ANOTHER CHILD STOLEN.

A FIVE-YEAR-OLD GIRL ABDUCTED FROM NEW BRITAIN.

She Was the Daughter of Herman Eschohl—So Far the Police Have Been Able to Find No Trace of Her—All Clues Have Been Fruitlessly Followed.

New Britain, Conn., June 5.—Another child has disappeared as mysteriously as did Baby Clara, and though the police, aided by hundreds of citizens, have searched high and low for her, no reliable trace of the missing one has been found.

Little Annie Eschohl, five years old, while with her father, Herman Eschohl and three other children at Doer's Mountain Grove resort, near here, on Sunday afternoon dropped out of sight, as though the earth had swallowed her.

Her distraught father believes that the child has been stolen, though for what purpose he is unable to guess. He was formerly a constable, and is proprietor of a bakery in Parkville, a suburb of Hartford. He is in moderate circumstances.

He announced late this afternoon the following reward: "I offer $150 reward for the return of my child, Annie Eschohl, five years old, dead or alive."

The missing girl is described as having fair curly hair and light complexion. She was dressed in a pink frock. Many clues have been run down by the police, who twice were on the point of making an arrest when they learned that they were on a false scent.

Late tonight they admit that they are completely baffled. This part of the state is crossed, and citizens have neglected their usual routine to take part in the hunt for the missing child. Searching parties have covered the ground for two or three miles in every direction from Mountain Grove. Herrick's Pond has been dragged in vain, and James McByrnes, 17 years old, who accompanied the searchers, afterward went to the pond to bathe and was drowned.

Mr. Eschohl died three months ago, leaving five children—Kate, ten years old; Otto, seven; Agnes, six; Annie, five, and a baby girl eighteen months old. Sunday was the first time the father took the children to their mother's death. Otto was left at home, but all the others went with Mr. Eschohl to Mountain Grove, which is on the edge of thick woods. In front of the hotel is a pond from which ice is gathered.

According to Mr. Eschohl, the children were playing together in the grove when it was suggested that they go to the pond to get water. On going to the stand near the hotel they ordered four glasses of soda. It was then that little Annie was missing. This was a few minutes before four o'clock in the afternoon.

There were about 150 persons in the grove at the time, and all at once engaged in the search for the child. Louis Klein, six years old, a daughter of Charles Klein, of Hartford, who was with the Eschohl children, promptly announced that she knew where Annie was.

"I saw her go away with a man on his bicycle," said Louis. On being questioned she said a man had spoken to her and said, "Come, little girl, let's take a ride!" and that he placed Annie in front of him on the bicycle.

Men at once ran along the road in the direction indicated, while others scattered through the woods back of the grove was a gypsy camp. It was promptly visited and the half dozen covered wagons were searched to see if they contained the missing child.

The gypsies were highly indignant at this proceeding, and declared that the myth that gypsies stole children had been exploded years ago. It was after dark before the search was discontinued on Sunday. Mr. Eschohl took his remaining children home, and was back at Mountain Grove again at 6 o'clock this morning.

Chief of Police Johnson, of New Britain, was notified, and word was telephoned to the police of Hartford. Twenty-five young men who were at the Mountain Grove House took part in the search. Almost within a stone's throw of the grove was a gypsy camp. It was promptly visited and the half dozen covered wagons were searched to see if they contained the missing child.

Mr. Eschohl returned to Parkville this afternoon. He was told that Frederick Barka, who has a small collection of grocery stores at No. 150 Russ street, Hartford, had been seen with a little girl in his wagon on Sunday evening. Eschohl and several friends went to Barka's place. He would have fared badly had he not been able to prove that it was another child that was in his company.

COURT NEWS.

Proceedings in the Supreme Court Yesterday—Judgments to Be Given on the Sixteenth.

FREDERICKTON, June 8.—In the supreme court yesterday the following cases were argued:

Ex parte Simeon Jones—O. J. Coster shows cause against an order nisi for a writ of habeas corpus granted by Judge MacLeod to remove an assessment made against the applicant for the year 1897. L. A. Currie supports the rule. Court considers.

Ex parte John Black—R. W. McLeishan shows cause against an order nisi for a writ of habeas corpus granted by Judge Wilson's judgment was delivered on May last setting aside an attachment order, attaching monies in the hands of Edward Moore as executor of monies belonging to Thomas E. Moore, of Massachusetts, but which monies were due to the service of the attaching order had been assigned by said Thomas E. Moore. The grounds of appeal were to the effect that such assignment was bad and therefore attaching order should be restored. F. S. John Bliss in support of order. Court considers.

He honor the chief justice intimated that judgment would be delivered on Friday next in cases before the court this term.

Whittaker vs. the North Queensland Insurance Company, J. A. Belyea and A. O. Earle, Q. C., for defendant; Dr. Pungley, Q. C., for plaintiff.

Temple vs. The Western Assurance Company, J. A. Belyea and A. O. Earle, Q. C., move pursuant to leave to enter a verdict for defendant; Dr. Pungley, Q. C., contra. Court considers.

The county court appeals were then taken up.

Jane Calder, appellant and John McShannon, respondent. Mr. Phinney supported an appeal from order of Judge Wilson refusing to grant a writ of habeas corpus. Wesley Vanwart, Q. C., contra. Court considers.

J. Raymond, appellant and John McShannon, respondent. Mr. Phinney supported an appeal from order of Judge Wilson granting a writ of habeas corpus. Wesley Vanwart, Q. C., contra. Court considers.

