THE WORLD'S DOCTORS MEET IN FIGHT AGAINST CONSUMPTION

The International Congress at Washington Was Formally Opened Today, and Was Adjourned Till Saturday—Many Nations Represented

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—A remarkable educational congress formally was inaugurated here today. It was humanity against a most deadly foe, the white plague. The occasion was the opening of the Sixth Triennial International Congress of Tuberculosis at the National Museum. A more distinguished gathering perhaps has never before met in the National Capitol. Scientists of international fame, the members of diplomatic corps, philanthropists and doctors of every civilized nation were present. The first day of the convention was marked by simple but unique ceremony. Preliminary to the formal opening the diplomatic corps, the spokesmen of the various countries, the presidents and the section presidents, met in the office of Dr. Henry G. Beyer, chairman of the committee of exhibits, in the Museum Building, shortly before 11 o'clock and accompanied by Drs. Beyer and John S. Fulton, the secretary general, proceeded to the stage in the great auditorium. There Secretary of the Treasury Cortelyou, the presiding officer, and the personal representative of the President of the United States, extended the official welcome on behalf of the United States Government. A welcome to the United States Capital was then extended by District Commissioner McFarlane, followed by brief remarks by the representatives of about thirty foreign countries. The assembly hall was a prism of color, the flags of every nation being displayed. The national anthems of this and other countries were played by the marine band.

The greater part of the day's session was devoted to despatches by foreign delegates. At the conclusion of this feature of the programme Secretary Cortelyou adjourned the meeting. The delegates dispersed and will not assemble in general session again until Saturday morning, Oct. 3rd.

CONSTABLE TESTED THE DYNAMITE CAP

It Worked All Right—Now He Has Only One Eye, and His Friends are Looking for Their Faces.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 28.—Four police officers were injured seriously by the explosion of a dynamite detonating cap left by burglars in the diamond store of Joseph H. Deuchamps at Seventh and Chestnut Streets. Detectives Williams, Brown, Long and Kelly of the city force, Moffat, of Camden, and Sharp and Campbell from the Burgess Alarm Company's office, went to the building. While examining the burglar tools Beaumont satisfied his curiosity as to how the igniting battery worked by connecting the positive and negative wires. The cap exploded blowing out the officer's right eye. Detectives Campbell's tongue was split from end to base and his teeth were blown out. Moffat's nose was fractured and his face cut, as were the faces of the others.

WILL ACCUSE CAPTAIN OF AIDING IN ROBBERY

CHATHAM, N. B., Sept. 28.—The trial of Paul Gallant, accused of breaking into Myer Moss' store and stealing jewelry, was begun this morning. Evidence against the accused is clear enough, but according to statements made by Gallant yesterday, he will accuse Capt. S. Cain of abetting him in the robbery and urging him to commit the deed. Cain afterwards met Gallant on the wharf, so the prisoner says, and inquired how many watches he got.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY AT MANILA

MANILA, Sept. 28.—A tragedy occurred at Camp Jesman Saturday night, resulting in the death of Lieut. Edward J. Bloom, of the Fourth Infantry and Private Suttles of the same regiment. Suttles for some reason did not bloom and then cut his own throat. Suttles died immediately but Bloom lingered until Sunday night. An inquest into the affair is being made by military officers.

DIVER'S TERRIBLE FIGHT WITH OCTOPUS

Seized by the Monster While Deep in Water

Used His Axe to Good Effect, Hacking the Creature's Head—The Body Will Be Secured for Exhibition.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 28.—Wrapped in the tentacles of a giant devil-fish, Martin Lund, a diver, employed by the Coast Wrecking Company, fought for his life in the hold of the wrecked steamer Omoo, which lies in thirty feet of water in Fort Ross Cove, off the Marin County coast. Lund arrived in the city after an experience which comes to few men and will enjoy a vacation before donning again a diver's dress. The devilfish had evidently entered the vessel's hold during the night and Lund was at work sometime before he became aware of its presence. A giant tentacle four inches in diameter first gripped one leg. Before Lund could realize what had happened another entangled his thigh. The diver began to chop frantically at the rubber-like bonds and at the same time signalled to the barge above that he wished to ascend. Unable to free himself in time, two more tentacles equipped out of darkness and one twined about his neck. The efforts of the man on the surface to comply with his signal threatened to pull off his helmet, and he was forced to signal them to desist.

With only his left arm free he hacked at the tentacles until they were partly crippled, but he was being drawn toward the deadly beast when he saw the outline of the devilfish's body. Plunging suddenly toward it he drove his feet with all his force into the head, repeating the blow until he had slashed it into sections. In its death throes the octopus thrusted its tentacles until the diver was almost crushed in its embraces. Lund then cut himself free and was brought to the surface in a fainting condition. Another diver brought some of the tentacles to the surface and it is hoped to study the body and bring it to this city for exhibition.

SEVEN MEN DROWNED IN CALUMET RIVER

Pleasure Launch Struck Bridge Support and Sank—One of the Party Saved.

CHICAGO, Sept. 28.—Seven men out of a party of eight were drowned in the Calumet river last night when the pleasure launch Lemon struck one of the supports of the nickel plate railroad bridge in the river at 12th Street and turning over, sank. The owner of the craft, Elmer Westergren, was seated at the stern of the boat and after he was thrown into the water he swam to the shore.

