CHAPTER VIII.

"Do you really find time for these?" she asked. "If so, come and let me give you some tea. We are going straight home."

"I'm sorry," he replied. "But I must get back to the Babbie shop—some call it the 'Babble' shop. I'll get down here, if I may?"

"In future years, if I am spared, I shall boast that Mr. Clive Harvey, the great statesman, once asked me a favor," she said, smiling up at him as he stood, hat in hand, beside the carriage. "I shall not be believed, but no matter."

"And I shall boast that Lady Edith granted the request, and I shall be believed by all who know—how golden her heart is," he responded.

He was turning away with this parting, silken phrase; but she leaned forward and touched him lightly on his sleeve to stay him.

"You got my aunt's, Lady Dalrymple's card?"

He had forgotten it; but he nodded swiftly.

"Yes; and thank you."

When he had gone she dropped back with a quick sigh. Her eyes were downcast, but there was a smile in them, and a smile curved her lips.

She looked up presently and met Sara's dark, brooding eyes fixed on her, and made a slight movement of impatience.

"That was Mr. Clive Harvey, Sara," she said, almost defiantly.

Sara nodded. "I know, dearie," she said.

"I meant to cut him—I told you," said Lady Edith, with an uneasy laugh, one almost of apology. "But—well, I didn't."

"No, dearie, you didn't," said Sara soothingly. "He is a fine, a handsome sahib. And he is not like the other English sahibs; he can talk, ah, yes; he can talk, your Mr. Harvey!"

"Yes, he can talk," said Lady Edith softly. "But—the color rose to her face, and she laughed—"you must not call him my Mr. Harvey, Sara."

Sara made no response; but leaned back and folded her arms across her flat bosom and shut her lips tightly.

The House sat late that night, and Clive did not reach the Dalrymples' until past one. Lady Edith, though she had not directed a single glance toward the entrance, and had danced and talked with the ease and grace which distinguished her, began to grow listless and weary.

"He cometh not," the plaint of the Mariana echoed in her heart, though the smile scarcely relaxed on her face, and her voice gave no tone of the suspense.

that knaved at her and made her furious with self-scorn; but presently she saw him come in, and her scorn was intensified by the thrill his presence caused her.

He came straight across the room to where she was sitting, surrounded, in an interval of the dance, by the usual little group of men who worshipped at her shrine; and, though every step of his found its echo in her heart, she did not look at him until he was close at her side and was speaking.

"Am I too late for a dance, Lady Edith?" he said. "The House is just up, alas!"

She looked at her programme. "There is one waltz," she said coldly, "but my father is going, I think."

In his prompt fashion, Clive went off in search of him.

"Want to dance with Edith?" said Lord Chesterleigh, smothering a yawn. "Only just come? I should have thought you'd both of you been better in bed; but, all right, I'll wait, my dear fellow; what else are fathers good for?"

Clive went back, and, without a word, offered her his arm. Coldly still, she walked by his side; then he put his arm round her and they began to waltz.

Her coldness melted as the snow melts in the hot sun of summer. Clive danced well, as do all men with whom music is a passion; with her eyes half-closed, her hand lying in his, her cheek almost touching his shoulder, they glided to the exquisite strains of the best band in Europe.

For the first time in her life, Edith Chesterleigh knew what happiness might mean, for this was a foretaste of it. Her heart beat as she thought it would never have beaten; her breath came painfully, yet with a pain that was half a joy. She raised her eyes—they were heavy as if the lids were weighted—and looked up at him with a shy, tender dreaminess.

But there was no response in his. He was looking straight before him, gravely, almost sternly—and the very gravity and sternness added to the spell which held her in thrall; for he was seeing nothing of the magnificent ballroom, the brilliant crowd that thronged them; in their place was a poor, shabby little room in Benson's Rents, with a girlish figure bending over the keys; and the exquisite and moving music to which he was dancing was drowned by the five-finger exercise played by the little street-singer—whom he had promised never to see again.

CHAPTER IX.

Three mornings after Lady Dalrymple's ball, as Elisha came into the little living-room where Tibby and Mina were having their breakfast, Tibby threw a letter across the table. Their letters were so few and infrequent that both girls watched him with curiosity as he slowly and nervously opened the envelope, and Mina started when he looked up flushed and agitated and uttered a cry of amazement.

"What is it? Somebody left you a letter?"

"No, no, Tibby," put in Elisha hastily, "just an ordinary bowler; it ain't as if I was one of them foreigners with long hair."

"I dessay you'll have to let it grow," said Tibby, eying him with her head on one side. "I've seen portraits of 'em in shop-windows. 'Ow-er, you'll soon be able to find out what's proper. I must go to work, now. If the Prince o' Wales should drop in while I'm out, say I've gone to call on the Duchess of Petticoat Lane, and that I shan't be in till I come back. Mina, when you've done staring at the wall, you might get fortune, father?" demanded Tibby, sharply. "Or is it taxes? Taxes! As if the king couldn't manage to get along without our assistance. Not that I've got anything against 'im; and I dessay not a 'art of what's collected goes into his pocket."

"It's from the gentleman—Mr. Clive!" gasped Elisha, breaking in upon her. "He's got some pupils, two! Here's their names and addresses—real swells, one of 'em real ladies!—and—and—I'm to have half a guinea a lesson! Half—a guinea! Phew!" He laughed quaveringly and wiped the perspiration from his face as he looked from one to the other in a kind of stupor.

"Seems too good to be true," said Tibby. "Sure it ain't what they call a practical joke, same as some of the girls at the factory ore fond of? And if it ain't, it ought to be; for how can you go a-teaching real swells in them togs?"

"He's thought of that," replied Elisha; "he's enclosed a postal note for two pounds, in case I should want it, as he says. Did you ever hear of such a thing, such a kind thing?"

Tibby shook her head and pursed up her lips.

"If you was to ask me, I should say he was one of those cranks, one of the sort that chucks their money about—let's look at the order. Yes; it looks all right," she admitted grudgingly. "But I should go straight to the post-office after breakfast and try and get it changed. You can show the letter if they make any bobbyery about it. It's just as well to be careful."

"Two pounds—and half a guinea a lesson twice a week, that's two guineas a week."

"You ain't forgot your 'rithmetic, father?"

"Why—why, we shall be quite rich!" He looked round the room with a dazed air. "Mina will be able to go to them classes she's lankering after, and you can both get some new dresses; and we might go into better rooms."