Howard Shaw, appellant and Herbert W. Anderson, respondent—Vanwart, Q. C., supported appeal from an order of Judge Wilson granting a writ of habeas corpus. Wesley Vanwart, Q. C., contra. Appeal allowed with costs.

He honor the chief justice intimated at the close of this case that the court would deliver judgments on Tuesday, the 16th inst.

Smugglers and Customs Officers.

ST. STEPHEN, N. B., June 8.—What may prove a fatal encounter with smugglers took place last night at Milltown. It appears that a team with two barrels of opium crossed the Union bridge and officers O'Shaughnessy and Hinchings attempted to stop the team in which were two Milltown men.

Hitchings got into the wagon, rolled out the barrels and took possession of the horse and wagon. One of the men jumped out, expecting to get away, but O'Shaughnessy retained his hold on it after a squabble with the man. The other smuggler got out of the wagon, and Hinchings started for St. Stephen, but after going a short distance fainting. The smugglers having followed again took possession of the vehicle and started for Milltown, Me., with the unconscious officer. He took him into a drug store, but not being able to revive him there hired another team and drove Hitchings home, where, after some time, a physician restored him to consciousness, but stated he had paralysis of the side, named by the excitement and over exertion. He lies in a critical condition.

Chatham Pilot Trouble Not Settled.

CHATHAM, June 7.—At a meeting of the town council held on Monday evening it was decided to appoint Mr. E. W. McCully as town marshal at a salary of $500 a year. Mr. McCully will begin duties at once. There will probably be a change in police matters in the near future. One of the policemen has resigned.

The pilot question is not yet settled. The commissioners refused to cancel the "pilot" certificates, so the investigation is still going on.

Narrowly Escaped Drowning.

ST. STEPHEN, June 7.—Capt. Ellwood, of the Maud Mallock, fell between the wharf and vessel last night and came near being drowned, as his head struck against a projecting log of the wharf. This stunned him but fortunately the water relieved the captain and he was able to climb out on the wharf to safety.

THE BIG BRUISERS.

FITZSIMMONS AND JEFFRIES ARE BOTH READY FOR BATTLE.

The Two Men Are Trained to the Minute and the Greatest Contest of the Kind Ever Seen is Expected—Both Men Confident and All Arrangements Completed.

New York, June 8.—Everything is in readiness for the big fight tomorrow night between Bob Fitzsimmons and Jim Jeffries, and with the possible exception of police interference or an unlooked for accident to either one of the principals, the bout will take place as scheduled in the arena of the Conny Island and Sporting Club.

The statements emanating from police headquarters to the effect that Chief of Police Devry intends to stop the bout in case hard blows are exchanged or a knock down occurs, while taken seriously by the large number of sporting men are not treated with any amount of apprehension by those most interested, and outsiders who have a keen knowledge of the pugilistic art. The pugilists themselves claim that they are too much engrossed in their preparations for the event to take any notice of the reports of intended interference and managers Brady and Julian seem to be confident that the contest will be permitted to take a decisive without any untoward incident so far as the legal authorities are concerned. Fitzsimmons is still a favorite in the betting, and there is plenty of Jeffries' money in sight, and while no large wagers have as yet been recorded there is no doubt that a decision will be reached in the ability of the promoters to pull off the mill successfully, the betting will assume large proportions by tomorrow.

Quite a number of visitors called on the Californian and wished him success. During the day Jeffries was the recipient of many telegrams from recipients in all parts of the United States, extending congratulations, as well as encouraging the big boiler maker to succeed in his bid for championship honors. George Siler, of Chicago, who is to referee the contest, was one of the visitors today. He accompanied the Californian to the hotel where he had the bet and the Californian and Siler were laughing and said: "A very dear friend of mine who will pay for the bout."

Mr. Siler said his visit was simply a social one, but in conversation with the Californian he said that he had agreed to a clean break. Delaney claimed that a clean break means a good deal. Fitzsimmons and Jeffries are both afraid of Jeffries' driving machinery.

Some of the experts of the Loch Arbor cottage claim that Bob will endeavor to win by a long drawn out battle.

Jeffries and his trainer, Billy Delaney, and his sparring partners, Jim Daly, Tommy Ryan, Jack Jeffries and Matt McCoy, left for Milltown, N. J., shortly after 9 o'clock tomorrow morning over the Penna. R. R., by the train which is due at Cortland street ferry at about 11 o'clock. They will be met in this city by W. A. Brady and other friends and will be taken to the hotel.

It is understood that a conference will take place between Brady, Julian, the two principals and referee Siler tomorrow afternoon, at which the rules governing the contest will be discussed. Jeffries was in the best of humor last night before retiring, and was in good spirits, showing no nervousness whatever, and conversed freely with those around him in reference to the possible outcome of the bout. All the members of the Jeffries party, including the big fellow himself, were confident of their looks for the battle to last 10 rounds.

Fitzsimmons took a short walk during the forenoon, but took no further exercise. Late in the afternoon he drove to the Conny Island club house accompanied by Yank Kenney, Jack Everhardt, Dan McLokey, Martin Julian and Kid McCoy. By the time the party reached the club house they were surrounded by a crowd of several hundred persons, none of whom was permitted to follow the champion and his companions into the big building. As soon as Fitzsimmons reached his dressing room he and Kenny stripped and donned their fighting gear. They entered the ring and sparred three fast rounds, only exchanging slight blows. The work of both men was closely watched by a number of experts, the most prominent of whom was Kid McCoy, who has posted $10,000 forfeit in the hands of George Siler to bind a match with Fitzsimmons.

