Engine, $1.00. A. W. KINNEY, Yorkmouth, N. S.

Encyclopedia Britannica. Subscriptions will be taken at this office. Payments are made very easy and extend over a period of five or six years, enabling a person of very moderate means to secure this invaluable work.

THE ANNAPOLIS ORGAN COMPANY, MANUFACTURERS OF Parlor and Church Organs.

For Power and Quality of Tone, Rapidity of Action, and Promptness to Response, they are Unsurpassed.

A careful examination of the instruments will convince the public that both interior and exterior are honestly made.

In beauty and elegance of case they far exceed any Organ manufactured in the Maritime Provinces. They are AS LOW IN PRICE as is consistent with first-class workmanship, and are FULLY WARRANTED.

Parties Desiring a FIRST-CLASS INSTRUMENT, THE ANNAPOLIS ORGAN COMPANY, or visit their Warerooms, George St., Annapolis.

21 CASKS Refined Sugar Received This Day. Ex. Steamer via Halifax.

J. & W. F. Harrison, 11 and 12 North Water St., John, N. B.

Bendalar's Cough Remedy. THIS preparation is not warranted to cure "all the ills that flesh is heir to."

For Sale in Middleton by H. CROSSKILL, in Lawrencetown, by DR. LEADER MOORE, in Bridgetown, by Wm. M. Tupper, in Pictou, by A. Cameron, in Melville Square, in Banish, in East Torbrook, in George Spurr, in HENDERSON, in Cash Miller.

PURE WATER. Pure water is obtained by using Corey's Patent Expansion Rubber Bucket Chain Pump.

N. H. PHINNEY, Lawrencetown, Annapolis Co.

THE GREAT BARGAIN! The Subscriber offers for SALE or RENT by Private Contract, His Beautiful Residence at LOWER MIDDLETON.

The House contains 11 rooms, all in thorough repair. Good Stabling for 3 or 4 Horses. Carriage House and Wood House. The grounds consist of 2 acres in a high state of cultivation with a very fine orchard of 100 or more superior trees (choice varieties of fruit) nearly all which are in bearing. Some of these produce yearly 2 Barrels or more.

Also, Small Farm, situated in NORTH WILLIAMSTON, about two miles from Lawrencetown, Railway Station. The House contains 6 Rooms, the ground flat only being finished.

EDWARD H. PHINNEY, Middleton, Annapolis County, May 1st, 1880.

Boots & Shoes Hats & Caps! LADIES' Kid, Goat, Serge and Leather Boots, MEN'S Boots Shoes and BROGANS, MISSES' Boots & Shoes, Children's Shoes.

HATS! LADIES' Hats, Misses' and Boys' Hats, Men's Fur, felt and Straw Hats, in all the latest STYLES of the day.

At J. W. Tomlinson's, Lawrencetown, April 5, 1880.

Something New! THE Subscribers have just received their first advance of SPRING DOGS STOCK consisting of Staple and Fancy Dry Goods, Millinery, Ready-made Clothing, Boots and Shoes, Groceries, Confectionery, Glass Ware, Stationery, Room Paper, &c., &c., &c.

White Dress Shirts, at last year's prices, viz: size, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50, and $1.75. The $1.75 Shirt is made of the Best Quality of American Cotton and Irish Linen.

Cheap Cash Store. The highest market prices paid for produce in exchange for goods.

S. L. FREEMAN & CO., Middleton Corner, April 29th, '80.

Poetry. At the Bar.

Who speaks for this man? From the great white throne veiled in its rosette clouds the voice came forth;

Before his hood parted soul alone, And rolling east and west, and south and north, The mighty accents summoned quick and true;

Who speaks for this man, ere his doom be said? Shivering he listened, for his earthly life had passed in dull, unnoted calm away;

No wealth of fame, or grand, or gay ray; Weak, alone, ungifted, quiet and obscure, Born in the shadow, dying mid the gloom.

Lo, from the solemn concourse hushed and dim, The widow's prayer, the orphan's blessing, the stranger's word of trouble shared by him,

And like a chorus spoke the crushed and dead, "He gave us all he could, and what he had!"

