CHECKER EXPERTS' PLAY

Opening Games for Championship An Interesting Draw.
The first of the series of games for the city championship took place last night at Mr. Munson's store, 187 Yonge-street, and was of a very interesting character, especially in the games in which the well-known players McKenna and Barrett were pitted against one another. The game was very prettily played, and resulted in a draw.

After Rugby Union Officers.

The annual meeting of the Ontario Rugby Union will be held at the Rossia House on Saturday afternoon when the election of officers will take place, and several proposed amendments will be discussed.
The officers are: For President, R.
Shillington, R. H. Hanson and J. L. Counsell; for vice-president, Martin O'Meara and J. Elliott; for secretary, secretary-treasurer, J. D. McArthur, T. L. Carroll, for committee, J. S. Robertson, D. P.
Maguire (Argonauts), H. Southam (Ontario).
It is likely that London (the junior champions), Peterboro (intermediate champions), and Varsity will each ask to have a representative on the Executive.

S. P. S. Beat St. Michael's.

Semi-final No. 2 of the Mulock Cup series was played on Tuesday afternoon between the School of Science and St. Michael's College, the S.P.S. winning by 1 to 0. McArthur played the trick by punting over the dead-ball line, and counted a rouge for his team. The game was one of the best of the series and certainly the hardest fight, for the score tells the tale. It was shortly after the match started that McArthur punted over for the first and only point of the game. The rest of the half was spent in scrambling and short runs. In the second half the game was a close one, and not a single point was scored. The teams:
S. P. S. (1): Back, McDonald; halves, Burnside, Bertrand, Arthur, Hunter, Dickson; scrumming, Empey, Isbister, For-eringham; wings, McLennan, Hunt, Parsons, Thorne, Taylor, Harvey, Gibson.
St. Michael's (0): Back, Dooley; halves, Dissart, Sheridan, Collins; quarter, Byrne; scrumming, Thompson, Simey; center, wings, Stormont, McAllister, Duggan, Pig-gott, Roster, O'Connor.
Referee-N. Blac, Umpire-F. Fleck.
The final game between the School of Science and St. Michael's will be played on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.
The protest lodged by the Meads on Friday against the School of Science has been dropped.

Peterboro's Champions.

Peterboro, Dec. 4.—A large and enthusiastic meeting was held in the parlors of the Oriental Hotel by the supporters of the Intermediate Rugby champions. It was decided to give the champions a summer at which souvenirs will be presented to the members of the team. At a previous meeting of the club R. F. McWilliams was nominated to enter the field for the second victory of the club. The club think they have a good claim, and intend pushing their candidate. Messrs. R. F. McWilliams and V. McWilliams were elected delegates to the O.R.F.U. meeting.

The Hounds Will Meet.

The Hounds will meet this afternoon at O'Halloran's Hotel, Deer Park, at 2:30 o'clock.

DRYBANKS' FIGHT, 25 ROUNDS

Jack O'Brien Failed to Wrest the Lightweight Championship From Frank Erne.

HARD FIGHT AND CORRECT DECISION.

Erne Did the Cleaner Work, While O'Brien Rushed and Scored Three Knock-Downs.
New York, Dec. 4.—Frank Erne of Buffalo and Jack O'Brien of New York fought 25 rounds at the lightweight limit, 133 pounds, at the Coney Island Sporting Club, to-night, and at the end of it all George Siler of Chicago declared in favor of Erne. This decision was fair and just, but it did not satisfy a number of persons who had picked O'Brien as the victor. He had a lot of forcing and fighting, but Erne's work was of a cleaner and more scientific character.
O'Brien blows fast, and a forced blow was not behind Erne's. It was the old case of a clean blow against a hurricanite fighting. Of the two Erne's face bore the worst marks. Both eyes were badly dazed and his mouth and nose were puffed up. Erne's left eye was smashed, but this will not hurt him half as much as the punish he received in the body during the fight.

Plenty of Lightheads.

Round 16—O'Brien rushed in for the body and got in a couple of roasters, and Erne and Erne again, swung right and left to the body. Jack rushed and hooked two fists to the face and a straight left on the face.
Erne jabbed two lefts on the face and Erne jabbed a hard right to the body.
O'Brien was now favored.

The Fight by Rounds.