The carpenters and other workmen in the building stop while the big fellows pummeled each other and when Martin Julian, who held the watch, called time at the end of the third round the champion was generously applauded. He is in perfect condition and showed a wonderful lot of speed. His footwork was remarkably clever and, on the whole, his performance clearly demonstrated that he was never in better shape for a bout in his entire ring career as he is at present. After the men had retired to their dressing room, McCoy declared that Fitzsimmons was a wonder, but the "Kid" would not say positively what his impression was as to the outcome of the mill tomorrow night. As soon as the party left the building they re-entered the wagon, with Fitzsimmons handling the ribbons. As the champion drove along Surf avenue on his way home to Bath Beach he was cheered by the hundreds of promenaders, many of whom shouted to him that he was bound to win.

Tonight in the arena of the Conny Island club at New York Bob Fitzsimmons and Jim Jeffries battled 25 rounds for what is practically the world's heavyweight championship. Interest in the big mill is at fever heat and there is much discussion as to the comparative measurements and records of the two men; they are given below:

THE SICK MAN OF EUROPE ENJOYING VERY GOOD HEALTH.

London Newspapers Talking of a War With the Transvaal—Work on the Paris Stopped by Heavy Seas—A Vote of Thanks to General Kitchener.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 8.—There is no truth in the report emanating from Vienna that the sultan is dangerously ill. His majesty is enjoying perfect health.

BERLIN, June 8.—A private telegram received here from Madrid says it is reported Germany intends to purchase the island of Fernando Po.

FALMOUTH, June 8.—A change in the wind has somewhat shifted the position of the American liner Paris. The heavy sea has stopped the work which is not likely to be resumed for a fortnight.

ROME, June 8.—It is officially announced that the pope, at a secret assembly on June 19, will create twelve Italian cardinals, including the Nuncio at Madrid, the Archbishop of Gorizia, the Archbishop of Toulouse, the Latin Patriarchs of Constantinople and Antioch, and others.

LONDON, June 8.—Both the house of lords and the house of commons today passed votes of thanks to General Lord Kitchener of Khartoum and others, officers and men engaged in the Sudan campaign. Mr. Michael Davitt, Irish Nationalist member for South Mayo, protested and challenged a division with the result that the house voted in favor of the motion and 20 against it.

Mr. A. J. Balfour, the government leader, stated that Mr. Davitt attended the house "as an avowed enemy of our country," adding that he understood a British reverse would not break his heart.

LONDON, June 9.—The morning papers are beginning to talk quite seriously of the possibility of war in the Balkans. Mr. Chamberlain, secretary of state for the colonies, in his speech in the house of commons yesterday, announced that he had been held back pending the result of the conference at Bloemfontein, would now be presented to the Transvaal.

This reply is semi-officially described as "explicit but conciliatory" but it is believed to be in the nature of a practical ultimatum. The resources of diplomacy are regarded as exhausted with the failure of the conference. Nothing is left, it is felt, but a resort to force.

LONDON, June 9.—The Cape Town correspondent of the Times says: At the close of the conference Mr. Kruger declared that he was pleased at the friendly way in which matters had been discussed, and hoped they would understand each other better in future.

LONDON, June 8.—The correspondent of the Associated Press learns upon high authority that the United States and the British government have agreed that the boundary question has been settled or compromised, but simply that a temporary boundary has been arranged, and will be preserved for two years, which interval will be available for the settlement of the main question at issue.

ACADIA COLLEGE.

A List of the Graduates and the Papers Prepared by Them—Honorary Certificates and Degrees—Honorary Degrees Granted.

WOLFVILLE, June 7.—College hall was filled to its utmost capacity this morning by a splendid audience who had gathered to witness the closing exercises of Acadia University. Rev. Dr. Trotter, the president, and the professors and senate occupied the platform. Governor McClellan and Premier Emmerson were present. The exercises embraced the reading of papers by the members of the graduating class. The list of graduates and the papers prepared by them were as follows: Architecture the Expression of National Life and Character, by Wm. P. Demarest, Halifax, N. S.; England's Colonial Policy, John Oliver Vince, East Griestead, England; The Future of China, George L. W. Babop, Greenfield, N. S.; Forces That Promote Civilization, Avarid L. Tramps Sent to Jail—Foster Recovering—Water Found by Well-borers—An Old Man Dangerously Ill.

ST. STEPHEN, June 5.—Five tramps are now enjoying the ease of jail life in the Charlotte county jail, having been sent here from St. Stephen to serve 30 days each for vagrancy. It is not at all likely their sentence will prove any punishment to such characters as they, and it is a matter of regret that instead of sending a month's board and draw after the county they could not be made to work.

The Rev. A. W. Mahon, after two months' rest, has resumed his pastoral duties and conducted the services in Greenock church yesterday, at both morning and evening worship.

The well-borers who have had their steam drill at work on Mr. W. E. Malory's premises for several days, have found a good supply of water at a depth of 140 feet.

Mr. John Tweedwell, who is now in his 92nd year and the oldest man in St. Andrews at the present time, is very ill, and his recovery is extremely doubtful.

Drowned at Newcastie.

NEWCASTLE, June 5.—A drowning accident occurred about three miles above here this morning.

Wm. Dunnett, of Whiteville, and employing on the steamer Kusler as deck hand, was thrown into the river while attempting to draw a pall of water, and drowned. At present writing the body has not been recovered.

A Great Man's Memory.

OTTAWA, June 6.—The Ottawa says tonight regarding the commemoration of the death of Sir John A. Macdonald: "Nothing locally was done by way of remembering the event. Even the usual observance on Parliament hill was undisturbed by a single blossom."

An Attorney Arrested.

