SOVIET GOVERNMENT IS PROCLAIMED BY GERMAN RADICALS

NEW "NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC" PARTY IN BRITAIN IS HEADED BY PREMIER AND BONAR LAW

Principles of New Political Organization Will Be Outlined in Joint Manifesto To Be Issued in a Few Days—Birth of New Party Will Mean Reconstruction of Ministry — Unionists Will Be Invited To Join.

London, March 15.—A joint manifesto which will be signed by Premier Lloyd George and Andrew Bonar Law, will be issued in a few days stating the principles of a new party to be led by the premier, says the Daily Mail. It will be accompanied, the newspaper declares, by an important reconstruction of the ministry, and it is said that for this reason announcement of appointments to the portfolios of labor, food and the board of trade, now vacant, has been postponed.

According to present intentions, the name of the new party will be the "National Democratic." In addition to a meeting of Liberals next Thursday, arrangements are being made for a conference of Unionists, at which Mr. Bonar Law will announce his resignation from the leadership of that party, and will invite members to join the new organization. Unionist leaders who have been adherents of Premier Lloyd George, are said to have decided to support him, but there are indications that the party will not be united in its adherence to the new combination. A revolt, under the leadership of the Marquis of Salisbury and Lord Robert Cecil, is expected, says the Daily Mail.

EIGHT GALLONS OF LIQUOR IN HOT WATER BOTTLES AND TINS

Man Claiming Detroit As His Home Must Pay $500 Or Spend Next Four Months in County Jail—Result of Police Visit To Midnight Train.

John Sadanowiski, a foreigner, claiming Detroit as his place of residence, was fined $500 and costs in police court Monday for having liquor in a place other than a private dwelling. If he cannot pay the fine he will spend four months in the county jail.

Inspector Robert Birrell, License Inspector J. E. Keenleyside, Sergt. Thos. Lucas and P. C. Louis McCaughey met the midnight train from Montreal on Saturday night and made a search for liquor on it. While the other three officials went through the sleepers, P. C. McCaughey found Sadanowiski in the day coach. The accused was in possession of a club bag and a suitcase, which although very heavy, were said by him to contain nothing. The policeman opened them and found two hot-water bottles and several tins containing brandy—eight gallons in all. Immediate arrest followed.

This morning in police court the prisoner stated that he had bought the liquor in Montreal, but was taking it home for his own personal use.

"You have no right to bring it out of the province of Quebec. You have no export license," remarked the magistrate. "I feel sorry for the man who is found with a bottle in his pocket, but not for men like you who make it possible for these men to have it."

Three drunks paid $13 before the mill of justice began to grind this morning.

CANADA IS TO BE REPRESENTED AT WASHINGTON

Dominion Minister Plenipotentiary To Be Under the British Ambassador.

LONG STANDING ISSUE

Canadian Representative To Be in Control During British Diplomat's Absence.

London, March 15.—The Daily Mail understands that the long outstanding question of Canadian representation at Washington at last has been settled by agreement of the foreign office to the appointment of a Canadian minister plenipotentiary, who will be immediately under the British ambassador to the United States, and in the absence of the ambassador will be in charge of the embassy.

The Daily Mail, in allusion to the importance and difficulties of the British ambassador at Washington, indicates Canada's relationship to the United States, in regards to the league of nations, as the kind of delicate situation it has in mind, and it trusts the Government will take the first opportunity to reaffirm the national status which the overseas dominions hold as by right of the league. The paper thinks Canada's special interest in Anglo-American relations has received remarkable emphasis by the British Government's assent to the appointment of a Canadian minister at Washington.

FEDERAL SESSION IS LIKELY TO END MAY 1

Little Legislation of a Contentious Nature Before Parliament.

Ottawa, March 15.—(By Canadian Press).—Leading members are predicting that the session will end by about May 15. In support of this contention, they point to the fact that fully two weeks was saved on the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne, which last year continued from February 20 to March 18. Then, it is pointed out, there is apparently little legislation of a very contentious nature to come before the House, so they are hopeful of reaching prorogation by the above date.

