In Bavaria some very old superstitions still survive, as the following incident shows: A rooster belonging to a neighbor flew into a farmyard the other day, and after scratching in the straw a few minutes, hopped onto the back of a cow that was lying down and began to crow. At that moment the farmer's wife entered the yard and at sight of the bird on the cow's back and exclaimed: "Now I know what has caused everything to go wrong with me for the last month! My children have been sick, my husband has been very cross, the cows have given hardly any milk, one of the horses has died and all the trouble has been caused by this wretched rooster, which is nothing else but a witch in disguise. SENT TO SENATE.

OTTAWA. March 11.—One of the most difficult tasks which the ministers have had to perform occupied their attention today, and the work is not yet completed. There were five senatorships to be filled, but so far only four have been selected. Of the four Ontario vacancies three have been filled. The new senators are J. K. kerr. K. C., of Toronto: F. T. Frost, ex-M. P., of Smith's Falls, and Coffey of London, Ontario. The government before making its choice waited until the byelections were over, so that expectant politicians would be kept guessing. Attorney General Longley has missed the Nova Scotia vacancy in succession to the late Mr. Primrose. The lucky man is Mr. Currle of Windsor, N. S., shipowner.

X-RAY TO PROVE PENSION CLAIM

His application is unique. When the senator went over his morning mail recently he found an envelope containing an X-ray photograph of this constituent's head. It showed as distinctly as though it had been marked with black ink the presence of a Mauser bullet in the skull, just above one ear. On the back of the photograph was written the name of the soldier, who received the wound in the Philippines and who now lives in Sloux City, and a brief inscription that the picture told the story of his claims for a pension.

CHATHAM, N. B., March 10.— The annual session of the Grand Lodge of the Loyal Orange Association is being held at this place. The first contingent of representation arrived by the Canada Eastern railroad last night. These were from Fredericton and points further up the St. John River. The largest quota arrived on the afternoon train today from St. John, Moncton and other southern points. Delegates are present from all over the province, and it is expected that the attendance will aggregate 150. Already the hotel accommodation is somewhat taxed and more delegates are expected tonight and tomorrow morning. The council chamber of the town hall has been secured as a place of meeting and the first session was commenced at 8 o'clock this evening, the chair being occupied by A. D. Thomas, grand master.

GRAND MASTER'S ADDRESS.

A. Duncan Thomas of Fredericton, Grand Master, delivered the following To the Officers and Members of the Right Worshipful Grand Lodge of New Brunswick: Brothers-I have the honor for the and time of submitting to you my ress as Grand Master of the Loyal orange Association of New Brunswick. We are met in our 60th annual session in the thriving and picturesque town of Chatham, in the fine county of Northumberland, a county not lacking in the number of progressive towns and villages within its borders, nor in the many points of interest everywhere to be met with; a county noted for the beauty and diversity of noted for the beauty and diversity of its natural scenery, as well as for the richness of its natural resources—reated in by the louges of interpretation and intermediate points, at which I was privileged to be present, was held at Fredericton, and was a decided success. The fine appearance of the lodges, with their handsome banners and fine bands of music, elicited outbursts of admiration from brother ever loyal and true, staunch and fearless in his advocacy and defence of Orange principles. But although dead, he will ever live in the memory of every true Orangeman, as one whom neither threats, persecution for imprisonment could swarze from one whom neither threats, persecution nor imprisonment could swerve from that upright and consistent course that characterized his life-long efforts in securing for our noble order that recognition which its lofty principles so truly merit.

In our provincial jurisdiction we have been called to mourn the loss of many who in the past have been earnest workers in our glorious order. We will miss the warm greeting and familiar voices of many whom we have met on the floors of this right worshipful grand lodge. We miss the genial presence of Past Grand Master James Kelly, who ever evinced a warm interest in our grand lodge meetings, and who for many years was an active and est in our grand lodge meetings, and who for many years was an active and enthusiastic worker in the upbuilding of the order. We miss the cheery smile and warm greeting of Bro. Dr. Charles Hopkins of Victoria county, a brother whom to know was to love, called suddenly away just as he had entered with more than ordinary ability and promise into the practice of a profession in which had he been spared, a highly useful and brilliant career would have been his. Many other earnest and enthusiastic workers with whom I was not so intimately acquainted have been called to their reward, but our efficient grand secretary in his very full and excellent report will give them in detail.

THE SENTINEL.

I feel I should be wanting in the duty I owe the order if I did not again urge upon every member who is not already a subscriber to the Orange Sentinel, to lose no time in becoming one, for besides being a fearless exponent of the principles of our order, if keeps its readers in touch with the doings of the order everywhere, and outside of its merits as a family paper it is a paper no Orangeman can afford to be without.

THE ORANGE MUTUAL BENEFIT FUND.

I would strongly urge upon the masters of all primary lodges to lay the advantages of the Orange Mutual Benefit Fund before the members of their lodges on every night of meeting and endeavor to impress upon their minds the duty they owe to their ramilies, if not already insured, to avail themselves of the splendid advantages which it offers at such a small cost.

