For Love of a Woman; New Romeo and Juliet.

CHAPTER XX.

AN EXTRAORDINARY PROPOSAL. "Unless some friendly guide extends you a helping hand and leads you out," said the philanthropist. "I can quite understand your feelings, my dear Percy, and I must say they are very natural ones. You are, without flattery, formed by nature to adorn a higher sphere than your present one. I don't think any of the young fellows you envy could do greater credit to their wealth and position than you could do. Seriously, I think you were cut out for better things than teaching the piano to the daughters of the inhabitants of Soho and its neighbourhood."

"No doubt, I was intended for the heldest-son of a baron," said Percy, sarcastically; "but there happens to be a hitch somewhere."
"And suppose I tell you that I can undo that hitch, that I can give you a helping hand to better and higher things; in short, to repeat myself, to make your fortune! Think of it, my dear Percy. Plenty of money, the entrance to good society, horses to ride, club doors thrown open to you, choice wines, men of rank for friends, and a world ready to welcome with outstretched hands good-looking and accomplished Mr. Percy Levant!"

"The young fellow regarded him with the same incredulous smile; but there was a light of subdued eagerness in his eyes, and a warmer colour in his face."
"You ought to go into the House, Churchill," he said. "I don't mean the workhouse, but the House of Commons. I suppose you learn all this kind of thing at your charitable public meetings? I'll come and hear you some of these days. They tell me you make uncommonly good speeches. Well, go on. How is this fortune of mine to be made, and—excuse my bluntness—why are you so anxious to make it?"

"A very natural question, my dear Percy, and, believe me, I am not at all annoyed by it. I intend to be perfectly frank and open-minded with you."
Percy Levant smiled, and got another cigar.

"I beg your pardon, Churchill, but the idea of your being frank rather tickled me. The spasm has passed, however—proceed. Is it a new gold mine you are going to ask me to become a director of? Or have you invented a new washing machine, and want me to travel for it? What is it?"

"It has always seemed so strange to me," resumed Mr. Spenser Churchill, ignoring the interruption, "that you have never turned your attention to matrimony."
"The young fellow stared at him, then laughed sarcastically."
"You think that the palatial dimensions of this room are too large for one individual; that I should be more comfortable if I shared my sixpenny plate of meat and threadbare wardrobe with another? My dear Churchill, you might as well ask a limping, footsore tramp why he doesn't turn his attention to riding in a carriage and pair. Matrimony! Good Lord! I am not quite out of my mind!"

"But your wife need not be poor, my dear Percy. She may be rich in this world's goods."
"Oh, yes; I didn't think of that. And you suggest that there are hundreds of wealthy heiresses who are dying to become Mrs. Percy Levant; perishing with the desire to bestow their hands and fortunes on the music teacher of Soho?"

"You would not be the first man who has married money," said the philanthropist, smoothly. "But let me be more explicit, my dear Percy. By one of those strange chances which are, indeed, providential, I happen to be acquainted with a young lady who would, in all respects, make you a most suitable wife."
"Really?"

"Yes, said Spencer Churchill, gravely. "The circumstances of the case are peculiar, not to say romantic. The fact is, I am that young lady's guardian—not exactly such in a legally qualified sense, but by—er—an unfortunate accident; and, as her guardian, I am naturally desirous of promoting her present and future welfare. Ah, my dear Percy, how sacred a trust on undertakes when one accepts the care of a young and innocent girl!" and he looked up at the ceiling with a devout sigh.

And the Worst is Yet to Come—

vinced that I shall be promoting both her future welfare and ours by—er—bringing you together."

Percy Levant stared at him. "This grows serious," he said. "And may I ask if this young lady is 'rich in this world's goods,' as you so beautifully put it?"

"She is—or, rather, she will be," replied Spenser Churchill, leaning forward and speaking in a lower tone, and with his eyes fixed on the other man's face with a keen yet covert watchfulness. "I said that there were peculiar and romantic circumstances in the case, and one of them is this: that the young lady had no idea of the wealth which will some day be hers."

"Oh!" said Percy, curiously, "she hasn't, eh? Yes, that's peculiar, certainly. I suppose there is no doubt about the golden future, eh?"

"It is as certain as that you and I are in this room."
"And the romance—where does that come in?"

"Her story is a singular one. Her name—" He stopped suddenly and smiled blandly. "But perhaps I'd better reserve that for a while, my dear Percy."
"Yes, you'd better," rejoined the young man, sarcastically. "I might go in for the speculation on my own account, and throw you over! Churchill, for a saint, you are singularly suspicious."

"Not suspicious, my dear Percy; say careful, perhaps cautious," suggested the philanthropist, with an oily smile.
"All right. Choose your own word! Go on."
"The young lady's career has been a singular one. She has been an actress."

Percy whistled and stared.
"But she is a lady in every sense of the word," continued Spenser Churchill, slowly and significantly. "She has left the stage, acting on my advice, and in consequence of the death of her only relative, and is living now with some dear friends of mine. With the exception of myself, she has no one to turn to for advice and assistance. I am her sole guardian, and—I may say—friend. She will, I am sure, be guarded entirely by me, and that is why I am so anxious to provide for her future welfare."
"By marrying her to a needy adventurer," finished Percy Levant, with a smile.

"No; to one who, though deficient in the energy which achieves greatness by its own strength is, I am sure, a man of honour," said Spenser Churchill, suavely.
Percy Levant stared at him with a curious smile.
"This is amusing and romantic with a vengeance," he said. "And the young lady—of course she is as ugly as sin?"

Spenser Churchill was about to answer in the negative, and dilate upon Doris's beauty, but he stopped himself and made a gesture of denial with his hands.
"By no means, my dear Percy. This, I will say, that she is refined, accomplished, amiable."
"And quiet in single or double—especially double—harness?"

"In sporting parlance, my dear Percy, that exactly describes my charming ward."
The young man took a turn up and down the room, and then, fessing his old attitude looked down upon the smooth face of the tempter with a curious and half-troubled regard.
"You don't offer me a penny for my thoughts, Churchill, and so I'll just make you a present of them. I am wondering—what—the devil—I am you are going to gain in this business. Wait a moment. You come here and offer this young girl to me—is she young, by the way?"

BUNIONS

Relieved by
Dr. Scholl's Bunion Reducer Shield

This appliance has a peculiar concave shape purposely so formed to fit snugly over joint and eliminate friction and pressure from footwear, and at the same time also prevents the enlarged joint from forcing shoe out of shape.

Is superior to old-fashioned leather and felt protectors, as it is made from antiseptic rubber, and being worn right on bunion inside history it excludes dirt, forms and retains a moisture pocket which keeps the joint soft and pliable, removes that hard skin or callosity that so often accompanies and increases the irritability of the enlargement, also reduces inflamed conditions.

Made in three sizes, right and left foot. Price 30c each, $1.00 per pair.

and distinct. I don't suppose it is for any love of me that you come, as you say to 'make my fortune'?"

"Not altogether; though I have always regarded you as a very dear friend, Percy."
The young man made a movement of impatience.

"Yes, yes, I know! But you have some object in view? What is it? You don't want me to believe that I am to give you nothing in return for a wealthy wife. What is it?"

Spenser Churchill drew a paper from his pocket.
"Really, it is marvellously like Faust and Mephistopheles, isn't it?"

"If that's a document I am to sign, it really is," assented Percy, with a grim smile.
"Well, I shall want your signature, my dear Percy, but only in ordinary ink—only in ordinary ink."

