A Blind Weaver.

A blind boy stood beside the loom
And wove a fabric. To and fro
He made the fabric firm and strong.
He made the busy shuttle go.

And oft the teachers passed that way
And gave the colors, thrum by thrum;
But by the boy the pattern lay
Was all unseen. Its hues were dumb.

"How can you weave?" we, pitying cried:
The blind boy smiled. "I do my best:
I make the fabric firm and strong,
And out that sees does all the rest."

Oh, happy thought! Beside life's loom
We humbly strive our best to do,
And He who marked the pattern out,
And holds the threads, will make it true.

The McBains.

"He'd be glad too, for the timber alone, and when the railroad goes through, the land will be worth—"

"An expressive pause, and a gesture meant to convey the idea of boundless wealth, finished the sentence, and flushed the young McBain with a glow of pleasure.

"And there's the greatest place on it or a house." The words fairly burst from Lion's lips. "A hill sloping to the south with a pine grove on the north of it, and a spring creek winding round it. You'll come and see us after we build there, won't you, Uncle?" The boy's eagerness was contagious.

"And bring your Irish girl with you," said Mary, with a light-hearted laugh.

The afternoon wore on, and presently the team was brought round; for Jim must needs be in Red Creek that night, in order to catch the early stage. He took leave of the family in a gale of lament, and into each small hand that he shook was pressed a silver coin. Mum, who was holding the horses, was careful to be overlooked in the leaving-taking, but in response to a waving hand, as the sleigh swung out of the yard, he nodded his head.

Busy days followed Uncle Jim's visit. It was the time for close reeling against midwinter's approach. The boys went whitening about their work, warm at heart, and glad just to be alive—and together. The cellar was full of potatoes and red-checked apples. The bay colt grew bigger and more of a handful to lead to water every day. Christmas was drawing near, when the pigs would cease cawing, and become roost and spare ribs; when the hen-brood would be tucked into their baskets, and the turkey-birds would be plucked and roasted.

"What's the matter?" Lion asked. "Lion to this, and by the last red torch burning low in the wintry sky, McBain had both letters. When he had finished, silence held the little group for the space of a minute.

"Uncle Jim had that." It was Lion's voice; faint, gasping, as though he had come from under water.

"Yes," answered McBain, slowly, "but he must have been in a awful straits to do it."

"An inscrutable smile parted Mum's lips and the look that made those who did not know him think he was about to speak crossed his face. "What will you say?" Lion voiced the query that was in the mind of each.

"She'll raise the roof of the house," McBain answered solemnly. "Who'll listen to this, and by the last red torch burning low in the wintry sky, McBain had both letters. When he had finished, silence held the little group for the space of a minute.

about by in. I don't do what I think, but I send back the money if I don't own the place any more, but if you've been cheated out of your home, you'll be glad to help redress your wrong when I turn up from camp, one day tomorrow, but you'll see when I return, so no more at present from yours truly.

T. OWEN
McBain looked up in a dazed way. The ruddy color faded from his face, his eyes fell on the letter which he held unopened. It bore the post mark of the old home town; fearfully he opened it, and as he read, his lips were confirmed.

"So may as well begin this letter," he thought, "writing you, because you will be it before you have reached the end. I had written a dozen pages all containing excuses, before it struck me that there is no excuse, so I shall only state the facts of the case.

I am the owner of Owen's place; I bought it at the price he offered it to you. I am in hell over money matters. Four hundred dollars must be repaid within ten days, the rest are debts. I shall get rid of those for the present, by leaving the country. I went to you with the intention of borrowing two hundred dollars, but my courage failed me. Mary's grasp on my affairs, and the look the boy born in the likeness of old man Cleary, occasionally turned on me, convinced me that it would be useless to ask for a loan. Then you showed me Owen's letter, and the devil—my silent partner—pointed out a way.

Murphy will give me five hundred dollars for the place, if you want it at four hundred it is yours, provided the money reaches me on the twentieth. After that I shall let it go to Murphy for the reason stated above. You know Grey, the lawyer, you know that he is trustworthy; send the money to him and he will fix the deed.

Such was the index to Owen's letter, which McBain had only partially comprehended. He folded it and put it carefully in the envelope; then he turned laggingly toward the house. Supper was over and the children were in the kitchen with their mother. Lion, by her, McBain softly opened the door and beckoned to Mum and Lionel. Knowing that something was amiss, they went quietly out, and, exchanging curious glances, followed the father to the study.

"What's the matter?" Lion asked. "Lion to this, and by the last red torch burning low in the wintry sky, McBain had both letters. When he had finished, silence held the little group for the space of a minute.

SPRING BLOOD IS BAD BLOOD

How to Get New Health and Strength in the Spring.