And little words of loving kindness said, And tender thoughts, and help in time of need,

Oh ye, by circumstances' strong fetters bound, Do but the best you can for all around; Let sympathy be true, our courage laid; Winning among your neighbors poor and sad.

Some witness at your trial how to speak— ALL THE YEAR ROUND.

Select Literature. "With this Ring I Thee Wed." CHAPTER XVII. (Continued.)

Thurstone flushed slightly, and glanced at Harwood with scarcely a recognition.

"Always the same sort, I perceive," he said to Lillian in a low voice of suppressed anger.

"So, very soon!" she answered in a trembling voice, her lip quivering visibly.

"I am not a moment from your side," he said, smiling now, "you condemn me to bear patiently the sight of others taking my place."

"You must be a man of some account," he said, with a look of scornful defiance.

"None at all," returned that lady, not looking at him but at Lillian.

"You always put me in mind of Lucifer's account of himself in the book of Job," said Harwood, "for they are continually exalting up and down, and going to and fro, and worrying the face of the earth."

"What is the meaning of this?" asked Thurstone of Lillian. "Come away from here! I must speak to you. I will hear her!"

"Lillian, you will remain here with me," said Mrs. Chalcomb, "I must speak to you."

"I am not going to be a party to this," said Thurstone, "I will not be a party to this."

"I am not going to be a party to this," said Thurstone, "I will not be a party to this."

"I am not going to be a party to this," said Thurstone, "I will not be a party to this."

"I am not going to be a party to this," said Thurstone, "I will not be a party to this."

of thanks he gave her smote her to the heart.

"You have surely given me leave in this to come to claim you?" he whispered in a hurried voice.

"I should cause you distress, but now that you have so bravely left them see your mind—now that you have refused the marriage offered you—surely there can no longer be any reason for concealment?"

"I want to let all the world know my right to you Lillian. I will not be debared any longer from my place."

"She loved his bravery, she was glad of his firm resolve, all her heart rejoiced in him, she was steeped in a rapture by his presence, and her cowardice had vanished like an ugly ghost."

"But Thurstone held it fast, and smiled into her eyes joyfully. With a glance of fear and sorrow she returned his look."

"It is not what you think, she said brokenly, speaking in staccato when the others could not hear her."

"Everything is so changed at home for me—so dreadful!"

"Look here, Miss Chalcomb!" cried Mrs. Werrington, calling Lillian's attention to herself by pointing to her with the butt-end of her whip.

"Why, that you are not going to give us a wedding-breakfast this summer."

"Lillian's color faded, and she started back hurriedly from the affectionate prod which Mrs. Werrington's whip was about to bestow on her."

"Quite correct," said Thurstone, with a look in his heart and a light laugh on his lips.

"I do not approve of wedding-breakfasts, and so Miss Chalcomb will not have one."

"I am not a party to this," said Thurstone, "I will not be a party to this."

"I am not a party to this," said Thurstone, "I will not be a party to this."

"I am not a party to this," said Thurstone, "I will not be a party to this."

"I am not a party to this," said Thurstone, "I will not be a party to this."

"I am not a party to this," said Thurstone, "I will not be a party to this."

"I am not a party to this," said Thurstone, "I will not be a party to this."

"I am not a party to this," said Thurstone, "I will not be a party to this."

"I am not a party to this," said Thurstone, "I will not be a party to this."

"I am not a party to this," said Thurstone, "I will not be a party to this."

"I am not a party to this," said Thurstone, "I will not be a party to this."

"I am not a party to this," said Thurstone, "I will not be a party to this."

But what an ass Harwood is!" Well, he has his reasons too," said Poppy.

"You are not jealous of him now, surely?" "Don't be absurd, Poppy," said her brother.

"Nevertheless he knew he had been jealous of the tall lieutenant, upon whom Mrs. Chalcomb's big eyes and big nose were now beaming comradely."

