RUSSIANS EXPECT TO WIN BUKOWINA

Austrian Positions Likely To Become Untenable Under Russian Advance.

RIGHT FLANK IN DANGER

Teutons Likely To Have the Tables Turned On Them in Galicia.

[Canadian Press.] Petrograd, March 6, via London, 2:32 p.m.—Reconnoitring by the Russians in Stanislaw is regarded here as justifying their claim that the rapid advance of the Austro-German right flank in east Galicia was hazardous so long as their left flank in Galicia was successfully held back by the Russian forces. The right Austro-German flank advanced impetuously, apparently, without regard to the inability of the left wing to co-operate in the contemplated encircling movement. The right flank in consequence is now in danger of having the tables turned and being surrounded by Russian forces.

Expect Evacuation. The Russians now look for the reversion of the Austrians from Czernowitz and all of Bukovina, where the Austrian positions will become untenable if the Russians are able to continue the successful movement initiated at Stanislaw.

Russian staff officers say since the failure of the Austro-Germans in the Stanislaw region, their attacks have weakened, not only in that vicinity, but in west Galicia, between the Rivers Odrava and San. The attacks here, in the opinion of the Russian staff, are a device to draw the Russian troops westward from Halicz and the River Dniester.

Destroyed Much Alive. Having abandoned the offensive along the northern front, the Germans now are seeking merely to fortify the Russian territory taken in the advance from East Prussia and establish a defensive line. This line roughly parallels the border, extending from Simona to Sere, Augustow, along the Bohu River and on to Mlava.

The Russians apparently have been able, however, to interfere seriously with this plan by the advance of the tenth army, which the Germans asserted was virtually destroyed as a result of the German victory in East Prussia. The successes of the tenth army in the Lomza district threaten to compel the withdrawal of the Germans from Grodno or imperil maintenance of their communications between these two portions of the German forces in the north.

Italy Will Never Have Finer Chance

Russian Ambassador, Resigning, Urges Her Participation in War.

[Canadian Press.] Rome, via Paris, March 6.—The resignation of M. Krupenski, Russian ambassador to Italy, is announced in an interview with the diplomat, printed by the Giornale d'Italia. His retirement will not come until April, however, and he said it was due entirely to family affairs, and had no political significance. M. Krupenski declared his relations were cordial, both with the Russian Government and the Italian cabinet. In closing the interview, the Russian ambassador said: "I will not attempt to give advice to the Italian rulers, but I think a moment like this for the realization of national aspirations never will occur again. Those who think Italy can obtain what she desires by remaining at the window are much mistaken."

Mourns For Hero-Husband While Public Applauds Her Songs

Admirer Illustrations. Mme. Walska, the Russian-Polish singer, didn't make her long-heralded debut in New York as she expected to do the other day. The gay little skit she brought from Petrograd introduced another singer, and while the public was applauding her play, Mme. Walska was grieving over the death of her husband, Capt. Walska, of the Russian army, who had been killed in East Prussia.

The cable announcing his death on the battlefield came just a few hours before his wife was to have made her American stage debut.

THREE INCHES OF SNOW FELL DURING STORM

During the blizzard which visited London last night and today, three inches of snow fell. This was unusually heavy for the season, and especially coming as it did after a period of fine weather. However, up to the present snow has been considerably less frequent during the present month than during the same period of March, 1914. Last year falls occurred on March 1, 2, 3 and 5, the total fall for the entire month being 13.5 inches. Whether the present month will exceed that record remains to be seen.

Although the official measurement of last night's and this morning's fall of snow gave three inches, the snow was of the light, flaky variety, and packed as it fell, making the depth as it lay on the ground considerably less than recorded.

Neither the steam railways, the traction or street car services suffered to any appreciable extent as a result of the storm. No delays have been reported, and although the plows were out on the city streets, Manager C. B. King, of the street railway company, declared today that they could have been dispensed with quite easily.

EMBRO

EMBRO, March 4.—G. Mitchell, of Lakeside, visited at the home of Mrs. John Campbell on Tuesday. Miss Kent and Miss Wilson, of Ottaville, visited Miss Lenor Kent recently. The annual meeting of the Congregational Church will be held on March 10. Miss Kate Anderson, of Hickson, is visiting her aunt, Miss N. Anderson. Dr. E. P. Atkinson is on a visit to his old home near Woodbridge.

FEARS WELL-GROUNDED.

[Canadian Press.] London, March 6.—The Daily Telegraph says in a message from Copenhagen: "According to telegrams from Berlin, there is great excitement there respecting Greece's attitude. It is generally feared Greece soon will side with the Allies against Turkey, thus fulfilling her historical duty to take part in the capture of Constantinople."

PROMINENT SPEAKERS AT AYR CONFERENCE

Canada Approaching Her Best Agricultural Period. AYR, March 5.—An agricultural conference with speakers of note, was held here today, and the call of the empire to Canadian farmers was discussed in the library hall. Speeches on the duty and opportunity of Canadian farmers in relation to farm crops, were given by Professor Zavitz, of O.A.C. Professor Day spoke on live stock. In the evening, Professor Zavitz again addressed the district farmers, and advised them to make provision for the next and following years, as well as for the present one. He declared that Canada was now arriving at her best agricultural period. C. James, L.L.D., gave a short address on farm management in regard to rural settlement, stating that the rural districts had done justice to themselves. Vocal solos by Miss M. Bell filled the intermissions to good advantage.

ST. MARY'S DIVISION COURT.

ST. MARY'S, March 4.—Division court was held here today before His Honor Judge Barron, Stratford. The docket was not a heavy one. There was only one jury case, Maxwell, Limited vs. Martin. The jury awarded the case to plaintiffs, $100 and costs.

WIFE OF NEPHEW OF COUNT ZEPPELIN

Daughter of Late Mr. MacGarvey Married Into Famous Family.

BORN AT PETROLEA, ONT.

Career Has Been Notable One Since Father Went To Austria.

A Canadian-born lady is Countess Zeppelin, a member of that aristocratic German family, which gave to the Kaiser his much-vaunted aircraft. An oil man's daughter, who first saw the light of day in Petrolea, Ont., forty years ago, is Countess Zeppelin in the huge Schloss Grasevitz bei Murtzthal, the wife of a nephew of the famous inventor of the airship upon which the German Emperor relied so much for the overthrow of the British Empire. It is her uncle by marriage who gave to the world this "terror" that "flew by night." It is the irony of Fate, too, that a Canadian-born woman should be countess in a family whose aim is the destruction of all that is British, and the creation of a Greater Britain of her command of the seas of the world.

Petrolea to Marble Palace. From the oil man's home in Petrolea to the marble palace of the Zeppelins over the sea, is a long way both in miles and in experience. Yet it is what Fortune—and the years—have brought to Mary Helena MacGarvey, daughter of the late William H. MacGarvey, who died in Europe last November. On the 1st of July, 1875, the babe came to the doctor's home; on the 12th of November, 1894, when she was 19 years of age, she was married to Count Zeppelin, a dazzling lieutenant in a cavalry regiment that owed allegiance to the Emperor William.

Father Born in United States. William H. MacGarvey, father of the future countess, was born in the United States, in Pennsylvania to be more exact. But when oil was struck in the Petrolea district half a century ago, he came to Canada to seek his fortune under the British flag. It was in the days when men became millionaires overnight and when some of the big oil fortunes were in the making. Oil ran in streams down the sides of the road; every hole that was drilled 500 feet deep in the vicinity of Petrolea poured forth a torrent of petroleum, such a flood that frequently it could not be controlled or the fluid saved from loss. It was to days like this that Mr. MacGarvey came to Canada.

Struck It Rich. He struck it rich and the home that he had established in the "East End"—across the flats of the Big Bear Creek—soon showed his prosperity. It was in that home, too, that his older daughter was born in July, 1875; later there came a sister who was named Kate, and a brother, to whom was given the name Frederick James. The first child, however, was a girl, Helena, in the Methodist Church—a little frame structure that stood on the flats. Years afterwards she was confirmed in an Anglican Church in this city of Brussels.

William H. MacGarvey, although busy with his oil industry, was elected mayor of the town, a position which he held for several years. His municipal career was completed when he was elected warden of the county of Lambton. For some time he and his family resided in London.

Petrolea's Fame Spread. Petrolea's fame as an oil centre resounded in its drillers and operators being in the public eye, and by that part of the world. Some went to Persia; others were lured to Russia, to South Africa, or to the East Indies. With scores of the attractions of the far fields and, so in 1881, when Mary Helena was six years of age, he wandered from Petrolea, and his family to seek to "increase his fortune from the spoils of the Austrian petroleum fields. Not far from Vienna his new lot was cast; at a rapid rate and became a millionaire oil operator.

Kept Open House. The American-Canadian oil operator, however, was a clever conversationalist, keen in business matters, a man who made many friends and kept them always. He entertained lavishly, and his home became a social centre, and his district. When his daughter Mary Helena and her younger sister Katie grew to participate in the excitement, the pleasure of the home was increased, for they were bright, unusually attractive girls.

Lovers came, of course. Among them was a dashing Ulster officer in the Uhlanen Regiment, Konig Wilhelm I.; his full name was Count Eberhard von Zeppelin. He was an ardent lover, it was not long, therefore, before he was urging the Petrolea girl to "name the day." She consented, and November 12, 1894, was chosen for their marriage. Mary Helena MacGarvey, the daughter of the oil man, became the Countess Zeppelin.

Brilliant Wedding.

It was a brilliant wedding celebrated in the German Protestant Church in Vienna. The dazzling reception of the previous evening in the Grand Hotel was unsurpassed in the array of military officers, barons, counts, and titled ladies, who graced the occasion.

The bride was assisted by Miss Maggie Lake, daughter of Colonel Lake, of the Incorporated Law Society of London, England, and Miss Katie MacGarvey, while the groom was supported by Count Widenheim, in Garde Kuirassiers uniform; Baron Wachter, of the Dragons; Lieutenant Weide, of the Uhlanen 26-Konig Wilhelm I. After the wedding reception held a bride visit to Buda Pesth, and then the count and countess established their new home in the Zeppelin palace.

Canadians Sent Gifts.

A guest at the marriage was Mrs. J. Hughes, now a resident of Petrolea. Many gifts, however, were received from Canadian friends. Countess Zeppelin has never visited the scene of her birth since her marriage, but she has not forgotten her early days in Petrolea, and frequent letters and cards have come over the sea from her for her friends in the oil town. Many Petrolea residents who have been on the continent have been entertained at the Zeppelin home, too. And it was a magnificent one, with two great granite lions standing on either side of the gateway.

Has War Shattered Happiness?

But war must have shattered her days of happiness. To her the call to arms would bring a double sorrow. Her soldier husband would be summoned to the battle, and the countess would be with the nation under whose flag she was born, where her childhood friends still lived, and in whose churches she had been baptized and confirmed. It was her family, too, upon which the German Kaiser relied greatly for the destruction of the British Empire, for it had given to him his aerial dreadnoughts.

The late Mr. MacGarvey's sister is Mrs. Ellen Westland, and Dr. Westland, her son, visited with the Countess Zeppelin in Austria some years ago. The father of the MacGarvey boys built the MacGarvey Terrace on York street, and was well known here.

30 MINERS ALIVE AFTER FOUR DAYS

Unexpected Rescue by Search Party in West Virginia Mine.

[Canadian Press.] Hinton, W. Va., March 6.—Thirty miners were found alive today in the Layland mine of the New River and Pocahontas Coal Company, where they had been entombed since last Tuesday, when a gas explosion wrecked one mine and seriously damaged two others. About 170 men, as far as could be checked up, were thought to have lost their lives, and thus far 78 dead bodies have been taken out. Hope for any of the remaining miners was abandoned. This morning rescuers in oxygen helmets came upon an entry of No. 3 mine which had been bratticed off. Close to the brattices four men were encountered alive, but in a weakened condition. These were able to walk from the mine, and they reported that nine others were alive not far from where they were found.

SEVENTY-EIGHT BODIES FOUND.

HINTON, W. Va., March 5.—Seventy-eight bodies had been recovered late tonight from the workings of the Layland mine, where an explosion, Tuesday, entombed more than 170, of whom only ten escaped alive. Various estimates of the number of victims agreed that the total will reach 150.

FOURTH BELGIAN RELIEF CAR GOES

Leaves C. P. R. Freight Sheds
This Evening For Halifax.

WOMEN WORK HARD
Although Air Chilly and Snow
Laden, Hearts Glowed
With Goodwill.