The winter months are trying to the health of even the most robust. Confinement indoors in overheated and nearly always badly ventilated rooms—in the home, in the shop and in the school—taxes the vitality of even the strongest. The blood becomes thin and watery, or clogged with impurities, the liver sluggish, the kidneys weakened. Sometimes you get up in the morning just as tired as when you went to bed. Some people have headaches; others are slow spirited; some have pimples and skin eruptions. These are all spring symptoms that the blood is out of condition. You can't cure these troubles with purgative medicines, which merely gallop through the system leaving you still weaker. What you need to give you strength in the spring is a tonic, and the one always reliable tonic and blood builder is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills not only banish spring flu, but guard you against the more serious ailments that follow, such as anæmia, nervous debility, rheumatism, indigestion and kidney trouble. Every dose of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills makes new, rich red blood which strengthens every nerve, every organ and every part of the body. This is why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the favorite spring medicine with thousands and thousands throughout Canada. Try this medicine this spring and you will have energy and strength to resist the terrible heat of the coming summer. Mrs. Jas. Haskel, Port Matilda, N. S., says: "I was troubled with headaches, had a bad taste in my mouth, my tongue was coated, and I was easily tired and suffered from a feeling of depression. I got a supply of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and it was not long before they began to help me and I was soon feeling as well as ever I had been." You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"What would you do?" asked the excited politician, "if a paper should call you a liar and a thief?"

"Well," said the lawyer, "if I were you I'd toss up to see whether I'd reform or thrash the editor."

"Yes; he fell over a precipice and was seriously injured."

"Too bad," commented Aunt Milly. "People ought not to leave things like that lying around."

Have a Good Complexion.
Most of all you need plenty of blood—the red kind. Have it pure, or otherwise blotches and pimples will render your natural charms unavailing. Nothing can equal Perrozone, either as a former of rich blood, or as a skin purifier. By driving out humors, Perrozone cleanses inside just as water does outside. Because of the nourishing and building properties it contains, Perrozone, brings the system to a high point of vigor, from which shines vigor, sunlight, good spirits. For good to come for good health, good health, take Perrozone, all dealers in soc. boxes.

A small boy, who was dressing by the fire, called to his mother in another room: "Which foot shall I put this stocking on?" Without stopping her work, she told him to put it on the right foot. In a few minutes he interrupted her again. "What do you want now?" she asked. "I want to know which foot the other stocking goes on."—Chicago News.

Liberty of the Press.
In an article on the Press Convention at Toronto, the "Patriot" says: "Who will deny that the public do not adequately recognize the valuable services of a newspaper? The proof of this is found in the severity always shown towards the press which causes the least mistake of language and the slightest errors of fact to bring reproaches upon the journal, without any extenuating circumstances being admitted, or any account being taken of the constant effort made to never go beyond the limits of moderation and truth. The liberty of the press is admitted in principle, it is true, but of how many mishaps is it not thus acquired right the cause? It would seem, indeed, that the law allows the press to say everything, provided it says nothing. The libel law, so often and so unadvisedly denounced, allows anyone to submit newspapers to glaring precautions. That law exists in contempt of the rights of the press, which does not represent a mere commercial enterprise, but which is the voice of the people.

Our Forests.
Twenty-five years ago the crown lands of this Province as a revenue producer were considered as practically exhausted; yet last year they gave a profit over management of about thirty thousand dollars. These woodlands are worth millions to the Province and should be carefully guarded. Their greatest enemy is fire. The scene of lumbering operations should be carefully watched all summer long for fear of fire breaking out. Keep down the fire and the woods will recuperate from the despoiling of the lumbermen in a comparatively short time. Let fire follow the axe and the natural wood is gone completely and in its place comes a cat spruce and shrubbery.

Embroidered Initials.
The newest tailored shirtwaists have the initial of the owner embroidered just above the cuffs in colors matching those in the material of the waist. Thus if the shirtwaist is blue and white checked madras the monogram will be done in a combination of blue and white cottons. The idea was originally intended for men's shirts only, but the tailor made girl will not be slow in adopting the fashion for her own shirtwaist.

Nursing baby?
It's a heavy strain on mother.
Her system is called upon to supply nourishment for two.
Some form of nourishment that will be easily taken up by mother's system is needed.

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., MAR. 27, 1908.

Dr. Eaton in Toronto.

"If I should forget Canada, the land of my birth, where my forefathers have lived for centuries, may my right hand forget her cunning," these were the words of Rev. Charles A. Eaton, D. D., of Euclid Avenue Baptist Church, Cleveland, O., and a graduate of Acadia and well known in Wolfville, who delivered the university sermon on Sunday last in Convocation Hall, Toronto. His text was from Acts ii, 22, the subject being "Jesus of Nazareth a Man." Continuing in the above patriotic strain, the eloquent Nova Scotian said he was prouder of his native land to-day than ever before, on account of her progress in righteousness. He had lately read that the English and Foreign Bible Society of Canada had printed Bibles in 70 different languages. Canada could repeat these words, "My hour has come."

The subject of specialisation came in for some observations, which the students could appreciate especially. Men to-day are weak through specialisation, and to that extent men are weaker. There was no thought of the eternal seas in such matters. Research and special effort were so prodigious and so diversified that men hadn't time for more than one thing, but in spite of this, men had time to enjoy the next world, we must be broader in this.

Speaking of sectarianism, Dr. Eaton stated that if a man were only a Presbyterian then he prayed God would help his poor sibilized soul; if he were only an Anglican and nothing more, he would that he might be led into a broader way of thinking; if one were a Baptist and only a Baptist, such as one had not realized the teaching of Jesus Christ. But if a man were a true Christian, then he would be a proper kind of Presbyterian, or Anglican, or Baptist. It was always a matter of importance to learn of a man's ancestry, if we would know the man more fully. Tracing back the ancestry of Christ, God was His Father. This wonderful relationship explained the power and triumph of the Son. Christ was the manifestation of God's love to men. Continuing on the theme of love, the reverend speaker said that the modern pulpit needed to-day the heart power. Few men came to church through their love of it. Habit mostly brought them. Many of these were weary of life, had their secrets and needs locked up in their hearts. Theology was useless in such cases. The day was coming when men would look upon creeds as scientists now look upon pre-historic shells.