Westergren's brother-in-law, John Griek, was one of the victims. Westergren seemed distracted and refused to give the names of the others. The Lemon was an eighteen foot gasoline launch. Westergren, the owner, lives at South Chicago, and is said to be wealthy.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY AT MANILA

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Of the great demonstration held in Hyde Park in recent years that of Sunday's protest against the Home Bill was by far the largest, but it lacked the enthusiasm which was manifest at the other gatherings, particularly that of the Suffragettes. The crowd yesterday was estimated at 200,000, filling the open space which stretches from Hyde Park corner to the Marble Arch. They came to this section in 14 processions, and in countless small groups from all the nearby counties and all parts of the Metropolis. Close to 200 special trains brought in those from the outside districts, who numbered fully 60,000 and who joined in the various processions which were accompanied by 100 bands. Ninety speakers declaimed against the bill at different central points for an hour or more and at a bugle sound a resolution condemning the bill was proposed and carried with a great outburst of cheering.

HORRIBLE SHOOTING AFFAIR IN TENNESSEE

Worshippers Murdered by Sunday Drunkards

Congregation Leaving the Church Fled on Crowd From a Saloon—Four Killed and Others Hurt.

JELICO, Tenn., Sept. 28.—One of the bloodiest affairs in the history of East Tennessee occurred near the Tennessee-Kentucky line north of Anderson post office yesterday. The scene was a little Baptist church, within fifty yards of which is a "blind tiger," which has been operated for months. The service had closed and nearly the entire congregation had emerged from the church, when a crowd of drunken men, who had visited the "blind tiger," began firing into the worshippers with pistols.

John Bennet, J. W. McKinney and Edward Thoms were shot down at the church door and died almost instantly. Streams of blood flowing down the steps of the little church. The preacher, Rev. Kind, was shot and mortally wounded, falling in the church yard. Another worshipper named Gibson, was also shot down in front of the church, but is not dangerously hurt. Amtrah is five miles from a railroad, and has no telephonic connection. Jellico officers could not learn the names of any of the men implicated in the shooting. At the dead and wounded were men of families except Bennett.

Railway Property, Mills and Dwelling Houses all go up in Smoke—Fire Still Raging.

THOMPSONVILLE, Mich., Sept. 28.—Forest fires yesterday completely destroyed the village of Homestead, eight miles north of this place, containing the charcoal kilns and the lumber yards of Alex. Immerman and Co. of this place. The losses will exceed $60,000, and twenty families were rendered homeless. The northbound American Arbor Passenger train due here at 5.20 P. M. was stalled here for the night. The tracks are destroyed at Homestead. Men were sent from here and from Frankfort to assist the people of Homestead and a relief fund has been started.

VASSAR, Mich., Sept. 28.—Bach, a small station on the Michigan Central Railroad, north of Cairo, was practically wiped out by fire last night. The railway station, saw mills and lumber yards burned down and then fire spread to the residences in the village. At least reports the fire was still raging.

PRESENTED WITH AN ADDRESS AND GOLD

ST. ANDREWS, N. B., Sept. 23.—A most pleasant event took place last evening at the home of William White, ex-collector of customs, when a committee of the citizens to the number of about forty waited upon him, and presented him with an address, on the occasion of his being retired from office, accompanied with a well filled purse of gold, tendered as a slight token of the esteem and affection in which he is held by all his fellow citizens, and as an evidence of their appreciation of his long and faithful service as a customs official at this port. The affair was a complete surprise to Mr. White, but the secret had leaked out among many of his friends, and a large number of ladies took advantage of the occasion to present him with some of the pleasant function and to share with the gentleman the privilege of doing honor to one who was always deservedly popular with all classes. After the reading of the address and the presentation of the purse, a few hours were spent in social discussion, and the evening was most enjoyable. Mr. White was quite overcome by the unexpected and substantial compliment thus paid him and expressed his gratitude and appreciation in a most pathetic and touching manner. Miss Whitlock and Mrs. and Miss Street, the sisters and niece of Mr. White, served the large number of guests with delicious refreshments before the party dispersed. All who were present will long remember the event as the most pleasant and the happiest taken place in town, for many years.

A SPIRITUAL CARRY.

The lay preacher has his rewards, but he has also many discouragements. A veteran brother once, at a conference of lay preachers, gave them some cheer. He said, "When I was a lad I used to drive a donkey-cart. Sometimes the donkey would not go, but I tried a cart-rod at the end of his nose, and then he went. My brothers, let me designate a spiritual cart-rod before you—Be not weary in well doing, for due time ye shall reap if ye faint not."

TRAM "L" TRAINS MEET; OVER TWENTY KILLED

BERLIN, Sept. 23.—Twenty persons were killed and nineteen seriously injured as the result of a terrific collision on the elevated railway in the center of Berlin this afternoon. Nine of the injured are believed to be in a hopeless condition.

The train travelling in the same direction on different branches leading to the main road came together at the switch, one of the drivers mistaking the signals. They were moving at a high rate of speed at the time, and the shock was a tremendous one. Two of the heavy cars, but a stamper in the center of Berlin this afternoon. Nine of the injured are believed to be in a hopeless condition.

A panic ensued among those in the partially wrecked cars on the elevated structure and to add to the horror, several of the passengers alighted from the cars and stumbling on the rails, were electrocuted. Sixteen of the dead, who have been identified, were all residents of Berlin. Four of the dead are unknown, but papers found on the bodies show that they were Germans. The driver of the second train has been placed under arrest.