Chilly and snowy it was this morning out in the March weather, but down at the C.P.R. freight sheds where members of the Women's Canadian Relief Corps were gathered packing boxes and bales of clothing and groceries for needy Belgians, there was certainly no dearth of warm hearts. In fact there was such a warm and good-will in the hearts of the workers, that their hands flew busily, to suggest a July day.

The shipload of goods, consisting of clothing and groceries for needy Belgians, was certainly no dearth of warm hearts. In fact there was such a warm and good-will in the hearts of the workers, that their hands flew busily, to suggest a July day.

The shipload of goods, consisting of clothing and groceries for needy Belgians, was certainly no dearth of warm hearts. In fact there was such a warm and good-will in the hearts of the workers, that their hands flew busily, to suggest a July day.

From many a farm home, too, as well as from women in this city, warm, comfy quilts have been received. In one case packed this morning at the freight sheds, were twenty-one splendid quilts, and pillows, gifts from various sources, and all of excellent weight and softness. One which excited much comment among the group was from Byron, and bore in the centre, worked in yellow on a green ground, a picture of a woman in a blue dress, with a white apron, and a white headscarf.

Much Pork and Beans.
Among the foodstuffs purchased for the relief committee were, of course, canned goods, and which were to be seen this morning piled many feet high in a compartment of the freight shed, are hundreds of cases of pork and beans. From various sources comes the report that the Belgians are extremely fond of this New England dish, one American army captain who was helping in the distribution of relief supplies in Belgium writing: "We have educated the Belgians to know pork and beans. They are simply crazy in Belgium for pork and beans."

As they worked this morning, these Canadian club women were already planning ways and means of sending a fifth carload next month. Their hearts are surely in this work for the destitute people of little Belgium, and they are receiving a splendid backing in their enterprise from the many friends who do not hesitate to contribute time, money or work.

"It Is No Joke," Declares Hanna

Advertiser's Story About Warning Sent
Out by Dr. Bruce-Smith Creates Sensation.

"It is no joke; it is real," said Hon. W. J. Hanna, Minister of Justice, when questioned by Toronto reporters as to the truth of a story that appeared in The Advertiser concerning the warning sent by Dr. Bruce-Smith, Inspector of Prisons and Charities, to all the institutions under his control, as to a plot for the destruction of the public buildings of Ontario.

The Advertiser secured the letter sent by Dr. Smith to the Convalescent Home in this city. He stated that agents were likely to go through the country offering for sale a lubricant. The lubricant when delivered would be opened, and when opened would explode. The agents in which it was contained held a high explosive. Dr. Bruce-Smith ordered all institutions to beware of the agents and to report any attempts to make sales to the authorities at once.

Warning Sent to Province.

The warning was sent to the province by Ottawa, where the secret service had secured information of the plot. There was a disposition on the part of some papers to make light of the story which appeared in The Advertiser, which gave the first news of the matter to the country.

The Globe of today says:
There was some hope on the part of the provincial officials that any persons who tried to perpetrate such an outrage would be caught, as instructions were to detain any stranger offering such samples, and set in touch with the local police at once.

Mr. Hanna was not able to say who, if any, person or persons were under suspicion, but it is believed that if any attempt had been made the persons would have fallen into a well-laid trap, and retribution would have been swift and sure.

[Canadian Press.]

SOME DOUBT EXPRESSED.
Toronto, March 6.—Officials at the Parliament Buildings are inclined to ridicule the report that some of Britain's enemies are attempting to wreck institutions by the use of an oil lubricant containing explosives.

The report that certain men were distributing cans of lubricant, oil which really contained high explosives, reached the Dominion secret service from the English police. Superintendent Rogers, of Ontario Provincial Police, was notified and he informed the Provincial Secretary's department, Dr. Bruce-Smith, Inspector of Prisons and Asylums, that he was taking precautions, although the story that the men were on their way to Canada was hardly credible.

MR. RECHNITZER SINKING. — It was reported at Victoria Hospital last night that Elmer Rechnitzer, manager of the Dominion Abattoir, Limited, is rapidly sinking.

LEARNS OF ECONOMY OF ONE-STORIED SCHOOLS

London Board of Education Deputation Informed They Are Less Costly Than Old Type of Educational Buildings.

London's school trustees, who formed the deputation that went to Rochester, N. Y., this week to study the one-story schools of that city with a view of adopting a similar principle of school construction in London, are convinced from what they saw and learned that the idea is not only a radical change for the better in educational plants, providing safety, ventilation, light and air possible in no other style of building, but that the cost is less than the old style type.

Inspector of Schools C. E. Edwards, who accompanied Trustees E. R. Dennis, A. E. Silverwood and Harry Hayman to Rochester, secured some exceptionally valuable data of school work on the one-story building, but that the cost is less than the old style type.

Has Three of Them.
"Rochester has three one-story schools," explained Mr. Edwards today. "One of them was erected in 1911-12, and the other two last year. All are in operation now."

"Absolute safety is one of the features of these schools," he said. "There is an outside room, and everyone has a door leading to the playgrounds. These doors are used in any emergency, and it is possible to empty the school in less than two minutes."

Eighteen Class Rooms.
"With everything on one floor there is practically no chance for fire. The boiler rooms are in the middle of the building, and on the same floor as the class rooms. At one end of this middle section is a big assembly room, and at the other a playground."

"In one of the schools we visited there were eighteen class rooms with a big double class room for manual training, and extra large domestic science and kindergarten rooms. The cost of this building was only $95,000, or less than $5,000 per room, which is remarkably cheap construction."

Another of the one-story schools has fifteen class rooms, plus assembly rooms, library and teachers' rooms, offices, etc., yet its cost was only $41,244. There was no plunger in this school.

"These schools are larger than we would need here, but the cost would work out considerably lower for us, and not largely for lack of company or attention. A notice in the press regarding the activities of the bureau established by Lady Drummond brought, within twelve hours, offers from 157 ladies to visit the wounded or write letters to such as were lonely."

Those responsible for supervising these kind of offerings, however, are resolved to accept offers of help with discretion, there being almost as much art and skill in visiting the sick and wounded as in actually nursing them.

Victims Wanted.
Rather a singular incident apropos of offers to help the Canadian bureau is that of a woman who was submitted to a newspaper here, which runs a similar enterprise for British troops as a whole. The reply returned was that these offers were submitted was, could the Canadian bureau provide some lonely soldiers to be visited or written to, as the big British bureau was short of victims rather than of helpers to look after them.

Miss MacMahon has left Shorncliffe Canadian Hospital for another hospital at the front. She always intended doing service in France, but will be greatly missed at Shorncliffe.

Several soldiers who were here to be sent to the front, but who were unable to go, were called for as volunteers, had an interesting conversation with Justice Darling at the Old Bailey yesterday.

The soldier was recalled by the judge at the close of a case in which he had given evidence. Justice Darling elicited he was in the 13th Battalion Canadian Trenchers, and was promoted sergeant after he arrived in England. The soldier having explained there was a call for seventeen privates to go to the front, and in consequence he gave up stripes that he might go, was asked by the judge: "Do you think you will get out now?"

Witness, "Yes."
Justice Darling, "I thought there was some difficulty about your being able to get out there through your being detained in connection with this case and that you would remain in this country as a private."

Witness, "No, I don't think that will happen."
The judge, "Well if there is any question of that let me know. Just write me, and I will see proper people about it."

FRENCH AVIATOR
DROPS 4 BOMBS
ON POWDER PLANT

Important German Plant Is Set on Fire.

SEES FLAMES SPREAD
Smoke Ascends to Height of Fifteen Hundred Yards.

PARIS, March 5.—Further details of the bombing from an aeroplane of a German powder works at Rottweil, on the Neckar River, the over side of the Black Forest, are given in an official note issued in Paris today. This factory is one of the most important powder producing points in Germany. Here is the latest account of the exploit:

"One of our aviators, Captain Happe, came down to a height of only 1,500 yards above this powder factory in order to throw his projectiles with the greatest degree of precision. He dropped four bombs, each weighing 500 kilograms. The first landed on an acid reservoir, and the other three on the factory itself. The projectile which fell on the acid reservoir caused blue smoke to arise which the aviator at first thought came from the factory itself. He then, after an immense flame shot up from this same point, along with clouds of thick smoke. The smoke reached the height of the aeroplane, that is to say, 1,500 yards."

Capt. Happe remained for ten minutes over the powder works to observe the effects of his efforts. This way he was able to see that beyond the fire in the factory itself, where three bombs had been thrown, the flames spread to different parts of the building as a result of the explosion of the bomb in the reservoir.

Judge, Who Offers To Help Him.

WOUNDED NOT LONELY
Hundreds Offer To Visit or Write Those in Shorncliffe Hospital.

LONDON, March 6.—Canadian soldiers wounded in hospital here, who not long since were the object of company or attention. A notice in the press regarding the activities of the bureau established by Lady Drummond brought, within twelve hours, offers from 157 ladies to visit the wounded or write letters to such as were lonely.

Those responsible for supervising these kind of offerings, however, are resolved to accept offers of help with discretion, there being almost as much art and skill in visiting the sick and wounded as in actually nursing them.

Victims Wanted.
Rather a singular incident apropos of offers to help the Canadian bureau is that of a woman who was submitted to a newspaper here, which runs a similar enterprise for British troops as a whole. The reply returned was that these offers were submitted was, could the Canadian bureau provide some lonely soldiers to be visited or written to, as the big British bureau was short of victims rather than of helpers to look after them.

Miss MacMahon has left Shorncliffe Canadian Hospital for another hospital at the front. She always intended doing service in France, but will be greatly missed at Shorncliffe.

Several soldiers who were here to be sent to the front, but who were unable to go, were called for as volunteers, had an interesting conversation with Justice Darling at the Old Bailey yesterday.

The soldier was recalled by the judge at the close of a case in which he had given evidence. Justice Darling elicited he was in the 13th Battalion Canadian Trenchers, and was promoted sergeant after he arrived in England. The soldier having explained there was a call for seventeen privates to go to the front, and in consequence he gave up stripes that he might go, was asked by the judge: "Do you think you will get out now?"

Witness, "Yes."
Justice Darling, "I thought there was some difficulty about your being able to get out there through your being detained in connection with this case and that you would remain in this country as a private."

Witness, "No, I don't think that will happen."
The judge, "Well if there is any question of that let me know. Just write me, and I will see proper people about it."

William Langley Severely Dealt With in Police Court.

William Langley, of Chelsea Green, arrested by the police last night, was placed on the prohibitory list and bound over to the police for a period of 100 days. He was charged with being drunk and disorderly, and with being a nuisance to the public.

Langley, a robust man, weighing about 150 pounds, was accused by his wife, a frail woman, of striking her with a chair, putting her out of the house for hours at a time on cold nights, and with locking the doors of the house.

What do you do? asked his wife of Langley.

"I'm a picture frame," stated Langley.

"Why don't you get a man's work?" queried his honor.

"It's hard to get work these days," said the prisoner.

"Yes, it is hard indeed for any man to get work who spends all his time drinking whiskey," concluded his wife.

DOUBLE MANHOLES FOR WIRE DUCTS

Private Companies Will Insist On Separate System For Their Wires.

COST IS TO BE $28,000

Failure To Place Conduits Beneath Sidewalks in First Place Adds to Expense.

Double manholes will have to be provided by the city for its rather extensive and very expensive underground conduit system before the private power, light and telegraph companies will consent to place their wires underground. These double manholes will cost a big hole in the $28,000 appropriation that has been voted by the public utilities commission to undertake the work this year.

Following the example of Hamilton the local telegraph and power companies will refuse to use the same conduit system as the hydro department, unless extra manholes are provided.

Must Cut Pavements.
This refusal, according to Engineer E. V. Buchanan, of the utilities commission, means that the present manholes will have to be broken up, the road surface, bigger space provided and a partition built so as to separate the hydro manholes from that used by the other companies. This also means that the pavements on the downtown streets will have to be cut at every present manhole in order that the second "cover" and roof can be installed. Just what the cost will be the engineer is not prepared to say.

Before and since the conduits were installed, when the new pavements were laid on Dundas and Richmond streets several years ago, it has been claimed many times that the ducts should have been built beneath the sidewalks instead of the road. Engineer Buchanan agrees with this.

"The wires should have been under the sidewalks," he said today. "If they were they would be more accessible in winter. The sidewalks are swept clean of snow and the roads have several feet of ice and snow packed on them. This means that any time we want to open a manhole we will have to cut through this frozen substance and will have a hole that will be dangerous to traffic."

"Then again if the sidewalks had been utilized for the ducts, the cost of breaking a manhole would have been considerably less and the amount of copper cable required to run into the buildings would also have been considerably less. We would have only a few feet at the most, to run instead of the 12 or 15 feet we have under present conditions."