New York, June 6.—Henry C. Henderson, attorney for Captain Price, who released Johnston from the Massachusetts rooms last week, was arrested today on a charge of assaulting the sergeant-at-arms of that committee. He was released on bail.

WORK OF THE STORM.

Streets of Halifax Damaged and Two Barns in Nova Scotia, Struck by Lightning, Set on Fire and Destroyed.

LUNenburg, June 6.—A barn belonging to Obadiah Fiendel at New Germany was struck by lightning this morning and set on fire. It was totally consumed together with the contents—a horse, two wagons, farming implements and a quantity of hay.

HALIFAX, N. S., June 6.—A heavy thunder and lightning storm, with a tremendous downpour of rain, raged here early this morning. The streets were badly damaged by washout.

Bridgetown, June 6.—One of the largest barns in the county, owned by Alonzo Daniels and Benjamin Starratt, who own adjoining farms a few miles to the eastward of this town, was struck by lightning this morning and completely destroyed by fire. They succeeded in getting out the cattle, with the exception of one cow owned by Starratt.

A Serious Verdict Found.

FREDERICKTON, June 6.—Affairs in connection with the body of the infant found at the Florenville wharf have assumed serious aspects. Coroner Condit held an inquest this evening, and the jury returned the following verdict: "We the jury find evidence given agreed that the infant was born alive, lived some time after birth and died from unnecessary exposure, or from violence or want of proper attention at the hands of some person or persons to be unknown."

The coroner recently ordered by the government for the engineering department at the University of New Brunswick has arrived. The government will now be able to have all cement for public works tested here instead of having to send it to McGill college, and at the same time the university students will become acquainted with the processes involved.

Militia Orders.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 2.—Regulations are promulgated today in the form of a special order for the creation of a Canadian army medical service. The department will be evolved gradually from the existing system. Medical equipment for four bearer companies will be provided during 1899, 1900 as preliminary step and the requisite personnel enrolled. The cadre of sixty-four field hospitals will also be organized.

Grand St. John Postoffice Battalion—Lieutenant J. C. Rankine resigns his commission.

Newcastle News.

NEWCASTLE, June 3.—The mills are in a bad fix for hay. Very little lumber is being rafted and brought down stream yet. The water in the streams fell away so rapidly that several drives were hung up and will be abandoned unless a heavy rain falls soon.

Considerable interest is being aroused over the question of incorporation. It looks as if it would be a sure thing after June 15th, the date of the election.

Marshall Price Dead.

SUSSEX, June 7.—Marshall Price, aged 64 years, a former resident of Havelock but who has been residing here of late with his son H. E. Price, of H. White & Co., died yesterday of cancer of the stomach. The deceased was respected by everybody and has been for many years a consistent member of the Baptist church. The remains will be interred at Havelock tomorrow.

Zola in Paris.

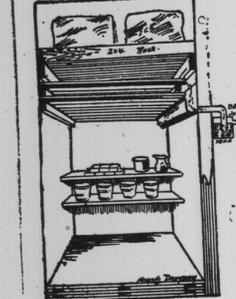

PARIS, June 4.—M. Emile Zola, who has returned to Paris, has written asking the public prosecutor to send to his residence a notification of the sentence which the Versailles court passed upon him in the libel actions growing out of the charges he brought against the officers who conducted the Esterhazy court-martial.

THE OXYS DAISY.

There are many who admire the daisy as a flower, and even the large oxys, larger and more showy than the common varieties, is not without those who think it beautiful. But it hardly needs to be added that these are mostly city people, or those who have not become acquainted with the daisy's peculiarities.

The drip boards are not fastened, but can be taken down and washed readily. The rack for ice is not fastened, but can be removed at any time. Make doors on same plan as sides and bottom. This room, built as above, will hold the same degree of temperature at all times and is very inexpensive. Outside can be finished with cornice and panel work, if one so desires; put on two or three coats of paint any way.

KEEP THE HOES SHARP.

All the hoes and other small tools used in cultivating soil, including cultivator teeth, should be sharpened at the beginning of the season, and kept sharp thereafter. In stony ground a hoe will need a little touch of the grindstone nearly every day. This may seem like needless trouble, but the time used in keeping small tools sharp is not wasted, as it enables the workman to work more effectively for a day thereafter.

not decidedly stout, can carry such a skirt to advantage, for all defects as well as all beauties are brought into prominence by its liant coloring, light and of medium depth of tone as a rule. A number of blues are seen, blue being an extremely fashionable color this season. There are several blues, French blue, pastel blue and turquoise, although the last named enjoys less favor than the stronger, franker shades. Tobacco and wallflower browns, with sueds, are well worn, while mauve, ecru, the palest possible gray and other undefined tints just off white are of extreme elegance, comprising many exquisite shades. The new materials are satin and tulle, light violet and lovely colors, especially in lawns, crepes and semi-military purposes.

Asthma Cured... After Twelve Years' Suffering—Toronto. Physicians advised leaving her home to go to Manitoba—Clarke's Kola Compound Cured.

Mrs. McTaggart, 20 Vanevalle street, Toronto, writes: "I have been troubled with asthma and bronchitis for twelve years, which gradually grew worse each year. Despite of the hundreds of dollars my husband has spent with several doctors and almost every remedy we could procure, which only afforded temporary relief for the past two years I could not lie on my left side, and during the past year I have not been able to sleep during most of that time. I had a doctor in attendance who gave me several doctors, after about two months' treatment, told me he could do nothing for me and advised me to go to Manitoba or some dry climate. We heard of Clarke's Kola Compound being a cure for asthma, and before taking this remedy made several inquiries from those who had taken it and the result so far has been that I have been cured. I have not felt the slightest symptoms of my former trouble. I have during the past six months gained nearly 20 pounds in flesh and feel perfectly healthy in every way. I can assure you that it will do all in my power to induce any sufferer from this terrible disease to try it."