Important amendments to the Canada Shipping Act are expected to be made at this session of parliament. Among other changes it is expected that there will be a change in the law relating to certificates of masters and mates. At present all vessels of from one hundred to two hundred tons must have a master with certificate, and those above two hundred tons both master and mate with certificates. In the United States neither master or mate needs certificate on vessels up to five hundred tons, and the present conditions make it hard for Canadian owners. Frequently they are compelled to take inefficient old men as mate, because no other with a certificate can be secured. Not only is this the case, but another result has been the transfer of registry of Canadian vessels to Barbados, where there is no restriction whatever as to certificates.

When Baby is Sick Give Baby's Own Tablets.

The little ills of childhood often come very suddenly and often they prove serious if not treated promptly. The wise mother will keep Baby's Own Tablets always at hand and give her little ones an occasional dose to prevent sickness or to treat it promptly, if it comes unexpectedly. Baby's Own Tablets cure all the common ailments of children and are absolutely safe. Mrs. A. H. Bonnyman, Matilda, N. S., writes: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for teething, constipation and other ills of childhood, and have found them a safe and excellent medicine." Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail, at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Rockville, Ont.

The rate of taxation for the current year in the town of Kentville is $1.60 on the bonded dollar.

The Country Robbed.

Great interest is being manifested throughout Canada in connection with the exposure before the Public Accounts Committee at Ottawa. Exposures of graft, trickery and downright robbery, such as no one could have possibly believed possible.

Take the Interior Department as a sample. It is presided over by E. M. Frank Oliver, the Minister who succeeded Mr. Sifton, that Prince of "get rich quick" Canadian Ministers.

The opposition sought to have the original papers in connection with the grants of timber lands, brought down for examination. This was resisted for weeks until finally the government were informed that not one cent would be voted for supplies, unless these papers were produced, and then came the flood.

From these original papers it was ascertained that one man, a Mr. Burrows, M. P., brother-in-law of Mr. Sifton, who was the Minister at the time the grants were made, had secured from the government, at merely nominal prices, under all phases of bold trickery, no less than at least 1,236 square miles of the finest timber lands in all the Canadian west. Just think of it, not one square mile or ten, but 1,236 square miles. One lot that he paid $500 for he at once advertised for sale at $500,000, and much of this land that he paid $1.00 for per acre, he sold for $10.00. It was proven and then admitted before the Committee, that as Theodore Burrows he got 550 square miles, as "Imperial Pulp Company," 417, as "Big River Timber Company," 250, as A. W. Fraser, 120—a total of 1337 square miles—a good many times over larger than the whole Annapolis Valley, and gotten for less money than it would take to buy one good farm.

The government which had fought against the production of the original documents, in order that the facts might be kept dark, found that it was impossible to conceal the truth longer, and for this reason A. W. Fraser, former president of the Liberal Association of Ottawa, was put in the box to tell the story. This gentleman frankly admitted that Burrows, M. P., was one and the same as the companies named.

This is the significance of the original documents fight. The government knew that the documents, if brought down, would give Burrows, M. P., a party, therefore Frank Oliver and Sir Wilfrid Laurier tried to bluff parliament out of the rights to see these documents. The opposition suspected that these papers would expose the grab, and they did to a most sensational point.

The exploits of Mr. Burrows, M. P., have landed him in half a dozen years, as a blooming millionaire, and he and his secret friends own one-third of all the best timber in all the great Canadian west, and no one will believe that Mr. Burrows, M. P., is the only fortunate one. These are critical days at Ottawa. Since parliament has been in session the country has heard little else but graft. For years the government has been distributing its favors. Now the opposition is with much difficulty exhaling the facts. There are "take-offs" and middlemen everywhere. If anything is bought, there is a politician to take toll upon the transaction. If anything is sold, a middleman is placed between the government and the purchaser to get the profit. Where a contract is made, there never failed to be an acceptor of "graft" not far away. The public domain is being distributed among a few friends at a song. One man got 200,000 acres of the finest land in the west, for less than $1.00 per acre, and sold the whole block to a company for $2,000,000.

Now, the danger of the whole west being stolen, cannot be averted, the great wrong cannot be eliminated, the country cannot be placed in so good a position again morally or financially, unless the people, the best citizens, the independent citizens, take action. The whole independent press of the country is sounding the alarm, and to these the people are confidently looking to save Canada.

Acadia's victorious debating team was given a grand welcome on their return from Halifax on Saturday evening. On the arrival of the train the debaters, Messrs. McCutcheon, Warren and Kierstead, with Mr. A. B. Balcom, who in the four preceding years led the team to victory, were hustled into a barouche, triumphed with Acadia banners and banners. Headed by a band and bodyguard of students dressed in military uniform, with four mounted clowns, the debaters were driven by students through the principal streets to Chipman Hall. Large crowds of town people turned out to witness the pageant. The procession halted opposite the residence of Dr. Hutchinson and demanded a speech, to which request the president responded in a very appropriate and felicitous manner. Further on another stop was made and a rousing speech elicited from Principal DeWolfe. Driven up before the Seminary, in response to loud and peevish roars, the debaters heartily thank of the student body, particularly the ladies, for the support given the team of Friday evening, when 150 Acadia students were present at the debate in Halifax.