"At that moment he felt inclined to envy the happy young fellow as he saw him leaving the music and the Rose with Lillian by his side."

"She looked back, gave him a sorrowful little nod and smile, and then was gone."

"As she vanished the sea grew gray to him; the gay crowd seemed one vast Mrs. Werrington, impatient and vulgar, the music was a clash of discord—the day was dead."

"Let me take you home," he said to Poppy abruptly.

"No," she answered; "mamma is over there somewhere. I'll go and find her."

"He permitted her to leave him, forgetting that between her and Lady Saterleigh stood Richard Lancross, ready to fling love which smote in just and killed with a laugh."

"The strains of the band pursued him, playing 'sweethearts' in a mocking way as he plunged down the road to the cliffs, and thence out upon the rocks, where with a nervous hand he tore open Lillian's letter, and read it with a cloud of jealous fury observing every word."

"Her mother spoke truth," he said bitterly; "she wants to go back to Edgar Daveman!"

"Look here, old fellow," said Lieutenant Luffinot—I have some news for you about our ball."

"No news respecting that event can affect me," returned Harwood shortly, not raising his eyes from the newspaper.

"What do you mean by winking?" demanded Harwood, with a strange quiver in his voice.

"Why, give up, my dear fellow, visits that you are going to give Harwood."

"You mean give up the Chalcomb?" "I cannot," answered Harwood. "While there is a chance of a chance left, while there is a thread to hang on to, I shall go there."

"Then you do admire the woman?" "And Luffinot poised his cigar at his open lips, and stared in wonder. "For my part, I should never envy old Chalcomb his bargain."

"Are you bent on driving me mad?" cried Harwood. "Are you an idiot too?"

"Luffinot dropped his cigar, stooped for it, and arose with a very red face."

"I see it now," he said; "I am more sorry for you than ever. Now Harwood, Harwood, don't give Brown that duty. Cut this place as quickly as you can. There's a game going on that bodes you no good. I see now that advantage has been taken of Mrs. Chalcomb's tomfoolery about you to induce her to go to this ball."

"Then Thurstone is at the bottom of it; if it is he is trying to make a cat's-paw of me, he shall answer for it!" Harwood looked desperately angry—his face was quite white.

"I want to have the weakness of a woman played upon," he continued, "and her name spoken of injuriously with mine. It is a cowardly thing to do."

"Stay away from the ball," returned Luffinot, "and you silence evil tongues at once."

"Yes, and give an opportunity to others to profit by their machinations. I shall go to the ball, and dance as many times as I can with Miss Chalcomb, and not at all with her mamma."

"That would be rude and marked. You can't do it," declared Luffinot; "and you'll bring a quarrel on yourself for certain."

"With whom?" "With Thurstone. He is as good as engaged in that quarter."

"What do you say?" asked Harwood, very white still.

"Well, his sister told me. But it is a secret, and you must not let it out. I have pledged my word for your honor, mind!"

"I'll not utter a syllable of this! Let us drop the subject. The lady is my friend, and I have a great respect for her, and will not allow any one to speak in her disparage. Let that be an understood thing between us, and there's an end."

"Oh, if you take it in that way," said Luffinot, "of course there is an end, and I have nothing more to say."

"All right," responded Harwood, with a sort of cheerful sullenness. And so the friends dropped into silence—a silence through which there ran a thread of thought linking them still to this same old subject.

"Luffinot is in the right," thought Harwood; "I am gratifying myself day by day with the sight of Lillian's face, the sound of her voice, the touch of her hand; and for the sake of this I am making a father. And without thinking I am a lady-killer, I can't help seeing that his handsome young wife does look a lot brighter for my coming. Well, and there's no harm in it if she does—not a bit." And Harwood raised his head defiantly from his chair.

Luffinot regarded his elation with a grave air.

"I did not think you were so far gone, old fellow," he said. "I recollect my words. I am of opinion that the best thing that could happen for you would be an order to start for the ferry-brake at once. I am sorry you are going to stay."

"Much obliged to you," laughed Harwood; "but I see no cause for sorrow; and I am not half so far gone in imbecility, Luffinot, as you are yourself!"