Wilhelm Is "Awfully Peeved" at Latest Move in Germany

Amerongen, March 15.—By the Associated Press.—Former Emperor William spent the greater part of yesterday in the garden of Bentinck Castle, where he passed up and down with evidence of being under great nervous tension. Religious services, which have been held regularly there every Sunday, were omitted yesterday.

The terrible strain of the events of the last few days seems to weigh so heavily upon the mind of the former emperor that he cannot tolerate the company of others, and he makes every effort to get out-of-doors.

ANOTHER BREAK IN WATER MAIN

Found Sunday On Ottaway Ave. — Consumption 1 1-2 Million Gals. Above Normal.

A break in a 4-inch water main on Ottaway avenue, near the new medical school, was discovered Sunday by the waterworks department. It is being repaired today. This, with the broken main discovered on Dundas street near Ridout, is thought to be partly responsible for the abnormal water consumption at the present time.

These two breaks are by no means the whole cause, however. More than six million gallons of water are being used now by Londoners, while the normal consumption for the city around this time of the year is only four and a half million gallons. Part of the extra consumption is thought to be due to citizens allowing their taps to run continuously. A careful investigation of the system is being made to determine if there are other causes. Additional customers are also making an added demand on the supply.

Even with this demand the water supply is well above normal. General Manager Buchanan said today that the reservoir was almost brimming over, so that there is no danger of a water shortage at the present time.

BOLSHEVIK EMISSARIES THREATEN MINISTER IN EFFORT TO SECURE AID

Home of Ottawa Clergyman Visited by Representatives of Russian Reds.

Ottawa, March 15.—Rev. George Bensfield, rector of St. Margaret's Church in this city, last night issued a statement concerning the visit to his home on the evening of March 7 of two Russians, who said they were representatives of the Bolshevik Government, and demanding the use of his house.

"We are," said one of the visitors, "representatives of the Bolshevik Government of Russia, and are here to take a man back to Russia who has done wrong to our government, and we would like to get the use of this house."

The visitors tried all kinds of threats and coercion, even offering $500 as recompense, but Mr. Bonsfield still refused. Finally they left after warning Mr. and Mrs. Bonsfield to say nothing about it to the police. Since the visit the minister has received one warning in the form of a paper nailed on his door telling him to beware.

RAILWAY STRIKE AVERTED.

Berlin, March 15—(By the Associated Press).—An unconfirmed report was current shortly before midnight tonight that the new German Government had reached an agreement with the Ebert Government in order to avert the threatened railway strike.

WINNIPEG LIKELY TO EXPERIENCE ANOTHER BIG WALKOUT SOON

Trouble Brewing As a Result of City Hall Employees' Action.

INTERNATIONALS FIRM

Heads of Unions Claim Fight Will Be Precipitated to Gain Ends.

Toronto, March 15.—That Winnipeg may again experience another big strike this year is foreshadowed by a dispatch from that city to the Toronto Star today. The correspondent says:

"Although the possibility is discounted by officials of many unions of the 'international' faction, and by the community generally, events are shaping rapidly toward a situation at the city hall which presents an almost exact parallel to the preliminaries of last year's upheaval.

"The discovery that scores of city employees have violated their pledge not to join or to remain members of unions affiliated with any outside organization has brought about a crisis that threatens to result in a strike which will tie up several branches of the civic service, if not developing into a general walk-out.

"The definite threat to tie up all electrical work in the city unless the council rescinds the pledge and consents to deal with the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers has been voiced by F. W. McGill, secretary of the Civil Employees' Federation, and J. L. McBride, business agent of the local electrical workers' union.

"'The internationals are determined that the city shall rescind the pledge it has forced all employees to sign,' said Mr. McBride. 'That pledge is nothing more or less than a slave pact, and the internationals won't stand for it. They are prepared to support us—to back us to the limit.'

"That the council will insist upon the strict observance of the pledge there is little doubt, in view of the fact that the labor vote in the council is in he minority."

CAMPAIGN FOR WELFARE FUND STARTS IN MAY

One Big Drive Will Be Made, George M. Reid Tells Rotarians.

NO GOAL IS SET YET

Plan To Raise Money Asked For By Various Organizations.

George M. Reid, speaking to the Rotary Club members at their noon-day luncheon today, told of the purpose and objects of the United Welfare Fund Organization which has been formed in this city. He announced that a huge campaign would be launched in May, probably during the first week, in order to raise funds which have been asked by the several associations in this city.