Conference Soon.
Just when the wire of the downtown streets will go underground is a question that has so far been unanswered. It is expected that a conference will be held shortly to decide on the date and plans.

GERMANS CHECKED IN THEIR ATTACKS

Efforts At Rheims Continuous Since September—End Comes With Charge.

PARIS, March 5.—11:20 p.m.—A German check before Rheims is described in a semi-official note issued tonight by the war office which says: "North of La Pompe on the road from Rheims to Chalons, the possession of a little inn at La Perne Alger had been hotly contested since September. The Germans had tried every means to dislodge us by the use of mines, projectiles and bombs from aeroplanes. They made an exceptionally violent attack on March 2.

"A violent cannonade was begun the afternoon of the preceding day along the entire front. Rheims, Betheny and Prunay were bombarded all night by guns of every calibre. The following afternoon our positions were charged by three detachments coming from different directions. Only one of these succeeded in reaching our barbed wire entanglements, where the charging soldiers either were killed by our heavy fire or made prisoners. The other two detachments were stopped by our infantry and 'seventy-five's. The Germans retreated hastily, not waiting to carry with them their dead and wounded.

"Soon afterward another attack came opposite our extreme front directly against the village of La Perne. The Germans beating a hasty retreat. At dusk a third attack was made but this likewise was repulsed by infantry fire and rapid fire. The German loss was estimated at two-fifths of the attacking force or approximately 250 men."

TURK REALIZES HE CANNOT STOP THE ALLIED WARSHIPS

Dismantling Forts In Straits To Strengthen Others In Sea of Marmora—German Officers Returning To Berlin From Constantinople.

[Canadian Press.]
LONDON, March 5.—Constellation reigns at Constantinople, and the Turks and Germans, realizing that they are powerless to prevent the allied fleet from forcing a passage of the Dardanelles, are hastily dismantling some forts in the Straits to obtain material for strengthening positions on an island in the Sea of Marmora near the entrance of the Bosphorus, which is to be placed in a state of siege, according to a dispatch in The Daily News from the Bucharest correspondent. The telegram continues:

"Everyone recognizes that these military preparations at the last hour can in no sense prove effective. It is well known, too, that there is a lack of munitions. The population already suffering privations and receiving an insufficient ration of bread made of a mixture of wheat and maize, holds the Germans responsible for its miseries. Agitations conducted by the Hadjis in Istanbul are growing numerous. Greek families have hastily left Constantinople. Since yesterday more than fifty German officers, travelling from Turkey to Berlin, passed through Bucharest. "Roumania is following with the closest interest the Allied action in the Dardanelles, and Russia's activities in Galicia. The Government still hopes from making a pronouncement. It has just introduced a bill for the opening of credit of $10,000,000 for the army. The reserve, are being retained, and already the 1915 class recruits are being called up."

GERMANS SEIZING BELGIAN MACHINES

Nullify Efforts To Restore Industrial Life—Taking Raw Material.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The Belgian legation today issued a formal statement announcing the protest of the federation of Belgian steel and iron manufacturers to the German government in Belgium against seizure of more than $3,000,000 worth of machinery which, the statement declares, was taken in violation of the fourth Hague convention.

The announcement further states that the German action "practically nullifies the efforts" which Belgian industries are making to resume their activities. The German authorities are further accused of exporting raw materials from Belgium into Germany.

"It is easy to understand that such measures practically nullify the efforts made in industrial circles to resume work in the Belgian plants, and thus save from starvation many hundreds of thousands of workmen and their families," says the legation statement. "Besides, it will seriously hamper the resumption of work when the war is over."

"The Belgian Government strongly protests against these measures which constitute a clear violation of article 13 of the regulations annexed to the fourth Hague convention, which provides that tools and machinery, if private property, can never be seized in an occupied country."

French Cruiser Believes It Sank Foe's Submarine

Three Shots Strike Boat Which Then Disappears.

PARIS, March 5.—The Ministry of Marine today gave out a statement to the effect that a German submarine of the U-2 type had been fired on by a French cruiser in the English Channel yesterday. The submarine plunged, and no further trace of her was found. The text of the announcement follows:

"During the day of March 4, a French warship, belonging to the second light squadron, cannonaded a German submarine of the U-2 type in the English Channel. Three shots struck the undersea boat, which then plunged and disappeared. No trace of her could be found."

NO LINERS LEAVING NEW YORK FOR 11 DAYS

NEW YORK, March 5.—Exclusive of tomorrow's departures, no British or neutral ocean liners will sail from this port for Great Britain for eleven days, shipping men said tonight, pointing out that the list of coming sailings indicated that for the first time in thirty years, according to their available records a week would pass without a sailing for England. Strikes at Liverpool, and the action of the British admiralty in pressing steamships into service as transports is responsible for the condition, they declared.

The first sailings after tomorrow will be March 17, when the White Star liner Arabic is expected to leave for Liverpool, the lists show.

FOOD SITUATION IN MEXICO CITY SERIOUS

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The food situation in Mexico City, officials causing serious concern to officials here, has been further complicated by a new decree by Gen. Obregon, the Carranza commander, ordering all merchants in their capital to open their shops and accept Constitutional currency.

Many of the merchants in Mexico City are foreigners, mostly Spaniards, and the state department probably will make representations to Gen. Carranza. For refusal to accept Carranza currency the penalty in Obregon's decree is imprisonment here for a term of years and the confiscation of property.

The seriousness of the situation at Mexico, where there has been an embargo in force for some days, is indicated in official dispatches. The port is closed as far as known here.

"HONEY BOY" EVANS DIES AT BALTIMORE

BALTIMORE, Md., March 5.—George ("Honey Boy") Evans, the minstrel, died at a hospital here today. He came here for an operation for stomach trouble several days ago.

Evans was born in Cardiff, Wales, 42 years ago. He came to America when 7 years old. In turn he was a printer, a reporter and an actor.

EARL OF CADOGAN DEAD

Was One of London's Wealthiest Ground Landlords.

[Canadian Press.]
London, March 5.—George Henry Cadogan, fifth Earl of Cadogan, died here today at the age of 73 years. He was one of the wealthiest London ground-landlords and a great enterpriser of royalty. Three heirs to the title died during his lifetime.

Earl of Cadogan was lord lieutenant of Ireland from 1896 to 1902. He also had been lord of the privy seal, under secretary of war, and member of Parliament for Bath.

Five years ago the aged earl caused considerable surprise in London by his marriage to his cousin, the Countess Palagi at Florence. His first wife, a daughter of the second Earl of Craven, died in 1907. She was the leader of the Cadogan regime at Dublin Castle, which was one of the most brilliant on record.

Earl Cadogan's son, Viscount Chelsea, will succeed to the title.

TORONTO, March 5.—The fight between the Ontario Government and the insurance companies over the taxes which the companies refuse to pay, started today in the non-jury assize court before Mr. Justice Middleton. The action, which is really a test case, is against the Canada Life Insurance Company, with the Provincial Treasurer named as the plaintiff.

The amount claimed is $25,050 taxes under the corporations tax act. Argument was concluded this afternoon and the judge reserved judgment.

The decision is most important, as on it hangs a considerable revenue for the province, or nothing. The defendants claim that the Government has not the power to collect taxes, declaring the insurance company is incorporated by statute of the Dominion of Canada. The great bulk of the evidence was taken by the lawyers in argument. Only two witnesses were called.

ACCUSED OF FRAUD IN IMPORTING FROM CANADA

NEW YORK, March 5.—With the arrest here today of Joseph S. Abrams, indicted by the federal jury at Windsor, Vt., for alleged undervaluation of goods, it was announced by the federal authorities that the close watch which is being kept by Government agents along the Canadian border to prevent breaches of neutrality has resulted in the discovery of undervaluation frauds aggregating $500,000.

The Abrams case is one of the several that have been under investigation, according to the federal attorney's office here, Abrams, who is an importer of novelties in this city, furnished $5,000 for his appearance in the federal court at Windsor. The indictment against him and one other person charges undervaluation of Indian baskets and other novelties imported from Canada via Island Pond, Vt.

Unstrung, Unsteady Shaky Nerves

MAY BE TONED UP BY USING

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

Mrs. John Harper, Toronto, Ont., writes: "I have used Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills for the heart and nervous system. I was confined to a grocery store for twelve years, and had to give up business, as I became terribly rundown and nervous, and had heart trouble, and I am sure I am gaining very fast now. I feel that this is a big change, which delights me so much, for I thought all was done that could be done. I was about to give up in despair when I tried this last remedy, and even after I had only taken half a box the change started to come."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will restore the enfeebled, exhausted, overworked system to full constitutional power.

Price, 50 cents per box, 3 boxes for $1.25. At all dealers or mailed direct by The T. Milburn Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.

"My Valet" JACKSON the CLEANER

TO OUR REGULAR CUSTOMERS AND THE GENERAL PUBLIC

It has always been our aim and ambition to be able to turn out the very highest class of cleaning available. With this in view we have installed from time to time one modern machine and appliance after another, until today we have a Cleaning Plant fully equipped in every detail.

We have not been content to simply stop with a "second to none" plant at our back, but have even gone further, and at no small expense we have secured the services of Mr. Geo. B. Gowans to take complete charge of our Cleaning Dept.

Mr. Gowans has been eight years with Pullars, of Perth, Scotland, the largest dyers and cleaners in the world; also eight years with Peterson & Hodgkin, of West Hartlepool, England; and for the past four years has been head cleaner for one of the largest cleaning and dyeing works in Toronto.

In securing the services of Mr. Gowans, we state and can prove to you that our cleaning is 75% better than ever before. In fact, we are now in a position to absolutely guarantee our work in every detail.

When you are told that "nothing more can be done to improve some unsatisfactory cleaning which you may have had done elsewhere, phone us and we will improve it or there will be no charge.

Henceforth, with any cleaning that we turn out, if it is possible to improve upon it, we will allow you to send it to any cleaning works in Canada at our expense.

LONDON, SATURDAY, MARCH 6.

"Today we vote millions for war without a question. Nay, more than this, we have sent our members and our sons to the battle line."

"We are ready to vote millions today for war, but we are not prepared to vote a dollar for shameful graft."

"The Government says: 'Do not hit us while there is a war,' and while saying this they are endeavoring to stab the Liberal party in the back."—Hon. George P. Graham.

THE SNIPERS.

IT IS not a pleasant spectacle to see the political parties of Canada engaged in strife at this juncture in the country's history. The average man does not feel like quarrelling with his neighbor these days; he feels that there should be a united front to show the enemy. In Great Britain the party in power has given great consideration to the members of the Opposition, making important appointments from among the ranks of the Unionists, and making use of every human unit that has warlike usefulness. The Premier, Mr. Asquith, has permitted the fullest inquiry and on the whole the mother country's government is being conducted by both parties. It is virtually a coalition.

In Canada, when the war commenced, it was welcomed as very gratifying news that the two parties were united until the war should cease; that for the period contentious politics would be dropped. The man on the street felt that for once the country would be "governed"—as it should be, without the handicap of partisan seeking for advantage. Today the parties are again estranged. The Hon. Mr. White, recently a Liberal himself, has intimated that the loyalty of the Liberals in Canada is weak.

Mr. White's loyalty was very weak, and he may be giving testimony as a specialist. The Liberals do not feel like allowing the insult to pass. They are just as loyal as the Conservatives and the country knows it. And the voices of thousands of Liberal recruits answer the cowardly lie.

The Liberals do not like to hear of grafting of a traitorous description carried on while the country is at war. They want to know about boots, and submarines, and horses, and supplies, and as each Liberal member is as much a representative of the people as any Conservative member, he has the right to ask for information. So the Liberals in a fair, aboveboard manner have been asking for information. They did not believe that Canadians lived who were "cle enough to rob their country while it was engaged in the most tremendous undertaking in its history. They believe such characters were members of a grave-robbing, ghoulish band, for whom adequate punishment is difficult to define. And in asking for information about certain peculiar looking transactions, the Liberals made no charges of dishonesty on the part of the Government.

But the Government snarled and showed its teeth and said: "You keep quiet or we'll start an election." It condoned what may prove the most heinous scandal in the Dominion's history by its refusal to reveal the truth about the aid it faced the issue and sought the aid of the Opposition in running down the culprit, the Opposition, willing or not, could not have applauded, and the country, too. To the credit of General Hon. Sam Hughes, he insisted upon an investigation of shoe contracts, but Gen. Hughes is paying the price, fighting as he is for his public life against the Hogerian forces that seek to control the Government with a "made in Manitoba" machine.