"I know I am a fool," returned his friend calmly; "but you don't know that you are one; there lies the danger in your case."

"Danger!" repeated Harwood in contempt.

"Yes; it is a bad look-out for a man when he begins to covet other men's goods."

"Harwood colored furiously. "Who says I am doing that?"

"Nobody in particular, and everybody in general," said Luffinot, beginning to whistle slightly. "Look here, old fellow—why should I meddle if I were not your friend?"

"Speak out then, Luffinot, I'm willing enough to hear reason."

"Then I'll be true to you. You are getting a name for being that most miserable of modern men, a married woman's admirer."

"I am?" said Harwood, his face as a white heat.

"You are, and I wish I knew who said it; that I might thrust it back down the fellow's throat."

"Luffinot was silent.

"Who said it?" asked Harwood growing furious.

"I am not going to pick out names for you to hang your coat on," said Luffinot quietly; "the world is saying it, and that's enough. Act wisely, and the world will come to say it—and there's an end."

"What do you mean by winking?" demanded Harwood, with a strange quiver in his voice.

"Why, give up, my dear fellow, visits that you are going to give Harwood."

"You mean give up the Chalcomb?" "I cannot," answered Harwood. "While there is a chance of a chance left, while there is a thread to hang on to, I shall go there."

"Then you do admire the woman?" "And Luffinot poised his cigar at his open lips, and stared in wonder. "For my part, I should never envy old Chalcomb his bargain."

"Are you bent on driving me mad?" cried Harwood. "Are you an idiot too?"

"Luffinot dropped his cigar, stooped for it, and arose with a very red face."

"I see it now," he said; "I am more sorry for you than ever. Now Harwood, Harwood, don't give Brown that duty. Cut this place as quickly as you can. There's a game going on that bodes you no good. I see now that advantage has been taken of Mrs. Chalcomb's tomfoolery about you to induce her to go to this ball."

"Then Thurstone is at the bottom of it; if it is he is trying to make a cat's-paw of me, he shall answer for it!" Harwood looked desperately angry—his face was quite white.

"I want to have the weakness of a woman played upon," he continued, "and her name spoken of injuriously with mine. It is a cowardly thing to do."

"Stay away from the ball," returned Luffinot, "and you silence evil tongues at once."

"Yes, and give an opportunity to others to profit by their machinations. I shall go to the ball, and dance as many times as I can with Miss Chalcomb, and not at all with her mamma."

"That would be rude and marked. You can't do it," declared Luffinot; "and you'll bring a quarrel on yourself for certain."

"With whom?" "With Thurstone. He is as good as engaged in that quarter."

"What do you say?" asked Harwood, very white still.

"Well, his sister told me. But it is a secret, and you must not let it out. I have pledged my word for your honor, mind!"

"I'll not utter a syllable of this! Let us drop the subject. The lady is my friend, and I have a great respect for her, and will not allow any one to speak in her disparage. Let that be an understood thing between us, and there's an end."

"Oh, if you take it in that way," said Luffinot, "of course there is an end, and I have nothing more to say."

"All right," responded Harwood, with a sort of cheerful sullenness. And so the friends dropped into silence—a silence through which there ran a thread of thought linking them still to this same old subject.

"Luffinot is in the right," thought Harwood; "I am gratifying myself day by day with the sight of Lillian's face, the sound of her voice, the touch of her hand; and for the sake of this I am making a father. And without thinking I am a lady-killer, I can't help seeing that his handsome young wife does look a lot brighter for my coming. Well, and there's no harm in it if she does—not a bit." And Harwood raised his head defiantly from his chair.

(Continued on fourth page.)

The Weekly Monitor.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 30th, 1880.

—Bridgetown and its surrounding country are now looking their best—the mountains, in all their wealth of wooded beauty, seem like sentinels guarding the beautiful valley which, clothed in the verdure of early summer, lies on each side of the winding Annapolis River, and is dotted here and there with the tasteful dwellings of our sturdy farmers, whose orchards, fields of cereals, and meadow lands all give fair promise of an abundant harvest.