Round 1—After a lot of fiddling O'Brien was first to land, jabbing his left to the nose and right to the chin. O'Brien swung his left to the nose, and Erne jabbed his left to O'Brien's eye. Erne tried a left for the body, but missed, and they clinched near the two. After the round way Erne jabbed his left to the chest, and they were in a hand-clinch at the bell.

Round 2—O'Brien tried two lefts for the face, but they were blocked. Erne jabbed his left three times in quick succession to Jack's face. Clinches were frequent, and Erne got in two light jabs on the face.

Round 3—Erne led his left to the nose and blocked Jack's counter for the body.
O'Brien landed on the face lightly; then Erne jabbed two lefts, and O'Brien's head began to bleed. They fought at O'Brien put a left hook to the body as Erne was breaking away, and Erne fell on his back. He was up in a second, but got to close quarters, where O'Brien shoved three lefts to the body.

Round 4—O'Brien opened with a right swing on the kidneys, and Erne jabbed left to face and clinched. Erne jabbed left to face and clinched again. Jack got in two jabs on the face in a clinch, and when they broke away Erne jabbed a left to the mouth. In a rapid exchange Erne slipped to his hands, and O'Brien kept forcing and Erne remained on the defensive till the bell.

Round 5—Erne rushed into a hard left jab on the nose. Erne tried three times with left hooks, all of which were blocked. O'Brien rushed into a clinch O'Brien hooked two rights over the chin, and Erne rushed into another left jab on the nose.

Round 6—They rushed to a clinch.
Erne jabbed left to the wind, Erne rushed into
O'Brien clinched, and hooked his right over
on the same spot. Erne swung left to body and hooked the same glove to the jaw, jarring O'Brien's head. O'Brien rushed and swung work, landing two lefts on the face and two more on the body. O'Brien rushed and swung right on the body, and Erne jabbed his face.

Round 7—Erne rushed and swung his left to the wind. He swung it again to the face a couple of seconds later. O'Brien clinched. Both rushed and drove hard lefts to the body. Erne sent two lefts on the chin. O'Brien rushed, and Erne met him with a left swing on the chest. Frank jabbed a left on the nose, and O'Brien failed to reply. O'Brien got his left hand on the stomach. They got to a clinch, in which Jack put two lefts on the kidneys before the two legs separated them.

Round 8—O'Brien rushed Erne to the latter's corner, where he landed a right and left on the body. They exchanged lefts on the face. Then they came to the center and O'Brien bled Frank's nose with another right. O'Brien rushed after Jack and drove his left to the stomach. Jack kept forcing, getting his right to the jaw and Erne swung right and left to the body and Erne had all the worst of it. O'Brien's rushing and driving were very effective.

Round 9—O'Brien was the aggressor and jabbed lefts to the wind. He rushed Erne to his corner and put two right swings over the kidneys. When they came out of the clinch O'Brien swung his right on the face and Erne fell. O'Brien got up very quickly and hooked his left to the jaw, staggering O'Brien. O'Brien, on the aggressive, drove two lefts to the stomach, and they exchanged lefts on the face. They sparred to their corners.

Round 10—Erne rushed, sending his left for the head, but it was blocked. Then he swung right to the body and jabbed left to the face. O'Brien jabbed left to the wind and in a clinch hooked his right twice over the chin. In a rush O'Brien drove a good right to the wind, and Erne jabbed his right to the face. Erne jabbed left and right to the body and face.
At close quarters they were exchanging lefts on the face when the song rang.

Round 11—Erne hooked two lefts to the body and face and drove O'Brien across the ring. O'Brien dodged another and got to a clinch. Erne put his right over O'Brien's head and then both threw science to the wind and went at each other in slugging fashion, and kept this up till the bell sent them to their corners.

Round 12—Erne had the call on points and O'Brien on punishment, with even money being the rule when they came together.
Erne jabbed three lefts to the face and O'Brien swung right to the body. O'Brien drove a left to the wind and then there was an exchange of lefts on the face. They rushed to a clinch. O'Brien sending two lefts on the body and left to the ear. Jack jabbed his left to the face twice and then rushed into a left on the body at the bell.

Round 13—O'Brien rushed and clinched.
Erne jabbed left to face, and in another clinch both worked into the body, with Erne's right on the chest. The referee separated them and O'Brien uppercut Erne on the chin with his left. Erne was visibly driven, and O'Brien got in two lefts on the face before they separated.

