A GREAT MEETING.

The leader of the Liberal party can have no fault to find with his reception in the maritime provinces. Last night's great meeting in this city was the climax of a remarkably successful tour.

Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King sustained his reputation as a brilliant speaker and the frequent applause proved the sympathy and appreciation of the audience. Not less appreciative were the people of the wit, the earnestness and force of Mr. Lapointe.

It was not difficult to probe the weakness of the present government at Ottawa, but it was done with rare skill by both speakers, and the arguments in favor of an appeal to the people set forth with striking clearness and force.

Canadian unity was the chief theme of both addresses, and as essential to that unity they urged that the people be given without delay the opportunity to set up at Ottawa a truly representative government.

Mr. King holds that the aspirations of the farmers, the labor party and the veterans arise from the same source as those of the great Liberal party, and that if there be any danger at all from any of these sources it could only develop through an effort to legislate for a class.

There can be no quarrel with the definition of Liberalism given by Mr. King and Mr. Lapointe, or with the emphasis placed by the former upon the vital relation of social, industrial and economic justice to the well-being of the state.

His hearers were especially interested in Mr. King's exposition of the tariff policy of the Liberal party. He made it clear that the party stands for the abolition of many duties now exacted, the modification of others, and an increase in the British preference.

THE JUVENILE COURT.

The resolutions protesting against a juvenile court, which were adopted last night by the Trades and Labor Council, which had previously voted in favor of such a court, are based upon an utterly wrong conception of the functions of such a court and of its conduct.

Some one has been "spoofing" the members who adopted that resolution. No juvenile court invades the sanctity of a home, and no workingman would for one moment permit himself to champion the cause of parents brought before the juvenile court for criminal neglect.

The public will be reluctant to believe that any thoughtful member of the Trades and Labor Council is prepared to endorse the description of social welfare workers in this city as "the usual train of so-called moral reformers whose time is spent in the streets and houses, and who daily are becoming a menace to the peace and tranquility of the good old-time mother."

The good old-time mother is the very one who has least sympathy with those who neglect their children and make delinquents of them, and it is only with the latter the juvenile court deals. It is unfortunate that some member of the council had not before him the last report of the Halifax and Pictou juvenile courts, or any others in Canada or the United States.

Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King last evening submitted a striking contrast between the situation in New Brunswick today with no representative in the cabinet and the period when Hon. William Pugsley in the Laurier cabinet was keeping the interests of this city and province constantly before his colleagues and getting results.

Nation-wide prohibition is now the law of the United States, and it is announced from Washington that drastic action will be taken against all violators. In this great reform Canada might have led. It must soon follow. It is satisfactory to note that the plebiscite on prohibition will be taken on the Dominion lists, which include the women voters.

The Allied nations are to re-open commercial relations with Russia, but their attitude toward the Trotsky-Lenin government will not be changed. This is an interesting new development of the situation.

LIGHTHOUSE MEN HERE ORGANIZE

The Canadian Brotherhood of Lighthouse Keepers' Association held their first convention in this city at the Victoria Hotel yesterday afternoon in a room which was filled with lighthouse keepers from all parts of the New Brunswick coast, were present at the convention.

DID IT ON TIPS.

New York, Jan. 16—Sophie Hodosky, a waitress, who testified that she received a salary of twelve dollars a week was fined two dollars today after she had pleaded guilty of violation of traffic rules while driving her $4,500 automobile. She told the court she averaged $80 a week in tips.

When once again we use our heads, and calm become, and thrifty, there'll be no room for noisy riddles, with theories wild and shifty. The man who owns a house and lot, a garden in its season, has little use for riddles that seem to smack of treason.

Ideals of "The Plain Man"

(From The Review.)

There is danger in identifying "the sum of human happiness" with the aggregate of the material things which are produced by human effort. It is true that if the masses were persuaded that that aggregate could be enormously increased by the abolition of private property, they would probably be impervious to all other considerations; it is therefore of very great importance that the error of such a view be exposed. But even in the exposing of this error, it is essential that the "plain man" be treated as an intelligent human being; if you attempt to satisfy his mind by an argument that is fit only for a child, he will soon take your measure, and your last state will be worse than the first. And you will likewise underestimate his intelligence if you think that he is inaccessible to the deeper considerations that belong to the subject. You may convince him that he gets more to eat and to wear than he is likely to get under communism, and yet leave him strongly inclined to see what communism might do for him. "The full market-basket" is a good enough cry in a tariff campaign, but when it comes to the great issues of life, the "plain man" or at all events the plain American, does not like to think of himself as concerned only with his market-basket. Treat him as a man, not a proletarian; as a man to whom "the sum of human happiness" means something more than food to eat and clothes to wear. What we have in mind, however, is not those spiritual or religious or intellectual sources of happiness which are but lightly related to economic institutions; we intrude these into the discussion would be, to the plain man's mind, to draw a herring across the trail. But he will grant readily enough that the sum of the happiness that men enjoy through the acquisition of material things depends not merely on their gross quantity but quite as much on the conditions upon which they are acquired; that the chance of success and the danger of failure, the necessity of self-reliance, the splendid returns which stimulate enterprise and reward sagacity or talent—that these things justify the institution of property not only because they make it fully capable in the final of our material possessions, but even more because the enjoyment of these possessions is infinitely greater than it could be under a system in which they were rationed out to us by a governmental machine.

ZIONIST CENTRES SELECTED.

The Zionist Organisation of America announced this week in New York that London and Copenhagen had been selected as centres through which the mass migration of Jews to Palestine will be directed. This movement, however, is not to begin until after Great Britain has assumed the mandate over the country. At London will be registered and organized those emigrants who seek the homeland from Great Britain, France, Italy, Spain, Switzerland, Holland and stranded there on their way to Palestine, the Balkan Peninsula, North Africa and Asia. Through Copenhagen will go those from Eastern and Central Europe and Scandinavia. A central immigration office will be established at either Jeddah or Haifa, which ever is made chief port of arrival.

Zionist officials pointed out that the difficulty of restricting immigration to Palestine from all parts of the world is becoming an acute problem. The situation in Constantinople has become serious because of the large number of refugees from all parts of the world.

Jane Carroll, Business Woman, Who Works For a Living And For Amusement, And For Real Entertainment Works a Little Harder

With each brown curl hanging just as a brown curl should hang, and clean, chubby fingers interlaced over an immaculate pinafore, a little girl sat sedately in a high-backed chair and said never a word while her mother entertained a visiting cousin the little girl had been called down stairs to salute. Finally the visitor turned to the high-backed chair and asked its occupant what she was going to be when she grew up, says the New York Evening Post.

"I," spoke the small one, parting red lips over milk-white teeth and lifting serious brown eyes to the visitor's face, "when I grow up I am going to be myself."