"What does it contain?" asked the young fellow. "One moment before you tell me. If it is anything detrimental—anything that would interfere with the happiness of this young girl, you can put your precious paper back in your pocket and light your pipe with it."
"Right, quite right. Your caution does credit to your heart and honour, my dear Percy," said Spenser Churchill. "I say nothing of the injustice you've done to me by your suspicion. I forgive you. In a word, this is a little bond by which you undertake three things: to marry the young lady which I shall request you, and not till then; to keep the marriage secret until I give you permission to disclose it; and on your wedding-day to pay me ten thousand pounds, or give me a bond for that amount."

"Is that all?" demanded Percy Levant, starting at him with knitted brows.
"Yes; and I don't think the conditions overheard. Consider, my dear Percy; I don't think you would have a chance of knowing who the young lady is without I tell you, you certainly haven't of marrying her without my assistance; as to the secrecy of the affair, why, that is not a great hardship; and for ten thousand pounds, believe me, my dear Percy, that it will be but a bagatelle to the man who shall marry my ward."

"She will be very rich, then?"
"Very rich."
"How am I to know that this is not a trick of yours, my good Churchill; that I may marry this protegee of yours, and wake up to find that it is 'beggar mated to beggar'?"

Spenser Churchill nodded a smiling approval.

New Relief For Constipation, "LES FRUITS"

Physicians agree that with the modern habits of living, constipation is likely to be always with us. They also agree that the constant use of any drug for the relief of constipation is exceedingly unwise—unwise for two reasons. First, a drug constantly used loses its effect and requires a constantly increased dose. Second, because the constant use of any drug is bad anyway.

So the cry is constantly going up from the constipated, "What can we do?" It will be interesting to a great many to know that an answer has been found in the re-discovery of a method which was used with great success by our Forefathers, and in Arabia far back in the twelfth century. The food is called "Les Fruits" because it is composed entirely of figs, dates, prunes, raisins and the leaves of each with the substitution of the Alexandria leaf for the raisin leaf. The taste is pleasant, if not to say delicious, and the effect is exceedingly satisfactory. Try it and be convinced.

Former Mayor Recommends Tanlac

"You Will Hardly Know Me When We Meet Again," He Writes a Friend in Atlanta.

One of the latest additions to the list of leaders of thought and action who have come forward with their unqualified endorsement of Tanlac is the name of Hon. Frank V. Evans, former Mayor of Birmingham, Ala., ex-State Examiner of Public Accounts of Alabama, and one time editor of one of the South's greatest newspapers—the Birmingham Age-Herald. Writing to a personal friend in Atlanta, Ga., Mr. Evans says:

"By the way, you will hardly know me when we meet again, because I am getting well and strong again. As I told you while in Atlanta last month, I have been suffering a long time with gastritis, as the doctors call it—really a disordered stomach, with consequent constipation, pains in the shoulders, headaches, belching, heartburn, loss of sleep and fainting spells. For weeks I could not sleep on my back. "One week ago, upon recommendation of friends who tried the medicine, I purchased one bottle of Tanlac and began taking it. Since my second dose I have suffered none of these troubles to which I refer, and really believe I am going to get perfectly well and strong again. Won't that be wonderful at my age? Well, certain it is that Tanlac is a wonderful medicine, and you know that I am not given to 'putting' mere experiments and am rather orthodox as to materia medica.

"I shall continue the treatment with perfect confidence in the final results.

(Signed) "FRANK V. EVANS."

Commenting on this splendid endorsement of Tanlac, G. F. Willis, international distributor of Tanlac, said:

"Although the list of prominent endorsers is a long one, I recall a few leading names that lend dignity and credit to the entire array. Some of them are:

"Hon. C. W. Mangum, of Atlanta, Ga., ex-Sheriff of Fulton County; Rev. A. H. Sykes, pastor of Watkins Park Presbyterian Church, Nashville, Tenn.; Hon. Archie R. Anderson, former Sheriff Harris County, Houston, Tex.; Dr. G. W. De Periere, of Winder, Ga., one of the best known physicians and capitalists in the State of Georgia; Rev. W. C. Norton, pastor of the Wesley Memorial Church, 523 Estell street, Jacksonville, Fla.; Mr. C. C. Cooper, president of the Georgia Home Cotton Oil Co., Lawrenceville, Ga.; Dr. W. H. Brown, founder and president of the Tennessee Protestant Home for Girls; Mr. H. W. Hill, bank president of South Pittsburg, Tenn.; Mr. J. P. Carroll, cotton mill superintendent of Chattahoochee, Ga.; Hon. S. S. Shepherd, ex-city Councilman of Atlanta, and many others whose names have heretofore been to the public."

Tanlac is sold in St. John's by M. Connors, under personal direction of a special Tanlac representative.

Japs Indignant.

NEVER HAD ANY IDEA OF JOINING HUNS.

Tokio, July.—(By the Associated Press.)—"I declare once more with a clean conscience that Japan never agreed to breach her pledged faith in her allies and associates in the war." This statement was made to-day by Viscount Yasuya Uchida, the foreign minister, to the Kokusai news agency, regarding the reports that Germany had entered into secret negotiations for an alliance during the war.

"The first story that secret negotiations were being conducted during the course of the war between Japan and Germany," said Viscount Uchida, "seems to be again attracting public attention in the United States. That such a report is persistently circulated despite the categorical denial repeatedly made by the ministry at Tokio and by the Japanese representatives at Pekin, Washington, Paris and elsewhere, apparently indicates that certain quarters interested at the present moment in the estrangement of Japan from her friends have been desperately at work with this ill-advised object in view."

About Houses.

"Boudoir" really means a "sulky," for it is derived from a French word meaning "to sulk." Thackeray had a room in his house upon the door of which was a sign: "My sulky," and whenever that door was locked he was never disturbed.

In Suffolk people used to say that if the broom is accidentally left in the corner after sweeping the house, "strangers will visit you," while up North, folk had a superstition that "to sweep dust out of a house by the front door fortune and happiness leaves your house."

Old Railway Carriages, hulks, and even wrecks, have been used as habitations in years gone by. Some time ago, the G.E.R. would deliver a carriage body free at any of their stations for £5. If they would only do it now, what a blessing it would be in these days of housing anxieties!

Just over twenty years ago the estimates for building were as follows:—"Cost of a workman's plain country cottage, 3d. per cubic foot. Ordinary semi-detached 8 or 10-roomed house, 8d. or 9d. per cubic foot. Mansions, 2s. a cubic foot and sometimes more. These sums did not include cost of land or fencing."

"Drawing-Room" is an abbreviation of "withdrawing-room," which was originally the apartment in a house to which the ladies withdrew from the hall, which was the usual living and dining-room. The custom of withdrawing after dinner is derived from the Norsemen, for the Vikings always dismissed women from their drinking bouts.

A Paper House was once erected in Hamburg. It was used as a restaurant. Its walls were made of double layers of paper stretched on frames and impregnated with a fire and water proof solution. The roof and walls were fastened together by means of bolts and hinges, so that it was collapsible! The dining-room was capable of holding 150 people. There were 22 windows, 4 skylights, and the heating was effected by a couple of isolated stoves. It cost £75 to build, and was a popular rendezvous in Hamburg.