WALTER ALLISON, son of Joseph Allison, of St. John, N. B., a member of the wholesale dry goods house of Manchester, Robertson & Allison, the largest establishment of its kind in the Atlantic provinces of Canada, was at the Butte for a day last week. Mr. Allison is interested in mines in Colorado and has been in Denver for some months. He also has his eye on some mining interests in Butte. Mr. Allison expects to go back to St. John next month. He will return to the west again in the fall. (Montana Hotel and Railway Guide, Butte, Montana, June 1.)

Directors Elected. The annual meeting of the Inglewood Fish and Game Corporation was held at Musquash Wednesday. The treasurer's accounts were gone over and found correct. After other routine business had been transacted the old board of directors were elected, viz: E. E. Cobb, H. E. Moore, J. N. Parker, Samuel Shaw, J. Fred Hinks, E. N. Whitcombe, L. S. Brown, Joshua Knight and F. E. Campbell. Everything was found in excellent condition and the fishing is reported very good. A Boston party of 13 persons left for their homes on Saturday, after a 10 days visit to Inglewood.

Injured in a Runaway. There was a serious accident on Waterloo street last Wednesday. A man named Stevens, who belongs to Mispec, was driving down the hill and when near White street part of the harness gave way. The wagon came against the horse, causing him to run away. The animal took to the sidewalk and dashed down the hill. The rig collided with a pole and Stevens was thrown out. He was picked up senseless and conveyed to the hospital. He was quite severely injured but spent a fairly comfortable night. The wagon was badly wrecked.

Probate Court. The will of Mr. George Pheasant was probated Wednesday, and letters testamentary granted to his father, Mr. Frederick Pheasant. The estate is valued at $5,000 personal property. Bequests are made to the Protestant Orphan Asylum, the King's Daughters and the Seaman's Mission, and the residue divided among the family of the deceased. Mr. G. E. Fairweather.

Sure Rheumatic Cure. Mr. Robt. Collett, 70 Elliott street, Toronto, writes: "I can heartily recommend Griffiths' Menthol Liniment for Rheumatism. Half a bottle has entirely removed every trace of a painful attack in my shoulder, which had troubled me for some time. I have also found it excellent for sore throat. Price, 25 cents, by all druggists."

Murderer Hanged. LANCASTER, Pa., June 7.—Ralph W. Wireback, the murderer of D. B. Landis, was hanged in the jail yard this morning in the presence of several hundred persons. Wireback walked quietly on the scaffold and died without a struggle.

Mr. Jollyboy—Where on earth have you been? Mr. J.—I cannot tell it; I have been at m' office. Mrs. J.—That's where we differ. I can tell it—when I hear one.—[Stray Stories.]

BICAMERAL SYSTEM.

PAPER READ ON THE SUBJECT AT ACADIA COLLEGE.

The Two Legislative Chambers of British Origin and the Result of Peculiar Circumstances - The Advisability of Maintaining Two Houses An Open Question Still and Likely to Remain So.

WOLFVILLE, June 7-The following address on the Bicameral system was delivered at the closing exercises of Acadia college here tonight:-

Nearly all the countries possessing representative parliamentary governments have adopted in some form or other a system of government by which their parliament are divided into two houses-an upper and a lower-or two co-equal; and so, in considering this bicameral system we are at first deterred from forming any thing but a favorable opinion from this fact of its general adoption. We need not, however, attach enough importance to this to prevent us from judging the theory impartially, for in the first place no ideal form of government has as yet been discovered and the most perfect are seriously defective. Then again the real cause of the prevalence of this system is not altogether clear. It has been adopted on its merits as logically the best form of government to be obtained. The bicameral theory in its origin and development is essentially British, and has been entirely the result of circumstances. In earlier English history, and before the establishment of representative government, as we understand it, the earls, barons and bishops formed the only governing body. Later in the 13th century came the establishment of parliament, with the addition of those elements which formed the house of commons. These as of inferior rank, naturally held aloof from the aristocracy, and so parliament divided into two groups or estates. The prevention of a third estate was due to the disinclination of the clergy to establish themselves as a separate body. The power of the lower house thus formed grew until it became co-equal with the chamber of the lords, and since the difficulties in connection with the Reform bill of 1832 its complete supremacy has been established.

The United States and the British colonies, as a matter of course, followed out the principles of their mother country in establishing their governments, and even the European countries, recognizing Great Britain as the banner country of political freedom, naturally attributed her success to her institutions and so were influenced to favor the bicameral theory.

We can then conclude that notwithstanding the general prevalence of the system, the advisability of two houses may still be an open question.

The problem does not seem to be whether or not the bicameral theory is better than a system of more than two houses. The addition of a third chamber, or more, could offer no possible advantages over the second one alone. It would simply create additional complications, add to the expense and produce lack of harmony in the mechanism of the government. The question then, is can the interests of a country be better served by means of the bicameral theory, or by a form of government giving the entire control of affairs to the one chamber?

Let us consider the possible use of a second or upper chamber.

Mr. John Stuart Mill claimed that an upper house was useful because it prevented the evil effect produced upon any holder of power by the consciousness of having only himself to consult. The Romans to have two consuls makes two chambers desirable. It introduced the spirit of consultation and took away from the lower house the feeling of absolute independence. This argument does not, however, altogether apply. The members of a popular assembly have always their constituents to consult. Then also the consciousness that there is another body, which is as spontaneously as well as they, is apt to take away some of the seriousness of their actions and cause them to act with less deliberation.