"An' the carriage an' pair; shall you buy that this afternoon or wait till to-morrow?" said Tibby. "Keep you 'air on, father, we'd better wait till we see how long this beno lasts before we make a move for Park Lane or Grosvenor Square. Not but that Mina might go to these classes; though what she wants with more schoolin', and why she should set her fancy on it, beats me. Let's see the letter. Have you read it, Mina? For you'll have to write and thank him—in father's name, o' course," she added sharply.

Mina had not spoken, but had sat with her large eyes fixed on Elisha's face; her own was very pale.

She took the letter as if it were something that must be delicately handled, and read it, noting the firm, bold handwriting, the thick, nice-feeling paper; then, without raising her eyes, she said in a low, soft voice:

"There is no address; it isn't even signed."

Great
Skin Cure
Stirs Country.

A new scientific discovery for skin diseases is attracting the attention of all doctors in Newfoundland and Canada. This discovery gives instant relief to the most aggravated cases of Eczema and allied diseases and brings about permanent cures in a fortnight. It is called the D. D. D. Prescription for Eczema.

Apparently no case of eczema can stand against this simple remedy, D. D. D. Prescription. As soon as the first few drops of this cleansing, soothing liquid are applied, the itch is gone.

D. D. D. cures because it penetrates the skin and washes away impurities, unlike greasy salves which merely clog the pores and aggravate disease. D. D. D. penetrates to the disease germs, kills them and then soothes and heals the skin.

D. D. D. is being used with great success for all forms of Eczema, Bad Leg, Pimples, Psoriasis, Salt Rheum, Ulcers, Barber's Itch and in fact all skin diseases.

Test this great cure; don't delay. Get a bottle of D. D. D. Prescription to-day. Sold Everywhere.

your things on. Two pounds in a week—an' lords an' ladies! This family's on the bend!"

In a tremor of excitement, Elisha hurried to the nearest post-office with Mina by his side; he walked so fast that she could have scarcely kept up with him if he had not at intervals stopped dead short and gazed into vacancy, as if he were endeavoring to persuade himself that the whole thing was not a fairy-story. The order proved to be authentic, and, with the money clutched in his hand, Elisha went to the tailor's a few doors higher up. Two pounds go a long way in second-hand clothes—he would not have dreamed of the extravagance of new ones—and when he had bargained and haggled with the Jew until both were hot and breathless, he came out with a black suit and fifteen shillings to the good. With the balance he wanted to buy a dress for each of the girls; but Mina succeeded in restraining him.

"Tibby would be angry, Elisha," she said, with the wisdom of the thrifty poor. "She would rather have the money."

"That's so, I dessay," he assented reluctantly; "but you'll want a proper rig-out for the school, Mina."

"No, no; I am all right," she said quickly. "I have my best dress and hat, and it's too warm for a jacket." Then, seeing his disappointment, she added: "But Tibby wants a pair of boots, and I'd like a collar and a pair of cuffs; nothing else; indeed, I've got everything else; besides, I may want some books; but I can get them at the second-hand stall in Marke' Street; I'm sure I've often seen them."

"And longed for them, I dessay," he said wistfully. "Mina, I'd like to be rich. I hope I shall get on, for your and Tibby's sakes—"

"And for Mr. Clive's," she suggested, in a low voice.

"An' for his, o' course. I should like to do him credit. It's that makes me so nervous. I'm all of a shake; feel my hand! Why, you're trembling, too, Mina! Well, it ain't to be surprised at! Two guineas a week. Phew! I ain't sure whether I'm on my 'ead or my 'eels. But what a swell 'e must be to 'ave such friends, eh, Mina? An' to think of his goin' out o' his way to be so kind to the likes o' us! An' yet that chap that spouts in 'Ide Park on Sunday mornin' says as the rich are all rotten and bad an' selfish! It's pretty plain as 'e ain't met anybody like our Mr. Clive!"

"Of course, you will pay him back the two pounds!" she said, after a pause, during which Elisha kept murmuring:

"Half a guinea a lesson—two guineas a week!"

The Home Dressmaker should keep a Catalogue Scrap Book of our Pattern Cuts. These will be found very useful to refer to from time to time.

1895—A UNIQUE AND COMFORTABLE HOUSE APRON.

The body and sleeve in one idea has been carried out in garments of every sort, hence the busy sewer and home dressmaker, will welcome this mode in an apron that is not only simple but practical in that it covers most all of the dress worn underneath, and is easy to make because of few seams. The design is suitable for percale, alpaca, lawn, gingham, seersucker or chambray. The free edges could be scalloped and embroidered. Blue and white checked gingham, with bandings of white would be neat and would launder well. The Pattern is cut in 3 sizes: Small, Medium and Large. It requires 3 1/2 yards of 36 inch material for a Medium size.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. in silver or stamps.

1405—A NEW AND TRIM MODEL Ladies' Apron.

This style has deep shaped yoke portions to which waist portions are joined, and a three piece skirt with a neat pocket. The design as here shown was developed in striped percale. It is also nice for satenee, gingham, drill, linen, madras, cretonne, lawn or alpaca. The pattern is cut in 3 sizes: Small, Medium and Large. It requires 5 yards of 36 inch material for a Medium size.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. in silver or stamps.

OFFICIAL.

LONDON, Sept. 28.
 The Governor, Newfoundland:

General French reports enemy counter-attacks repulsed with heavy loss. At Hulluch, progress has been made, also east of Loos. The total British captures are 53 officers, 23 hundred men, 18 guns, and 32 machine guns.

The French Government reports continued fighting in Champagne. The French troops are now on a wide front before the second German line which is defended by concealed barbed wire. Some further progress is reported this afternoon.

In the Argonne the Germans have received a serious check from French counter-attacks.

Severe fighting continues at various points on the Russian front.

HOLDING BACK PARTICULARS OF BIG BATTLE.
HALIFAX, Sept. 28.
 Censors are holding up particulars of big fight.

ST. PIERRE BULLETIN.

PARIS, via St. Pierre, Sept. 28.

In Artois, during the evening and night, we gained ground nearer and nearer toward the crests, east and southeast of Souchez.

In Champagne the Germans resist on their extended and hidden reserve positions, protected with barbed wire entanglements.

We realized further progress toward Hill 182, west of Navarin farm and towards La Justice north of Massiges.

In Argonne the stubborn attacks launched yesterday by the enemy, with six to eight battalions, against our first line of trenches of La Fille Mote and Nolanie, resulted in a serious check for the enemy. During the night our counter-attacks permitted us to chase the German infantry from nearly all points where they had penetrated. The ground in front of our trenches is strewn with enemy corpses.

The night was relatively quiet on the remainder of the front.