EXPRESS PASSENGERS.—The following passengers landed from the Kyle at Port aux Basques yesterday, and are on the incoming express: J. Rowe, C. C. Weins, Mrs. S. Rideout, H. A. Pausette, Mrs. A. McIsaac, Mrs. F. Connolly, J. Lucas, D. Gollop, J. C. Piggester, Mrs. F. Muller, Miss D. Hann, Miss M. Minnis, J. S. Hann, Mrs. H. McGrath, Mrs. M. Laurence, W. Brown.

HOW MRS. BOYD AVOIDED AN OPERATION

Canton, Ohio.—"I suffered from a female trouble which caused me much suffering, and two doctors decided that I would have to go through an operation before I could get well. "My mother, who had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, advised me to try it before submitting to an operation. I relieved me from my troubles."

so I can do my house work without any difficulty. I advise any woman who is afflicted with female troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and it will do as much for them."—Mrs. MARIE BOYD, 1421 6th St., N. E., Canton, Ohio.

Sometimes there are serious conditions where a hospital operation is the only alternative, but on the other hand so many women have been cured by this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after doctors have said that an operation was necessary—every woman who wants to avoid an operation should give it a fair trial before submitting to such a trying ordeal.

If complications exist, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice. The result of many years' experience is at your service.

Drill Sergeant's Trials.

(From an Exchange.)
Sergeant Blunt's patience was all but exhausted. It seemed that none of the recruits in the riding school had ever made the acquaintance of a horse before.
They were all hopeless, and one even worse than the rest. His persistent habit of turning round and inspecting the rear of his fiery steed goaded the sergeant to frenzy.
"Look here, my son," he roared at last, "haven't you ever seen a horse's tail before?"
"No, sir," came the reply, "I've always seen it behind."

Aviation Adds 200 Words to Language

New York students of the English language attribute to aerial navigation the addition of 200 words. As the average person has had in the past a speaking vocabulary of only 650 of the more than 600,000 words in the English language, the increase brought about by the airplane and airship is regarded as remarkable.

For the benefit of those as yet unacquainted with the true meaning of such words as "fuselage," "nacelle," etc., the Manufacturers' Aircraft Association has prepared a "flying dictionary" with the aid of a report compiled by the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics at Washington.

John Bull Winces at Labor's Big Stick.

Smillie Is England's Chief Man.

(By Shaw Desmond in N.Y. Sun.)

The noted Irish author, whose latest novel "Democracy" has created a sensation in this country as well as abroad, where he is hailed as the coming rival of Bernard Shaw, has undertaken to write for The Sun each Sunday an article on English affairs, of which this is the first.

John Bull is sitting up o' nights thinking overtime. He is thinking about Cousin Sam over the way. He wants to know what Sam is thinking.

Uncle Sam, as I found in the States, has a cousinly interest in John—only more so. He wants to know what John really thinks about that League of Nations—that John is going to do about Hurley's 16,000,000 ton challenge—whether John's been in the sun and got Bolshevik. Sometimes he'd like to hear when John gets a brain wave about things American and what the brain wave is. And Uncle Sam, being more than human, is peevish to know whether four peers in the divorce court in one week is a chronic or only a casual.

And he wants a peep behind the face masks of the men who ran John's empire, and with it a fore glimpse of the policies coming forward in Parliament and country. Uncle Sam is strong on personality.

But being a high pressure person, he wants all this each week in a newspaper column. The British Empire in a column of The Sun. Well—go to it.

John is a one idea man these days. He is puzzling where Demos's big stick is going to hit him next. No wonder he asks in his chief Sunday paper: "What's wrong with the world?"

As I write 500,000 cotton operatives have walked out, leaving loomland a graveyard. The vanguard tell us if we want bread we must fetch it. The London electricians have temporarily deferred shocking us. The miners' clerks have thrown down the pen and have started a dogfight of their own with the miners. And the Labor party congress, kaleidoscopic and incoherent, is about to decide whether labor's official weapon is to be the fist or the tongue. And the fist gets harder and 'ornier for every day that goes.

John is scared to death. He thinks the strike is going to hobble him in the war after the war. John knows he'll want both hands free in the light that is coming—for the heavy-weight dollar championships of the world. He believes Sam has his hands free. He believes Sam has been able to make the war-peace quick change in record time. He has appealed to Demos's better feelings, and finding nothing doing may use the big stick. (He has got a flash from New York's anti-strike mobilization.) But John is soft. He hates big sticking.

Yet the pendulum swings ever to the left. Political labor is as dead as that Foo Hoo Dun omelet my friend Charlie Wong served me last March in the East Side chop suey. The swing is toward—not Bolshevik—the Britisher is no Bolshevik even when he calls himself one—but toward a nebulous guild socialism. The miners are to control the mines—the railway men the railways. And so on. The live man to-day in labor is the direct actionist.

About Bob Smillie.

There is a man in England to-day who, in a sense, swings England. Three months ago I wrote Northcliffe, Cabinet maker, as the most powerful man in England—after him Lloyd George. To-day I write Bob Smillie. For this man has caught the slow tinder that is the imagination of the British workman.

He leads England's key union—the miners. But he also leads the millions of the triple alliance of the railway men, transport workers and miners who to-day are England's declarators. He is the sea green incorruptible who succumbs neither to cajolery nor power lust. Even Lloyd George could not tempt him with the food controllership. And "Bob" is out for blood.

Unless that general election, which I venture to predict, comes within the next few months. If it does we may see a queer volte face by John Bull, victor. If political labor comes back in force—with the seepage of the Coalition Liberals and the defection of the Lloyd Georgians at the polls we may before many elections see a Labor Government at Westminster—it may act as a stanch to the blood drench. But whatever happens Bob Smillie is the man to watch—I have watched him for thirteen years—Smillie, the Lowland Scot with the slow smile, the narrowing green eyes and the black clay pipe.

But always the war after the war. First we hear of the adjournment of the House being moved. Reason—lack of national economic policy and absence of steps for prevention of dumping and protection of key industries. This brings up Hurley's sixteen million ton sea gun. The Ministry of Shipping admits only being able to launch one million tons this year instead of the two promised. Cause—strikes. Lurid tongue picture painted by M. P. of United States' proposal to withdraw from the Supreme Economic Council, meaning new campaign by Uncle Sam for world's markets and dumping like the devil. Then Geddes—Capable fellow, Geddes, Board of Trade President—pleads in mitigation that England stands between two worlds or two devils—bankrupt Old and prosperous New. Policy not yet fixed, but one in pocket, waiting—waiting for Uncle Sam.

John Bull is under no illusions. He is not a sufferer that way. For him there is only one man in the trade ring and his name is Sam. It's a friendly scrap of course. But it is a scrap. And John is taking no chances. "The White House Will O' the Wisp." The way that President Wilson is being battled and shuttlecocked is fearsome. He has been used by every party, as by every politician. First he was the savior of democracy—then his assassin. Now one of those demagogic figures who have always got the ear of the man in the street, whether in old Rome or New York, splashes London with "Wilson toying with treason" in the posters of that popular penworth John Bull, which is the Bible of some four millions weekly.

Horatio Bottomley is a sort of uncrowned king of the lower middle class. Financier, editor, patriot and political free lance, to-day he shares a throne with what he calls "my friend George." He alleges lack of cordiality between England and America and attributes this to "the White House will-o'-the-wisp." He says his "preposterous" League of Nations "has set the two great English speaking nations by the ears." It menaces the Monroe Doctrine of "hands off the Americas" and he appeals to his friend George "to break away from the fatal hypnotism of the United States President."

