TEACHERS and parents can accomplish a real service to their country by instructing the children to spare the robins. The robin and its nestlings are perfect gormandizers when it comes to making a meal of bugs and caterpillars—the enemies of mankind. The fledglings eat one and two-fifths times their own weight of worms and insects each day.

WHY should there not be a general house cleaning? And let it be thorough when you're about it. Gather together the accumulated rubbish of unkindness, of envy and of selfishness and make a bonfire of it. Search out the corners for some old grudge and put it on the bonfire too. Empty out those old misunderstandings from the pigeon holes of your memory and burn them too. Wipe out that old ill feeling. Polish the windows of your mind. Let cheerfulness and charity have control. Clean up and keep clean.

Now that citizens are busy planting their gardens many complaints are heard as to the destruction caused by hens. 'Tis a pity that some of our good citizens need to be annually reminded of the offence caused by allowing their hens to run at large when a sense of justice to their neighbors should guide them in this respect.

A LETTER has been issued from the department of the deputy-registrar-general, warning that physicians and parents to be more accurate in reporting births and deaths as is required by law. Both parents and physicians who attend are liable to prosecution if they neglect to register the birth or death, and the letter intimates this is being neglected in many places.

THE C. & B. Line passenger steamers, City of Buffalo and City of Erie, are now running daily between Cleveland and Buffalo, leaving either city in the evening, arriving at destination early the following morning. Railroad tickets are honored for transportation on this line, and when traveling either east or west, the railroad journey may be broken by a delightful lake trip on these magnificent steamers. The Great Ship "SEABOARD" the largest and most costly passenger steamer on inland waters of the world, being 500 feet long, with 510 staterooms, accommodating 1500 passengers, is now rapidly nearing completion, and will be placed on the route about the middle of June.

"AN old-time Ladies' Aid Business Meeting at Mohawk Cross-Roads" was presented by twenty-six ladies of the Watford Methodist Church in the Lyceum on Friday evening, April 25th.

During the part of the program Misses Agnes Williams and Alma Glass sang very acceptably and Miss Winnie Fowler gave an amusing reading. The entertainment was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

BROOKE

The Rev. C. R. Gunne M. A., of London, will preach in St. James' church on Sunday morning, on the mission work of the church.

There will be service next Sunday night, May 4th, in the Walnut Methodist church; service to begin at 7.30. All are welcome.

The service in Christ Church, Sutorville, Sunday afternoon, will be conducted by the Rev. C. R. Gunne, M. A., rector of Christ Church, London.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ormerod, who were about to remove from their home in Brooke, lot 11, concession 5, were taken by surprise last Thursday evening when about fifty of the neighbors, assembled at their home to bid them farewell. Part of the evening's program was a presentation to Mr. and Mrs. Ormerod. They were made the recipients of a combination writing desk and book-case and a beautiful oak rocker accompanied by an address.

The annual meeting of the Brooke Women's Institute will be held on Thursday, May 8th, at the home of Mrs. Donald McNeil, Rokeby. Subjects: "Essay on Spring" by Miss Bertha Rundle, and "What dishes to prepare when the appetite requires coaxing" by Mrs. Kincaid. Roll call: "Spring thoughts and renew your membership." All the members are requested to be present at this meeting. Visitors always welcome.

A very pleasant time was spent at School No. 13, Brooke, the event being that of Miss Verna Smith, one of their school mates, leaving for Sarnia, where she will make her home. Their teacher had a select program, which was rendered by the scholars, followed by the following address being read:

TO MISS VERNA SMITH:

Dear Verna—We, your schoolmates and teacher, have learned with regret that you are about to sever your connections with us. We shall miss you in our lessons and in our pastimes but shall remember with pleasure, the happy days we once had together.

We ask you to accept this little gift, hoping that in your new home it may sometimes remind you of the friends you have left behind in School Section No. 13, Brooke. We wish you every happiness in the home to which you go, and, when our lives here are ended, may we all meet around the Father's throne where parting is no more.

Signed on behalf of the School

NOTE AND COMMENT.

A thousand dollars a year in the city will not secure as good a living as many farmers' families enjoy, nor will the social position be so desirable. Two hundred dollars a year rents but a small and modest city house. Fuel, bread, milk, butter, eggs, pork, beef and car fare run away with another good round sum which the farm supplies in whole or in part. Comparisons of cash incomes is deceiving. Comparisons of total incomes, or better still, of annual savings, makes the showing much more unfavorable to the town.

The Duke of Cannaught thinks that Canadians, when deciding on where to take their holidays, might well consider the claims of places within the Dominion, instead of carrying away their money to swell the millions annually spent at foreign watering places. His royal highness speaks with wisdom and his advice might be followed with profit by Canadians generally. Every province in Canada has attractive holiday spots, and the holiday-maker has the choice of mountain, lake,

A Menace to Health

According to the statement of Dr. Revell, provincial bacteriologist in government laboratory at the University of Alberta, one of the greatest menaces to public health is the extensive use of patent medicines by persons ignorant of their contents and action. Various worthless preparations are sold as "cures," which not only do not cure, but sometimes create appetites for harmful drugs, such as cocaine. In connection with proprietary medicines, our laws, says Dr. Revell, are behind some other countries, notably the United States, where such remedies may not be sold as "cures" for certain diseases. In addition to their actual harmful effects on those who use them, Dr. Revell is of the opinion that the advertisements of some of the preparations actually induce "disease" by working on the imagination of newspaper readers. And again, some are prevented from seeking competent medical assistance until disease run its course to the point where assistance is impossible. And then there is the by no means negligible matter of the thousands of dollars wasted in the purchase of worthless nostrums which might far better be spent in providing wholesome necessities and amusements rather than pondering to morbid imaginations stimulated by the reading of misleading advertisements.—Grain Growers' Guide.

The writer in the Kansas City Journal who says "If you live by the rivers you are washed away; if you live on the prairies you are blown away; if you take refuge in the mountains there are the avalanches" has doubtless little idea of the ideal home conditions here in Ontario.

Boys leave the farm largely because the life is dull, and does not seem to afford scope for intellect and ambition. That is a false impression. At least, if the life is dull, it need not be. The farm is a vast laboratory in which the highest scientific ability may find scope. The establishment of agricultural colleges tended, not only to improve farming profits, but to dignify the calling, or rather to recognize its inherent dignity.