That was Jane Carroll in her New England home not so many years ago, and that is Jane Carroll now in her Brooklyn office, where, as general manager of the export division of one of the biggest razor corporations in America, she is laying her plans to shave the whole world. Already she has men reporting to her from Paris, from London, Rome and Madrid, from Rio de Janeiro, Buenos Aires and Quito, from far-off Sydney in Australia, and from nearby Havana in Cuba, and all these men are selling razors to shave the beards of other men. Not satisfied with this, Jane Carroll proposes now to attack the Russian head—says, even the beard of the Bolshevik. Before 1920 is a year old she purposes to have her corporation's safety razors in every general store in Petrograd, Moscow and Vladivostok.

That it is razors this girl is handling is only a detail. The vital thing to consider is Jane Carroll herself, a woman with a personality so vivid that it touches even the bills of lading and the shipping instructions that sometimes have to pass through her hands. Whatever she does, whether it is signing an order for an additional telephone or planning a country-wide campaign for the sale of her razors in somnolent, sparsely whiskered China, she puts into it a little bit of that which is herself.

She thinks she has been able to develop her unusual talents as a business woman all the more rapidly because of the repression of her childhood. "It made me all the more anxious to break through and do things for myself," she said. "That plain, proper little maiden who was not allowed to speak unless she was spoken to, who, as she grew older, must not climb trees or cross her legs or walk on stilts or whistle a tune, was not myself. She was only a sort of covering for the little girl that was Jane Carroll. Now, the 'me within me' is the outer woman. As you see me, so I am. In my work I have found myself."

Having found herself in her work, she proceeds forthwith to lose herself in the same way. By her work she is completely absorbed, swallowed up, swept away. With her, work is a religion, a passion, almost a dissipation. She works for her living, she works for her amusement, and when she wants to be thoroughly entertained, she just works a little harder.

"Of course, I like other forms of amusement, too," she admitted. "I like to go to the theatre, like to dance, like a little chat with my friends, and I like a good book. All these things I find worth while, but not so much worth while, not nearly so entertaining and interesting as my work. I could not love it as I do if this were not so. It is natural to love to work. If you don't believe this, watch any normal child at play, and you will see that the game which amuses him most is some sort of work. A mere baby will work at block-house building. A little girl will spend whole hours building and decorating a playhouse, and a boy will occupy himself for a week at a time building a boat. Foreign trade promotion work is a sort of grown up game of block-building, only in this one must work with men and laws and customs and manners instead of with wooden blocks."

Miss Carroll got her preliminary business training selling advertising space on a trade paper. After she had been selling advertising for this trade paper for a few months, Miss Carroll opened up an export advertising agency of her own. In a little while she had attracted the attention of all the big concerns in the country that were doing much of an export business, and, when the German drive toward Paris forced her to close her agency, she was promptly made foreign trade promotion manager of one of the big express companies. Soon after she was also made editor of this company's foreign trade bulletin. It was while she held this dual position that she was a guest, at the speaker's table, at a banquet given by the National Foreign Trade Convention, a distinction that has not yet been bestowed upon any other woman.

She attributes her really phenomenal success in the business world to her method of always looking ahead and of attending to the little things. "In our business here we have what we call the 'follow through' system," she said. "In a way, that has always been my plan. If I pick up a thing I follow it through. It's amazing how far an idea will take you and how much you will pick up along the way if you follow it through. I believe in thoroughness quite as much as I believe in work."

Miss Carroll is often called upon to address meetings and conventions. She is a good speaker, clear, concise and logical. If any fault is to be found with her delivery it is that it is too rapid. Her ideas crowd one another so fast that she does not take time to finish all her sentences. She clips them at both ends and sometimes drops out a word or two in the middle, and unless her auditor is mentally most alert, she leaves him way behind. However, what she says has form and substance so that even the dullard left in the rear can pick it up afterward and piece it together for his own use.

Miss Carroll was born in Foxcroft, Me., and spent her childhood in Connecticut and Massachusetts. When she was a young girl she came with her father to New York and attended Morris High school. Later she took a course in arts and medicine at Cornell University. She has traveled all over the United States and Europe and has spent some months in the Orient. She speaks both French and Spanish, an accomplishment which is of much assistance to her in her work with the foreign trade.

TAKE OFF FROM ICE Flying Boats Also Land on It in Safety.

After the spectacular events in connection with the war, when each day was filled with hair-raising episodes that brought into prominence one ace after another, the interest in occasional "stunts" has somewhat subsided. For most of the new accomplishments suffered by comparison; but during the last year great strides have been made in flying and many new feats have been quietly recorded.

The long days after the signing of the armistice were not wasted by the fliers who were obliged to remain in the service for several months, and once the excitement of the war was quite over many of these men continued their interest in flying through sincere love of it, unprompted by duty. While there is little excuse for spectacular display, few realize how quickly flying is taking an important place in the general scheme of things.

One of the most persistent "stunt men" of the less spectacular daredevils is C. J. Zimmerman, who has recently shown many new things in flying down in Keyport, N. J. He rounded out his year of events by using the frozen Raritan Bay as his flying field, taking off into the air from the ice sheet and landing again in the same spot.

the feasibility of this method of putting important late mail or documents on liners long after they have cleared port. A feat requiring great skill and no little daring was the "stunting" of a flying boat. Up to Oct. 16 looping the loop and tail spinning were stunts which were performed only by light land machines, but on that day Zimmerman proved that an aeroplane flying boat could also go through these gyrations safely, and since that time he has done several new feats with a flying boat.

Only Split In Cabinet Would Bring Elections In Old Land At Present

News of the Empire Metropolis in Letter to Times —The Prince of Wales and His Jewelry— The "End of the World" Alarm—Fur Robberies in City's Streets.

(From our own correspondent.)
London, Dec. 24.—Once again is the rumor of an early general election revived in London, and it finds some support as well as considerable approval at Westminster. But after careful inquiries one can find little ground for accepting the news as reliable. It is based on the government's postponement of important measures, and on the difficulty foreseen by most onlookers when the next budget comes to be introduced. It is argued that the ministry are shelving their big problems and means to evade their financial embarrassments, especially the pledge given by Austen Chamberlain about no further increase in taxation. The Labor party are especially said to be convinced that they can see the better coming.

But the most reliable prophets are not convinced yet. Ministers do not usually commit suicide without better cause than a young coalition government with a powerful majority which is succeeding in getting business through the House of Commons quite rapidly. The only possible explanation of a sudden decision to go to the country would be acute differences in the cabinet, of which there has been no rumor lately, though, of course, the speech delivered at Manchester was rather disturbing.

Bolshevik High Hand.

The failure of the O'Grady-Litvinoff negotiations rather takes the advanced Labor people in London by surprise. Their theory has been all along that the Bolsheviks desired only to be at peace with us, and that the allied governments had conspired against Russian democratic expression in obedience to powerful reactionary influences. There never was a word of truth in this ridiculous theory, but it has been doggedly held in certain quarters with all the pertinacity of ignorance.

Now that so perfectly democratic and well disposed a plenipotentiary as Mr. O'Grady, M. P., has found the demands of M. Litvinoff on behalf of the Lenin group too much for even his toleration, anyone who weighs the proposals put forward by the Bolsheviks at this conference, and rejected by Mr. O'Grady, must realize how thoroughly preposterous and impractical are the conditions which the Allies are asked to accept.