Apart from any such moral effect, an upper chamber might be used to initiate and promote legislation. All such bodies are possessed of this privilege to a greater or less degree. While it is all right to extend this prerogative to the upper house, yet its maintenance simply to perform this duty would not be warranted. The one body can have no advantage over the other in such matters, and if all the talents were combined in a single chamber as much or more could be accomplished than by each acting separately.

Considering our second house not as co-equal in legislative matters, but as a body standing aloof as it were from the active chamber to pass judgment on the acts, it might be regarded as a check to revolutionary legislation. This, however, it would not be. In times of revolution the people alone control, and for a body of legislators not in harmony with them, to attempt restraint, would but add fuel to the flame. In such times the sword alone is powerful.

It must be in matters of less moment than revolutions over which any restraining chamber can have control. In such matters there are two claims made: one based on the assumption that the people rule the lower house, maintaining that some power not directly responsible to the people is necessary to check rash impulses, which would lead to hasty or thoughtless legislation; the other that an upper house is a protection against the lower passing measures that would not be approved by the people. That the nation never attends to any minor questions in the popular assembly are subject to no effective control. That the nation never attends to any but principal matters of policy and of state, and that the lower house is thus subject to sudden actions of selfish ambition. That the executive, especially in a country where it is very powerful in the commons, may induce minor matters on the nation, which the nation does not like but does not understand enough to forbid.

It would seem as though these two claims conflicted in principle, yet there are occasions when both apply. At a time when some national crisis, such as war, strikes the whole people, and the lower house and the executive are practically imelled by the emotion of public opinion, some restraining body composed of thoughtful men, who would be in a position to compel the nation to act considerably, would be of inestimable advantage.

The other claim applies more frequently and is the more important. When measures come up that have not been properly submitted to the people, it seems requisite to the national welfare that a means be provided to cause to them, if necessary, an opportunity to express their opinion. The upper house would in such a case possess, as it were, a hypothetical veto, would be as the source of funds is today considered "a revising and suspending chamber." Its object being to insure to the people direct voice in the affairs of the state.

Granting the necessity of such a check on the popular assembly, the natural question now arises-Can a body of men be provided capable of seeing fairly and judiciously in this capacity-a body whom the nation will respect and who will be above the suspicions of class or party feeling?

On the method of selection and the character of the men selected depends the success or failure of the whole theory, and it is no small problem to provide a successful way for the establishment of such an institution.

In England the house of lords is mainly hereditary. This is the result of long established custom, and so is tolerated, yet many are agitating for a change. A hereditary assembly cannot as a whole be composed of more than ordinary ability, and it is only by constant additions that the standard of the house of lords is kept up. Then, again, an aristocracy means class distinction, prejudice against the masses, and a hereditary privilege on the part of the people.

To have the upper chamber appointed by the lower would raise the question of the source of objection to all sorts of other.

This objection would be overcome to an extent by limiting the term of office to a certain number of years, say eight or ten. A better plan is that adopted by the Americans and the French. It provides the least objectionable and insures the best results. In the United States the senators are elected for six years by the state legislatures and one-third retire every second year. Whether they should be chosen by the people at large or by a select body or number of bodies is perhaps an open question and does not materially affect the issue. The crucial point is the advantage obtained by this constant infusion of new blood, which while it does not in the least affect the permanency and stability of the body, yet brings it in constant touch with the people, quickens its pulse and prevents any too great danger of stagnation.

In this respect the American senate has been likened to a lake which, while calm, deep and undisturbed, is yet being constantly drained of its waste material, and as constantly supplied with the fresh waters of the ever flowing streams.

Let us now compare our own senate to the Dead Sea, which has no outlet, and from which the water flows out and is not replaced. It is in the same way that we might compare our own senate to the Dead Sea, which has no outlet, and from which the water flows out and is not replaced.

Let us now compare our own senate to the Dead Sea, which has no outlet, and from which the water flows out and is not replaced.

Good Common Sense

Common sense teaches that a debilitated system cannot be built up by continued purging, which reduces the strength of a body already weakened by disease. Most so-called blood builders are purgatives.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People do NOT act upon the bowels. They renew and enrich the blood and make weak, tired nerves strong. They strengthen and only strengthen from the first dose to the last.

Most people find benefit from a tonic at this season, and thousands of authenticated cases prove Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to be the best tonic medicine known. That is why these pills have a larger sale than any other medicine in the world.

HEALTH BROKEN DOWN.

Mr. John Barley, Lachute Mills, Que., says: "Up to about seven years ago I had always been a healthy man. At that time my health began to give way, and at last I was left almost a physical wreck and for the last five years have not been able to do steady work the best part of the time, and as the many medicines I tried failed to help me, I had begun to look upon my case as hopeless. Finally a friend urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and now after the use of only five boxes I am feeling well and strong. It is simply marvellous what they have done for me, and I shall always recommend them to my friends."

The same good sense that leads you to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial will prompt you to refuse any substitute an unscrupulous dealer offers. A druggist who says he has "something just as good," or "just the same except in name," is trying to mislead you for the sake of the extra profit the substitute gives him. The genuine packages bear the appearance of the engraving on the left, and may be had of all dealers or direct from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50.

A MILLIONAIRE'S WILL.

THE TESTAMENT OF ROBERT GOELET PRESENTED FOR PROBATE.

The Document Provides for the Distribution of Many Things Besides Money-A Life Opera Box, Stables, Yachts, New Brunswick Fishing Privileges and Family Bible Among the Bequests.

