BAYONET CHARGE WINS BACK FLEURY AFTER FRENCH LOST VILLAGE IN COUNTER-ATTACK

Twice in Twenty-four Hours Thiaumont Wood Changed Hands, French Finally Taking and Holding it Despite Terrific German Assaults — Ground Around Trenches Opposite British Line Littered with German Dead.

Paris, Aug. 4.—The French troops in the region of Verdun twice during Friday captured the Thiaumont Work from the Germans, holding it the last time in the face of counter-attacks, according to the French official statement issued tonight. After having captured and then evacuated the village of Fleury under German counter-attacks, the French troops Friday afternoon in a bayonet attack re-occupied the greater part of the village.

The official statement says: "On the front of the Somme, our artillery have bombarded enemy organizations. We destroyed near Buncam, to the south of Peronne, a German captive balloon.

"On the right bank of the Meuse fighting continued all day in the region of Thiaumont and Fleury, and to the northwest and south of the Thiaumont Work. All attempts to dislodge us from conquered positions failed. We not only broke the enemy's efforts, inflicting heavy losses upon him, but in the course of a second counter-attack our troops succeeded in capturing for the second time in 12 hours the Thiaumont Work, which remains in our possession despite several enemy counter-attacks.

French Now in Possession.

Pierce fighting is going on at Fleury. After having evacuated the whole of the village this morning, as a consequence of several German attacks, our infantry this evening carried out the bayonet charge which won back the village. The enemy is still resisting energetically. The number of unwounded prisoners made by us today is more than 400.

In the region of Vaux-le-Chapitre and Chenois violent bombardments took place, but there was no infantry action.

"Thirty-four of our aeroplanes carried out several bombardments in the region of Verdun. Thirty-two bombs were dropped on the Stoney station and 84 on the Montmedy and Sedan stations and bivouacs in the region of Damvillers."

The Belgian communication:

"In the region of Dixmude the artillery fighting continues all day. Some local artillery actions took place at other points."

Ground Littered With German Dead.

London, Aug. 4.—The British official communication issued this evening says: "It was a quiet day. In the trenches which we captured last night west of Pozieres, we are in very close touch with the enemy. A large number of German dead is lying all around these trenches. We captured over 100 prisoners."

The enemy's artillery maintained a barrage southward of Pozieres nearly all day. He also shelled the southern portion of the Mametz Wood. Near St. Eloi the enemy exploded a small mine which only damaged his own wire. He fired another near Auchy on his own side of a crater. This seems to indicate some nervousness among his miners."

A patrol of four of our aeroplanes engaged seven enemy machines in a fight which lasted 45 minutes. Three of the enemy's aeroplanes were driven down, while two of ours are missing."

German Report.

Berlin, Aug. 4, via London.—The text of the German statement reporting operations on the eastern front, says: "Army group of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg: Northwest of Postavy we forced the enemy by our fire to abandon some advanced trenches, and we repulsed in the region of Spalitz, between the Naroc and Wisliew lakes, advances against our field positions."

On the Serwetch, east of Gorodich, and on the Shara, southeast of Baranovich, there were lively hand-to-hand battles. In the Naroc and Wisliew lakes, advances against our field positions."

United Efforts of Allies Will Free Belgium from Oppression of Her Aggressors, King George Says

London, Aug. 4.—King George today telegraphed the heads of the Entente Allied States on the occasion of the second anniversary of Great Britain's entry into the war, as follows:

"On this the second anniversary of the commencement of the great conflict in which my country and her gallant Allies are engaged, I desire to convey to you my steadfast resolution to prosecute the war until our united efforts have attained the objects for which we in common have taken up arms.

"I feel assured that you are in accord with me in the determination that the sacrifices our valiant troops have so nobly made shall not have been offered in vain, and that the liberties for which they are fighting shall be fully guaranteed and secured."

King George also sent the following message to King Albert of Belgium: "I desire to assure you of my confidence that the united efforts of the Allies will liberate Belgium from the oppression of her aggressors, and restore to her the full enjoyment of her national and economic independence.

"I also desire to convey my deep sympathy in the grievous trials to which Belgium is so unjustly subjected and which she has borne with such admirable fortitude."

ARMY CRUSHING ENEMY ON LAND AND NAVY THROTTLING HIM ON SEA, BRITAIN SURE OF VICTORY

Queen's Hall, London, Scene of Historic Gathering Last Night to Celebrate Dawn of Third Year of War by Expression of Inflexible Resolve Not to Sheathe Sword Until Enemy is Brought to His Knees.

London, August 4.—"We look forward with confidence to success and triumphant peace," was the conclusion of an inspiring telegram from General Sir Douglas Haig, commander of the British armies in France, read at packed meeting in Queen's Hall tonight to celebrate the second anniversary of the war. The Earl of Derby, under secretary for war, presided at the meeting, which was most enthusiastic and representative of all classes of society. Earl Derby read a telegram from Admiral Sir John Jellicoe, commander-in-chief of the British grand fleet, which was similar in tenor to that sent by General Haig. In a brief speech Earl Derby said: "Notwithstanding our losses and the misery and anxiety caused by the war, the Empire is just as determined as ever to see German militarism crushed. Although the end of the war may not be in sight, never have we stood in so favorable a position as tonight."

Leaders Confident.

He concluded by stating that all the Allied army staffs are agreed that the prospects for an Allied victory have never been so bright and that the final result of their victory would be "a great partnership of nations in the joint pursuit of a freer and fuller life for the countless millions, who, by the efforts and sacrifices of generation after generation, have maintained progress and enriched the inheritance of humanity."

Andrew Bonar Law, minister of state for the colonies, characterized the war as the most wicked the world has ever seen and declared Germany had forever lost the advantage which the years of preparation had given it.

"The tolls are closing round them," the minister said. "It is useless to talk about the latest German atrocities. We must do something as a wild beast is at large. There is no good in appealing to the civilized world a bit. There is only one thing to be done and we can do it—shoot it."

Mr. Bonar Law read messages from General Louis Botha, premier of South Africa, and Lieut.-Colonel Smuts, commander of the South African forces, urging the continuance of the war with determination.

The resolution moved by Premier Asquith was carried by acclamation.

Proceeding to a review of the two years Premier Asquith said the war has breathed a new spirit into the British nation, while there was nothing more remarkable during the past year than the success with which the Entente Allies had developed a common policy and a united plan, which had resulted in the present successful and vigorous offensive on three fronts of the theatre of war.

Navy Throttling.

"with its ever-tightening grip," he said. "Our navy," the premier continued, "throttling the life of Germany, and never in history has there been such demonstrative proof of the supreme importance of the command of the sea. The enemy is everywhere on the defensive. In no theatre has he attempted to regain the initiative, and there are signs of material weakening and exhaustion. That is all the more reason why the Allies should co-operate and maintain the struggle with increasing tenacity and unrelenting will."

The recrudescence of deliberate and calculated barbarity on the part of Germany indicates her sense of desperation. The record of her latest atrocities will blacken, and has even blackened, the annals of the German army. Nor can we forget the great

Patriotic Fair.

A committee is hard at work completing arrangements for the holding of a patriotic fair at Loch Lomond on Wednesday next. They have been given permission to use the hall of the Agricultural Society, and during the afternoon and evening it is expected that there will be a large attendance of visitors from the city.

MORE CANADIAN DIVISIONS, MINISTER OF MILITIA SAYS, IN ADDRESS AT SHORNCIFFE

If War Office Sanction Their Formation — Cost of Training in France and England No Greater Than at Home and No Reason Why Troops Should Not Go Overseas as Soon as Possible, Sir Sam Says.

London, Aug. 4. (Montreal Gazette cable)—An important statement regarding Canada's military assistance was given today when, addressing the officers after the review at Shorncliffe, the Minister of Militia, Major Gen. the Hon. Sir Sam Hughes, announced that, subject to the war office's sanction, two or three further Canadian divisions would be formed.

As the cost of training was no more in France or England than in Canada, there was no reason why troops should not come over as soon as possible, said Sir Sam.

The troops reviewed today were composite, being reserves made up from broken battalions, but the minister complimented them on their good showing, though some of them were but recent arrivals.

The minister in the course of his speech referred to meeting a German soldier in New York who had been wounded at St. Julien, and who confessed that the Canadians had caused the Germans to respect them.

Sir Sam took occasion on the second anniversary of the war to point out how the enemy had signally failed to accomplish any of his original objects.

Sir George Foster, the minister of trade and commerce, followed with a speech in a happy vein, and paying a compliment to the splendid type of soldier that had just passed in review and at the same time hinting that the Imperial and other overseas soldiers equally deserved praise.

Among the visitors were all the Canadian members of the Empire parliament group excepting Senator Landry, who attended the reception given by Queen Alexandra. The weather was fine, and fortunately cooler.

VIENNA SENDS OUT YARN ABOUT NAVAL FIGHT

Tells of Engagement with an Italian Cruiser and Six Torpedo Boats in the Adriatic.

New York, Aug. 4.—The Journal has the following despatch from Vienna today: "Following a bombardment of the Italian port city of Molfetta, a naval engagement developed in the Adriatic between Austrian and Italian warships. It was stated today in the following official report of the ministry of marine: "An Austrian squadron of torpedo boats bombarded Molfetta. After the bombardment, there was an engagement with an enemy cruiser and six torpedo boats, some of which were hit."

Five Unmasked Men Steal Payroll on Way to Burroughs Adding Machine Office in Detroit and Escape in Auto.

Detroit, Aug. 4.—Five unmasked automobile bandits early this afternoon held up an automobile in which $30,000 payroll money was being taken to the plant of the Burroughs Adding Machine Company, and before astonished guards could offer resistance snatched five bags of six in the car, said to have contained $37,000, and escaped.

The hold-up occurred in view of hundreds of employees of nearby automobile factories and the usual afternoon crowds on Woodward Avenue. Rudolph Cooper, a guard, was shot through the hip and struck on the head. He is in a serious condition.

RUSSIANS TAKE 1,300 PRISONERS SOUTH OF BRODY

Under Pressure of German Attacks Withdraw from one Village on Stavok River.

Petrograd, via London, August 4.—Under the pressure of repeated German counter-attacks against the village of Rudka-Miryanskala, on the Stavok, 19 miles from Kovel, the Russians have evacuated the village and retired several hundred yards to the east, says the official statement given out by the war office tonight. South of Brody, General Sakharov's troops have captured 1,300 prisoners. The statement follows: "On the outskirts of Rudka-Miryanskala, which forms a salient position on the River Stavok (a tributary of the Stokhod), there was desperate fighting the entire night, the enemy having approached the village from three sides and launched repeated counter-attacks. Having repulsed these attacks we, towards three o'clock in the morning, evacuated the village and retired from four to six hundred yards further to the east. "South of Brody, (Galicia) on the line of the Rivers Sereth and Graberki, Gen. Sakharov's troops made a hot attack and took 1,300 prisoners. "An explosion of heavy shrapnel in Brody killed Father Ouspinsky, a regimental chaplain.

BLACKLIST OF NEUTRAL SHIPPING

Latest List Issued by British Admiralty Represents 152,656 Tons — Three American Ships Omitted in Revised List.

London, Aug. 4.—The latest blacklist of neutral shipping issued today by the trades division of the admiralty, represents 152,656 tons of steamers and sailing vessels unavailable to British charterers, on the claim that they are now or have been engaged in unneutral services.

The latest list contains, in addition to that list of names published previously, the names of the following ships flying the American flag: Clara Davis, Fannie Palmer and Oakley C. Curtis, all sailing vessels.

These American ships have been removed from the blacklist since its last publication: Steamer Seneca and sailing ship Edgar W. Murdock, Wagner liners, which have been captured by the British and are now in the service of the government while awaiting a decision of their status by a prize court appear on the list without any indication of their nationality, while the other Wagner boats appear as American.

A large number of ships on the list are bracketed under a caption stating that they have temporarily been removed from the blacklist while under charter to Entente Allied or innocent neutral interests.

GERMANS' NERVE AND HOPES COLLAPSED AFTER THEIR DISMAL FAILURE TO CAPTURE VERDUN

VERDUN ROCK ON WHICH GERMAN CONFIDENCE WAS SHATTERED A FRENCH ARMY CHIEF DECLARES

Leader in the Somme Pays a Glowing Tribute to the Valor of the British Troops and Says that Peronne will Fall at the Time Appointed.

Special cable to the N. Y. Herald, Paris, Aug. 1.—One of the highest French military chiefs now commanding at the Somme, whose name is not allowed to be published, has made several interesting statements to the noted writer De Maiziere, who repeats them in the Petit Parisien.

The general pays a warm tribute to the British soldier and commends also in a special way the efficiency of training and the bravery of the German troops.

"The process of driving the Germans out of France and Belgium will not be speedy, he says; temporary disappointments for the Allies are not improbable; even grave surprises are possible; but he declares the defeat of the Germans is now certain. It is not the case of saying, as the French so frequently say of late, 'We shall get them,' he declares. The French can now say, 'We have got them.'

It was Verdun that defeated the German army, this commander affirms. The battle of Verdun is ended and has passed into history. The French troops at Verdun delivered a blow, for the first time, at the German brain. Before that the Kaiser's troops, despite all setbacks and disillusion, believed firmly in their officers' assurances to them of ultimate victory. Verdun terrified them and made them doubt themselves, for it forced upon them the conviction that over and above German Kultur there is a far superior quality—French valor.

At the Somme front are two high French military chiefs, General Fayolle, commander of the Army of the Somme, and General Foch, commander of the French group of armies of the north. General Foch is affable to writers and correspondents, but insists on his name being omitted when the statements he makes are published.

works of Dickens, when in fact they are of Shakespearean stature historically and profoundly, are in reality subtly rash in action.

"It certainly is not necessary to push them, these British soldiers, these heroic rivals of our own men, these powerful allies, these dear comrades whose blue eyes reflect their untamed courage. You would say as I do if you had seen them at work, and they certainly never have to be invited to take part in any attack where courage, self-sacrifice or audacity is in question, but rather have to be restrained where patience might be needed.

"And now let us speak of the enemy. I beg of you to be assured that I am far from making my own the stupid things which have circulated in certain newspapers and according to which the German army would be composed only of sad cowards who, at the sight of a bayonet, offer only this contemptible defence, 'Kamerades! Kamerades!' (the phrase used by German soldiers when they desire to surrender). Far from associating myself in such a judgment, the very smallest weakness of which is that it fails to recognize the admirable effort of our troops who have begun to conquer this powerful German army, I believe that in no war had a general ever, even the general famed in history, to fight an army better organized or soldiers more passively brave.

"And yet we have got them! We have got them because by imitating them we became rather slowly their masters. We have got them because on July 1, in the Somme theatre of operations, a German battalion which in the morning had hoped to take possession of our position at B, was made prisoner by noon by the British troops and at six o'clock in the evening of the same day was on its way to London, which truly shows an excellent method and an estimable practical organization.

"We have got them because, regardless of the ridiculous boasting of superior officers whom we have taken prisoner, we shall take Peronne at the appointed hour, in spite of its marshes in spite of its famous defensive 'horse shoe,' every nail of which is known to us.

"Our liberating march toward the German frontier perhaps will be long. Consequently let us be under no illusions. But from today that march is assured, with the same exactitude a mathematical axiom is based upon. We may have momentary disappointments; that is to be feared. We may have redoubtable surprises, though hardly probable. But from today the enemy seems to us to have been struck.

"Have you seen poisoned rats running here and there under the action of the poison which is worrying them? If you have not it is because you have not been long on our front. The rat is the enemy of the French. We poison it and its agony is worthy of being observed. It goes and comes, bewildered, seeking something, a hole, a trunk of a tree, a tuft of grass, anything behind which it may take shelter to die.

Like Poisoned Rats.

"The German army is poisoned like a drove of rats. Where can it go to die in Russia, on the Somme, in the East, in Champagne, in Artois? Where is it to die? It has the embarrassment of the choice, and it has the supreme suffering of those long agonies with which certain organisms have-to-pay for the exceptional vigor of their temperament.

However it may be, the German army sooner or later is condemned to death. Why? I am going to tell you. On account of Verdun.

"It is Verdun which will conquer the enemy on the Somme. It is Verdun which will permit us to take Peronne, and all the rest, as far as will be necessary. It is Verdun which, by terroring the Germans, has smashed, at the same time as their battalions, their pride, which has made them doubt themselves and which has impressed on their brain with cannon shots this idea, which their mind had not suspected, that over and above German Kultur is a superior quality—French valor.

"You are here at the front and you hear the British guns. Those masses of men you can see hidden behind a fold of the terrain, and who are awaiting the order to advance, are the troops of the Army of the North. You are at the Somme front in the midst of troops whose prowess is justly honored. You see all that and you realize its significance. With my face to the enemy, before Peronne, I exclaim with all my heart, 'Glory to Verdun!'

The same sentiment inspired the proclamation by General Joffre in which he brought to the knowledge of the soldiers of Verdun the Russian successes in Galicia, French victory over the Germans at Verdun made possible the Russian successes and the great combined offensive of all the Allies.

AN OPEN AIR MEETING

Special to The Standard.

St. George, August 4.—The second anniversary of the declaration of war was observed here tonight by an open air meeting which began at 7.30. The speakers were on the band stand and there was a large attendance. Music was supplied by the St. George band and the celebration was a success from every point of view. No collection was taken, but the speakers all made reference to the needs of the Patriotic Fund and no doubt there will be a generous response when the people are called on to give.

The chair was occupied by Mayor Lawrence and the resolution was moved by Dr. H. I. Taylor, M. L. A., and seconded by Senator Gillmor. The other speakers were M. E. Baldwin, Dr. C. C. Alexander, Rev. B. H. Penwarden, Rev. J. Spencer and Dr. H. L. Russell, of Buffalo, whose address was especially interesting as it conveyed a message of sympathy from the people of the United States. Dr. Russell is a former resident of St. George and was warmly welcomed by his many friends. It is expected that the function will prove a hearty stimulant to the various funds now claiming attention.

Special to The Standard.

Halifax, N. S., Aug. 4.—Every dog has his day and Mr. Talcott had his this afternoon at the yacht race, when the Linnet saved her time on the windward by the narrow margin of twenty-seven seconds, after racing over twenty-one miles of water for over three hours. The day was perfect racing weather. Four boats crossed the line, the Linnet and Mist for Chester, the Windward and Gem for Halifax. The Linnet led the way up to Litchfield buoy, when the Windward drew ahead and from there on it was a race against time. The situation now is, one race for the Gem, Mist and Linnet each. Tomorrow will decide the issue if either of these yachts secure a first place. The boats finished in this order: Linnet, Windward, Gem, Mist.

Praised Col. McAuliffe.

At the "Holy Hour" last night in the Cathedral Rev. William Duke, in the course of his address, took occasion to refer to the celebration which had just been observed, the second anniversary of the declaration of war, and to the splendid part which the men of St. John had played in this world war. He made special reference to Lieut-Col. McAuliffe and his gallant men of the 26th Battalion, who had made a name for themselves, which would live as long as time existed.

"WITH MOTHERLAND TILL THE FOES CRUSHED" SLOGAN OF NEW BRUNSWICK ON SECOND ANNIVERSARY OF WAR

ST. JOHN HEARTILY CONCURS IN PATRIOTIC RESOLUTION ON SECOND ANNIVERSARY OF WAR

Monster Gatherings on King Square Yesterday Afternoon and Evening Heard Eloquent Speeches and Adopted Resolutions Pledging Adherence to Britain's Cause Until Close of the Great Struggle.

Confident in the ultimate triumph of the Allied armies, convinced of the justice of the cause for which they are fighting, and determined to give to the last man, the last heart beat and last dollar to crown swiftly, but definitely, the efforts of Britain and her allies, loyal New Brunswick yesterday entered the third year of history's greatest war by voting in resolution their unswerving fealty to the Mother Country and purpose to stay at war while England is at war.

All through the province men and women and children gathered at designated places to proclaim their loyalty and publicly show that the efforts of the Motherland have awakened a responsive note in their breasts, and that no matter what the sacrifice New Brunswick is ready to accept, provided the cause of Empire triumphs. Sprinkled among the gatherings were noble women, widowed by the ruthless monster war; here and there a bright eyed lad of tender years, or little lass joined with zest in the spirit of the hour, forgetful for the moment of the father who will return no more, and ignorant of the fact that the vigorous words of those around are but the voicing of a determination to avenge the father slain on a foreign field of battle.

While the details of these gatherings may have varied they were animated with the same spirit, stripped of their phrasology the resolutions and addresses revealed the same determination, the same loyalty and the same resignation, willingness to pay the price demanded to keep the foe from our shores and place Liberty, Justice and Civilization firmly on the pedestals from which the barbarous Hun would dash them in his blood-lust and greed for world domination.

"On this the second anniversary of the declaration of a righteous war this meeting records their inflexible determination to continue to a victorious end the struggle for maintenance of Liberty and Justice," was the keynote of all these meetings, and as one voice the people of New Brunswick solemnly pledged themselves to stand by the Empire, uphold the flag in whose encircling folds they have found peace and liberty, vindicate suffering Belgium and Serbia and end for all time Germany's dream of world power.

ST. JOHN OBSERVES THE ANNIVERSARY.

St. John yesterday observed the second anniversary of the declaration of war by Great Britain against Germany. Public gatherings were held on the King Square, afternoon and evening. At the afternoon meeting a resolution endorsing the stand of the Mother Country in entering into the war and pledging the continued support of the city to the Empire until victory comes was unanimously adopted by the large number in attendance.

The city was well decorated with flags and bunting and the business houses generally closed for the time of the afternoon meeting. Eloquent addresses, dealing with the war and the part which Canada has played in it were heard from Lieut. Col. Guthrie, Father Howland, Mr. Justice McLeod and Capt. (Rev.) G. M. Campbell. A reception to the returned wounded heroes in the city was held at the Soldiers' Club at four o'clock in the afternoon. Band concerts were provided by the Temple band in the afternoon and the City Cornet band in the evening.

In the Afternoon.

Yesterday afternoon the square was well filled when the time came for the exercises to begin and when the resolution was voted on there must have been at least five thousand people who rolled back one tremendous eye. If the German emperor or any of his agents had been there they would not have had any doubts as to the feeling in St. John in regard to prosecuting the war to a successful conclusion.

Those on the platform were: Mayor Hayes, in the chair; Chief Justice McLeod, representing the lieutenant governor; Judge Forbes, Lieut. Col. Guthrie, Rev. (Capt.) G. M. Campbell, Father Howland, Sheriff Wilson, Mrs. G. A. Kuhring, representing the Women's Canadian Club; Mrs. John McAvity, representing the Red Cross, and Mrs. A. W. Adams, representing the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire.

Mayor Hayes called the gathering to order and in moving the resolution said they were met to observe the second anniversary of the entrance of the Empire into a war in the cause of right. They were meeting at the request of the Imperial authorities and similar gatherings were being held all over the Empire. The city had shown its interest in sending men and in the giving of money to the various patriotic causes. He announced that collectors would go among those present and asked for a generous contribution. He had a resolution to read, which would be spoken to by Lieut. Col. Guthrie and Father Howland. Col. Guthrie was a man who had done things and they would all be glad to hear him. Father Howland was representing the Roman Catholic Bishop of St. John, and they were glad to have him to speak. He then read the following resolution:

"Resolved: That on this, the second anniversary of the declaration of a righteous war, this meeting of the citizens of St. John, records their inflexible determination to continue to a victorious end, the struggle in maintenance of those ideals of liberty and justice, which are the common and sacred cause of the Allies."

Col. Guthrie.

When he had finished reading, cheer after cheer rent the air and it was some time before he could make himself heard to introduce the first speaker, Lieut. Col. Guthrie. Col. Guthrie was given a great reception, receiving three times three cheers, and he delivered one of the most eloquent addresses of his career. He said: "Two years have passed since the old world in her course almost stood still while a shocked and terrified universe looked down upon war as it is today. War in which all the pent up primitive hellishness of envy and hate, combined with modern science and advanced learning, has caused the red face of Mars to turn ashy pale, tears to fall from the sculptured Roman Nero, and the hair of the Angel of Death to turn grey. On each day of these two years there has been born to the world a new child of horror from the womb of war. Each day has added to the history of hell a new list of crimes, murder, rape, arson, and the destruction of those things dear to man. All the edicts of nature have been transgressed, the commandments of Zion have been broken and set at naught, and the Hun and his fellows have laughed in the face of God.

Looking back but two years ago we find the world at peace, and there were those of us who would argue that the day of warfare was done; that we might breathe our swords, scrap our vessels and use our guns as tokens of a barbarous age with which to decorate our parks and lawns. We did not dream that anon from the mountain side of envy there would roll down upon us that avalanche of hate. Today we all see it, and the wise ones say "I told you so."

We look back now over these two years, and then back a little further until, out of the mist of the seventies we see joining together those little states beyond the Rhine into a mighty nation. Our admiration rests upon these people as we watch their rapid strides in the arts and sciences, the commerce and industry of the world. Had it only been that, greed could not have entered their success, nor arrogance and pride corrode their mightiness. Alas! it was not so. Instead of slowly conquering the world with high ideals and good example, they sought to subdue it with the sword—hence this war.

The Kaiser's Proclamation.

The Kaiser proclaimed himself the keeper of the world's peace, and to maintain that peace he straightway declared war. He must enter the lists with mighty Austria against Serbia, for Austria needed Serbia as a province. The other continental powers saw their turn coming and prepared to help Serbia. The Kaiser did not stop to parley. He loosed for the feast in Paris and the crown in Westminster. His minions swoop down upon the unprotected borders of France. He forgets that little Belgium stands between with a scrap of paper in her hand. "Ah, well," quoth he, "we'll throw some gold to Belgium and proceed upon our way." But the

Belgium coveted not the gold. She thought of the honor of her fathers whom Caesar said "were the bravest of them all."

In turning the pages of the works of men from the first tick of time to the last sigh of eternity we shall scarce find an instance of greater gallantry on the part of a king or a people than when the noble Albert with his chosen few bent their bodies to the storm of war, that France and Britain might prepare.

The Call of the Lion.

The spirit of her sire whispers in her ears. She calls her sons in council. The thought of consequence did not retard her. Duty and honor she could only see. Our thoughts leap with pride, our bodies thrilled with joy when the British Lion recoiled from the Teuton lure and over the prostrate form of Belgium snarled "War." Out from the little island on either wave and wire sped the message to the young cubs of the old Lion.

The Canadian turned from the plow, the Newfoundlander drew his nets, the Africander laid down his pick, the Fijian ceased to devour missionary, the Indian left his ricefield, and turning their faces to Mother Britain they snarled back "War."

"Was an awakening to the sense of our might, a consciousness of our greatness, was the answer of mighty nations to the call of mightiest England. 'Twas our day. This is the day we celebrate."

He then spoke of Canada's share in the war and the splendid record which her sons had made. He referred to the army and in that connection paid a tribute to the work of Lord Kitchener in organizing the forces of the Empire, and said he hoped that every one present when they were at their devotions would not forget to thank God for Kitchener. He referred to the work of the navy, our gallant Allies, and to the fact that the tide had turned. He emphasized that though the tide had turned many more men would be needed before victory was truly won.

In conclusion, he said: "My friends, from now until the end of the war, which must rage more fiercely than before, there shall be taken from among the quiet citizens of this little province more of our sons, who like the sons who have fought and bled and died, will fight and bleed and die and find for themselves unknown graves in the land of France and Flanders. Let it be hoped that when one more year has passed and added to the history of the world many more pages of war's tortuous story, many of you may be able to meet again here in this very spot of the Loyalist city and rejoice in the fact that the armies of the old Empire we love shall have triumphed. Let it be hoped that old flags shall have again been called to the mast by the sons of our Empire and will fly forever over our liberties."

Rev. Fr. Howland.

His Worship then introduced Father Howland, who represented the Roman Catholic Bishop of St. John, who said he was proud to have the opportunity of speaking at the second anniversary of the declaration of war, a war in which Canada had played, and was playing, no mean part. He did not intend to treat of the reasons for the war, neither would he speak at any length of the bravery and valor of the Allies, rather did he intend to take for his theme a subject which was dear to the heart of every one present, the important part which Canada had played in the war and the bravery and valor of her sons.

The war had come upon us like a bolt from the blue; we were a peaceable and loving people, but when the call came, within seven weeks an army was raised which later swept the city of Calais on the green fields of Langemark. Today over 300,000 Canadians were in khaki and 200,000 of them were overseas.

at Neuve Chapelle, they did well, but their real testing came at the second battle of Ypres and there they showed the kind of men Canada bred. In this connection he paid a graceful tribute to Col. Guthrie, who took such a glorious part in the fighting of those days. He was glad that the citizens had given the reception they had to Lieut. Col. McAvity. (His reference to Col. McAvity brought forth cheers for the gallant Colonel and his men of the 24th.) St. John should feel proud of the 24th, as they had brought great credit to their province, the way they had carried themselves on the battlefields of Europe. He did not believe that so long as there was a God of justice and mercy that Germany could win this war, even if she had 50,000,000 men in the field. God would never allow the doctrine of might is right to be imposed on the world. There was much work yet to be done ere victory came to the Allies, the Germans must be driven out of Belgium and back to Berlin, and the Kaiser, the modern Attila, brought to realize that his dream of world domination was over. When the history of this great struggle for human liberty was written the most glorious page in it would be that recording the deeds of the sons of Canada.

The Reception.

To do honor to the returned soldiers now in St. John and vicinity a large number attended the reception tendered by the Women's Canadian Club yesterday afternoon at the conclusion of the exercises at King square. The place chosen for the function was the Soldiers' Club, the interior of which had been artistically decorated with cut birch, yellow daisies and larkspur. There was a pleasant informality about the affair, and the guests of honor. The members of the various patriotic societies all expressed their enjoyment of the reception.

Mrs. Kuhring, as president of the Canadian Club, is always a charming hostess, and the ladies of the club and the young ladies who waited were all most attentive in offering the delicious refreshments provided for the guests.

The reception committee consisting of the following, cordially greeted the returned soldiers as they entered the corridor: Mrs. G. A. Kuhring, Mrs. H. A. Powell, Lieut.-Colonel Guthrie, Captain May, Hon. J. D. Hazen, Senator Thorne, His Hon. Chief Justice McLeod, Mayor Hayes and Miles E. Azar.

The guests were served with coffee and cake and other varieties of refreshments. The returned soldiers occupied tables in the large dining room, about five being seated at each table. All did ample justice to the delightful repast.

C. B. Allan, representing the Rotary Club, informed the returned soldiers that the club would be only too pleased to have them attend the celebration at Hampton today at the expense of the club. Mr. Allan said that a representative would be at the station and upon the presentation of an active service button they would be given free transportation. This statement was greeted with cheers by the boys, as quite a number of them had planned on spending the day at Hampton. Hon. Mr. Hazen Addressed Soldiers. Hon. J. D. Hazen then addressed the returned soldiers. He said it gave him the greatest of honor and pleasure to have the opportunity of addressing men who had been to the firing line and played their heroic part in the gigantic conflict now raging over Europe. Words would fail to express the debt that Canada owed to the first volunteers of Britain's great army. He said that when the young men of Canada first offered their services in the battle for freedom and liberty and all the sacred institutions, things were not as they are at the present time. This could be attributed to the unexpected declaration of war.

"Canada," said the speaker, "since the declaration of war has recruited and equipped 350,000 men, the most of whom have left Canadian shores to do their bit for the Empire. 'Should this war continue,' said the speaker, 'there is not a shadow of a doubt but what Canada will have contributed over 500,000 men to fight for Canada and the Empire.'"

Evening Meeting.

At the evening meeting the speakers were Rev. (Capt.) G. M. Campbell and Mr. Justice McKeown. The City Cornet band rendered a fine programme, one number of which came in for much applause. It included the national airs of the Allies and was particularly well rendered. Before calling on the first speaker of the evening the Mayor read the following cables from Admiral Jellicoe and Sir Douglas Haig:

London, Aug. 4.
Chairman of the Patriotic Demonstration, St. John:—
The second anniversary of the war finds the British army, which now comprises units from all parts of the Empire, acting on the offensive. The great army of working men and wom-

A Boston Visitor.

Mrs. Kuhring then introduced C. H. McIntyre, president of the Canadian Club in Boston, who said that today was not a day of joviality but of sympathy. He said that thousands and thousands of Americans were heartily in sympathy with the Allies, and that the hopes and prayers of the American people would always be with the level of justice and liberty, the British Empire. As evidence of this sympathy he cited that the British Relief Society of Boston had in a modest way collected about $60,000 for the benefit of the Empire and the suffering of families who have made untold sacrifices in the present war.

The returned soldiers were treated to an automobile spin around the city in cars kindly loaned by prominent citizens.

Sergt. Hyatt Replies.

Sergeant Hyatt on behalf of European War Veterans' Association, made a brief speech in which he thanked the ladies of the Canadian Club for their generosity and hospitality in tendering to them such a delightful banquet.

Private Garfield Brown of the 26th Battalion suggested three cheers for the Women's Canadian Club. These were given enthusiastically by the boys. The guest then withdrew into the reception room where they had the pleasure of hearing Lieut. A. Anglin relate a few of his experiences among the men of the British army in Egypt. It will be remembered that Lieut. Anglin left Southampton for on at home and overseas have contributed very greatly to the results; their continued hard work and decision to take no general holidays until our objectives are obtained will certainly decisively affect the issues of war in the coming year of struggle. Two years of desperate warfare in the trenches have still further increased the feelings of comradeship which bind us to our allies and make us still more inflexible in our determination to carry through to victory this war which is none of our choosing. We look forward with confidence to successful and triumphant peace.

London, Aug. 4.

Chairman of the Patriotic Demonstration, St. John:—
The second anniversary of the commencement of the war finds the British Empire full of confidence in the final result. This confidence is due to the fact that the cause in which we are fighting is just, also the knowledge we possess of the fighting qualities as displayed by the mother country and empire beyond the seas, equality with those of our gallant allies.

JELlicoe.

Capt. Campbell.
On rising to speak Capt. Campbell was warmly greeted. He said: Four times in fifty years Germany has imposed war on Europe. We were engaged in this struggle today in order that it should be made impossible for her to ever be in a position to do so the fifth time. We had reached the time when Germany must become a law abiding country, respecting the rights and privileges of smaller nations or else she would become dem-

She must either enforce her doctrines of lust and rapine in the capitals of Europe or else stop preaching them in Berlin. The motto of Germany was "world might or go under;" the motto of the Allies was "world right or go under," and the time had come to settle the question as to which should prevail. Germany had thought at the beginning that Great Britain would not enter the war, and she planned to overrun Belgium and France, then turn her attention to Russia. If the Belgians had not opposed the onward rush of the Germans there was no telling what conditions would have been today, but they delayed the Germans long enough for France and England to get their forces together, and today the Allies had between twelve and fifteen million men under arms.

The Allies had done in twenty-four months what the Germans had not been able to do in forty years. The response of the men of the islands had been wonderful, the Rose, Shamrock and Thistle had been heartily shown their readiness to make every sacrifice and the men of the overseas dominions had responded nobly until over five million men of the British Empire were in uniform. This was the most critical hour of the whole war, the enemy had been driven back a short way, but men were needed to keep him on the run. Our brothers at the front were weary and it was the duty of those at home who were able to go to do so at once in order that the advantage which had been gained should not be lost. He closed by urging those in the audience who were recruitable to come and join the forces of the Empire. Canada had given freely of the grain to feed the war god's mill but still more was needed and must be had if the victory was expected to be perch on our banners.

Mr. Justice McKeown.

His Worship then introduced Mr. Justice McKeown, who said: "Most of us who have reached the age of manhood have had a few personal encounters and the lesson he wished to draw from these was that the critical moment in a fight was when one of the parties was beginning to get the better of the argument; sometimes the fellow who was getting beaten would resort to foul methods and it was up to the other fellow to watch him. That point had been reached on the western front and it was up to the Allies to watch the enemy for the Germans were the foulest fighters who ever carried arms. It was necessary that the Allies be prepared for a desperate struggle and the words of the old Roman senator who always closed his speech with the words 'Carthago must be destroyed' might today be rendered 'Germany must be destroyed' in the interests of peace and civilization. Her ideals, aims and aspirations must be blotted out and the ideals, aims and aspirations of righteousness be maintained. We had drawn the sword in the interests of justice and it could not be sheathed until victory had come. A German had said that they would win because of their nerve force, but behind the Allied forces was another force more potent, the force of the infinite principles of justice, and so long as the armies of the Allies were animated by that force there need be no fear of the result."

He appealed to those who had not already donned the khaki by the memory of their dead ancestors who lay sleeping their last sleep in the square, just in the rear of where he was speaking, to rally to the colors and be worthy of those who had left home and affluence in order that they might live under the British flag. Some day the boys would come back and how would the fellow feel who had not done his bit then; where would he be when the streets were resounding with cheers for the boys who had fought and bled for the cause? Men were needed and needed now to help drive the Hun back to his own country. Now was the time to show themselves worthy of their ancestry and do their bit.

DORCHESTER SHOWS ITS LOYALTY TO EMPIRE

Special to The Standard.

Dorchester, N. B., Aug. 4.—Dorchester observed the second anniversary of the opening of the great war in most appropriate form. At eleven o'clock services of a solemn and most patriotic character were held in the Anglican, Baptist and Catholic churches. Every staff displayed the national ensign. The climax of a most interesting day was reached in the splendid mass meeting held in the County Court house at 8 o'clock.

Hon. A. D. Richard acted as chairman and spoke with much fervor in his opening address. The resolution contained in the proclamation of the Lieutenant Governor was moved by W. Hazen Chapman, K.C., in a brief but loyal speech, and was seconded by Mr. F. C. Palmer in a most businesslike and masterly manner. The resident clergymen were present and occupied seats on the platform. They responded to the call of the chairman in brief but inspiring addresses in the following order: Rev. F. H. Thomas, Rev. W. E. Bent, Rev. O. Hudson and Rev. W. H. Freda. The resolution passed unanimously by a standing vote, the great audience showing much enthusiasm. The singing of the National Anthem brought the splendid meeting to a close.

AT AMHERST

Special to The Standard.

Amherst, N. S., Aug. 4.—"In all of the Empire's far flung colonies, so shall Canada, the greatest of these, be the last to speak of weariness until the triumph over Germany has been completed." Such were the closing words in Professor Stewart's address when he spoke at the anniversary services held in the First Baptist church, last evening. His oration, of no great length, was filled to the brim with a spirit of optimism. As one of the most learned men in Eastern Canada, Prof. Stewart was well versed in his topic upon the various phases of war, inclusive of the present, past and future. He compared the existing position with that of last year and drew the comparisons of an ever-increasing success. The resolution was moved by Mr. C. R. Smith, K.C., and seconded by Mr. C. A. Tushy. Lieut. Cross of No. 1 Construction Corps gave a brief recruiting address. Rev. D. A. Steele, D.D., assisted in the services, while Mayor A. W. Coffey presided. A musical programme was rendered, the Amherst Military Band being in attendance, and the auditorium of the church was well filled.

AT YARMOUTH

Special to The Standard.

Yarmouth, N. S., Aug. 4.—The celebration of the second anniversary of the war today was observed by an enthusiastic meeting in the Royal Opera House, at which Dr. T. B. Mint, clerk of the House of Commons, moved, and Rev. Parker Young seconded the resolution prescribed for the occasion.

This was spoken to by Rev. W. B. Beanson and Rev. Dr. Bambrick. All the speakers spoke most eloquently of the war, and especially of the bright prospects for the Allies as the third year opened. The resolution passed unanimously amid great enthusiasm.

BIG MEETING IN CARLETON COUNTY

Special to The Standard.

Hartland, Aug. 4.—The second anniversary of the start of the great war was fittingly observed here today. At 11 o'clock in the morning a special service was held by the Church of England, the rector, Rev. N. Franchette, preaching a sermon appropriate to the occasion, and special prayers ordered for the day were offered up. In the evening a union meeting was held in the Methodist church, at which Prof. W. F. Watson gave a carefully prepared synopsis of events since the inception of the great struggle. The discourse was most interesting and listened to with rapt attention by a large audience. The pastor, Rev. H. S. Helps, and Rev. N. Franchette also touched upon the religious phase of the war.

At East Florenceville, in the evening, there was a big outdoor demonstration on the grounds of B. F. Smith, M. L. A. Lieut. H. T. C. Reid was the principal speaker and outlined the progress of the war from the standpoint of an eye witness, relating many thrilling incidents and telling of the life of the men in the trenches. Rev. G. A. Ross, B. F. Smith, M. L. A., and others gave brief addresses, touching upon the national and spiritual effects of the struggle for freedom and religious liberty. The Hartland band went up and discoursed patriotic selections during the evening. There were also some good choruses and quartettes by local talent.

At both meetings the resolutions prescribed by the lieutenant governor were unanimously adopted.

YORK AND SUNBURY TO RAISE $10,979 DEFICIT IN PATRIOTIC FUND

Special to The Standard.

Fredericton, Aug. 4.—Representatives of three municipalities, York County, Sunbury County and City of Fredericton, today decided to raise $10,979.00, the deficit at present existing in the Canadian Patriotic Fund in Fredericton district, by an assessment according to valuation. This amount is over and above any grants or assessments that have already been made by three municipalities.

The meeting was held in the City Council chamber and was a strongly representative one, there being a large attendance from York and Sunbury county councils, as well as from the city council.

Judge Barry was the principal speaker at the meeting and introduced the resolution issued by His Honor

Lieutenant Governor Wood, in connection with the second anniversary of the war.

Dr. T. C. Allen, chairman of the local association, in presenting the financial statement, said that the provincial deficit in this fund at the end of 1916 was estimated at $102,500. Sunbury county will be called upon to pay $5,497, and Fredericton $4,001.

The statement also shows that since the beginning of the war $35,287.78 has been forwarded to headquarters of the Canadian Patriotic Fund Association from this district, and the head office has sent to this section for distribution among families of soldiers at the front $26,865.48. The deficit this year is $10,979.02, while last year there was a deficit of about $3,000. Last month $4,306.50 was paid out to families in this section, while the July contribution to the fund was $2,572.98. At the present time there are 35 families receiving assistance from the fund, while in York 109 families are on the list and in Fredericton 145 received money from the fund, the total number of families receiving assistance now being 290. On January 1st there were 195 families on the list, there being an increase of 10 families up to June 30th. The average amount being paid to each family is $15.50 per month, which is somewhat smaller than at the beginning of 1916, when $15.74 was being paid to each family.

AS RUSSIA AND ITALY GO HAND IN HAND TO CONQUER A COMMON ANTAGONIST

WAR AGAINST A COMMON ANTAGONIST CAUSING NEW AND DEEPER FRIENDSHIP BETWEEN THE COLOSSUS OF THE NORTH AND ITALIAN NATION—GEN. CADORNA'S CAMPAIGN A SERIES OF BRILLIANT ACHIEVEMENTS, PLANNED, TIMED AND UTILIZED WITH STRICT REGARD TO GENERAL SITUATION OF ALLIES AND IN PARTICULAR FOR THAT OF RUSSIA.

By Sidney Low.
(Special Correspondent with the Italian Army.)

One result of the war will be a new and deeper friendship between Italy and Russia. The two nations are drawn together by the bonds of a common effort and a common enemy. Austria is the prime antagonist of both, and every blow that the northern Colossus delivers at the heart of Italy's old oppressor awakens an answering throbbing in that of the southern people. The operations in the Trentino and Galicia are regarded here as the two sections of a joint plan. Cadorna and Brusiloff have been working not only in harmony, but in unison.

Cadorna's victory was planned, timed, and utilized with strict regard to the general situation of the alliance, and in particular that of Russia. The Arco battle was fought to check the Austrian invasion and drive the invaders back beyond the frontier. Another purpose was that of preventing the Archduke Francis Joseph from detaching troops from the Alpine theatre in numbers adequate to oppose a serious obstacle to the Russian march to the Carpathians. Cadorna carried out this object with that rapidity of decision and that electric energy in action which will assuredly give him his place in history as one of the really great soldiers of the great war. A leader who knows his own mind, who has the practical instinct for choosing the right path, and who has gained the absolute confidence of his followers, can work in miracles, and Cadorna has done some miraculous things. At his word armies have sprung from the ground and have been transported almost through the air.

New Armies Created.
When the pressure of eighteen Austrian divisions on a single strip of the Italian front threatened to become unendurable, the general decided that a new army must be ranged behind that first bulwark of human flesh and blood. On May 21 the general instructed his staff to draft the plans for the creation of this fresh unit. At eleven o'clock on the morning of the 22nd the plans were ready. Before midnight the first troops of the new army were on the march! The same swift touch was shown in the climax of the counter-offensive. The Austrian official apology for the retreat is that it was undertaken in order to "shorten their line" and confer greater freedom of movement. That is one part of the story, not the whole. Seeing that their Italian coup had failed, they wanted to transfer a large part of the army which had been wasted over that abortive essay to their eastern front. With this aid it might still be possible to stem that Muscovite inundation of the Hungarian plain which the Vienna Government dreads, because of its political even more than its military effect.

The best aid Italy could render to the Alliance at this juncture was to prevent, or at least to delay, the extensive transfer of men and material to the Bukovina. Brilliantly and effectively was that aid given.

Plans Thwarted.
By the middle of June the Italian reinforcements had been built into the battle line after an amazing rally by motor-car along the mountain roads. The Austrian offensive was checked. The Austrians saw that there was to be no more going forward in Italy, and they decided to go back. The decision was to take effect on June 19. Unfortunately for them, the Italian Intelligence Department had good information of the whole project. No sooner was the date fixed than Cadorna struck hard—so hard that the retirement of the Austrian infantry, which was intended to be a leisurely retrograde movement, became something like a rout.

The programme of delaying the Italian advance with a comparatively thin rearguard, while 200,000 men were being comfortably packed away to Hungary, broke down. The whole Austrian line had to put its weight into the defense, and the nine selected divisions, instead of going off to fight the Russians, were still kept fighting in Italy.

By forcing back the whole Austrian centre and left on the night of Sunday, June 26, Cadorna had won the victory which brought the hostile offensive to a close. But the greater victory was gained in the following days, during which the Italian general compelled the enemy to give ground at his pace, not their own. The pursuit was unremitting, relentless, and incessant.

Mastery Move.
To handle in this fashion a retiring army, that was, or had been, 400,000 strong, the pursuing force must be not only determined, but very numerous, and there the Italian staff again achieved one of its triumphant feats of rapid organization and wholesale transport. In brigades, divisions, army corps, the Italians poured out over the hills and up the valleys, pushing their way through woods and tangled undergrowth, climbing among the crags and round the shoulder of the mountains. Night and day the march went on. There were rest-ments which moved through the whole twenty-four hours for nearly a week; many walked like men in a dream, only half-conscious.

Those long streams of grey locusts, as they poured through the valleys and palpitated over hills, had to be fed. They were marching through a desert, much of it a lovely desert of waving green, but yet almost foodless and waterless. The Austrians had sacked the villages and destroyed the aqueducts. Nearly all the water, as well as all the food for the great Italian army, had to be brought up from thousands of feet below.

The manner in which the Austrian retirement was clenched and held and the mastery organization of the Italian advance effected their purpose. The rapid transfer, which might have seriously impeded Brusiloff's operations, was prevented; Austria was tied by the legs, while the trusses are being wound about her.

Italy has done splendid service to Russia, and, through Russia, to the allied cause as a whole.

WITH SMUTS' ARMY IN LAND OF FAIRY TALES

An Officer Describes Part of German East Africa from which British are Driving the Enemy.

An officer campaigning under General Smuts in German East Africa gives a stirring account of this wonderful country:—
I arrived where I now am about the middle of April, and have seen many things since then which I never hoped to see. We are camped on the slope of the highest mountain in Africa (Kilimanjaro). At the foot of the camp runs a very rapid river, with reed trees on each bank, the haunts of monkeys and parrots, and in the bush below leopards and tigers lie in wait for what may turn up.

We are at an altitude of 3,600 feet, but thousands of feet above us is the snow-capped peak of the mountain, generally in a bank of cloud. Between us and the peak is the great belt of virgin forest, about five miles wide, which runs round the mountain, and formed one of the German big game preserves. It is full of elephants and hippos. All around us are plains lightly covered with bush, just like English orchards, the home of innumerable small game. These plains stretch away to the dim range of mountains in the distance.

Torrential Rain.
The insects are extraordinary beyond words—everything seems to be here that we know and have seen in fairy tale books; the tarantulas and centipedes would take a prize at any show! There are so many varieties of leaf insects and mantis that one gives up trying to count them.

While the rains were on they were terrific. The camps and roads, or tracks, were quagmires, and the railway lines used to get washed away continually. It was quite a common thing to see half a dozen great motor-lorries standing abandoned. It was impossible to make an advance or collect stores in such weather. Now it is fine again, and things are going well.
On the slopes all round us are abandoned coffee, rubber, maize, and other plantations. The soil is very rich, and everything seems to flourish. Of course much damage has been done to property, but that cannot be helped. I heard of one place where 1,000 rubber trees had been cut down for firewood—somewhat expensive, I think.

Just now the lions and leopards are more annoying than anything else. I have already had two narrow escapes and have a wholesome respect for the king of beasts. To hear him roar down by the river at night is an education in itself.
The white ants are a great nuisance. They can bore through anything. They are said to deposit a drop of very powerful acid, which they secrete on anything hard which they wish to penetrate, and this makes things easy. In this manner, I am told, they go through the steel railway sleepers on the Uganda Railway.

Splendid Country.
In spite of these little drawbacks, this is a magnificent country, but settlers will need a certain amount of capital. I hope there will be no sentimental nonsense about the way the former owners are treated when they surrender. They seem to have no chance at all now, and parties give themselves up continually.
Up on the slopes where we are it quite a white man's country, but the rainy season from April to May should be avoided. The temperature in my tent at 6.30 a.m. is about 64 deg. Fahr.; it gets warm in the middle of the day, but the nights are delightfully cool, and one has to use a blanket.
Gold has been found about seventeen miles from where we are, but not, I think, in any great quantity. Motor traffic will have to play a great part in opening up the country, as there is a great deal of sickness among the natives and horses. Native labor is plentiful and cheap. There are said to be 100,000 natives on the edge of the mountain forest belt alone, and the railways are being rapidly developed. The strategic railways can be made permanent as soon as the war is over at a small extra cost.
As an attraction for tourists the country could not be beaten. The scenery is magnificent, and the sporting possibilities all that can be desired. I had an adventure the other day—was nearly sniped, but I will tell you about that some other time.

An Unparalleled Victory

About a month ago we announced to the world our newest value—the $890 Overland. In twenty-four hours and from every section of the Dominion we had received more orders than we could fill in several weeks. So we immediately increased the production—filled the orders and notified our dealers not to push the model too hard as we were going night and day to catch up with orders. Before the end of the first week orders were pouring in so rapidly that we decided to again increase the production so that there would be no disappointments. But still bales of business continued to flood the factory. Now we are shipping 500 of the new cars every single day and are fairly breaking our backs to keep pace with the great demand that now looks as if it never would cease. We anticipated a great success, but we did not look for such a daily avalanche of definite shipping orders. Such is public opinion—the strongest force, the greatest asset, in the world. Never before has any automobile enjoyed such an unparalleled victory. Step in and see this extraordinary car yourself today.

THE THISTLES PUT IT OVER THE SHAMROCKS IN SEVEN-INNING GAME

Fog Brought Last Evening's St. Peter's League Contest to Sudden Finish.

What might have been a whirlwind name of ball was drawn to a sudden close last night by the fog settling over St. Peter's ball grounds. There has been keen but friendly rivalry between the Shamrocks and Thistles since the opening of the season and quite a large number of rooters occupied seats in the grandstand last night to cheer their favorites on to victory. Had the game lasted nine innings there might have been a different story to tell in this issue.

White started away for the Shamrocks and he sure was tossing up exceptionally good ball. It is seldom that the fans have the pleasure of seeing White perform in the box, but it sure is nice to see the cool way in which he handles himself. Owing to a collision with Kelley, the center-fielder of the Shamrocks, which was unavoidable, he had to give way to the old standby, Derby Doyle, in the fourth. Doyle proved his mettle and allowed but a few scattered hits. Dever, the catcher for the Thistles was out to win and a glance at the score will show that he accomplished his undertaking.

The Shamrocks had but one real chance of victory and that was in the last inning. There were two on bases and the herculean end of the batting list was on the punching line, viz. the Perry brothers and Murphy, but V. Perry was knocked out by a hit ball, which put him to first making a "full house." Doyle was in a tight hole but he managed to strike P. Perry out and forced Murphy to hit a weak infield fly which fell to the shortstop. The game was then called.

There was a player whose name is not on the score board who is worthy of more publicity than he gets, viz. Daniel McLaughlin, the all-round utility man for the Thistles. McLaughlin was called upon to play the first two innings, owing to the absence of the regular right field and like the children around the street organ, Danny was right there, coming through with a hit, scoring the first run for the Thistles. Haggerty pulled himself out of the batting slump and the way he went after those curves last night made it look as if he is on the mend.

Dever and White handled Elliott without gloves and as they follow in the batting order he took the very heart and soul out of the Shamrocks' pitcher. The win last night for the Thistles gives them a lead of about four games. The Shamrocks are out to cut this lead down next week.

HALIFAX AND MONCTON HORSES WON THE EVENTS AT MOOSEPATH

"Every Heat a Horse Race" was the Verdict of the Fans—Little Smoke Copp'd 2.25 in Straight Heats—Major Wellington Won 2.18.

A large crowd of turf enthusiasts witnessed excellent racing on Moosepath track yesterday afternoon. The track was in the very best of condition, the weather was suitable, and the majority of the heats proved very close.

In the 2.25 trot and pace Little Smoke, the Halifax horse, had things mostly his own way and captured the event in straight heats with the fastest time 2:24½; Cochato Lady, with three seconds won the second money. The other horse to start was Victoria.

There were three starters in the 2.18 class trot and pace and this event was the best of the day. It took four heats before Major Wellington, owned by P. A. Belliveau, of Moncton, won. The Major came under the wire in third position in the first heat which was won by Orwell Belle, and although the Moncton horse won the three last heats and race it was no cinch, as it was a hard fought battle to the wire in every heat. The best time was 2:21½, made in the third heat.

The 18 Class.
There were three starters in the 18 class drawing positions as follows: Baron Patchen, Orwell Belle, Major Wellington.

In the first heat the horses got away to a good start. On reaching the back stretch they had not changed positions and were strung out about a length apart. At the quarter Wellington was considerably in the rear. Coming into the stretch the Baron came along fast and when the half mile mark was reached was up on Orwell's wheel. It was a very pretty battle between these two horses, while the Major was closing up on the leaders.

As the horses raced into the stretch Orwell Belle gained steadily, and the excitement was keen. Inch by inch the island horse gained on the Baron, the latter being driven the entire stretch under the whip. Just a few yards from the wire Orwell forged ahead and won a most exciting heat by a neck. Time, 2:24½.

There was a change in the second heat. The horses went to the first turn together. Down the back stretch the Baron closed up on the leader with the Major following close and strong. As the horse swung into the stretch to the half they were bunched and it was as pretty a brush as any railbird would wish to see. At the half the Baron and Orwell were neck and neck, while the Major was on their wheels. As the horses went to the upper turn a blanket would almost cover the three racers. It was now proving a hard proposition to decide which would prove the winner, but when they flew into the back stretch Major Wellington showed a great burst of speed and coming from the rear went into the pole position.

At the three quarters and into the home stretch the race then developed into a procession, but on nearing the wire the rear horses closed up on the Major and made an exciting finish. The Moncton horse won the heat in 2:24.

The third heat was started with Orwell Belle having a little the best of the start and gave her the lead into the back stretch. Wellington broke and the Baron went into second place. Coming to the wire the Baron forced into the lead, and the Major having struck his stride, was looking dangerous. The Major was closing up the gap steadily and when the horses went ing around the front of the grandstand? The Shamrocks expected to carry on an offensive last night in order to take a game from the Rosses. Heavy bombardment was heard coming from the club rooms.

Say the Thistles are not lucky? Gibbons found his salary on the way home.

The three civilians in the outer garden for the Thistles, Cleary, Devine and O'Donnell, got clear of the collection hat.

2.25 Class.
In the 2.25 class trot and pace there was also plenty of excitement in each heat despite the fact that Little Smoke, the Halifax horse, had too much speed for the party and won the event in straight heats. Cochato Lady, another Halifax horse, was in the second position at the finish of each heat, while Victoria, of Sussex, took third place in the first heat, Harry L. of Sydney, finished in third place in the last two heats. There was never any great distance between the four horses in any of the heats, and each heat proved a real horse race which was pleasing to the spectators. The following is the summary:
Little Smoke, L. R. Ackers, Halifax, ..... 1 1 1
Cochato Lady, J. Smith, Halifax 2 2 2
Harry L. E. Campbell, Sydney 4 3 3
Victoria, Dr. McAllister, Sussex 3 4 3
Time—2:24½, 2:25, 2:24½.

CORONATION CUP RACES IN HALIFAX

Series for Trophy Donated by Late Robert Thomson Opened on Wednesday in Halifax Harbor.

Many of the St. John yachtsmen have almost forgotten the Coronation Cup which was donated for competition some years ago by the late Robert Thomson, then commodore of the R. Y. C. It was held in St. John but a short time when a speedy freak came over from Sydney, C. E.

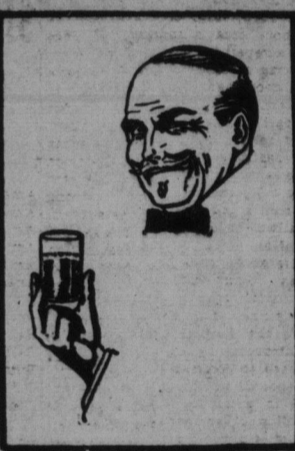

Hundreds of railbirds who were delighted with the horse racing at Moosepath track yesterday afternoon may expect even better sport this afternoon when the 2.25 class trot and pace, with six entries will start along with the big Free-for-All, with five of the fastest horses in the province entered. This being a half holiday it is expected that one of the largest crowds for years will be in attendance. Good racing always attracts crowds, and the management of the track will endeavor to hold a number of big meets on Moosepath this season.

CONCERNING "BROADSIDES."

The provincial opposition party is, no doubt, pleased with the selection of a candidate who, on no less than two occasions, has been publicly horse-whipped on the streets of St. John for articles which he published in a paper which came to an end strangled by its own filth.

This candidate is also an organizer of what professes to be a party of moral uplift and he has recently seen fit, at a political meeting, to attack the reputations of men who have been as long in the public eye as he has been and who, during that period, have not been accused of dishonorable acts either in their business or in their family relations.

Because neither The Standard nor the Fredericton Gleaner have seen fit to deal with the effusions of this typical representative of the provincial opposition party the Times assumes that therefore these journals are afraid to do so. In the prize ring one does not engage in encounters with an adversary who habitually strikes below the belt. The sportsman pursues game, but does not class in that category animals which are pestilentially odoriferous. The Times and the Telegraph have their own choice of the company with which they consort. Reputable journals are governed by other standards.

This newspaper proposes to ascertain whether the recent ebullition is to be continued and characteristic of the opposition party. If so, not as a matter of politics nor of journalism, but as measures of reprisal which, occasionally, must be taken against uncivilized adversaries it will become necessary to exhibit to public gaze, in unpleasant detail, life stories of many men connected with the organization of the Telegraph and Times and of some of their most valued contributors.

For the present it is sufficient to say that the reference to the directors of The Standard, made at a recent political meeting in this city, is a lying misrepresentation of public men put forth in a faint hope that some portion of New Brunswick's public may have so little knowledge of its author as, possibly, to believe that his statements are entitled to the acceptance usually accorded to those of reputable citizens.

THAT "CONSERVATIVE OPINION."

Under the heading of "Conservative Opinion on the Meredith-Duff Report," the Times republishes what the Toronto Telegram had to say concerning the judgment of Sir William Meredith and Mr. Justice Duff, a judgment which completely cast aside the Kite-Carvell charges as unwarranted and unworthy.

The Standard does not dispute the fact that the Toronto Telegram has been Conservative in its political leanings but this newspaper does say that the proprietor of the Telegram, and other men associated in the management of that publication have a personal grudge against Sir Sam Hughes, and carry that grudge into every matter in which the Minister of Militia is concerned. Consequently, the opinion of the Toronto Telegram concerning anything affecting the Militia Department or its minister is not a Conservative opinion but rather the view of a disappointed and angry old man.

The Standard invites the Telegraph, the Times and other opposition newspapers which have been representing the Toronto Telegram as the voice of any wing of the Conservative party to publish the story of the origin of the Telegram's grouse. Mere publication of that interesting little item will effectually appraise the value of the Telegram's opinion on any matter in which Sir Sam Hughes is concerned.

But, while considering this matter of opinions why does the Times not publish the Liberal Ottawa Free Press' view on the Telegram's criticism of the Meredith-Duff report, as found in the Free Press of August 1st? In that article the Free Press says:

"The more the Toronto Telegram contemplates the report of Sir William Meredith and Justice Duff on the fuse enquiry, the more it comes up to its expectations. Before the report appeared the Telegram predicted that it would be so good and that it would not have the slightest effect on public opinion. Every day since its publication the Telegram has indulged in a blast of condemnation. On Sunday last the Telegram editor lay in a hammock on his farm armed with the Meredith-Duff report as light literature. When he awoke he found he had got still further light by reading the report upside down, so he immediately took his pen in hand, and, despite the great heat, wrote:

Then follows the Telegram article published in last evening's Times and in conclusion the Free Press says:

"The two 'exceptional graduates of the Canadian bar' might do worse than study the style of the Telegram editor as a guide to future reports. Royal commissioners on graft enquiries, they should understand, are expected to give the public what they want, and the public—which only the Toronto Telegram represents—desires to see somebody's head swatted. From that point of view we must all admit Sir William Meredith and Justice Duff produced a bum report."

And it should be remembered that for many years the Free Press has been a consistent advocate of the Liberal party. It has no quarrel with that party today, except for the fact, as it announced editorially, that it "cannot stand for Mr. Carvell and his dirty methods." In that it merely expresses the opinion of the very large majority of the Canadian people.

THEN AND NOW.

In connection with the observance yesterday of the second anniversary of Great Britain's entrance upon this war it is interesting to contrast the spirit and attitude of the German people on the day Britain accepted the challenge so brazenly thrown to the world with the demeanor and sentiment of that nation today. When the Kaiser and the Prussian war party led the German nation into war there was jubilation throughout the length and breadth of that kingdom. There was absolute confidence of speedy victory, no sign of doubt, no hesitation, no anxiety. The plans were all laid. Not only was France to be crushed beyond hope of recovery, but her richest provinces were to be torn from her and, together with Belgium, incorporated in the German empire.

All the French colonies were to be seized; also the choicest of the British possessions. Poland was to be wrested from Russia, and Courland made a permanent German possession. British sea power was to be demolished, Britain invaded, and peace dictated from London; and German professors gloated in anticipation over the havoc that would be wrought by the German armies in the fair fields and rich cities and towns of hated England.

No such talk is now heard; no such hopes are cherished. Now the dominant sentiment of the German people is an intense longing for peace. Peace organizations multiply. We hear of the activities of the National Committee for Securing an Honorable Peace, the Independent Committee for Obtaining an Honorable Peace, the Committee on the Guiding Principles for the Way to a Lasting Peace, and other similar organizations. The Kaiser feels the need of making appeals to the people to be patient and constant and not to give way to despondency. The inspired press begs the people to have faith in the ability of the army to protect the fatherland from the invasion which threatens.

It is a striking contrast. It serves to reveal the difference between the situation at present and the situation at the outset of the war.

MR. CARTER'S PRICE.

An enquirer yesterday asked The Standard these questions: "What is E. S. Carter after?" "What is his price?"

In answering the first query this newspaper can only say that it has not been informed as to Mr. Carter's real purpose in entering the Kings County campaign and as to the second—the price we have most often heard quoted in connection with that gentleman is "ONE DOLLAR PER MEMBER FOR CONVENTIONS AND THREE DOLLARS PER PLATE FOR BANQUETS."

AN ACHIEVEMENT UNPARALLELED IN MODERN WARFARE

Recent Phases of Allies' Campaign on the Somme Among Most Daring Enterprises of Present Day Warfare.

By Dr. T. Miller Maguire.

We have now placed before us daily by clever and accurate correspondents more instructive lessons on the science and art of war than our ancestors, during any previous campaign, could have learned in a month, and at present our own Army is playing in the west a part which must eventually entitle our Empire to a foremost place in regard to the settlement of Europe at the peace.

In a very limited tactical sphere in France and in conjunction with his French colleague, Sir Douglas Haig's manoeuvres—though strategy is out of the question for lack of space—are not only checked, but in some instances, and therefore, like Brusilov in the east, he is materially conducting to the final triumph of the great allied converger. He is thereby illustrating, in the interests of France, the theory which the great Field Marshal von Moltke maintained so powerfully to the utter defeat of the French in 1871 in the same districts, that the art of war is the practical adaptation of the means at hand to the attainment of the object in view—the defeat of the enemy.

Skill and Daring.

War, whether on a grand scale, as in the conduct of large armies in Volhynia and Bukovina by the Russian generals, or on a relatively small but not less terribly important scale, as in the leading of troops to the assault of villages like Contalmaison and Mametz, is an art. Like every other art, it has its scientific side, yet it is far more a matter of skill and daring and correct appreciation of the forces immediately in deadly contact than of science, which ought to put the Army in as perfect a state as possible as to materials, numbers, and brain power before the actual fight takes place. Our leaders did well in not hurrying their men from their trenches to the storming of strong positions before everything had been scientifically prepared.

No one will deny that the subordinate leaders in the various labyrinths and woods and in each locality of deadly encounters carried out their art with courage and skill during the past week. All this is of good omen for our future.

No better examples of fortitude and ability in tactical operations have been forthcoming since the days of Marlborough than in the battles for the highly fortified positions between the Somme and the Ancre and about Fricourt, Ovillers, and La Boisselle. Last week's exploits have more than justified this view, and there has been no diminution in the obstinate tenacity of the German defenders, or in their advance, which has been worthy of the traditions in the same territory of the soldiers of Queen Anne, whose capture of the French lines of Marshal Villars was set down by Napoleon himself as a masterpiece of tactics.

A Formidable Foe.

The present combined operations of the French and British allies within the triangle formed by lines drawn from Albert to Peronne and Bapaume, which compel the enemy to evacuate the Somme and retreat to the east, and especially the "push" of the British five miles east of the lines which they occupied a week ago, will justify being ranked as among the most daring enterprises of modern warfare. The enemy's advance was well prepared by the best artillery that ever handled guns, and the villages, hamlets and even trenches had been deprived of a great part of their power and apparatus of modern warfare. The French were able to their capture—an observation which applies to the various fortified works, as well as villages like Mametz and both Bazentinis and Longueval. It would be a poor compliment to the skill and buoyant courage of our men to pretend that they were not opposed by exceedingly able and brave foes, or that in the plans of defense these had neglected any scheme or device of precaution. It is admitted that the most elaborate methods of the ablest instructors were carried out to the letter by our enemies, as well as by our own leaders, during the intervals between attacks.

The most peculiar feature in the recent advance, and one that will serve to make it an immortal model of defensive-offensive operations, is the carrying by storm of a very strong series of lines about twelve miles long, and in three layers at least, of ingenious and terribly massive trenches, embracing all the farmhouses, woods, and villages in a very close and populous country, with all roads barricaded or entided by powerful heavy guns. The task was achieved without a chance of a turning movement or surprise on a large scale. This, I take it, is an achievement without any parallel.

Hand-to-Hand Fights.

Nor were we helped except very indirectly by anything that occurred in any other part of the vast theatre of war. The French near Peronne, then, and the British near Albert have dared and accomplished a tactical experiment lasting through a fortnight, it is true. The battles in the American War of Secession lasted just as long, and those in the Russo-Japanese war fully as tedious, but in no case was such a line pierced by raids, hard pounding or attrition, or all-out-gather. Nor did the Russians or any of the Balkan States try such a feat against the Turkish lines of Tchataldja, across the peninsula north of Constantinople.

It requires a careful study of the opportunity to appreciate what our soldiers have done during the past fortnight. For the first time since 1854 a body of attacking infantry has carried several lines in succession by sheer force of assault and well-ordered courage, and not only captured villages by front attacks but held them, taking some thousands of well-trained soldiers prisoners of war during the operations. Moreover, as far as we can learn, these captures were not the result of strategic "swoops," like the recent Russian victories, but of physical and tactical superiority in hand-to-hand conflicts and fierce rushes through cover and streets, railway cuttings and forest glades, where there was no scope even for rifle fire.

Thus the splendidly daring efforts of Sir Douglas Haig and his subordinates have succeeded in dislodging the most competent enemies from positions of their deliberate choice, and under conditions more adverse to the attacking force than any at which the Federal leaders failed in Virginia, or any which the Japanese did not attempt to oppose in Manchuria.

It is much to be able to write without boasting of exploits like the stand of the West Kent, while the rush forward of Scots, Ulstermen and Anzacs shows that they stand among the highest for dauntless intrepidity, combined with scientific resources and tactical art, of any men since the advance of the celebrated Light Division at Waterloo.

GOOD BALANCE PRIME FACTOR IN MOTOR CAR DESIGN; MAKES STUDEBAKERS HOLD TO THE ROAD.

In reviewing the progress that has been made in automobile design, the results secured by engineers in the direction of proper balance deserve a big share of attention.

When the motor car industry was in its earlier stages, not much consideration was paid to the problem of good balance. There was often a difference of many hundreds of pounds between the amount of weight that was carried by the rear and front wheels. Automobile engineers generally were of an opinion that it was impossible to get cars to the point where the front and rear construction would be practically evenly balanced.

By reason of long study and experimenting, Studebaker engineers have developed Studebaker cars to the point where the present day models show almost perfect balance. Specifically, there is only 50 pounds difference in the weight that is carried by the front and rear wheels. Considering the weight of the cars, that is almost a negligible amount.

The reason why good balance was sought for and secured was to give the car safety on the open road at high speeds by preventing it from bouncing and swaying about. Then, too, it was appreciated that even balance of the front and rear construction would prevent uneven wear on the tires, and would reduce tire expense.

In the earlier days only the heaviest of cars could be depended upon to hold the road at fast speeds. Weighing 5,000 pounds or more, their mere avordupois was responsible for their steady riding. By reason of good balance, Studebaker engineers have adopted lighter, stronger and better

LABOR MEN CELEBRATING

Matter of Labor Day Observance Before Council—The Factory Act Amendment.

A meeting of the Trades and Labor Council was held in their rooms last night with the president, C. H. Stevens, presiding. The question of how Labor Day should be celebrated this year was the subject for much discussion among the members. It was unanimously felt by those present that with the country at war, and the great need for donations to the patriotic funds, the labor unions throughout the city should make the occasion one long to be remembered. It was thought that the labor societies should not attempt to take the celebration of the day wholly to themselves, but an opportunity should be given for all the different societies in the city to join with them, and with the citizens at large make one great day of it. As a result of the discussion President Stevens and J. E. Tighe, the business agent of the Longshoremen's Association, were appointed a committee to wait on Mayor Hayes and put the views of the Labor Council to him for consideration.

The plans in the minds of all societies in the city join in a big celebration and that all funds received be handed over to the patriotic societies.

The matter regarding an amendment to the factory act was discussed and resulted in the following resolution being adopted:

"Whereas it has been brought to the attention of this council that several business houses in this city have refused to comply with the amendment to the factory act passed last session of the legislature, which amendment provides that employers shall provide seats for the female help, and shall permit them to use the same when not necessarily engaged in the discharge of their regular duty, and whereas it is in the opinion of this council that legislation of this nature is absolutely necessary and should be rigidly enforced;

"Therefore be it resolved that the delegates report back the subject matter of this resolution to their organizations for action.

"Further be it resolved that we commend the factory inspector for his zeal and for the action in insisting on the carrying out of this law, and that we urge upon the executive council of the government the need of giving every assistance to the inspector in this matter."

Another subject which was discussed was that of the laboring men engaged on the Valley Railway work and of the unskilled labor available in St. John if the wages are satisfactory.

It was stated in the meeting by one of the members that when an agent for Kennedy and McDonald was in St. John about a month ago, he was informed that labor was available here but not at the rate of wages offered. The rate asked for was two dollars per day and board, while the offer was two dollars per day without board. It was shown that the unskilled laboring man in St. John was at present receiving from two to two dollars and fifty cents a day, and that if a man was only to receive two dollars per day and pay his board away from home he would have very little money to send back.

Honor for Campbellton Air-men who Brought Machine Back from Above German Line, Although Wounded.

Special to The Standard.

Woodstock, Aug. 4.—Sappers Boswell and Ross Malcolm of Campbellton, who have been at the front with the C. P. R. Construction Corps, arrived here today by automobile from Campbellton and are guests of W. D. Gunter, Brunswick street. Both returned soldiers are sons of Thomas Malcolm who built the International Railway and they are now on leave for a few months to visit their home.

Lieut. Robert K. Shives of Campbellton, who was in Frederickton yesterday, has been recommended for the Distinguished Conduct Medal for his work at the front as a member of the Royal Flying Corps. His feat of bringing his machine from within 12 miles over German lines to the aerodrome situated about twelve miles back of the British lines after he had been wounded in a fight with a German airman, came in for due recognition by the officer commanding the squadron of which Lieut. Shives was a member and recommendation for a D. C. M. was sent forward.

Aside from this honor the Campbellton officer has also been recommended for promotion and will be given this as soon as he reports for duty again next month. Three days previous to being wounded Lieut. Shives was recommended for a promotion and this would have gone through at the time he came through his scrap with the German aviator unwounded.

Nineteen recruits have enlisted in Frederickton since the beginning of the present week. Yesterday two more volunteers were added to the list. Heretofore the list has been made up of men with No. 8 Field Ambulance, and Frank Clayborn, of Barker's Point, enlisting with No. 2 Construction Corps which is to be composed of colored men. The latter is the third volunteer to enlist for that unit here this week.

Woodstock, N. B., August 4.—George Little, of the firm of Burpee & Little, after a week's illness from appendicitis, died at the Fisher Memorial hospital tonight, aged 35 years. ## FRENCH LOBSTER EMBARGO REMOVED.

The removal of the French embargo on lobsters lifts a load from the minds of Maritime Province packers who saw nothing but disaster ahead of the season's pack on hand, says the Canadian Fisherman. The rescinding of the embargo by France will, in all likelihood, forestall any contemplated embargo on canned lobster by Great Britain.

With the German and Belgium markets closed to Canadian canned lobsters, packers were hard hit, and when news of the French embargo came, the dealers were at a loss to dispose of this season's pack. The American market was only good for fresh lobster; Canadian consumption is small, and the English market though favorable and larger than formerly, offered small profits. When the French embargo went into effect, there was talk that the British government would also bar lobsters as unnecessary luxuries.

However, the news to hand removes all difficulties in disposing of the pack, and though the season is a little late, it is hoped that the packers will succeed in disposing of their stock.

LIEUT. SHIVES RECOMMENDED FOR THE D.C.M.

Honor for Campbellton Air-men who Brought Machine Back from Above German Line, Although Wounded.

Special to The Standard.

Woodstock, Aug. 4.—Sappers Boswell and Ross Malcolm of Campbellton, who have been at the front with the C. P. R. Construction Corps, arrived here today by automobile from Campbellton and are guests of W. D. Gunter, Brunswick street. Both returned soldiers are sons of Thomas Malcolm who built the International Railway and they are now on leave for a few months to visit their home.

Lieut. Robert K. Shives of Campbellton, who was in Frederickton yesterday, has been recommended for the Distinguished Conduct Medal for his work at the front as a member of the Royal Flying Corps. His feat of bringing his machine from within 12 miles over German lines to the aerodrome situated about twelve miles back of the British lines after he had been wounded in a fight with a German airman, came in for due recognition by the officer commanding the squadron of which Lieut. Shives was a member and recommendation for a D. C. M. was sent forward.

Aside from this honor the Campbellton officer has also been recommended for promotion and will be given this as soon as he reports for duty again next month. Three days previous to being wounded Lieut. Shives was recommended for a promotion and this would have gone through at the time he came through his scrap with the German aviator unwounded.

Nineteen recruits have enlisted in Frederickton since the beginning of the present week. Yesterday two more volunteers were added to the list. Heretofore the list has been made up of men with No. 8 Field Ambulance, and Frank Clayborn, of Barker's Point, enlisting with No. 2 Construction Corps which is to be composed of colored men. The latter is the third volunteer to enlist for that unit here this week.

Fire in West End.

Shortly after eleven o'clock last night the West St. John fire department were called out by an alarm from Box 221, on the corner of Prince and Watson streets, and on arrival found a brick fire burning on the roof of a fish smoke house, owned by Walter Clark, near the western end of Water street. The firemen were quickly on the scene and with a couple of good streams soon had the fire under control, but the blaze had such a start before the alarm was sent in that before the "fall out" sounded and the firemen picked up their hose the smoke house had been badly damaged. At the time of the fire Mr. Clark had a large consignment of fish in the house being cured and his loss both to building and contents will prove considerable.

WATCHING ALL SHIPS FOR SIGN OF "PARALYSIS"

Outbreak in New York Results in Stringent Inspection of All Vessels from St. John to Gotham.

Following the outbreak of infantile paralysis in New York, the health authorities in that state are taking every precaution to prevent the spread of that dread disease. In accordance with the despatch received from Ottawa, all vessels must be closely inspected before leaving the port of St. John for New York. The order reads as follows:

Ottawa, Aug. 4th, 1916.
To C. B. Lockhart, Collector of Customs, Port of St. John, N. B.
"Owing to the epidemic of infantile paralysis, vessels sailing from Canadian ports for New York will require clean bills of health. Notify owners and masters of vessels."

In addition to infantile paralysis there is another contagious disease, somewhat mysterious, which is puzzling the doctors in Boston. Health Officer Wm. Randall of that city stated that the disease is some form of intestinal disorder and it is contagious to some extent. One death so far has been reported in Chelsea and in the same family another child is sick.

The consensus of opinion among the medical men is that it is not infantile paralysis but is contracted by means of eating unhealthy food.

A Sad Case.

On Thursday morning The Standard made mention of a pitiful sight witnessed in the Queen Square the evening before, when an aged woman was seen to drink liquor from a flask until she became so intoxicated that she fell prostrate on the street and had to be assisted to a bench by a couple of gentlemen. The old woman appears to have made the Queen Square resort for her apoplexy, and last evening she was found there in an intoxicated condition by the police who were obliged to place her under arrest and convey her to a cell in police headquarters. On arrival at headquarters the police officers found that the woman had the sum of fifty-nine dollars in her pockets. It is not the first time that this woman has been arrested for being drunk, and has been sentenced to a term of imprisonment.

Social Notes of the Week

Yesterday, August 4th, marked the second anniversary of the address of the young ladies who have given the event in the history of Britain and her colonies. It is well after all that we cannot look into the future, for little did we dream two years ago that so many of our loved ones would sleep in the history of a foreign land. The day was fittingly observed by services of interest in the various churches, also addresses by several prominent gentlemen, afternoon and evening were given on Kings Square. Collections were taken for the Patriotic Fund and a very enjoyable reception was given by the Canadian Club in the Soldiers' Club in honor of the veterans, which was attended by a large number of ladies and gentlemen. Places of business closed between the hours of three and five to enable the clerks to show their loyalty by listening to the resolution which was submitted to the citizens by His Worship Mayor Hayes on King Square.

Lieut. Col. McAvity was a guest of honor on Thursday evening at a banquet given at the Union Club by the citizens of St. John, which was an unqualified success, and a fitting tribute to this brave officer who commanded the 26th Battalion, and whose gallantry has brought such honor to St. John and our province. A very large number of citizens were present. On rising to respond to the toast of His Worship the Mayor, Colonel McAvity was cheered to the echo. Appropriate music was rendered during the evening by Jones' orchestra, closing with the National Anthem.

Many will, no doubt, avail themselves of the opportunity of attending the attractive fair at Hampton by taking in the very cheap excursions under the auspices of the Rotary Club. There are many in our city who have never taken that wonderful rail trip to Kennebecasis, so picturesque and so surprising, as round and round they sail through a path of water the beautiful scenery on all sides which to describe would be impossible. By this trip one can go to the city of St. John for the round trip of $1.00, returning by train at ten o'clock or by auto for $2.00, or train, return 75 cents. The proceeds are for the Patriotic Fund. Next Saturday the excursion will be to Westfield.

Could Any "Talking Machine" Sustain This Pitiless Test?

There is a new invention which is not a "talking machine." It does not merely reproduce sound. It actually Re-Creates all forms of music. A masterpiece does not require a trade name, nor the usual methods of commercial exploitation. This new invention (which virtually embodies a new art) has no name save the name of its inventor. It is

Of the Metropolitan Opera, the world's greatest Wagnerian tenor, proving by actual comparison, the infallibility of Edison's new art. He is one of the many artists who have made the same test with the same result.

THE NEW EDISON

Mr. Edison invited the astounding test of having great artists sing and play in direct comparison with his Re-Creation of their work.

Musical critics of more than one hundred of America's leading newspapers admit, in the columns of their own papers, that their trained ears were unable to distinguish between an artist's voice or instrumental performance and Edison's Re-Creation of it.

Christina Tweedie, Kouchibouguac—Thanks for your nice letter, Christina. I have entered your name on the membership roll of the Corner.

Leola Small, White Head, Grand Manan—Very pleased to get your letter, and hope you will write again soon, as I like getting all the letters from my kiddies.

Greville Craft, St. Stephens—You tried hard in the contest, Greville, and although you did not get the prize this time, I hope to have more of your good work.

Katherine McLoughlin, Milltown—Like getting letters like yours, as by same, I am able to know what you enjoy best in the Corner. Now try harder next time and see what you can manage.

Hildred Delony, Centreville—What a busy time you have been having. I am sorry to hear that your papa has had such a time with the wet weather. Was much damage done?

Marion Cunningham, Gardner's Creek—Considering that you are only nine years of age, I am sure you did well in the contest, and I hope you will continue to try until you are successful.

William Cramp, Florenceville—Where did you come from, as I know most of the district? I suppose you are living with your sisters now, are you?

Marion Anderson, Sussex—Thanks for the riddles, which I shall use, and also the nice letter.

Jack Rosenthal, Paradise Row—You have made a splendid attempt in the last contest, but of course the result will not be known until next week.

Willard Hanson, Woodstock—I am pleased to see that you are enjoying the contests, and that you have tried in this week's.

Don McKenzie, St. Mary's—You can see your color box, and the next coloring contest I hope you will try still harder.

Myrna Smith, 350 Main Street—Unfortunately, the wrong picture was shown last week, so I am publishing the right one this week. The other was of Nellie Erb. I had a letter from your Aunt Ada, giving me your present address. Call and see me.

Fannie Bernstein, 692 Main Street—I think you are quite a nice little writer, Fannie, but think you could have colored the picture a bit more, as you seem to know how to use your crayons.

Marguerite Semple, 44 Paradise Row—What I have said to Fannie Bernstein, applies to you Marguerite, and I shall look out for your future work.

Lena Slovit, 20 Chapel Street—You have made a splendid attempt in the coloring and story contest, and well deserve the place given you in this week's prize list. I hope you will write some stories for the Corner some day.

Helen Magee, Westfield—I was pleased to get your letter, and also to here from Ernestine Friars, that you were staying at Westfield, or Lynfield. Yes it was a funny day, and so dark too.

Beatrice Corbett, 395 Main Street—You have a big welcome Beatrice, and I hope you will write me soon again.

Ray Wood, Westford—That's right and get others to join also. Glad to hear that you are a scout. Is Mr. Wood your scoutmaster? As I know him well, yes, I know Francis.

Marion Huber, Gilmour St., Ottawa—I am delighted to get your letter, and would like to hear from other kiddies living in Ottawa. Write and tell me what you like best in the Corner.

Eileen Davis, 264 Prince Wm. St.—You wrote me a most interesting and well written letter, Eileen. Yes, it would have been great to have had a camera on your trip.

Mabel Ryan, Fairville—I was pleased to see that you were trying in the contests, Mabel, but would suggest that you use your crayons a little more in the next picture and you will get a better effect.

Chas. Griffith, 281 Gullford St. W.—

You have a big welcome to the Corner, Charles, and I shall look out for more of your work.

Nellie Erb, Wickham—You would notice that your picture appeared in the Corner last week, with Myrna Smith's name under. That was a mistake, but I am giving the right picture this time. I was pleased to get your welcome letter, and will write when time permits again.

Muriel Ganter, 115 Llaner—I expect or this you will be in the country having a great time, Muriel. You tried hard in the coloring and story contest.

Marion Smith, Advocate Harbor—Glad you got the certificate alright, and like same. Write me more often Marion.

Ernestine Friars, Princess Street—I was pleased to see that you had had such a great time while in the country. You certainly looked the picture of health and happiness.

Helen Karvie, Durham Centre—Your story of the shepherd lad and the lion was well written, and I shall watch for your future work with much interest, Helen.

Louis Comeau, Shediac—The story about the lion was good, but you spoil your attempt in the picture by tracing the drawing, Louis. Next time try without copying in that way, as I am sure you can do good work.

Hazel Smith, Advocate Harbor—No but you must not get discouraged, as success comes to those who try, and then try again, eh, Hazel. You are a very neat writer.

Elsie McLellan, Springhill—Whilst the result of the Word Making Contest will not be known until next week, I must say you have done well, to have got as many words as you have.

William Brock, 38 Wall Street—I got quite a surprise the other day when you called at the office with your mother and Winnie.

Winnie Brock, 38 Wall Street—Now that you are in the city, you must call and see me often. You are both very clever with your paints, and can use the brushes most neatly.

Harry Waite, Brown's Flats—Yes, it must be about three weeks ago. So your father has gone back west again. I was discharged. The drawing is somewhat out in proportion. Harry, see the new contest given this week, and it will help you to draw better.

Kathleen Woodley, 225 Gullford St. West—You are a clever little artist Kathleen, but why did you not try the writing as well, so as to have a chance to get the prize?

Winifred Woodley, 225 Gullford St. West—You can also use your colors splendidly Winifred, but you likewise forget to write the story about the picture.

Billy Woodley, 225 Gullford St. W.—I think you have done splendidly with your colors, considering that you are only four, Billy.

Ruth Pitt, Reed's Point—Pleased to hear that you are having such a great time. What a beautiful doll Nora must be, almost as large as a real baby, and your play house too must be a dandy. Thanks for the good wishes.

Willie Sharp, Lower Jernag—What a fine farm you do live on Willie, it must be great in the summer time, you are a great help to your papa. That must be a splendid dog, and very clever too. I like letters such as yours which tell so much of where you live.

Marion Grooms, Elmville—I try to get your attempts in a little earlier Marion, so that you will be able to have your work judged with the rest, as you try hard.

Kathleen Perkins, Pokines, P. O.—Pleased to hear that you had such good news about your brother. The Alliance Aid (Children's Corner Branch) are sending him some caretries. Your other letter was most interesting.

Willie Grooms, Elmville—I consider that you made quite a good copy of the picture Winifred, and although you did not get the prize, well deserve special mention.

Hattie Lunn, Advocate, N. B.—You wrote a splendid story, Hattie, but the color work was not quite so good. You made them too thick, and not the right shade. Now try more of the contests, and let me see what you can do.

BEDTIME STORIES FOR THE CHILDREN

Uncle Remus tells about Mr. Dog.

Legends of the old Plantation.

"One night," said Uncle Remus, "I was taking Miss Sally's little boy on his knee, and stroking the child's hair thoughtfully and carelessly—"one night Brer Possum call by fer Brer Coon, 'kore'din' ter groomed, en after robbin' up a dish er fried greens en smokin' a seegay, dey rambled frot'er ter see how dey balance er de settlement wuz gittin' long. "Clifford Wananaker, The Range—Glad you sent me such an interesting letter, but sorry to hear that both Evelyn and yourself have been so ill. I am sorry also that Evelyn never received her button, as I sent same. I am sending her another. No but I thought you would have written earlier. Yes, the berries will be all ripe now.

Mary R. Hinds, St. George—You are certainly a nice writer to be only eleven years of age, Mary, and I hope you will often write me.

Margaret Stephenson, 162 Mount Pleasant Ave.—I like the way in which you have colored the picture, Margaret, but unfortunately you did not manage as well as the prize winner in the story writing part.

Elsie McLellan, Springhill—Whilst the result of the Word Making Contest will not be known until next week, I must say you have done well, to have got as many words as you have.

Geraldine Corey, Gagetown—I was delighted to get your interesting letter the other day, Geraldine, as I was wondering what was the matter. You must have received a fearful fright, when poor Roy was drowned. I shall write you personally soon.

Stanley Neill, 364 Main Street—I am only too pleased to enter your name on the long membership roll of the Corner, and hope you will continue to be as successful as you are now.

William Brock, 38 Wall Street—I got quite a surprise the other day when you called at the office with your mother and Winnie.

Winnie Brock, 38 Wall Street—Now that you are in the city, you must call and see me often. You are both very clever with your paints, and can use the brushes most neatly.

Harry Waite, Brown's Flats—Yes, it must be about three weeks ago. So your father has gone back west again. I was discharged. The drawing is somewhat out in proportion. Harry, see the new contest given this week, and it will help you to draw better.

Kathleen Woodley, 225 Gullford St. West—You are a clever little artist Kathleen, but why did you not try the writing as well, so as to have a chance to get the prize?

Winifred Woodley, 225 Gullford St. West—You can also use your colors splendidly Winifred, but you likewise forget to write the story about the picture.

Hattie Lunn, Advocate, N. B.—You wrote a splendid story, Hattie, but the color work was not quite so good. You made them too thick, and not the right shade. Now try more of the contests, and let me see what you can do.

Miriam Anderson, Sussex—Why did you not color the picture more, Miriam, as that which you have done was all right. I think you are a most neat writer.

Ernestine Friars, Princess Street—Besides your welcome visit, I have your letter, and am glad you are enjoying yourself. Nora is a dear little kiddie. She will be pleased with her new little sister you tell me of.

Marjorie Whelpley, Central Green—The two stories which you wrote are splendid. I am awarding you a certificate of merit, as you just missed getting the prize.

Mayme Lutz, Sussex—Yes, I have been missing your welcome letters, but you will not keep me waiting so long next time, eh Mayme?

Arta Pearson, Cody—Yes, I am sure the watch is well worth trying for, and you have certainly done your best, but we will see what the result gives next week.

Griffith Bishop, 77 Mecklenburg St.—I am sorry that you did not manage to get quite the correct story as to the lion and the boy, as your first painting was splendidly done, being most neatly colored, and almost correct in shade.

Francis Doody, 158 Prince Wm. St.—You did a good painting, but I am sorry that you will not have your wish that of winning the prize, as you wrote no story of the picture. Watch the rules, Francis.

Clark Foster, Seal Cove—I was glad to get your letter, and give you a big welcome to the Corner, Clark. The rules to which you refer, were published two weeks ago, and will be given again shortly. In any case get the Saturday's Standard regularly.

Things for Boys to Make.

A Fireless Cooker.

Here is a fireless cooker which can be made from a candy bucket or lard can. First line the bucket (A) with a heavy wrapping paper and pack bran around this, cover the filled space with a circular piece of cardboard or heavy tin, having a round hole in center to allow lid of bucket to extend through one-half an inch.

Make a circular pillow of muslin stuffed with bran to fit in snugly over bucket lid and bran space. This is then covered with the lid accompanying the candy bucket.

The "Cooker" is now ready for use. Set your quantity of boiling food inside of the tin bucket, place lid on tightly, fit bran pillow down over it, and put on large outside lid, and your cooking begins.

Uncle Dick's Weekly Hint.

On Drawing.
I thought this week it would not be a bad plan to let you have a few hints on drawing in the contest this time, is composed of that subject.
1st—Secure a white piece of hard paper, with a dull surface, not the glossy kind.
2nd—Use a pencil with "B" or "BB" on the side, as that means it has soft lead inside. This is for lightly sketching in your work at first. DON'T use it heavily, but very lightly.
3rd—Use an eraser as little as possible, as it makes your work look dirty.
4th—Don't try and finish part of your drawing, say a man's head, completely, before you have lightly sketched in the rest of the figure.
5th—Learn to use your eyes. For instance, if you have say an ear to draw, in your picture, and you are not sure how it looks, don't draw some line in and hope it looks right, but get a mirror, and have a look to see what your own ear appears like in the same position, then you will be able to do more correct work, and at the same time become more trained, as to memory.
6th—When finishing the picture after you have made sure that your sketch is correct as to proportion, etc., use a pencil with "HB" or "H" on the side, that means "hard."
7th—A good plan to see if your work looks correct, is to look at same through a mirror, which reverses the picture and you see same from a different point of view.
These several little hints are only just stopping stones in your study of drawing, and to explain even the broad outline of drawing would take page after page. I shall however be pleased to help any of my kiddies, if they care to send me any of their drawings.
If you like these little hints, please tell me and later I shall perhaps tell you more about how to sketch properly.

The Jokes, you will notice, are all dealing with boys and girls, and all are chosen to amuse and cause merriment. If you know of any others be sure and send me them, and if suitable, I shall use them.
How do you like the Uncle Remus stories, which I am now giving in the weekly Corner? Are you enjoying them, or do you prefer the Uncle Wiggly series, and other kinds instead? Be sure and write telling me which, so that you may have whatever you like best.
With heaps of love and best wishes,
From Your Uncle Dick

Uncle Dick's Chat With the Children

My Dear Kiddies:—
When the last painting contest was announced, I had a certain amount of doubt as to whether you would be able to enter same, owing to many of you being away from home, without your colors, but the number of splendid pictures has proved that my doubts were unfounded, as during the last week you have simply besieged me with the colored pictures, and stories.

The stories as a whole were well written, and showed much knowledge as to the lion and shepherd boy, in fact, I hardly thought so many of you would have known as much about the incident. As to the writing, well, I am sorry that some of your teachers have reached me, they are simply splendid, and show that although you are on your holidays, and not having regular lessons, you have not forgotten how to write.

I have been pleased to receive so many letters this week, speaking of last week's Corner, and saying how much you liked the pictures of other members in same, as well as the funny part. This week I am letting you have still another change, and each week there will be something quite different besides, whenever possible more pictures of happy members. Will you please send me more of your pictures, and then as able I shall publish them in the Corner.

In case some of you may not have seen the Corner recently, I may remind you that there is a splendid camera to be given away in two weeks time to the boy or girl who writes me the most interesting letter, so get busy and give the mail carrier some work to do. You will notice that there has been a nice camera awarded this week to the best colored picture, and story. I shall be offering another soon so watch for it. Of course in the mean time don't forget that watches and other valuable prizes are being given away each week.

Don't you find that the days are flying by as you romp and play in the bright sunshine, and school days with lesson books and study seem to be rushing swiftly to meet you. How ever there are many more days of freedom before you yet, so make the most of your time and spend as much of it in the open air as possible.

Many have written me telling of the enjoyment they find in the daily Children's Corner, which is given each day in The Standard, and I am pleased to hear this, and will continue to make this column as interesting as possible.

Now we learn the income has overrun the previous year by $10,000. The net income is $651,300. As far as can be learned in basketball conference leads in the increase.

BAPTIST

The vacation school committee of the New York City Baptist Mission Society has kept in close touch with the Department of Health in view of the epidemic of infantile paralysis. The department has advised the society to keep the schools open, because the children are safer in the schools under supervision than in the streets and in tenements. They have advised careful inspection of children and the daily visit of a nurse or a physician in each of the schools in infected districts. The Society would appreciate having generous support for these schools, especially in view of the new requirements. Now as ever the motto must be, "Maximum service for maximum need," says Secretary Chas. H. Sears.

Rev. E. Crowell, D.D., who three years ago was editor of the Maritime Baptist, has returned to his home in Yarmouth after spending a few weeks in Ottawa. Dr. Crowell has been kept busy supplying vacant pulpits, to the profit of the churches and the upbuilding of the work. He has also twice spoken at recruiting meetings out of doors, and felt no discomfort from this unusual strain upon his voice.

A lecture on C. H. Spurgeon by the Rev. Thomas Phillips was an attractive feature on June 28 at the 247th anniversary of the Tilghouse Street Baptist Church, Hinchin. In a glowing passage Mr. Phillips described how the lad from the fen country came up to London and carried it by storm, drawing within the circle of his influence people of the highest social rank, who sat at his feet side by side with coal-heavers and servant maids, all of them spellbound by the force and freshness of the message and his burning passion for souls. The success of Spurgeon's success were comprised under the following heads: (1) He had a God worth serving. (2) A gospel worth preaching. (3) A religion worth enjoying. (4) A church worth sustaining. In referring to biographies of Spurgeon, Mr. Phillips gave preference to a little volume written by the Rev. James Douglas.

"The Child and the Church" was an address delivered at the annual meeting of the East Midland Baptist Association at Derby, June 27, 1916, by the president, Mr. Thomas Brown, of Kirby Muxton. Mr. Brown is aware of the tremendous seriousness of the situation. The chief Free Church denominations, he says, have lost in seven years 257,952 scholars, and the building material of our Free Churches is rapidly crumbling away. He suggests that a new type of pastor must be found. The present pastors have shown themselves at the front to be good men and true in every sense of the word, but as pastors at home their weak point is in connection with their work among the young. College teachers seem to think that young life in the churches is of secondary importance. We also, says Mr. Brown, need a new type of deacon, who will recognize that the whole subject of child conversion needs to be reconsidered, and that there is no danger in admitting young Christians to the full status of Church fellowship. Mr. Brown also would have one service devoted each Sunday to the children. He has nothing to say about the gathering of the children with their parents and friends to public worship.

Hearty felicitations were extended to Rev. J. H. Atkinson recently, at the Waterloo Church, Liverpool, on the occasion of his celebrating his ministerial jubilee. Mr. Atkinson worked most acceptably for twenty-six years at Richmond Church, Liverpool, and is popularly known as Liverpool's Baptist "blabop." Friends came from long distances to do him honor.

The year book of the Emmanuel Baptist Church of Brooklyn, of which Dr. A. A. Shaw is pastor, is a volume of a hundred and ten pages, and gives an account of the varied interests and activities of the church. An associate pastor has recently been called in the person of Dr. Albert C. Thomas of St. Louis, Mo. During the past year twenty-eight have been baptized and fifteen received by letter. The present membership of the church is 908. Dr. Shaw is a Maritime Province man.

A unique service marked the fifth anniversary of the League of Young Workers in connection with York Street Church, Burnley. The services were conducted by the pastor and founder of the league, Rev. J. D. Robertson. In the morning he gave an illustrated address on "To Arms!"

One of the most pleasing impressive features of an ordination service held recently in Ridgstown, Ontario, was the presentation by a six-year-old child of a beautiful Bible, which contained the inscription: "In loving memory of a dear departed one. Presented on the day of his ordination to Rev. E. C. Gosnell, by William L. Prosser, grandson of the late Rev. William Prosser, who for so many years was the greatly loved pastor of the Ridgstown Baptist Church, and whose name is held in grateful remembrance in all the churches of the Western Association."