International Currency.

An international currency scheme has now been drawn up by Marshall Stevens, M. P., who is a member of the International Trade Conference, and Professor Irving Fisher of Yale University, of the department of political economy, for encouraging trade among the countries of the world. They propose a monetary commission of the allied powers. One proposal for submission is the

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Try this Brush Sage Tea and Sulphur Compound through your hair, taking one strand at a time.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. At very little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-made preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wynth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and all we desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wynth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger.

by way of comment, never cherishing when a particularly good patch is done, and generally evincing neither astonishment, appreciation, nor boredom. Surely they must be sadly neglecting their important duties. And how do they support themselves and their families now that the state dole has been knocked on the head? Punch recently suggested that the government should organize lectures for these street gazers. It is really a good idea.

Zeppelin Money.

A recent public inquiry has found the world familiar with the cynical phrase "a parliamentary answer." It is just about the same thing as "a terminological inexactitude." And there is not

AWAY WITH THOSE ACHES AND PAINS

Keep Sloan's Liniment handy to put the "feel good" back into the system.

ALL it needs is just one trial—A little applied without rubbing, for it penetrates to convince you of its merit in relieving sciatica, lumbago, neuralgia, lame muscles, stiffness, bruises, pains, aches, and strains, the after-effects of exposure.

The congestion is scattered, promptly, cleanly, without effort, economically. You become a regular user of Sloan's Liniment, adding your enthusiasm to that of its many thousands of other friends the world over, who keep it handy. Three sizes at all druggists—8c., 7c., $1.40. Made in Canada.

the smallest doubt that the practice is growing. Brigadier Croft recently asked a question about civil servants who were paid Zeppelin money—i. e., extra remuneration for air-raids risks while on duty in Whitehall. The answer given was doubtless accurate, but, as my informant goes, distinctly misleading all the same. I am told that it is a fact that certain clerks were paid a guinea a night for remaining on the premises regardless of raids, and that this payment went on long after the armistice. Moreover, some, if not all, of these gentlemen were quite eligible for army service the pay for which, with somewhat greater risks, was hardly on the same scale.

Sir J. M. Meets B. L.

A very charming little social courtesy marked the conclusion of the parliamentary session, when the Asquithian Liberals entertained as guest at their luncheon Bonar Law, the leader of the House of Commons, and as Unionist opponent, virtually the unrowned king of the coalition ministry. The suggestion originated, I hear, with Sir Donald Maclean, the leader of the official opposition, and was enthusiastically taken up by his little band of Wee Wees, all of whom deeply appreciate the unvarying courtesy and consideration Bonar Law has shown them during the trying session, and his admirable good temper and disarming frankness. The only other guest was another interesting Scot, Sir J. M. Barrie, who, of course, brought Peter Pan with him.

Jeering at Fate.

The giddy crowds of West End frivolers made very merry over the end of the world. Everybody seemed to be talking and laughing about it. And the predominant evening paper bill was "Unsettled weather tomorrow—official." When the thick London fog suddenly settled down on some suburbs about dusk, and went drifting over London at random all night, some superstitious souls really began to look a little blue. But if last Wednesday is any criterion of what will eventually happen, when some day or other the world does crumble up, the final cataclysm will find humanity making merry as heedlessly as the Pompeiians of old.

ately. The bridges across the river slowly melted away. And it was the crashing of the Hotel Cecil, which lifted like a balloon and then thundered into a miniature Ypres on the ground, that woke her up. This means nerves, for sure, and a certain amount of cogitation. These American professors must be more careful!

Dearer Clubs.

All the London clubs seem to be putting up their entrance fees and subscriptions under pressure of increased prices all round. The Constitutional, whose members have just vacated their warm premises in the Hotel Cecil and are once more at home in Northumberland avenue, is now charging twenty guineas entrance fee and the subscription of five guineas has been doubled. The Junior Carlton is making the subscription twelve guineas, and most of the others, including the Conservative, the Devonshire, St. Stephen's, and the Union, are charging fifteen guineas. The United Services is the same as the Junior Carlton. There is a big influx of new members in most of the well-known clubs, however, and clubland is promising to be very popular and active again now things are slowly settling down.

Classical Dancing.

The popularity of the jazz band as an accompaniment of the modern dance seems at last to be on the wane, and at several of the more exclusive clubs string bands are gradually being reinstated, at any rate for the waltz and the tango. The latest innovation, however, is dancing to classical music, and for some time at private dances one or two "extras" at the end of the programme have been danced to music that, while possessing perfect rhythm, bears no relation to the conventional dance music of the clubs.

At one of the big flats in the West End this week some fifteen enthusiastic couples danced exclusively to classical music, which included the works of Rachmaninoff, Beethoven, Bach and the more modern Russian, Stravinsky. It is probable that this growing fashion, like the "art" shades of which the furniture shops are full, is a reflection of the influence of the Russian ballet season.

Bay State Republicans Plan To Sing Way To Victory At The Polls

Novel Song Campaign Set in Motion by Massachusetts League—Expects to Make Movement National—Organization Growing Rapidly.

(Special Correspondence of N. Y. Evening Post.) Boston, Jan. 12.—Songs to stir the blood are the leading feature of the campaign plans for the new Republican League of Massachusetts. It was begun last May 28. It is one of the consequences of the shock to the Republican managers by the drop of their plurality for governor, for Coolidge, to about 17,000 in the election of 1918, when he was elected for the first time. It was also based in part upon the feeling that the system of direct primaries is stifling party loyalty and that something must be done to offset it.

The system of organization is thorough and covers ground usually covered by political managers. But they have introduced the policy of singing to stir up enthusiasm. It has been so successful that they are pushing it to the front and promise to make it a leading feature of their meetings, and they plan to extend it to all the states during the presidential campaign. They believe they will make more votes that way than by the usual way of campaign speeches.

Strength Defines And Age Advances Follow This Suggestion

So many women grow old before their time, perhaps your wife or sister: a little while ago, buoyant, full of vim and imparted pleasure to the whole family; but now in a few short years she has faded and lost color and strength. She is just ready to develop some disease that will further weaken and debilitate. You remember how it began, failure of appetite, tired in the morning, found housework burdensome, always nervous and a little irritable. It's a shame to let her go down hill further when you can build her up so quickly with Ferronone. The chance this nourishing tonic makes in a weak woman is surprising. It gives great zest for food, increases appetite and digestion enormously. The blood gets richer and stronger and adds new life to every organ in the body. A rebuilding process works through the entire system. The first week will show an improvement, and a month or two will fatten up the 'thinnes', most run-down women you can think of. Take Ferronone for lost color, for nervousness, for weakness, use it when run-down and feeling poorly—it will do you more lasting good, keep you in better health, than anything else. It's good for men and children, too, because Ferronone is harmless and safe 50c. per box or six for $2.50, at all dealers, or direct by mail from the Cataract Soda Co., Kingston, Ont.