Instead of each association launching an individual campaign in the future, which meant that five or six different attempts would be made, one campaign would be launched to cover the needs of all. Mr. Reid said that the plan had been put before a meeting of representatives from each organization that required funds last fall, and that they were heartily in favor of the plan.

Has Been Delayed.

They had asked him to appoint a committee to bring in a report on the scheme, but owing to the holidays and several other reasons it was unable to get together until last January. By-laws were drawn up by the committee, and it was decided to make the organization a permanent one. The following officers were appointed: President, George Reid; vice-presidents, Lieut.-Col. W. M. Cartshore; secretary, Gordon Philip, and honorary treasurer, A. D. McLean. The chairmen of the several committees have been appointed.

Mr. Reid said that it was impossible to state the total amount of money that would be needed, for the organization has not got that far as yet. Every organization in the city, however, requiring funds have been asked to present a budget of their needs for this year along with the budget of last year for comparison.

One Day's Pay.

It is planned to ask every person employed in the city to contribute one days' pay, besides the many larger contributions that are expected would be made. People giving will be asked to make their payments by the month for by this way it is expected that larger gifts would be made.

The many different organizations which have launched campaigns in the past would be asked to help in putting the scheme across. He called upon the members of the Rotary Club to help carry a portion of the burden when the time came. Mr. Reid expressed confidence that the campaign would prove a huge success, as much more vim could be put into the waging of one big attempt than in many small tiring ones.

He emphasized the importance of making the initial attempt of the organization a success, and said that it was just as much a duty for one to support such a found as any patriotic campaign as it was for the good of humanity and for the good of London.

Promises Support.

James Gray, president of the Rotary Club, assured Mr. Reid that he could depend on the support of the members when the time came.

A welcome was extended to Sir Adam Beck, who has just returned from England, by the president on behalf of the club. He responded briefly, saying that he was glad to be back and to see the Rotary Club still on the job. Speaking of his illness, he said that everybody expected that he would die, but that he felt sure he would not. For the once he knew how he had had his way. He told the gathering that they should be thankful for such abundance of food, and then told of some of the shortages of foodstuff in England.

LABOR REPRESENTATIVES PLAN TO OPPOSE BILL

Claim That City of London Bill Is Being Misused and That If Principle Is Not Lived Up To, Voting by People Is Useless As Ratepayers' Wishes Will Not Be Respected.

When the City of London bill goes before the House on Thursday next certain parts of it will receive considerable opposition at the hands of a deputation sent for the purpose by the labor representation committee of this city. A letter protesting against alleged overriding of the people's will, as expressed at the last civic election, is being drawn up, and a copy of it is to be presented to the committee through whose hands the bill will pass, and to several members of Parliament.

A decision to take this step was made at a meeting of the L. R. C., which is a standing convention of representatives from the trade unions, the I. L. P., and the soldier organizations of the city, held Sunday afternoon. After much warm discussion William Tite, secretary of the organization, was appointed to head a deputation which is to go to Toronto on Thursday morning.

Appointment Made.

An appointment has been made with Dr. H. A. Stevenson, M. P. P., for 10 o'clock in the morning, immediately before the doctor is scheduled to have an audience with Premier E. C. Drury. The matter will be taken up with several other members, according to Mr. Tite, and if necessary the bill will be fought on the floor of the House.

It was the general opinion of the meeting yesterday that the bill is being misused, and that if it can be used to put through items that were turned down by the people at election time, then the civic elections are useless and mere camouflage. It is not the intention of the deputation to attack any particular clauses, but to attack the whole principle of the thing, which it is claimed will force on the people by-laws and referendums against their wishes.

May Ask Amendment.

A report was brought to the meeting that on next Thursday the temperance people will ask that an amendment be made to the Ontario temperance act confining the sale of temperance beers to the standard hotels, and prohibiting their sale at grocery stores, restaurants and picnics. A letter will be sent in protest against this move to Premier Drury, and the deputation will be empowered to fight this move.