The Conservatives gave the appearance of accepting the flag of truce. But under that flag—and Hon. George P. Graham flung it into their faces—they have been sniping at the Liberals. For months they have been sending out campaign literature in which they brand their Liberal fellow-countrymen as disloyal. True there was no "scrap of paper" in this bargain for Canadian unity, but there was a gentleman's agreement, and a gentleman's word should be as sacred as any document.

The Liberals ask no forgiveness for revealing some of the practices of the Government that have gone on, nor do they seek to strike the Government "while it is down." But the Government must hide nothing nor give the appearance of hiding anything. Nor must it send out its squad of snipers to shoot Liberalism in the back.

The only possible reason for holding an election is to ascertain the full facts about war contracts, to show the rank commercialism of a parliament that subordinated the British preference without inspecting cargo or flag, and to make plain that Liberals in Canada need no lessons in loyalty from those whose politics has been learned in the "so-much-worse-for-British-connection" school. No trace on one side and treachery on the other!

THE PACIFIC SCANDAL.

THE Conservatives have sought in vain to attach the name of scandal or graft on the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, the greatest of the great Laurier achievements for Canada. But as long as the Pacific rolls upon our western shores, it will always sing a song of scandal, because there is a great scandal which disgracefully bears its fair name.

CANADA'S MIGHTY FUTURE.

THE address delivered Friday to the Canadian Club by the Rev. J. L. Gordon, of Winnipeg, was one of the best the club has listened to. Though born an American, he has lived fifteen years in Canada, and has become a Canadian. He is big enough to have given up a large salary for one-fourth his income in Winnipeg, in order that he may do the most good he can in the time that is left to him. To be of service to mankind is to him more desirable than financial reward. He pictured a glorious future for Canada, one that the war is opening up. The idea suggested, that the capital of the Empire would be in Canada, removes further north the capital that would have been in the opinion of some, had the United States remained under the Union Jack. James J. Hill expressed the belief that the continent would be ruled north of the St. Lawrence.

The United States and Great Britain, the two divisions of the great English-speaking peoples, pulling together, would make the English language and English ideas universal throughout the world. The idea is not a new one, Martin Bismarck Tupper expresses the same sentiment.

O' brothers could we both be one, In nation and in name, How gladly would the very sun Lie basking in your fame.

Dr. Gordon places the population that the British possessions are capable of sustaining at one thousand millions, and not long ago Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, of Brooklyn, predicted that there would be a population of three hundred millions on this continent by the end of the century, and according to Dr. Gordon, Canada is to be the "central country." The "flow aspects of snow," that the French Emperor ceded with so little thought, would surely have a responsible place under the heavens.

Forty years is not long in the life of a nation, but the last 40 made a great difference in the power of Germany; the last 50 made the United States a different nation. The next 50 following the war will be full of great events. May Dr. Gordon's predictions be realized, and the principles that govern Great Britain enlarged and improved and perfected from time to time by Lloyd George and others like him, to follow him, govern the world. There should be no difficulty in getting the United States to join. Anyone looking on can see how high-minded the statesmen are becoming. The spirit of all their leading statesmen is as far removed from war as possible. They will be true to the highest principles that govern the conduct of men, and apply these principles to the government of the nation. Dr. Gordon's address was an inspiring one, optimistic and practical. He was evidently proud to say: "I also am a Canadian."

WILL ZION ARISE?

FOR the last ten or fifteen years leading Hebrews of different countries have been agitating the proposition for the repatriation of the Jewish people. The idea has been to form a Jewish colony in Palestine—purchasing a large tract of land from the Turkish Government for the purpose. A colonization society has been formed, large sums of money raised, the consent of the Turkish authorities apparently gained, and everything looked favorable for the scheme. The chief deterrent has been the lack of faith of many of the Jews. They are perfectly satisfied with their present homes, and have no desire to emigrate to Palestine. Another objection has been the uncertainty of any arrangements made with the Sultan. It is true that the Jews are not as objects to the average Moslem as are the Christians. But we doubt if it would be safe to trust either to the Moslem populace or the Turkish Government. Both would be willing to make all the money they could out of the scheme. But we have grave doubts how far either could be depended on to keep faith with the Hebrews that might settle in Palestine under any arrangement made with the rulers of that country. At best, it would only be a Jewish colony in a Mohammedan country. Any rights the Hebrews might possess under the Sultan would be limited by the varying processes of his Government, and their exercise hampered by the disposition of the surrounding populace.

But conditions will shortly change. When the Turk goes out of Europe, it is not as objected that he will have an altogether free hand in Asia. Great Britain, as the protector of Egypt, for the sake of world commerce as well, must control both sides of the Suez Canal. In connection with France and Italy she will have something to say as to the government of those sections of Asia on the eastern shore of the Mediterranean. Britain will not want any more territory there, but she will have some material interest in the management of those lands now nominally or actually in possession of Turkey. What will be done with them when the war is over, and geographical boundaries rearranged?

Here would seem to be an opportunity for the Zionists. Palestine was once a fruitful land, and there is reason why it should not remain "flow with milk and honey." All that is needed is a stable government, and intelligent farming. The experience of isolated Jewish and German colonies during the last 50 years shows that conclusively. A nation of Jews, under the protection of the Allies, could prosper, and its people be happy and wealthy. The Hebrews are not only a liberty-loving, but a peace-loving people. Those of them who have lived in civilized countries are among the most civilized in their respective communities. They are a democratic people—no militarism or Kaiserism would be seen in a Jewish state. They would attend to their own business, cultivate the soil, buy and sell freely with other peoples. Education would be of the most advanced character, and great leaders in science might arise. No matter how small the state would be it would soon become influential, and be a nucleus of civilized democracy in Asia.

Such are the possibilities of a modern Zion. Will it be realized? Much will depend on the desires of the Hebrews themselves. But we have very little doubt that if they wish it there they will find soon a most favorable opportunity for a rejuvenated Palestine, a re-assembled Israel and a rebuilt Jerusalem.

WORKING TOGETHER.

SPLENDID as has been the Russian fighting in Poland and Galicia during the last ten days, it is not due solely to their fine courage, remarkable recuperative powers and skillful strategy that they have been able to throw back the Germans. From the beginning of the war it has been noticeable that whenever the Germans have reached a point in their eastern campaign when a great victory seemed assured, the Allies have increased their activities to such an extent that the German offensive in the east has been weakened. During the past ten days, while the Russians were pulling themselves together from the heavy blows of Von Hindenburg, the French offensive in Alsace has been redoubled, and the Russians relieved of some of the strain, have started another of their smashing advances. So long as the Allies continue to co-operate in this manner, playing into one another's hands, it is impossible for Germany to make much headway. With the enemy pressing them hard on both fronts the Germans are compelled to rush their armies back and forth—now west—and it is only their wonderful system of strategic railways and superb transportation facilities generally that has saved them from complete disaster long ago. With Kitchener's mighty army advancing a few weeks hence, and the Russians hammering at the back door, the Kaiser and his war lords will be put to a test that is likely to prove beyond their powers.

TWO SYSTEMS.

IT is possible that the educational tendencies of Great Britain and Germany are illustrated by the enemy's success in dealing with things and British still in dealing with men as well. Where Germany falls and blunders is in diplomacy. She misunderstood the people of the United Kingdom, of Canada, India and the rest. Her people simply can't or won't see why the invasion of Belgium, with all its barbarities, is detested by the American people. Germany did not realize that Italy never could love a German or an Austrian enough to do their dirty work for them. She thought the Moslems everywhere could be gulled into playing her Bagdad game. All her calculations in regard to human beings have gone wrong, because she views men as simply living tools. Great Britain is a country in which man is respected as man, and where schools train and mould the individual for his own sake, as well as for his country's use.

THE WEEK IN REVIEW

The allied fleets continue to wreck the forts and fortifications of the Dardanelles. Last week the powerful forces at the entrance of the straits were reduced by the smashing bombardment of British and French dreadnoughts and cruisers, and this week the combined

SMASHING THROUGH THE week the combined forces of the British and French fleets, their way for a distance of ten miles up the waterway, where one of the forts is reported as having been silenced. It is estimated that since the attack on the Dardanelles commenced forty Turkish guns, guns placed and operated by German experts, have been put out of action. The success of the allied fleets has thrown Constantinople into a panic, and the British and French warships have been rushed to Broussa, Asia Minor, while strong bodies of troops have been rushed to points on both the European and Asiatic sides of the straits in anticipation of an attack on the capital by landing parties from the fleets. These forces are believed to total 150,000 men, but as many transports have been accompanying the British and French fleets, there will be no lack of troops with which to meet them. Already the Allies have landed tanks and machines at a number of points, and it is stated that amongst them are some of the Canadian tanks who have been engaged in Egypt.

Last week the German submarines were very active. Numerous British and neutral ships reported being attacked, and several were sent to the bottom. This week the Kaiser's under-the-sea terrors have bagged nothing. As the shipping to and from the British Isles is going on just as if no blockade existed, it is apparent the British admiralty's measures to curb the submarine are proving effective. Two German submarines have sunk, the U.S. by French and British destroyers in the English Channel, and one that was rammed by the collier Thorold, off Beach Head, this week, entailing the captain and crew to a $5,000 reward.

The most important war news of the week was the announcement in the Commons, Monday, that as a reply to the German's "paper blockade," her submarine piracy, Great Britain would enforce a real blockade of all the ports of Germany and the Baltic. This was also a reply to the American note suggesting that in return for Germany withdrawing her submarines, Great Britain permit footuffs to reach the civilian population of Germany. Quite as important as this statement was another by the British Premier, in which he declared that the present was no time to discuss peace. That could only come when Germany was on her knees. As an indication of Great Britain's determination to see the matter through to a finish, a supplementary war credit of £250,000,000, and a fresh war credit of £250,000,000 were passed.

Germany's reply to the American note of protest was made public this week, and it was not very encouraging. GERMANY ACCEPTS most particularly U. S. PROPOSAL.

Germany is willing to use her submarines for investigating and searching neutral merchantmen solely, providing Great Britain agrees to allow foodstuffs to reach the German population, unimpeded. Germany, however, refuses to restrict the use of mines to defensive purposes. In British circles Germany's acceptance of the American note is considered striking proof that Germany will soon be facing starvation.

all on Wednesday. There has also been heavy fighting in Northern Alsace. The French claim that at different points they have taken more than a thousand prisoners in the fighting of the last week or so. The French war office admits to a reverse near Arras, in which the Germans claim to have taken over five hundred prisoners. Balancing the but that the French have had much the better of the fighting during the week.

Despite his smashing defeat of the Russians at the Maurian Lakes, the greater portion of Von Hindenburg's army is once more in retreat. The Russians have "come back" just as they did in September.

RUSSIA AGAIN of Von Hindenburg's drive through North Poland south, with Warsaw as the objective, has been halted and thrown back, and the Grand Duke Nicholas is rolling back the enemy towards the frontiers of East Prussia.

The city of Premezlay that the Russians, by brilliant cavalry operations, succeeded in splitting the German main forces and compelling retreat. Only before the Russian fortress of Osovets have the Germans been able to make a stand. They are making a desperate effort to destroy it, as it bars the way to the Russian frontiers and is strongly defended.

In East Galicia, where an Austrian-German army for weeks has been making a supreme effort to relieve the siege of Premysl and take Lemberg, the Russians are now carrying everything before them. The armies of the Archduke John are meeting with defeat after defeat. This grand army which drove the Russians out of Bukovina is retreating before the Muscovites and losing thousands of men. The Russians appear to be successful along the entire front in this part of their campaign, a distance approximating two hundred miles.

Early in the week the frequent reports that the first Canadian expeditionary force had been ordered to CANADIANS in been under fire was THICK OF IT confirmed by an official casualty list issued from Ottawa.

The first list recorded one officer killed in action, Lieut. Bell-Irving, and two privates, A. F. Cameron, of Montreal, and John Murdoch, of Edinburgh. Four others were wounded. Lieut. Bell-Irving was the first officer of the main force of the Canadian contingent to be killed.

The fatalities took place in the desperate fighting around La Brasserie, which extended from February 13 to the 25th.

In Flanders, where the Canadians are fighting alongside the British and Belgians, there has been a lull this week, except for a brilliant charge of the Prince of Wales' Light Infantry on Monday, which captured and blew up a trench. The Canadians apparently are engaged in the lines around Ypres and La Bassée. An interesting incident of the British Commons this week was the tribute paid the gallantry of the Princess Patricia by Premier Asquith.

During the week it was announced by the British War Office that the Turks had evacuated the Mount Sinai Peninsula, and all danger of an invasion of Egypt had vanished. As a section of Canadian troops were stationed in Egypt, it is quite possible they have been moved for land operations in co-operation with the fleet at the Dardanelles, as unofficially reported.