DEBATE ON GIRLS' SPHERE

An interesting debate was held last evening by the Philanthropic Society of the Germain street Baptist church in the school room of the church. Miss Maud Estabrook was the presiding officer. The debate proved very close and exciting. The theme was, "Resolved that the girl in business does and will do more for the good and uplift of humanity than the home girl." The affirmative was upheld by Miss Frances Alward, Miss Nora Lewis and Miss K. Dishart, while the negative side of the question was ably argued by Miss E. McKinnon, Miss M. Sully and Miss H. Gray. The affirmative finally won by a close margin. After the debate a pleasant social hour was spent and refreshments were served.

and left it to take up this work. He says he can do much more for the cause of music in this way than through the university work in fifty years. He has no doubt he is doing great benefit to the public by this wholesale singing programme, whereby everybody at the meetings is stirred up to sing. Branches have already been formed in Worcester, Plymouth, Springfield, Pittsfield, Northampton and other cities, besides about 150 of the towns. It is expected to have a branch in every city and town in the state. The league is intensely partisan in the sense that it will support any party nominee, no matter what his qualifications or disqualifications, provided he has the regular party label. The league will exert itself to cultivate branches among the different races Italian speakers for Italian meetings, Swedes for Swedes, and so on through all the different races which have enough votes. The movement is very popular in the localities where it has been introduced, and the managers already predict that the Republicans will sing themselves into power with a momentum which the non-singing Democrats cannot possibly resist successfully. A vest-pocket leaflet shows more detail of this movement. It appeals to patriotism "To help make the liberty for which our boys fought in France safe in our state and nation." It appeals for support on the ground of "genuine Americanism," and says its

Get Your Money's Worth Hearing The New Edison for the first time is like opening the blinds to the sunlight. You expect to hear the familiar "talking machine tone." Instead—there pours forth the voice, or the music of the instrument, in all its natural beauty—pure and full, and indistinguishable from the living artist. When you choose an Edison RE-CREATION, you receive the actual voice of the artist or his masterly instrumental performance—nothing more, nothing less. We know that when you select an Edison RE-CREATION, you are getting your full money's worth because we have proof. SHOULD PREPARE FOR ANOTHER WAR

Warning to Britain Sounded By General Sir Louis Jackson

Favors Open Fighting - Greatest Army Development Will Be in Mechanical Transport.

In a paper on "The Possibilities of the Next War," read at the London Royal United Service Institution, Major-General Sir Louis Jackson suggested that there would be a return to open warfare, says the London Times. Mechanical transport would influence most deeply the tactics of the future. Gates which killed painlessly might be used. A fighting would be enormously developed. The long rifle would be succeeded by a short carbine, and artillery would be much more mobile.

necessary to develop new arms with the knowledge that the nation which best did so would have a great advantage in the next war. There were people who were crying for a reduction of armaments and who declared that another war was an impossibility just as six years ago they declared war with Germany was an impossibility. wars we should be exposed to much greater dangers than in the recent war. And Germany had not refrained from saying that she hoped for revenge some day.

Sees End of Tanks. He believed that one of the greatest developments in the art of war would be brought about in mechanical transport. The tank was a freak which had been called into existence by exceptional circumstances, which were not likely to recur and which if they did recur could be dealt with by other means. The outstanding feature of the tanks had been that they had made mechanical transport independent of the roads. That would be to influence most deeply the tactics of the future. If the whole of the transport of an army was carried by vehicles with caterpillar wheels it would be independent of the roads.

There would be no long column of transport, but it could advance in open order on a broad front carrying guns, munitions, supplies and men. At the same time it would carry the air force would be useful for sudden blows at long distances.

Favors Use of Gas. With regard to the use of gas in future wars, he said that there was no more reason to forbid its use than to forbid the use of rifles. There were gases which killed painlessly, and it was more humane to use gas than explosive shells. That was especially the case with punitive expeditions that no gas should be used which would cause unnecessary suffering. Commercial progress and prosperity in the 20th century would depend on chemistry, and chemical productions must have a great effect on all future warfare.

It was in the air that we were to face with the problem of the future. It was in the air that we had had the most important advance in the art of war. We need not trouble ourselves yet with flying destroyers, or flying concrete forts, but more than the names of the air force estimates might be the most important part of our preparations for war. Bombing and reconnaissance machines would be developed by commerce, for the machines used in commerce could easily be adapted for war purposes, and civilian pilots could be taken over with the machines. For fighting machines special types were required and highly specialized military training was necessary for the personnel.

For both machines and the men to man them that side of flying must be developed by the government. The result of a return to open warfare would probably be that bombers would have the same targets near the front of the armies and would secure better results by going farther afield and bombing the centres where munitions were manufactured, stores were accumulated and troops were trained. Dealing with the liaison service, he pointed out that there was much room for simplification, and the open warfare of 1913 had led to the elimination of some forms of communication which had been used previously. Wireless telegraphy would be the principal means of communicating with aircraft and a development of the electrical listening posts used in trench warfare, a ground wireless system would become the standard means of communication between advanced infantry and the headquarters controlling them. He believed also that smoke and light signals, a pillar of cloud by day and a pillar of fire by night, would be used by troops to show the positions they had reached. There had never been a war in which such an extreme variety of weapons had been employed. The long rifle had seen its day and should be replaced by a short carbine which would be accurate up to 500 yards. Each man should also carry a good dagger which might be attached to the carbine like a bayonet. He did not think the automatic pistol would survive, and he was not sure that the grenade would not also go, if they assumed that in future they would have open warfare.

REV. R. M. LEGATE INDUCTED IN KNOX CHURCH LAST NIGHT. The induction of the Rev. R. Morehead Legate as minister of Knox church took place last evening and was witnessed by a large gathering. The service of induction was an impressive one. The presbytery convened in the vestry of the church and then entered the church in a body. The service was conducted by Rev. F. S. Dowling as interim moderator of the church. A short devotional service preceded the solemn induction of Mr. Legate by the presbytery. The charge to the minister was delivered by Rev. Dr. J. A. Morrison and the charge to the congregation by Rev. J. A. MacKeigan. After the ceremony the new minister was led to the door of the church by two representative elders and was introduced to the members of the congregation while they were retiring. Mr. Legate met the session of the church, after the ceremony, for consideration of matters of business.

A WIDE READER

Favorite Authors of Lloyd George Enumerated by Lord Riddell.

The popular and genial Lord Riddell, newspaper proprietor, and whipper-in for Lloyd George of the British press representatives at the Peace conference, has been writing very interestingly about the literary tastes of his intimate friend the old prime minister, in John O'London's Weekly.

The general effect of the article is to convey that Lloyd George reads widely but not deeply. Oratory, ancient and modern, seems to attract him most. He reads the day-to-day speeches of his chief opponents, he recently read through the speeches of the late John Bright—a depository of radical pacifism—and he considers that Disraeli's attack on Sir Robert Peel is the finest example of parliamentary invective extant; a somewhat superficial judgment.