Round 14—Both came up fresh and O'Brien rushed, putting the left to the body and the right on the chin. O'Brien swung a hard right on the jaw, which drove Erne back. Jack rushed and hooked two fists on the ribs and a straight left on the face.

on the stomach. Erne came back with left and right for the head, but O'Brien swung again with a right on the wind. He kept playing for the body, while Erne went for the head. O'Brien's body blows were necessary, but Erne rallied, and they exchanged lefts and rights on the head, neck and body.
O'Brien was both hard at the bell.

on the stomach. Erne came back with left
and right for the head, but O'Brien swung
again with a right on the wind. He kept playing for the body, while Erne went for
the head. O'Brien's body blows were necessary, but Erne rallied, and they exchanged
lefts and rights on the head, neck and body.
O'Brien was both hard at the bell.

Round 17—Erne ran into a left on the chin, but sent back two of the same kind.
Erne swung his right to the point of O'Brien's jaw, and Jack jabbed his left to the face and Erne jabbed left to face.
Erne swung his right to the point of
the face and Erne jabbed left to face.
Both were working at the bell.

Round 18—Erne led off for the head, but was blocked. O'Brien landed his right on the body and then jabbed left on mouth.
O'Brien swung his right to the ribs, and Erne jabbed left to face. Both were working at the bell.

chin, but sent back two of the same kind.
the face and Erne jabbed left to face.
Erne swung his right to the point of
the face and Erne jabbed left to face.
Both were working at the bell.

Round 20—Both were tired when they came up. O'Brien still kept working for the body and Erne for the head. Siler had to break them apart frequently. O'Brien got in a hot right for the body and cut Erne's eye with a right swing. It was O'Brien's round to the body.

Round 21—O'Brien kept up the same tactics and was upon his toes. Erne kept on the defensive, watching for an opening for a knockout. At close quarters O'Brien sent his right time after time on the ribs and kidneys and Erne always sent his blows to the head.

Round 22—O'Brien rushed Erne to his corner, where they clinched. Erne jabbed left to face and O'Brien clinched again. Jack got in two jabs on the face in a clinch,
change Erne slipped to his hands, and O'Brien kept forcing and Erne remained on the defensive till the bell.

Round 23—Erne rushed into a
hard left jab on the nose. Erne tried three
times with left hooks, all of which were blocked. O'Brien rushed into a clinch O'Brien hooked two rights over
the chin, and Erne rushed into another left
jab on the nose.

Round 24—They rushed to a clinch.
the stomach. He jabbed his left to the face.
on the same spot. Erne swung left to
body and hooked the same glove to the jaw,
jarring O'Brien's head. O'Brien rushed
and swung work, landing two lefts on the face
and two more on the body. O'Brien rushed
and swung right on the body, and Erne
jabbed his face.

Round 25—Both jabbed lefts to the body and exchanged rights for the head. The two of them fought like furries, the blows coming thick and fast. They hugged each other and punched in the clinch. Erne, in clean hitting, scored a couple of hard ones on the face. They wrestled and pulled and dragged each other in their efforts to gain premacy and a description of the blows would be impossible. Both were covered with blood and O'Brien's face was the worst-looking, both eyes being bugged up and his mouth badly puffed. When the gong finished the bout neither man could stand and the house was in an uproar.

These were cries of "Erne! Erne!" and "O'Brien wins!" from the parades of both while the more level-headed said a draw would be a right and just decision.
As soon as the noise had abated somewhat, Fred Burns, the master of ceremonies, announced that Referee Siler had declared the bout a draw.

Conducted by Katherine Leslie.

It is very good to know that the first person to believe in the genius of that most lovely being, Robert Louis Stevenson, was his mother. It is a way Scotch women have. I fancy, more than other women. Mrs. Stevenson was devotedly attached to her son throughout his life, and it is said she realized his value to the world long before the world gave him a hearing. What she thought she had to do, was to see that his death must have been to her, only she knewed, but it was not until she was in her waning years that she realized that her death was not only one of the wisest but the most generally beloved of all modern writers. Some time after his death a great memorial meeting was held in Edinburgh. For his mother, says the author of "Stevenson's Edinburgh Days," it was a great day. She started for the Music Hall not too early, feeling sure of a seat, with a reserved seat ticket in her hand. She had declined to sit on the platform, and preferred to be a simple unit in the audience. The crowd was beyond expectation. Mrs. Stevenson arrived to find every passage blocked, and a waiting man at the main entrance clamoring for admittance. She found that she with them would be turned away, but as a forlorn hope she appealed to a policeman. "It's nae use, it's nae," he said; "reserve seats were taken an hour ago by folks that had nae tickets, and they wouldn't gang out."