Martin—You can get a clarinet at McPhillips or Nordheimer's. A good one will cost you $20.

Questions sent to this department should be addressed "Musical Editor, London Advertiser," and should be brief and to the point. They must also be of general musical interest.

How is it that musicians are such unpunctual people?—Miss Twiddle.

Well, that's an awful shame! Sorry your experience has been such as to impel you to write me thusly. Worst of it is, I notice the postmark on your letter is London. Surely you must have moved to town recently, could not be that your experience has been had with musicians of this city. Try them; you will find them the most punctual people in existence. The organs at the musical church before the service starts, and the piano teachers are always at the piano before the lesson begins. I can't offer you any reason, because I don't believe such is the case—at least, not with London musicians.

OUR POETS OF WESTERN ONTARIO

BRITAIN.

Some said thine old time power was on the wane,
Thy army feeble and thy fleet decayed,
But a craned war lord made threat again
And fair Belgium's borders did invade.
Despite protests that did persist,
And solemn, written treaties broke,
Against thee raised the mailed fist,
The Lion's slumbering wrath awoke.
They said: "Great Britain's worn and old,
Her rusty sword she'll no more draw,
Let us go forth, fearless and bold,
Deep sea treaties and ignore all law,
On France and Belgium work our will,
But Britain rose, and lo! her Lion paw,
Saying: "Nay, but I am mistress still."
And lo, the hostile fleet is bottled up,
Lying, closely huddled, by their shore.
The foe must drain the bitter cup,
Great Britain rules as in the days of yore.
While on the land from over seas,
Thine eager children promptly come,
With banner floating in the breeze,
With music of the pipes and drum,
On happy land, with children blest,
Or boundless love and without fear,
From North to South, from East to West.
They say: "Our Mother needs our help,
We'll give it unto our last breath,
When roused, the Lion and the whale
Will battle fiercely to the death."
Sarnia, Ont. G. J. A. CHAWFORD.

IMPOSSIBLE. [Exchange.] Fortune Teller—I can see money coming to you and no sickness what ever. Client—That's funny. I'm the new doctor on the floor below.

BLIND. [Washington Post.] More than one dear daughter is knitting busily for the soldiers, all oblivious to the button missing from father's coat.

[Correspondents are requested to make their inquiries as brief as possible, and to write on one side of the paper only. It is impossible to give replies within a stated time, as all letters have to be answered in turn. No letters can be answered privately.]

Is Delighted.
Dear Miss Grey—This is the first time I have visited this page, but I am sending you a song I saw asked for a while ago, "The Teatotal Mill." It is rather long, but as I have already seen some quite long ones printed, I thought I would send it. My brother wrote it out for me. Would like to have the song entitled, "On the Banks of Sweet Dundas." Will some one please forward it if they have it?

3. Can you please inform me where I could get the book, or story, of "Zudora," that has been shown in the theatres in London not long ago.

DELIGHTED READER.
Ans.—1. Much obliged for the song you send; it will appear shortly, and I am sure the reader asking for it will feel very grateful to you and your brother.

2. I have a copy of this sent in by a reader. Shall try and publish it some day before long.

3. I do not think it is published in book form yet.

Was Also a Servant.
Dear Miss Grey—I must tell you how delighted I am that you once more answered my scribbling. I do not see, either, how I missed seeing the letter in the paper. I must have been unusually stupid that evening.

And Miss Grey, I wish to say how delighted I was to see how very kindly and wisely you advised that lonely orphan. I was a servant girl once, and am not ashamed of it, but I had a dear, good mother to go home to, and I was allowed to go quite often. I worked in nice houses and for kind ladies. I often think how kindly I was treated, and my work praised. And I was respected in church and

Who Knows These?
A great many requests for old songs have reached Miss Grey during the past few weeks, and held over until it was possible to catch up with publication of the large number of poems and songs on hand. Some of the "pieces" asked for were: "The Wreck of the Asia," containing these lines:

"Loud blew the dreadful storm,
And stormy was the day
To cross the Georgian Bay."

Also, "Nora McShane," which starts something like this: "I left Ballymora a long way behind me, To better my fortunes I crossed the deep sea." "Doty Dimple" asked for a song called "Poor Little Joe." Other requests are: "The Man in the Stylish Church," "Some Day a Silver Cord Will Break," "Jimmy Whalen," "Billy Johnson's Ball," "An Advertisement Answered," "Teaching McEddison to Wait," "First," "Dear Old Stepstone," "Maggie Murphy's Home," "The Queer Folk of the Shaw," "If You Love Me, Leave Me."

Silk Spring Suit.
Dear Miss Grey—Will you kindly answer the following?
1. In washing white collar, hemstitched with black, black ran into white. Please tell me how to remove stains or to bleach the collar white, so it will be wearable?

2. Are black silk suits going to be popular this summer? If so, will they be of taffeta? If not, what sort will be?

Use it for frying meat and vegetables. Use it for its wholesomeness—and its economy. (Use 1-3 less than butter, 1-4 less than lard). We have published a splendid little book that tells you why you should bake and cook with "Easifirst" and that also contains 40 selected recipes. This book is sent free to all who write for a copy.

But perhaps you would rather ask your grocer. He has a supply of the books, and he can sell you "Easifirst." Ask him about it.

Leave it hanging for about a week to get thoroughly dry, then take down, sprinkle lightly with black pepper, wrap in paper and pack away in a barrel or in oats for summer use. I neglected to say to keep the meat, while curing, in a cool place—not freezing, by any means. We always cure our pork this way, and it is much sweeter than the pickling way of doing it.

Now for a little help for myself.
1. Can you tell me how to make "Dutch cheese"?

2. Can you send me the War Puzzles for the following dates: November 23, December 4, 19, 22, February 1, 12? Am sending a stamped addressed envelope for same.

3. What do you think of my writing?
Ans.—1. Sorry, but I shall have to appeal to our readers for the "Dutch cheese" formula. Can anyone help this reader who has so kindly given her practical pork-curing method?

2. Am not able to furnish the ones so back as December. The February puzzles which you lack I have forwarded.

3. Very good.

Thirteen Puzzles.
DAY DREAMER.—1. Yes, if you faithfully give it 100 hundred strokes with the brush every night you will soon see an improvement; firm, but not too stiff.

2. To fill out the chest and neck, deep breathing exercises are a fine thing, but must be persisted in, and taken regularly. Here is what a beauty specialist writes:

"The girl who wants to improve her neck and chest has the only apparatus she needs in the door of her own home. There she can take a deep breathing exercise. First she stands erect in the doorway with toes on the centre of the sill and the palms of her hands placed against the side of the door frame on a level with the shoulders. Then she takes a deep breath and steps forward as far as possible, first with one foot and then with the other, always keeping one foot on the sill. While forward she exhales deeply. This should be repeated several times, care being taken at first not to tire the unaccustomed muscles. This exercise regularly taken develops the chest and fills out the hollows around the collar bone."

3. There is no remedy for the enlarged knuckles.

4. Opinion might differ as to what good singing means. In London, however, I think we may claim a very good percentage of musical talent.

5. Instead of asking me, why not go to a milliner's shop and look around? For girls of your age the jaunty, small hat will be worth a good deal, with mounts or small flowers for trimming.

Yes, wide skirts are the newest cry in shirt styles. No, wear a tunic if you wish.

7. Try various ways, then adopt one that seems best.

8. Did you read what Irene Estelle Hough said on this subject in Thursday's issue?

9. I do not think so.

10. Belgium blue, tan or clear browns, navy, pale blue, pink, green.

11. If at a family meal, any time during the meal, at a formal dinner, usually it is served at the same time as the dessert course.

12. Such a book could be purchased by writing any of the local book stores, telling them what you wish, or better still, write to the William Briggs Company, Toronto. No doubt they publish a book on etiquette.

13. Think the way conditions are this year will be very wise, when to stay in your home. There are very few openings at the present time.

NO "MILITARY STRIDE" FOR GIRLS WHO VALUE GRACE

Lessons From Irene Hough's Beauty (the Most Beautiful "Hello Girl" in America).

Irene Estelle Hough

"I SHALL NEVER ADOPT THE 'MILITARY STRIDE'."

For summer—For travelling or street wear? I already have a good new suit for spring and fall.

2. What sort of undershirts are fashionable this season—soft or rustling silks?

Ans.—1. I do not believe the black could be bleached white no matter what agent you used; chloride of lime, dissolved, strained, and the liquid mixed with a basin of water, would fade it, considerably, but it could not be bleached entirely white. You could try the bleaching fluid, though, and hang the collar in the sun for a few days, dampening it frequently.

2. Yes, the silk suit is predicted to have a strong vogue this year, and black and combinations of black and white will be very popular. The taffetas, corded silks, and moires, are in the lead. Covert cloth, fancy worsteds, and fine serges are favorite woolen materials.

3. The soft taffetas, and "near-silk" patterns of "non-rustling" nature, figure in petticoat styles.

Tea sold in bulk by the average retail grocer, and sold entirely free from dust and contamination. When sold in the original sealed "SALADA" packets, however, it is delivered exact in weight, uniform in quality, pure and clean, at a fair even price.

Old Songs and Poems

To W. M. we are very much indebted for three Scotch songs asked for by a reader: J. A. G. also sends copies of two of these; one appears below:

THE STANDARD ON THE BRAES O' MAR.

I saw our chief come o'er the hill,
Wi' Drummond and Glengarry,
And thro' the pass came brave Lochiel,
Famously and gallantly.

Macdonald's men, Macdonald's men,
Macdonald's men, Macdonald's men,
Macdonald's men, Macdonald's men,
Macdonald's men, Macdonald's men.

The standard on the Braes O' Mar
Is up and streaming rarely;
The gathering pipe on Lochagar
Is sounding loud and clearly.

The Highland men fra' hill and glen
Wi' belted plaid and glittering blades,
By hand or sword wherever they be;
Then man to man and in the van
We'll win or die for Charlie.

Our prince has made a noble vow:
To die as bravely as a traitor now.
To aye we lo'e sue dearly:
We'll go, we'll go, we'll meet the foe,
By hand or sword wherever they be;
Then man to man and in the van
We'll win or die for Charlie.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTES
run under head of women's institute

HARRIETSVILLE.
A most enjoyable time was spent by a large number of people from the surrounding district on the evening of March 3, when, under the auspices of the Women's Institute of Harrietsville, an oyster supper was given in the Oddfellows Hall. A fine repast had been prepared by the ladies, who annually arrange this social event. A good program followed, when the gathering was addressed by Rev. Mr. Sutcliffe. Music was furnished by the Harrietsville orchestra, and the ladies' quartet, composed of Mesdames Roy Ferguson, L. L. York, R. Second and Douglas Ferguson. A patriotic duet by Roy Newell and Mrs. George Johnston was also much appreciated. This branch of the W. I. is most energetic. In addition to other aims, the members are working for the Red Cross Society.

COLDSTREAM W. I.
The Coldstream Institute will meet on Tuesday, March 9, at 2 p.m., in the Foresters Hall, Poplar Hill. Papers will be given on "Hospitality as it Was and is," by Miss Sarah MacLennan, and "Batter Observances," by Miss Letitia Lindsay. Humorous selected reading by Effa Campbell. Sentiments—Recipes for desserts and puddings.

To Remove Blackheads
Sprinkle a little Po Theoline (procureable at any drug store), on a hot, wet sponge, and rub briskly over the affected parts. Then rinse and note how the blackheads have disappeared. Anyone troubled with these unsightly blemishes should certainly try this method.

A TALE OF THE FRONTIER
(By Randall Parrish.)
Copyright 1912 By A. G. McClurg & Co.

They could perceive the blue of the overcoats as they rode over the ridge, and at their sudden appearance the little column of horsemen came to a halt. Hamlin flung up one hand in signal, and the two urged their ponies down the side of the hill. Three men spurred forth to meet them, suspicious of some trick, but as they drew near, the leader suddenly waved his hand, and they dashed forward.

"Hamlin! Glad to see you again," the first rider greeted the Sergeant cordially. "Can this be Major McDonald's daughter?"

"Yes, Major Elliott. I can repeat the story as I told along, sir. You are the advance of Custer's expedition, I presume?"

"By God, the others are some miles behind, moving slowly so that the wagon can keep within the column. We are pushing ahead over the rough country. Have only missed camp twice since we left Fort Dodge."

"The blizzard! All except your troop were at Camp Supply; they had joined since, and it was then we heard about your trip down here. What became of your men, Sergeant?"

"Wagon and one private were killed, and the other private was frozen so badly I had to leave him in shelter on the Cimarron."

