Lady Wyvernes' Daughter.

CHAPTER XXIX.

It was wonderful how much Julia and Maria found to praise and admire in the young girl they had previously disliked. The whole evening was spent in discussing the morning's adventure. The arrival of the pretty scented billet, with a coronet upon the envelope, was but another charm.

The day following Lord and Lady Lyne called upon Mrs. Cadwell. They little knew the preparations that had been made for that event—how many dresses the girls had tried on; how the salon had been arranged; how the card-basket was weeded of unobnoxious and commonplace names; and the Hon. Mrs. Godwin's card placed where it was sure to attract attention.

Mrs. Godwin gave some very plain hints that she considered she ought to be present at the interview; but Mrs. Cadwell discreetly refused to understand them.

Lord Lyne explained as much as he thought proper of the circumstances that had caused Lady Florence to act as she had done.

"I consider myself her guardian," he continued. "I was her father's intimate friend; and Lady Lyne wishes her to make her home with us at present. Some arrangements will be entered into with the present Earl of Wyverne, who is bound to allow Lady Florence an income from the estate. If you can find some one as substitute for her, Mrs. Cadwell, you will confer a great favor upon Lady Lyne and myself."

Mrs. Cadwell was only too happy to do anything in her power. All arrangements were soon concluded, and Lady Lyne undertook to send for the luggage belonging to her young friend. "You must not think," said Lord Lyne, with the kind courtesy that ever distinguished him, "that we intend to deprive you altogether of Lady Florence's society. I hope you will call sometimes at the Palazzo Giorno. We shall be happy to see you."

It was a triumph to be able to tell Mrs. Godwin that they were invited to visit Lady Lyne.

"I tell you," returned the lady, "a more fortunate thing never happened to any one."

Both Agatha and Lady Lyne had the kindest affection for the beautiful young girl, who seemed to have no friends. She was happy with them; but she never felt quite at home with Lord Lyne. She had not forgotten those few days at Severn Castle, when he had seemed to care so much about her.

Lady Florence admired the superb beauty of Lady Lyne. She understood how much the graceful, dignified Andalusian loved her husband. Lord Lyne was kind and courteous to her as to every one, and she was wonderfully happy in that new home where every loving care and attention was lavished upon her. A correspondence was opened with the Earl of Wyverne. Lord Lyne refused to listen to any argument Florence brought forward, and declared she must be guided by common sense, not pride, and that her father's daughter should receive a suitable provision from her father's estate.

They had now been three weeks in Rome, and Lady Lyne was beginning to recover her spirits, nothing having been heard of Rinaldo.

"He will see," she said to herself, "that there is no chance for him, and he will be satisfied to leave us alone." Alas! she was too sanguine; as well hope to divert a tiger from its helpless prey, as expect Count Rinaldo to relinquish any plans he had once formed. She had not quite regained her old spirits and brilliancy; and there were times when her cheek was pale and her eyes were dim; but as days passed on and no news came of the man who tortured her, she began to take courage. The danger was not present, and she feared it less.

Lord Lyne could not understand his wife. He was proud of her and fond of her; but he wondered why she so frequently seemed to lose all health and strength, why those sudden and mysterious fits of illness seized her; why at times she was her own brilliant, bright self, and again so sad and spiritless that he hardly knew her. He was never certain of her; if he saw her in the morning, and felt pleased because she seemed bright and happy, in a few hours afterward she would be pale and silent. Yet no woman ever strove to bear her pain so bravely as did Inez Lyne.

Her husband was never sure of her. He found relief in the unwearied sweetness of Agatha Lyne, and the bright, cheerful spirits of Lady Florence. The two young girls were warmly attached to Inez. Florence resembled Agatha in many things;—she was fair, but her face was brighter, and her hair of a deeper and more golden hue. In place of the sweet repose that characterized Miss Lyne, she charmed by the varying expression of her bright face. She was of a more decided character than Agatha; she had more pride, more genius, deeper capability of loving; she was less patient and amiable.

"Good news," said Lord Lyne, as he perused a long and closely-written letter from his mother—"the Leighs are coming to Rome. They gave our address, and will call first upon us."

With a rapid glance, Inez noticed the flush that overspread her sister's face when she heard the name. She did love Allan, then, and that was the reason she cared nothing either for Lord Rington or Count Rinaldo.

"If that only happens," said Lady Lyne to herself, "I am saved. If Allan comes, and they are engaged, Rinaldo would see it was of no use to torture me, and I should be left in peace."

Her spirits rose again,—she would be happy. There was freedom in the present, and a prospect of relief in the future.

Lord Lyne proposed that they should visit that day the beautiful gardens of the Pamfil Doria Villa.

"They are like fairyland, Inez," he said—"you will be charmed with them. The oaks and bay trees meet overhead, and form beautiful green aisles, down which you may walk, lost in dreams. The rippling fountains and the magnificent statues and vases are half-hidden in the luxuriant foliage. Would you like to go there?"

"Above all things," replied Lady Lyne. "But when are the Leighs coming?"

"There is no certain time fixed," said Lord Lyne. "Whenever we go out we must leave word as to our whereabouts, and they will follow us."

So Lord Lyne left orders with his servants that if any friends came from England, they were to be told Lord and Lady Lyne were at the Pamfil Doria Villa, and asked to follow them there.

It was a bright, cloudless day, such as one only sees in Italy; the sky was blue, the sun bright, and the gardens were perfection. Lady Florence lingered like on fascinated by the side of Inez. She had never seen her look so handsome or so bright. There were numerous strangers in the gardens, and many were the admiring glances that followed the beautiful Andalusian. She had thrown off her troubles and cares, and given herself up to the charm of the day. Her husband looked at her in admiration, her glowing beauty, gay spirits, and musical laugh, all seeming to have a new and more potent fascination for him. They were as happy as children. No one could have guessed that over one amongst them there hung the blackest cloud and the most bitter sorrow.

All day they lingered in the gardens, admiring the relics of antiquity that greeted the eye at every turn; the long terraces and the beautiful views seen from them.

For four years he went forward steadily, dealing with half a million pounds of llama wool annually. Then, when his inventions were perfected, and when men and women in all parts of the world were clamoring for this new cloth which could be made cool enough for tropical wear, so light that the weight of the coat was scarcely noticed, yet so lustrous that it had almost the appearance of silk, he began to go ahead with amazing speed.

It was in 1836 that he saw the bales at Liverpool. In 1852, no less than 2,196,486lb. was imported. Twenty years later the figures had risen to 3,378,739lb. and still the demand grew.

The first small mills at Bradford were added to as progress was made, but within a few years of the first discovery it was found necessary to erect enormous buildings to cope with the demands of the new industry. In 1852 Sir Titus Salt decided to use a piece of ground known as the Saltaire Estate, lying near the canal at Bradford.