Sixty years is a long period in the history of an organization, and organizations are like individuals, they have their ups and downs, their days of prosperity and their days of adversity. We have had many changes in the personnel of this Grand Lodge during the past sixty years, and the men who filled the positions of trust in this order in the past have left us an unsullied record of what devotion to principle can accomplish in the laying of a sure foundation for the future. It behooves those to whom the work of carrying out the great principles of our order now is entrusted, to mind owell how we stand by them ever keeping in view that the Great Master of the Universe is on the side of right, and therefore right will prevail. To-

To night we are met again in this northern part of our jurisdiction, in the flourishing town of Chatham, surposed by hostings and the large number of re-instatements of members who through carelessness or other causes allowed themselves to be suspended, is also gratifying, as it shows that men who once taste of the good

DEATHS.

WOLFVILLE, March 7.—The death occurred at Wolfville of Edward Palne, an old and well known resident, after a few weeks illness, agod 87 years. He came from Halifax about sixty years ago, and married Miss Etiza Fowler, the daughter of a wealthy citizen. At one time the decased owned the valuable block of land between Main and Acadia streets, now covered by handsome residences. He leaves one son. Charles who resides at home.

Mrs. W. J. Baleom of Wolfville had a had stroke of paralysis while staying at Mordon, and little hope is entertained of her recovery.

to subscribe for it.

In closing, Mr. Morrison congratulated the Grand Lodge on the great prosperity which under Divine Providence had been their portion during the past year. The order had been greatly strengthened. The addition of nine new lodges and the large number of members added to the old lodges made the year the most prosperous in the history of the order. Let us therefore take advantage of our position, with all the new life that has been added, and go forth from this meeting determined to equal if not to excel our progress of the past year by every officer and member doing all in his power to build up the lodges.

As the Directors of Companies-

Within the last few days the British government harrowly escaped defeat on a motion censuring the practice of cabboe, ministers serving at the same time to the capacity of directors of limited companies. The debate engaged the attention of the leaders on both sides of the house. It was made remarkable by the fact that the liberal leaders unreservedly condemned the practice, that the prime minister did not attempt to defend it in its entirety, and that many of the supporters of the government declined to go into the division lobby to vote approval of the government's position.

Hence the majority of the government fell to 35, which was a narrow and, indeed, a dangerously narrow margin for a ministry dependent upon the approval of a house of 600. On another non-confidence motion, voted upon a few minutes later, the government's was sustained by a majority of sixty. It was plain, therefore, that the judgment not only of the opposition, but of many ministerialists as well, was against a practice which to some Sir William declared that, in his judgment, the men who occupy official positions of great responsibility should devote themselves exclusively to that work, and to no other. "This is a proposition," he continued, "to which there ought to be no exception whatever. You do not allow the practice in the civil service. You would not permit it for a moment divisional office will be sent to Mr. Shewen and through him to the gentin the case of one of the subordinates of the government. Then, why in the world should the rule not apply to their principals? It is far more important in their case. The notion that the head of a great department should be held out to the country as an inducement to people to take shares is, to my mind, shocking. The fact is that the appearance of these names gives to the companies affected credit to which they are not entitled. Few Parisians, much less foreign visitors, have any idea of the engineering works necessitated by the Metropolitan railway. SOME CELEBRATED CASES.

Lord Rosebery may be considered the pioneer of the movement against ministers holding directorships. When he was called to office his first action was to resign from the directorate of a Scotch bank, known as the British Linen Company, with which he had long been connected. This was a public avowal that the noble lord was in favor of the scrupulous observance of the principle.

Another celebrated case was that of Sir James Ferguson, While under secretary for foreign affairs in Lord Salisbury's government he became a director in a group of companies. On his transference to the post office department strong objection was raised against his being a director of the Perinsular and Oriental Co., which was in receipt of large mail subsidies. The affair became a matter of such notoriety that it was threatened that it would be brought up in the house of commons. Thereupon Sir James resigned the directorship.

In the present instance the attack

In the present instance the attack was directed mainly against the Duke of Devonshire on the ground that he was chairman of a committee of the government that dealt with armaments and also chairman of a company that had for its business the making of arms. Mr. Balfour was, however, able to show that the committee in question had nothing whatever to do with the purchase of armaments, and also that the Duke of Devonshire had had no connection with the company for several years past.