Premier Murray has very wisely granted to the press of Nova Scotia a privilege that other Provincial Premiers have heretofore refused—the sending of copies of all bills presented to the Legislature, in the press of the Province.

The Debate.

Halifax and Halifax citizens learned last Friday that Acadia University was an institution of some considerable importance, and in spite of the Herald's golden silence about it over 200 students visited her city.

During the afternoon the blue and garnet was everywhere in appearance in the city streets. The debate was to begin at 8 o'clock, but we had heard that the hall was small and that the congregation would be large, so that by 6:30 the Acadia colors began to show up around the Blind School. When the doors opened at 7:15 a solid phalanx of Acadia students were ready to rush for first place. We captured the main gallery, with our Halifax supporters numbering about 230 strong, Dalhousie, numbering about 50 strong, took up their position in two small side galleries.

Acadia had her special songs and she soon began to make the Blind School ring with her martial music. Until about 9 o'clock the programme was a variation of mighty choruses from Acadia and sprightly solos from Dalhousie. The contagious Acadia spirit was spreading, and at last "Fight! fight! fight!" "For we'll win to-night, Acadia for ever more!" served to raise the speakers to their proper standard of excitement necessary for the ensuing bursts of eloquence.

The speakers for Dalhousie were, Messrs. McKelgan, Sinclair and Calder; for Acadia Messrs. McCutcheon, Warren and Kierstead. The Dalhousie boys were good speakers, and had their subject well in hand. The oratory of Mr. Kierstead was granted to be the best. Mr. McCutcheon outdid himself on the rebuttal speech. The style of Mr. Warren was most effective. Indeed, each of Acadia's men surpassed the standard that their fellow students had set for them. The few minutes between the end of the debate and the giving of the decision were almost breathless, (except for sonorous breathing of the Cape Bretoners on Dalhousie's gallery.) At length, his Honor, the Lieutenant-Governor, rose and read the decision as follows: 1st judge, "Acadia wins on argument and delivery"; 2nd judge, "Acadia wins on both"; 3rd judge, "Acadia wins on both argument and delivery." Then the restless tide of vociferous emotion which Acadia had so long held back broke forth with a roar that drowned Dalhousie six times over. The judges at the debate were Mr. Justice Landry, Mr. Justice Lawrence and Mr. McLennan.

Britain's Birth Rate.

A remarkable decline in the national birth rate in Britain is recorded in the Registrar General's report for the last three months 1907. The births registered in England and Wales during the quarter were at the rate of 24.8 per thousand of population. This is 2.5 per thousand below the mean birth rate in the ten preceding quarters, and is the lowest rate recorded in any three month period since civil registration was established in 1853. The whole of 1907 the birth rate in England and Wales was 26.3 per thousand, the lowest on record, and 2.7 below the average rate for the preceding ten years.

TENOR—MR. JAMES H. RATTIGAN.

BASSO—MR. H. NELSON RAYMOND.

ACCOMPANISTS—The Philharmonic Sextette, Boston.

—MISS EDITH WOODMAN.

Of Marie Zimmerman the best soprano Wolfville has heard note the following:

New Haven Evening Leader, May 7, 1905.—The Program Committee made a wise choice of soloists. Mrs. Marie Zimmerman sang the leading role of "Aida," in a manner which captivated the audience. Her voice was as clear and resonant as a bell, and there seemed no limit either to its scope or power. She sang the tender passages with infinite skill, and far surpassed her work with the Society a few years ago. She had a great deal to do, and naturally had limitless opportunities to display all the skill she possessed. "Aida" is one of the favorite operas in the repertoire of famous singers, and is a splendid test of ability. Mrs. Zimmerman was accorded rounds of applause for her interpretation of last evening and richly merited all that she received.

Elocution Recital—Acadia Seminary.

On Friday evening, April 10th, will be given in College Hall the annual Elocution Recital. At this recital will be heard all the pupils who expect to complete the course in June. Exceptionally strong work is being done and on this score alone the evening will be one of rare enjoyment. The pupils in elocution will be assisted by Miss Paulsen, of the violin department, and Miss Evelyn Starr, who will play together, and by Miss Hilda Vaughn, who will render a solo. Miss Almada McLennan, of Windsor, a young lady possessing a voice of rare sweetness and power, will be heard for the first time here, representing the vocal department. But to highlight the enjoyment of the recital will be the presentation for the first time in English of August Ludwig's 'German Flowerplay.'

This beautiful work has been adapted from the German by Miss Burmeister, of the musical department of the Seminary. Miss Burmeister has not only adapted the music but translated the text into English verse, composed new parts and created one of the characters. In general it may be said that twelve girls' beautifully represent to costume the snowdrop, violet, forget-me-not, water lily, carnation, lily-of-the-valley, pansy and morning-glory. These all, in obedience to the law of harmonious music, pay homage to the queen of the flowers.

The play has already been given in German, Spanish, French, but never before in English. The music is dedicated by the composer to the original of the Flowerplay in Cologne. The costumes will be unique, made under the special direction of Miss Burmeister.