CROWN PRINCE'S ARMY LOSE HEAVILY.

Sept. 28.—Intelligence from the Champagne front beyond Champs which reaches Paris to-day, shows that it was the right of the German Crown Prince's army which was shattered in the attacks on Friday and made furious efforts to counter in the Argonne yesterday with the result that all the railway lines to the east and north, according to French information, were engaged last night in carrying away the German wounded. French officials reckon that the Crown Prince's army lost 100,000 men in this attack and previous assaults during the summer. Germans captured recently testify that the resistance of the French has been as destructive as their offensive and that their artillery fire which was of deadly effect a year ago has now attained such intensity as to work demoralization among their opponents. French officers say the drive against Verdun is being transferred gradually into a defence of Metz, for the French are creeping slowly and steadily closer to the Lorraine stronghold.

ALLIES' NEW OFFENSIVE MAKES FURTHER GAINS.

PARIS, Sept. 28.
 The new offensive movement of the Allies has resulted in further gains in the Artois region near Souchez, the French War Office announced today. Additional progress is also reported in Champagne. The German counter-attack in the Argonne is said to have been repulsed and the Germans left the ground covered with their dead.

FRENCH MAKE FURTHER GAINS.

PARIS, Sept. 28.
 The French troops fighting on the western front have made further gains on the grounds east of Souchez and north of Massiges, the prisoners taken including Germans recently brought back from the Russian front, according to an official statement issued by the War Office to-night. Heavy artillery action is in progress in Argonne.

THE UNITED STATES AND TURKISH ATROCITIES.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.
 Count Von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador, today sent a communication to the State Department saying that reports of Turkish atrocities against Armenians were greatly exaggerated, and defending it in part, the action the Turks having been provoked. While the Ambassador's letter does not deny that extreme penalties have been imposed upon Armenians by the Turks, he stated that attempts to stir up rebellion, revolt and treasonable activity had made the Armenian policy necessary, as a war time measure. Since Turkey has let it be known that no foreign interference with her Armenian policy will be permitted, the United States will probably avoid the matter as a subject for any formal protest, unless Americans become involved.

ASQUITH AND GREY IN THE COMMONS.

LONDON, Sept. 28.
 "If Bulgarian mobilization should result in Bulgaria assuming an aggressive attitude on the side of our enemies, we are prepared to give our friends in the Balkans all the support in our power, in the manner that would be most welcome to them, and in concert with our Allies." Such was the announcement made by Sir Edward Grey, British Foreign Secretary, in the Commons this afternoon. Premier Asquith made an urgent appeal to all his hearers to abstain from raising questions regarding recruiting for national service. "We are at a critical moment in the history of the war," the Premier said. "We are watching with most intense sympathy and hope the gallant combined efforts of the Allied forces. I do not think greater injury could be rendered to this country and the cause of the Allies, than that at this moment a suggestion should go forth to the world that there is any division of opinion here." The speeches of the Premier and Foreign Secretary Grey were followed with the closest attention as they dealt with phases of the war situation which are of particular interest at present. Sir Edward Grey emphasized the long standing friendship between Britain and Bulgaria, and added, "our official information from the Bulgarian Government is that they have taken up a position of armed neutrality to defend their rights and independence; and that they have no aggressive intentions against their Balkan neighbors. Not only is there no hostility in this country toward Bulgaria, but there is a traditionally warm feeling of sympathy with the Bulgarian people. So long as Bulgaria does not side with the enemies of Britain and her Allies, there can be no question of British influence or forces being used in any sense hostile to Bulgarian interests. So long as the Bulgarian attitude is unaggressive, there can be no disturbance of those friendly relations." After making the announcement that if Bulgaria should assume an aggressive attitude on the side of Britain's enemies, the Government would take action, Sir Edward continued: "We are, of course, consulting with our Allies on this situation. I believe that the view which I express is theirs also, our policy being to secure an agreement in respect to the Balkan States, which will insure each of them only independence, but a brilliant future based on the general principle of the territorial and political union of kindred nations. To secure this agreement we recognize that the legitimate aspirations of the Balkan States must find satisfaction. The policy of Germany, on the other hand, has been created for her own purpose of disunion and war among the Balkan States. She may use Austria-

Hungary to precipitate war, with the result that the Empire is completely subordinated to Germany and dependent upon her. Turkey, whose interests would have been preserved if she had remained neutral, being gratuitously purchased by Germany into war, is now being subordinated and made dependent on Germany's aspiration and influence from Berlin to Baghdad. In the same way it would naturally be Germany's policy to use any Balkan State with the inevitable result that those States eventually would be subordinated to her, and that though territorial gains might be promised, they would lose their independence. This is directly contrary to the policy of the Allies, which is to further the national aspirations of the Balkan States without sacrificing the independence of any of them."

A TRUCE PROPOSED.

BERLIN, Sept. 28.
 A report from Switzerland says that the Pope is preparing a circular letter to belligerents asking for a general truce on All Souls Day, dedicated to the memory of the soldiers who have perished in the war.

HALF BILLION LOAN.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.
 The Anglo-French financial commission announced to-night that the proposed credit loan for Britain and France, will be five hundred million dollars, and would be issued on joint Anglo-French five year 5% bonds, offered to the public at 98%. A syndicate of underwriters numbering 99 is announced; also that the bonds will be issued in denominations as low as one hundred dollars, subscribers might pay for them by installments.

DUMBA'S APPEAL.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.
 Dr. Dumba, the Austrian Ambassador to the States, formally recalled by the Government State Department, is arranging with the British and French embassies here for his safe conduct on a steamer sailing from New York on October 5th.

GREEK RESERVISTS ORDERED HOME.

MONTREAL, Sept. 28.
 Greek reservists in Canada have been ordered home. The recall order reached the Greek Consulate in Montreal this morning from Athens.

DELAYED STEAMER SAILS.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 28.
 The Anchor Line steamer Cameronia, which was delayed in the Mersey yesterday by a defect in her machinery, after sailing for New York resumed her voyage to-day.

BRITISH SUBMARINES IN BALTIC.

LONDON, Sept. 28.
 Silence of the Admiralty regarding the work of British submarines in the Baltic was explained in the Commons to-day by Thomas Ma-Namara. He said, in response to a question, that these submarines were under orders of the Russian Commander-in-Chief. The House will realize how much gallant and successful work is being done by these vessels, he said, but the responsibility of deciding what shall be made public of their proceedings in the Baltic must rest with the Russian Admiralty Commander Noel Lawree, the officer who was decorated by the Russian Government for the successful torpedo attack on the Moltke.