"He delights in a cause celebre just as much as the ordinary individual. He takes the keenest interest in how cases are conducted. He likes to point out what counsel might have said but did not say, how well he put his case, or how skilfully a witness evaded the searching question."

Quick to Seize the Point.
Then, of course, he has to plough through reams of official documents and reports, and he has the surest hand in picking out the kernel or the defect which can be seized upon for disiectal purposes.

But his chief mental pabulum seems to be newspapers. He is interested in all sorts of newspapers except the technical ones, which he never reads. In motoring through the street he is an avid reader of the newspaper billboard, and cannot refrain from stopping to buy a copy of any paper that promised some striking piece of news, be it political or social. Indeed, it is quite notorious that no British prime minister, or minister, for that matter, has ever devoted so much attention to systematically utilizing the press.

Curiously enough, for a man with so large a share of human interest in his composition, poetry has little attraction for him—except Welsh poetry—which may be attributed to the subordination of taste to patriotic duty. But he reads history, politics, travels and biography, though he does not care for "biology, physiology or psychology." He marks but unfortunately our curiosity on that point is left unsatisfied.

"Apart from novels he has no favorite books, except, perhaps, Macaulay's Essays and Lewes' 'Robespierre.'" Sir George fails to mention it, but Robespierre is Lloyd George's favorite political hero, and when he became Chancellor of the Exchequer he hung a portrait of the "sea-green incorruptible" one in his room. They were both attorneys.

His Favorite Novelists.

He has read "The Cloister and the Hearth" seven or eight times, its purpose doubtless being agreeable to him as sometimes a Welsh Calvinist. His favorite novelists are Scott, Dickens, Dumas, Conan Doyle, Stevenson, Lytton, Mayne Reid, Charles Reade, Fenimore, Cooper, Mary Johnson, Locke, Jack London, Kipling, Weyman and so forth. When he is much struck by a book, he gives readings of outstanding passages in the family circle and "as he is a first-class actor and mimic, these little readings are most entertaining."

He is also fond of expounding the Bible, "of which he has a far more detailed knowledge than any other book. He can quote from the Bible never-endingly. The characters are not to him purely religious. He sees them from the human point of view, and, indeed, there is an added and more intimate interest when you have been shown these Bible characters through the eyes of the Prime Minister." Lately he read Ibsen's four novels. His favorite character in fiction is Alan Breck in Stevenson's "Kidnapped."

He regards Gladstone as the greatest speaker he ever heard and holds that no one else ever came near him as an orator. "He had all the qualities—voice, gesture, appearance, enthusiasm, and his wonderful eyes." But he doesn't care for reading Gladstone's speeches, which, in fact, apart from the speaker's personality, are somewhat arid and involved.

An Admirer of Lincoln.

He considers Lincoln's Gettysburg speech perhaps the most striking ever delivered. He has a soft corner, too, for the late Joseph Chamberlain, whose speeches he often reads. "He says the only speech in which Chamberlain outlined his tariff reform policy one of the most skilful statements of a case he has ever seen." This was the speech in which Mr. Chamberlain went back on all his previous professions as a Free Trader. It marked, moreover, the beginning of his complete downfall.

"One of his chief pleasures is to atel away in the afternoon, between five and six o'clock, and, coiled up on the sofa, spend half an hour with a book, half reading, half sleeping. When he does this he has the peculiar gift of throwing off all official cares and worries and becoming completely absorbed in the book. Then he returns to work quite fresh, bright and full of enthusiasm."

Finally, he cares nothing for problem stories, or psychological studies, or for stories with an unhappy ending.

The Quality of Neilson's is not Strained

ONE, William Shakespeare, created a character, Portia, who said to Shylock, "The quality of mercy is not strained."

People who have read it have never forgotten it.

But few reflect that the quality of anything is not strained. If it were, then it would cease to be quality.

What, then, do we mean by adapting it to Neilson's? Just this: that from the cocoa-beans of which we make our coatings, to the fruits, nuts, creams and other confections that we use for fillings, we use only the finest materials.

This quality is also paramount in our process of manufacture, and packing, because many a box of chocolates is bought on appearance. Although the artistry of our boxes may not appeal to all, it certainly will appeal to people of refinement.

And it is these people who will most appreciate the delicacy of flavour and unstrained quality of Neilson's Chocolates.

ACTIVITIES OF THE BOY SCOUTS OF CITY TROOPS

THE BOY SCOUT.

17th St. John Troop (Trinity).

The pack of Wolf Cubs met at 7 o'clock on Monday evening, Jan. 12, with a good attendance. For one hour the little fellows worked very diligently on their second star badge work and it is expected that several cubs will be ready to pass some of the tests next night. At 8 o'clock the scouts came on and, although their attendance was not so good as usual, a very good evening was enjoyed. During the evening Captain Campbell came in and gave the troop some real smart drill which was just what was needed after the Christmas holidays. The scouts are looking forward to having him again soon. The rest of the evening was taken up with games and the resuming of the Starman badge work and signals which had been started just before Christmas. After a few lively games the troop was dismissed until next Monday evening.

St. Luke's Troop.

After a very pleasant Christmas vacation spent by all, St. Luke's troop has resumed work. The Scouts have not been idle all the time for at the annual Sunday school treat the "Scouts' orchestra" took part and made a fine showing though but a very short time organized. Instead of the regular meeting on Monday night the Scouts entertained the

"End Your Rheumatism Like I Did Mine" — Says Pastor Reed; Wife Also Rid of Neuritis

Suffered Tortures For Years—Now Telling Good News to Others.

"Don't Believe That Old Humbug About 'Uric Acid' Being the Cause of Rheumatism—It's Not So!"

Empathically asserting that thousands of unfortunate sufferers have been led into taking wrong treatments under the old and false belief that "Uric Acid" causes rheumatism, Pastor H. W. Reed says:

"As do some of our highest medical authorities, I know that 'Uric Acid' never did and never will cause rheumatism! But it took me many years to find out this truth. I learned how to get rid of my rheumatism and recover my health and strength through reading a work written by an authority who has scientifically studied the cause and treatment of rheumatism for over twenty years. It was indeed a veritable revelation!

"I had suffered agony for years from rheumatism and associated disorders, and Mrs. Reed was tortured with the demon neuritis almost beyond endurance. We had read and talked so much about 'Uric Acid' that our minds seemed poisoned. But the 'Inner Mysteries of Rheumatism' made it all clear to us and now we are both free from the suffering and misery we endured so many years. I believe I was the hardest man in the world to convert! For me to discard the old 'Uric Acid' theory, and what I now know to be absolutely false for the new scientific understanding of the causes and cure of rheumatism, was like asking me to change my religious beliefs! But I did change, and it was a fortunate day for me and mine when I did so."