Referring to the sacred music recital held in that town last Friday evening the Bridgetown Monitor says of a talented Wolfville lady: 'One can only praise the artist who assisted by the talented organist, Mrs. Ringwald, from Wolfville. It was Mrs. Ringwald's first appearance before a Bridgetown audience, but from her opening solo until the end she held her hearers captive. A smooth velvety touch, brilliant execution, and a perfect and sympathetic knowledge of the instrument combined to make her every number full of enjoyment for her listeners.'

Death of E. L. Coldwell.

Word has just been received of the death at Portland, Oregon, on March 15th, of Edward Lethrop Coldwell, eldest son of the late Sherman Coldwell, of Gasperau, at the age of 68 years. The deceased was well known here as a young man, a promising student at Horton Academy and an enthusiastic naturalist. He made many local excursions with Prof. Frederic Hartt, whose lame as a geologist was almost world wide. He went to California about 1865 and returned in 1866 for a brief visit, going back as he came, by the isthmus of Panama, which route he travelled three times. His last visit home was in 1893. He engaged in newspaper work, and in 1887 was attached to the staff of the Portland Oregonian, which paper he served till partial paralysis, caused by a fall, compelled him to retire. He leaves a widow and two children, Oscar, an electrical engineer, and a daughter, Mary. Two brothers survive him in Nova Scotia, A. B. Coldwell, collector of customs in Lunenburg, and Rev. E. P. Coldwell, now pastor of the New Ross church. The deceased was a very versatile writer, and his contributions to the Oregonian were read with interest. He retained his love for nature, and intensely enjoyed his annual outings. He introduced into his adopted state the willow, which the Acadians brought to his native land, and he assisted in introducing song-birds from the east and from Europe to enliven the silent forests of the Pacific slope. He also took a deep interest in introducing eastern fish into the Oregon rivers, and had the satisfaction of eating, a few years ago, shad served fresh from the waters of the Willamette. Mr. Coldwell, from the nature of his work, was one of the best known men in Portland, and his genial disposition endeared him to all he met.

We copy the following paragraph from an appreciative article in the Oregonian of March 16th, by an associate journalist:

'Mr. Coldwell was the best all-round reporter I ever knew, and much more. He was a philosopher and humorist. On everything he wrote, even to the dry routine of daily news, he put his personal impression. Sometimes it was satirical, occasionally bitter to the point of extreme severity, often clearly informative, more often qualitatively humorous and always in the spirit of self help. On his sympathetic side, he leaned to every man, woman and child that cultivated the soil either for pleasure, profit or in the struggle for bread.'

'He loved everything that grew in the earth; his most delightful studies were natural history and botany. Whenever he learned a fact, he felt it his duty to impart the information to mankind. And he never grieved at a fact. He dug wherever he could to get the truth, nor did he weary in his search. For him a noxious weed, a weed or the woolly spittle of a stool of wheat had equal interest, and he tried to exterminate enemies and improve friends.'

'He was an omnivorous reader and remembered. He knew intimately the 'Hundred Best Books' and the other two or three hundred equally good in the Portland Library. After he had finished his day's work, which for years ran far into the night, he refreshed himself and added to his store of knowledge by association with masters, ancient and modern. His favorites were Herbert Spencer and Kipling.'

'All his work was, of course, impersonal; for he served at a time when it wasn't the fashion for staff members, correspondents and contributors to sign their matter. If that had been the custom in his day he would have been more widely known than any other newspaper man in the Pacific Northwest with the one conspicuous exception—the editor of the Oregonian.'

Another journalist writes: 'I verily believe that if ever anyone tried to live up to the precepts of the golden rule the deceased was one who honestly endeavored to do so.'

The funeral services on the 17th inst., conducted by Rev. Dr. Elliot, were largely attended.

A Long Tramp.

Mr. Grant Goudge and Mr. John Mother took a tramp for exercise and prospecting the first part of last week, leaving on Tuesday morning train for Stillwater, and from there tramping over the ice on Five Mile Lake to Casticeo Lake, and again on to Indian Lake which is the outlet of these other two. And thus striking across reached the Sandy, Proctor, and Howe's Lake, and thence until they reached the Five Mile Stream, about five miles below the lake of this name, and returning by Five Mile Lake to the Stillwater Station.

They returned Wednesday. They walked altogether about forty miles, camped one night in the woods with out tent, and nothing but buckskin for covering. They reported meeting moose tracks everywhere, which is accounted for by the fact that there has not been much snow in the woods this winter, and the moose have kept moving. They returned delighted with their winter trip, and a fellow who wants to increase their vitality to try a night or two in the big woods this winter. The lakes were all possible on the ice.—Hants Journal.

Gleaned by the Way.

So, woman, you treasure another man's photograph? Don't be foolish, Henry. This is a portrait of yourself when you had hair.

Jess—Did he tell you that he loved you? Jess—No, but he hugged me. Jess—That's a roundabout way of letting you know.

Colds on the Lungs. Mrs. John A. Wilson, Little Belts, Mont. N. B. writes: "I cannot praise Dr. Chase's syrup of Marshmallow too highly for it cured my children of severe colds on the lungs and when they had whooping cough gave them relief from hard coughing and soon cured them."

Redd—Is it a fact that you have given your automobile a name? Green—Yes, named it after my wife. Because it is unmanageable? No; because it is always running people down.

The bridegroom, remarked the minister's wife, after the happy couple had departed, "seemed to be rather shy." "Yes," rejoined the good man. "He gave me only a dollar."

Confidence in Dr. Chase. The wonderful confidence which people have in Dr. A. W. Chase is based on the reliability of his famous Receipt Book and the proven curative properties of his great family medicines.