He finishes: "We know what Wilson is playing for. He is out to make sure of the Irish-American vote." Nobody seems to love Woodrow Wilson. The pacifists suspect him. The Bottomleys call him treason-monger. The militants doubt him. Poor Woodrow!

Beer, Birth Rate and Charlie Chaplin. But the man in the street is not bothering about the league. He is in mourning. He just dotes on the American movies and Charlie of the funny feet. Now the annual conference of the British cinema trade declares war to the knife against their American brethren. This means the banning and the damning of the American film—and Charlie. And then there is his beer.

Wherever I go I am told that Uncle Sam's going dry is all nonsense. Even my Europeanized American friends don't believe it. America wants no beer. England wants more beer. The Daily Express gives its chief leader to beer and demands "real beer, not the eyewash of war," and with a full realization of its national import finishes: "Only Ministers fall to grasp these clear facts. Their failure is a peril to them and to the country." Beer, it seems, is a panacea for labor unrest.

On the other hand, the news that America has a drug bill of $20,000,000 is used as an example of the horrible depravity of Uncle. He gives up beer—but slugs dope. Oh Uncle!

To crown all, the average man is being told that he lives in an "orgue of extravagance," or, as the President of the Board of Trade puts it nicely: "A poor nation living as if it were wealthy." A famous banker says his bank is impregnated with checks from clients who waste their substance in all sorts of fripperies and fooleries, one man paying £100 for cut flowers in a week. Well, I don't know. I've had a month at the Plaza.

The economic effect upon America of the reconstruction of Europe is pretty sure to be great immediate prosperity. Europe's indebtedness to this country will heavily increase because for a time Europe will be short of goods with which to pay us and must get credit. WHAT WILL THEY DO IN THE YEAR 2000?

Just about once in so often I am struck anew with the way in which from year to year we multiply the comforts and refinements and luxuries and consequently, the cost and complexity of living.

only beginning to be common. I remember how badly I needed a pair and how wonderful they seemed when I finally obtained them. To-day white shoes are a commonplace. Everybody wears them. Men, women and children wear them not for special occasions, but for every day. Probably half the women who read this have two or three pairs of white sneakers and shoes in their closets. And think of the time we spend keeping them clean!

It Was a Super Hammock.

To-day—well, let me tell you about the hammock which started my train of thought. It was a super hammock. It had a mattress at least eight inches thick. It was covered with some very handsome material of soft green and heaped high with pillows to match. There was an extra mattress to lean back against, and one end of the hammock was arranged to lift up so that one could get a semi-reclining position. Also there was a stand and a canopy to match the hammock.

White Shoes Till She Had Her Wedding Slippers.

There's another instance—white shoes. I doubt if my mother ever had a pair of white shoes until she had the tiny white kid slippers for her wedding. Even when I was in high school white sneakers were

The First Menu Card.

The origin of the written or printed menu, or bill of fare, is 421 years old. The idea was developed by a Duke of Brunswick. He did not intend it for general use, but while at a banquet given in honor of the Diet of Rhegenzeurg the Count Hugo de Mountford noticed a piece of parchment near the duke's plate, to which the duke referred frequently. When asked about it, he said it was a list of the dishes to be served. In the order they would arrive, which he had secured from the cook, in order that he might save his appetite for those dishes he liked best. Gourmands soon imitated the bright idea and later it appeared at banquets. From this the modern menu was gradually developed.

The menu, in the sense of details of the dinner, is as old as the art of cooking. Aristophanes, in his comedy "The Assembly of Women," wrote one of the most curious menus extant. It consisted of six lines, in which he named scores of rare delicacies that might be served at a banquet.

Just Folks by Edgar Guest

It's August and it seems to me the world's a hive of industry. There's nothing but is working now At topmost speed, as though somehow, It had a task that it must do. And really has to hurry through. If we had ears tuned just right We'd hear the orchards' day and night Molding their fruits to proper size And if we had observing eyes To tint the apple with its blush And gild with wondrous gold the grain Before shall come September's rain. Oh these are nature's busy days She's working in a thousand ways And doing everything she can To satisfy the needs of man.

Washington, July 31.—The high cost of everything is particularly binding on army officers who have no other means than their rather meagre salaries.

Mary Pickford to Retire.

That Mary Pickford is going to retire, following the completion of nine pictures for which she has contracted with the Big Four, was the statement made by Mrs. Charlotte Pickford, Mary Pickford's mother, in Boston, where Mrs. Pickford is at present, attending to the details connected with the showing of a Pickford play.

While to the world at large the amount that Mary has saved up for a rainy day is not known, it is no secret among film fans that her income of late years has been in the vicinity of $1,000,000 annually.

OPPORTUNITIES

Are not half so rare as are the men who are prepared to receive them.

DR. F. STAFFORD & SON can supply you with all kinds of Patent Medicines at the very lowest prices obtainable. Large shipments of the following preparations have been received the past few days:

Sunset Soap Dyes, Indian Root Pills, Dodd's Pills, Fletcher's Castoria, Wampole's Oil, Radways, Gin Pills, Beecham's Pills, Cod Liver Oil Compound, Carnol, Dead Shot Worm Sticks, Herbine Bitters, Sturgeon Oil Liniment, and hundreds of other preparations too numerous to mention are continually arriving and being shipped to the Wholesale Trade.

DR. F. STAFFORD & SON, Wholesale & Retail Chemists and Druggists, St. John's, Newfoundland.

In the Same Plight.

The wife of one, a military man thus unhappily situated, advertised for a girl to do general housework. The notice was responded to by a particularly neat and competent colored woman. The details were soon settled—number in the family, hours for meals, days out, no laundry, how often the drawing room had to be dusted, when the silver had to be cleaned, etc.

"What wages do you expect?" asked the housewife.

"Ah, couldn't work for less 'an $50 a month," replied the candidate.

"But, Mandy, that's impossible. My husband is only a First Lieutenant, and we can't afford to pay such wages."

"That's too bad," replied the maid. "But you see, mam, mah husband's he's a Lieutenant man, too, an' Ah mus' have that much to keep him goin'."

MONDAY, August 11, 1919.

Welcome the Prince.

Ere another sun has set behind our Western mountains, the city of St. John's will have had the high privilege of welcoming to its port His Royal Highness, Edward, Prince of Wales, heir to the throne and diadem of the mighty British Empire, the power and magnitude of which is greater than any the world has ever seen; and the present tour of the North American possessions has been arranged in order that the Prince may have an opportunity of seeing for himself the people and provinces over which he will some day be called upon to rule.

Following in the footsteps of his grandfather, the late King Edward VII., and of his father, our present gracious King George V., both of whom visited Newfoundland en route to the greater dominion to the Westward, the Prince will get the first sight of the Empire's Overseas Dominions when the Renown makes the land of Terra Nova, that land upon which the weary sailors of Cabot gazed so long ago, after their trying voyage from Bristol, and which they all so gladly hailed as the Matthew approached the shore, and the resounding splash of an iron anchor was heard for the first time in the waters of the new isle.

Though His Royal Highness comes to us, personally unacquainted, we nevertheless feel that he is no stranger, for deep down in our hearts there is implanted, not only a sentiment of loyalty, because of his illustrious position, but a feeling of love and friendship because of his characteristics as a man. His exalted position did not prevent him from taking up arms at the summons of war, and it will be to his everlasting credit that he went on active service, with the ranking title of lieutenant and played his part—and a gallant one at that—side by side with the officers and men of his regiment and company. Former Princes of Wales won the respect and admiration of their men, as leaders, but never one of them commanded the love and affection of their associates as does the present Edward, namesake of the "Black Prince," upon whom the title of Wales was first conferred, and whose crest of Bohemia's ostrich feathers is borne by the present ruler of the principality.