NOTE: "The Inner Mysteries of Rheumatism" referred to above by Pastor Reed lays bare facts about rheumatism and its associated disorders overlooked by doctors and scientists for centuries past. It is a work that should be in the hands of every man or woman who has the slightest symptoms of rheumatism, neuritis, lumbago or gout. Anyone who sends name and address to H. P. Clearwater, 233 N. Street, Hallowell, Maine, will receive it by mail, postage paid and absolutely free. Send now, lest you forget the address! If not a sufferer, cut out this explanation and hand it to some afflicted friend.

WORRY ADDED TO HIS TROUBLES

Frank Williams, of St. John, Was in Poor Health Until He Tried Liv-rite Tonic—It Has Made a New Man of Him.

When Frank Williams of 18 Brunswick street, found himself rapidly failing in health he became greatly worried. But worry only added to his troubles and his ill-health continued. He began to lose weight, he could not eat, his sleep became very uncertain. His work was interfered with because of his physical condition and things had a blue outlook. He tried different things which were suggested. He had doctor's advice. Nothing seemed to do him any lasting good. Then he tried "Liv-rite Tonic."

"It was a happy day for me when I heard of your 'Liv-rite Tonic,' he writes to the Maritime Drug Co., 108 Prince William street. "It has made a different man of me. I am not only back to my former state of good health—I am better than that for I feel so much better. I think 'Liv-rite Tonic' did it all, and I cannot praise it too much. You can use my name to any person who asks you about what it did for me."

"That is the testimony of another St. John man who has found the good qualities of 'Liv-rite Tonic.' It is a remedy unfailing in the test of health. Try it today, all you who suffer from liver complaints, failing health, loss of sleep or appetite, impure blood. If your druggist can't supply you, send his name to the Maritime Drug Co., 108 Prince William street, or send them $1.00 and they will forward you a box of 'Liv-rite.'" (Advt.)

pack of Wolf Cubs at a supper prepared by the troop leader and patrol leaders. After supper the scoutmaster, Rev. Mr. Wright, delivered an address to the boys. Scout Robert Turner, who has been in the hospital for some time, thanked the Scouts and Cubs for their thoughtfulness of him while he was in the hospital. This was followed by selections by the orchestra, after which the scoutmaster told the boys a humorous story. Mr. Wright also thanked the boys for their remembrance of him at Christmas. This closed a very delightful evening.

St. Paul's Troop.

On last Saturday evening St. Paul's troop spent a very pleasant time at their cabin at Dark Lake. Several of the boys, headed by Mr. Hewitson, the provincial secretary, met in the afternoon and, packing all the good and necessary articles on a large toboggan, they hiked to the cabin. There they started right to work and made fires and got all the good things ready for the rest of the troop, who left the city for the cabin at 6:30 in the evening. The journey being quite a long one, the boys were naturally very hungry when they arrived, but they found the advance party quite ready for them and they sat down to a real good spread which every one thoroughly enjoyed.

After the supper they all gathered around the fire and had a merry time cracking jokes and singing songs. A great feature of the evening was an entertainment given by Roy Barton and Alfred Hood, two of the boys. It proved very amusing for all and a great benefit to themselves, for it enabled Mr. Hewitson to pass them both for the entertainment badge, for which they have been trying for some time. After a very delightful evening the party hiked back to the city and broke up a little after ten o'clock. There was twenty-eight in the party altogether and all agreed that the trip was a great success and hoped for more like it.

The troop also met as usual on Tuesday evening and had the usual routine of drill and studies, after which a couple of basket ball games were played which gave the regular team some good practice for challenge games, which they are to play in the next few weeks. A part of the evening was spent in the taking of the individual record of every boy by the patrol teachers for their use, so as to be able to help in their work of adding a few more first and second class scouts to their number before very long.

few minutes is to make its loss almost certain and it may be even snatched from the shoulders of the wearer, or knocked off and then claimed by a passer-by.

Ladies are being advised to have their names sewn into their furs to prevent disputes over identification, a very necessary precaution when one sable tie may cost $1,500. Other valuables which can be snatched are also attracting the light-fingered gentry. Deserted streets on foggy nights are safe neither for men nor women. Owing to the gangs which are at work, special police measures are under consideration. Things are as bad in the West End as in the West End. Only the other day a magistrate described the London docks district as a den of thieves.

Triumph of the British Waiter. The British waiter since the war is coming into his own. Until the Kaiser made Germans outlaws it seemed hopeless to contend against the Teutonic forces ensconced in our restaurants and hotels, who overheard conversations of the most private nature and picked up a good deal of useful information. Now that Fritz has gone British waiters are in good demand, and have opened a club and headquarters of their own in Chandlers Lane.

corp. Lane. The old charge that the English waiter is less attentive and expert than the foreigner should now be disproved, as also that he is less smart in his appearance.

We still have a large number of foreign waiters in London, some of them tall, solidly looking men, but they are said to be Swiss or Italian or Swedish, though to the average diner out everyone with a foreign accent appears to be a German. Excellent work is being done in training London boys to become waiters and only one more step is wanted—the conversion of bills of fare into English. The time has gone by when a foreign atmosphere was supposed to add piquancy to a dinner.

Clothes and the Man. That all men shall conform to a romantic style of dress, and thus raise the standard and ideals of civilization, is the aim of Henry Parkes, who gave a small exhibition on the subject at the Imperial Hotel this week. Lace trimmed shirts, cockaded hats, cloaks for evening wear, and jackets with well-defined waistlines were only a few of the novelties displayed on immaculate dummies in the oak-paneled room. Of course, Mr. Parkes will have nothing to do with "trows"—knee-breeches and the Georgian air for him. Despite the elaborate and tempting-looking Jabots scattered freely about the tables, I do not think the London streets will be made joyous with modern Scarlet Pimpernel. Omnibus battles and the vagaries of the laundries will prove impenetrable obstacles to the sartorial uplifting of man, who, as the French Academy of Science now tells us, in the scheme of biology, is merely a waste product.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK
IN UNITED STATES

Bradstreet's Looks for Pretty Fair Year with Lower Price Trend

Belief That Europe Will Need Large Amount of Products—Three to Six Months' Domestic Business Already Booked—Poor Year for Agitators.

(Bradstreet's.) A year ago three sources of worryment bulked large in the eyes of some trade observers. These were, fears of trouble in re-adjusting war-driven machinery to peace-time work; talk of unemployment of industrial workers, accentuated by the release of over 3,000,000 men from the army, and doubt as to how the expected shock of the fall of war-time prices was to be absorbed. Today there are doubters, just as there were a year ago, but, of course, the reasons assigned for trouble and the directions from which it is to come are different. Inability of Europe to progress further along the path of recuperation and repair; the difficulty, under the present conditions of foreign exchange, of paying for goods bought from us; fears of the predicted crash in European affairs being reflected in the cutting off of our export trade in foods, manufactured goods and raw materials, the consequent shutting down of our mills and factories, and the idleness of millions of workers, are among the reasons assigned for pessimistic outgivings as regards foreign trade.