In the statement given to the news papers Mr. Fickland demanded an in vestigation of Perry's treatment in the East Cambridge fall and an inves-tigation to determine whether the young man's death was due to natural causes. SAN FRANCISCO, March 9.—Capt. Jorgensen and nine of the crew of the American bark Alex. McNelll, which was stranded on Fratas Reef, near Hong Kong, on Dec. 24, arrived here today on the steamer Coptic from the Orient. The sailors state that shortly after the vessel left Hong Kong on Dec. 10 the officers became intoxicated and the vessel drifted from her proper course, finally bringing up on the reef where she went to pieces. A drunken fight followed the stranding of the vessel, during which, the sailors assert, the ship's carpenter emptled his revolver at the officers but was too intoxicated to aim with precision, and no one was injured. A boat containing First Mate Evans and four of the crew was lost and no brace of the men was found. The stranded sailors remained on the reef for three weeks, finally putting to sea in an improvised boat, headed for Hong Kong, Captain Jorgensen denies that he or any of the officers was drunk. Sir—In glancing over a sample copy of the Daily Heraid sent around a few days before the election I noticed a sketch headed "Mr. Hazen's Dood." it went so far as to say that the opposition leader would loss his job on Saturday Feb. 2s. It seems that the Heraid received information from prominent men who supported Messrs. Hazen and Glasier in the last election but were against them now. The increased majority of Mr. Hazen and Glasier shows that the opposite thing happened. The electors of Sunbury did not send Mr. Hasen back to St. John a defeated man. They have sent him to the capital, and if Messrs. Hazen and Glasier should come back to the people of Sunbury tomorrow they would be sure of a larger ma jority than before. If all of the other counties in the province had as many loyal hearted man as Sunbury the Tweedie-Pugsley government would soon be a thing of the past.

THE SPEECH

The speech from the throne has become a mere formality, and therefore it is not necessary to point out that the one read at Ottawa Thursday has nothing in it. One might suggest that the historical statements contained in the earlier paragraphs should be made into passable English, were it not for the fact that the traditions of the speech from the throne are not in favor of good writing. It is true that plain and correct language, but that is an innovation of the last half century. Ottawa adheres to the fashion which led Cobbett to use the King's peeches at the opening of parliament as awful examples for students of his grammar. Unless this is done the cold is almor sure to end in the second stage of catarrh, which is making so many lives miserable. If Peruna was taken every time one has a cold or cough, chronic catarrh would be practically an unknown disease.

Miss Elizabeth Uber, No. 57 Bassett street, Albany, N. I., writes:

Praise Pe-ru-na as a Cure for Colds and a Preventive of Catarrh.

The first stage of catarrh is what is commonly known as "catching cold." It may be in the head, nose, throat or lungs. Its beginning is sometimes so severe as to cause a chill and considerable fever, or it may be so slight as to not hinder a person from his usual business. In perhaps a majority of cases little or no attention is paid to the first stage of catarrh, and hence it is that nearly one half of the people have chronic catarrh in some form.

Mrs. M. J. Brink, No. 820 Michigan avenue, St. Joseph, Mich., writes:

"This past winter during the wet and cold weather I caught a sudden and severe cold, which developed a catarrhal condition through my entire system, and so affected my general health that I was completely broken down, and became nervous and hysterical and unfit to supervise my home. My physician elian prescribed for me, but somehow his medicine did me no good. Reading of PERUNA I decided to try it. After I had taken but three bottles I found myself in fine health."

CHEVERIE OIL FIELDS.

The latest advices from the boring operations now being carried on night and day at Cheverie show that the company has passed through the different stratas which Prof. H. T. Hinds. M. A., stated in his report. The borings are now 800 feet and have reached the mar! and shale, which emits strong odors of petroleum. Mr. Grayton, the expert from Bradford, Pa., feels certain the oil will soon be struck, and Prof. Hinds says "the lower carboniferous rocks at Cheverie is probably the equivalent of that of the lower carboniferous strata in Virginia, which yields oil so abundantly, hence one condition so favorable to the inference that oil exists in this part of Nova Scotia." The stock quickly advanced from 10c. to 25c, per share, and there only remains a few shares of the latter issue for sale. No more stock will be placed on the market. The property is so valuable that money for operations can be raised on the debentures of the company.

Robert Broughton of Georgetown died on Priday in his 103rd year. At the age of 24 he enlisted in the Royal Welsh Fusillers, commanded by Col. Pearson, and was sent to Gibraltar, where he remained two years. In 1827 the British were ordered to Portugal to assist the emperor against his sons, who had rebelled against him. While scaling the walls of a fort Private Broughton received a thrust near the temple and a slash on the head from a Portuguese sabre. These wounds almost ended his career and the scars he carried to his grave, After eighteen years' solourn in Portland the British returned to Gibraltar and a few years later Broughton's regiment was ordered back to England. On the outbreak of the Papineau and, McKenzie rebellion the same force crossed to Halifax, but the rising was crushed without their assistance. In 1840 Mr. Broughton received his discharge from the army and has since resided in George-town.

Berton McCabe, husband of th mplainant, said that on the night of the assault he and his wife left th barracks together, but she stayed to talk with the doorkeeper, while he went on home. He had not been home long when he heard his wife had been assaulted and went out after her.

When he returned she was home. Officer Thomas Sullivan told of making the arrest on complaint of Mrs. McCabe. When she came to him she was bleeding at the mouth. When he arrested McHugh there was blood on the knuckles of his left hand. John Owens said he was coming up Charlotte street by Vanwart's cor-ner the night of the assault. He saw Mrs. McCabe coming from the S. A. barracks followed by a man who fell down in the middle of the street. He eard him say he knew her, and she declared she would follow him till he was arrested.