How many of our school children's parents ever visit the schools or even speak to the teachers when they meet them on the street? How many know what their children are studying or how they are progressing? Is there any of you who have a building to make or a fence to build; a dress to make, a house to paint or whatever the job may be, that say to the one you have employed: "Here are the tools and materials, go ahead and do it to suit yourself and it will suit me." Is not that what many of you are doing with your children. You say by your actions: "Here is my child with his books, paper and pencil, I've furnished materials and tools, educate him as you like."

Breathes There a Man

(By Sherwood Hart.)
Breathes there a man with soul so dead who never to himself hath said those words to which our tongue-tips leap when, rudely roused from peaceful sleep, we find the mournful time is here—the time we most despise and fear—when spring housecleaning days draw nigh and gloom and darkness fill the sky? If such there be go mark him well; for him the wifely praises swell. Upon the fatal day and date he takes no chances with his fate but sees the doctor, makes his will, and pays the rent and grocer's bill and clambers into overalls and takes the pictures from the walls and enters in his parlor snug and boosts the things from off the rug and yanks the carpet off the stairs and shifts around a ton of chairs and takes the double windows down and paints the porch a golden brown, and carts the carpets to the yard and beats upon them good and hard and swallows forty pecks of dust and never gets annoyed or fussed and gives the floor a coat of wax and kneels on forty million tacks, and shifts five thousand pounds of books and hangs the pictures back on hooks and drapes the carpet on the stairs and has it catch him unawares and bowl him over near the top and land him down below kerflop; and when he rises the doctor speak, again he rises, faint and weak, and nails more carpets to the floor with knob-knaps raw and fingers sore, and rips them up and turns them round and never makes a cranky sound. If such a man there e'er could be this human freak I fain would see.

THESE PILLS CURE RHEUMATISM.—To the many who suffer from rheumatism a trial of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills is recommended. They have pronounced action upon the liver and kidneys and by regulating the action of these organs act as an alternative in preventing the admixture of uric acid and blood that causes this painful disorder. They must be taken according to directions and used steadily and they will speedily give evidence of their beneficial effects. m

All Skin Remedies Fail?

Many eczema sufferers have failed so utterly with salves and other "discoveries" that even the assurance of the physician or druggist cannot induce them to invest another dollar in any remedy. It is to these discouraged sufferers in particular that we now offer, at only 25 cents, a trial bottle of the accepted standard eczema remedy, a simple wash of oil of wintergreen, thymol and glycerine, as compounded in D.D.D. Prescription.

Hundreds of cures have convinced us and we know you can prove instantly with the first application of D.D.D. Prescription that it takes away the itch at once. You have only to spend a quarter to get instant relief. Isn't it worth while?

She Knew

She knew she was wrong when they quarrelled last night
And heartlessly sent him away.
She knew that his conduct was perfectly right,
But she scorned everything that he'd say.
She knew that the fault was all hers, and she knew
That she meant not a word that she said;
She knew that the charges she made were untrue,
And she knew that her love wasn't dead.
She knew when she told him that she'd never be
At home when he wanted to call.
That never again did she wish him to see,
That she didn't mean it at all.
And she knew when he said he'd never return
And grabbed up his hat and his cane,
And angrily left, that tomorrow she'd yearn
And long to be with him again.
She knew, yes, she knew, she was wronging him then,
But you'd never have guessed it to hear
The way she denounced him that night in the den.
There was never a sign of a tear,
She heartlessly kept up her verbal attack
And her real feelings skillfully hid,
For she knew in her heart that he'd surely come back,
And the very next evening—he did.

A Romantic Legacy

A wealthy man died in Brussels, leaving nearly the whole of his fortune to a young woman who was entirely unacquainted with him.
He was a very eccentric man, and set out, like Diogenes, in search of an honest man. His tub was an omnibus and his lantern a small coin. In the omnibus he took his seat near the conductor, and always showed himself very obliging, passing up the money of passengers and returning the change, but to the latter he always managed to add a franc or a half franc. Then he would watch those to whom it came. They would count it carefully; notice the extra coin, and invariably slip it into their pockets. No one thought of the poor conductor, whose meager salary of three francs a day could ill spare such a loss.
But at last a young woman passed hers back with: "Conductor, you have given me half a franc too much."
"Diogenes," delighted, followed her home, made enquiries, and as the answers were satisfactory, made his will in her favor, though he never gave her warning that her half franc was going to bring her a million.

Miller's Worm Powders act so thoroughly that stomachic and intestinal worms are literally ground up and pass from the child without being noticed and without inconvenience to the sufferer. They are painless and perfect in action, and at all times will be found a healthy medicine, strengthening the infantile stomach and maintaining it in vigorous operation, so that, besides being an effective vermifuge, they are tonical and health giving in their effects. m

To Our Friends and Neighbors

You know us. You know we would not—that we could not afford to—go back on our word. Nor can you afford to ignore this money-back-if-not-satisfied offer on this splendid laxative.

We honestly believe we have the best bowel remedy ever made—the most pleasant-to-take, most permanently beneficial laxative for relief from the miseries and dangers arising from constipation.

We wouldn't say this if we didn't believe it to be true. We wouldn't risk our reputation by making such statements did we not feel sure you would find them true.

Our faith is built both on the knowledge of what Rexall Orderlies are made of and on observation of very many severe cases in which they have proven their merit.

Try them at Our Risk

If they do not abundantly prove their merit with you also—if you are not entirely satisfied with them—we will refund your money—and we will do that on your mere say-so. We don't ask you to risk a penny. Isn't that fair?

Just let the bowels fall in properly doing their work—just let their action be delayed and incomplete and the entire system and every other organ suffers. Wastes that should have been dispelled remain to poison the system.

Headaches, biliousness, nervousness and other tormenting and serious ills are common when the bowels fail to act daily, as nature intended. All this may be avoided, if you will accept our advice.

Rexall Orderlies

taste just like candy. They are soothing and easy in action. They do not cause griping, nausea, purging or excessive looseness. They tend to tone and strengthen intestinal nerves and muscles. They promptly relieve constipation, and help to permanently overcome it.

Rexall Orderlies promote better spirits and better health. In all of these things they are vastly superior to old-fashioned, harsh salts and other purgatives, which are not only unpleasant to take but which usually leave the bowels in worse condition than before. We particularly recommend Rexall Orderlies for children, aged and delicate persons.

Rexall Orderlies come in vest-pocket tin boxes, 12 tablets, 10c; 36 tablets, 25c; 80 tablets, 50c.

CAUTION: Please bear in mind that Rexall Orderlies are not sold by all druggists. You can buy Rexall Orderlies only at the Rexall Stores. You can buy Rexall Orderlies in this community only at our store:

FEET USED TO BE LARGER.