Woman of the House—A big, strong fellow like you ought to be willing to work and earn his own living. Languid—Lanucot—That's what all right, but me will power is all gone.

Pedestrian—I tell you the dog does not belong to me. Policeman—Then why does he follow you? Pedestrian—I don't know. You are following me, and you don't belong to me.

Farmer Barnes—I've bought a barometer, Hannah, tell when its grain' ter rain, ye know! Mrs. Barnes—To tell when it's grain' ter rain! Why I never heard o' such extravagance! What do ye 'pose th' good Lord had give ye th' rheumatiz fer?

"I believe," declared the Irishman, "that me youngest son's born th' be a surgeon." "That leads ye 's'ay tho'?" asked his friend.

"Oh, caugh him usin' th' scissors on a book O'd lately bought an' before O'd stop him he cut out th' appendix."

$100 paid by Dr. Shoop for any recent case of Typhoid or Cholera that is cured by Dr. Shoop's Cholera and Typhoid Tablets. The Doctor's supreme confidence in these Little Cold Cure Tablets—Prevention—is certainly complete. It's $100 against 25 cents—pretty big odds.

Remember, contains no quinine, no laxative, nothing harsh or sickening. Pneumonia would never appear if early colds were always broken. Safe and sure for feverish children. 48c Preventive 25c. A. V. Band.

Landlord—Washington once slept in that bed you occupied last night. Guest—That's more than I could do.

Fertilizing Strawberries. After a careful study of the anatomy of the strawberry plant, the Wisconsin station is of the opinion that a liberal top dressing with fine manure after the fruiting season is the most rational method of fertilizing the strawberry plantation. This dressing protects the crown of the plants from excessive summer heat and furnishes the young roots with abundant nourishment throughout the growing season, developing strong plants which are able to store up in the short stems a good supply of reserve material for the first leaf growth the following spring.

But, strengthen these men's weak inside organs with Dr. Shoop's Restorative, and then see how quickly health will again return. Weak Heart and Kidney nerves can also be strengthened with the Restorative, where Heart pain, palpitation, or Kidney weakness is found. 'Hello Girls' Draft Set of Rules.

The 'Hello Girls' in the employ of the Citizens' Telephone Company of Kenosha, Wisconsin, recently drafted the following set of rules:

If you have a telephone in your office or store, call up central and then go and wait on your customers. Of course, central can afford to wait, as she has nothing else to do.

Take your time about answering your bell, or, what is a great deal better, do not answer it at all, but wait a half an hour then ring up and get mad if central has forgotten who it was.

Hang up the receiver, big end up, as in this way it gets full of dust and out of order and this will furnish you with an excuse for swearing at the telephone system. When through talking drop the receiver or throw it down. This allows the batteries to run out and breaks the strands on the receiver cord. This gives you another excuse to kick.

Throw keys, combs, etc., on top of your telephone, which will short circuit your instrument, then go to sleep and no one can tell you.

Never speak kindly to the operator, as she is more used to being called names. If the person you call does not answer you, blame central.

Never call by number, as you don't have time to look in the directory, and central has time to burn. If you get a busy signal take an axe and knock the transmitter off. This improves the service very materially, and pleases the manager.

Medical Science Advancing Fast. Formerly doctors prescribed stomach treatment for Catarrh and Bronchitis. They seldom cure and Catarrh has become a national disease. To-day the advanced physician fights Catarrh by medicated air. He fills the lungs, nose and throat with the antiseptic vapor of Catarrhozone. Cure then is certain. Easy for Catarrhozone to cure. It contains the essence of pure pine balsam, touches all the germs and destroys the disease. Every case of Catarrh, Bronchitis and Sore Throat can be cured by Catarrhozone. 25c. and $5.00 sizes. Mrs. Brown, living in the country, had five trunks carried up by the station, some three miles away, by an old man. The day was very rainy and the old fellow was soaked through as he drove up to the door.

Mrs. Brown (with sympathy)—Why, Hamilton, you must be wet. Hamilton (shivering)—Ye-es ma'am. Mrs. Brown—Aren't you afraid you'll take cold, Hamilton?

Hamilton—Ye-es. Rheumatiz pretty bad, ma'am. Mrs. Brown—Don't you ever take something when you are soaked through, Hamilton?

Hamilton (eagerly)—Ye-es, ma'am (Rubs the back of his head against his mouth).

Mrs. Brown—Well, here are four two-grain quinine pills, Hamilton. Take them as soon as you get home.

Queen Alexandra's Pets.

Her Majesty, the Queen, often has strange pets given to her. Once she accepted a goat from the captain of a ship who had rescued it in romantic circumstances from a desert island, and in course of time the animal had three kids, which the Queen and her daughters used to feed from bottles. It is, or should be, well known that royal personages do not accept gifts from anonymous persons or from strangers, but the rule was once broken in favor of a black puppy. This fascinating little creature arrived one morning at Marlborough House wrapped up in cotton wool and enclosed in a box, addressed to Her Majesty. It was named Fluffy, and remained all its life inseparable companion of its royal mistress. Perhaps her most famous pet was a chow dog, too extraordinary in wisdom and beauty, who dwelt for many years in the then Princess of Wales's kennels. She had to be bathed in the kennels because she developed a habit of shrieking like the whistle of an express engine. She has just been presented with a beautiful specimen of a chow dog, brought direct from China.