EXPLOSION ON ITALIAN BATTLESHIP.

PARIS, Sept. 28.
 A despatch from Brindisi says that a fire followed by an explosion, occurred on board the Italian battleship Benedetto Brin. Eight officers and 379 marines have been saved thus far.

NAVIGATION PROHIBITED.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.
 Navigation of the Bristol channel and entrance to the Welsh coal ports of Cardiff and Port Bristol, have been prohibited by the British Government until further notice, owing to the probable presence in the vicinity of German submarines. This information is contained in a despatch received to-day by the State Department from Consul General Skinner of London.

CHINA WILL BUILD SHIPS.

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 28.
 For the first time in history, Chinese ship builders are competitors with European yards. The steamship company at Drammen, Norway, have ordered their steamers in China to be delivered in 1916 and 1917. Placing this order in China is due to the unusual pressure on the home yards.

Labor Will Help Britain to Gain Victory.

Vancouver, Sept. 28.—"Under existing conditions labor must lend every assistance to Great Britain and her allies in the mighty effort to secure early and final victory."

On these words in the Executive Committee's report an acrimonious discussion took place last night at the session of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, an amendment being made for their elimination, but this was defeated on a vote of 103 to 28.

The Big Loans and the Nid Loans

An official announcement has been made that a definite plan has been formed for the raising of the half billion loan in the United States to stabilize exchange and carry on the export trade from the United States to the British Isles and France. Ninety six banking houses are co-operating with J. P. Morgan Company in floating and underwriting the loan. In this connection, it may be well to remember that the German bankers in the States who wish to take part in the arrangement have been excluded. This exclusion in view of the exposure which has been made in the Dumba and Von Papen letters found on Archibald, which were seized by the British authorities, is a wise precaution. In these papers it was shown that a scheme was promoted to be financed by Germany, under which certain firms should take Munition contracts from the Allies and embarrass the latter by failing to make deliveries under the contracts. The Anglo-French Financial Commission had their eyes opened to the probability of groups of German bankers undertaking to handle blocks of the loan, and the intention of failing to float their blocks successfully and also failing to furnish the money they undertook to find. Then this failure would be blazoned throughout the world as a failure of the Anglo-French Loan in the United States. By excluding the German banking houses from the loan, the Commission has prevented the playing of the game with finance that was attempted with munitions. This loan is to be issued at exceptionally attractive terms and the general public will be allowed to participate as the bonds will be issued in denominations as low as One hundred dollars. The yield to investors is said to be Five and a half per cent, and that these bonds will be repayable when they mature in cash or can be converted into Four and a half joint Anglo-French debentures at four and a half per cent, redeemable from ten to twenty years after the maturity of the original bonds. At a time the Anglo-French Commission is calling up so much money in the United States and offering Five and a half per cent interest for it, any one can see why the Newfoundland Government has not attempted to issue the Four per cent bonds authorized by the Loan Act, put through the Legislature by the Morris-Cashin Government last session. We warned them at the time of the unattractive form of these debentures and intimated the desirability of taking expert financial advice before proceeding further with the bills then before the Legislature. But neither Sir Edward Morris the Premier, nor the Hon. M. P. Cashin, the Finance Minister, could read the signs of the times and they persisted in going on blindly with the result that there has been nothing doing the past six months on these Loan Acts.

How the Italians Captured Base ON MOUNTAIN'S TOP.

Lausanne, Switzerland, Sept. 23 (via Paris).-Winter snows are already falling in the Alps, rendering still more perilous the work of the Italian and Austrian troops, who are engaged in warfare in the mountainous region near the border.

A correspondent of the Gazette de Lausanne describes the recent battle for possession of the Austrian stronghold, of top of Froelkofel mountain, 9,000 feet high. The attack was made under most difficult conditions. Troops had prepared for an assault from the East. Two battalions of Italian Alpine troops made their way around the mountain and attacked the Austrians from the rear. To reach the summit they were compelled to scale the precipitous side of the mountain, clinging to ropes, placed in position by mountaineers.

The correspondent states that the Italians captured 250 Austrians and a large quantity of munitions.

McMurdo's Store News

WEDNESDAY, Sept. 29th, 1915. To-day we announce that our Flowering Bulbs have arrived, and are now to order. These comprise Single and Double Daffodils, Narcissus, Tulips and Miniature Hyacinths. Owing to the war in Europe, by which the Holland is not engaged in it, the supply of Dutch Bulbs is greatly curtailed, our list is shorter and includes fewer varieties than usual. However we can recommend the quality of those we have as reaching a high standard. The prices though a little higher than usual, are still moderate.

Russian Outpour of Munitions Sixfold Greater.

Paris, Sept. 21.-The mission of Pierre Bark, finance commissioner of Russia, who now is in Paris to confer with Minister of Finance Ribot, and later will go to England to consult the Rt. Hon. Reginald McKenna, Chancellor of the Exchequer, is to study financial questions, notably that of exchange, he told newspaper correspondents last night.

"The stability of the franc and the pound," M. Bark declared, "are as important to the Allies as that of the ruble, and the Franco-British mission to America marks a great step. The solidarity of the Allies is thus demonstrated to the whole world and the intrigues of Germanophiles in New York proves the far-reaching bearing of these negotiations. It is to be hoped that bonds of sympathy and solidarity between the Allied governments will be extended to the great banks of the nations. We have seen the fruitful results of the convention between the banks of France and Russia last winter to liquidate outstanding accounts with regard to Russia.

"We are doing everything we can to encourage export trade but under the present circumstances of our country there is great difficulty in sending out its principal riches--cereals and naphtha. This is not less important than to facilitate the flow of capital to the treasury office.

"Concerning munitions it suffices for me to say that in the past semester the output has increased sixfold. To remedy the falling off in the number of munitions workers the government has given formal orders that all labor required by mines and factories working for the national defence shall be placed at their disposal immediately."

Roosevelt Throws Hat Into Ring

AS CANDIDATE IN 1916. Washington, D. C., Sept. 23.-Col. Theodore Roosevelt is a candidate for the Republican nomination for President.

While the Colonel is having a bully time hunting up in Canada his lieutenants have perfected arrangements to place his name on the republican ballots in nearly every state possessing the direct primary system.

Minnesota, Montana, Washington, Indiana and New Hampshire have already been heard from. The significance of this lies in the fact that Minnesota, Indiana and New Hampshire are the three states to hold a presidential primary next year, and if Roosevelt should get the jump on the regular Republican aspirants in those states he would become a factor in the pre-convention campaign, and possibly such a factor that his nomination either would be forced or the battle of 1912 repeated.