A Modern No. 6 Shoe Would Have Fitted an Ancient Greek Belle.

Artists assure us that no Greek sculptor would have ever dreamed of putting a nine inch foot on a five and one-half foot woman. The types for the classic marble figures were taken from the most perfect forms of living persons. Unquestionably the human foot, as represented by the ancient sculptors, was larger than the modern one; and, in fact, the primitive foot of all peoples whereof we have any record, either of statuary or otherwise, was considerably larger than the restricted foot of later times.

The masculine foot, forming an approximate average of four different countries, was about twelve inches long. This would require at least a No. 10 shoe to cover it comfortably. The average masculine foot today is easily fitted with a No. 8½ shoe and is therefore not above ten and seven-sixteenths inches. Now, by the old sculptural rule of proportion, a man five feet nine inches in height should have a foot eleven and one-half inches long, or one-sixth his height. It was of no great consequence what size sandal he wore, but he would have required a modern shoe of at least a No. 10½ for a minimum fit or a No. 11 for real comfort.

For women, allowing for the difference in the relative size of the sexes, which was about the same then as now, a woman of five feet three inches in height would have had a foot ten inches long, requiring a modern shoe of the size No. 6 as the most comfortable, or a No. 5½ as the limit of comfort.—Harper's Weekly.

SALLY'S MISTAKE.

It Cost Her a Rich Husband and Gave London Guy's Hospital.

That bequests to individuals and to public benevolences are frequently the result of a mere whim or of caprice has no better illustration perhaps than the case of Thomas Guy, who built and endowed the great Guy's hospital of London at a cost of £238,292 nearly 200 years ago.

Guy had a maid servant of strictly frugal habits, who made his wishes her careful study. He resolved to make her his wife. The necessary preparations were made for the wedding, and among others many little repairs were ordered by Mr. Guy in and about his house. The latter included the laying of a new pavement opposite the street door.

It so happened that Sally, the bride elect, observed a piece of pavement beyond her master's house that required mending, and of her own accord she gave orders to the workmen to do this.

This was done in the absence of Mr. Guy, who on seeing more work done than he had ordered was informed that the additional work had been done by the mistress' orders. Thereupon Guy told Sally she had forgotten her position and added: "If you take upon yourself to order matters contrary to my instructions before we are married what will you not do after? I renounce my matrimonial intentions toward you."

So Sally lost a rich and grouchy husband and London gained a noble institution for the poor.

Deadly Venom of the Cobra.

A full sized cobra is able to eject enough venom at a single full and complete bite to kill about twenty men. The Indian cobra yields as much as twenty drops, and Dr. Hanna mentions having obtained as much as twenty-eight drops.

In experiments with the venom of the cape cobra F. W. Fitzsimons, an expert, found that one drop diluted in a little water and injected into the tissues of the leg of a large monkey killed it in half an hour's time. A fraction of a drop was sufficient to kill a rat and a fowl within an hour. Judging from the effects of cobra venom on the higher animals, Mr. Fitzsimons considers that one full drop is a fatal dose for a strong, healthy man.—Westminster Gazette.

Walnuts, Five a Penny.

From one of Steele's letters to his wife we learn the price of walnuts in Queen Anne's reign. "I send you seven pennyworth of walnuts at five a penny, which is the greatest profit I can give you at present of my being with my whole heart yrs."

Outside the letter Lady Steele has written, "There are but 20 Walnuts," so apparently her "passionate lover and faithful husband" had given in to the temptation of eating a few before sending them. He made ample amends for this on the following day by a gift "half a hundred more."—London Standard.

Facts About Coffee.

Coffee originally came from the island of Mocha, whence in the year 1616 coffee trees were transported to Holland. This article of diet was first scientifically cultivated at Surinam by the Dutch in 1718. Though coffee was not known either to the Greeks or Romans, it was used as a beverage by the Persians in early times. The first coffee house of which there is any record was opened in Constantinople in 1511, and coffee was first brought to France in 1662 by Thevenet, the famous traveler.

A Record Business.

It is expected that the exports from St. John by the various steamship lines during the present winter will reach a value of $5,230,000, and more has gone forward since, while the business will increase as the season wears on. The shipments of grain are heavy, being already close to 3,000,000 bushels.

RALEIGH, N. C. CHILD

Made Strong and Well by Vinol.

When we tell you that Vinol is the best remedy in our whole stock for making weak, puny, ailing children strong, robust and rosy, we are only telling you what has been proved by hundreds of mothers.

Mrs. W. O. Strother, Raleigh, N. C., says: "My little girl, Hazel, has been taking Vinol to build her up after a severe spell of sickness. It has done so much good by restoring her appetite and building up her strength that I think Vinol is the finest tonic ever prepared, and I am telling everyone about it."

What Vinol did for this little girl it will do for every weak and ailing child, because sickly children need the strengthening cod liver elements and the tonic iron that Vinol contains—that is why Vinol builds them up quickly and gives them a fine, healthy color. It is pleasant to take, and we guarantee that the results will satisfy you—money back if they do not.

THERE'S only one quality of Canada Cement. It is the highest quality that can possibly be made with modern equipment, scientific methods and rigid inspection by expert chemists.

The Canada Cement you buy for a garden walk is the same cement that is sold by the trainload for great dams, elevators and bridges. The engineers in charge of these great works have ample facilities for testing the quality of cement.

Canada Cement

comes up to their most rigid requirements.

The farmer has not these facilities for testing the quality of cement. He must buy a product upon which he can depend for a grade that is always of highest quality, and that therefore does not need to be tested.

You can place absolute reliance upon the quality of Canada Cement.

It's always the same and always the best. The large output—which enables us to keep the price down, enables us also to maintain the factory equipment and organization that keeps the quality up.

A Canada Cement label appears on every bag and barrel of genuine Canada Cement. See that it's on the bags and barrels of cement that you buy.

HARRIS & CO. PROPRIETORS.
WATFORD, MAY 2, 1913.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

Seventeen per cent. of the eggs produced in the country are destroyed for want of proper treatment. It is not the farmer, the middleman or small storekeeper who pays for this loss; it is paid for out of the pocket of the consumer.

The Michigan State Senate last week on Monday passed a bill to establish pensions for mothers having children dependent upon them may draw not to exceed $3 per week for each child on order of probate court.

Iceland has no jails, no penitentiary, no court, and only one policeman. Not a drop of alcoholic liquor is made on the island. Its 78,000 people are total abstainers, since they will not permit any liquor to be imported. There is not an illiterate adult on the island nor a child ten years old unable to read.