BRITISH SHIP SINKS; TWENTY OF HER CREW ARE DROWNED

LAINCEPTON, Tasmania, Sept. 21.—The British ship Loch Finias, from Port Pirie, South Australia, for Callao, was wrecked off Foster Island at daylight this morning and twenty of the crew of twenty-four were drowned. The other four of the crew were picked up by a passing steamer.

Foster Island lies a short distance off the northeast coast of Tasmania. Early this morning the residents of the island observed a large ship in distress. A strong gale, accompanied by a high sea, was blowing and the vessel soon struck the reef. The crew could be seen trying to lower the boats, when suddenly the ship sank before the eyes of the on-lookers. To attempt to rescue from the shore was impossible, on account of the heavy seas, but a steamer in the distance had sighted the wreck and made all speed before the ship had gone down. Only four men were found. They were clinging to an up-turned boat. They report that the second mate became insane during the height of the storm and jumped overboard.

The Loch Finias was of 2,083 tons burden and was commanded by Captain Deag.

A STORY OF FREAK SHIPS

Mr. James Dickie, of London, who designed the liner with three hulls, is by no means a pioneer in the construction of freak ships.

"Perhaps the most remarkable specimen of naval architecture ever evolved, the coast defence batteries built for the Russian Government in 1875. These vessels were circular in shape, being 30 and 121 feet diameter respectively. They had six masts, and were loaded with such a distinguished naval architect as the late Sir Edward Reed, but they were dismal failures, nevertheless, and could not make a greater voyage than about five knots.

"On one occasion, when exposed to the currents at the mouth of the Danube, they were built for service in the Black Sea, they provided considerable diversion for the crew on the long and dreary voyage, and were afterwards across the river.

Shortly after the czar had built for him a 5,000-ton yacht, the Lavada, which was rather more successful, but she was not so circular as the Popoffs, and her mast was 135 feet broad. The Government actually decided to build a circular ironclad of 12,000 tons, but better councils prevailed, and the project was abandoned.

A model of the Popoff may be seen in the museum of the Royal Naval College at Greenwich, where there are also to be found large numbers of "bomb-proof" ships and other revolutionary departures in naval architecture which their inventors never succeeded in inducing the British Government to adopt.

ALYERED JUDGMENTS.

In many instances, of course, the freak ship of one generation has become the accepted model of the next. When Colonel Campbell first proposed a warship to carry nothing but 12-inch guns and to steam twenty-five knots, he was laughed at by many, yet here are our Dreadnoughts and Invincibles only five years after the idea was first mooted.

Indeed, the development of the modern battleship is a record of "freak" ships that became standard types. The first ironclad, the French Richelieu, proved its worth, and is being adopted, with modifications and improvements, in all navies. It would seem that the fashion in large warships is settled for some time to come, yet more than one opinion is entertained by those who believe that the death-knell of the type will be sounded by a vessel of a quarter the size of the Dreadnought, of the same armor and armament, and carrying two or four heavy guns.

An American has quite recently invented a "semi-submarine" naval battery, something after the style of the Popoffs, but with a great under-water area, like a barrel. The United States Government has not yet evinced any great enthusiasm for the vessel.

Freak ships have been, and probably always will be, more frequently met among the smaller types of vessel, if for no other reason than that they are comparatively cheap. Both the British and United States Governments have built craft designed solely for ramming, but neither found it worth while to build more than one of the type.

NEW ZEALAND INDUSTRIES.

Figures bearing upon New Zealand Industries have been furnished to the Wellington Provincial Industrial Association, compiled from the 1906 census, which show that 55,289 hands were employed in industries throughout the country. The approximate value of the plant, exclusive of the value of the crown lands, was £12,500,238. There were more than 4,000 hands employed in flour mills alone, over 3,000 in meat freezing and preserving works, a similar number in dressmaking and millinery establishments, nearly 3,000 in the tailoring trade, and about 4,000 in the printing and bookbinding businesses, and over 5,000 in sawmills and ash and door factories.

SHOT THIEF'S OUTFIT.

A smartly-dressed Londoner has been caught in the act of robbing a shot machine at Lansbury Railway Station, a certain Antonio Accoca, by submitting himself to a search of his pockets, and a broad knife, sneared in his belt, to which papers addressed.

Perhaps I'd get a suitor!

BRIDGE GIVES WAY CAUSING AWFUL WRECK

HAMILTON, Ont., Sept. 27.—Three instantly killed and a fourth man seriously injured is appalling record of an accident which occurred about 6 o'clock this morning on the line of the Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo Railway near Hamilton Springs, when a freight train crashed through a wooden bridge and fell to the ground below, a distance of probably twenty feet. The dead are Robert McFadden, engineer; Syd Brown, fireman, and Wm. Maloney, the fireman's brother-in-law, who was riding on the locomotive. The injured man is Samuel Dickenson, brakeman.

The scene of the accident is on a twenty foot embankment over the second line west of Summit. Over the public road is an old time wooden bridge approximately thirty feet long. A few yards east was another wooden bridge about 45 feet long. A small creek ran loaded with fruit.