And our future Sovereign comes to us to-morrow, attended by the mightiest ships of the Empire's mighty navy, fit escort for the descendant of the sea kings of Britain. We receive and acclaim him because of his royalty, because of his manhood, because of his loveableness and because of his unspoiled and beautiful character. His fame has preceded him, and Newfoundland is ready, with portals thrown wide, to greet the Prince of the House of Windsor in manner becoming his princely position, and to accord him such a welcome as befits his distinguished services in the field. He is a man after our own hearts, and every inch a Prince.

"Among our ancient mountains
And from our lovely vales,
Oh! let the prayer re-echo,
God Bless the Prince of Wales.
With heart and voice awaken
These minstrel strains of yore,
Till Britain's name and glory
Resound from shore to shore."

"Should hostile bands or danger
Ever threaten our fair isle,
May God's strong arm protect us,
May Heaven still on us smile!
Above the thrones of England
May Fortune's star long shine!
And round its sacred bulwarks
The olive branches twine."

"Among our ancient mountains
And from our lovely vales,
Oh! let the prayer re-echo
GOD BLESS THE PRINCE OF WALES!"

Let Us See the "Renown."

We suggest to the naval authorities that they make some easy arrangement whereby the people of St. John's may get an opportunity of seeing the battle-cruiser Renown, and in connection with this nothing could be more simple than to have the giant warship manoeuvre in Freshwater Bay to-morrow afternoon, should weather be favorable. If this is done thousands of people will climb Signal Hill to view the mighty floating fortress, symbol of Britain's sea power, and the gratitude of all will be expressed for this once-in-a-lifetime privilege.

Programme for Prince's Reception.

The following is a brief outline of arrangements for the reception of H. R. H. the Prince of Wales on his visit to Newfoundland on to-morrow and Wednesday.

Landing Tuesday, 12th August.

His Royal Highness will land at the King's wharf at midday, to-morrow. He will be received at the wharf by the Governor with a Naval and Military Guard of Honour and by the Judges of the Supreme Court and Ministers.

Before the Prince leaves the wharf he will receive an address of welcome from the Mayor and City Council on behalf of the people of St. John's. The area round the wharf will be reserved exclusively for the official reception.

Route to Government House.

The Prince on leaving the wharf will proceed west up Water St. to its junction with Queen St. There will be a pause opposite the south side of the Court House where there will be a Royal Salute. At the arch built by the Board of Trade at the junction of Water St. and Queen St. His Royal Highness will receive an address from the Board of Trade. The procession will then pass up Queen St., New Gover St. and Duckworth St. to Church Hill and up Church Hill, Queen's Rd. and Military Rd. to the Colonial Building.

At the Colonial Building an address will be presented on behalf of the Government and Legislature.

Thence His Royal Highness will proceed to Government House where he will be formally received by Lady Harris.

At 2.30 His Royal Highness will drive to Topsail with the principal object of seeing the view of Conception Bay.

Presentation of Floriel Medals.

At 4 o'clock on return His Royal Highness proposes to present the medals awarded to those officers and others of the Mercantile Marine who showed great bravery at the wreck of the Floriel.

This will be a strictly ceremonial function with Guard of Honour, Royal Salute, etc.

The Prince will enter the enclosure in front of the Colonial Building from Military Road. As soon as his carriage has retired the Guard of Honour will form across the space in front of the steps and the public will then be admitted to the enclosure.

His Royal Highness will depart by the side gate into Bannerman Road.

Afternoon and Evening Arrangements at Government House.

From the presentation of the medals His Royal Highness will proceed to the Garden Party at Government House.

After that it is hoped that he may have time to get another drive later in the evening.

Later in the evening there will be a small dance at Government House, more especially for the benefit of the Officers of the escorting ships.

There is also some hope that the band of H.M.S. "Dragon" will, if the weather is fine, perform at Bannerman park during the evening.

August 13th—Regatta.
It is proposed that His Royal Highness will attend the Regatta in the morning, leaving Government House about 9.45, visiting Quidi Vidi village en route and so going round to the North side of the lake where he will be duly received by the Regatta Committee and witness two or three races.

Departure.
It is expected that His Royal Highness will proceed direct, about midday, from the Regatta course to the King's wharf where he will embark for his ship. On his departure there will be no special honours but a Police Guard will be in attendance.

The Prince's Arrival.

BRIGADES WILL GIVE SALUTE AT VARIOUS POINTS.

At Government House on Saturday evening, His Excellency the Governor convened a meeting of various naval and military representatives, when the final arrangements in connection with the landing of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales were fully discussed. His Excellency presided, and present were Hon. Sir M. P. Cashin, Prime Minister, Lt-Commander Fenn, H.M.S. Britton, Lt-Commander W. F. Rendell, C.S.O., Capt. J. A. Winter, (C.L.B.); Capt. L. C. Murphy, (C.C.C.); Lt-Commander Paterson, (Highlanders); Lt-Commander A. E. Bernard, M.C., Inspector General Fitchings and Capt. Hamilton.

The general programme was carefully outlined by His Excellency and the various details fully explained to the representatives present. The Naval and Military Guard, with C.L.B. Band, will greet the Prince; a Detachment from the C.L.B. will salute at the Beach; A Guard of Honour from the C.C.C. with Band will give the Royal Salute at the Court House, and the Highlanders will accord similar honours at the Railway Station. Effective arrangements have been made by the Inspector General to cope with the traffic and it is hoped that the citizens will generally co-operate to avoid any congestion where the movements of the procession, or troops, are concerned.

"Renown" in Conception Bay.

H. M. S. Renown with H. R. H. the Prince of Wales on board arrived in Conception Bay, accompanied by two other war ships, at 10 o'clock this morning.

Prince Ashore at Topsail

H.M.S. Renown, with His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales and suite on board, has been in Conception Bay since some time before noon and is now, we learn from Topsail, anchored off that place. His Royal Highness is on shore, and will transfer to H.M.S. Dragon this afternoon, so as to be ready to leave for this port early to-morrow morning, after which the Renown will weigh anchor for Halifax, Nova Scotia.

Boy Killed.

About an hour ago, while the motor car of Wm. Campbell, of Campbell & McKay, was going up Hamilton Avenue, a newsboy named John Moyse, aged 12, was running down the street, with some other lads, and when opposite Pincus's house suddenly changed his course and ran across the street directly in front of the moving car. The driver hailed the boy and shouted to him, but the car was moving so rapidly that it was impossible to avert the accident, and the machine knocked the boy down, passing over his body. The car at once pulled up and Mr. Campbell and another man immediately took up the injured lad and brought him into the house of Mrs. Pincus. Dr. Campbell and another surgeon responded to a hurry call, but it was too late, as the injuries had proven fatal and the boy passed away within a short space of time.

Labrador Reports.

The Department of Marine and Fisheries received the following report from the Labrador on Saturday evening: Holton, strong South winds, heavy close packed ice off shore, sign of fish. Smokey, no fish. Grady, light North East Wind, Cloudy, no fish. Flat Islands, light N. E. wind, Cloudy, fish scarce. Domino, fair fishing with hook and line. Battle Harbor, wind West, clear, no fish.

Dispatches for Prince.

Hon. Robert Watson, representing the Governor, went by H.M.S. Dauntless to meet the Renown, taking dispatches for the Prince.