From that time on, Mrs. Stevenson was roused out of her usual calm. "I've a right to get in; I'm Robert Louis Stevenson's mother." "Aye, ye've the best right," said the policeman, and, turning to the crowd, he cried: "Mak' way, there! She maun get in. She's Robert Louis' mother!" People who had thought they were packed too tightly to move, somehow packed closer, and let Mrs. Stevenson squeeze past. Breathless, hustled, and for once with her mantle and bonnet a little away, much against her will, the crowd pushed her to the platform. There she hastened to take a back seat, and a few minutes later she heard the orator of the day, Lord Rosebery, say, with an emphasis which the audience understood well, "His mother is here." Mrs. Stevenson was a rare mother, but Robert Louis was a rarer son, so full, so good, so tender always with her. Oddly enough, two other famous Scotchmen, which I recall at the moment, had mothers between whom and themselves there existed the greatest affinity and affection—Carlyle and his mother were the most congenial souls and great friends always, while between Barrie and his mother there is the same beautiful relationship. Barrie's mother was quite jealous of Stevenson's reputation, although she confessed that he was a greater writer than her own distinguished son.

The Advisory Board of the Toronto School Art League has issued an interesting pamphlet setting forth very lucidly the aims of the School Art League. These are: (1) to improve the architecture of schools by having the buildings correctly designed in harmony with the fundamental laws of true architecture; (2) to have the interiors of schoolrooms made artistic in proportion, in construction and in the coloring of walls and ceilings; (3) to provide good reproductions of the best art, the great masterpieces of the various schools of painting, architecture and artistic design, to be seen on the walls of the schoolrooms; (4) to purchase a few small copies of the most beautiful statues, the finest vases and other forms of beauty, that the pupils may see them regularly day after day and study them and draw them when old enough to do so; (5) to procure as large a supply as possible of pictures for cabinets to be used in connection with the teaching of geography and history; (6) to stimulate as far as possible an interest in good art in the construction, the interior decoration and the furnishing of all homes; (7) to encourage the organization of Art Leagues among senior pupils for the study of art as a means of culture and enjoyment; (8) to take any steps that local conditions may render desirable to improve the artistic environment of children and awaken a wider interest in art. The pamphlet goes on to say that it is impossible to overestimate the influence of the conditions of a child's environment during the first few years of his life. It is, therefore, of the highest importance that his environment should be of the best character, so that his life may be filled with the centers of true intellectual and spiritual growth at maturity. All the great thought and deep emotion that have been revealed to the most advanced men and women of the past have been recorded for the study and development of the race in the form of literature or music or art. It is, therefore, one of the clearest duties of the schools to qualify all children for the correct interpretation of literature, music and art, that they may be able to enrich and ennoble their lives from these stores of culture and power. The artistic development of the race has a most important influence upon the practical life of the people, and the material development of nations. A workman with artistic taste is able to earn one-third more wages in any department of artistic manufacture because he can give to the connected articles a higher value. The man who adds most to the wealth of any kind adds most to the wealth of his country. The organization of Art Leagues will promote the co-ordination of the home and the school and lead to united efforts by parents and teachers for the physical, intellectual and spiritual development of the children. The pamphlet then gives the names of the Advisory Board of the Toronto School Art League. It includes such men and women as the Minister of Education, E. F. E. Johnston, E. W. W. Grier, Frank Darling, W. A. Langton, R. A. Reid, Miss Muntz, Mrs. Hemphill, A. J. Somerville, His Worship the Mayor, the chairman of the Public School Board, Superintendent of Schools, Buildings, the Inspector of Public Schools. Some space is also devoted to the principles of decoration, and there are some excellent suggestions as to wall tiling, etc.; an extensive list of photographs, prints, and casts suitable for schoolroom decoration is appended. This pamphlet will be circulated throughout the province very shortly.