The freight train, laden with fruit and in charge of Conductor Martin, left Brantford for Hamilton at 5:38 this morning. It arrived at the two small bridges about an hour later and safely passed over the first one. The locomotive had about passed over the second line when there was a crash. The wooden structure collapsed and the locomotive tender and five following freight cars went down in a heap to the creek underneath. McFadden, engineer; Brown, fireman, and Maloney were in the cab of the locomotive and were instantly killed. The tender tumbled a complete somersault and landed square on the engine cab, pinning three unfortunate men in a mass of debris and evidently instantly snuffing out their lives. Dickenson, a brakeman, was riding on a flat car, three cars behind the engine; that car went too, but Dickenson landed on top of the engine and was not injured. His escape and scrambling to safety is a marvelous feat. He was hurled about 100 feet into the air, and landed on his feet. He was severely injured, but was not killed. He was taken to the hospital. The bodies of the three victims were buried to a depth of 10 feet. The wreckage took fire. The bridge burned during the night and that weakened it so as to cause the accident.

PRAYING FOR HOARD

MISER LIVES ALL

Notes Buried in Damp Soil Slink Together and Form a Solid Mass.

ROME, Sept. 23.—Yesterday a miser received a lesson in the sanctimony of the Madonna di Pompeii. This poor, certain Antonio Accoca, by submitting himself to all sorts of privations, had accumulated a large fortune, which he had hidden in a hole made in the floor of his dwelling at Mesagne, in the province of Lecce. But the money, if it was secure from thieves, was not safe from the ravages of rats.

One fine day, when Accoca was slouping over and casting his treasure, he found to his dismay that the banknotes, by reason of the humidity of the place, were stuck together and formed a solid mass. In despair he went to a money changer, to see if he could secure the solidified notes. He was advised to proceed to the office of the treasury in Rome, where, possibly, a notice would be issued. Before replying to the capital, however, he desired to pay a visit to Our Lady of Pompeii, to secure her intercession for the success of his enterprise.

On reaching the church he was required to a state of ecstasy by contemplating the beauty and richness of the interior, and he remained there some hours, not so much in piety as in avaricious meditation. When he reached the station and was ready to start for Rome he had a terrible shock. He found that he had left his precious packet, containing notes for thousands of lire, in the church. In a fresh access of despair, he rushed to the police, but all their inquiries have failed to restore to him his beloved but badly guarded notes.

ELPHANT IN A HOSPITAL WARD.

The royal spectacle of an elephant in a hospital ward was witnessed recently in London, Eng., by a number of delighted youngsters. The baby elephant was brought from the Crystal Palace to the Great Ormond Street Hospital for Children to amuse the little patients. Babes, who are usually 12 inches high, is a docile animal of exceedingly quaint appearance. Following his keeper, he marched up the hospital stairs to the general ward where he was to be housed. He was concernedly, and was received with great excitement by the sick children. He was up in the air and clapped his hands. Babes walked round the ward, putting his trunk over the rails of the beds, and greedily devouring the cakes and sugar given him by the patients. Several of the children had rides on Babes' back up and down the ward. The young elephant enjoyed the play with the children so much that when the time for departure came he did not want to leave.

TRAILED TO HIS LAIR AND SHOT TO DEATH

Man Makes Target of His Sister, Brother, Brother-in-Law and Cousin.

NAPLES, Sept. 23.—A terrible tragedy took place on Thursday evening at Castellone, a man named Loffredo, having been engaged in a lawsuit with his brother, sister and other relatives who were his partners in business, suddenly so drove a revolver and shot at his sister, mortally wounding her. The young woman began to run down the stairs, but fell and broke her leg. Loffredo continued to fire his revolver, and wounded his brother-in-law.

EMBARRASSING.

A colored woman of Alexandria, Virginia, was on trial before a magistrate that of town charged with inhuman treatment of her offspring.

Evidence was clear that the woman had severely beaten the youngster, aged some nine years, who was in court to exhibit his battered condition.

Before imposing sentence, his honor asked the woman whether she had anything to say.

"Kin I ask yo' howah a question?" inquired the prisoner.

The judge nodded affirmatively.

"Well, then, yo' honor, I'd like to ask yo' whether yo' was ever the parent of a puffy-wattless cullud child?"

ST. JOHN STAR.

ST. JOHN, N. B., SEPT. 28, 1908.

A CONTRAST.

Some years ago when Sir Leonard Tilley was a member of the federal cabinet, he was waited upon in St. John by a delegation of property owners who urged the necessity of having a dredge sent here to put the wharves in better condition. It was found that the silt carried down river was deposited around the wharves and even the comparatively small vessels which to safety dock. The delegates asked Sir Leonard to have this dredge removed in order that shipping might be carried on with greater convenience and with less risk. His reply to the delegates was that he would not do as requested, absolutely refused to do as requested, and gave as his reason that if this were done he would be expending public money on private property. That was an instance of how St. John was treated by a Conservative minister.

At another period in this city's development, Mr. George E. Foster, while on a visit to St. John, was approached by a delegation of merchants and professional men who earnestly requested that the name of St. John be inserted in the advertisement calling for tenders for the mail contract. It was the endeavor to bring the Canadian service from Portland to a Canadian port. Mr. Foster dismissed these delegates without a reply. This was another instance of the treatment accorded St. John by a Conservative minister.