TO GO IN DOCK.—The steamer "Fern" which went ashore at Knight's Cove about two months ago, and which was towed here badly damaged, has finished discharging her cargo of lumber and will go in dry dock for repairs.

FOR THE HOT DAYS:
ROSS'S PALE DRY
GINGER ALE

We have in stock some cases of Ross's Pale Dry Ginger Ale. Made in Belfast, Ireland, from the finest ingredients, Ross's Pale Dry Ginger Ale is, without exception, the best of the imported Ginger Ales.

Ross's Pale Dry Ginger Ale has all the sparkling brilliancy of Champagne and, in fact, in countries that have "gone dry" is used at dinners, receptions, dances, etc., in place of champagne. Thousands of cases have been sold in the United States since the "dry" legislation loomed in view.

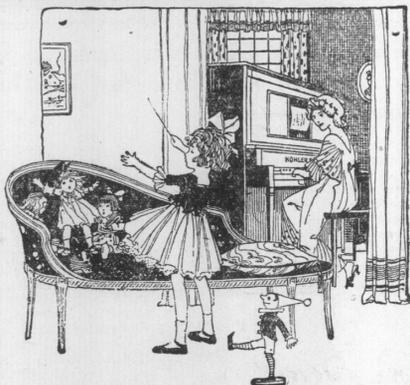

True, Ross's Pale Dry Ginger Ale, costs more than the local article, but it is not intended to compete with local Ginger Ale (there being plenty of room for both). Ross's Pale Dry Ginger Ale is supplied exclusively for people who demand an imported Ginger Ale and who are willing to pay the price for the best in imported Ginger Ale.

We sell Ross's Pale Dry Ginger Ale to the trade in cases of 50 pints. It retails for 25c. per bottle.

Office in London.

Three young Newfoundlanders, St. John's boys, all of whom were members of "Ours," have opened an office for business at St. Margaret's House, 29 Ludgate Street, London, E.C. The new firm carries the name of the Terra Nova Agencies, and deals in codfish, codlin, salmon, lobsters, furs, and Newfoundland produce generally. The principals are: R. M. Andrews (Q.M.S.), Gladstone Burt (temp. 2nd Lieut.), H. J. Dewling (Sergt.) All three, after discharge from the Regiment here, crossed to England for the purpose of making a bid for English and Newfoundland business, and we trust that their venture will be deservingly successful.

Defends Cashin.

Dear Sir,—The Star Office is now infested with a crowd of penny-liners, who occupy themselves by slandering respectable citizens through the medium of the Star and Post. The Post was evidently published as a kind of political hopper in which the filth of those individuals is flung to be sewered throughout the country. It is difficult to reply to the scurrilous attacks on Sir Michael Cashin from this quarter without descending to the low plane taken by the writers of the articles complained of. If the Opposition can prove the inability or lack of experience of Sir Michael, and on this account, his unfitness to occupy his present position of Prime Minister, the public will be interested in knowing it, but to represent him as being a successful man who has been earning lots of money and who is financially independent, is only to strengthen his claim to the leadership which he occupies. Their pet charge against Cashin is that he made his money by salvaging property, or as they term it by "wrecking." The public will admit that this is a perfectly legitimate way to make it, and energetic and enterprising men the world over are making money in the same way. If they could charge that Cashin was making money out of politics or grew rich out of the public treasury, they would be but too pleased to put this charge forward, but to the credit of Sir Michael they admit that although twenty-five years in public life the money that he has made has been secured through his own hard work in enterprises that are legitimate and difficult. Those people who attack Cashin in this way are indirectly paying tribute to his integrity. They do not charge him with making money out of timber deals or in other ways open to criticism, but in the salvaging of property in which employment was given to hundreds of people who benefitted by Cashin's energy and enterprise. The writer of these attacks is a well-known individual who should keep in hiding, and his friends, if he has any, should attempt to silence him to save him from public exposure which is sure to come if he continues his attacks in this way.

Yours truly,
TRUTH.

Good Camp Training this Year—Sports and Pastimes.

The second dance in aid of the Battalion funds takes place at the C.C.C. Hall on Regatta Night, and elaborate preparations are being made for the event. The hall is being especially well decorated by Chairman O'Grady and his aides, and with the fine music of the band under Capt. Bulley, a pleasant time is promised.

Camp plans are in full swing, and the boys are most enthusiastic over the programme which includes good outdoor training, as well as a sham-fight and a complete field-day with "night attack"—an event that will furnish lots of adventure amongst the youthful soldiers.

The Cadet athletes from Bell Island and the City boys will meet in football at Powerscourt, and an interesting contest is promised, as the Iron Isle has always been able to produce a strong five.

The Cadet rowing team are being well backed, and it is fully believed that they will win out in the Football Race on Regatta Day.

The Battalion meets at the Armoury to-night to make arrangements for the celebration in honor of the arrival of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, and to select the Guard of Honor for that event.

Regatta Doings.

Final entries will be made at to-night's meeting of the Regatta Committee. The stakes for the Amateur Race will be drawn by the coxwains. About twenty crews are expected to enter to-night, which will bring the number of contestants the largest on record. The erection of tents began on Saturday, and about 20 of them will be open for business on Wednesday. On Saturday night most of the contesting crews were out for a spin, but very poor speed was made owing to the breeze and lap on the pond. Two stands are being erected near Jocelyn's Point, one of which will be used by the Prince of Wales during his two hours stay. Owing to the large numbers of crews contesting, two boats with life saving apparatus will be stationed at the bottom of the lake during the different races. The first race starts at 10.30 Wednesday morning, and the Amateur crews are asked to be at the stakes on time as the race will start promptly.

To-Night's Football.

The C. E. I. and B. I. S. will compete at St. George's Field to-night, when the line up will be—
B. I. S.—H. Phelan, goal; Kennedy and Fox, backs; O'Reilly, J. Rawlins, A. Kelly, halves; Phelan, Devine, Burke, Nurse, Skinner, forwards.
C. E. I.—Noseworthy goal; Churchill and Thistle, backs; R. Stick, Drover, Fox, halves; Adams, Hunt, Jerrett, Earle, E. Churchill forwards.

R-34 Not a "Blimp."

Is it a blimp? If not, what is it? This question was asked whether the R-34—which raced across the Atlantic and across the newspaper headlines—was a blimp. The answer, from the best authority, is that it is not a blimp.

A blimp is a non-rigid airship, and the slang term applied to the British "R" type of airship developed in the war to hunt submarines. The rigid dirigible is a limp sort of thing, and makes its way through the air without any aluminium structure such as supports the sides of the R-34. Hence the B—limp, or "blimp."

In spite of its blimpishness, however, the blimp is able to make good speed for the gas in its envelope is under high pressure, which holds the shape of the bag. All the naval dirigibles—the C-5, which was blown to sea from Newfoundland; the C-4, now at Rockaway; the C-8, blown up at Camp Holabird, Md.—are or were blimps.

Major G. H. Scott has added to the literature of the blimp discussion by declaring that the blimp is a "fletted" rigid—that is, a rigid dirigible with the bones taken out.

for? Too simple! "Rigid" of course, unless it stands for something else.

Jimmy Wilde

Boxing Freak.

The career of the Welsh fighter, Jimmy Wilde, who weighs 105 pounds, yet knocks out champions 20 pounds heavier, has aroused great curiosity among the boxing element in the United States. Referee Eugene Corri, of the National Sporting Club, visualizes Wilde in the following description:

Picture, if you can, a child-man dressed as a sergeant-major. Then you have Jimmy Wilde, the greatest boxer of all countries, the pugilistic puzzle of all the ages.

He stands a few inches more than five feet, his face is hairless, he has little, dull, sleep eyes; his voice pipes; it is a baby squeak. Fully dressed, he weighs a mere trifle more than seven stone (98 pounds). This is the atom who in more than 100 fights has pounded, pummeled and literally mesmerized men in a way that has left us all gasping.

I date from the long ago; all the fighters of all the countries for the last 35 years I have known, and yet I can recall no counterpart of this fistic pigmy.

Wilde may not be judged by any standard, for his ways, his career, explodes all preconceived notions. He is not of any school; he is a pupil of no man. His style is wrong. It is a thing apart; no textbook governs it. He fights without a guard; his long, skinny arms hang limp by his side; he is flatfooted; he slithers around in a way so casual, so leisurely, so indifferently that you watch him open-mouthed. He invites murder.

He is the murderer—he is the demon—he is uncanny—he is a freak.

A Penny Note.

The smallest bank note ever issued in Great Britain was for the sum of one penny, and was issued in 1828. About fifty years ago the then holder of it brought it back to the Bank, and after some little bargaining asked and received £5 ($25) for it.

There is a wide gap in value between the lowest and the highest bank-notes ever issued. The highest represents £1,000,000. Only four of these million pounders were issued—from a plate which was destroyed. One of them was in possession of the Rothschilds; Coutts, the banker, received another, the Bank of England retaining the third, and the fourth became the property of Rogers, the banker-poet, who had it put into a gold frame on his parlor wall.

When Tennis Was a Crime.

Modern folk are accustomed to regard tennis as an innocent enough sport, likewise bowls and shove-ha-penny, which is still a popular game in the Navy; but our ancestors even went so far as to pass a law against these mild forms of recreation. In 1544 the "bowyers, fletchers, stringers, and arrowheaded-makers of this realm" petitioned Henry VIII, of matrimonial fame, to prohibit "Sundry newe and crafty games as . . . slydethrifle, otherwise called shovegrote, tennys and bowles, practised within this realm to the great hurt and lett of shotinge and archerie."

It appears that the lads of the village preferred to exercise their cunning at "slydethrifle" when, in the opinion of the bow and arrow makers, they would have been better occupied in shooting at the butts on the village green. However, King Henry granted the petition, moved, no doubt, by a passage mourning the decay of good archers. "Who have not only defuded this realm against the cruel malice and danger of their enemies in tyme paste, but also with little numbers . . . have done many notable actes and discomfytures of warre against the infidels." The fine old English fighting spirit which rings through this passage must have appealed to bluff King Hal, and Act of Parliament was duly passed making the "newe and crafty" games illegal, and rendering players thereof liable to a penalty for each offence of 6s. 8d.—a considerable sum in those days.

Presumably the "bowyers and fletchers" went on their way rejoicing, all unaware of the danger which threatened their craft from another quarter. They had not reckoned with a certain Friar Bacon, whose discovery of gunpowder was destined to bring about the "decay of archerie" for good and all.

ANGLO-ARGENTINE TROUBLES.

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 4.—Diplomatic relations between Great Britain and Argentina, as a result of the purchase by Argentina of the German steamship "Bahia Blanca," are delicate according to La Nation. In tomorrow's edition, the newspaper will say:—"Regarding rumors which from the beginning, have been founded on more than supposition we have received versions, the gravity of which are self-evident and according to which the return to London of Sir Reginald Tower, British Minister, to Argentina and the departure of Francisco Alvarez De Tolado, Argentine minister to England from London are not disconnected."

Cannot Concede Miners' Demands

Swindling Contractors Not Prosecuted --- Peace Treaty With Afghans---London Bakers Go Back to Their Ovens.

FIGHT TO A FINISH PROMISED.
LONDON, Aug. 10. There is apparently going to be a fight to a finish in the strike of the two hundred thousand Yorkshire miners. The coal controller yesterday told the men's leaders it was impossible to concede their demands. To do so he said would mean a strike in every coal field in the country for similar concessions. No further conference with a view of arriving at a settlement has been arranged. It is believed the strikers' funds will only last another fortnight. Already a quarter of a million pounds sterling have been spent in strike pay.

A STRONG INDICTMENT.
LONDON, Aug. 9. Sir John Hunter, Director of factory construction and iron and steel production, under the manager of munitions, in the course of testimony before an investigating committee of national expenditures, to-day said that in the erection of works for the air ministry no man employed had earned the money he received. These men numbered 70,000, Sir John declared and in some cases wages were drawn regularly and charged to the Government for men who did not exist. Sir John added that he had found a conspiracy of Government contractors, some of whom were arrested but the Crown declined to prosecute them.

TREATY WITH AFGHANS SIGNED.
LONDON, Aug. 10. A despatch from Rawalp, India, gives details of the Anglo-Afghan peace treaty. While the men at the top are not to be punished for the moment, the Afghans are to be given six months to show their sincerity towards Britain. The only penalty clauses are the withdrawal of the Amir's subsidy and the withdrawal of the privilege of importing arms and munitions from India. The ceremony of signing the treaty passed off without a hitch. General Grant said the Treaty would put an end to a wanton and unprofitable war, preventing further bloodshed. He warned the Afghans against a renewal of petty intrigues and in concluding congratulated the Afghan delegates on their courteous attitude. Alleea, the chief Afghan delegate, in a sturdy speech, declared Afghan friendship was as essential to Britain as Britain's was to the Afghans.

BAKERS' STRIKE OVER.
LONDON, Aug. 9. The Bakers strike which has been in progress for some time ended to-day. The men agreed to resume work to-morrow on the understanding that the strikers would not be penalized for refusing to work and the Government introduced a bill at the earliest possible moment abolishing night baking.

BELGIUM RATIFIES ANNEX.
BRUSSELS, Aug. 8. The chamber of Deputies to-day ratified the annex to the peace treaty concerning the military convention entered into by Great Britain, France, United States and Belgium.

READY TO TAKE ACTION.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 9. Congress got down to-day to analyzing and digesting President Wilson's recommendations for the reduction of the increased cost of living. Members of the Senate and House inter-state, commerce and agriculture committees, which would have in hand the framing of legislation to extend the food control Act and to regulate storage of foodstuffs, paid particular attention to the President's address delivered late yesterday before a joint session of the two houses. The leaders are prepared to take action at an early date on the living problem. Although some members disagreed with the specific recommendations of the President, it was believed that the prospective legislation generally would follow the proposals made.

HARD FIGHTING IN RUSSIA.
ARCHANGEL, Aug. 9. (Reuter's)—There has been hard and intermittent fighting between the Russian and Bolshevik forces since the mutiny at Omsk. Russian forces who had supported the British gunners in an attempt to recapture Omsk were attacked by the Bolsheviks, many of whom disguised as peasants, and as women, succeeded in getting very close to the Russian lines before being noticed. The manoeuvre which aimed at encircling the small anti-Bolshevik force failed, the latter seeking safety in a wood. Subsequently a British monitor anchored at Omsk and detachments were landed in the face of fierce resistance. Part of the town was recaptured after house to house fighting. The Bolsheviks were reinforced however, and forced the anti-Bolshevik troops to withdraw. Immediately afterwards two British monitors shelled the town for eleven hours.

BOLSHEVIKS SHORT OF MUNITIONS.

CURRIE ON BRITISH AND COLONIAL RELATIONSHIP.
LIVERPOOL, Aug. 10. (Via Reuter's.)—Interviewed by a Reuter correspondent while he was embarking on the Caronia to sail for Canada, General Currie, Commander of the Canadian Corps in France said: "I don't know whether we like you better than before the war, but we understand you better. I think we respect each other more, but I do think we like each other as well as we would like to do. We have not taken each other into the family and understanding between the people of the Motherland and Colonials. I am glad to know Canadian soldiers are taking home wives from the country and in my opinion there are too many people living in English cities. More cooperation, more national discipline, more self-sacrifice and determination will bring about a better understanding between us."

Keds

You'll Forget You Have Them On Until It's Time To Take Them Off

WE are speaking now of Keds—the perfected rubber-soled canvas shoes that are so overwhelmingly popular with everybody.

More appropriate summer shoes you never saw. Men work in them—women dress-up in them—children play in them.

Long-wearing, springy, buoyant rubber soles and specially woven canvas tops—real foot freedom that you will appreciate most when the sun is high overhead and everything warm becomes unbearable. Keds are especially fine for the seashore and outdoor sports.

Wedding Bells.

WATSON-SOMMER.
Rev. H. L. Kempton was the officiating pastor yesterday at a quiet wedding which took place at his home on Crescent Heights, when Mr. William D. Watson was united in marriage to Miss Dorothea Maude Sommer, both of Calgary. Following the ceremony a supper was served to a few intimate friends of the bride and groom at the home of the former's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith—Calgary Herald, July 12.

The subject of the above interesting notice—Mr. William D. Watson—is well known in St. John's. For a number of years he worked at Steer Bros., and his services as a reciter were very much sought after at social gatherings and concerts. He enlisted with the Canadians and fought through the great war, was severely wounded and returned to Calgary some time ago, where he intends to make his home.

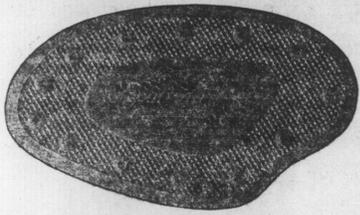

For the rest of this week we will give a reduction of 15 per cent. off all Suits of Clothes. Clothes are continually going up. Get your Suit now at 15 per cent. below the present value. WYLAN BROS., 314 Water Street. aug 8, 19

SHOE STORES.

Our American Letter.

Charleston, South Carolina.—The great race riot in Chicago has aroused the nation to the great peril which faces it as a result of the new spirit animating the American negroes. They are making a stand for equal-rights with the whites and everything that is meant by the phrase. The sending to Europe of thousands of black soldiers has not helped the situation, but has given the negro an exaggerated opinion of his importance in the scheme of things. He was feted and honored in France to such an extent that he feels he is entitled to the same treatment in this country.

It is a difficult problem with which the United States has to deal. It is all very well to waste reams of good white paper in sympathizing with the poor negro, but there is quite another side to the question. The black no matter how well educated he may be is still what Kipling calls "half devil and half child" and to give this race the same privileges which the whites possess is out of the question. Great Britain does not do it in Africa and a great proportion of the blacks in the United States are not any farther advanced morally or intellectually than are the savage races of the dark continent.

We must take into consideration also what would follow social equality of the two races. The negro would demand the right to inter-marry with the white race, and all that such a privilege implies. No white man worthy of the name would agree to such an unthinkable proposal and no self-respecting white woman could be otherwise than repelled by such a suggestion.

It is of course unnecessary to say that the negro should be accorded decent and honorable treatment by the whites, but such treatment should not consist of a course of action which places the half savage black on an equality with the whites.

It is difficult for the person who is not living in localities which have a negro problem on their hands to quite grasp the view-point of the whites. Many of the greatest advocates of negro equality have had their views changed by a few months residence in the South. They have been able to study conditions at first hand and were compelled to admit that they had been mistaken. The negro when elevated to a high position becomes the pliant tool of all the evil forces of graft and greed.

In the reconstruction period following the Civil War negroes were placed in the legislatures of the Southern states, with the result that they voted away the valuable franchises of the people at the behest of unscrupulous exploiters. Their procedure as parliamentarians was the laughing stock of the world. On one occasion a negro statesman tried to have a bill passed and was told it was unconstitutional. He thereupon requested that the constitution be suspended.

In many ways the negro is an anomaly. That he can never measure up to the standard of the whites must be admitted by all thoughtful observers. The black has never succeeded in governing himself. He has made a failure in Haiti and Liberia just as he made a failure in the American south in the days of reconstruction.

The problem of the negro cannot be solved by trouble making publicists and platform orators who simply cause the negro's head to swell with an exaggerated sense of his ability and who influence him into taking steps which only result in the further persecution of his race. Something must be done to solve the great problem but not in the way the negro desires. White supremacy must be safeguarded if the world is to continue to be the abiding place of those ideals which every man or woman of the Caucasian race regards as part of their religion.

MOVING AROUND.

When I blew into Johnson's store, to buy some prunes for Lizette, no customers were on the floor, but all the clerks were busy. They carried boxes to and fro, and swept and dusted; oh, everyone was on the go, until his gallus busted. I said to Johnson, cheerful-faced, the tumult round him viewing, "Oh, why all this indecent haste, when there is nothing doing? Why don't the clerks sit down and rest, their useless labors dropping? Then they would hump and do their best when customers come shopping." Said Johnson, "People pass my store, on errands vain and dizzy; and they look through the open door and see the clerks all busy; and they reflect, 'That Johnson gent is surely up and coming; while other merchants make lament, he keeps things fairly humming.' If they looked in and saw my men at half asleep and yawning, they'd think I ran a moiden, and so their way doggoning. There's nothing like a busy front when trade is slack and dragging; so every clerk must have his stunt, and keep his triblys wagging." I swiped some cheese and then I went, and, as I went, reflected, "There are upon this Johnson gent no flies that I've detected."

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP A SUCCESS.

There is a decided drive from all sides to decry public ownership. The opponents of public ownership do not do anything so common as to put up an argument. They just admit that it is a failure and comment upon the same. Public ownership is no failure and the activity of the opponents is inspired by a full knowledge of its success. They are alarmed because of its success.—Calgary Morning Albertan.

Forgotten Names.

The bestowal on a Sunderland baby of the appalling name, "Mons Robert Armistice," and the recent statement by a daily newspaper that his parents have decided to call him "Bob," serve to remind us that an enormous amount of time and thought is often wasted in connection with christenings.

Very few people use all the names which are given to them "by their godfathers and godmothers in baptism."

One Christian name is enough for the average man for everyday use, although the American practice of using an initial as well is becoming increasingly popular in this country.

Literary men are particularly fond of revising and sub-editing their baptismal appellations, with the result that their friends and followers are frequently ignorant of their full titles.

How many admirers of the creator of "Peter Pan," for instance, know that Barrie was christened not only "James," but also "Matthew," and who among the devotees of Arnold Bennett are aware that their favorite author's first name is Enoch?

A request for a book by Herbert Wells would probably make the most astute librarian and bookseller think more than twice before he realised that the author indicated was the famous writer who is so well known by his initials only, that even his personal friends refer to him as "H.G."

Most Manxmen are content to forget that their own particular literary lion might be correctly referred to as T. H. H. Cairns, his lesser-known Christian names being Thomas Henry; and very few of the readers of the historical romances of Stanley Weyman would recognize him if we spoke of him—quite justifiably—as John.