YOUR BOYS AND GIRLS

The coming baby's layette must be simple, dainty, comfortable and ample enough to permit of absolute cleanliness. In the preparation do not make the mistake of having too large a size, as the baby's growth and the tiny garments must be all too soon discarded. Besides most babies have kind friends who lavish practical gifts.

An ample supply for a first outfit is half a dozen slips, four better dresses, and one or two, perhaps, for gala occasions, four flannel petticoats, half a dozen white ones with one or two more elaborate skirts for best, three wrappers, half a dozen night dresses, two short kimonos, a dozen or more diapers, half a dozen shirts, the same number of bands, and half a dozen pairs of socks.

Submarine Ethics.

Under the British flag there are more submarines than any other country owns; the officers and men have shown the highest efficiency whenever a target has been offered as incidents in the Baltic and the Sea of Marmora, in particular, have illustrated. The British contention is a simple one. Submersible craft must not be allowed to infringe the laws of God and man which all civilized States have hitherto held to be binding. In other words, the claim-and it is humanity's claim-is that these ships may be employed in legitimate naval operations, but that the murder of non-combatants, though the agent of a submarine, is none the less murder, whether the victims are passengers or sailors and they are traveling in liner or cargo boat.-London Daily Telegraph.

COAL CARRIER SOLD.—The s.s. Wasis, which is well known here, having piled in the Nfld. coal-trade for some time past, has been sold to the Imperial Government by the Nova Scotia Coal Co. The removal of the ship from the coal trade will greatly interfere with the shipments during the fall, and it is likely some of our local steamers will be chartered so as to prevent a shortage in the spring.

RE-STOWING DANE'S CARGO.—The Danish steamer Nordboen, which was compelled to come here yesterday owing to her deck load of lumber running adrift, is at the Allan Line pier discharging. Only that part of the cargo which shifted is to be landed and re-stowed. The work is being carried on with all possible despatch, a large batch of city workmen being engaged. It is not likely the ship will be able to resume the voyage before Saturday next. Her destination is London.

America's Acquiescence.

Four months have passed since the sinking of the Lusitania, and, although Germany is not rushing to reply to President Wilson's last letter, she may be relied upon to continue the elegant correspondence until American sentiment ceases to be disturbed by the murder of American citizens. Thus America may be assured of peace, but at a price that must limit her influence to the confines of her own borders. More might be said, but it is a matter which must be left to the discretion of American men and women who will continue to live in a world of their own making. The torpedoing of the Arabic adds another item to the account.

Colonel Harvey, the outspoken Editor of The North American Review, is under no misapprehension, and in his column openly challenges the Wilsonian interpretation of the motto "America First." Sentiment is a fine thing, but unless backed by commensurate action its display invites scorn. This Col. Harvey fully recognizes when he says there "come times when it is advisable to clear away the mists of logomachy and take a fresh perspective, to the end that there shall be no obscuration of the straight line of duty. To our mind this is one of those times because—and too great stress cannot be put upon the vital fact—our nation is now at the parting of the ways. One path points to honour and self-respect, the other to obsequy and shame; one to maintenance of free democracy, the other to craven submission to arrogant monarchy; one to America First in reality as well as in words, the other to Americans Last in the consideration of their own Government."

The facts of the case suggest that Germany despises America and ladies out the thinnest bluff, as when she claims that she is the unwilling victim of an offensive war. This rouses the Colonel to reply:—

It may, indeed, prove to be a fight for existence; but "forced upon Germany" "Then it was England, not Germany, that was fully armed and equipped and ready to spring at a moment's notice! And it was France, not Germany, that tore up the "scrap of paper" and made the irresistible drive through brave little Belgium, devastating her fields, burning her villages, shooting her old men, violating her women; France, rushing on and on a mad fury to the very gates of Berlin until—why, until the unoffending Germans, drawn hurriedly from all parts of the Empire to defend the firebrands of the Fatherland, managed to gather in sufficient numbers to crowd back the overreaching invaders; of course; and, of course, too, we understand—"understand and appreciate"—that in such circumstances it is indeed "the sacred duty of the Imperial Government to do all within its power to protect and save the lives of German subjects," even though the despised Americans and other helpless neutrals do perish in the process. Of what consequence are their paltry lives—the lives of men like Frohman and Pearson and Hubbard, and of mere American women and children—when contrasted with a possibility of the Imperial Government finding themselves "guilty before God and history"—history especially—"of violating principles of highest humaneness"? But there is no need to indulge in a contemplation so horrifying. The Almighty, in common with ourselves, we assume, is duly informed that—"if in the present war the principles which should be the ideal of the future have been traversed more and more, the longer the duration, the German Government has no guilt therein."

From which two instances are obvious: (1) That humane principles have been traversed in the past, and (2) that they will be traversed "more and more" as the war continues. So the Imperial Government should solve themselves in advance. Me (positively) and Gott (reservedly) can do no wrong. And the United States of America and her President, CLUTHA MET IT STORMY.—The barq. Clutha was towed into port by the tug John Green at 11 o'clock to-day. She came from Pernambuco in ballast and was 34 days on the passage. Conditions were favorable up to coming on this coast. On Sunday last strong head winds were experienced. The following day the elements were more violent and the vessel received a bad drubbing. While riding out a gale her foremast sprung; some slight damage was also sustained about deck.

DIED. On Wednesday, the 29th inst., Margaret, beloved wife of Edward Atkins, aged 32 years, leaving a husband, one child, father, brother and two sisters to mourn their loss; funeral on Friday, at 2.30 p.m., from his late residence, 25 Penryn Road.—May he rest in peace.

hor Congress, and her people can go to hell.

For that is what Germany says to us; just that; nothing more and nothing less. She disavows none of her crimes; she makes no suggestion of reparation; she recognizes no rights of neutrals; she reiterates her repudiation of all treaties and of all laws, whether among nations or of civilization and humanity, which may conflict with her own conception of military necessity; she apologizes for nothing; she concedes nothing; she acknowledges nothing; she seeks only to secure our approval of her lawless practices through our acquiescence in her proposal that we waive our unquestioned rights upon the high seas as she may permit, under her surveillance and subject to her dictation; having injured us, she would wrong us; having insulted us, she would humiliate us; that is all there is of this insolent declaration.

Not one of our moderate demands is accorded even the courtesy of frank recognition; all are in effect denied; each and every one is either tacitly spurned or impudently ignored. "America First" is a good motto, but we suggest that "civilization First" is a better.

Fads and Fashions.