A change came in the government. Mr. A. G. Blair became Minister of Railways. He had not been in office ten minutes before he was busy planning for the development of St. John Harbor, for the improvement of the railway, which has made the Maritime Provinces what they are today. Mr. Blair projected the Long Wharf north such a valuable asset to this port. He built the I. C. R. grain elevator. Instead of a broken down railway running from St. John to a village in Quebec province, he made of the I. C. R. a magnificent trunk line, covering every district from this city to Montreal, and all parts of Nova Scotia. He put it in shape for the proper handling of all traffic, and indeed by the improvement which he made, he created business. In three or four years Mr. Blair had spent in St. John, for necessary improvements, almost three quarters of a million dollars. This was an instance of the treatment handed out by a Liberal minister.

Hon. Mr. Emmerson succeeded Mr. Blair as Minister of Railways, and although while in office his attention was called chiefly to matters directly connected with the I. C. R. in Moncton and vicinity, in the building of new shops and other improvements, he found time to devote to St. John, and coming down here he outlined a scheme of development, and made certain suggestions which are now being carried to a successful completion. In the business management of the harbor, he introduced such reforms as took the load altogether out of the shoulders of politicians, and put it on a paying basis. The effect of this work is apparent everywhere in the Maritime Provinces, and the benefits enjoyed by St. John through his efforts are proving of no small importance. This is another instance of how St. John has been treated by a Liberal minister.

Upon Mr. Emmerson's retirement New Brunswick's next representative in the federal cabinet was Dr. Pugsley, who for the past seven or eight months has held the portfolio of Public Works. In the very brief time he has been in office, Dr. Pugsley has secured appropriations of $700,000 for work in St. John harbor, and is arranging now for the expenditure of half as much more. He has built wharves and warehouses, has arranged with the city for other constructions, cost of which will be paid by the government. He has sent one of the greatest dredges in the world to this port to clear out the channel, a work which had been demanded for years by the board of trade. He is calling for tenders for dredging in Courtenay Bay, and only last week the City of St. John handed over to the government the rights to a water area upon which the government will at once begin the construction of another new wharf. There has been more done for St. John in the past six or seven months since Dr. Pugsley entered the cabinet, than in all its previous history. This is because Dr. Pugsley has been more successful in impressing upon his leader and his colleagues the supreme importance of developing St. John for the handling of Canada's traffic.

The Liberal campaign cry throughout the Dominion today is, "Let Laurier finish his work." The cry of St. John electors should be "Let Pugsley finish the magnificent scheme of development of this port which he has undertaken." No electors on looking over the records of Conservative and Liberal governments, in respect to their treatment of St. John, can have any hesitation as to the party for which they should cast their ballots.

finish the magnificent scheme of development of this port which he has undertaken. No electors on looking over the records of Conservative and Liberal governments, in respect to their treatment of St. John, can have any hesitation as to the party for which they should cast their ballots.

BORDEN'S DILEMMA.

The Montreal Star is anxious to get back into the fight, and has now reached the position in which it is pleading earnestly with Mr. Borden to discard Foster for keeps and carry on the fight without the assistance of the Great West Land Company. There are a number of prominent Conservative workers who have been in the same way endeavoring to persuade the opposition leader to sever all connection with his disreputable supporters, and Mr. Borden is in a quandary. He would like to enjoy the support of the Montreal Star, but he realizes that between himself and Mr. Graham, there is a little question of veracity still to be settled, and until this is done he fears the owner of the Star. Consequently he is prepared rather to support Foster as against the wishes of his own party than to make a bid for Mr. Graham's friendship while the present difficulty remains unsettled. Mr. Hugh Graham does not like being called a liar. He has stated over his own signature that Mr. Borden wrote him a letter, suggesting that money for campaign purposes be not distributed among political leaders, but that it be given rather to responsible business men who use it to the best advantage. Mr. Borden was, of course, compelled to deny this letter. Mr. Graham insisted that it was received by him from the leader of the opposition, and there the matter rests. This was some fourteen or fifteen months ago, and since that time Mr. Borden has not received one word of praise from the Montreal Star, nor has his party been given any support whatever. More than this, the Star came out very strongly in its condemnation of the conduct of Foster, Fowler & Co. in the recent bond deal, and ever since has been unsparring in its denunciation of those men at the same time its tendency is strongly Conservative, and while for the past fourteen months it has been compelled, through whatever considerations scruples may possess, to adopt an independent attitude, it is very much inclined to participate in the campaign. It is prepared to support Mr. Borden, not as a man of honor, but as the leader of the Conservative party, but it cannot swallow Borden's duplicity in the same mouth as it swallows Foster's dishonesty. If Mr. Borden will discard those who have brought disgrace on themselves and their party, the Star will help him as well as it can in his present losing fight. So long, however, as he continues to associate with these men, it will stand aside. Mr. Borden in a way does not trust the Star any more. He does not trust the Star any more. He does not trust the Star any more. He does not trust the Star any more. He does not trust the Star any more.

THE CHOIR SINGER.

An especially pleasing scenic offering in "The Choir Singer" is that representing in every detail the roof garden of one of the big Broadway theatres. The scene is introduced at the end of the third act for the purpose of furnishing an appropriate setting for the metropolitan debut of the heroine "Alice Leighton," who has come from her Virginia home to win fame and fortune with her voice. Those who are familiar with the Roof Garden which has been so cleverly duplicated by the scenic artist, agree that the copy is even more artistically attractive than the original. The scene representing the exterior of the Little Ivy Covered Church in rural Virginia is also described as a marvel of scenic beauty. By the ingenious arrangement of lights the stone side wall of the church is at an appropriate moment made assembly to disappear, thus disclosing the picturesque interior with the congregation seated; the young parson in his proper place at the chancel and "Alice Leighton" standing in the choir loft when she sings to the accompaniment of the organ, a song of sacred character appropriate to this her last visit to the old church before going away to seek her fortune out in the world. Manager Arnold offers "The Choir Singer" at the Opera House Tuesday and Wednesday.