In domestic trade the big outstanding feature is the feeling that, largely speaking, all the good news is out; that business could not possibly be better than it has been; that any change must be for the worse; that a year of political excitement, with all that this may mean to business, impends; that organized labor is stronger than ever and intends taking an active part in politics; that our law-makers may not have the courage to do the right, indeed, the only honest thing in the matter of the railways; that war-starved demand has been filled; that new buying must of necessity lack at least the spur of novelty in spending as well as part of the stimulus of high pay in some favored industries; that, in short, a reaction is due, if not because of our own conditions exactly, then because of trouble abroad finding reflection here at home in our domestic trade and industry.

We believe that we have given above a fairly representative list of reasons commonly assigned for not expecting things to be, as one observer has expressed it, "better than the best" during the coming year. In partial agreement with the latter view, and yet as tending to moderate some conclusions that might be drawn from the above current bearish views, it might be well to observe that there are some grounds for believing that the recuperation and repair that have gone on for a year past in Europe may continue; that European needs for our products are not yet entirely satisfied, and that we will continue to get our pay for them in cash, securities or goods despite conditions in the foreign exchange market. Unless recent reports are in error, the process of rebuilding is going forward in a satisfactory manner; certainly Belgium, France and, last but not least, Britain, have started well despite their fearful handicaps and the blow to trade prestige as well as to progress involved in the fact that Europe is on a paper basis. This country was once in that position, but believers in the United States won out.

In a domestic way, one not inconsiderable element in the direction of improvement is, we believe, already at work. We refer to a larger volume of animal-feeding crops giving hope of lower prices for meats, these in turn possibly having a modifying effect upon other foods and commodities in general which may work to ameliorate living conditions of labor, a good portion of which, by the way, seems to have shared in wage advances fully equal to advances in living cost. In regard to future business, it is well to note that three to six months' business for 1920 is booked, and barring general catastrophe, which we have rarely seen occur as advertised, is secure. Then there are some industries which would seem still entitled to their share of present prosperity. The railroad industry, for instance, if justice is done by congress, should participate in present better business, and if it does, the railway equipment, the iron and steel trades, coal and related or kindred lines, should benefit. Absolute scarcity, indeed, would seem likely to be spared to buying of some products of industry like coal, iron, steel and lumber. We doubt if the building trade needs any sympathy, but if material prices were shaded a little while production was being increased, we believe a very prosperous year should follow in that industry at the prices quoted of

A Stubborn Cough Loosens Right Up
This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick results. Easily and cheaply made.

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, croup, throat tickle, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.
To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth), into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get 16 ounces—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for $2.50. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.
Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.
To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly returned. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

Religion Is Patriotism

It is the Root of Personal Righteousness, the Mainstay of Social Order, the Bulwark of International Peace

The Makers of Canada

The earliest settlers in Canada were roused by the Call of the Church to develop a noble and useful citizenship. Young and old were invited to turn their eyes from material things, and to regard the splendor of unseen realities. Knowing that Religion is the only true safeguard of stability in the State, they built Churches, Schools and Colleges, to train men for the Christian Ministry, and to spread abroad in the land the benefits of education. This they did in their poverty, and thus directed the course of history in Canada to this day.

The Testing of Canada

Because of such sacrifices, there arose in Canada a public spirit hostile towards all injustice, dishonesty and cruelty. The War tested the moral fibre of the Canadians of a later day. Would they choose material ease and wealth, or would they risk all in defence of freedom and the rights of the weak?

Over 400,000 men voluntarily offered their lives, and endured hardness as good soldiers for the defence of equity and fair dealing in all human relationships, and for the vindication of public right. Nor were the people at home less steadfast. Besides bearing the national cost of the War, they gave voluntarily for the help of the soldiers more than $90,000,000. Canada nobly stood the great trial.

The Menace of To-day

That conflict is ended. Now comes another test. Not only in Canada, but all over the world, sectional and class struggles for material rewards and for mastery threaten the present basis of Society. The vision of spiritual values gained in the War is in peril of being forgotten. The supremacy of sacrifice, the nobility of service, the reality and glory of the Unseen and Eternal, the promises of Christ; these were the things by which we lived during the War. Now there is great danger that they may fade from view, giving place to selfishness and the love of ease.

The great non-Christian peoples of the world comprise two-thirds of the human race. They are mastering our modern scientific knowledge, and if they remain Pagan may yet turn it to our destruction. Paganism stands for the supremacy of Might, the very ideal

The World's Need is Spiritual

I speak as one standing upon the watch-tower, and know what the need of the land is. It is not material, it is spiritual. Get the spiritual, and the material will follow. The wounds of the world are bleeding, and material things will never heal them. And that is why I hail any movement which brings the great spirit of brotherhood. The one need of England and France today is the healing and the brotherhood of the Cross of Christ.
—Rt. Hon. David Lloyd-George, Before the Brotherhood Convention, London, September, 1919.

The Forward Movements

FIVE Christian Communions, Anglican, Baptist, Congregational, Methodist, and Presbyterian, are convinced that the time has come to rouse all Christians to a clearer understanding of their calling and stewardship in Christ, their King. They believe that the Church should be equipped adequately with men and money to enable it to meet the needs and opportunities of the New Day.

These five separate Communions are of one mind as to their believe in God, the Father Almighty, Maker of Heaven and Earth, and in Jesus Christ, His Son, Our Lord. They now

EACH of the Communions named is in the midst of a Forward Movement. Each is seeking by prayer and by earnest effort to accept all its responsibilities. Each is striving to extend its activities in Canada and in Foreign Lands.

Your Church needs your help, but, far more, you need the help of your Church to learn the difficult art of living wisely and well.

realization of the brotherhood of all mankind, and the reign of the Prince of Peace.

What the Church Has Done

been inspired, directly or indirectly, by the Gospel of Jesus Christ. It has ended slavery, protected life, ennobled women, educated the children and safeguarded their lives, sanctified the home, established schools, missions and charities.

The Coming Era

Victory places upon the shoulders of the Allied Nations the responsibility for directing new conditions to right ends. Canada must do her share.

The Church must prepare to meet the needs of the new day. Old standards of life with old habits of thinking and of giving will be wholly inadequate. We must do in our day what our fathers did in theirs. The hope of the world is bound up with the strengthening and extension of the Church of Jesus Christ.

late for new construction. If the new merchant marine, which has cost so much, is to justify its upkeep, it would seem fair to look for cheaper freights for our foreign sales or purchases, and recent reports would indicate that the completion of the national ship-building plan might be partially compensated for by contracts from abroad for new construction. We doubt if agitators and "medicine men" will this year find as good a reception as they expect from dissatisfied ones seeking new cure-calls for their real or fancied troubles.

In short, we believe that the impetus and great momentum given by the return of peace has not yet been entirely spent. We are inclined to look for a pretty fair year in business, modified, possibly, by a lower trend of commodity prices, although the latest returns show few signs of this. The progress made by the crops, some quieting down, possibly, while the voters are busy "saving the country," the scaling down of profits somewhat, owing to possible cas-er prices or mounting cost of operation, less undiscriminating buying, and higher rates for money, already in evidence in the stock markets and in actual time money. Finally there is also to be considered as a factor in the situation the injection into the ranks of the business community of some fifty thousand new individuals, firms and partnerships during the wonderfully active year just closed.