Yesterday afternoon there was quite a large attendance of women up in the new gallery of the Women's Art Association in the Confederation Life Building, which, by the way, the association has rented for a year—met to discuss the work for the incoming season. The president, Mrs. Dignam, was in the chair. After some discussion, a committee, composed of Mrs. Arthur, Mrs. John Little, Mrs. Price-Brown, Mrs. McManister, Mrs. J. A. Paterson, Mrs. Edward Leigh, Mrs. C. T. Harvey, Mrs. George Thompson, Mrs. Perry Mason, Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Toddner, Mrs. Ritchie, Mrs. O'Hara, Mrs. A. B. Clark, a Library Committee was also formed as follows: Miss MacMarchy, Mrs. Holman, Miss Carly, Mrs. Humphrey, Miss Edith Graham, Mrs. Lauder, Mrs. Laidlaw. Mrs. Fitzgibbon was present and gave an interesting account of the handicraft among the Doukhobors, with special reference to the needlework of the women and the wood carving among the men. Dr. Stowe-Gullen gave a very delightful musical recital yesterday afternoon at her residence on Spadina-avenue. The vocal decorations were yellow chrysanthemums, and Dr. Gullen received in a black velvet gown with a most becoming bodice of white tulle and chiffon. She was assisted by her aunt, Mrs. Thibodeau. The ladies who furnished the very attractive program of vocal and instrumental music were Madame Young-lear, Madame Farina, Miss Bertland, Miss Daisy Boulton, Mrs. Wilson-Lawrence, Mrs. Birchall, Miss Birchall, Miss Hilda Davis and Mrs. Falls. Among those present were: Mrs. Price-Brown, Mrs. George Carver, Mrs. Master, Miss Boulton, Mrs. George Dickson, Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Stowe, Dr. Stowe, Mrs. McGillivray Knowles, Mrs. Baker.

The President and Council of the Canadian Institute have invited their friends to make merry with them on Saturday night in the School of Practical Science, where they will celebrate the 50th anniversary of a child's environment during the first few years of his life. It is, therefore, of the highest importance that his environment should be of the best character, so that his life may be filled with the centers of true intellectual and spiritual growth at maturity. MAVOR ON RUSSIA. TALK ON IMMIGRATION. Superintendent Robertson of Presbyterian Missions Tells of Those in the Northwest. Rev. Dr. Robertson, Superintendent of Presbyterian Missions for the Northwest, addressed the city ministers yesterday morning on immigration. Last year the number of foreign entries in the Northwest was 33,000, and this year's total would be 45,000, of whom 40,000 have already arrived. He considered the situation a most good one, of whom there are 18,000 to 20,000. The German element was an important but a widely scattered element from Wilmouth to Edmonton. The Mennonites were rapidly becoming most valuable settlers. The Doukhobors would probably help this winter owing to many heads of families being in Siberia, Icelanders, Swedes, Hungarians and Bohemians were at different points being assimilated. The Moravians, different religions and different literatures. No one was to give of his position, for there were no parties to differ on social questions.

A number of very interesting views were then shown and explained. They were mostly taken in the vicinity of St. Petersburg, Moscow, Finland and the White Sea. The explanation of these he made mention of the great amount of capital invested in the factories of Russia, and also of the care of the Russian forests. HANDS OFF! We trust the Toronto Railway Company will see the propriety of maintaining a neutral attitude in the coming municipal election. The Toronto Railway Company and there is a general impression abroad that the city officials, as a rule, favor the company as against the city when the interests of the two do not run parallel. The Mayor of Toronto must be tied up in no shape or form to the Toronto Railway Company. He must be perfectly neutral, doing justice to the company, and yet seeing that the people are protected in their rights. Any candidate who accepts the assistance of the Railway Company in his election cannot fulfill his duty to the people. If Mr. E. F. Clarke decides to contest the mayoralty, he will keep clear of street railway influences. The people are in no temper to put up with Toronto Railway dictation. Our advice to the company is to keep out of the coming contest. If their hand is seen in the campaign it will not go well with the company.