THE FRESHMAN'S COMPLAINT.

A certain college president was entertaining a freshman at dinner, when the conversation turned upon football. To the student's surprise, the president displayed a thorough familiarity with the game, and proceeded to discuss it as competently as though he had been Greek or mathematician. Indeed, his treatment of the topic brought out so many points that the freshman had overlooked, that the youth was moved to remark to his hostess: "Well, this talk with President Blank has showed me how true it is: I never meet any one from whom we can't learn something!"

BOY'S ESCAPADES IN LONDON.

An English Youngster of Fifteen Who Has Seen a Lot of "Life."

There has just returned to the reformitory training-ship Cornwall, in England a youngster of 15 who has had crowded into his brief career enough "life" to make the most hardened deceiver of dime shuckers green with envy. The boy, who comes from Hornsey, was placed early in life in one of Dr. Barnardo's homes, where he was educated and whence two or three years ago he was sent to Canada. Here he became apprenticed to a farmer, but not liking the life he cleared off early one morning, taking with him his suitcase and revolver, as a defence, as he afterwards explained, "against wild beasts." But the revolver, as he explained later, "refused to revolve," so he threw it away, and tramped on for about 400 miles across the border into the States. Then he stole a car-trip to Seattle, where he was recognized by a casual visitor and returned to his employer. Three months later he cleared off again, and was shipped as "cattleman," but then seriously on board a cattle boat sailing for England. He was paid off at Bristol, being given enough cash to bring him to London, where he surprised his mother and sisters one evening by turning up, all unannounced, between 11 and 12. They thought him away in Ontario. However, a situation was found for him, where he did well for a week or two. Then he suddenly left home altogether, taking with him a quarter's rent, which his mother put on one side ready for the landlord. He turned up again at home about a week later, penniless. He gave the following account of his wanderings: "So far no one knows, except the captain, what the boy was doing during the 'missing' days that intervened. He sought a sister who was at work there. The sister being away for a few days, he put up the night at a big hotel, and next day left by rail for Bristol, where two of his sisters were Muller's Orphanage. Before calling on them he made some purchases, and took them valuable presents, which he said he had brought home from Canada for them. He stayed at a Bristol hotel the night, and discovered that his funds had by this time run out, so he made for home the next day. In his pockets on arrival were found a pair of kid gloves, a pocket toilet outfit, and a bottle of hair restorer. His mother, having already put the matter in the hands of the police, was advised to let the boy go to a training ship, and as a result he seemed to do remarkably well. Indeed, the captain of the Cornwall was so taken with the boy's willingness that he appointed him his personal cabin-boy. Stripes for good conduct were awarded him as quickly as they could be earned, and not long ago the youth returned home for a short furlough from his ship. Then came his fall—sudden and unexplainable. The furlough was up. The boy was seated in the train with a valise, and as he was about to get up, he saw a man in a dark coat and a hat, who he recognized as the captain of the Cornwall, and reported himself to the captain as though nothing had happened. The captain, who would show his mother how good he could be, said: 'So far no one knows, except the captain, what the boy was doing during the 'missing' days that intervened.'

FOUNDERS HERO FUND IN BRITISH ISLES

Andrew Carnegie Gives $1,250,000 for Purpose—Terms Approved by King.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Andrew Carnegie has given $1,250,000 in 5 per cent bonds to create a hero fund for the British Isles similar to the fund he established in the United States. The trustees of his Dundee fund have consented to administer the new gift, and in a long letter to them Mr. Carnegie sets forth the terms of the scheme which, he says, has the approval of King Edward. It is stated that the object is to provide for the maintenance of those who perform heroic life-saving deeds, until they are able to work again, or in the advent of such misfortune as the death of their breadwinners, or the children are able to earn a livelihood. "Whenever heroism is displayed," writes Mr. Carnegie, "by a man or woman in saving human life in peaceful pursuits, the fund applies. We are not a heroic age. No seldom are we thrilled by deeds of heroism where men or women are injured, or one of their lives is sacrificed to serve or rescue their fellows. Such are the heroes of civilization. The false heroes of barbarism, maidens or false deeds, are not included."

The great triennial "trek" of Wesleyan ministers has taken place to new recruits throughout Great Britain and Ireland and on Sunday several hundreds of ministers faced new congregations for the first time. The removal of ministers and their families cost the denomination, a corresponding estimate, some £20,000.

The King has been pleased to approve the appointment of the Rev. Edward William Watson, M. THE SAME FAMILY.

An official of the Department of Commerce and Labor, who had been directed by his chief to draw up a summary of the conclusions of certain distinguished authorities on engineering, met with disaster not long ago, when he had occasion to refer to certain statements of Mr. A. R. Colquhoun, the British engineer.

The official had been told that after Mr. Colquhoun's name there should be placed the letters "M. I. C. E." (Member of the Institute of Civil Engineers). "That's easy to remember," the official had said, adopting an easy system of mnemonics. "M. I. C. E." spells "mice."