It was pointed out by several of the speakers that if the sale of beer was curtailed in this way that an injustice will be done to the workingmen when desiring a drink they would have to go to a hotel. At the present time he was able to order a case at a store and have it delivered. It was thought, too, that the move would prove a last straw to many of the breweries, who would be forced out of business.

GAS INQUIRY OPENS AT HAMILTON TODAY

Provincial Commission Is in Charge of Fuel Investigation.

Hamilton, March 15.—E. S. Estlin, provincial gas commissioner, opened an inquiry into the gas situation here today. The Dominion Natural Gas Company, the United Gas and Fuel Company, the local distributing company and many others were represented. Mr. Estlin at the outset explained the scope of the investigation. He said the Government wanted to ascertain exactly what the situation is regarding the natural gas fields, which are said to have been playing out in recent years.

Many witnesses testified as to the great shortage of gas, and the big bills they were receiving, despite the fact, they claimed, they were not getting gas.

The hearing will be resumed this afternoon.

SYNDICATE BUYS UP SURPLUS MATERIALS FROM GREAT BRITAIN

Deal in Aircraft Equipment Totals Millions.

London, March 15.—The British Government has sold to a syndicate aeroplanes and material to the value of £100,000,000. The purchase includes the entire surplus aircraft material in Great Britain, consisting of 16,000 aeroplanes, 30,000 new aeroplane engines, and an immense quantity of engine and aeroplane spares and hangars.

JAPANESE TROOPS IN SIBERIA IN REVOLT

Soviet Government Report Says Soldiers Turned Bolshevik.

London, March 15.—A revolt has broken out among several units of the Japanese troops in Siberia, according to a wireless dispatch sent out by the soviet government at Moscow. The soldiers ripped off their shoulder straps and substituted red straps, the dispatch says.

Growth of the revolutionary movement in Korea is also reported by the dispatch, which says that the Japanese authorities have made many arrests. At the same time, the same dispatch asserts, the Japanese government is taking special measures to fight the communist movement at home.

HEAVY DAMAGE FOLLOWS BREAK-UP IN THE EAST RIVER AT NEW GLASGOW

New Glasgow, N. S., March 15.—The ice in the East River broke yesterday and huge torrents of water swept down on New Glasgow. The ice tore two great gaps in the tram company's bridge, and cars cannot cross.

The schooner Bessie Willow, lying at a New Glasgow wharf, and two small schooners at Trenton were carried away and wrecked.

Traffic on the C. N. R. has been considerably interrupted by the storm which prevailed throughout Eastern Canada Friday and Saturday.

LOYAL TO NOSKE.

Berlin, March 15.—(By wireless to London).—It is reported here that the south German generals and the Saxon troops have given their adherence to Gustav Noske, the minister of defence in the Ebert Government.

CLOSE WATCH TO BE KEPT OVER EX-KAISER NOW

Wilhelm Is Well Posted on Events in Germany

DUTCH ARE ANXIOUS

Location of Exile's Residence Is Being Seriously Considered.

London, March 15.—The reactionary movement in Germany makes the kaiser question an acute one at Rotterdam, says the Times' correspondent in that city. It is learned from reliable sources, he adds, that the decision of the former emperor's future residence is being seriously considered. Meanwhile, extensive measures are being taken for any eventualities.

Evidently the former kaiser is being well posted on events; great activity prevails in the neighborhood and a constant stream of cars is going and coming.

IMPORTANT MEASURES WILL BE SUBMITTED IN ONT. LEGISLATURE

Property Qualifications Clause To Be Taken From the Election Act.

Toronto, March 15.—Several important measures of government legislation are expected to be brought down in the House this week. The debate on the speech from the throne will occupy the greater part of the week. Premier Drury will have the floor when the debate on the speech is resumed tomorrow, and a large number of members on both sides of the House have signified their desire to speak.

Major Tolmie of Windsor will be among the Opposition speakers, while Hon. W. H. Rollo and M. M. MacBride of South Brant are likely to present the views of the Labor group. Sergt.-Major MacNamara of Riverdale is also expected to share in the debate.

WILL ABOLISH CLAUSE.

Toronto, March 15—Abolition of property qualifications is virtually certain to be a provision of the election act to be introduced during the session. The act will also do away with the enumeration system in organized districts of the province, while retaining the plan for unorganized districts. The question of proportional representation, although one to which both the farmer and labor groups are committed by their platforms, is not likely to be raised by the government at this session.

DELAWARE CUT OFF FROM MAIL SERVICE SINCE FRIDAY LAST

Turbulent Thames On the Rampage Isolates Village —No Damage Done.

[Special To The Advertiser.]

Delaware, March 15.—The Thames River has been on the rampage here for several days and attained alarming proportions Saturday, when the water almost reached the same level it did two years ago when this district was flooded.

As it is, the flats are covered with water and there has been no mail delivered here since last Friday, the roads being completely submerged.

The water has been flowing ten feet over the banks, but is gradually subsiding.

There has been no serious damage done to property as a result of the flood.

RANEY AND CURRIE FOR COMMITTEE CHAIRMEN

Toronto, March 15.—Speculation as to the chairmanship of the various committees of the Legislature is growing at Queen's Park. It is practically assured that Hon. W. E. Raney will be chairman of the private bills committee, a post for which legal knowledge is essential. Indications point with equal certainty to J. W. Corry, Liberal member for Southeast Toronto, as chairman of the public accounts committee.

GERMAN COMMUNISTS AND IND. SOCIALISTS PROCLAIM SOVIET GOVT. FOLLOWING REVOLUTION

Failure of United States Senate to Ratify Peace Treaty Is Believed to Have Hastened Trouble, Declares ex-President Taft—Allied Statesmen Not Surprised at Reactionary Move.

Paris, March 15.—Independent Socialists and Communists met yesterday at Mannheim and decided to take advantage of the present situation in Germany and proclaim a Soviet government, according to advices from Basle, the news having reached that city by telephone.

SENATE ACTION HASTENED REVOLUTION.

Nashville, Tenn., March 15.—Belief that the revolution in Germany was hastened by the failure of the United States Senate to pass on the peace treaty was expressed here last night by former President William Howard Taft.

"The moderates under Ebert and Noske were Republicans at heart, who needed the moral support of this country, which should have been supplied by the passage of the treaty," he said.

EBERT SUMMONS ASSEMBLY.

Berlin, March 15.—(By Wireless to London).—The German National Assembly has been summoned by the Ebert Government to meet at Stuttgart tomorrow, Tuesday, March 16.

(Berlin advices Sunday night reported that the old German Government had established its seat at Stuttgart, the capital of Wurttemberg.)

EXPECTS A HOHENZOLLERN TO ASCEND THRONE OF PRUSSIA

London, March 15.—Indications of the trend of a large part of London's editorial opinion relative to the German revolution are given in headlines appearing over comment on the situation this morning. "Allies Fooled Again," "The Old Adam" and "As Was To Be Expected" appeared as captions in leading journals today.

"While our politicians have been filling us with hot air, the junkers have been biding their time," says the Daily Mail. "In dealing with Germans one must always calculate upon dead faith. They set up a 'dud' government to sign the treaty of peace, but when the time comes to carry out the capitulations they (the junkers), again take charge. Whatever their purpose is, our visionary statesmen are ignorant of its nature."

Commenting in a similar strain, the Morning Post recalls it has always contended the German revolution was a "sham."

"The French have understood the trick from the beginning," the newspaper declares, "but social democratic chaff completely deceived those two credulous 'birds,' President Wilson and Premier Lloyd George. That wary 'old bird,' Premier Clemenceau, was never deceived, but he was overruled. The weakness of the allied policy from the beginning has been that it was dictated by demagogues. The allies, under dictation by demagogues, built their peace foundation on the sand. They negotiated with a government which did not represent the real Germany."

One of the Hohenzollerns, in the opinion of this newspaper, will soon be placed upon the throne of Prussia.

The Telegraph remarks: "The situation means at best a disastrous delay in restoring stable conditions in Germany and getting the general economic life of Europe ito working order. At the worst, it means complete social chaos and a thorough finishing by the German officer class of the destruction already wrought by their spirit and policy. Watchfulness and preparation must be the attitude of the allies at present."