His mills were then scattered in various parts of the district; he resolved to have one factory big enough to contain all his machinery and his army of workpeople. The Saltaire Mills were built, covering six full acres of ground and employing within a short time of their erection 3,000 hands. The business is now one of the greatest in the country.

Chronic Constipation Relieved Without the Use of Laxatives

Nujol is a lubricant—not a medicine or laxative—so cannot grip. When you are constipated, not enough of Nature's lubricating liquid is produced in the bowels to keep the food waste soft and moving. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus secures regular bowel movements by Nature's own method—lubrication. Try it today.

Millions From Useless Wool!

A YOUNG MAN'S ACCIDENTAL DISCOVERY.

A few days ago it was reported that a £4,000,000 company was to take over the Saltaire Mills. It was not a particularly striking paragraph, yet it contained the culmination of one of the most wonderful romances of commerce.

Nearly ninety years ago a Liverpool firm of wool merchants were at their wits' end to know what to do with a consignment of rough, unpleasant-looking stuff that for years had encumbered their warehouses. It had been imported originally as a speculation, but no one would touch it, for who could find a use for three hundred odd bales of bad-looking wool, varying in colour from deep brown to dirty white, and of which respectable manufacturers shuddered!

Origin of Alpaca.

One day a young man walking through the warehouses of the Liverpool docks noticed the mouldering bales and turned aside to look at them. Llama wool, for that is what it was, was something new to him. He plucked out a tuft and put it in his pocket.

A few weeks later he walked into the merchants' office and offered eightpence a pound for the whole consignment. As they had long since given up hope of ever selling an ounce of it, they fell on his neck!

The young man's name was Salt. He was unknown then, but before long the purchase had won him enormous wealth, and as Sir Titus Salt he was famous not only in this country, but all over the world.

Briefly, he had discovered that this wool, which comes from the back of a camel-like creature of South America, was longer and lighter than any sheep's. He had thought out the process whereby it could be made into the beautiful lustrous material which we call alpaca. It cannot be treated quite like ordinary wool; in fact, the process is in some ways like that used for making cotton.

For four years he went forward steadily, dealing with half a million pounds of llama wool annually. Then, when his inventions were perfected, and when men and women in all parts of the world were clamoring for this new cloth which could be made cool enough for tropical wear, so light that the weight of the coat was scarcely noticed, yet so lustrous that it had almost the appearance of silk, he began to go ahead with amazing speed.

THE GOLDEN USED TO BE.
When time shall beat
The slow retreat
From littered desk and city street.
When worn and gray,
I turn away,
Then I shall live with Yesterday.

Then I shall rest
From every test,
My sun just fading in the west;
The past will be
Aglow for me
With glorious faces I shall see.

And who can say,
Perhaps To-day,
Along the future's winding way
Will find my door,
And shine once more
With splendor brighter than before.

With all the throng
I rush along
Too tense for laughter and for song;
Yet in my brain

Some lifting strain
Of old-time music may remain.

Life holds us fast
Unto the last
And all the need for strife is past;
Then older grown,
We sit alone
With all the pleasures we have known

But looking back
Along life's track,
We loose the string 'round Memory's pack.
With eyes aglow,
Once more we know
The happiness of long ago.

Where earth fires burn
Old friends return,
No joy is lost for which we yearn,
And age can find
There shines behind
A charm to which his youth was blind.

Too near to-day
Are mirth and play,
Too swift the pace, too rough the way
Yet some day we Shall turn and see
Each golden joy which used to be.

Pleased With the Union Situation.

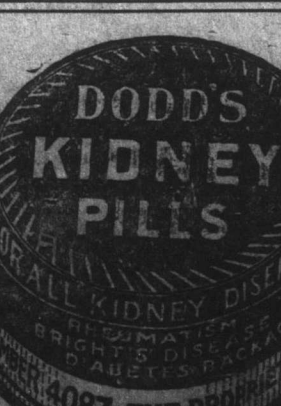

Toronto, June 23.—Rev. Dr. S. D. Chown, General Superintendent of the Methodist Church in Canada returned to Toronto to-day after a tour of the western conference, well pleased with the union situation. He does not anticipate any serious difficulty in having the union consummated, and declared the desire of the Methodist Church to assist the Olive Branch Committee of the Presbyterian Church "in any reasonable way tending to satisfy the anti-unionists."

Dr. Chown stated that the whole of the West was in the grip of hard times, and that the church, like other institutions, had suffered. The people were hopeful, however, and they looked forward to a bumper harvest.

The Reserve Electric Power.

The argument submitted in the House, by Mr. Higgins, Leader of the Opposition, to have a clause inserted in the Humber Agreement whereby the surplus electric power, generated at the Armstrong Power Plant, may be secured by the Government for the possible future contingency of electrifying the railroad system for the running of the trains, and the suggestion of Sir Michael Cashin that the Reid Nfd. Co. or the Armstrong-Whitworth Co. may have in mind the possibility of the Government being compelled before many years to ask one of these companies to take over the operation of the railway system, opens up a new vista as to the value of this surplus water power. The company professed to be able to generate 240,000 h.p. and all that they will require to run their own plant is 90,000 h.p. There will therefore be 150,000 h.p. left in reserve for other utilities that require electric power. This should be sufficient to electrify all the road between the Topsails and Port aux Basques, and would make such a saving on coal as would convert the operating of the railway into a paying instead of a losing proposition. The eastern end of the road this side of the Topsails would supply sufficient water power to complete the electrification of the entire line and the use of coal would be entirely eliminated. This would mean a saving of 100,000 tons of coal which would cost at least $1,400,000. The saving of this would make the railway pay. The electrification of railways in the United States is steadily going on, and coal is being dispensed with. There is one road 500 miles long which is run entirely by electricity. It is evidently the power of the future, and it is only a question of time when Newfoundland, having the water power, will be compelled to fall into the procession of progress. The consideration of this possible contingency shows the importance of the Government securing the right to the surplus water power. It is to be hoped, therefore, that the timely and prudent suggestion of the Leader of the Opposition to have a clause inserted in the Armstrong-Whitworth Agreement, reserving the surplus electric power for the use of the Government in running the railway will be considered. The Nfd. Government should have the first right of purchase reserved.

St. Michael's Notes.

A large number of workers gathered last night to make the final arrangements for the Garden Party at Lester's Field. Everything is now ready for the big event when the parishioners and their friends will meet in their annual reunion. Last year's decision of "no lotteries or tickets" was followed this year also. In this connection it is good to note that other Garden Parties are adopting the same line. St. Michael's lost nothing last year by starting on new lines and are just as confident of success this year. Judging by the interest displayed and the generous help received nothing is wanting except a fine day to make the biggest success on record.

Successful Lady Student.

It is with very great pleasure that we learn of the success of another of our young lady students. This time it is Miss Nancy C. Whiteley. The Telegram tenders congratulations. After four years' course in the New England Conservatory of Music at Boston, she successfully graduated on June 19th, among some 100 graduates, as a Soloist in Piano-forte playing. That she is deserving of the success she has attained, we are confident, and it but adds to her achievement, that her graduation has been in one of the best Musical Colleges in the States. To her parents, Cant. and Mrs. George Whiteley, of this city, we also tender our congratulations.

C. L. B. C. Sports.

TAKES PLACE THIS AFTERNOON.

The attraction for this afternoon will be the C.L.B.C. Sports, which take place at St. George's Field at 2.30. The programme of events consists of short and middle distance racing, 2 Mile Walk, Football Sixes, Relay Races by both the Senior and Junior League teams, Pyramid Exhibition by the C.L.B. and last but not least, the 10 Mile Road Race, which starts from the Octagon at 3.30 and finishes with two laps of the field. A large entry list for the various events has been received. The athletes taking part have undergone careful training, and with the weather condition ideal, a successful afternoon's sport is assured. The C.L.B. Band will be in attendance, to render the latest selections.

Belvedere Garden Party.

Preparations are going on apace for a successful garden party at the Belvedere grounds next Monday. To the usual site shows, gymnastic exercises, football fixtures and the appetizing tea tables will be added a novel feature in the way of a parcel post office. Patrons on the grounds who receive post cards to call for parcels may consider themselves highly honored as we understand that there is a pleasing surprise in store for all recipients of same. Tea will be served this year near to the different sports, but the Convent grounds proper are thrown open to everyone. A flag drill too, by the little ones should evoke much interest, and both Cadet and M. Cadet bands are kindly supplying the music. With only the admission, we bespeak for Belvedere garden party a great success. Certainly both Ladies and gentlemen's committees are leaving no effort undone so that the 170 little orphans housed at that institution may gain a material benefit, than which there is no cause more worthy.

to such a successful issue, he defects of the Government since they took hold of the railway in 1920 were far greater than any ever attributed to the Reids in the yearly reports. In former years a Government dared not give the Reids $5,000 but now the Government without winking an eye can vote them one and half million dollars. Confederation would be much better than the position we are in at the present time. He then referred to the financial position of the country which is deplorable in view of the large number of fishermen who are not prosecuting the vorage this year. Giving a fair estimate of the seasons catch he said that the total annual value at five dollars a quintal this year other industries can only possibly give fifteen millions of dollars out of which you have got to collect nine to ten millions as revenue. If we continue as we are going it is either a crown colony or confederation that is facing us. He called the attention of the House to a statement made this evening, where he, Sir Michael Cashin, said a responsible member of the Treasury to finance his (the Minister's) election. He, Mr. Walsh, said he saw cheques issued by Hon. Dr. Campbell for cab hire which were charged up to the Government pit-prop account. He recalled the time when Sir William Coaker loudly proclaimed against the appointment of defeated candidates to executive seats in the Government. He questioned the right of Dr. Campbell, a foreigner and defeated twice in St. John's West to hold the positions which rightly belonged to Mr. Downey the elected member for St. George's and Mr. Hawco, member for St. John's Main two Newfoundlanders who are turned down. He ridiculed the manner in which prohibition is carried out and the hypocrisy practised by the Premier and the Government. When prohibition was first enforced, he pointed out the impossibility to keep out illicit drink from coming into this country at that time, he did not think it would be as easy as it is at present when anyone and everyone can get all the liquor they wanted. He said Quebec had derived a harvest from proper regulation of the traffic. A few days ago a large section of Canada voted against prohibition. He thought the time was opportune when the government should adopt some sane measures respecting this traffic and in the main consider some measures that will encourage tourist traffic. Quebec in one year secured six million dollars by thus catering to foreign visitors. He believed a change with this in view would be a happy one, prohibitionists themselves must be disgusted with the way in which the law is carried out. He returned to his original remarks in supporting the Humber proposition. He trusted the amendments would be acceptable to the Government. He asked for fair treatment in employment and prayed that the opposition districts would not be discriminated against.

Mr. Woodford endorsed the Humber project like other members in the Opposition. He supported the proposition as it meant considerable work for the people all over the country. Knowing this the Government should not waste any more time to have employment that is so necessary at the present moment. He thought it a great blunder on the part of the Government knowing this measure would be voted for that some steps were not taken long before this to have as many as possible now employed at the enterprise. One point in particular occurred to him that should be known was the rate of wage. He said there ought to be a stated wage mentioned in the agreement. He suggested at least $2.50 per day and some clause which should be inserted and Newfoundlanders should receive first consideration. It was quite evident to him that the Government was losing sight of our great and chief industry, the fishery. We vote millions of dollars for some measures, but the main industry is completely neglected. He thought it a great scandal and a shame. He was ready to do his best and give his best to the people who elected him to the House. He differed with Mr. Downey in his view of Government control of the railway, which policy would cost the colony many millions in addition to the $14 millions already spent on same during the past 3 1/2 years. He implored the Government to get busy and make provision for the hundreds who are waiting for an opportunity to go to work immediately.

Mr. Brown, member for Twillingate, addressed the Assembly on a matter that appealed to him personally and had no bearing whatever with the subject under discussion.

Mr. Fox in a very creditable manner gave an exhaustive address, which we hope to review later. He ridiculed the idea of having the two propositions, Railway and Humber, being considered together. He read interesting correspondence in relation to the project.

At 1.30 p.m. the House adjourned until Thursday at 3 p.m.

Mr. Chairman: Last night a very enjoyable dance was held in aid of the Church of England Garden Party which takes place shortly. Music was ably supplied by an orchestra from the C.L.B. Band under the leadership of Capt. Morris, and the splendid floor, made the dance most enjoyable. The affair was organized by Mr. Max Colton and was a huge success. During the interval a delicious supper was served.

Tribute to H. D. Reid By Sir Michael Cashin.

Mr. Chairman: Last evening I was going on to review the broken promises of the Premier's Manifesto during the past 3 1/2 years. As to those Humber Resolutions I remind the House that we had been promised that the particulars would be brought down in a short time after the Premier and Mr. Conroy returned from England. I drew the attention of the House to the insincerity of the Government in the way they misled the people in order to use the Humber cry to get back to power. We were told by the Prime Minister that the proposition originated from himself and his Government. I shall show the House that this was not so. It is entirely a proposition of the Reid Nfld. Co., and I congratulate the Company on the success of their work. This same project was before the House in 1915. Many changes have occurred since. There is no reason why we should be here at this late date considering this measure if the Premier had not decided to make a political football of the project. It should have been brought before the House in February last. The Government did not want the people to know anything about the particulars till they got their votes. They simply wrote "Humber and Plenty of Work" on the blackboard. They did not have the interest of the country at heart, but rather their own return to power. The Deal is the Nfld. Products Co. project under a new name. It has been worked out by H. D. Reid, whom I regard as a very clever man, and I take this occasion to tender him my best congratulations. His name has been held up to ridicule and opprobrium all these years, but he said nothing in retaliation but kept on. This may sound rank heresy to some people, but I go farther and say that the Reids were the best contractors that we ever had in this country. The late Sir R. G. Reid came here a wealthy man. He built the main line of railway, made considerable money, but he left it in the country and spent it among the people. He did not run away. The proposition now before us is that of his son, H. D. Reid, a very able man, a silent man, but one with a brain to conceive and execute big undertakings. He has been working on the possibility of the utilization of his water powers and timber areas for many years and often gave his plans to the Government. He submitted the proposal to the Government of which I was an Executive member sitting with the present Premier, who by some strange process is now styled by himself and friends a "Liberal," while they call him a "Tory." The Reids kept up their faith in their proposition and did their share to help out during the war by keeping the railway running at a loss of thousands of dollars annually. All this time they were abused and criticized by the very people who are now to fall in line with them to save their political lives. The Reids are expensive steamers at the small chairman of an arbitration commission to adjudicate on a Reid claim and you demanded $5,000. (Premier: "It is not true.") It is true and I defy you to prove that it is not. The man sitting behind you who called you a "black rascal" knows it is true. (Here Sir Michael was shown the Evening Telegram of the days issue containing an item referring to remarks that the Premier was alleged to have made in conversation with two visitors to the House the previous evening.) You have said to visitors who were here yesterday that I was ignorant and should not be taken as a fair specimen of Newfoundland public man. Well, Sir, if I am ignorant, I know how to deal with you. I am the son of a fisherman and you are the son of a Receiving Officer, which may account for your better opportunities to save yourself from being ignorant. I have held a seat in this House for 30 years and have managed to hold my own with the best men and was not considered "ignorant." Before this is over, I hope to convince the public that there are worse things than ignorance. I do not forget, Sir, that three years ago you brought auditors here to find me guilty of my appropriation of monies in my capacity of Minister of Finance and you failed as you knew you would, but it was in line with all your hypocritical acts and earned for you the name of "black rascal" from the gentleman now sitting behind you. Yes, Sir, you are the worst hypocrite that was ever in public life in this country. You inflated the country with the sectarian cry to win your election and you cap the climax of hypocrisy in your attitude on Prohibition. When I was in the Government as Minister of Finance my office was besieged almost every day with gentlemen, your backers, with complaints about Tanic, soda water, vanilla and half a dozen other drinks demanding that the importation be prohibited. Yes, Sir, you have prostituted the Prohibition Act and even deceived and flouted those who trusted him most to carry out the law. You are a hypocrite in all your dealings and I advise you to mend your ways. The people have been ruined by your Government. If your friends whom you told that I was "ignorant" are now inside the Bar of the House you may tell them that Poor Old Newfoundland is being made to take a back seat in this Humber Deal and that her sons will have to take the worst jobs, the hewing of wood and drawing of water.

Wedding Bells.

A very pretty wedding took place at Bay Bulls on June 19th last, when Mr. P. Nagle of Tor's Cove led to the altar Mrs. L. O'Driscoll of Bay Bulls, daughter of Joe. William, Customs Officer. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. P. O'Brien. The bride was attended by Miss Anna Mulcahy and Miss Angela Drew, while the groom was supported by his brother, J. J. Nagle and A. J. Hearn. After the ceremony the happy couple with their friends motored to Donovan's Hotel, where a sumptuous repast was served. Many guests from the city were present and a merry time was spent till the wee sma' hours. Mr. and Mrs. Nagle then proceeded to Kelligrews, where the honeymoon was spent. The present from the groom to the bride was a gold bracelet, and to the bridesmaids gold pendants, while to the best men gold cuff links were presented. The presents received by the bride and groom were numerous and costly, showing the esteem in which the popular couple are held by their friends. Mr. and Mrs. Nagle will make their home at Bay Bulls, and all their friends wish them a long and happy life, in which the Telegram sincerely joins.

Overworked Mothers.

We all know them. Mothers who in their anxiety to keep their homes neat and attractive and their little ones as well dressed as their playmates, toil on day in and day out, sweeping, dusting, mending and cooking, often suffering from backache, pain in side, headache, nervousness, sleeplessness, all symptoms of more serious ailments. Thousands of such women have found relief from such suffering by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as is evidenced by the letters of recommendation continually being published in this paper. For nearly fifty years this old-fashioned root and herb medicine has been restoring ailing women to health and strength.

Famous Stage Success Coming to the Nickel.

REX INGRAM'S PRODUCTION "TURN TO THE RIGHT!"

We have seen Rex Ingram's "Prisoner of Zenda" and "The Conquering Power," both of which are outstanding screen triumphs; but now the Nickel announces another picture made by the same producer, entitled "Turn to the Right" which is considered far better than his previous films.

"Turn to the Right" is one of those stories with a thrill, a smile and a heart-throb. The story concerns the adventures of Joe Bascom, who, after serving an unjust prison sentence, returns to his home, keeps the truth from her, and learns that she is about to be swindled out of her home and peach orchard. With the aid of his two prison pals he saves the property and is the means of bringing romance into the lives of his pals and himself.

The picture is produced in nine stirring acts with a remarkable cast, including Alice Terry, Harry Myers and Jack Mulhall.

Harold Lloyd is also coming in his latest five act comedy, "Grandma's Boy." This one even exerts "Dr. Jack." It's one continuous roar from start to finish.

Footballer Injured.

In the dying moments of last evening's football match between the B.I.S. and C.E.L., Jack Field, one of our most promising hockeyists, met with serious injuries in his first appearance on the football field and now lies in the General Hospital. It appears that he and Constantine were running for the ball and Constantine got it first and kicked it over his head. Field collided with him and was knocked down. He was picked up and carried to the dressing room where an examination by Dr. O'Reilly and Fox showed that the cap of his left knee had been fractured. The sudden strain on the muscle caused by the fall is responsible for the fracture. The C.E.L. players suffered a big setback in the loss of Field, as at that time of accident the team was pressing hard to score the winning goal.

Mr. M. S. Sullivan's Speech on the Humber Resolutions.

Mr. Chairman—I must congratulate the Prime Minister on the very thorough Biography of the Sir W. G. Armstrong Withworth Company Limited which he gave this House when introducing the Resolutions now under discussion: he certainly deserves great credit for the tremendous amount of research work that must have been done in securing the interesting and valuable information contained in his speech, as to the necessity of taking up so much time of the House in giving us the History of this well known Company, there is probably a diversity of opinion.

Every man in public life in this country to-day is well aware that this Contract that this firm enters into, they are financially able to carry it out to a satisfactory finish. Speaking for myself, I think it is unnecessary for the Prime Minister to use up valuable time in practically apologizing for having to guarantee the interest and Principal on the amount of $9,000,000, which this country is called upon to guarantee.

The British Government has made very thorough enquiries as to the soundness of this undertaking as to its commercial possibilities and after the most searching examination into every detail by the best Experts obtainable in Canada and Great Britain, they have come forward and offered to guarantee the Principal and interest on a similar amount of $9,000,000, which will only give temporary employment in England. If this proposition is good enough for the British Government, then I, for one, am prepared to take a chance on a similar guarantee for Newfoundland. The expenditure of this amount in Newfoundland will not only give employment, as in Great Britain, for a few months, but it will mean employment for the next half century at least.

You, Mr. Prime Minister, went to the Country on May 3rd, the Humber Development Scheme was THE Plan in your Manifesto, the electorate sent you back with a good working majority to carry out their mandate, to put the Humber Proposition through, and the people of this country are looking to you to-day to get a move on and see that the work of construction is rushed so that some of the thousands who are looking for work may get it.

The Opposition also promised to pass the Humber scheme if elected and I pledged my support to this measure to my constituents, and that pledge I am prepared to carry out provided my constituents are not discriminated against and get their share of work on this big development scheme.

I fail to see Mr. Chairman, how any man on either side of the House, who knows the conditions of the people in this country to-day can jeopardize the passing of the necessary Legislation to legalize this development scheme or even to delay it. If there is any one, I would like to hear what alternative they can put forward to take its place, we must all ask ourselves, would we be justified in doing so under the present existing conditions? I think not!

Since this Humber proposition was first mooted, I have been a consistent supporter of the measure; I feel that the Government is to blame for not bringing this matter before the House at the last Session and enacting whatever Legislation was necessary to get this great industry established in Newfoundland, if this had been done eighteen months ago; three thousand men would be working to-day on construction work and probably last winter, the Company would have been able to take on an extra 2000 men in the lumber woods, never was labor wanted worse than it has been for the last 18 months.

We all realize that the Fishing industry can no longer be looked upon as being sufficient to take care of our people, look at the condition of the fishermen and laborers of this country to-day and contrast it with conditions four or five years ago, then they were happy, contented and prosperous; while to-day, people in many parts of the country are hungry and half naked, and every young man who can get sufficient money to take him out of the country is leaving the home-land.

Every Member sitting in this House must realize the conditions under which the people are trying to exist, because they are not living, it is only existing; members who went through the last Election campaign saw sights that could hardly be credited in what was once a prosperous country, and it is because of the condition of the people to-day, we should all be prepared, irrespective of party, to take a chance ed water power, we get an Export Tax of $1.00 per ton on paper, which, on an output of 120,000 tons per year, means an addition to the Revenue of $120,000 annually for all time, and we receive indirectly, at least $225,000 per year on the duties collected from this industry on the materials used in manufacturing news print. Indirectly we receive from the purchasing power of the people $900,000 per annum; this figure is arrived at by estimating the Per Annum Pay Roll of the Plant, @ $2,000,000 Pay Roll of Woods Operators, @ 900,000 Pay Roll of Real Estate and indirect labour, such as Lime Stone Quarry, @ 100,000 Total Pay Roll $3,000,000

The people who earn this money must spend it to buy food, clothes, etc. 30 p.c. of this amount will certainly come back into the Treasury. Many people who seem panicky about guaranteeing the Principal and interest—Let us analyze this and see what it means—Look at it in the worse light and assume we will be called upon to provide the interest of $450,000 after the first two years, then after a further three years the sinking fund of $29,252 or roughly $446,000 in all we are liable for $896,000 per year until the Sinking Fund provides for the redemption of the bonds in twenty years.

If we had to pay this amount of $896,000 annually, what do we receive in return? In the first place we receive a Tax of $1.00 per ton on the Export of Paper. Which is estimated to be about $120,000 We receive on account of Royalty on water power development 30,000 We receive duty on material used in manufacturing 225,000 We receive indirectly from the purchasing power of the employees 20 p.c. of $3,000,000, which is 900,000 This makes a total estimated receipt of $1,275,000 Interest charges and sinking fund 896,000 Leaving a credit balance in our favor of 479,000 besides giving a long way to make our people contented, happy and prosperous once again.

My estimate of the amount that will be collected in duty on materials used in connection with the manufacture of paper has been arrived at by taking the average duties collected at Grand Falls, Bishop's Falls and Botwood from 1909-10 to 1921-22, which figure out at $163,312 annually, as the Humber Mills will have twice the capacity of the Grand Falls, it is fairly safe to assume that there will be twice the amount of duty collected which should be in the vicinity of $326,624 annually. This does not take into account the considerable duty that must have been collected at Millerton as this will probably effect duties collected at Bishop's Falls, which were paid in connection with A. E. Read Company Plant.

Now let us look at the other side of the picture. Why should the Government of Newfoundland ever be called upon to pay interest and principal on $9,000,000? Personally I do not anticipate such an event, why? Because I have faith in the sound commercial possibilities of this enterprise—you may ask what makes me so optimistic? I will tell you: We can make Paper in Newfoundland as cheap as anywhere else in the world, in fact we have to make it cheaper because we have to compete with Canadian and American Mills, who have practically no duties to pay on material used in manufacturing. On the other hand Paper manufacturers in this country have to pay duties equivalent to $3.00 per ton on every ton manufactured, this should not be.

Accepting the figures quoted by the Prime Minister the promoters of this big paper making plant figure they can make paper at a cost of $40.00 per short ton, and that they can sell same for $45.00 per short ton F.O.B. the Mill. This gives a profit of $5.00 per short ton, which on an output of 120,000 tons per year is a clean profit of $600,000 annually; assuming that the maximum and sinking fund charges for Newfoundland and the British Government amount to $2,000,000, the company should show even then a profit of $1,000,000 after providing for all interest and sinking fund charges.

Mr. Speaker, I believe the Company's estimate of cost of manufacturing News Print at $40.00 per ton and selling at $45.00 per ton is most conservative, and I have no hesitation in saying that it can be manufactured for less than $40.00 and sold for at least $75.00 per ton.

In 1912 in properly equipped Mills run in business like manner news-paper was made for considerably less than $30.00 per ton, but let us assume that $40.00 manufacturing cost is correct, the F.O.B. Price should be $75.00, this would mean a profit of $35.00 out of 2000 lbs. and on an output of 120,000 tons annually, it would give a profit to the Company of $4,200,000. Under those circumstances, and with labour conditions as they are, should we worry over the possible chance of having to pay the guarantee? I think not.

The next question is what about the water power and timber resources connected with this development scheme? It is to be supposed that the engineers who reported on the water power of the Humber Valley knew what they were talking about, and no Company of the standing of the Sir W. G. Armstrong, Whitworth Company, Limited, would accept a report from any group of engineers unless the data submitted was absolutely reliable, so I do not propose to take up any more time in dealing with the water power development scheme, more especially as the Prime Minister informed us that all data submitted has been verified by the best experts obtainable.

As to the Timber land included in the scheme—what is the area? How is the land acquired? What number of cords per acre will it yield and in how many years will a mill of 400 tons of paper daily capacity be assured of sufficient wood supplies to keep that mill operating? Reliable answers to those questions are very necessary if the country is to be protected against having to pay interest and sinking fund charges.

In the first place we must bear in mind, so far as the Newfoundland Government is concerned, it is only necessary that they should have an absolute assurance, that there is sufficient pulpwood on the timber properties controlled, to keep the mills operating for twenty years after the mill is completed; this means that an assured pulpwood supply of at least 3,000,000 cords is on the land, because the sinking fund will reduce the bonds in 20 years and this country will be free from any other obligations of interest and sinking fund charges.

No sane business man would go ahead with a development scheme of such magnitude unless they knew they had or could acquire sufficient timber for from seventy to one hundred years. By reference to the map tabled one can easily see the holdings controlled and under option and also the large areas that can be acquired by the company.

I have spent sixteen years in the interior of Newfoundland. I know our timber resources I think as well as any man in the country, and I am absolutely certain that the timber limits controlled by the company will give them sufficient pulpwood if never another tree grew for fifty years. I have been over several large tracts of this area, and while I have not cruised nearly all, still I am convinced that some of the very best timber areas in the country are included in this scheme.

There is every reason why this should be so, because the timber areas were systematically and intelligently selected by competent engineers between 1895 and 1900; under the 1893 Railway Act all lands adjacent to the Railway Line were reserved until the Reids lands were selected, consequently the Reids had the best lands in the country to select from, and they certainly had the two best men that could be secured to make the selection, and events have since proved that the late W. Scott, Vice-President of the Anglo-Nfld. Development Co., and J. P. Powell, C.E., who made the selections, were worthy of the trust and confidence placed in them by the Reids.

Roughly I understand the lands from which the pulpwood would be cut for the Paper Mills are situated and yield as follows:—

In the Humber River watershed area 520,000 acres containing 3,700,000 cords This figures out at a little over 7 cords to an acre. Along the railway from Little River to Curling 600,000 acres containing 5,500,000 cords This only figures out at a little over 9 cords to the acre. On the Northern Peninsula 530,000 acres, containing 3,250,000 cords This figures out about 6 cords to the acre. Adjacent to Bay of Islands and Bay St. George on the coast 150,000 acres, containing 265,000 cords This figures out at 1 1/2 cords to the acre. This makes a total of 1,680,000 acres yielding 13,700,000 cords of pulpwood. Allowing about 1 1/2 cords of pulpwood to the ton of newsprint and a production of 120,000 tons per year, the consumption will be about 180,000 cords of pulpwood annually; the yield from the above areas will supply the mill for fifty years.

The intervening and surrounding lands available in the same vicinity and as well wooded amounts to fully another 2,000,000 acres. This land should easily yield another 10,000,000 cords, and the combined yield of the two areas should supply the mill for about 100 years, without taking into account natural growth during that time, and there is no reason why the mills should not be so constructed so that this output could be increased 50 to 100 per cent. a short time after the present mill 400 ton capacity is completed.

We have only to go back and review what happened when the Anglo-Newfoundland Development Company started in 1905; first they only acquired the timber limits owned by the Timber Estates and the Reid Nfld. Co.

and what was known as the Martin area. Later they purchased large areas from H. J. Crowe, J. B. Miller and other large holdings, to-day they have unlimited timber resources for their mills and need not worry about timber supplies for the future.

The estimated yield per acre which I understand the Company is counting on, is in my opinion a conservative estimate, reports made by the most reliable cruiser in Canada on land immediately North and adjoining the Humber Valley lands, show a production of 40 to 50 per cent more per acre than the figures of the estimates which I have quoted; surveys in other parts of the country over Reid lands included in other properties generally show a greater yield than the other lands in the same vicinity; this is no doubt accounted for by the careful selection made by the Reid Engineers when they were locating the Reid blocks.

For the information of the House I am giving you the average pulpwood cost per cord for five years in Canada:—

In 1917 the average cost was	$4.56
" 1918 " " " "	10.64
" 1919 " " " "	12.23
" 1920 " " " "	15.23
" 1921 " " " "	16.16
" 1922 " " " "	12.38

Wages cost in every Province of Canada were increased last winter, and the average cost of pulpwood this year will probably be somewhere between the cost of 1921 and 1922, or roughly, pulpwood this year will be costing in Canada about $14.24 per cord.

I should think that the cost of rough wood delivered at the Plant Humbermouth for some years will not exceed $6.00 per cord. If another thirty per cent. be added and the cost of wood be placed at say $8.00, the cost of Newfoundland wood will even then be fifty per cent. lower than Canadian cost, so that there is every reason to hope, with the advantage of cheap wood, with a surplus of cheap electric power and with mills at Tide Water that the paper mills at the Humbermouth will turn out newsprint at the lowest possible cost, the cheaper paper can be made the less chance there is of ever being called upon to pay the interest or the Sinking Fund charges. Improvements in paper making machines are reducing the quantity of wood per ton used. Mills with modern machinery to-day are using 50 per cent. wood less than machines manufactured even ten or fifteen years ago, therefore the mill with the most up-to-date machinery cannot but make cheap paper providing the management is what an industry of this kind should have, namely the very best that can be obtained.

As to selling price of newsprint—the F.O.B. price to-day at the Mills in Canada and the United States is $75.00 per ton and instead of the price of newsprint falling, I would not be surprised to find five years from now that the F.O.B. price of newsprint will be in the vicinity of $100.00 per ton.

Gibbons Fights 10 Years Without Being Floored.

ST. PAUL, June 15.—When Tommy Gibbons of St. Paul enters the ring at Shelby, Mont. July 4, to meet Jack Dempsey in a 15-round decision contest, he will carry with him a rare boast for a fighter of his experience—he has never been knocked off his feet.

In ten years of his professional career, the St. Paul challenger has successfully withstood all efforts to knock him out, or even down, while he in turn has counted 80 knockouts in his last 34 bouts.

It was back in 1913 that Tommy counted his first knockout, flooring Johnny Shaw in the third round. For several years, Gibbons was merely a successful boxer, and it was not until 1921 that he began to show a punch that sent opponent after opponent down for the count. It was the start of his successful march toward a championship bout.

Gibbons won 20 straight contests via the knockout route, then was out-pointed by Harry Greb in a 15-round bout in New York in March, 1922, which went to Greb on the referee's decision and with it the lightweight title Gibbons was striving for. In the list of knockouts that preceded the Greb affair, there were such names as Al Reich, Tony Melcher, Clay Turner, Jack Herman, Willie Meehan, and others who lasted less than one round. Paul Sampson, Jack Clifford, and others succumbed to his driving punch in a few rounds.

Since the Greb bout, Gibbons has come along again with more knockouts and decision victories. In his last encounter he met Chuck Wiggins, no mean portion in the lightweight division, and Gibbons floored him six times before the referee stopped it in the tenth round.

Financial reward, at least immediate, had little to do with Gibbons' eagerness in signing with Dempsey. The title bout has been his ambition for three years, and before he comes into the money at Shelby, the paid attendance will have to climb beyond the $200,000 mark. For his end, Dempsey is assured of $200,000, regardless of the attendance.

Ireland Prepares to Redeem Bonds Sold in America.

DUBLIN, May 24.—A bill is to be introduced into the Dail this session to carry into effect the pledge made by Michael Collins that the Irish government would redeem all the Irish Republican bonds.

These bonds, to the amount of about $10,000,000, were floated in the United States, in Ireland and elsewhere, and contain an undertaking that they would be redeemed six months after the re-establishment in Ireland of an Irish Republic. Michael Collins claimed that the treaty, apart from its terms, effectively established Irish freedom, and that the condition on which the bonds were issued had been practically realized.

Despite the difficult Irish financial position, President Cosgrave, as finance minister, has decided that all the bonds shall be paid off.

Moving Pictures Helpful

Chicago, June 8.—(A.P.)—Educating foreigners by use of the motion picture is being adopted more and more each day and has served to cause deep thought on the part of the leading educators and immigration authorities of this country, according to Jacobus J. Zimbal, District School Superintendent of Chicago, in a statement made to the Society for Visual Education here.

"There has been a noticeable increase in the attendance at our night classes and lectures on citizenship since motion pictures have been available," declared Mr. Zimbal. "The men found the screen answering their questions in a way they could easily understand." Those who were working for their naturalization papers were particularly delighted with these lessons in picture language.

Zeppelins to Cross Atlantic.

Details of the first Atlantic airship service between Spain and Argentina were just been made public by the London Daily Chronicle, which says that it may soon be possible to bridge the 5,000 miles between the two continents in three and a half days. The service will operate between Seville and Buenos Aires, and Zeppelin airships will be used.

There will be terminal airbases, mooring masts, repair sheds, and nitrogen factories at Seville and at Buenos Aires. In addition, emergency landing grounds will be laid out at the Canary Islands and at Cordoba, in the Argentine.

On the American side of the Atlantic the hangars will be made on a revolving principle, because of the variability of the wind. Four airships are being built to inaugurate the scheme, and it is anticipated that service will begin next summer. It is also probable that arrangements will be made to link up Seville direct with London by an airplane service.

The airships, fitted with nine engines, each developing four hundred horse-power, will carry forty passengers and eleven tons of mails and merchandise. There will be two simultaneous flights a week in each direction, and the time taken to cross the Atlantic will be three days and six hours. Passengers will have all the comforts of an Atlantic liner, without the disadvantage of seasickness.

The ships will have a speed of thirty-two miles an hour. Zeppelin pilots who have not less than one thousand successful flights to their credit will be engaged to operate the craft. Each airship will carry six pilots and a commander.

Powerful wireless sets will be fitted into each ship, thus it will be possible to keep in touch with forty-five weather stations on the coasts of Spain, Africa, America, the Canary Islands, Cape Verde and Fernando Noronha, as well as with ships at sea.

Bermuda May Be Parking Station For Rum Runners.

British and French Transatlantic Liners may use one of the French Islands off Newfoundland.

New York, June 17.—With the announcement to-day that Bermuda would be made a parking station for liquor by Lamport and Holt liners, plying between New York and Buenos Ayres, rumors were revived that British and French transatlantic liners might use a Canadian port of call as a liquor depot.

Halifax was mentioned in connection with the British lines and it was stated that French liners plying between Havre and New York might drop and take on liquor by tender at one of the French Islands off Newfoundland. Steamship officials could not be found at their offices to comment on the reports.

Cardioscope Renders Visible Beating of Heart.

Delicate surgical operations on the cardiac valves by which common heart disease, which usually causes death, may be cured, have been made possible by the use of the cardioscope, an instrument just perfected, which makes heart beats visible. It was announced at the annual meeting of the American Association of Thoracic Surgeons.

The instrument not only makes possible heretofore impossible operations, it was announced, but it also may be used for observation of the human beating heart and correct diagnosis. It is the invention of Dr. Duff S. Allen, a young surgeon of George Washington University, after two years of research.

So far the cardioscope has been used on animals, principally on dogs; but Dr. Howard Lilenthal, of New York, retiring president of the association, declared for Dr. Allen that it was now at the stage of perfection to be used on human beings.

The instrument is about the size of a pocket flashlight, a strong lens protrudes from one end and a powerful light is inserted in the other. It is laid against the heart valves through a small incision directly over the heart, and magnifies the valves, acting much like a microscope. It is declared that this may be done while the heart is beating and the valves functioning and without injury to the organs.

SAFE TOPICS.

I have very little worry, for I'm not a trouble hound; as around the burg I hurry, harmless topics I expound; and I talk about the weather and the price of hay and leather, and I keep my lips together when there's scandal going round. Oh, the weather is a topic that is seldom sprung in vain, and when I am feeling yavpic such a theme is safe and sane; no one's heart is being wounded by the sentiments I've sounded, it when by my friends surrounded, I discuss "last evening's rain. I take up last winter's blizzard when I want a thing to roast, show it up from A to Z, and knock it where it hurts the most; or I criticize the thunder that aroused the hamlet's wonder when it split a tree asunder—such discussion is my boast. Once I talked about my neighbors with a sort of righteous ire; I belittled all their labors, gossiped like a house afire; idle stories I was spreading while upon my errands treading, and my life was rougher sliding than a voter could desire. For the gossip is detestable as a serpent in the grass; people wish he were arrested every time they see him pass; so I talk about the weather, and the "house among the heather," and the cow that breaks her tether, and the growing garden grass.

W. H. BROWN

SIDETALKS.

By Ruth Cameron.

FROM THE INSIDE LOOKING OUT.

"Well, I certainly learned something today," said the Authorman. He had spent most of his afternoon at the garage, and this is what he had learned—

That oftentimes when we condemn a person for charging too much for a perfectly simple job that could be done in ten minutes we prove our own ignorance rather than his or her incapacity.

The Authorman had taken a simple necessary over to the garage to have it put on his car.

A Lesson We Need.

"There was no one to bring me back," he said, "and so I had to wait until it was put on. It made me sore at the time, but it was worth while in one way. I should have said that it would take that man about half an hour. I thought he had to twist a few wires and put in a few screws and make a connection and that that was all there was to it. But when he came to put in those few screws he ran up against a snag right off. And it took him two hours of steady work. He didn't loiter. I was there and I know. He kept right at it, and he did well to get it done in that time. But if I hadn't been there and had gotten the bill for two hours' work I might have been sore. I think I'll remember that the next time I feel like talking about overcharging and protracting."

Only the Food.

Haven't you sometimes heard the woman who doesn't see why they charge so much at restaurants reckoning up the cost of a meal? She reckons the cost of food and that alone; and when she finds it is much greater than the cost would be to her if she bought that food and cooked it at her own table, she sets up a howl of protest.

She reckons nothing for service, nothing for light, nothing for heat, nothing for depreciation (an innkeeper once said to me that he had some guests who managed, when they got down in a chair, to take a dollar's business men themselves always remember to reckon all these. In fact, one of the common causes of business failure is this neglect of the manufacturer or merchant to take profit enough.

Declares To-Day to be Golden Age of Medicine.

LONDON, May 22.—(A.P.)—Cholera, plague, typhus, typhoid, smallpox, tuberculosis and malaria have at last become controllable, says Sir George Newman, chief medical officer of the British government. The antitoxin treatment of diphtheria has reduced the death-rate in that disease from 29.8 per cent. in 1890 to 9.8 per cent. in 1922, which means that 200 additional lives are saved in every 1,000 cases. In 1871 enteric fever claimed 374 lives in each million of the population; in 1922 it was 12 in each million.

"We are living in the golden age of medicine," says Sir George. "Unperceived it is rapidly changing the face of the world and the destinies of men. The extension of the frontiers of life is assisted by fresh air and sunlight in dwellings, sanitation of workshops, wholesome water and food supply, and the isolation of infectious persons. The result of this is seen in the fact that every child born to-day has an expectation of 12 years more life than had his grandfather."

A Phase of Modern Life in "Grand Larceny."

LARGE AUDIENCES SEE IT AT THE NICKEL.

"Grand Larceny" the new photoplay at the Nickel Theatre, is a Goldwyn offering that presents a phase of modern life that many are all too familiar with. It tells the story of a social parasite who carries on his deceptions outside the pale of the law. The robber of property can be put in prison, and the man he has injured can obtain some legal satisfaction. But what balm is there for the man who has been robbed of his wife's love? That is the situation raised in "Grand Larceny," and superbly presented by an excellent cast of Goldwyn players. Claire Windsor, a newcomer to Goldwyn pictures, is the woman who is made a plaything of two men. The role of her husband is played by Elliott Dexter, who also appears for the first time in a Goldwyn picture. Albert Payson Terhune, the author of "Grand Larceny," has developed his story to an unusual denouement in which both men discover that their prey is not a piece of property that may be brought and sold, but a woman who emerges from her ordeal the mistress of her own soul.

Wallace Worsley directed the picture with much insight for the emotional values to be brought out. The many exquisite interior scenes were made from designs by Cedric Gibbons, the Goldwyn art director.

Yellow River to be Put Back on Its Course.

The Yellow River, China's most treacherous waterway, which caused incalculable damage when it broke its banks two years ago and made a new channel, is to be returned to its original course. Fourteen thousand laborers are engaged in the building of dykes, and it is expected soon to increase the number to 20,000.

W. H. Mallory, executive secretary of the China International Famine Relief Commission, estimated the cost of corralling the Yellow River at $500,000 Chinese currency, of which sum the finance commission of the government relief bureau has provided $300,000.

Hundreds of square miles of territory north of the old river bed in the vicinity of Kups, Chia Pa was flooded during the spring of 1921 by the breaking of a dyke and thousands of families were made homeless. Since then the district has been sparsely repopulated due to fear of recurrence of the catastrophe.

Volstead Act Becomes a Farce.

Secretary William Mellon, Secretary of the U.S. Treasury, has succeeded in turning up the biggest political scandal that country has faced since the black man threw off his shackles in the days of Lincoln. Secretary Mellon resolved that if the people of the United States wanted prohibition, he would give it them, both on land and ashore, in a manner so subtle as to either kill the celebrated Eighteenth Amendment or cure people at the time of a thirst. The citizens in this series of events came to the courts upheld the decision that no liquor could be carried by either foreign or United States owners within the three mile limit, not even if such an order can be made to the marine laws of foreign countries in respect to rum and wine. The next act was the repeal of the dry enforcement laws by the Governor of New York.

When Governor Smith, of New York, attached his signature to the Miller Bill, he, to all intents and purposes, threw the Mullen-Gage law to the waste basket. In other words, the signing of the repeal ended the end of the use of the New York State courts for the prosecution of bootleggers, and withdrew the state police from the work of trying to maintain the Volstead Act, the enforcement of the law now resting so far as that State is concerned, with the Federal Government and its agents.

Governor Al. Smith in his memorandum on the repeal of the Mullen-Gage law after the usual amount of small talk about upholding the Eighteenth Amendment, goes on to say that the United States "dry" as they now stand are tantamount to a modification by the U.S. Congress in order. He does not suggest how this could be done, merely that it should be done; further he suggests that each State should be left unto itself as to how the Volstead Act is to be interpreted.

The sidelights as illustrated by recent events in the United States are to say the least amusing. For instance, the views of numerous newspapers have been invited by the Governor as to the possible effects, upon the country as a whole, of the steps taken by the State of New York into the ranks of the "wets." Governor Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, writes out with the declaration that the matter what any other State has done or may do Pennsylvania will be guided by the laws and Constitution of the United States." And at the same time, as any traveller knows, is about as easy to get a drink in Pennsylvania as in any other State in the country, and not much more expensive. Could hypocrisy go farther? On the other hand Governor Parker, of Louisiana, and Governor Temple, of Connecticut, are among those who congratulate Governor Smith on having back bone enough to stand by his own convictions.

It is expected that a good many other States will take action similar to that of New York, and repeat such prohibition enforcement acts as they have now upon their statutes. Wisconsin is already on the way with its Tucker Bill, the force of which would be similar to that of the Cuyler Bill. However, that State proposes to go still further by submitting a State referendum, as to whether or not the Eighteenth Amendment shall be repealed. The Chicago City Council has voted the repeal of the State Search and Seizure Act, which Connecticut is in line with somewhat similar legislation.

Amidst all this we have an amusing slant on the "dry" situation as it obtains. In the despatches from Washington we are told that the Shriner's convention is meeting in the capital city three hundred thousand strong. We are also told that the Shriner's need not hesitate to come on account of any drought; and that the bootleggers are running riot into Washington in such quantities that there will be plenty for all. "There have been," says the New York Herald, "ten thousand arrests taken, and Washington is really overstocked." It is estimated by government employees conversant with the facts that at least ten thousand men and women are taking orders for liquor in the District of Columbia. These people cover every apartment house and hotel and know their customers."

Was a law ever made, a bigger mockery of and this at the seat of government, Washington, the home of the Volstead Act?—Ex.