Newport, R. I., June 5-The will of Robert Goelet, who died on his yacht Nahma at Naples on April 27, was presented for probate here this morning by Francis E. Peckham, of counsel for the testator's estate. It is dated Nov. 8, 1889, and the witnesses are Francis E. Peckham, Clark Burdick and Charles John C. Seabury, of Newport.

Mr. Goelet left a widow, Mrs. Robert Goelet, who is a student at Harvard University, and one daughter, Miss Beatrice Goelet.

When Robert Goelet reaches the age of 25 he is to receive outright the half of the testator's personal property and the real estate of which this trust is created, subject to Mrs. Goelet's annuity.

Executors and trustees of the will are Harriette Goelet and Robert W. Goelet and George G. Dewitt, of New York. Robert Goelet cannot act until he becomes 21 years of age.

Upon his written request after attaining his majority Robert may receive $500,000 out of the share of the personal estate held in trust for him, and under the same conditions the daughters may receive a like sum.

In brief opening clauses, Mr. Goelet makes these bequests: To Robert Alexander Roberts, son of the late Robert G. Roberts, $5,000; William Berrian, $5,000; Thaddeus Firsh, Jr., $3,000; Charles N. Schenck and John Yel's, his secretary, each $1,000; Harry Randel, $500; James McFarland, $500; Thomas Calahan and John Hickey, each $300. The last four beneficiaries are faithful employees.

To Francis E. Riggs, Mr. Goelet gives one share in the Restigouche Salmon Club, and to his son he gives his other share in this club; also, all his trotting horses and the Goelet family Bible.

Kruger Will Not Compromise.

New York, June 7-An afternoon paper has the following cablegram from London regarding the Kruger-Milner conference: Lord Selbourne, under colonial secretary, announces that the Kruger-Milner conference at Bloemfontein broke down and is entirely without results. A telegram was received at 1 o'clock this afternoon from Milner stating that President Kruger obstinately refused all concessions tending toward a settlement of the Transvaal difficulties.

Upon receiving the despatch Secretary Chamberlain, Lord Selbourne and others held a consultation concerning the failure of negotiations which creates a serious situation.

June 7-The Exchange Telegraph Company today publishes an interview with the parliamentary secretary of the colonial office, the earl of Selbourne, in which he is quoted as declaring that the conference at Orange free state between President Kruger, of the Transvaal republic, and the British high commissioner and governor of Cape Colony, Sir Alfred Milner proved unsatisfactory and that there was no probability of its ressembling.

Wined Away His Wife.

A regular will was made by Sam T. Jack, who killed his wife by his brother, James C. Jack.

The last testament of the actor and theatrical manager, proprietor of several theaters, "Chooles" and other burlesques, who died April 27 last, was filed for probate today in the office of the surrogate. It contains this remarkable provision: "It is my wish, first and foremost, that my brother James and my wife Emma shall become husband and wife."

Mr. Jack, the "Emma" of the will, was Miss Emma Ward, very pretty and the favorite actress in the old Lily Clay burlesque company, which was playing at St. John's in 1892, when Sam T. Jack laid siege to her heart, won and married her.

James C. Jack, the brother who falls heir to Mrs. Jack, has been associated with Sam T. Jack in the management of his numerous theatrical enterprises. The estate is valued at $75,000, of which $20,000 is said to be in banks in New York city and Chicago.

The testator left one-third of his property to his wife Emma, one-third to his brother James, and divided the remainder between his father, William S., his mother, his sister, and a number of his nephews and nieces.

Bathurst News.

BATHURST, June 6-Mrs. Batesman, an aged resident of Bathurst, dropped dead at the door of the Catholic church Sabbath morning.

The funeral of Mr. Vall, wife of Archbishop Vall, took place on Sabbath afternoon, and was largely attended. Rev. Mr. Street officiated. Mr. Vall was a lady of many excellent qualities, and will be greatly missed by the very large circle of relatives and friends she has left behind.

Mr. Arsenius Hinton, of this town, is seriously ill. The prospect of his recovery is said to be very poor. The second son of Mrs. Willis of Salmon Beach was kicked on the side of the head the other day by a horse, which he was working in the field. Dr. McNeil was soon in attendance, and thought the little fellow is badly injured, it is said that he is likely to recover.

Cattle Breeders' Meeting.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 7-The fourteenth annual meeting of the Holsater-Friesian Association, an organization having for one of its purposes improvement in the breeding of Holsater-Friesian cattle, began this morning and will continue several days. Nearly every state in the union is represented, and the membership includes breeders in Canada as far east as Nova Scotia. Among the important business of the meeting will be proposed amendments of the laws, including a reduction in the fees for registering imported cattle and the appointment of an inspector to examine herds for the purpose of verifying records.

Clifton Notes.

CLIFTON, June 7-The Moss Glen factory is running at its full capacity, employing about 100 hands.

Messrs. W. and J. Hornbrook have gone to Uncle Sam's domain. Mr. F. Fitzpatrick, the local horseman, passed through Bathurst on Saturday with Dandy H., driven by himself, and Easy Bill, driven by A. Floyd, the well-known trainer. Both showed very good speed.

With Years WISDOM.

The answer to that old query, "What's in a name?" was not hard to define in the case of one justly celebrated family remedy that had its origin away down in Maine, which proves that with age comes wisdom about

JOHNSON'S ANODYNE LINIMENT. An old lady called at a store and asked for a bottle of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment; the clerk said "they were out, but could supply her with another 'just as good.'" The engaging smile that accompanied this ingenuously frozen stiff when she replied: "Young Man, there is only one Liniment, and that is Johnson's."