A startling novelty is a jersey waist for wear with tailored suits. The train threatens to fasten itself to the newest evening gowns. Bright waists are in great demand to relieve the somber-colored suits. Wool and metal embroideries are lavishly used as trimming on wool suits. Coat collars are very wide, and they are often made of straight pieces of fur. There is no doubt that velvet will be most favored of materials this winter. A charming sleeve has the quaint Henry IV. puff, placed just below the armhole. A great deal of jet is used on evening gowns, especially gowns of black tulle. Baby boys have white dresses made with pleats like those in their father's shirts. It is said that the redingotes are the only long coats to be worn in Paris this year. Gray angora wool, used in a solid embroidery, is charming on dark blue winter garments. The pretty fashion of the black velvet basque, is charming on dark blue winter garments. If you do not care to have your skirt flare, you may gain the fashionable width by pleats. Sleeves of coats and bodices are long and slashed, puffed and otherwise made very decorative. Sleeves should be mutton-leg, dolman, or bishop, and the dropped shoulder seam will be much in favor. Gowns of faille are apt to have broad Louis XIII collars of velvet, with flaring turnback cuffs to match.

Outgrowing Things.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

When you were a child did you ever have Algeritis? I fancy you did, for it is a disease almost as common to childhood as the mumps or measles. Rare indeed is the child who escapes this mania for devouring whole the stories of Dick the Newsboy, Tom the Bootblack, and all the rest of Mr. Alger's miraculously fortunate heroes.

For some reason my mother objected very much to my reading these books, and just when the disease was raging at school and I had come down with a violent case, I was forbidden to read any of them.

Of course I was most resentful. "You just wait!" I threatened. "When I'm twenty-one, I'm going to buy every one of those book and read through."

When I could, I didn't want to.

I saw "Tom, the Bootblack" in my small nephew's room the other day; the prophecy came back to me and I smiled to—and at—myself.

You see, I've been twenty-one longer than I care to think and I haven't read one of Mr. Alger's books yet. That's the way of life, isn't it?

Once on a time there was a little girl who loved to make that fascinating confection known as snow ice-cream. Whenever the fresh snow fell, she used to beg her mother to let her make a plate of it. Now that was before the days when germs were the bugbears they are to-day, so this little girl's mother used to let her make away and then youth, as surely as age approaches. The true wisdom is to be always reasonable and to half so much as the little girl wanted. Like everyone else, the little girl suddenly grew up and found herself in a home of her own. One day the first snow fell and the little girl remembered, "I'm going to make snow ice-cream," she said, "and just think! I can make all I want!"

What Was Left Out Of The Ice-Cream?

So she mixed the snow and the milk and the sugar and the vanilla and then she tasted it. "It doesn't taste right," she said. "There must have been something else that I used to put in." And she thought and thought, but she couldn't remember what it was, and she never could remember, so she never made it again.

Are you wiser than she? Can you guess what she forgot to put in, reader friend?

Robert Louis Stevenson tells us in one of his essays how he loved his toys and hated to give them up. "I shall conform for a little while to the ways of their foolish world," he promised himself; "but so soon as I have made enough money I shall retire and shut myself up among my playthings until the day I die."

But He Never Went Back.

He even selected the house which was to witness his return to childhood. "And yet, as the reader has probably anticipated," he writes, "it is never likely to be carried into effect. There was a worm in the bud, a fatal error in the premises."

There is a certain sadness about the way we are pushed willy nilly out of our childhood's dreams and desires, isn't there? And yet, there's this comfort—it's sad to outgrow things, but it would be infinitely sadder not to. To return to Stevenson once more, "Childhood must pass away and then youth, as surely as age approaches. The true wisdom is to be always reasonable and to

St. John's Names in the Majority.

(By Antiquarian.)

Fifty years ago the names in the majority in the Directory of St. John's were Murphy, Walsh, Ryan, Power and Kelly. They then numbered as follows: Powers, 122 families; Walsh's, 93; Murphys, 70; Ryans, 56; Kellys, 42. Forty years ago, the number was slightly altered, the Walsh's taking first place: Walsh's, 120 families; Powers, 115; Murphys, 72; Ryans, 58; Kellys, 35. In the above numbers we notice that the Murphys gained two, Powers lost seven, Walsh's gained twenty-seven, Ryans gained two, and Kelly's lost seven. Thirty years ago, the names stood as follows:—Walsh's, 108 families; Powers, 89; Murphys, 73; Ryans, 51; Kellys, 38. Murphys in this count gained one, on the former; Walsh's lost fourteen; Powers lost twenty-six, Ryans 7 and Kellys three. According to the latest production of the Newfoundland directory we find the names of the above families totaling the following numbers:—Murphys, 159 families; Walsh's, 155; Powers, 149; Ryans, 103; Kellys, 32. We see that the Murphys name takes first place, with a gain of eighty-nine families over their number of fifty years ago;

Fighting in the Dardanelles is Desperate.

How the Aquitania, with 8,000 troops on board, dodged a submarine attack on her way to the Dardanelles and was again chased on her return trip, is told by James Fraser, one of the crew, who arrived last evening on the Allan liner Corsican. While in the east he saw the Royal George struck and go down and gives interesting details of the disaster and the great loss of life.

Speaking of the Aquitania incident, Fraser told of how the escort had just left the ship. "We were entering the Bay of Biscay and could see our escort disappearing in the distance. Then a torpedo came and the ship altered her course immediately. It was none too soon, for the torpedo just passed the stern. It must have been fired from full range, for as I watched it suddenly rose up in the water owing to loss of speed. The knife sticking out from the nose of the torpedo sank a few minutes later a small corvette was attacked and sent to the S.O.S., but we did not stop.

Our Volunteers.

Yesterday seven young men enlisted, as follows:—John Percy, St. John's; Thomas Day, St. John's; George M. Emerson, St. John's; Wm. Shano, St. John's; John Lambert, St. John's; Jas. Marr, Greenspond, B.B.; Harold J. Churchill, Portugal Cove.

The total number of enlistments now is 2338. Swedish, squad and extended order drill was gone through at the Armory yesterday. Those going in for stripes also received instructions.

The latest fishery reports received by the Board of Trade are:—Sept. 25. From J. F. Williams, (Bay Bulls to Long Point)—The catch to date is 12075 qtls. with 120 for last week. Thirty dories and skiffs and 15 motor boats are still fishing. Prospects are not very encouraging and squid is very scarce.

Sept. 25th. From W. Chambers (St. John's to Brine's Island)—Prospects are very fair, but squid bait is not plentiful and operations have been hindered by stormy weather. The total catch is 3,300 qtls. and for last week 100. Twenty dories and skiffs and 17 boats are fishing.