Our quiet corner of the world presents numberless attractions in point of scenery to those who seek for a retirement for a few months during the heated term, from the dust and smoke and whirl of city life. Many drives intersect the whole country-side, and each lays claim to a special beauty of its own. At one point your gaze will be hemmed in by birches, maples, elms, and others of our native trees, through the leaves of which the west wind that almost constantly prevails in fine weather in this valley, plays with a music that is a very symbol of peace; at another point you see a number of farm-houses, embowered with trees and vines, and stretching out in front or behind the range of well-tilled fields, and fruitful orchards; at another place, from the summit of a high hill, notably from many points on the mountain, a view is presented, ranging over miles upon miles of the valley, which, for beauty of scenery, we are safe in saying, cannot be surpassed. The Bay of Fundy is within easy driving distance, over roads that are in themselves an enjoyment to travel. Good hotel and private accommodation can be obtained—plenty of good teams, and we feel sure that if all the attractions that Bridgetown can present to the tourist were better known, that very many would come here every season.

CATERPILLARS.—The trees in some of the gardens in this town are completely denuded of leaves and fruit by the caterpillars.—Windsor Mail. Our County so far as we have been able to learn is almost rid of these pests—orchardists ascribe this pleasing state of affairs to the flocks of small birds which made their appearance so suddenly about a year and a half ago, and as suddenly departed after performing a work worth thousands of dollars to the country. Farmers are commencing to appreciate the importance of birds in the machinery of nature, and we are much pleased to notice that the small birds—the natives of this country—are becoming far more numerous than they were a few years ago. Encourage the birds to build their nests on your farms, especially the swallows, by protecting them, and educate your children to a knowledge of how valuable the birds are, and you will reap your reward alone in the saving of your time you will otherwise spend in trying to kill the currant-worms, squash-bugs, cabbage-worms, caterpillars, etc. that are so fastidious and know comparatively little about. If we destroy the birds, we upset the balance of one of nature's laws, and for which we must suffer accordingly.

LOCAL AND GENERAL EDITORIAL ITEMS.

—Excursion Tickets at one first-class fare, good until Saturday, will be issued to-morrow on the Windsor and Annapolis Railway.

PORT GEORGE.—We are informed that Messrs. Granville B. Reed & Co., of Port George succeeded in capturing $250,000 worth of salmon in twenty-four days.

—Preparations have been made for a most enjoyable day to-morrow at Annapolis. Tickets on the railway, only one first-class fare, and a special will be run back in the evening at six o'clock.

STRAWBERRIES.—Mr. Wm. McNeil of Melvern Square will please receive our thanks for a present of delicious garden strawberries. Mr. McNeil does quite a business in the sale of strawberries, cucumbers, etc., during the summer and autumn months.

MIDDLETON.—A race took place at Middleton, on the 23rd inst., between Conner's Empress and Wheelock's Lady Knox. Won by the former. A large number of people were present—estimated between three and four hundred.

—A lad, belonging to Annapolis, named Thomas O'Brien, was lost overboard from the packet schooner Atwood, on her last trip out from Boston. There was a heavy wind blowing at the time, and it was some time before he was missed, therefore it was impossible to rescue him.

LAUNCH.—Those enterprising ship-builders Messrs. Lawrence Delap & Co., on Tuesday morning, 22nd inst., successfully launched from their yard another fine vessel, registering 1192 tons, making the twelfth vessel built by them. The one just launched is named the A. W. Parker, and is thoroughly iron-kneed and copper fastened. She is classed A 1 for eleven years.

—Here is a specimen of the disastrous mistakes that will sometimes occur in the best regulated newspapers. Read the following clipped from the "Herald" of the 26th inst.: Reports, Diastomers, Etc.

Sch. Dove which expired of Mispice on 24th, was picked up by the barque Estelle at St. John, N. B., on 24th, from Bermuda and towed into St. John. She has sustained but slight damage.

At St. Stephen's Church, Tusket, on Thursday, June 17th, by the Rev. Henry Steers, Charles W. Murphy, to Minnie E., eldest daughter of the late Isaac Hatfield, M. P. F.

On the 22nd inst., by the Rev. Wm. M. Knollis, Edward J. Ryerson, and Maria S. Allen, all of Brooklyn, Vermont Co.

Sad Occurrence.

A most distressing affair took place at Melvern Square yesterday morning. Mr. Jacob Miller, a highly respectable inhabitant of this County, was found hanging by the neck, dead, in one of the outbuildings on his property. There is every reason to suppose that he committed the fatal act himself. The deceased had the misfortune last summer to fall from a load of hay and the wheel of the cart passed over his forehead, injuring him so severely that he was confined in the house under the doctor's hands for about two months, and ever since up to the date of his death he complained at times of numbness and great pain in the head, and it is supposed that this injury culminated in a sudden attack of insanity, though no previous symptoms had ever manifested themselves (with the above unfortunate result).

Mr. Miller leaves a large and most respectable family in connection, for whom much sympathy, in which we heartily join, is felt in their most lamentable bereavement.

—The Rev. M. Wainwright, Secy. of the Episcopal Church Society delivered two impressive, earnest sermons in St. James' Church last Sunday. On the following evening, 25th inst., being the centenary anniversary of the establishment of Sunday Schools, the Sunday School children of St. James' celebrated the occasion with a festival. The children first formed a choir and two, led by Master Homer Dodge arrayed in a surplice and carrying a banner, and marching singing an appropriate hymn, down one side and up the other—then seated themselves and proceeded to the election of their officers for the ensuing year. The service being over, the Rev. Wainwright then delivered a most interesting and profitable address, to which the children listened attentively, and then dismissing them with the benediction.

—Camp Meeting does not commence until the 6th instead of the 1st inst., as just reported.

—Messrs. Runciman, Randolph & Co. have moved into their handsome new premises at the head of Queen St. This firm is the oldest, and one of the most reliable in the town, and have won for themselves a name for trustworthiness, square dealing, and we trust that their increased facilities for business may bring them in corresponding increased returns.

GRANVILLE FERRY.—A large building is now in course of erection in Granville Ferry which measures 40 feet long, 28 feet wide, 25 feet high and is 10 feet high. It is to be used as a saw and grist mill—the latter is to be provided with a first class French burr smutterm.

A Thresher is also to be attached. Steam is the power to be used. The Company who have this enterprise in hand is composed of Messrs. Troop and Irvine, Board, Buckler, Weatherspoon and Mills.

—"Harper's Magazine" for July, apart from its splendid pictorial attractions, is an exceeding popular number. One of its strongest features is the beginning of a new serial novel, by Henry James, Jr., entitled "Washington Square." This story is entirely American while it has all those characteristic charms by which this author has won his way to the popular heart, it shows signs of greater strength than any of his previous novels.

It contains also its usual choice articles in biography and travel, essays, tales, and anecdotes. It may be had of Messrs. Buckley & Allen, booksellers, Halifax, N. S.

—The Annapolis Agricultural Exhibition will be held at Annapolis on the 15th October next. It was unanimously resolved at the last half yearly meeting to hold the Prize List open until after the 10th July, and this is a general invitation to all manufacturers in the County of Annapolis. The object is to make this an Agricultural and Industrial Exhibition. This being the only chance manufacturers have to bring their work before the public for their examination. All monies subscribed and paid in by manufacturers to the society on or before the 10th July, next, will be given to them in premiums. The Society furnish rooms to exhibit all goods for Exhibition free of charge.

MARGARETVILLE.—During the thunder storm of Monday, 21st inst., Capt. John Roy's house, Margaretville, was struck by lightning. The fluid struck on the peak of a dormer window, and following the roof down, was conducted into the house by means of the bell wire. After entering the house it ranged backwards, forwards and all around at its own fiery will, smashing a looking glass, shattering the window from the ceiling and breaking a lot of dishes. Mrs. Roy received such a severe shock that she was insensible and speeches for some time after-wards; and a young man named McLean, who was reclining on a sofa, had a very narrow escape from death—the legs of the sofa were shattered, and McLean received a severe shock as it was. The electric fluid was supposed to have made its escape into the cellar.