HARBORING THE MACHINE. The Globe's theory about the election fraud is that every member of the so-called machine gang must be held to be innocent until he is proved guilty. This was the stand taken by the Dominion Government when Sir Wilfrid Laurier was asked to remove or suspend Mr. Preston. The Globe regards the machine gang as an inalienable right to move about and take part in the elections the same as other individuals have. The Ontario Government has taken no steps to convict the members of the gang who were reported by the judges. Through the situation the judges in the North Water division are still at large and doing business. Although they have been reported by the judges The Globe places them on the same level as all other citizens, and contends that they have the right to take part in the by-elections. At a meeting of fact the gang are at work at the present time. The notorious Tom Lewis was at St. Thomas last week. He was in the Grand Central Hotel at the very same time that Premier Ross and Donald MacInnis were there. This is the same individual that was reported by the judges in the North Water division election trial, and that was told by the judges that they would not believe him on oath. What the people would like to know is why this man Lewis is at large. If the law were allowed to take its course, as it is in cases of larceny, Lewis would have been convicted long ago. The criminal law as he is in duty-bound to administer it, Lewis would not now be at large. He would probably be safely housed in the Central Prison or one of the county jails. This is the Ontario Government's theory. The Globe demands perfect freedom and liberty to commit the crimes for which they have already been reported. If the Government will not prosecute the gang the people would be justified in using force to keep them out of West Elgin or any other constituency in which they have the frontory to show their faces.

HEAT THE CARS. If the Toronto Railway Company studied its own interests it would not wait till it is compelled to heat its cars, but would take the initiative itself. The enforcement of the street railway agreement is a question that will play an important part in the coming mayoralty election here. There are 600 yards before they were from the street. The failure of Manager Keating to heat the cars yesterday won hundreds of votes for this candidate. The same thing will be equally true to-day unless the company makes haste to heat its cars. The street railway agreement will never be properly enforced as long as the Railway Company elects the Mayor of the city.

PARCEL AND PACKAGE FREIGHT CHARGES. While freight rates on the railways of the United States and Canada are perhaps on the whole more advantageous to the people than those of the European countries, people that are carrying parcels on the latter are decidedly much more favorable than anything that prevails on this side of the Atlantic. For the sum of eight cents the Great Eastern Railway will carry a parcel of about 100 lbs. into London, a box weighing up to twenty pounds. This charge also covers the delivery of the package to the consumer's door. The cost of the amount actually received by the railway for transporting a twenty-pound parcel 100 miles is two cents. Our authority for this statement is The Railway Gazette, which reproduces a paper read by W. M. Acworth in London on the subject of "The Railroads and the Farmers." Mr. Acworth says the rates on the Great Eastern Railway are not exceptional, the charges on the other lines being practically the same as those on it. In the same issue of The Gazette we learn that the Italian railroads have just adopted a new tariff for parcels of forty-four pounds and less. The old one had four classes, and increased for every increase of fifty kilometers (thirty miles). The new one has two classes, a general one and one covering articles of food, intended to facilitate shipments of farm products to the consumer. There is one rate for all distances of four hundred kilometers (two hundred miles) or less, and another for all greater distances. Thus the whole tariff is included in the following few lines. The rates are in cents: For 249 miles.....11 lbs. 22 lbs. 33 lbs. 44 lbs. 55 lbs. 66 lbs. 77 lbs. 88 lbs. 99 lbs. 110 lbs. 121 lbs. 132 lbs. 143 lbs. 154 lbs. 165 lbs. 176 lbs. 187 lbs. 198 lbs. 209 Canada would have a wonderful effect in stimulating business between the cities and the country. It is to be regretted that those consigned to short distances that are handled by the express companies for 25 cents. The lowest charge of the railway companies is 35 cents. A change in the tariff for the handling of light freight is very much needed in Canada. The Government has a simple means of bringing the rate down to the rate of the express companies. The postoffice department ought to initiate the service that the express companies decline to give the people. In Great Britain they have both cheap rates for parcels by rail and by post. No doubt the low parcel rates prevailing in Great Britain induced the railways to reduce their rates for light freight proportionately. If the Canadian Government were to establish an efficient parcel post system the express companies would be obliged to follow in the same line. Nor would they lose anything by the change. A reduction of 50 per cent. in their charges for parcels would increase the companies' income immensely. They would make just as much as ever or more by cutting the rates in two. Another remedy that might be applied is the regulation of rates on the trolley lines by the Provincial Legislature. These lines are especially adapted by the interchange of light packages between the city and country. We certainly ought to have a ten-cent rate for small parcels and packages on the trolley lines, and, possibly, under certain conditions, even a five-cent rate. It is for the adjudication of freight charges, both for bulky produce and small packages, that the board of electric railway commissioners is needed as much as for any other purpose.