The death of Elizabeth Elliott, daughter of the late James and Elizabeth Elliott, occurred on Friday, January 16, resulting from an attack of pneumonia. She leaves two sisters. The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon at 3.45 from her late residence, 404 Union street.

If your eyes are inflamed, weak tired or overworked; if they ache, if picture shows make them feel dry and strained, get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets from your druggist. Dissolve one in a fourth of a glass of water and use as an eye bath from two to four times a day. Bon-Opto allays inflammation, invigorates, tones up the eyes.

HOW BOWIE KNIFE CAME INTO BEING

Dan W. Jones, governor of Arkansas from 1897 to 1901, says that the account of the origin of the Bowie knife in every dictionary is a fable, and that Bowie did not invent the knife.

A Test for Knives. James Black was born in New Jersey on May 1, 1800. He ran away from home and an unloved stepmother at the age of eight, and went to Philadelphia, where he was apprenticed to a silver plate maker named Henderson.

Bowie Comes In. About 1831, James Bowie who, it is said, had heard of Black's skill as a knife forger, went from Washington, and ordered a knife made from a pattern of his own, saying that he would call for it in a couple of months.

The Forgotten Secret. In 1836 Black became blind as the result of an attack made upon him by his father-in-law, one of his knives obviously not being at hand on the occasion. He was taken into the family of Dr. Isaac N. Jones, father of the future governor, and there lived for thirty years.

A Deadly Weapon. James Bowie, who died at the Alamo where his body was found surrounded by Mexicans whom he had laid low with his knife, has hitherto been supposed to have invented the knife. It was in the days before revolvers or breech-loaders, and the frontiersman of the time demanded a weapon that could be suddenly brought into action and that was handy. The pistol was good for one shot; a sword or an axe was cumbersome; an ordinary knife was not durable enough.

Better Than a Hundred Hands

The Auto Knitter

A turn of the handle and 60 and more smooth, even, perfect stitches are knitted. Thousands of such stitches can be made in a few minutes by the operator of average experience.

When the Auto Knitter goes into action, it is just like having many families or skilled knitters working for you; that is why our trade mark is "Better than a Hundred Hands."

The Genuineness of These Testimonials is Guaranteed Under a $5,000 Forfeit

MAKES $38.00 IN ONE WEEK The Auto Knitter is one of the best investments anyone could make. I can make three pairs of socks in an hour. In one week I make $38.00 from private trade alone. It is the finest and cleanest work I have ever done, and I would not be without it.

OPERATED BY BLIND WOMEN

I have now been using three of your machines, and they give good results. With a little patience at the start, I have succeeded in doing good work, which has always been accepted by you. You may be surprised to know that some of my work has been done by blind women, and it is impossible to recognize their work from mine. I am pleased with the business dealings I have had with you, and hope that future dealings will be just as cordial as they have been in the past.

HAS TWO AUTO KNITTERS

After being for 30 years on the lookout for something with which I could make money in the privacy of my own home, I answered the ad of the Auto Knitter Hosiery Co. I bought one machine. In a very short while I found that I had hit on something good—big returns for small investment. Right away I bought the second machine. I now have a little factory right in my own home, run by my own family. With one machine alone we turn out 10 dozen pairs of socks every five days. Your company has carried out all its agreements with me, and the machine is more up to the mark than I thought it would be. It is very easily understood and a pleasant pastime.

NOT A SINGLE PAIR REJECTED

It is not only profitable, but helps to pass many a dull hour away. I can knit two pairs of half-hose in an hour, which I think is good. The machine is what you claim it to be, and does its work right, and being so small takes up but little room. Of the socks I have sent you, I have not had a single pair rejected, which is clear evidence that the machine can turn out good work.

INCREASES FAMILY INCOME

I bought one of your machines about three months ago, and I must say that it is all you claim it to be, simple to understand, and easy to work. Good money can be made with it on the terms you are giving if full time is given to the work. But what I think is its greatest advantage is that it can be worked at odd times when there is little or nothing else to do, and so keep up and also increase the family income.

We Supply Yarn Free and Pay You for Your Work

The whole world needs socks. In every country, in every city, in every town and in every village—in every corner of the world, in fact—there is an acute shortage of hosiery.

This great demand is your personal opportunity. It is your chance to add substantially to your income. It is the weapon with which you can meet the constantly increasing high cost of living.

You can make this money pleasantly and easily in the privacy, freedom and comfort of your own home. This is an unusual advertisement, due to an unusual world-condition. We are a firmly established Canadian business firm engaged in the manufacture of high-grade seamless socks. Our business connections are worldwide. We have been in business many years.

We have always preferred home manufacture to factory production. We believe in the independent employee. We know that the best work is that which is done by well-paid, contented people in happy homes.

These socks can be made by men and women. Knitting experience is unnecessary. The Auto Knitter, a marvellous machine, does the work. Anyone can quickly learn to operate this machine.

Workers Wanted Everywhere

For the reasons above stated—the unprecedented world-demand for hosiery—we need more workers—thousands of them. We need you.

We need all the socks you and your family can make on the Auto Knitter. We need this labor badly. We will make a contract to pay you a Fixed Wage on a piece-work basis. In this contract you take no risk. You can work for us as much as you want or as little as you want—spare time or full time.

And for every dozen pairs of socks you send us, we will pay you a liberal wage.

With every Auto Knitter we send a supply of wool yarn FREE. We also supply FREE, the yarn needed to replace that which is used in making the socks you send us.

The yarn we supply is made specially for the Auto Knitter. It is the softest and warmest, and uniformity in quality, weight and shade is always obtainable.

You are, of course, at liberty to dispose of the output of the Auto Knitter as you see fit, or to buy your own yarn; you can also use the Auto Knitter to make at a remarkably low cost all the hosiery your family needs—wool, and cotton.

But please remember this: There are absolutely no strings tied to our Wage Agreement; it is a straight, out-and-out Employment Offer of a Fixed Wage on a piece-work basis—a good pay for your services alone.

The Auto Knitter is the most modern development of the hand knitting machine. It embodies many exclusive improvements, as worked out by us in our own factory. We are manufacturers of the Auto Knitter, our machines are fully guaranteed. In doing business with us you are dealing with a responsible manufacturing firm, so we could not afford to make, and do not make, any claim for the Auto Knitter that is not amply borne out by facts.

Positively Not a "Canvassing Scheme"

The Auto Knitter gives you the opportunity to make money during your spare time. It also gives you a chance to devote your entire time to the business, and this—to be independent of bosses, rules, time clocks, working hours, etc. Our Wage Contract is in no sense a disguised "canvassing scheme," "agency," or "open-a-store" proposition. Here is the proof—read the evidence from some of our workers:
