PROTECTION FOR YOUNG

Elder Brothers To Care For and Advise Boys and Girls Who Are Unprotected.

A deputation from the Children's Aid Society waited upon the city Ministerial Alliance this morning with a view to securing the co-operation of that body. The deputaton consisted of Mrs. Talbot Macbeth, Mrs. E. Yarker, Mrs. F. E. Leonard and Sheriff Cameron.

The result of the meeting was the inaugurating of the "Big-Brother Movement," which has been successfully undertaken in numerous cities. The idea of this movement is that men and women be picked from the churches who will act as an elder brother to younger people who need such care and advice.
Indifferent Parents.

Sheriff Cameron gave an excellent address along Children's Aid lines. He ousness of youth develops in homes where parents were indifferent to the welfare of their children, or where the mother, a widow, has to go out and work by the day. It was frequently from such homes that the white slave traffic secured a foothold, and an effective means of supervision with a proper care and control over young girls at the age when they are entering the life activities of the world was

The efforts of the London Children' Aid Society was indicated by the fact that it had a record of over 500 chilplaced in foster homes since the dren organization of the society. These children have grown up under normal conditions in the community in which tinctive badge such as institutional

Mrs. Fred. Biggs, Kingston, Ont. writes:—"I was completely run down, my blood was out of order, and I used to get so weak I would be compelled to stay in bed for weeks at a time. I could not eat, was pale and thin; every one thought I was going into consumption.

I tried everything and different doctors until a friend advised me to use Burdock Blood Bitters. I did not have one bottle used when my appetite began to improve. I used six bottles. I gained ten pounds in two weeks. When I began to take it I only weighed ninety-three pounds. It just seemed to pull me from the grave as I never expected to be strong again. Biliousness and Headaches Quickly Cured by DR. A. W. CHASE'S KIDNEY and LIVER PILLS.

When you feel irritable, cranky and downhearted, you can usually blame SAVES PRAIRIE WHEAT the liver, for there is no organ in the human body which so quickly throws the system out of sorts as a torpid sluggish liver. You don't need to be in the blues long if you know about Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills, for by their direct action on the liver they relieve promptly and prove lastingly beneficial.

One of the principal ingredients of this medicine is known to the medical profession as a specific for liver derangements. Quickly, naturally and certainly it awakens the sluggish liver and drives out the poisons which cause headaches, biliousness, bodily pains and a depressed feeling over the whole the only thing that save her life. ## THE DRESS PROBLEM

What a comfort it is when you want a new Dress to know that you can have it, and have it the very day you want it, without even consulting your dressmaker. Dresses you would never dream of looking for ready-to-wear a few seasons ago. Then, there was-no use, you could get nothing but the ordinary shirtwaist styles, and had no alternative but to consult your dressmaker, choose your style, material and trimmings, go through the routine of several fittings and probably get your dress when the season is half

It's different now. In Paris, the world's creator of Fashion (while we are wearing present season styles), the ingenious minds of style designers are working and planning the fashions for the next, which are copied by wholesale dressmakers and manufacturing ladies' tailors, carrying out the ideas of the most notable dressmakers in the world in the newest fabrics and colorings, doing all the planning, and saving you all the worry by placing within your reach, at a much lower cost, correct dress styles in the finest silks, wool and muslin fabrics, that you may see before you buy, and not only imagine what your dress will be when finished.

the Empire Than His Father.

London, May 16 .- George V. is gains ing prestige with striking rapidity. By one of the most remarkable revolutions of public opinion in modern European history, the new monarch, whose reign began amid widespread uncertainty of feeling among his subjects, finds him. self borne on a wave of approval that is swelling to imperial proportions. Britons everywhere are beginning to wonder whether after all he is not to prove a more efficient instrument of rogress under twentieth century conditions than either Edward VII. or Victoria would have proved. There is a convincing reaction in the tone of comment upon his character and capacity. This is all the more impressive, because it is due, not to hysteria, but o a clearer perception of his businessike qualities, his exemplary domestic nabits, his studious cast of mind and nis faculty of concentration. The man n the street declares that George V.'s eign will be the reign of commonense. Man of Common Sense.

Says a journal that was among the first to recognize the change of public sentiment: "Until he became King, he suffered from the fact that he stood most of the time in the background. and was known to the world only through sidelights and partial glimpses, Now that he is in the centre of the stage, with the light direct upon him. we get the benefit of the view, and he the benefit of the inspection. The arger vision is yielding results gratiing in the highest degree to all who think imperially."

The Washington Government has made a formal offer to Canada to discuss trade relations with a view to a treaty of reciprocity. The communicato Ottawa direct. The Canadian Gov-

this country at the mere announce-Opponents of the Government negotiated by the Government, but they will not wait for the text. As soon as pourparlers begin they will profess to know that Canadian interests are being sacrificed. Politicians and newspapers that could quarrel with the recent tariff settlement between Washington and Ottawa will not lack a pretext for finding fault with any future arrangement. There will be also anticiloss of tariff advantage. The council of the Montreal Chamber of Commerce has already declared its objection to any negotiations whatever. It is not in this spirit that the Canadian Government can afford to meet Washington's advances. A blank refusal growing geniality of our relations with advantage in many ways. It might please some of the British tariff rerapprochement between the United policy and to imperial sentiment, but a friendly feeling between Washington and Ottawa is desired by responsible British statesmen for diplomatic rea-

HIDDEN CHAPTERS IN DIPLOM.

ACY. General John W. Foster, formerly United States assistant secretary of state, has published a volume of diplodiplomacy as "overbearing and pigthirteen years ago. In the same letter suppressing one of his notes, and misthis was written by Mr. Hay only for the eye of his Government, and that he never imagined it would be given to the public then or thereafter. Its publication throws a blemish on a reputation that steed high in Great Brtain. Other letters have a direct interest for Canadians. Mr. Hay declares that British statesmen "frankly avow their slavery to Canada, and chafe under it," but they "rather resent our talking to Canada directly." He adds:

tage than ours to be on good terms with us. Lord Salisbury, in a private conversation the other day, compared her to a coquettish girl. with two analogy would be to call her a married flirt, ready to betray John Bull on any occasion, but holding him responsible for all her follies."

This is not complimentary to Miss Canada. The British Prime Minister is the officers elected were congratulated almost as severe upon her as the American ambassador. But it may have suited Lord Salisbury's purpose to Winterbottom; past presiding precept. "blame it on Canada." Probably he argued in this manner: "We cannot af- stable, Sir Kt. to direct negotiations between Canada and the United States, and the Washington Government evinces a more friendly and generous spirit toward this country. There is every promise that future differences will be adjusted amicably and without involving the mother country.

Timid and Bashful Before Big Crowd of Spectators. [Associated Press.

Ben Lomond, Cal., May 16.—The big crowd that journeyed here from San Francisco yesterday to see Jim Jeffries in his announced public Sabbath workout, learned that champion is an exceedingly timid man. All his years in the ring have not worn off the shyness Jeffries early evinced when called on to perform in public. Before the big fellow showed up in the gymnasium yesterday one of his companions re-marked, "Jeff would give a hundreddollar bill if he could get out of facing the crowd this afternoon." the truth of the assertion was attested by the fighter's subsequent behavior. When he began skipping the rope he kept his face to the wall and his back to the spectators, and wher NATIONALS 5, TECUMSEHS 3 he started his shadow boxing he stood in a corner as removed from curious eyes as possible. Whether Halley's Comet will become sufficiently bright to be seen at noon tomorrow or on Wednesday, either before or after the sun, is yet a matter of conjecture.

If the moon were not quite so bright on Wednesday evening, there might be a chance to see the end of the comet's tail as it scurries down behind western horizon after the sun. It will certainly be an object of interest on Thursday evening, while on Friday night the comet should be one of the finest celestial spectacles in the quarter of a century, rivalling the great comet of 1882.

La Provence Arrives Equipped With Wonderful New Italian Invention.

New York, May 16 .- When La Provence, of the French Line, arrived in port yesterday, she was equipped with a wonderful additional invention in wireless telegraphy, which her captain had tested all the way across and be visible to observers equipped with found to act perfectly. It is an invenand tion that will rob the high seas of running ashore. It is an attachment wireless telegraph invented by known as the radio-telegraphique. The immense value of the invention ies in the fact that, no matter how dark the night, how heavy the swirling sheets of snow, how thick the fog. or how high the seas, the captain, given wireless communication with any point, can tell at any moment exactly how his own ship stands and just where neighboring ships and lands are in relation to his snip.

Read All on a Dial. When La Provence came up the bay Mr. Garretson and W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railway pects to start for the west on Tuesried an extra network of wires that were gathered at her masthead and spread, cone-shaped, through a hundred spools to the bridge of the ship, where they were again gathered into a narrow strand. was the structural work of the invention. The positions of the ship and danger points she may be near in heavy weather are ascertained by the captain through the medium of a small revolving dial in the chart room. The captain has only to read his dial at any time of the day or night when he is in communication with any other wireless point to learn all these hidden mysteries, and by it guide his ship away from danger.

Makes Wireless Secret The invention has also another advantage which hitherto has been one of the greatest problems to solve in wireless telegraphy; namely, it makes

DEATH OF THOS. COWLEY

Father of East End Resident Died in St. Thomas,

Mr. Thomas Cowley, one of the oldest and best-known Grand Trunk engineers, died very unexpectedly yesterday morning at the home of his son. Fred W. Cowley, of St. Thomas. Late on Saturday evening, Mr. Cowley was stricken with apoplexy and never rallied. His son, Mr. Albert E. Cowley, of 917 Lorne avenue, was called by long distance 'phone, and went at once to St. Thomas, and remained by his father's bedside until death occurred. The late Mr. Cowley commenced his career as an engineer on the old Great Western in 1856, and ran continuously until his retirement in 1900. For more than 25 years he ran out of London on the Grand Trunk. Mr. Cowley was 3 years old, and while in London was prominent member of Dundas Cenre Methodist Church, and a member of the quarterly board. About four years ago Mr. Cowley went to St. Thomas, and has resided there ever since. He is survived by two sons and one daughter, Albert E., of this city, and Fred W., of St. Thomas, and Mrs. James Jeffries, of Toledo. The remains will be taken via the Michigan Central to Windsor tomorrow, and interment will be made there.

In March, 1870, Robert Stuart Mac-

Arthur, then a student in the senior class of the Rochester Theological Seminary, had the unusual experience of being called to the pastorate of a metropolitan church, situated at that time on Twenty-third street. As soon as Dr. MacArthur was graduated, he took up his duties as pastor of Calvary on May 15, 1870. Dr. MacArthur was born in Quebec of Scotch parentage on July 10, 1841. During the 40 years of his pastorate he and his congregation have been able to build the church they now occupy in West Fifty-seventh street, at a cost of $525,000, and to dedicate it free of debt.