Originated in 1840 by an old Family Physician, there is not a remedy in use which has the confidence of the public so generally. Good a remedy has existed for nearly a century, except that it possesses extraordinary merit.

Estimates Asked For on Bridges Never Thought Of—The Conservative Members Wound Up—Their Activity in Oratory Equals Their Inactivity of Performance.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 6—Before orders of the day were called in the house today, Mr. McInnes asked if it was true that the government had vetoed British Columbia's Japanese execution act.

Mr. Ingram in the house today introduced a bill to amend the election act. His purpose he said was to make provision for dealing with the advanced and not too creditable methods of conducting elections now in vogue.

Mr. McInnes, of Ontario, attacked the scheme on which the minister of railways based a claim that a new and independent route to Montreal would cost the government more than the proposed arrangement with the Drummond county railway.

hour he was succeeded by Dr. Montague. At ten o'clock Sir Wilfrid Laurier relieved Mr. Blair. Along with the premier came Mr. Bifton. A little later Mr. Paterson arrived. Mr. Blair was only away for an hour or so, when he returned, between 11 and 12 o'clock.

Mr. Davin sat down at 12.15 and Mr. Mills, of Annapolis, followed. He asked the opposition to stand by their guns. The burden of all the speakers was "more information." Mr. M's could not vote intelligently, he said, without more information.

Mr. Blair then said he had obtained from the Grand Trunk authorities some of the information which was not in the possession of the Intercolonial at Montreal. The statement showed the Intercolonial's wheelage percentage on the G. T. R. was 27.7 per cent.; that the percentage of maintenance and repairs was 22.1 per cent. and the percentage of operating stations, salaries, etc., was $31.91.

though in some cases the boats would call at Halifax. Mr. Fittling said that his honorable friend Mr. Powell seemed to think Mr. Blair was doing St. John a great injustice in favor of Halifax. That would serve to reply to statements made by others of a very different character.

Mr. Powell said he would prefer leaving this to be done by the Canadian Pacific. Hon. Mr. Blair was going to give the Intercolonial the benefit of the doubt in this matter. He thought it ought to carry freight now at that price if it could have been done twenty years ago.

FOR BELLEISLE.

Having been rebuilt under the supervision of the most practical and experienced engineer, will leave North End, Indian Point, every 15 minutes on the Belleisle route, 10 o'clock, local time, until further notice for the summer season. Mr. Ferley was an intimate friend of Sir John Macdonald and one of Sir Leonard Tilley's devoted followers. Mr. Ferley was a member of the executive committee of the Executive Council in 1874, 1875 and 1880. He was an unsuccessful candidate for the house of commons in 1867 and 1874. From 1868 to 1869 he was a member of the executive council without office. He enjoyed the respect and esteem of all who knew him, and his death will be mourned by many friends all over the province.

The death occurred Wednesday morning, after a lengthy illness, of Mr. James Donoghue, one of our oldest and most prominent residents. In his early days Mr. Donoghue made considerable money in the California gold fields. Later he conducted a grocery business on Rodney street, Charlottetown. His second wife, three sons and two daughters survive.

Another death in the Lowery family at South Bay occurred Monday, when Miss Lettie Lowery passed away after several months' illness, her death marking the fifth in the family in six months. General sympathy is felt for the surviving members. Miss Lowery's funeral will be held this afternoon from Fairville Methodist church.

The remains of the late Miss Margaret Parland were interred in the Catholic cemetery Tuesday afternoon. A funeral proceeding from the hospital to the cathedral, where Rev. A. W. Meahan read the services, and thence to the cemetery.

The funeral of Mr. Henry Thomas was held at St. John's cathedral on Monday. A large number of friends were present. Impressive services were conducted at the house and grave by Rev. G. S. Poirer.

Going Abroad for Preachers. (Stratford Beacon.) The fact that St. Andrew's church, Toronto, has again called a minister from over the seas to fill the pulpit of the late Rev. D. J. Macdonald indirectly implies that no Canadian in strong enough to fill the place. A striking contrast to this is the action of the people from the States in seeking Canadians for their pulpits. At least three of the leading congregations there have sought to get Dr. Johnson of London to be their pastor, while the Rev. W. J. Clarke, also of London, has also had tempting offers. These are only two of the many. We believe that there are ministers in the active work in Canada and at the same time capable of filling any Canadian pulpit; and they are by bulk and training better fitted to grapple with the needs of the Canadian people. The matter is to be brought to the notice of the General Assembly by Siratford Presbytery.

Yukon Transportation. (Stratford Beacon.) By an arrangement just concluded the customary complications hitherto attendant on the shipment of merchandise from here to Dawson will be avoided in future. The White Pass & Yukon Railway Company and the Canadian Development Company have, in conjunction, put up the necessary security with Collector Milne and have become bonded carriers authorized to take details goods through to Dawson without any customs detention. Suing the C. P. E. MONTREAL, June 8—The first action against the Canadian Pacific in connection with the alleged ill treatment of men in the construction of the Crow's Nest Pass railway was taken today. It is for $1,000, and Pierre Denis, who has been suing the company for some time and was successful in bringing about government investigation, is the plaintiff. Two new churches had been built and a third is now under way. The financial report was shown to have doubled during the year. Last Thursday at 7.45 Elder H. C. Barney, of Maine, spoke from Rev. 19-13, his theme being The Word of God. This word, he said, was shown to be Christ. The reason for calling Jesus Christ the Word was because words convey thoughts. Likewise the Word was made flesh and dwelt amongst us, so that God