This memory system was of little avail, however, for when the official handed in his summary, the letters today committed suicide by throwing herself into the Merrimack River. The body was recovered. Family troubles are said to have caused the deed.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 27.—E. R. Williams, a marine of the United States ship Constellation, wearing a United States uniform, was refused admittance to the Temple Adath Jeshua, in Roxbury today, where he went, being a Hebrew, to attend worship.

On being asked why Williams was denied admittance, Joseph Rudnick, vice-president of the Temple, told the newspaper man that the man had been refused because the man wore a uniform.

"Any man ought to be ashamed to wear a United States soldier's uniform at divine worship," declared Mr. Rudnick. "He should have had more sense than to have tried to enter the temple in his uniform, and especially on Attonement Day."

Everything was going on smoothly as a successful ship-launching when by a sudden and unexpected change of fortune...

The demure Miss Amyot did not have to make eyes at him, or do anything forward or foolish. She had little to do at the museum...

Mrs. Garroway's demure was a shock to her at the time through the talk she had heard of a dinner party...

Well, there seems to be no doubt that he had early confided his ideas about the seal to the unexhilarated Fitzhugh...

There were times when Mrs. Garroway felt that she could have placed a seal on the seal...

It is Doctor Suggers' hand that has vainly raised to the seal power by Mrs. Garroway's unwilling attention...

"Dearest madam," observed Doctor Suggers on that memorable afternoon, "having already deposited one of the twin seals in the Metropolitan Museum...

which I may say is not only a tribute from the greatest of modern states, but is in a sense a personal token from that magnificent monarch...

"I may say," he went on, "that I have little doubt from the inscription on this seal that it is made from the identical gold exacted as tribute from that Egypt which the great Nebuchadnezzar, more properly, Nabuchodonosor, more properly, Nabuchodonosor—so totally overthrown, not once, but upon several distinct occasions...

"Dear Doctor Suggers," she said, "will you, as a little token of my heartfelt esteem, accept this seal for your very own?"

"Oh, madam!" cried the doctor, his eyes gleaming with delight, "I am glad to accept of this seal, but I am glad to accept of this seal, but I am glad to accept of this seal..."

"What a lovely seal to find you here!" she exclaimed, having carefully laid her seal upon the table...

"I will show you something, Miss Amyot," urged the doctor pleadingly, "a priceless treasure, more than much backwash has piled it from the grasping palm of the ignorant Turk..."

"Why didn't they put the seal on the seal instead of on the seal?" Doctor Suggers explained.

DR. PUGSLEY REFUTES SLANDERS

The Sun, St. John, N. B.

My attention has been called to a telegram from St. John under date of the twenty-fifth instant to the Mail and Empire relating to my account with the Province of New Brunswick...

The telegram gives unmistakable evidence that a most completed, unscrupulous and untruthful partisan political writer has again appeared in St. John in the person of the former editor of one of the newspapers of that city...

With regard to my outstanding claim against the province, I on the twenty-eighth of May last offered the provincial secretary to submit it to an arbitrator to be mutually agreed upon and enclosed him a check for five hundred dollars to cover the expenses of the arbitration...

Regarding the railway investigation, also referred to in the telegram, while this investigation was started with the hope of injuring the late provincial government it has signally failed in its purpose...

LOSSES AGGREGATE MILLIONS
PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 27.—With losses aggregating several million dollars from forest fires and heavy damage to crops and live stock; the reported loss of a number of lives, due to fighting timber conflagrations; the enforced idleness of thousands of workmen, owing to the suspension of manufacturing establishments because of lack of water; the health authorities anticipating a serious epidemic of contagious disease and many small streams dried up and practically obliterated; the drought of 1908 which has held western Pennsylvania, eastern Ohio and western West Virginia in its grasp for more than two months, remains unbroken; each day gradually increasing the seriousness of the unprecedented situation. Aside from the property loss, probably the most serious phase of the situation is the support of dust and the heavy column of smoke. It is feared that when rain does come it will wash great amounts of dust and the heavy column of smoke, with the result that disease, especially typhoid fever, will become epidemic.

Six of the new men will take the forestry course. All the classes in the university this year will aggregate 120, a record breaker. PARIS, Sept. 28.—A French cut-throat, Joseph Bideau, has been playing Edmond Dantes' part in "The Count of Monte Cristo" in real life. At the end of last month he deserted and made a round of villages in his own name, declaring he had been sent to make arrangements for the reception of two cut-throat regiments. Preparations of all kinds were made and Bideau lived on the fat of the land of Burgundy until yesterday, when his lurch of patriotism and excellent wine was interrupted by the arrival of gendarmes.

From enquiry at the General Hospital this afternoon it was learned that Elizabeth Ross is very comfortable. Mr. Ross last week underwent an operation and has been in a serious condition. The other survivor of the Paris crew is George Price, the custom official. He has had several weeks of illness, but his friends are happy to see him about again on Saturday.

The inmates of Mr. Guy Tapley's summer home at Renforth had a narrow escape on Friday evening. Some friends of Mr. Tapley's examined a rifle that he brought home from South Africa and not knowing it was loaded one of the party fired. The bullet pierced the ceiling, entered Mrs. Tapley's room upstairs and then went through the roof. Fortunately there was no person in the path of the bullet.