"It sounds interesting; and you tackled the villains alone, and had some fight at that before rescuing Miss McDonald. Well, the story will keep until we make camp again. However, and he bent low over the lady's hand, 'I must congratulate Miss McDonald on her escaping without any serious injury.'"

"That is not all I should be congratulated upon, Major Elliott," she said quietly.

"No—perhaps I do not understand."

"I desire that you shall. I refer to my engagement to Sergeant Hamlin."

"You offer glanced in some well-dressed man from her face to that of the silent trooper."

"You mean matrimonial?" he stammered, plainly embarrassed, unable so suddenly to grasp the peculiar situation. "Hamlin—what—what does this mean?"

"Miss Molly and I have known each other for some time," explained the Sergeant bluntly. "Out here alone we were quieting our war-time friends. That is all, sir."

SHIPS NEEDED TO CARRY MUNITIONS

New Tri-Weekly Service Inaugurated, Canada to France.

SHIPMENTS ARE HEAVY

Eighteen Vessels Besides Colliers To Be Placed in Commission.

[Special to The Advertiser.] OTTAWA, March 5.—The inauguration of a tri-weekly steamship service from Canada to France for the conveyance of war supplies for the British War Department is announced by the Canadian Government.

The admiralty has undertaken to supply eighteen freight boats for this service until the end of the war. Immense quantities of supplies for the British and French armies are being obtained from Canada and the United States. Cargoes of food, clothing, transport vehicles, equipment and horses are being sent forward almost daily. This traffic has reached such a volume as to warrant the authorities to inaugurate a regular steamship service to handle the carriage of army supplies to France.

In addition to the eighteen vessels which the admiralty has undertaken to supply for regular sailings, the colliers which carry steam coal from England to Halifax for the use of cruisers composing the Northern Atlantic patrol will be used on their return voyages for the carriage of army supplies to France.

Shipments Have Been Large. The conveyance of war supplies from Canadian ports to Europe since the opening of the war has been very large. Shortly after the outbreak of hostilities the Canadian Government induced Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, president of the Canadian Pacific, to give his attention to it. After conference with the heads of other large transportation companies, Sir Thomas placed at the disposal of the Canadian and Imperial Governments the services of Mr. A. H. Harris, special traffic representative of the Canadian Pacific, and since Mr. Harris has acted as director of overseas transport from Canada.

Rates Almost Normal. It is stated that from August 20 to the close of navigation in the St. Lawrence, 120,000 tons of Imperial Army supplies were forwarded to British and French ports, and that during December and January 50,000 tons were shipped from St. John and Halifax. The tonnage was handled at rates very close to rates in force before the war. Although all the activity is fighting as infantry in the trenches, the Canadian Government has already been accomplished through this arrangement and the new plan is expected to continue to effect economies in transport.

SARNIA YOUNG MAN IN PITIFUL PLIGHT

[Special to The Advertiser.]

SARNIA, March 5.—George Fischer, a well-known cleaner and dyer of this city, formerly of Sarnia, is now in the local county jail as a result of mental trouble. It is understood that the young man will be placed in some institution where he can receive proper treatment for the ailment.

Mr. Fischer has had considerable trouble during the past few months, and only a few months ago he was a wife, who died from burns received on a gas stove.

Freckle-Face

Now is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots.

Do you know how easy it is to remove those ugly spots so that no one will call you freckle-face?

Simply get an ounce of ointment, double strength, from Calverton & Lawrence, and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of freckles and get a beautiful complexion. The sun and winds of February and March have a strong tendency to bring out freckles, and as a result more ointment is sold in these months. Be sure to ask for the double-strength ointment, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove the freckles.

INDIAN SOLDIERS

They Have Their Own Food, and Live By Themselves.

WONDER TO THE FRENCH

Cosmopolitan Gathering Is British Expeditionary Force.

[Frederick Palmer, who is at the front in France for the Canadian Press.] British headquarters in France, via London, March 5.—3:30 p.m.—The picturesque of the Indian troops of the British Empire breaks the monotony of the grim, colorless business of modern war at the British front. The little mule carts of these soldiers move about among the powerful motor trucks from England.

It was first feared that the Indians might not stand shell fire well, but they became used to it, and now they are even contemptuous of it. Accustomed to a hot and dry climate, the chill and rainy weather and the mired mud of Northern France has been their worst enemy. When the sun shines a smile spreads over the whole Indian force. Thanks to many layers of warm clothing and careful attention, the sick report of the Indian troops is normal.

His Regiment by Themselves. All the food of these men has to be brought from India. Speaking no word of English, these dusky strangers have come from the other side of the world to fight in France for Great Britain. Billeted in barns with thick layers of straw, for their beds, they cook their food to its taste and according to its taste customs, they form a separate world of never-ceasing wonder to the French inhabitants. This morning there was seen 3,000 cavalrymen riding by on a muddy road with a background of flat and misty landscape with all the precision they would show at a royal review. Occasionally among the dusky faces under the turbans there were the white faces of the Indian officers who had trained these varied tribes and who have stood with them in the trenches in icy waters up to their waists.

Heads Regiment at 72. Sir Pertab Singh, 72 years of age, rode at the head of his regiment. He said, "but I am too old," he said, "but I replied, if you will not let me fight in France I will go to Afghanistan and fight there. I don't mean to die in my bed, and I cannot fight much longer." So they let me come.

Although all the activity is fighting as infantry in the trenches, the Canadian Government has already been accomplished through this arrangement and the new plan is expected to continue to effect economies in transport.

Canadians Doing Well.

One of the British officers with whom the newspaper correspondents watched the Indian troops ride, made the following remark: "The Canadians in their trenches are now doing well."

The driver of the motor car in which the correspondents were conveyed to the front revealed his Americanism by the use of New York slang. He had had sixteen taxicabs running in New York, but he came over, as the English say, "to do his bit."

One meets here, Englishmen, Irishmen and Scotchmen from every part of the world ready to serve in any mental capacity in order to help. "Now, you take this message to all my Irish friends in America for me," said an elderly Irish medical officer in charge of a hospital train. "Tell them I have been sleeping on that seat for six weeks, with the harp alongside me, and the Tudor Jack over my head. It was a fine time we had when they let me lead my train with wounded Irish where the shells were falling, but they do not permit that any more."

Shells No Worry.

In the outskirts of a village where German shells fall in intervals, there was seen infantry detachments practicing at hand grenade attacks and in the defense of trenches. Nobody worried about the danger from German shells, while they rent the air with their own explosions of bombs thrown at close quarters. At another place the correspondents entered a building which seemed neither wholly hospital nor wholly Y. M. C. A. The reason for the location of this and many other places is not given, but it is clear that the Canadian Government is doing its best to make the life of its soldiers as comfortable as possible.

BOY KILLS HIS FATHER FOR ATTACK ON MOTHER

[Special to The Advertiser.]

BUFFALO, March 5.—John J. Hotli, a railroad brakeman, was shot and instantly killed by his 16-year-old son, Lea, today. According to the boy, his father was chasing his mother with a butcher knife in his hands. The boy brought a shotgun from an upstairs room and fired the fatal shot just as his father was about to stab his mother. The boy was arrested.

STORSTAD ARGUMENT ENDS.

MONTREAL, March 5.—The argument in the Empress of Ireland-Storstad case was brought to a conclusion this afternoon after having occupied the attention of the court for two weeks. Mr. Geoffrey K. C., counsel for the C. P. R., concluded his address in the course of which he dealt principally with the contradictory testimony as to the movements of the two vessels immediately prior to the collision. He submitted that Capt. Ken-dall's testimony was amply corroborated by that of the Storstad witnesses themselves, and particularly by the entries made in the engine-room log of the defendant's vessel.

BORDEN SILENT ON BRUTALITY CHARGE

Say Press Statements Enough On Highlanders' Alleged Ill-Treatment.

SPEECH BY MR. WILCOX

North Essex Member Believed Mr. Borden's Golfing Trip Justified.

[Special to The Advertiser.] OTTAWA, March 5.—The report of "brutal treatment" received by the 7th Highland Regiment at Salisbury, was again brought up in Parliament today. Mr. Kyle, of Nova Scotia, asked the Prime Minister if he had received a cable from Mr. H. C. Crowell, correspondent of the Halifax Chronicle, on the subject, and if he would communicate it to Parliament.

Premier Borden replied that he had received a message from Mr. Crowell with the request that he read it to Parliament. He said that as the substance of Mr. Crowell's message had been already communicated to the press, he saw no occasion to read it in Parliament. He had replied to Mr. Crowell to this effect and told him that the high commissioner's office had been asked to make an investigation into the circumstances reported by Mr. Crowell.

Investigation of Drug Purchase. Mr. A. K. MacLean informed Parliament that at the earliest opportunity he would move to have an investigation by the public accounts committee of the purchase of drugs for the first contingent from the clerk in the retail drug store of Mr. Crowell, M.P.

The growth of the civil service under the present Government received passing attention by way of correction. Mr. J. H. Sinclair said that a review of his figures showed that the number of appointments to the service had been 20,100, instead of 21,100. Therefore, he had made an error of 1,000, and the number of Government employees was 10,645 larger than when the present Government took office.

Mr. Wilcox defended Premier. The political truth was the theme of a speech by Oliver Wilcox, of North Essex, who resumed the debate. He read from a Liberal paper the statement that while Sir Wilfrid Laurier was making recruiting speeches in Quebec, Sir Robert Borden was dancing and golfing in the United States. This he regarded as one of the meanest things that he had ever seen in the press. No man in public life, he said, had greater responsibilities on his shoulders during the past few months than Hon. Sam Hughes.

A Western Ontario Post.

Mr. Wilcox charged the Liberals with having broken the political truce by endeavoring to create the impression that the Government is extravagant.

GOVERNMENT AGAIN PERSISTS IN SPENDING WITHOUT ACCOUNTING

Will Not Let Legislation Direct New Ontario Work—Opposition Criticises.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

TORONTO, March 5.—Friday's usually listless session of the Legislature was continued this afternoon with a renewal of the Opposition's attacks on the method adopted by the Government of handling the fund for new Ontario development. The question arose out of consideration in committee of the bill to provide for the expenditure of $100,000 for seed for the settlers.

Mr. Rowell pounced on the proposal and reviewed the manner in which the $5,000,000 had been administered. He recalled that the Opposition objected that the money should be spent as directed by the Lieutenant-Governor in council, but that all items should be voted by the House and raised the more serious criticism that while the money had been voted for Northern Ontario development, only $1,000,000 had been applied to that purpose and $3,000,000 of securities had been sold under the loan and the proceeds used in other branches.

"Just shaking old bones," said Hon. I. B. Lucas, who declared that the subject had been worn threadbare. There was a cry authorized of $5,000,000 for Northern Ontario, but all the money had to go through the consolidated revenue fund.

Aarter Supports Rowell. Mr. S. Carter (South Wellington) strenuously supported Mr. Rowell. The money should be earmarked for the particular purpose for which it was voted. The old Government had spent money for political effect and he was not sure that the present Government was any better.

"How did you win in South Wellington?" "I will tell you some time," he replied. "That election was corrupt and abominable on the other side." The Premier declared that the work in Northern Ontario was being done under a man appointed by the late Government, a Commissioner, not a politician. The Opposition, he claimed, proclaimed love for New Ontario on the house top and tried to hamper the Government in every way.

The Unemployed. Before adjournment, Mr. Rowell rapped the Government for its failure to deal with the unemployment situation. He asked for a return of all correspondence, petitions and documents relating to the matter, and expressed the view that had the Government appointed a commission, as he suggested a year ago, results would now be apparent.

Without Doubt the Most Extraordinary Announcement in the History of the Automobile

CHANDLER SIX

For the New Season

$1750

The Pioneer Light-Weight Six

NOW comes the only high grade six cylinder motor car for less than $1,800. The Chandler! This identical car last summer broke sales records at $2,150 and set the standards of the light six market. This same car, lacking some of its refinements and with a body design not nearly so beautiful, was a sensation two years ago at $2,350.

It was the pioneer light six. It opened up the whole light six market. Men experienced in the industry said then, two years ago that such a car couldn't live at $2,350.

And yet here it is today, the class and standard-maker of the market, with the price for this season fixed at $1,750.

How can Chandler do it when similar cars still sell from two to five hundred dollars higher?

The Chandler Company has made money from the day that first of the light sixes took the road. The Chandler has pointed the way every step of the way. And now, with maximum production, with an overhead expense so small that it astounds other manufacturers, with no old loads to carry and no old scores to wipe out, and with our working capital of real money, we have set this record-breaking price.

The Chandler for the new season is identically and positively the same model the whole country admired so much at $2,150. We will continue it throughout the season at the new price. And there is no other car that, by the utmost stretch of argument, can be considered as competing with it.