DARK BROWN TASTE.

Your Head Aches Tongue is Coated Mouth Tastes Bad Stomach is Sick.

The Gravel Juices Are Not Doing Their Duty and You're in Grip of Nervous Despair.

A hot bitter fluid, and sour indigestible food rise in your mouth. Your vision is crossed with specks that float before the eyes. Very shortly you'll have nausea, rank breath, and sleepless nights. What you need is Ferrozene.

It regulates the gastric juices, puts new life into the stomach, braces digestive powers, gives the aid that's so badly required.

Ferrozene is the best treatment because it goes to the root of the trouble, remedies the conditions that cause dyspepsia and thereby cures permanently.

If you want proof, read the experience of Mr. E. Davidson, a well known resident of Portland, who writes: "Ferrozone is beyond doubt a most powerful cure for indigestion and weak stomach. I had been so badly disagreed with me that I was almost afraid to eat. Pastry and starchy foods fermented, caused sour risings and gave me headaches, brown taste, offensive breath. I grew weak, my weight ran down fifteen pounds and my looks fellow indicated all that was wrong. Ferrozone put me on my feet again. It braced me up, renewed my digestion and made me a well man."

Doctors and patients alike speak of the merit of Ferrozene. It is different from other remedies, different because it cures so you stay cured. Try it, sold everywhere in 50c. boxes.

What Newspapers do for the Mail.

Many people have been led to believe that the cent a paper mail rate accorded by the law to publishers mailing their papers and magazines in bulk was the cause of actual loss to the government. In a recent discussion of the subject, a writer maintaining this thesis asserted that the publications enjoying these so-called second-class privileges paid only four per cent. of the postal revenues. Whether this estimate is correct or not it is of little importance; the fact which is important, and which biased and thoughtless critics ignore, is that the granting of the second-class privilege has brought millions of profitable first class business to the postal service. It is on record in the archives of the postal commission, which set in New York in October, 1906, that a single advertisement in a publication enjoying second-class rates was the cause of the writing of more than 3,000 letters. This case might be multiplied by thousands, and it would be shown that, far from being itself the cause of a deficit in the postal revenues, the second-class privilege goes far to make up for the losses occasioned by rural delivery, the ridiculous abuses of franking privilege, and the failure to credit the Postoffice Department with the mail carried for all other government departments.—Leslie's Weekly.

Question for Every Reader.

If you could find a simple vegetable remedy for keeping all organs healthy and strong—wouldn't you use it? Most pills are harsh, cause pain, and sick stomach. Dr. Hamilton's Pills are different—they regulate and cleanse the system so gently, act so silently you scarcely realize you've taken medicine. You are cleansed—appetite improves—color clears—sleep is restored. Every man, woman and child is helped by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Try a 25c. box.

New Brunswick's Rhodes Scholar for 1906 will be Rupert M. River, B. A., of Carleton, who has been nominated by the faculty of St. Joseph's College. He graduated from St. Joseph's in 1905 after a course marked by exceptional brilliancy and by faithfulness in study. He was known as a young man of particularly worthy character and his fitness to represent New Brunswick and the assistance that he will bring credit to his Alma Mater will not be doubted by any who know him. At St. Joseph's Mr. River did especially well in his classics and mathematics. He also speaks French as fluently as English.

WOMAN'S BACKACHE

The back is the main spring of woman's organism. It quickly calls attention to trouble by aching. It tells, with other symptoms, such as nervousness, headache, pains in the loins, weight in the lower part of the body, that a woman's feminine organic needs immediate remedy.

In such cases the one sure remedy which speedily removes the cause, and restores feminine equilibrium to a healthy, normal condition is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For six years I have been doctoring for female weakness, heart and nerve, liver and kidney trouble, but in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I have found a cure.

"I was continually bothered with the most distressing backache, headaches, and bearing down pains, and I kept growing more and more nervous."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound relieved me of all these distressing symptoms and made me a well woman. I would advise all suffering women, young or old, to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN. For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

Dr. M. E. Davidson, a well known resident of Portland, who writes: "Ferrozone is beyond doubt a most powerful cure for indigestion and weak stomach. Help Men to be Sober. It is one part of the work of temperance reform to seek to vindicate the cause by legislation—to secure prohibitory enactments wherever their enforcement is practical and elsewhere to make restrictive legislation as severe and effective as possible for the limitation of the evils of the traffic. But the work of the temperance work has another side, though legitimate and highly important, is not perhaps regarded in that light as it should be. To close the saloons to a man who is addicted to the use of strong drink is good so far as it goes, but it needs to be supplemented with something which shall help him to overcome his appetite and arouse in him the ambition to lead a sober and useful life. The man who prefers drunkenness to sobriety will generally find the means of getting drunk under any form of temperance legislation. But there are many men, especially in our larger towns and cities, who could be helped out of the slough of drunkenness by the sympathy and encouragement which might be given them by those who are standing on firmer ground. A very encouraging evidence of this is found, we think, in the work which the Every Day Club of St. John is doing and has been doing for more than a year past. The work which is being done by the club deserves encouragement, and we hope to see it placed on a permanent basis and its scope enlarged. The Baptist Times and Freeman of London notes the success which has attended an attempt to provide counter attractions to the public house in Middlesborough, and thinks the experiment might be well imitated in other places. A few months ago a spacious hall was erected with glass roof and artistically tiled walls, furnished with an abundance of chairs and tables and opened as a winter garden. The name is justified by a sufficiency of hanging and other plants to give the hall a festive and genial appearance. A band plays every night, games are provided, and non-alcoholic refreshments are supplied at a nominal price. Smoking is permitted as a matter of course. The hall is open all day and is kept at a pleasant temperature in the winter by means of hot-water pipes. One penny is charged for admission. That such a place act as an effective counter attraction to the public house is proved by the fact that, since this winter garden was opened, three months ago, the daily attendance has been nearly 1,500, and on some occasions it has been too small to accommodate all who wished to enter.