The fog was very thick in the harbor this morning and considerable difficulty was experienced by the ferry steamer Western Extension in navigating across the harbor. On the first trip of the steamer from the West Side she collided with a schooner. One of the deck gates was carried away and the schooner had some of her head gear damaged. The damage was, however, not so serious as to cause the Extension to go into hospital, but she backed away from the schooner and is still making her regular trips.

ST. DAVIDS CHURCH ADOPTS INDIVIDUAL SERVICE

Decided to Accept Offer of R. B. Paterson—Provision for Those Who Prefer Old Communion Service.

Before the next quarterly communion service in St. David's Church the congregation will be furnished with an individual communion set. Some time ago an offer was received from R. B. Paterson to supply a complete service of a very handsome pattern.

Accepting of the offer, the General Assembly the session must decide as to whether or not the individual system should be adopted. Before deciding the matter was referred to the congregation and the members voted on it a couple of weeks ago.

It was announced yesterday that after consideration of the votes of the members the session had decided to accept the offer and expect to have the new service ready for operation before the next occasion for its use. In deference to those who prefer the old manner an opportunity will always be given to use the common cup.

FOG CAUSES TROUBLE.

The steamer Elaine had some difficulty in getting started up river this morning in the dense fog. Owing to the thick weather it was impossible to see any of the land marks and the steamer was having some difficulty in getting on her way. She was assisted by the captain of the E. Ross, who passed under the Elaine's stern as the ferry was leaving the western dock and was able to tell the river boat where she was.

THE STANDARD'S ARTICLE

A GLARING FALSEHOOD

Mr. Edward Bates Contradicts Untrue Statements Made in the Conservative Campaign Sheet.

Mr. Edward Bates, of the contracting firm of Flood and Bates, emphatically contradicts the misleading statements which made up an article on the new stores building published in the Conservative campaign sheet this morning.

The Standard depicts the awful suffering that will be endured by the gunnery and other military equipment when left in a corner of the drill shed during the coming winter. Mr. Bates declares that the main portion of the new stores building is now ready and can be used if required. He says the term of the contract expires on October 31st, and the building will be completed and handed over to the government before that date. More than this the person who put the article in the Standard this morning knew the true facts of the case, and attempted deliberate misrepresentation.

SAYS THAT LAND VALUES ARE DECLINING

Settlement the Only Plan by Which Veterans May Obtain Full Value of Their Grants.

Some time ago the executive of the Veterans Association of Alberta sent circular letters to many eastern cities strongly advising South African veterans not to accept less than five or six dollars per acre for the lands granted to them. The president of the association was written to, and asked how the men should go about the business in order to receive the prices mentioned.

A reply was received on Saturday from the president. He says: "The only way five dollars per acre can be secured is by the men coming out here and settling on the lands so many have already sold out that those who are still holding will be unable to obtain anything like the amounts they might have received had the eastern men been determined to hold out. As it is now, settling is the only course by which the lands will bring good prices."

Another letter states that some time ago as much as three hundred dollars might have been obtained for the rights. But since the new land act came into effect on September first the land offices all over the country have been working night and day registering locations, and no warrants have as yet been received from the militia department. Real estate agents who contracted to buy at prices which would yield a profit when the assignments were sold at three hundred dollars, are not now feeling any too good over the prospect, and indeed many are not now giving more than half this amount to the veterans.

MOOSE CHARGED ON CAPT. CRAFT'S TEAM

Big Bull at Mace's Bay Wanted the Whole Road—Lots of Big Game Around Spruce Lake.

Captain Craft had quite an experience with a moose at Mace's Bay, on Saturday. He was starting home with his team and met a bull moose right on the road. The bull stopped him and would not let him go on. Capt. Craft tried to turn his team, as his horse was skittish, and the bull followed the team. He then turned his horse to go back and the bull charged and landed in the back of the wagon, getting his antlers caught in some timber and breaking the wagon to some extent.

That night Capt. Craft went out with some hunters to capture the moose, and met the same bull again. This time he did not stop.

The country down here is full of moose and deer. The captain met two deer on Spruce Lake road and a cow moose below Spruce Lake.

MRS. WILLIAM EWING.

Mrs. Anna Ewing, wife of the late William Ewing, passed away at an early hour this morning at the summer home of Mr. A. C. Ritchie, her son-in-law, at Macleod's Beach. Mrs. Ewing, who had been spending the summer at the beach, was taken ill suddenly on Saturday, September 19, and from the first it was apparent that her condition was critical. She was so ill that her removal to the city was considered inadvisable, but everything possible was done for her at the beach. She gradually became weaker and died this morning.

Mrs. Ewing, who was a most estimable lady, had been an active member of St. David's Presbyterian Church. She is survived by one brother, Mr. Alex. Robertson, and one sister, Mrs. George H. Raymond, of Bloomfield, Kings Co. She also leaves three sons and four daughters, Mr. Wm. A. Ewing, of Barrhill, Ewing and Sanford, Mrs. Geo. R. Ewing, of M. B. A.'s staff, and Mr. Robt. S. Ewing, of the Wm. Thomson Co., and Helen, wife of Mr. A. C. Ritchie.

The body will be taken today to Mr. Ritchie's home, 202 Douglas Ave., from where the funeral will be held.

The Women's Missionary Society of Knox Street Church will hold their anniversary service at eight o'clock. There will be a musical programme, and reports will be presented. An address will be given by Miss Fisher, of the French Methodist Orphanage at Montreal. The soloists will include Miss Verriander and Miss Lindsay.