A rural pastor writing to the Guardian says that after paying expenses he had nothing left, and is really $90 poorer. Amongst expenses $325 is allowed for food for his family of ten, or about three cents a meal for the entire time. Is it any wonder that bright young men engage in other pursuits?

Here is another of those unkind and unkind wives. Her husband, a New York school teacher, is suing for divorce, and in the process, declares that he courted her twenty-one years and married her six months ago, and in all that time he was never permitted to kiss her. If he courted her twenty-one years and never kissed her, he richly deserves all the penalty he may be called upon to suffer in having married her.

It is not often that farmers have an opportunity to borrow money from the banks without interest. Such an opportunity, however, has been extended to the farmers of Iowa by a number of public-spirited bankers who can see far into the future. They have offered to loan money to farmers without interest who will use that money in building silos.

Next year the British navy will have 29 Dreadnoughts, or one more than the number possessed by the Triple Alliance formed by Germany, Austria and Italy. In 1915 Great Britain will have 35 vessels of the first class to 33 possessed by the Triple Alliance. In 1920 Britain will possess forty-one ships, all of which will be superior in fighting power to the original Dreadnought. This will be exclusive of the ships which the Malay States and Canada are expected to provide. By the same date, at the rate of construction provided for in the German naval law, Germany will have 24 ships of the same class. Thus the British navy will exceed that of Germany, not by 60 per cent., but by 70 per cent. These are the British Admiralty's own figures.

Ontario's Wealthy Farmers

Sir Edmund Walker told the banking committee of the House of Commons that the Ontario farmer has ceased to be a factor in loans from the banks.

Three cheers and a tiger for Ontario farmers and Ontario farming! Time was when the Ontario farmer was where the Western Canada farmer now is. He had to go begging to the banks. But now the banks come to him. Whereas the farmer needed money from the bankers, now the bankers are glad to get hold of the farmer's surplus capital.

Unsanitary Farms

In a recent bulletin of the United States Bureau of Education, Dr. Charles E. North, of New York, says that studies of the water supply of farms in both Canada and the United States show that fifty per cent. of the wells are polluted with house or farmyard drainage. This is a serious charge but it is in line with the statement that under their improved hygiene cities are now healthier than rural districts. Until recently it was a matter of general acceptance that the country enjoyed advantages over the town in the salubrious environment it offered and the purity of its products. If Dr. North is right, the notion has not the extensive basis of fact needed to justify its prevalence. His remedy is the education of the children in the science of hygiene the harvest, he adds, will be reaped by the next generation.

WARWICK.

J. H. Spittlehome, wife and family, arrived here this week from England, and have been engaged with Wm. Auld, 2nd line.

The Rev. T. H. Farr, rector of Blyth, will preach morning and evening in St. Mary's Church, Warwick, and afternoon in St. Paul's Church, Wisbeach, next Sunday, May 4th, in interest of missions.

On Sunday next the Rev. C. P. H. Owen, of Glencoe, will preach missionary sermons in St. Ann's Church, Adelaide, at 11 a. m.; St. Paul's Church, Kerwood, at 3 p. m.; and Grace Church, 4th line, Warwick, at 7 p. m. The Rev. H. R. Diehl, of Adelaide preaches similar sermons at Iderton.

The annual business meeting of the Warwick Women's Institute will be held in the Foresters' Hall, on Thursday, May 8th, at half past two. All the members are requested to be present to make arrangements for a concert in the near future. The girls connected with the Institute will bring samples of home-made candy.

A serious accident befell Mr. Sidney Smith, of Watford, on Tuesday afternoon that will confine him to his bed for some time at least. He was shingling the roof of a barn on the premises of Mr. Swanton Chambers, 4th line, and while carrying a bunch of shingles up the roof, slipped and fell to the ground, a distance of 25 feet, falling on his head and shoulders, and injuring himself so badly that it was impossible to move him to his home in town. The fall was somewhat broken by his catching hold of the eaves, which broke with his weight, but his injuries are of such a serious nature that it is impossible to say at present what may be the outcome.

A sad death occurred on Thursday last when Wellington Smith, storekeeper at Birnam, passed away at the Victoria hospital, London, aged 57 years. Mr. Smith had been suffering from cancer for some time and decided to have an operation, for which purpose he went to London. All arrangements for the operation had been made when he was stricken with paralysis, from which he died as stated. He leaves a widow, three girls and one boy. The remains were brought home on Thursday night and the funeral took place from the family residence, Birnam, on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock to Bethel cemetery, the Rev. H. J. Fair, pastor of the Arkona Methodist church, taking the service. The pallbearers were C. E. Smith, W. H. Luckham, Mac. Luckham, H. Cable, Les. Kenzie and C. Richardson.

Interesting Happenings

A little four-year-old boy, George Warden, of Brockville, while climbing a fence, was knocked down by lumber he dislodged and smothered to death in the soggy ground.

A painful accident happened to a farmer at St. Antoine, Quebec. While working in his sugary he stumbled and placed one foot in a pan of boiling syrup, the skin being peeled off. No one was present to summon help and he had to walk more than a mile to get medical assistance.

The little four-year-old son of Thomas Burnham, of Massey, met death in a tragic manner recently. Out of childish curiosity to see what was inside, the little boy crawled into a heavy iron roller, unnoticed by his father, who was oiling a bearing. A neighbor alarmed the father just as he started his horses, but too late for the roller had already started to revolve and the child's head was almost severed from his shoulders.

Anson Dabney, a prominent Sprinkles Corner farmer, who was in Dowagiac, Mich., with a load of parsnips, related a thrilling tale. He stated that while coming up through the Pipestone hills he was attacked by a drove of nearly 150 muskrats, which apparently had been attracted by the odor of the parsnips. He promptly threw off several bushels of the vegetables, and, whipping the horses, escaped, and got to the city without further annoyance from the little animals.

A judgment of much interest to the travelling public was handed out by a Toronto judge last week in the case of a claim for loss of baggage against the C. P. R. The woman plaintiff had her trunk checked from St. Thomas to Toronto, but when she went to claim it at the latter place it could not be found. She sued the company for $340 but in its defence the company held that it was liable only for $100 for loss of passenger's goods, according to the conditions printed on the check, but the judge disallowed this and gave the woman judgment for her full claim.

A Well-known Railroad Man Dead

Sarnia, April 25.—One of the oldest citizens of Sarnia, both in point of years and residence, in the person of John Mitchell, died at his residence, aged eighty-one. Deceased was one of the most widely known and respected of Sarnia's residents.

Mr. Mitchell was born in Edinburgh, Scotland, and when a young man came to Boston, Mass., where he was employed for some time. Later he came to Canada and entered the employment of the Great Western Railway about 1855. He resided in London for several years, later moved to Petrolia, and from there to Sarnia along in the early part of the sixties. He had resided here ever since. He was conductor on the train at the time of the "Komoka Disaster" and resigned shortly after the accident, re-entering the service of the railroad as a mailclerk. Some years ago, he was retired on superannuation.

THE attention of the public is called to the fact that J. J. Spackman had stolen a few days ago from his premises a valuable spaniel puppy. Toronto, April 29.—Receipts to-day at the Union stockyards were 101 cars, with 1,754 head of cattle, 370 calves, 965 hogs, 59 sheep and lambs and 14 horses.

There was but little life in the trading at the Union stockyards to-day, business being slow, and but for the fact that the run was a moderately light one prices would probably have eased off. As it was they barely held steady, with last week's closing quotations. There were some good loads of choice cattle offering, but bids were slow, though going up to $7 and higher. There was a fair inquiry for good quality feeders for grass, but the high prices asked prevented the market being very active.

Good veal calves are steady, but light calves easy. Sheep and lambs, very light offerings and prices steady. Hogs rather light run and market firm and about 5c higher at $9.65, fed and watered, and $9.30 f.o.b. One choice lot sold at $10 f.o.b.

The Late Ephraim E. Doan

Mr. Ephraim Doan was born at Niagara, Ont., in the year 1834. Fifty-nine years ago he married Miss Vermilla Slack, of Dorchester. Of this union there were three children, Alvin, of Marlette, Mich., George, of Brooke, and Mrs. Wm. Fuller, of Saskatoon. Some time after the death of his first wife he married Miss Eleanor Martin, of Brooke. To them were born eight children: Mrs. Wm. Ward and Mrs. C. Correstine, of Ontario, Mrs. Geo. McLean, Stanley, Robert and Ernest, of Biggar, Wm. of Saskatoon, and John, of Allan, Sask. The eleven children and widow are left to mourn the loss of a loving husband and a kind and indulgent father. Mr. Doan was at all times much interested in the welfare of the country, in politics was a reformer and a lifelong member of the Methodist Church. Three years ago he left Warwick for Biggar, thinking the change would be for the benefit of his family. Seven children and the widow were present at the bedside during the last moments of the aged sufferer. Two brothers and a sister, Mr. Frank Doan and Mrs. Wm. Smith, of Watford, and Mr. John Doan, of Kerwood, survive him. Mr. Doan was well known in Watford and vicinity and his many friends will be sorry to learn of his death. He was buried at Biggar, Sask., April 14th, 1912.

King George to Visit Canada

New York, April 27.—The Brooklyn Eagle's London correspondent, under date of April 12, writes as follows:—
"I am able to announce definitely that King George will visit Canada in 1914. Only some such unexpected event as a European war involving England, or a family bereavement will prevent this trip taking place.
"King George has intimated his willingness to open the Toronto Exhibition in August, 1914, and preparations for this event are already being made in English Court circles."

Forest Girl Tires of Married Life.

Detroit Journal.—An insatiable longing for her girlhood home in Forest, Ont., caused the breaking up of the home of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas C. McIntyre, according to testimony given by Dr. McIntyre in Judge Van Zile's court Saturday, when a decree was granted the physician from his wife, Margaret M. McIntyre, on grounds of desertion.
The couple were married January, 29, 1902, and started housekeeping in Detroit. The wife never liked the city. She wanted to go home to her mother. The husband allowed her to go, but she never came back.
Dr. McIntyre testified that he made every effort to bring his wife back to him, but that she always refused. He made a success in his profession, but even that did not tempt her to come back to him. His testimony was corroborated.
"What was the main reason for her wishing to return to her home in Ontario?" asked the judge.
"She was just homesick," replied the doctor.

Acute Dyspepsia

Restoration of Stomach Power Comes Quickly With the Right Medicine.

"My food seemed to decompose in my stomach," writes Mr. Ralph Clemmons, of Newbridge, P.O. "I had a stomach that failed in some way to perform its work. Digestion seemed more or less arrested and I grew thin, yellow, nervous. The stomach became distended and impeded apparently the action of the heart, for often at night it would do great stunts. At times I would vomit a mucous mass, and at these times my head ached most terribly. A friend, who had been cured of a similar condition, advised me to take Dr. Hamilton's Pills regularly, which I did. The result in my case was simply marvelous. Dr. Hamilton's Pills removed the cause, strengthened the stomach, excited the liver to normal action, the kidneys were released of excessive work. Health soon glowed within me. I can now eat, sleep, and live like a live man."

Be advised—Use Dr. Hamilton's Pills—they are sure to do you good. 25c per box, at all dealers, or The Calfarrozene Co., Kingston, Canada.

Money-Raising Entertainment.

A contemporary has just reprinted a series of objections to church entertainments which were first issued over twenty years ago. The objections are so forcible that it seems worth while calling renewed attention to them. Among the reasons for opposing the church entertainments as methods of raising money are the following—

1. Because there is no authority for it in the Bible.
2. Because it kills spirituality.
3. Because it cannot be prayed for in the public services without making religion ridiculous.
4. Because it never points anyone to the cross of Christ.
5. Because it robs the church of unity and harmony.
6. Because it leads people to think lightly of the blessedness of giving.
7. Because it weakens the influence, for spiritual good, of those who engage in it.
8. Because it kills the Revival spirit in every church that upholds it.
9. Because it leads an army of young people into captivity of the world and its follies.
10. Because it prevents the truth, by teaching there is a better way to raise money than God's way—giving.
11. Because it offers to God that which has on it the image of the world.

Our churches cannot be too plainly shown that the only true principle that honors God and does His will is that of spiritual work through spiritual methods by spiritual men for spiritual objects.—Canadian Churchman.

The Archaeologist

He Preferred Digging In the Ground to Money Making

By F. A. MITCHEL

When Henry Robson lost his wife he was left with one son, Louis, fourteen years old. Robson was of a very practical mold regarding the production and accumulation of wealth, the chief end of man. Having made a fortune, this ambition was succeeded by a similar object. He would bring up his son to take his place at the head of the great manufacturing concern of which he was the principal owner and manager. He preferred that Louis should not go to college, entering instead into business at that age when young men enter upon a university career, but he did not insist upon this, arguing that while what a boy learned at college was mostly worthless he lived there in a community which was a preparation for the larger world which he was later to enter.

But before Louis was prepared to enter college his father married again. His second wife was a widow with a daughter eleven years old or three years younger than her stepbrother. No sooner had the marriage taken place than the wife began to study how she could divert her husband's fortune from Louis to her daughter. She could only think of it, however, for her husband was bent on his fortune passing from his hands to those of his son. She worried her daughter with her schemes till the poor child was quite worn out with them. It was "Edith, why did you go to bed last night without kissing your father good night?" or "You naughty child, to speak so saucily to your father as you did today! You deserve that he should leave you nothing in his will."

The girl knew well that this reference to the will was the upshot of the whole matter, and since she was too young to think in a mercenary way of the future she did not enter into her mother's plans. But by not doing so, she unintentionally helped the matter, for her stepfather saw through her mother's plan from the first, and it was plain to him that Edith was disturbed by it. Moreover, he took naturally to the child, who was of a lovely disposition, and when Louis went away to boarding school she, in a measure, dropped into his place with her father.

Then came that which tended to bring about Mrs. Robson's schemes. Louis developed tastes antagonistic to business. Instead of being interested in the mechanic arts he must needs become infatuated with those people who lived a couple of thousand years ago—the Greeks and Romans—whom most children wish had never lived at all. Louis' tastes ran also to languages, and in the Latin and the Greek he read about Roman conquests and Athenian intellectual triumphs. The boy had not been long in college when the knowledge of Greek and Latin literature was the talk of the students and the surprise of the professors.

All this was disappointing to Mr. Robson. He regarded the Greeks and Romans as absolutely dead and unproductive. The Roman forum was to him simply a show for Americans and only valuable for the liras taken in as gate money. But even this he considered wasted because it was being used for further excavations. He regretted that the barbarians who had demolished Rome had not made a wilderness of it so that its site might have been lost forever. Constantinople he thought might have become valuable on account of its location had not the Turks gone in and spoiled it for a center of trade. Had it not been for this the Bosphorus might have become as important as the Chicago river.

"But, papa," Edith would say, "just think—the ancients called the Bosphorus the Hellespont, and Leander swam it to visit Hero."
"Spoken like the dear little girl you are," was the reply to this. "You are at an age when girls are much better fitted to discern a romance than a site for a real estate speculation."
A crisis came in the family when Louis was graduated. An expedition was to be sent out by his alma mater to dig for the site of an ancient city, and he was invited to be a member of the party. His father, who had been waiting for four years to begin to prepare his son to take his place in his business, was furious. Edith placed him as best she could, bidding out the hope that Louis would tire of hunting for old bones, flint arrowheads, pottery and trinkets buried fifty feet underground, but Mr. Robson knew that such tastes instead of improving the investigator only tended to ruin him. "Such persons," he averred, "are born with their heels in the air instead of

HERE IS GOOD ADVICE TO TAKE

It will help those who have Kidney and Bladder Trouble. There are other "old enemies" similar to the one mentioned in this testimonial. Kidney and Bladder Troubles are always enemies to good health. As soon as you start to take GIN PILLS these ailments begin to disappear. It is the same in cases of Lumbago, Sciatica and like complaints. This letter illustrates the benefit of GIN PILLS.

Winnipeg, Jan. 6th.
"I have been a sufferer from Lumbago for some years past and during Christmas week had a very acute attack which confined me to the house. About the latter part of April, I met your Mr. Hill and mentioned my complaint to him. He advised me to take GIN PILLS. I have been taking them at intervals during the early part of the present winter, and up to date have had no return of my old trouble—in fact, I feel better than I have for years and think that my old enemy has vanished for good and all."

their heads and branch out toward the center of the earth."

Louis insisted on going with the expedition, his expenses being paid from the college fund appropriated for the purpose. His father offered to give him an enormous salary if instead he would enter his factory and as soon as he had learned how to manage it he should have full control.
"Father," said Louis, "I always considered you a practical man."
"So I am, but you are a dreamer."
"At any rate, I have sense enough to know that the Robson company under my management would be buried deeper than Herculaneum."

"Very well; go on your hunt for old pots and kettles and don't come back here any more."

Edith tried to patch up a peace between the two, but failed. The father could not endure to see his fondest hope wrecked, and the son recognized instinctively his life work and proposed to follow it. There was but one person in the family who was pleased, and that was Mrs. Robson. In this disagreement she saw her daughter's benefit, and she was right. As soon as Louis had left America his father made a will leaving all his possessions to his stepdaughter.

While Louis Robson was away digging in the earth, as his father put it, "wearing out his eyesight translating inscriptions on bricks three or four thousand years old, reading cures for toothache, corn salves and solutions for the itch," his father fell ill and soon became convinced that he had not long to live. Calling Edith to him, he told her what she already knew—that she was his heir.

"I won't have it, papa," she said. "Your fortune belongs to Louis and not to me at all except such amount as you choose to leave me for a gift."
The old man was greatly pleased at this ingenuous and unselfish statement, especially since he knew of his wife's desire that he should cut off his son in favor of her daughter.

"Louis," continued Edith, "has shown more common sense than you, papa. He hasn't a business hair in his head, and you could never make one grow there. He'll make a reputation in the profession he has chosen that we shall all be proud of. See if he doesn't."
"A reputation for digging up dead persons who should be suffered to remain in their graves. However, I'll think over what you say, and maybe I'll make a will leaving the bulk of the estate to Louis, providing for you liberally at the same time. But if you really wish me to do so you'd better not mention it to your mother. One reason that influences me is that if I leave it all to you she will manage it for you, and if Louis should need any of it he won't get it—not from her."

After awhile Mr. Robson's condition was such that Edith wrote Louis that if he wished to see his father alive he had better come home. Louis returned the day of his father's death. In an interview between the two Robsons admitted that he had been wrong in the matter of his son's career, and Louis expressed a regret that he had not at least tried to fulfill his father's desire.

The night after this interview and Mr. Robson's death Louis was suffering a remorseful feeling, natural under the circumstances, but not warranted by the facts. Not being able to sleep, he got out of bed and, throwing on a dressing gown, started to go downstairs to the dining room for some refreshment that he hoped would induce slumber. As he left his room he saw a flash of light at the other end of the hall. Thinking that burglars were in the house, he went cautiously toward it. By continuous flashes he was guided to a room his father had used for an office. Through the crack made by the door being partly open he saw his stepmother with an electric lamp hunting through papers in a tin box she had taken from a closet. She found one that she appropriated, but evidently was not satisfied. Hearing a slight sound that Louis made involuntarily, she gave up the search, and seeing that she was about to come out of the room, Louis retreated.

Believing that his stepmother's search had some connection with his father's disposition of his property, Louis thought a long while over the matter. In the room Mrs. Robson had visited was a desk. His father had long ago showed him a drawer opened by a secret spring and told him that he kept there any paper of importance he feared might be lost or stolen. Louis determined to open this drawer and see if it contained anything of moment. As he approached the room he perceived a light in it. Drawing near, he looked in and saw his stepmother, hunting through the tin box. Not finding what she wanted, she went to the desk, pressed a spring, opened a drawer and took out a document. She was about to come out when she started at seeing Louis.

"What does this mean, Edie?" he asked.

"What mean?" she said, her bosom heaving.

"An hour ago I was coming downstairs to get a biscuit and I saw your mother ransacking that box. She took from it a paper—"

"One like this?"

"Yes. And now I see you taking another from my father's desk. Explain."

"The paper mother took from the box is a will your father made when you went abroad, disinheriting you and leaving all his property to me. A week before he died I begged him to leave the bulk of his property to you, merely providing for my comfort. He consented to do so and made this will, telling me of the drawer in his desk and directing me to put it there. Fearing mamma would try to interfere in the matter of these wills, I came to take away the one she has. Then I concluded to take this one out of hiding and give it to you tomorrow morning."

Louis took the paper from her hands and, opening it, read:

"I, Henry Robson, being of sound mind, etc., do devise and bequeath all my property, real and personal, to my son, Louis Robson, on condition—"

Louis stopped reading for a few moments, then continued:—
"that he marry his stepmother, Edith, provided she consents."

When he looked from the paper again he saw in the girl's blushes that she would be no difficulty in complying with the provisions of the will.

A POWER OF ITS OWN.—Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil has a subtle power of its own that other oils cannot pretend to, though there are many pretenders. All who have used it know this and keep it by them as the most valuable liniment available. Its uses are innumerable and for many years it has been prized as the leading liniment for man and beast.

An old plasterer was called upon to give evidence for the plaintiff. Counsel for the defence tries to bully him. "Have you ever been in prison?" "Yes, twice." "Ah! how long the first time?" "One whole afternoon." "What! And the second time?" "Only one hour." "And pray what offence had you committed to deserve so small a punishment?" "I was sent to prison to whitewash a cell to accommodate a lawyer who had cheated one of his clients."

HORSE SUGGESTIONS.

Horses are very fond of a variety, and fussing always pays in the better condition and greater usefulness of the horse.

Never whip a horse when he shies. It will increase his fear. Confidence in his driver will do much to overcome fear of objects.

It is just as necessary to fit a collar to a horse as it is to fit a shoe to the foot.

A man cannot work on boiled turnips alone; neither can a horse work on a diet of straw and fodder.

It costs a good deal of money to buy a satisfactory team. In most cases this can be avoided by the farmer raising his own.

Always the your team or put them in a barn when you go to town. It is much cheaper than having to buy a new harness and wagon.

The horse that is all the time being tapped with the whip never knows what his master means by it and comes to think he means just nothing.

THE MARKET TYPE OF HOG.

Points to Note When Selecting Sows For Breeding Purposes.

In selecting a brood sow there are certain points which are so generally accepted that they may offer a guide to the beginner or to the breeder who would improve his herd. Perhaps the demands of the packer will serve as a good guide in this matter. The experience of the packer has taught him that a certain type of hog is most profitable for him because it will produce the largest amount of salable pork with the smallest amount of waste. Any hog that varies from this type is confronted with a variation in price when he goes to the market.

The head should be medium in length, with a full jaw, which must not be heavy or baggy; the neck must be short and full; the shoulders well set and in line with the side; the chest full, well let down and wide between the legs; the back rounded; the lower line should be straight and the ribs well sprung, but not round. There should be plenty of meat on the loin, the sides should be straight and the flank low. Too many breeders overlook the importance of the flank. A low, deep flank means a deep side and middling and means a correspondingly good side and ham. The flank is one of the indexes of a quiet disposition, easy feeding and early mat-turing qualities, and a hog which has a good flank and a good head will generally be found to possess these.

Depth of body is more essential than length, although both are desirable. The sow which combines depth, length, a good top line, low, broad flank and stands on good feet and legs will generally prove to be an excellent brood sow, and if she possesses the breed character her progeny will be in demand and may develop into prize winners. There has been for a long time an impression that one could not secure too much ham on a hog of any one of the lard type breeds. This, however, is erroneous. The surplus ham, which has a baggy appearance, is so much waste material, and any surplus that can be bred into a hog should go into quality. In measuring a hog the distance from the root of the tail to the center of the forehead over the back should be about the same as the measurements about the heart and about the flank. If one should have in mind a box of oblong shape from which the corners have been rounded off he would have a good idea of the proper type for the individual hog.

The herd boar should be the best that money can buy. This does not mean that he should be secured at an exorbitant price, but it does mean that his qualities should be such as are needed in the herd and should be the best of their kind and that a few dollars should not stand in the way of his purchase if he is exactly the right animal.

Salting the Butter.

In salting the mass should be spread out thinly and the salt sprinkled over evenly, because it is impossible to work the salt through all of the butter if the salt is thrown all in one place. Streaked or mottled butter is often caused by uneven salting. After salting the butter should be allowed to stand for five or six hours and then worked again.

Edible Flowers of Butter Trees.

By far the most remarkable of edible flowers is that culled from the butter tree of India. The blossoms of this singular tree are the chief means of subsistence with the Bhils and other Indian hill tribes. An average tree yields from 200 to 350 pounds of pulpy, bell shaped flowers that, when they drop off during March and April, the hot months of the Indian year, are eagerly gathered by the natives. They have when fresh a peculiar and luscious taste, but the fragrance of them is not pleasant and is best and most briefly described as "mousy." Usually they are cured in the sun, shrivel to one-fourth of their size and then resemble nothing so much as raisins. The natives prepare them for food by boiling or using them in sweetmeats—Suburban Life Magazine.

The Potato.

Whoever may have introduced the potato into England, according to Dr. Doran's "Table Traits," it was not known in North America in 1580, when Raleigh's colonists there are said to have sent it over to us. But the Spanish "batata," or sweet potato, from which the vegetable derives its name, was brought to Ireland many years before by Captain Hawkins from Santa Fe, in South America. This is probably the potato of Shakespeare's time. "Let the sky rain potatoes. I will remain here!" cries Sir John Falstaff, embracing Mrs. Ford.—London Telegraph.

Does Beauty Bring Happiness?

Does beauty bring happiness? One of the most beautiful women in the world thinks that by itself it cannot, but says that every woman has a charm—for some man.

"Every woman is charming in some way to somebody," she says. "Beauty of itself cannot bring happiness; frequently it is a snark to the woman who possesses it. One cannot be beautiful forever, and love that centres only round a woman's beauty turns to hate when she grows old."

"I have known ugly women who charmed men by their grace of manner, their high intelligence, their kindness of heart. You may say that is little consolation to the woman hungry for beauty, but I know how little of a man's heart the woman has who holds him by beauty alone."

Nothing is better than a good wife and nothing much worse than a bad one.

CAUSE OF ASTHMA.—No one can say with certainty exactly what causes the establishing of asthmatic conditions. Dust from the street, from flowers, from grain and various other irritants may set up a trouble impossible to irradiate except through a sure preparation such as Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy. Uncertainty may exist as to cause, but there can be no uncertainty regarding a remedy which has freed a generation of asthmatic victims from this scourge of the bronchial tubes. It is sold everywhere.

Address and Presentation

One of the most enjoyable evenings spent for some time took place at the residence of Mr. Samuel Mills, Walnut, on the evening of Wednesday, April 23, the event being that of Mr. Mills and Mrs. Smith leaving the farm and moving to Saratoga. Early in the evening carriages kept driving to the house from every direction, until upwards of one hundred of his old friends and neighbors filled the commodious residence to its utmost capacity, and were tendered a hearty welcome by both the host and hostess. At the hour of nine o'clock Mr. Richard Brock was called to the chair and after calling the large gathering to order, gave a very fitting address for the occasion and in his usual way helped to pass the evening pleasantly. A lengthy program was rendered, composed of eight musical addresses. Mr. John Edgar was first on the list who expressed his regret for the removal of one of his old schoolmates from the neighborhood. A solo sung by Mr. Cameron Corsetine was well applauded. Mr. John Edgar was next on the list who spoke very highly of Mr. Mills as a neighbor and a friend. Mr. Mills and Mrs. Annie Smith were then called to the centre of the spacious room when the following address was read by Mr. W. Lucas.

To Mr. SAM MILLS and Mrs. ANNIE SMITH. Dear Friends— We have assembled here this evening to spend a social time with you prior to your removal from our midst. And we felt we could not lose the opportunity of expressing our regret at your departure and of wishing you prosperity and many blessings in your new home. Having always resided here we have had ample means of learning your true worth. You have always been good neighbors, always ready to assist in any social undertaking, kind and obliging in helping others, even at a sacrifice to your own interests. You will be much missed, and your place hardly filled. But our loss will be some other's gain, and I hope you may meet many to appreciate your many sterling qualities. But if Fortune falls to you on you in your new sphere of life, rest assured, I will be glad to see you again. I am, to accept this chain and ring, and you, Annie, this cord for my own neck, and for you, Sam, a slight token of our esteem for you. Signed on behalf of our friends and neighbors, JOHN EDGAR, RICHARD EDGAR.

Mr. Mills expressed his hearty appreciation for the nice signed ring and beautiful chain and said that this evening of pleasure would be stamped deep in the book that has so many pages of innumerable kindnesses which he had received from all. He then on behalf of Mrs. Smith expressed in very fitting words her appreciation for not only the beautiful couch but the many kind acts she has received at their hands.

Mr. Cameron Corsetine again favored with another of his choice solos which was received with a hearty applause. Short addresses were given by Mr. Swan, Mr. Richard Edgar, Mr. Shambles, Mr. W. Lucas and many others when the program was brought to a close by singing the National Anthem and "Sam's a jolly good fellow." All were invited to partake of the most tasty and well-prepared repast that any heart could desire which was prepared by the ladies. After all had done ample justice to the inner man, a few hours were spent in dancing to music furnished by the Alvinston orchestra, when all wended their way home after giving the host and hostess the parting shake.

BANISH PIMPLES AND ERUPTIONS In the Spring Most People Need Tonic Medicine.

One of the surest signs that the blood is out of order is the pimples, unsightly eruptions and eczema that come frequently with the change from winter to spring. These prove that the long indoor life of winter has had its effect upon the blood and that a tonic medicine is needed to put it right. Indeed there are few people who do not need a tonic at this season. Bad blood does not merely show itself in unsightly eruptions. To this same condition is due attacks of rheumatism and lumbago; the sharp stabbing pains of sciatica and neuralgia; poor appetite and a desire to avoid exertion. You cannot cure these troubles by the use of purgative medicines—you need a tonic, and a tonic only, and among all medicines there is none can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for their tonic, life-giving, nerve-restoring powers. Every dose of this medicine makes new, rich blood which drives out impurities, stimulates every organ and brings a feeling of new health and energy. Weak, tired, ailing men, women and children. If you are out of sorts give this medicine a trial and see how quickly it will restore the appetite, revive drooping spirits, and fill your veins with new, health-giving blood. You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Fire Losses in Canada

The fire loss in the United States and Canada for the last ten years has averaged $250,000,000 a year. What could you do with that? You could build roads, build canals, improve your harbors. You could do a great many things with $250,000,000 a year. That means $30,000 an hour, $500 a minute; it means that every ten minutes we are burning the equivalent of a comfortable $5,000 home.

So far as Canada is concerned it would appear that 1913 fire losses are going to exceed the average of the past ten years. The most authentic information to hand and compiled by the Monetary Times gives us the following appalling results: January—$3,913,585, with a toll of 14 lives lost. February—$1,640,153, with 21 lives lost. March—$1,710,756, with 22 lives lost. Giving a total loss in Canada for the first three months of the year of $7,264,494, and on top of that 57 valuable lives lost; and the most deplorable and outstanding feature is the plain statement that many of these fires are reported as preventable.

Fraser—Close

A happy event took place Wednesday afternoon at the home of Geo. Japp, Jr., 6th con., Bosanquet, when his sister-in-law, Miss Pearl Close, daughter of Robert Close, became the wife of Mr. William Lindly Fraser of the Lake Road. The happy couple were unattended, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Jas. Foote, of Theford, in the presence of only a few immediate relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Fraser motored to Theford, and left on the evening train for Buffalo and other points east. They will reside on the lake road.

Friday night, after Jim O'Neil, grocer, of Point Edward, had closed up his store, two men knocked at the door. When Mr. O'Neil opened the door the men asked for some cigarette tobacco. Mr. O'Neil brought some and the men said it was not the kind they wanted. He went back again into the store which was not lighted up and returned with some more tobacco. As he did so he was held up at the point of a revolver and made to give up the money in his possession, some $15, together with his gold watch. The police were notified and are searching for the robbers.