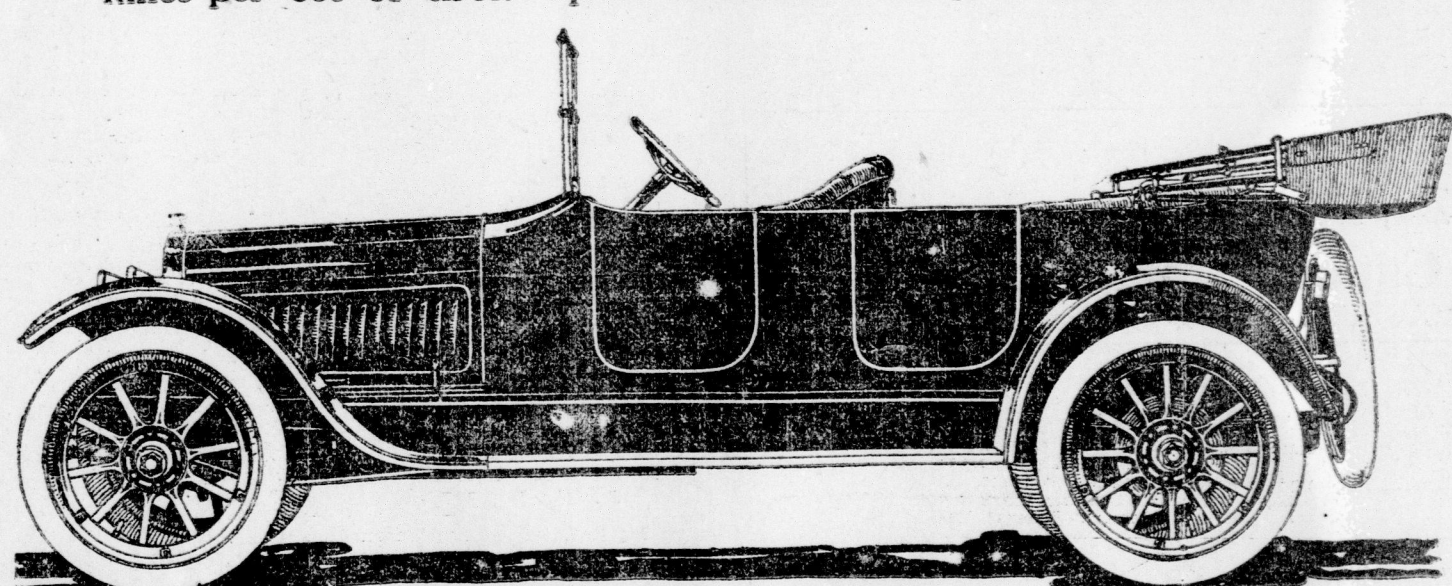

At this new price, the pioneer Chandler retains absolutely every feature of construction and quality that has made it the leader of all light sixes. You will find all these features on the Chandler, and not on any other six selling for less than $2000.

Bosch magneto. Gray & Davis electric starting motor. Gray & Davis generator. Enclosed silent chains for driving motor shafts. Bosch spark plugs. Mayo genuine Mercedes type radiator. Cast aluminum motor base extending solidly from frame to frame, giving rigidity to engine mounting; providing pedestals cast integral for magneto, pump and generator; and obviating necessity for dirty, rattly sheet metal drip pan. Rayfield carburetor.

Worm-bevel rear axle. Imported annular ball-bearings throughout. Oiling system completely contained within the motor; no outside piping. Genuine hand-buffed leather (not machine buffed, split or imitation). Luxurious streamline body, with clean running boards. Golde patent one-man top with Jiffy curtains. Large gasoline tank carried in rear. Firestone demountable rims. Motor-driven horn, speedometer and all the usual incidental equipment.

And the Marvelous Chandler Motor Built in Our Own Factory

The Chandler weighs 2985 lbs. completely equipped. Averages 16 miles or more per gallon of gasoline, 700 miles per gallon of oil, 7000 miles per set of tires. Speed 3 to 55 miles per hour on high gear.

See the Chandler at Hendrick's Garage

We anticipate some skepticism, but the Chandler routed skepticism last year, and the year before that, and will rout any skepticism there may be this year. We expect every man who thinks of paying more than a thousand dollars for an automobile to look the Chandler over carefully. The car itself will make any argument on our part unnecessary. It won't cost you a cent to convince yourself that not a thing has been cut off the Chandler, not a thing in it cheapened, not a detail of its workmanship slighted.

John Fleming Wilson

Wilson's fall from the tree had not been unnoticed by his outlaws, and before anyone in the camp could make sure that the man was dead a couple of the Mexicans had quickly slipped down the hill to him. They found him still alive. Without paying any attention to John Dorr's men, who were still doubtful of the outcome of the battle, they dragged their fallen leader away and up into their own temporary camp.

It was not long before Wilkerson revived. He was terribly bruised and almost insane from physical pain and wild rage at his defeat. It was with difficulty that the unsmiling outlaws restrained him. Their chief took upon himself the task of making it plain to Wilkerson that this was no time for rash and unorganized attack.

"They have beaten us so far, senior," he said, quietly. "And you are very sick. Tomorrow we shall see."

The next morning the sun had scarcely touched the peaks of the mountains when Wilkerson stretched his stiff, sore limbs and began a fresh campaign. He made it clear to the leader of the Mexican outlaws that they must work swiftly.

"It won't be long before the news of this fighting gets out, and the authorities will take a hand," he said. "But if we can just get this mine into our possession in the next three days, I can hire you and your men as respectable workmen and swear that Dorr and his gang are trying to take our property away by force. I guess my word will be as good as his."

"Very well," agreed the Mexican, after thoughtfully considering the matter. "We can get back into Mexico in 24 hours from here. So long as you pay us and let us—what do you call it?—loot, my men are with you."

Wilkerson covertly studied the desperado's impressive visage. Jose Vinas bore a renowned name on the border for daring, shrewdness and wickedness. He was known as "The Merciless." For five years he had had a price set on his head, yet because of the loyalty of his adherents and his own fearlessness he had escaped. No man better fitted for a sinister purpose could have been found. Yet mingled with Wilkerson's satisfaction at having such a tool to his hand was a dread of the man himself. And his calm insistence on the privilege of looting the camp when it was captured gave him a sense of pause. After all they were Americans down there in the Master Key camp. Through his binoculars he could see Ruth on the porch of the bungalow. Vinas, too, saw her. He took no pains to conceal the cruel interest in his eyes.

The next few days resulted in little advantage to either side. John Dorr could not resist the temptation to go in for much-needed supplies because of the constant menace of the outlaws, who occasionally fired scattering shots down into the camp as a warning that they were vigilant. On the other hand, Wilkerson found it impossible to seize the camp without precipitating a battle from which he shrank. Deeply involved as he already was in crime he dreaded to cross the border line which would force him to place him beyond the pale and make him an outlaw.

Instead, he used every method to put himself outwardly in the right. He sent plea after plea to the sheriff of the county to come and restore order, assuring that he had been driven from his rightful property by violence and that the situation was such that without interference from the authorities there would be serious trouble and very likely bloodshed.

These pleas availed only partially. The sheriff made a trip into the mine, talked with John Dorr and Tom Kane and then sought out Wilkerson.

"It looks to me as if this was a case for the courts," he said, slowly, when he examined Wilkerson's forged deeds. "I know old Gallon pretty well, and he thought a sight of that Ruth girl. Fact is, he told me he intended her to have this mine. He said it was his will. Now you toddle along with these papers and want to take it away from her."

"Gallon and I were partners years ago," Wilkerson insisted. "We located this mine together and when I came back he gave me over my share."

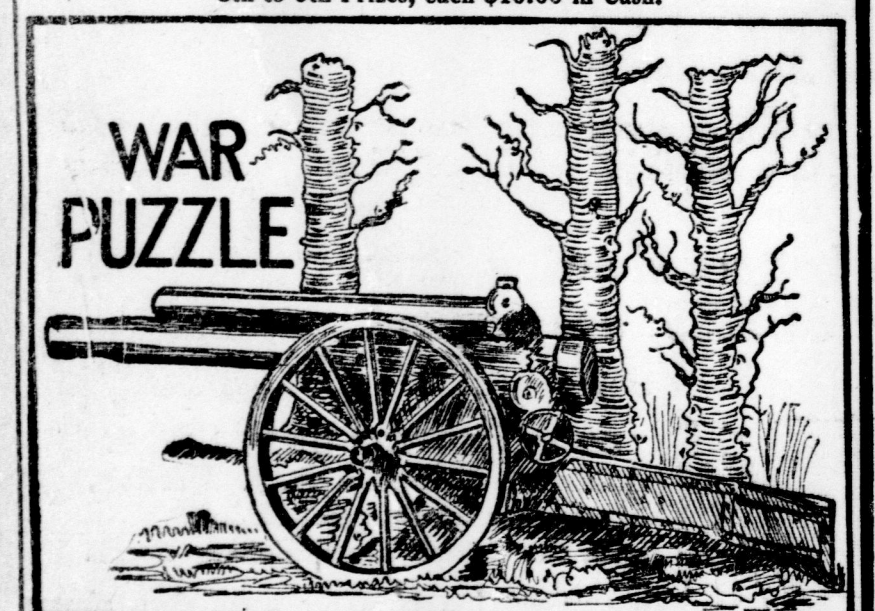

"But you want it all," the sheriff said, dubiously. "It's all mine," persisted the other. "Didn't Gallon use all the money he got out of it while I was away? And when we came to a settlement he found that the mine wouldn't pay half he owed me."

"I'm simply a peace officer," the sheriff said, finally. "I don't know who's in the right. That's for the court to decide."

"Wasn't I in possession?" demanded Wilkerson. "Haven't I been driven out by force, me and my workmen?" "From what I've seen of your workmen," was the curt response, "I don't like their looks. And there are tales going around that Vinas is in the country."

Above will be found the picture of a modern gun of the kind that is being used in the present war. At a glance the gun and some odd trees appear to be all there is in the picture, but by careful scrutiny some soldiers' faces will be found. There are 19 of them in all. Can you find them? It is no easy task, but by patience and perseverance can be accomplished.

You may win a cash prize by doing so. Many have done this as will be shown by the names and addresses published below. If you find the faces mark each one you find with a dot and then send the picture to the publisher of this paper. Write these nine words plainly and neatly, as in case of ties, both writing and neatness will be considered factors in this contest.

This may take up a little of your time, but as there are TWO HUNDRED DOLLARS in cash and One Hundred premiums given away, it is well worth the effort. Remember, all you have to do is to mark the faces, cut out the picture and write on a separate piece of paper the words, "I have found all the faces and marked them."

We do not ask you to Spend One Cent of Your Money in order to enter this Contest.

Send your answer at once. We will reply by Return Mail to you whether you win or not. We will send you a complete Prize List, together with the names and addresses of a few persons who have won some of our larger prizes in recent contests. Although these persons are not Cash Prize winners, they are all particular of a simple condition that will be fulfilled. This condition does not involve the spending of any of your money.

Winners of cash prizes in our late competitions will be allowed to enter this contest.

This competition will be judged by two well known business men of established integrity, who have no connection with this company, whose decisions must be accepted.

try challenged him and stepped forward. "I'm merely going out a little ways for a walk," Wilkerson explained. "Not allowed after nightfall," was the response.

Without further parley, Wilkerson leaped forward, grasped the man's rifle and tripped him. A moment later he was footing it up to the crest at top speed, with the sentry's cries for help ringing in his ears.

Before he could reach the divide a bullet whizzed by his head, then another. He turned madly and fled rapidly down into the shadows at his pursuers. His cursed himself for his folly when a second sentry appeared above him, drawn by the flash of his shots to his hiding place. There was but one road, the mine shaft. He plunged obliquely downward for it.

Naturally enough the troops thought their quarry was cornered, but Wilkerson drove straight on downward to an old working, mounted again, crossed by a disused galley and finally emerged far up the cliff. On his way he had picked up a coil of rope and when he reached himself on the edge of the precipice and his pursuers gaining on him he made one end of the rope fast and speedily started to descend. As they came on he made off the bottom he had been discovered and he felt the rope being hauled up. In despair, he turned back and then, dropping on a little ledge concealed by the overhanging of the cliff.

As the rope came free in their hands the pursuers realized that their prey had escaped them. They peered over. Surely he had fallen the way only to reach the cliff. Instantly he began to descend. On his giddy perch Wilkerson heard their awed speculations and laughed silently. Then he crawled away. In the distance he saw the lights of a locomotive whistle, marking the passage of an express. The freight would be due in two hours. He must make it.