GRAND BARRIERS RAIDERS KEEP HUNS WORRIED

Carried Out Number of Minor Operations Successfully Last Week.

DARING RAIDS ON GERMAN TRENCHES

Messages Tossed from Opposing Trenches During Lull in the Bombardments.

Canadian headquarters in the field, Aug. 4, via London—During the past week several successful minor operations were carried out by Canadian battalions. One night at eleven o'clock a listening post occupied by Privates Donovan and Ward of a Nova Scotia battalion, was approached by an enemy patrol. Two of the enemy were allowed to come within bayonet distance, when a hand-to-hand encounter took place. One of the Germans was bayoneted and captured. The other managed to break away. The prisoner died shortly after being brought into our trenches. Another night an enemy patrol of six men came within a few yards of an advance post held by Lance Corporal Thurgood and five men of the same battalion. The Germans were at once attacked with bombs and quickly forced to withdraw, carrying with them two wounded men and abandoning a quantity of grenades. Under the command of Lieut. Wise consisting of five men, made a reconnaissance of the German trenches. Lieut. Wise and one party made their way through the enemy entanglements. Several Germans were seen manning the parapet, but once clear of the wire entanglements our men threw bombs and rushed forward. At this moment they were attacked. In the meantime Lieut. Wise, followed by Sergt. Anderson and Private Johnson, entered the enemy trenches. Five dead Germans were seen. Shortly afterwards Sergt. Anderson was wounded. Lieut. Wise attempted to lift him out of the trench but was himself wounded. Private Johnson threw bombs until his supply was exhausted and then returned to our lines for reinforcements. All our wounded were brought back with the exception of the deserter, who could not be found. The deserter, who was put up a wooden cross on their parapet and it is feared they wish by this means to signify that Sergt. Anderson had been killed.

Seven bombers and ten scouts, under Lieut. Allen, scout officer, and Lieut. Clifton, bombing officers of a London battalion, left our trenches after dark for the purpose of raiding the German lines. Lieut. Allen and Privates Forester and Martin went ahead of the others and by one o'clock had cut a four-foot path through the wire entanglements. Nineteen of the party entered the German trench without meeting any of the enemy. Our men then attempted to reach the German second line but were held up by heavy wire entanglements. By this time the presence of our men had been discovered and a bombing party took place in which one of the enemy was shot and killed. Our party then retired.

Enter Trench Unseen.

One morning in co-operation with the artillery a daring and most successful daylight raid was carried out by a Toronto battalion. During the preceding week a careful reconnaissance of the ground had been made by Lieut. Hooper and Lieut. Burnham. Early before daylight enemy wire was cut through by Privates Headon and Rule. A covering party of machine gunners and snipers, under Lieut. Burnham and Sergt. Jackson, took up positions from which they could command the trench which was intended to be attacked. At nine o'clock the raiding party, consisting of Capt. Kilmer, in command; Lieut. Pepler and eighteen other ranks, left our lines and crawled to within forty yards of the enemy parapet. This distance was covered with a rush and our men were able to jump into the German trench before being discovered. Eight of the garrison were shot. Two parties of five men each under Sergt. Hoek and Corporal Brislin then bombed their way to right and left. Corporal Lynch and five other men remaining in support. Bombs were thrown into four large dugouts crowded with Germans. Our party remained in the trench about four minutes, inflicting casualties upon the enemy estimated at forty. Two hostile machine guns were put out of action, one by bombs and one by direct hit by a high explosive shell. Having given the order to retire, Captain Kilmer was himself the last to leave the German trench. In scrambling over the parapet he was badly wounded in the ankle but managed to crawl into a shell hole eight yards in front of the hostile lines. A rescue party consisting of Lieut. Burnham, Lance Corporal Wilson and Pte. Newton, was quickly organized and in spite of heavy rifle and machine gun fire, directed upon them by the enemy, succeeded in reaching Captain Kilmer and carrying him back to our lines. In this raid our only casualties were three wounded. Early one night a very large mine

THE CHIEF CHARM OF LOVELY WOMAN

Soft, Clear, Smooth Skin Comes With The Use of "FRUITA-TIVES."

NORAH WATSON, 88 Drayton Ave., Toronto, Nov. 10th, 1915.

A beautiful complexion is a handsome woman's chief glory and the envy of her less fortunate rivals. Yet a soft, clear skin—glowing with health and radiance—is only the natural result of pure blood. "I was troubled for a considerable time with a very unpleasant, disfiguring rash, which covered my face and for which I used applications and remedies without relief. After using 'Fruita-tives' for one week, the rash is completely gone. I am deeply thankful for the relief and in the future, I will not be without 'Fruita-tives.'" was exploded by the enemy north of the Ypres-Comines canal. A portion of our line affected was held by a Vancouver battalion. Within half a minute of the explosion our artillery opened a furious fire on the German lines opposite and heavy machine gun and rifle fire was also brought to bear on them.

Effective Artillery Work.

The enemy attempted to advance but could not face our fire. Parties of our men organized for counter-attacks then went forward. A crater was seized and consolidated. Very little damage was done to our trenches and our casualties were comparatively few. During the week several organized artillery shots were carried out upon selected points of the German defenses. Our bombardment was particularly successful. Messages like these were thrown into our trenches. "Are you hungry?" "We are not." "Do you want peace?" "We do not, except under German field grey." A German sap was destroyed by means of a box containing explosives which was placed under the block by a party from a Mounted Rifle battalion commanded by Lieut. Sparkes. A lively exchange of bombs took place at the same time. Our party returned safely to its trenches.

RUSSIA AND JAPAN HAVE SETTLED LONG STANDING QUESTION

Russia Sells to Tokio Government Southern Half of the Harbin-Chang Chun Railway.

London, August 4.—Reuter's Telegraph Company today states that it learns that after the conclusion of the recent Russo-Japanese convention a separate agreement was reached under which Russia sells to Japan the southern half of the Harbin-Chang Chun railway, and recognizes Japan's rights on the Sungari river between Kirin and Peking, thus settling a question pending since the signing of the Portsmouth treaty.

CANADA AND THE TOY INDUSTRY

Manufacture of Toys Should Engage More Attention in Dominion — Comparisons Between U. S. and German Products.

In a supplement to the current bulletin of the Department of Trade and Commerce, Ottawa, the following reference is made to the possibilities of toy making in Canada.

"To Canadians the fact that the manufacture of toys is rapidly becoming an important industry in the United States is interesting because the general feeling is that what can be done in the United States can be done in Canada, the labor conditions in the two countries being approximately the same while Canada probably has the advantage as regards supplies of raw materials. Mr. Paul Findlay, an American writer, who recently made a study of the toy industry in the United States, estimates that $15,000,000 worth of toys were made in the United States last year. He says: 'The by-product of the lumber camps is no longer burned in those huge incinerators formerly kept going night and day. All these short pieces, trimmings, and scraps are now being absorbed by American toy-makers. Wooden toys made by hand in Germany are copied and by slight alterations are imitated by machine-made goods, and the resulting toys are entirely acceptable.' He points out that while American hand labor is more expensive than German hand labor, the German hand cannot compete with the American machine. There is also a greater tendency in the United States toward specialization and division of labor than in Germany. A worker who is employed in making only one part of an article acquires great skill and rapidity of motion. In the same way skill is acquired in assembling the different parts together when the worker has nothing else to do."

These outings which are provided every year by the company are much enjoyed by the agents and are eagerly looked forward to.

Westfield Will Co-operate.

A largely attended meeting of the residents of Westfield and vicinity was held last night at Westfield. There were about 150 persons present and after talking the matter over it was decided to co-operate with the St. John Rotary Club and hold a big fair on Saturday, August 12. This fair will probably be conducted along the same lines as the fair today at Hampton and it is hoped will be as successful or even more so than the one conducted at Onnetite about a year ago. The residents of this vicinity are to be congratulated on the patriotic spirit shown in this giving of their time and money in an effort to swell the coffers of the Patriotic Fund.

Retail Market.

For the guidance of the lady of the house, and others interested, some prices are here given of such commodities as are usually required for ordinary consumption. In the country market yesterday roasts of beef brought from 14c to 25c per lb.; lamb, 20c to 26c; veal, 14c to 22c; pork, 20c to 26c. Chickens, it was said yesterday, would be on hand this morning at from $1.45 to $2 per pair. New potatoes are now retailing at 35c per peck; peas, 35c to 40c per peck. Cabbages bring from 6c to 10c each; sweet potatoes, 8c per pound. Cucumbers are cheap now. A limited supply of Spanish onions is on hand, the price asked being from 8c to 12c per pound.

Gundry's are showing a large range of small diamond rings at very low prices. One lot at $12.00 is a wonder. These are nice clean white diamonds of good size, set in 14 kt. gold. They are bigger and better than you will get elsewhere for $12.00.

The Proposed Grain Elevator Shown on Water Street Site

The Standard is pleased to present to the citizens of St. John a plan of the proposed elevator on the Water street site. As will be seen the elevator itself was to be built between the present lumber yard and the old Salvation Army Metropole, on what is known as the Petrie property. In order that traffic on Water street should not be interfered with the engineers provided that the return tracks for empties should run through the elevator instead of outside, which made it necessary to have all the land between the corner and the McClary warehouse. Built according to the plan herewith shown traffic on Water street would be just as free as at present.

FINE BAND OF THE "140TH" TO COME MONDAY

Musicians of Col. Beer's Crack "St. John Tigers" Coming from Valcartier for Farewell Concert.

The music loving citizens of St. John are to have one more privilege of hearing the hand of the 140th (St. John Tigers) Battalion, which will arrive in the city on the Maritime Express on Monday morning and give a concert on the King Square that evening. The 140th is regarded as the best band at Valcartier camp, having been chosen to play at all the mess dinners. When it is remembered that there was a number of bands at the camp the honor which was paid to our band can be better understood. The members of the band are practically all St. John boys, and the leader is a son of the late Prof. Williams, one of the best known bandmasters in Canada. This will in all probability be the last opportunity of hearing this splendid musical organization as it is understood that the battalion will soon be going overseas and the citizens should give the boys a rousing reception on Monday night.

The boys are making this trip and giving this concert to show their appreciation of the kindness of the people of St. John to them and to the battalion and they are to be highly commended for the spirit shown in coming so far to give an evening's pleasure to the citizens of this city. The boys deserve a warm welcome and they will no doubt receive it, as the St. John Tigers have a very warm spot in the hearts of the people of St. John. The record which they have made since going to Valcartier has increased the pride which was already felt in this unit and the reputation which the soldiers from St. John have already earned will not suffer from any action of the St. John Tigers.

ROLL OF HONOR.

W. B. McFarlane, Rockville, N. B.
9th Siege Battery.
Frank Brown, Campbellton, N. B.
Thomas Verdun, Kedgewick, N. B.
Amos Boudreau, Campbellton, N. B.
Edward Cosman, Westfield, N. B.
62nd Regiment.

This week looks like a very good one in recruiting circles. Every day brings its quota of fine specimens of Canadian manhood who are convinced that the only place for a physically fit man is at the front doing his bit for the country in which he lives. Five recruits attested their signatures to the honor roll yesterday.

"Sir Sam's Own."

Through the efforts of Lieut. Col. Guthrie and Major Deagle and Capt. Hov. G. M. Campbell, and Pipers Parquharson and Hayter, eight recruits were obtained on Thursday at St. Stephen for the 236th Battalion. The recruits will report to Fredericton, where they will be issued with their kit. Word has been received by Capt. J. D. Black, Quartermaster of the Kilties, to proceed to Aldershot, N. S., to undergo special instructions with the 85th Overseas Battalion, Nova Scotia Highlanders. It is probable that Q. M. Sergt. Gilmour, now in the city, will be included in the party. Arrangements will be made by Lieut. Col. Guthrie should Sergt. Gilmour go to Aldershot with Colonel Paine, chief ordnance officer of No. 6 Military Division.

Major J. T. McGowan.

Major J. T. McGowan, who went overseas with the First Canadian Artillery unit, has been given command of a battery of his own which has been recruited in England. Major McGowan was engaged for a time in construction work and recently has been in Woolwich undergoing special training. His many friends in St. John will learn with pleasure of Major McGowan's promotion. His work in the artillery has been most satisfactory and it is an honor to the province to have the gallant soldier win Imperial distinction.

ST. JOHN GIRL ARRESTED IN QUAKER CITY

Well Known Young Woman Behind Bars for Passing Bogus Cheques—Left Here Some Months Ago.

A well known young St. John woman, according to a Philadelphia paper, has been arrested in that place and is now behind the bars charged with passing bogus cheques upon various Atlantic City merchants, one reaching the sum of $1,000. Using a married woman's name the girl entertained extravagantly and in due time received social attention from certain people in Philadelphia. To the police she claimed she had wished to live the life of a millionaire, and with that purpose in view started in the game of bogus cheque passing, with the result that she finally landed behind the bars.

The case is now proceeding in Philadelphia, but the question of her being deported may play an important part, as she has been across the border but a few months.

It is not very many months ago that this same young woman worked the cheque game in St. John to such an extent that she got in trouble. She was wayward and was finally placed in custody. It is not very long ago that on account of illness she was sent to the United States for the purpose of entering a hospital. The news of her arrest in Philadelphia has proved a great surprise to those who know her personally, as it was expected that after she had gotten into serious difficulties here, and had faithfully promised that she would lead a better life, that she would surely reform. Apparently the "great white way" was too brilliant for her.

Men who have been rejected heretofore owing to such disabilities as heria, varicose veins and small chest measurement. The minimum height under the new order is placed at four feet ten inches, while men between the ages of 45 and 48 may be enlisted and used as military police and clerks.

Colored Battalion.

This battalion is known as the No. 2 Construction Corps and is now being recruited throughout the Maritime Provinces for overseas work. This will give the colored population of this province an opportunity of contributing to the cause of justice and freedom, which the colored people have always enjoyed under the British flag.

Overseas Units Establishment.

A new establishment of officers of a battalion has been issued which reduces the number. In future battalions proceeding overseas will not be permitted to exceed this establishment: Lieutenant colonels, 1; majors, 5; captains, 4; adjutant, 1; quartermaster, 1; paymaster (attached), 1; medical officer (attached), 1; lieutenants, 17 (includes one machine gun officer); chaplain, where specially authorized, 1. Total, thirty-two. This establishment does away with the signalling officer. Where a unit exceeds this establishment at present and has to proceed overseas, those officers in excess will be transferred to another battalion.