SUPREME COURT. Our report last week closed with McCormick vs. Dennison, an action to test a right of way, which was taken up to the time of our going to press. This case resulted in a verdict for McCormick, the Society for the improvement of the road vs. Parker and court upon a rule nisi. Parker and Harrington for McCormick; E. Ruggles, Ruggles Q. C. and Weeks Q. C. for defendant.

Maynard vs. Tilley was then taken up. This was an action on a lease to recover rent. A verdict was given Maynard for $250.00 by consent, subject to a rule nisi. E. Ruggles plaintiff's attorney, Ruggles Q. C. and Weeks Q. C. counsel; Parker and Harrington for defendant.

Petch vs. Ritchie was the next case. This was an action on a contract to recover the amount due for building a house, resulting in a verdict for plaintiff for $2,500 for plaintiff. A rule nisi was taken out to set aside the verdict. Mills, Weeks, Q. C., Harrington and Roscoe for plaintiff; Cowling, Graham and Huggles, Q. C. for defendant.

This case closed Court for this term and clears the old docket with the exception of one cause. There were two or three new causes that were not in time for trial.

In all the causes tried this term rules to set aside verdicts have been taken out.

The Story of the great Disaster on Long Island Sound by a St. John Lady.

From the St. John News.

Mrs. Wm. Purdy, one of the survivors of the disaster, arrived at St. John yesterday by steamer City from New York. She was accompanied from New York by her husband. He is the mate of the "Herald," and was at the time of the accident waiting at New York to sail. Mrs. Purdy belongs to Portland street, Portland, and went to New York a short time ago to visit her husband. The story told by Mrs. Purdy to a news reporter concerning the disaster through the light upon the conduct of the men and officers of the "Narragansett" after she was struck by her companion vessel. The narrative is as follows: "The accident occurred about a quarter of twelve Saturday night. At that time I was in my berth, when I was aroused violently by an awful shock. The collision was so severe as to throw several of the passengers, as I afterward learned, out of the berth. I felt the vessel lurching, and among a number of others, and struggled to the main deck. On my way up I heard one of the waiters tell me not to be afraid, but to get out of the cabin as fast as I could. I saw the vessel lurching and wheel was broken. Other officers on the boat said that there was no danger. I have no doubt that the vessel would have escaped but for the assurance of the officers that there was no danger. Just after the shock the lights went out, and the vessel was struck, and we were all left in darkness. Every one of the crew was looking for a light. They had no time to reach a point of safety, as the stern of the vessel sank immediately. At the same time the men said that the accident was nothing serious, and that the vessel would be saved. The party then ran back to the berths and got the life preservers. About twenty-five men, women, and children, most of them in their night clothes, rushed out. As we reached the main deck the water was pouring over the side, and most of the crew were on all sides. We reached the hurricane deck and seeing that the boat was sinking rapidly we immediately jumped overboard. Very few of those who jumped overboard were saved. The life preserver which I had was defective, and I was struck by one that broke. I caught hold of a line attached to a life raft which was full of men. They were a pretty rough crowd, some of them intoxicated, and I was to keep off and every time the water swept over me they would strike me on the hands with their fists to make me leave go. Several tried to get on board, but they soon dropped off and were drowned. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One of the men landed his wife aboard, but they made no effort to save any one else. While hanging to that line for hours I saw such scenes enacted as I never shall forget. The cries and shrieks of the drowning ring in my ears yet. The water was lit up all around by the fire on board the "Narragansett," and I saw dozens of people go down right before my eyes. There was a high running sea and for four or five hours I was hanging to the raft. On all sides of me I could hear shrieks and prayers cut short by tragedy. I saw a woman come out on the hurricane deck with her two children one in each hand and jump into the water. The two children were saved. One