Tom Kane arrived early in the morning, found the camp empty and the Mexicans had quietly vanished. Ruth was mourning the loss of the master key, and the sheriff, staring at the now useless key, was beyond words to express his chagrin.

John Dorr alone was serene, though he realized that Wilkerson had again been stealing up on the changes to his position. The skipper of the launch remembered perfectly the burning of the mine and the loss of the master key. He stated that he knew the place, a position where it sank gave out great hopes of finding the bulk.

"The sea is shallow there, and the tide runs out, and it is not far from the shore," he stated. "The only thing is, somebody may have been ahead of us."

"Wilkerson couldn't be ahead of us," John asserted. "I inquired carefully at San Pedro."

Yet at noon his unspoken fears were realized. There was another powerful launch steaming up the bay, and a man identified as a living and salvage boat from San Diego.

"Then they'll get ahead of us!" Ruth murmured. "After all our trouble!" The launch captain and the diver both comforted her by stating that the given position was not far away, that it was sometimes a matter of time to find a wreck even if the approximate location was known, and that at any rate they would soon be near enough to see whether the other craft was successful.

Two hours later Wilkerson's launch was swinging easily over the low swells not a mile from the luff shore, and they could see his diver coming up to the surface. "I hope he doesn't find it," breathed Dorr, as he urged his own men to greater speed.

"They're struck the spot, if those figures of yours are correct," was the reply. "But time will tell."

When the two boats were close together John saw that Mrs. Darnell was with Wilkerson. He could see the bronze glint of her eyes, her eyes filled with mingling triumph and hatred, and that look grew brighter and more for a moment when the diver came up to the surface. "I hope he doesn't find it," breathed Dorr, as he urged his own men to greater speed.

man was hired the same as he, and we ain't got no fight with each other." "Of course," Dorr agreed, unwillingly. Then he made a leap for the ready of the other boat, intent on regaining the chest, single-handed.

For the moment Wilkerson was paralyzed by the boldness of this move, but a moment later strong hands had flung John back on his own deck, and his skipper, thinking that matters had gone far enough, soon put a safe distance between the two craft.

A little later Wilkerson's launch started off down the channel. "Now or never," said Dorr to the captain of his own boat. Don't lose sight of them. I must know where they land, and what they do with the chest.

"They're hurrying some," was the response, "but I guess we can keep 'em in view, at least till night comes on."

While the moon was lighting up the smooth waters of the channel that night Ruth tried to comfort John Dorr. And as he listened to her gentle words and watched the loveliness of her face under the silver beams he forgot the bitterness in his heart, and knew something of a happiness that Wilkerson, pawing over water-soaked rags in raging despair, was never to know.

Bravery Futile. The Germans put up a good fight, fighting for all they were worth. Our ship is, however, not damaged. No casualties, the commander slightly wounded in the foot.

In the meanwhile the Glasgow, Cornwall, after a terrific bombardment, sank the Leipzig. The Bristol and Macedonia came up with the auxiliaries off Port Darwin. East Falkland, both German ships surrendered, and after taking their crews prisoners, the vessels were sunk.

The Kent opened fire on the Nurnberg at 11,000 yards, and after an hour's firing had closed to 2,500, when the Nurnberg sank. The Kent picked up six survivors. The Kent was unable to lower any boats as they had all been shot away. Her casualties were seven killed and 16 wounded.

The survivors of the Nurnberg spoke of the awful effect of the Kent's broadsides at a range of 2,500 yards, and stated that one salvo killed 60 men.

They also said the German captain wished to hoist the white flag when the Kent got near enough and then torpedoed her.

This was, however, frustrated by the skillful handling of the Kent, as she manoeuvred so as to keep about the enemy's torpedo tubes all the time.

In all about 150 prisoners were taken, and about 2,000 killed. Our losses were 20 killed and 40 wounded. None of the ships suffered material damage.

NO DOUBT. [Kansas City Journal.] "I think women could improve things everywhere if they were in power."

"Think so?" "Take the stuffy old law. They'd have hand-painted subpoenas and orchestras in every courtroom."

CHARMS MUSIC MATH. [Buffalo Courier.] Mildred Poobah, travelling for hosiery, sat in her room at the Klobfessle House and let her ears drink in the sounds and become to them through the thin partition separating her from room 13.

"I've made up my mind," she muttered determinedly. "Any man that can play the piano like that I must have for my husband."

All unknown to her, the man in the next room, while he played, was thinking: "And to think they've put this gorgeous creature in room 17. So near and yet what a distance! Ah, me!"

"To think, with me, is to act," exclaimed Mildred Poobah. And she rapped on the wall.

"Ye-h!" queried Tomlinson Pitties. "I love you!" screamed Mildred. With two bounds Tomlinson Pitties was out of his room and slipped an engagement ring on her finger.

It wasn't till after they were married that she learned that piano was worked with the feet.

"Scotland, Ont., August 25, 1913. "Fruit-a-ives" are the only pills manufactured, to my way of thinking. They work completely, no gripping whatever, and one is plenty for any ordinary person at a dose. My wife was a martyr to Constipation. We tried everything on the calendar without satisfaction, and saw large sums of money until we happened on "Fruit-a-ives." I cannot say too much in their favor.

"We have used them in the family for about two years, and we would not use anything else as long as we can get "Fruit-a-ives."

"Their action is mild, and no distress at all. I have recommended them to many other people, and our whole family uses them."

"J. W. HAMMOND."

Those who have been cured by "Fruit-a-ives" are proud and happy to tell of their cure. If you are sick or suffering from these wonderful tablets made from fruit juices. Fifty cents a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25 cents. All dealers, or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-ives Limited, Ottawa.

GRAIN.
Winnipeg, March 5.—The biggest drop of any day since the high point of $1.64 and $1.62 on February 3 occurred today in wheat prices. In the first two hours of business, up and down followed each other in rapid succession, caused by over-selling or over-buying, as the case happened to be. The low point was reached at 10.15 a.m. when wheat was quoted at a cent and two invariably took place.

Low points of the day for May were $1.36 1/2, and for July $1.37 1/2. Exporting houses, while not doing any new business, were fairly busy with orders for the month of May. The cash demand for certain grades of wheat was rather quiet, but there was no inquiry. Exporters were buying all the No. 3 northern they could get, and a moderate trade in spot and for opening of navigation.

In oats, No. 2 Canadian western and extra No. 1 feed were wanted, but practically there was nothing doing, while other grades were not asked for. Barley and fax were quiet.

Wheat futures closed 3/4 to 3/8 down; cash wheat, 3/4 to 3/8 down; 1/4 to 1/2 lower; fax, 1/4 to 1/2 lower. Inspections on Thursday were 370 cars, as against 197 last year, and in eight lots were 220 cars.

The Study Strain

Caused by steady application to school books causes the development of a great many defects of vision. Latent eye trouble develops under a strain of this kind into something serious ere you are aware. Have the eyes of your boys and girls examined at the beginning of every school term to make sure that they are right. Our charge for making the correct test is always moderate, and should there be any little defect that needs our attention, the sooner it is discovered and corrected, the better for the welfare of the child.

London Y. M. C. A. next Friday evening. The boys themselves will take part in several choruses and solos, also in the sailors' hornpipe and gymnastic work. Pipe-Major Wilson will play the Scotch pipes while his daughter dances the Scotch reels. Other talent will also be present.

HURON COLLEGE ASSIGNMENTS.
—Rev. Principal Waller, D.D., St. Paul's Cathedral, Rev. Professor Wright, New St. Paul's, Woodstock; Holmerville, H. B. Metcalf, B.A.; Glanworth, C. W. Foreman; St. John's, St. Thomas; St. Lee; Teaswater, R. J. Kain; Wheatley, H. Payne; Oil Springs, W. Jones; Beachville, J. Mills; Melbourne, W. Davis; Chelsea Green, E. Garrett; St. David's, W. B. Moulton; Ephraim, C. Duffan; A. S. Mitchell; Aged People's Home, E. H. Stephenson.

HONORED HIM ON BIRTHDAY.

About forty guests assembled at the home of Edward Guest, 6th concession, London Township, Tuesday, the occasion being Mr. Guest's birthday. Many gifts were received from numerous friends. Progressive euchre was played during the evening, at which Ben Tapbot won the first prize, while George Pew annexed the "booby prize." E. Johnston and Miss Johnston delighted with violin and piano numbers. After a tasty supper, the kitchen was cleared, and old-fashioned dances and games of "Blind Man's Buff" ensued the evening to rapidly pass.

SET ANOTHER RECORD.—Sergeant A. E. Kennard, instructor of musketry at Queen's Park, and who, with Q-25, Sergeant Carter, has had a standing offer of $100 to anyone who can beat them at musketry, have set another record in speed at the rifle gallery. Kennard fired five rounds, making five bulls, in 11 seconds—a second and a half less than his previous record. In 15 rounds, fired in 54 seconds, he made 12 bullseyes, and 3 inners. Sergeant Munro also made 5 bullseyes, in 15 seconds, out of 5 rounds fired. He fired 15 rounds in 59 seconds for 5 bullseyes and 3 inners.

NORMALITES ENJOY SELVES.—The members of the Literary Society of the Normal School held a very enjoyable concert last night. A splendid program of songs, readings and orchestral numbers was much appreciated by the audience. The chair was occupied by Miss Esther Byratt, vice-president of the society. Songs were rendered by Misses McGuffin and Wilson, and excellent readings were contributed by Misses Burk and Violet Campbell, the latter's rendering of "The Village Singer" being particularly good. The school paper, which was read by Miss Brown, Land, Messrs. Hare and McKay, was very cleverly written. Robert Langton's orchestra contributed excellently-rendered numbers.

W. GREASON, ARTIST.

WINS LAURELS IN U. S.

At the 18th annual exhibition of the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, Philadelphia, the work of W. Greason, 92 Broadway, Detroit, formerly of St. Mary's, was accepted. This is considered the foremost exhibition in the United States, thus especially is the young artist to be heartily congratulated on passing such a difficult jury.

The American papers refer to this talented artist as having had the enviable distinction of having the first picture he ever submitted to this academy accepted.

It is, however, a sincerity of purpose and no fear of hard work, that has gained for this artist the fame and name that he has won. Mr. Greason studied in the schools of Pennsylvania Academy during 1903 and 1904, and since he has been in the city of Detroit, Port Washington, Pa., where he came under such noted masters as Hugh H. Breckenridge and Thos. P. Anderson.

Later he studied for some time in the best schools of Paris, France, Munich, Germany, and London, England.

A painting entitled, "October," accepted by the Academy, speaks the skill and capability of the artist. It is an autumn scene painted in oil.

Thames, a few miles west of St. Mary's. This, for some time past, has been one of Mr. Greason's favorite sketching places. Pictures from this locality are shown in various cities of the United States.

Mr. Greason, Detroit, was a former St. Mary's boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Greason, St. Mary's, Ont., and is well-known in London. His many friends in this city and surrounding villages will be pleased to learn of his brilliant success.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY.—Lieut. Col. B. S. Wigle, commanding officer of the 18th Battalion, celebrated his birthday yesterday, although it was known to few of his men. Col. Wigle and his son Gordon, assistant adjutant of the battalion, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Sherlock, 35 Stanley street, last evening.

LADIES TO HOLD SERVICE.—A special service will be conducted in English Avenue Church on Sunday evening by the young ladies of the congregation. The subject of address and song will be the late Father's hymns. The song service will commence at 6:45 o'clock.

MINISTER'S CREDITORS MEET.—Creditors of Rev. T. B. Clarke, who resigned the pastorate of All Saints' Church to manage an orphanage farm for the Church of England, and who has been assigned, met yesterday in the court house. A number of local men are involved, and the liability on chattels is about $2,000. It is claimed that the farm is not yet paid for.

LIEUT. COL. WIGLE'S BIRTHDAY.—Yesterday was Lieut. Col. B. S. Wigle's 56th birthday and had the day been fine he would probably have declared a holiday for the men of the 18th Battalion. As it was there was no holiday for the troops in the way of drill yesterday. Lieut. Col. Wigle received many congratulations from his fellow-officers and numerous friends on the occasion.

THREE CANDIDATES INITIATED.—Hope of the West Lodge, No. 216, International Order of Good Templars, met in Society Hall last Tuesday evening. Three candidates were initiated, two of whom were soldiers. Following initiation a program of games was enjoyed. The meeting closed at 10. Next week will be military night. All Good Templars invited.

M. C. A. CONCERT.—Master George Branton, soprano soloist, of Toronto, who appeared in London, in January, has been engaged to sing at the annual concert of the boys of the