Many heroic deeds. Among the many heroic deeds one of the most conspicuous was that of Lieut.-Col. Coderding of the Coldstream Guards, Capt. Macleod of the Cameron Highlanders and a dozen members of the Coldstream Guards, who jumped into the river and swam over to the other side in the face of a steady fire. They were forced to retire, however, fighting hand to hand and drowned in the return. The British guns kept up a heavy fire all day. The enemy was brought in the Boer positions, the enemy being forced to flee from their entrenchments.

Night Ended the Bloodshed. Night put an end to the terrible bloodshed. The Boers retreated at night, taking their guns with them, and we are now occupying the positions. The enemy's loss was tremendous.

FLOWER OF THE BRITISH ARMY. Rode Through London in the Dead of Night to Embark for South Africa. New York, Dec. 4.-A London cablegram to The Journal says in the dead of night the flower of the British army rode through the streets of London to embark for Africa. The Boer war had gone before, but still more men are required to overwhelm the stubborn, fighting Boers. The war is known as the Household Cavalry.

These troops were only called out on what may be called emergency campaigns. This foreign service includes Egypt in 1882, the Boer war, the Sudan, Egypt in 1882, their last call abroad being for the relief of the Boers. It is these men, the flower of the British Army, who are now being sent to South Africa.

It was a Fearful Battle. The Boers occupied a strong entrenched position, their front extending five miles along the bank of the stream. The British force consisted of the 2nd Battalion of the Scots Guards, the 3rd Battalion of the Grenadier Guards, the 1st Battalion of the Northamptonshire Light Infantry (The King's Own), a part of the 1st Battalion of the Royal North Lancashire Regiment, the 9th Lancers, the Mounted Infantry, three batteries of the Royal Artillery and the 1st Battalion of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders (Princess Louise). The latter reinforcements arrived just in time for the fight.

Started Daybreak. The battle started at daybreak, our guns shelling the Boer's left. The enemy replied with artillery, Hotchkiss and Maxim guns. The artillery duel lasted for some time. There was a brief lull in the enemy's operations, of which the general was fully aware. The Boers advanced across the plain towards the river in two brigades. The Guards at the river were met by the sharpshooters posted close to the river on the opposite bank.

Our Troops Simply Mowed Down. Our troops had no cover whatever, and were simply mowed down. It seemed as if the Boer bullets did not retreat an inch. The Boers were firing with such accuracy that they must have numbered at least 10,000. The Scots Guards advanced and were mowed down before they had time to get into the line. The British force was completely annihilated. The Boers were then ordered to march on to the river.

A COLLOQUY.

"What's the matter with you?" asked Benson. "I've got dyspepsia," said Jensen. "Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets," repeated Jensen. "What about them?" "They'll cure you." "Are you sure?" asked Jensen. "Certainly," replied Benson. "Think Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure me?" asked Jensen. "No doubt about it. Finest things in the world for Dyspepsia," said Benson. "You don't say Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets?" "What are they?" asked Jensen. "Pepsin, diastase and sugar, principally," said Benson. "No." "You know just what you're taking when you eat Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets," said Benson. "Ever try 'em?" asked Jensen. "I have," said Jensen. "What for?" asked Benson. "Dyspepsia," said Benson. "Oh, I had 'em all," said Benson. "Indigestion, sour stomach, gas, heartburn, headache, poor appetite, nervousness and all the rest of 'em." "And did you cure all that by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets?" asked Jensen. "By Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, only," replied Benson. "Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets must be all right," said Jensen. "If you've got Dyspepsia, you want to try 'em," said Benson. "Yes, I will," said Jensen.

GLOVES

At Half Price.

There are about 225 dozens in the lot, made up of 4-Buttons and 2-Dome Fasteners. The button goods are a little old style, but the kid is of the best quality; 55 cents for a pair of Perrin's gloves is a ridiculous price. The greater part of this lot consist of large sizes, so this is a great opportunity for those who wear 7, 7 1/4 and 7 3/4 to lay in a stock. Below is a detailed list of sizes and quantities:
