ST. JOHN, N. B., NOV. 6, 1872.

Are Manufacturers to be Protected !

more even than by the natural disincli-empted in their benalf. Sir John, in nore than one speech during the camoaign, threw out feelers on the question of protection, and met with no very forcible rebukes in consequence. All the disapproval came from those who would oppose anything of his, and he doubtless believes his party and a portion of the enemy are with him. The partial pledges of Sir John, and the well known protective leaning of Dr.

Tupper, will doubtless carry the Cabinet into proposing mild protective measures

We have reason to believe, from confidential Ottawa telegrams, that the Cabi net are now daily engaged in discussing the measures to be urged on Parliament for the encouragement of the infant manufactures of Canada. Some members of the Cabinet are averse to the new policy on the ground of its unpopularity, others are opposed to committing themselves before an opportunity offers for consultation with members of Parliament, but certain measures will be prepared and held in the background until the Parliamentary pulse has been carefully felt. The Ministers feel that rashness might be fatal to their maintenance of office. Their majority is small, and might be lost by the introduction of a policy not in accordance with the views of a small portion of their followers. They cannot afford to be rash, and it is to be force a protective policy on the country in opposition to the wishes of the repreentatives of the people. If Parliament demands protection, the demand must be conceded by this or any other Government, but it remains to be seen what the temper of the present Parliament is on this highly important subject.

There is one thing that will aid in the adoption of protective duties—the necessity that exists, or will soon exist, for more revenue. If this can be obtained by a judicious increase of duties on manufactured articles, and the country made to believe that protection of home industry, not increase of revenue, is the object, it will be a rather politic stroke of statesmanship. It is certain that the protective principle will be discussed in Parliament next session, and we warn manufacturers who desire it and consumers who oppose it to be in readiness to furnish their Parliamentary represen-

Two Scotch Murders.

Two very shocking murders are reported in Scotland. A female servant on a farm near Whifflet, Lanarkshire, was murdered by her mistress. The servant was milking the cows, when her mistress came up behind her unobserved and cut her throat. The motive of the crime is said to have been jealousy. A man named Robert Gilmour, gauger on the Caledonia Railway. residing in the village of Dykehead, near Motherwell, invited a companion named Motherwell, invited a companion named Robertson, with whom he had been drinking during the day, into his house to have a cup of tea. While in the house Robertson asked Gilmour in a friendly way not some saked Gilmour in a friendly way not chines on hand and to rent. to visit a particular house, and thus put an end to scandal current in the district Gilmour, very much excited, declared with oct 5 an oath that he would not be spoken to in that way, and that he would not allow Robertson to leave the bouse alive. A MANTLE VELVETS! scuffle ensued, Robertson was knocked down, and while he lay prostrate on the floor, Gilmour kicked him and danced on his body till he became insensible. He then went to bed and fell into a sound sleep. On regaining consciousness Ro-bertson was able to crawl home, but the in-juries he had sustained proved to be so serious that he died. Gilmour absconded, but was apprehended.

Heroism of a Prima Donna: Miss Matilda Phillipps, sister of Miss Adelaide Phillipps, has made herself famous abroad by her heroic and successful from drowning. Vague reports of the affair have reached the country, although nothing definite has been learned. In a letter to her sister, Miss Phillipps gives the following account of the adventure:

"I didn't tell you, for fear it would frighten you, that while I was at Genoa, Walter came very near being drowned, and I, with a little presence of mind. was able to save him. He was out beyond his depth and got tirod. I was quite a little distance away from him, and although I made great haste to reach him, I saw him go under the water twice. I called out to him not to lose his co urage, and got to him just as he was sinking the third time. I don't know how I had the strength or how I got him to the ropes. He seemed almost dead for nearly an hour. I felt more frightened afterwards than I did at the time, and had no more courage in the water after that day. Several gentlemen had seen him struggling in the water, and made no attempts to rescue him, although they were all kind enough after he was on land. We are great friends ever since, and he can scarcely do enough for me. I the following account of the adventure :-

A. H. EATON, Principal A NEW WORK: ORIENTAL RELIGIONS

AND THEIR RELATIONS TO

Universal Religion—India:

BY SUMUEL JOHNSON.

IN the matter of LEVI R. KNOWLES, an INSOLVENT, I, the undersigned, WILLIAM PUGSLEY, JR., of the City of Saint John, Province of New Brunswick, Barrister-at-Law, have been appointed Assignee in this The Springfield Republican says:-

The Springfield Republican says:—

AMUEL JOHNSON'S remarkable work entitled "Oriental Religions." is devoted wholly to the religions and civilization of India: is the result of twenty years' study and reflection of one of the soundest scholars and most acute thinkers of New England, and must be treated with all respect, whether we consider its thoroughness, its logical reasoning, or the conclusion, unacceptable to the majority no doubt, at which it arrives. This conclusion, briefly stated in the introductory chapter, is this: "The mission of Christianity to the heathen is not only for the overthrow of many of their religious peculiarities, but quite as truly for the essential modification of its own."