German is Released After Making Explanation.

San Francisco, Sept. 22.—Gustav B. Kulenkampff, member of the importing house of Wessels, Kulenkampff and company, of New York, spent less than an hour before a federal jury here to-day to explain the connection of his firm with the alleged distribution of nearly $800,000 of the money of the Imperial Government of Germany in this country.

The witness, it was said, admitted to his questioners, that his horse had sent west to the credit of the San Francisco German consulate $350,000 within several months, subsequent to the beginning of the war last year.

Mr. Kulenkampff came to San Francisco in answer to a summons issued at the request of John W. Preston, United States Attorney here. He left immediately for New York, after his release from the grand jury room.

The details of his testimony on the alleged distribution of the German money, which federal officials "here assert, was supplied from Berlin for unneutral projects, was held secret.

LAZINESS.

The trouble with Hiram H. Hazy, whose prospect of riches is slim, is that he is painfully lazy, and work is a nightmare to him. He sees the procession of winners, with prizes and medals bedight, and he, most dejected of sinners, remarks that his luck is a fright. He sits in the shade and discourses of war, and such topics, all day, and keeps up his spiel till he hoarse is, while others are harvesting hay. He talks of the needs of our navy, and proves that our army is punk, while neighbours are hustling like gravy, and earning the shimmering plunk. And so while the others are drilling around in a praiseworthy cause, he sits by the post office killing the time with a lank pair of jaws. He's talking of men and of measures infecting this land of the free; while others have comforts and pleasures, he's broke, as he always will be. He might have a home and an auto, he might have a watch and a chain, a lawn with a fountain and grotto, if he would be active and sane. His friends are all tired and disgusted, with seeing him sit in the shade, but Hiram would rather be busted than brandish a hoe or a spade.

New Bell Donated

TO MT. CARMEL CEMETERY. The committee of Mount Carmel Cemetery has been presented with a new bell, suitable for the tower of the Mortuary Chapel at Mount Carmel Cemetery. It is the gift of an East End lady who is always interested in the welfare and upkeep of "God's Acre." The new bell will be erected in the tower of the Church and dedicated next spring. It weighs eighty pounds, is twenty-two inches in diameter, was manufactured by the American Bell Company, of New York, and was purchased through the Martin Hardware Company, Water Street. This is only one of a number of times in which the donor has shown her generosity. Her gift is greatly appreciated by the Managing Committee of the Cemetery as well as by the R. C. Community generally. During the last couple of years the Committee spent $5,000 on the improvement of the Cemetery and are now kept busy finding ways and means for the erection of a dwelling for the sexton. To defray the cost contributions will be gratefully received by the management.

A Nurse Should be Quite Independent.

A nurse should never have to rely upon help from the servants or from the mistress of the house, for her duties are always immediate and urgent, and much of her work must be done after the household as a whole has retired. If she is provided with modern gas appliances she will be independent of all outside help and can do her work efficiently without any undue labour.

A Gas Fire needs practically no attention, and saves all grate-cleaning, fire-laying, coal-carrying and replenishing.

A Gas Water Heater gives abundant hot water at the shortest notice at any hour of the day or night. An inverted incandescent Gas mantle gives a steady brilliant light that is most restful to the eyes of the patient.

A Gas Cooker needs no preparation, provides heat for several purposes at once, and can easily be installed in a room near the sick room.

In all long cases especially gas appliances are essential for good nursing.

C. C. C. Non-Coms

MESS MEETING AND EXAMS. Owing to all the "old guard" being with the Newfoundland Regiment, a new non-commissioned officers mess was formed at a special meeting held at the C. C. C. Armoury last night. The meeting was very enthusiastic and resulted in the election of the following:—
Sergeant J. Murphy, Chairman; Acting-Sergeant A. F. Lacey, Treasurer; Corporal P. J. Dobbin, Secretary.

For some time past the members of the Corps have been preparing for the non-coms examination, which will be held on Friday night next.

Amusements.

The Crescent Picture Palace to-day presents Walter E. Perkins as Topsy in "Who Goes There." This great comedy is produced in two reels by the Edison stars. Kate Jordan's great story, "By a Strange Road" is a splendid drama. "The Lie" is one of the best western dramas of the year. Edg. Jones features in this Lubin production. "From the Shadow" is a fine domestic drama with a strong photograph cast. This is a fine picture show, one you ought not to miss.

BRITISH THEATRE.

An exceptionally brilliant programme will be offered to patrons at the popular British commencing to-day. The pictorial portion of the entertainment will consist of six most magnificent reels the first one of which will be the great four part Italian production: "The Fire Fly." This is undoubtedly a beautiful story of filial affection throughout the entire play, the foundation of which is the kidnapping of a girl by a band of gypsies, the ultimate and inevitable rescue and the final family re-union. A beautifully pathetic and true to life narrative splendidly staged and acted by performers of the highest ability. Pending the arrival of the new vocalists well known local artists will appear nightly.

MILLION DOLLAR MYSTERY AT NICKEL THEATRE.

The mid-week programme at the Nickel Theatre this evening is one of unusual attractiveness, and will no doubt appeal to the lovers of good movies. "The Million Dollar Mystery" will be continued, and the episode is one of the greatest excellence. It is highly sensational. Among the scenes shown is the underground river. "Her Buried Past" is a powerful social drama in which Irene Hunt is in the leading character. There will also be a News Pictorial, and a very funny comedy: "Axel and Flovey." Messrs. Huskins and Cairns, those harmony boys will be heard in a new song. Nickel patrons will be delighted to learn that the celebrated picture, "Trey O' Hearts" is coming to the Nickel shortly. This is the great story by Louis Joseph Vance and is extremely popular where ever seen. The first show this evening begins at 7 o'clock sharp.

ROSSLEY'S EAST END THEATRE.

An audience that well filled the theatre last night enjoyed the evening's entertainment. The great picture featuring the world known French actress "Sarah Bernhardt" commanded universal praise and evoked a scene followed with breathless interest. You should see this great film. The other pictures are of interest and are well worth seeing. Mr. Ian Mackenzie the great Scottish baritone in his entertainment "Scottish Song and Story" held the stage for more than half an hour. His humorous stories and magnificent rendition of the grand old Scottish songs roused the audience to the pitch of enthusiasm, and St. John's theatre goers are now beginning to know of the great singer they have in their midst. Miss Rex Guerin got a great reception for her sweet singing, and Mr. William Wallace more than maintained the great reputation he has made in this city. On Friday evening the second competition will take place.