The Look of a Child. "I remember that the greatest lesson I have ever learned in my life," said the by-stander, "was pointed out to me by my little daughter. I had never been a drinking man; but sometimes after the theatre, I am ashamed to confess, that I came home every night slightly the worse for wear and liquor. The habit grew on me, in spite of tearful entreaties from my wife. I took a bottle of whiskey home one afternoon. After dinner I made for the bottle, which I had left in my study, poured out a glass and raised it to my lips, when I caught a reflection in the polished woodwork of the wall. I turned quickly, and there was my little daughter standing in the doorway looking at me. I could never describe the expression on her face. If one might say it of a child, it was a commingling of reproach, pity and disgust. Probably she had overheard conversations between her mother and myself; perhaps it was instinct. I have not taken an other drink from that day to this,"—Home Herald.

Points to Ponder. A KANSAS ROAD. The Kansas press is just now boasting of the superior moral condition of their state, and they have good reason for the boast; for 85 out of its 103 counties have not a single officially reported pauper, and 25 of these counties have no almshouses and 35 are without a criminal case on the docket. Something more than twenty years have passed since Kansas adopted prohibition. The present condition of that state is a splendid object lesson to the rest of the country; and yet you still hear the cry "Prohibition takes away the people's liberty, and you can't make people moral by law"—Tom Review.

Remove Poisons FROM THE SYSTEM. There are three ways and three only, by which the human body can be rid of poisons, waste matter—the bowels, the kidneys and the skin. It is only when the bowels become sluggish and congested that the kidneys play out as a result of the excessive work thrown upon them. Now, there is only one medical treatment that fully restores the condition of affairs.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. For they regulate the bowels as well as the kidneys, and thereby remove the cause of trouble and cure the most complicated cases. You can scarcely find a case of kidney disease which did not begin with liver and bowel disorders, and which could therefore have been prevented by the great prescription of the famous Receipt Book author. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Mrs. E. Morrow, Bracebridge, Ont., writes: "For several years I was troubled with constipation and severe headaches. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills freed me of these ailments and improved my health in a general way. I always recommend them."

They urged the demoralizing effects of the drink traffic and the lamentable things they are constantly meeting in their pastoral relations to the people.

A physician in a dry country of Missouri, says the Central Baptist, undertook to sell prescriptions for whiskey, writing orders for all who applied at 25 cents each. The courts fined him $1,500 and the state board of health revoked his license. This is a good lesson.

Prof. H. A. Howell, of Havana, Cuba, Recommends Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. "As long as I can remember my mother was a faithful user and friend of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, but never in my life have I realized its true value until now, writes Prof. H. A. Howell, of Howell's American School, Havana, Cuba. "On the night of February 2nd our baby was taken sick with a severe cold, the next day was worse and the following night his condition was desperate. He could not lie down and it was necessary to have him in the arms every moment. Even then his suffering was difficult. I did not think he would live until morning. At last I thought of my mother's remedy, Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which we gave, and it afforded prompt relief, and now, three days later, he has fully recovered. Under the circumstances I would not hesitate a moment in saying that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best remedy for children, and we hope to see it placed on a permanent basis and its scope enlarged. The Baptist Times and Freeman of London notes the success which has attended an attempt to provide counter attractions to the public house in Middlesborough, and thinks the experiment might be well imitated in other places. A few months ago a spacious hall was erected with glass roof and artistically tiled walls, furnished with an abundance of chairs and tables and opened as a winter garden. The name is justified by a sufficiency of hanging and other plants to give the hall a festive and genial appearance. A band plays every night, games are provided, and non-alcoholic refreshments are supplied at a nominal price. Smoking is permitted as a matter of course. The hall is open all day and is kept at a pleasant temperature in the winter by means of hot-water pipes. One penny is charged for admission. That such a place act as an effective counter attraction to the public house is proved by the fact that, since this winter garden was opened, three months ago, the daily attendance has been nearly 1,500, and on some occasions it has been too small to accommodate all who wished to enter.

Unequaled as a Cure for Croup. Besides being an excellent remedy for colds and throat troubles, Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is unequaled as a cure for croup, says Harry Wilson of Waynesboro, Ind. When given as soon as the croupy cough appears, this remedy will prevent the attack. It is used successfully in many thousands of homes for sale by Band's Drug Store.

If you would like to feel some wise Coffee Critic, who "knows the Coffee on taste and flavor", quietly make for him a batch of Dr. Shoop's "Habit Coffee" and serve it piping hot. It decided Mr. Shoop, and will I believe deceive any one. And there is not a grain of real Coffee in it. Habit Coffee is made from pure toasted grains, malt, nuts, etc. Made in a Minute—no 20 to 30 minutes told one boiling. 1 1/2 pounds 25c, T. L. Hart.