A Pre-Dreadnought.

The Italian warship, Bendetto Brin, on which a fire and explosion occurred is of the pre-dreadnought type. She was completed ten or eleven years ago. Her tonnage is 12,210. Her speed 20 knots and she carries four 12 in., four eight in., twelve six inch and sixteen 3 inch guns. She has also four torpedo tubes. The message states that eight officers and 579 marines have been saved thus far. Her complement of men is 810 men.

Volunteers Entertained.

Last night the volunteers of the Reserve Force, who have been attending St. Thomas's Church, were entertained at Canon Wood Hall. An interesting programme had been provided and the sixty soldier lads who attended spent a very enjoyable evening. Teas were supplied by the ladies of St. Thomas's Parish. Speeches were made by Sir Joseph Outerbridge, Rev. Canon White, Mr. H. Y. Mott, Mr. John Weir, Rev. H. Uphill and the Rector, Rev. Dr. Jones, who acted as Chairman; and the musical program was supplied by Rev. W. H. Thomas, Messrs. Cameron, King, Udle, Lloyd, Luxon Macklin, Cowan, Lloyd and the string band of H.M.S. Calypso. A special feature of the entertainment was the singing of the war song "Are We Downhearted?" by Rev. W. H. Thomas. The last verse of this stirring song is of particular interest just now and runs as follows:
Newfoundland boys in the Dardanelles war,
Fighting the Turk on Gallipoli far;
How are they feeling, both Tommy and Tar?
Are they downhearted? No!
Rendell's wounded, I much grieve to tell,
How fares his Courage? as sound as a bell;
"Famously doing," soon he'll be well;
Is he downhearted? No, no, no!
Mrs. Thomas and Messrs. Stirling and Noseworthy acted as accompanists during the evening. The promoters of the entertainment were the Rector, Rev. Dr. Jones, Rev. W. R. R. Cracknell, Hon. R. Watson and R. Dowden.

COMPLETING SERVICE.—Since the arrival of the S. S. Maud, which brought some 1,000 tons of water pipe for the Civic Commission, the employees of the Engineers' staff have been busy, as an effort is being made to complete the water service before the frosty weather sets in.

WEST POINT.

By GEORGE FITCH.

West Point is a military school where young Americans are educated at great public expense to look down upon the common soldier and refuse to associate with him.

It is the only real snob factory in the country. By the time a free-born young citizen has spent four years in this school measuring the distance between a private and a commission officer with astronomical instruments he is quite ready to take a commission in the regular army and to disfect himself whenever a private soldier comes near enough to him to clean his shoes.

And yet the only difference between the two may be the fact that the father of the private didn't have a pull with his Congressman.

There is great distress in military quarters because young Americans rush out of the regular army faster than they rush into it. Yet we should take pride in the fact that very few American young men can be persuaded for $13 a month to accept a job as an inferior animal.

Besides being taught aristocracy in its most deadly form, the cadets at West Point are given a thorough instruction in mathematics, the sciences, military tactics, horsemanship, bed-making, housewifery, dancing, uniform-wearing, glove-cleaning and obedience in its various branches. When he graduates he knows more about calculus than a college professor, is a daring and decorative young soldier and can talk to a girl in a way which makes her wonder why they allow common taxpaying young claps to linger in the vicinity of brass buttons.

West Point is located on the mountain side above the Hudson River and has recently been rebuilt into a very beautiful place with a tall Gothic chapel and vast barracks and school buildings. It has the hardest course of study of any school in the country and the government is never so pleased as when it is booting out some young soldier on which it has spent two years and several thousands of dollars for failing to acquire enough

French to fight well. Almost all of this country's famous soldiers have been graduates of West Point. Each congressional district in the country is entitled to a cadet in the school, but it sometimes takes a district a long time to find a boy who can pass the mental and physical examination. West Point boys are natural athletes and get a fine training in every branch of athletics but running.

EVERYDAY ETIQUETTE

"What is expected of a woman who is invited to an entertainment at the request of a friend, the hostess and the woman not being acquainted before the affair?" asked Jane.

"The stranger who received the invitation should call upon her hostess within two weeks after the date of the entertainment. If the hostess returns the stranger's duty call, she may understand that the hostess wishes to further the acquaintance," advised her aunt.

Prohibition Vote in Montreal

TO BE HAD WITHIN YEAR.

"The temperance cause is advancing so rapidly in the Province of Quebec that the people of Montreal need not be surprised if a prohibition vote is tried in the city before the end of next year," was the statement of John H. Roberts this morning on his return from Levis, where open voting on the prohibition question is now proceeding.

In Levis, with a population of about 7,500, there are five hotels, twelve licensed grocers, one wholesale liquor shop and two bottlers. The number of electors is about 2,000, and it is expected that before the poll closes about half this number will have recorded their vote.

The prohibition vote is being taken under the Quebec Temperance Law, and is an open procedure. The Mayor or returning officer attends at the Town Hall, and all electors wishing to record their vote are asked by him whether they are in favor of the by-law and told to answer "Yea" or "Nay." The answer is recorded, and the decision of whether the by-law shall come into force rests on a simple majority. If no elector appears to record his vote for half-an-hour, the returning officer may declare the poll closed and announce the result. Arrangements have been made by the temperance organizers, as well as by the liquor interests to ensure that there shall be a continuous stream of electors, at stated intervals, so as to keep the poll open as long as possible, and as the law allows one day for every 400 voters, it may be that the polling will not close until to-morrow. Up to yesterday the temperance people claim that there is a majority in their favor of almost ten to one, and they are already taking steps to start a campaign to "clean out" Quebec City.

Only last week eight hotel licenses were dropped in Brom County. — Montreal Star, Sept. 22.

Was Iron Cross

Bait Which Led Archibald to Misuse Pass?

London, September 24.—The Daily Mail's correspondent at Copenhagen says that the German officials and men who attacked and wrecked the British submarine E 13 in Danish waters, killing many of the crew, have been decorated with the Iron Cross.

The Daily Express asserts editorially to-day that the American war correspondent, James F. Archibald, was ambitious "to add the Iron Cross to his military medals" and that he acted as Dumba's messenger, on the condition that he was to receive the decoration from the Kaiser.

VAST COPPER DEPOSIT DISCOVERED IN RUSSIA.

Petrograd, Sept. 24.—Vast deposits of copper which were recently discovered in the Yelzabampol region, have yielded 130,000 tons during the first week of the operations. The government will employ the output immediately for the manufacture of munitions.