ALLIES STRENGTHEN FORCES IN OCCUPIED ZONES IN GERMANY

Paris, March 15.—The latest advices to the French foreign office from Berlin, it was said today, indicated that the revolution in Prussia had thus far been confined to the military and the pan-German party, and was without other political support. Leaders of the conservative parties and such industrial leaders as Dr. Walter Rathenau, president of the German General Electric Company, it was declared, had condemned the movement.

From all information thus far received, it was added, the impression in official circles was that the military party might hold possession of Berlin and other important centres, and prolong the state of uncertainty for some time, possibly a month or two, but that without the support of other political elements than the pan-German party the movement was doomed to failure.

French Strengthen Army.

France contemplates sending three more army corps to Wiesbaden, Neustadt and Bonn, thus doubling her forces along the Rhine, according to the Petit Parisien. Marshal Foch will call a meeting of the supreme war council as soon as he returns from Mayence, where he will confer today with Allied commanders. Reports reaching this city state that every step has been taken to maintain order in occupied districts of Germany, and that the Inter-Allied commission for the Rhenish province has received the German high commissioner after having conferred with Allied military leaders.

Information received here would seem to indicate the utmost calm is prevailing in Germany, although the severe censorship in Berlin may be responsible for a lack of detailed news from that city. Telegraphic communication with Berlin is interrupted, the last telegram from the French charge d'affaires there having been received at the foreign office in this city at 1 o'clock Saturday morning.

General Strike Decreed.

Advices from other sources, however, indicate the reactionary movement began on Saturday morning is confined and that mobs are busy looting stores in some quarters of the city. A general strike affecting transportation, electric power and the water supply of Berlin has been decreed, and railroad workers are said to have asked for Dr. Wolfgang Kapp, the new chancellor, to leave Berlin. A general strike affecting all public services has also been called at Kiel, Bremen, Hamburg and Regensburg, while public sentiment in favor of the Ebert Government is declared to be increasing in Cologne, Essen, Dusseldorf, Bochum, Duisburg, Spandau and Frankfort. In these cities a general strike is expected today.

Bread is said to be already scarce and expensive in Berlin, and there are fears the supply may fall completely.

Military forces at Leipzig appear to favor the new regime, while a contrary view of the situation is taken by the people generally, it is reported. At Munich the Bavarian Government has handed over control to a general who is in favor of the Ebert Government. The German National Assembly has been summoned to meet at Stuttgart on Tuesday.

ALLIES MUST EXERCISE GREATEST VIGILANCE OVER GERMAN FACTIONS.

London, March 15.—The London Times, editorially, discussing the German revolution, under the heading, "The Junker Revolution," characterized it as a struggle in its present phase between Prussia and the rest of Germany, and says that if the supreme council had taking warning when the reports were published of the strength of the German army in November last, "it would have been far better for Germany and for ourselves."

It is significant, adds the Times, that Noske declares the revolution to be a monarchist plot, and that "there should be so many excursions and alarms at Amerongen."

"Should Noske's charges turn out to be true," the Times continues, "Holland will owe it to the world to make amends for the abuse that has already been made of her asylum. But the complicity of the ex-kaiser is not the most serious aspect of the German revolution. There is an understanding between Spartacists and revolutionaries, and if that be so there may also be an understanding between German militarists and Russian Bolshevists.

"It may be a coincidence that Horthy has ordered an extensive mobilization in Hungary; the Government at Constantinople is in a defiant mood; Moslem unrest never was so widespread and dangerous."

The paper concludes with the assertion that the situation demands an extraordinary degree of vigilance on the part of the Allies.

REPORT OF PLANS FOR A NEW WAR STRONGLY DENIED.

Copenhagen, March 15.—The semi-official German Wolff Bureau here has issued a statement, evidently emanating from the new government, saying:

"There is no truth in the defamatory rumors circulated with regard to the reintroduction of compulsory military service and the existence of plans for a new war. The government desires peace externally and internally.

GERMANY'S FOREMOST MILITARY EXPERTS ARE BEHIND MOVE.

London, March 15.—Behind the movement to overthrow the Ebert Government of Germany and substitute a conservative ministry stand well-known military leaders, including Col. Bauer, who has the reputation of being the most clever staff officer in the German army, says a Berlin dispatch to the Daily Mail.

"These leaders," the dispatch continues, "have been working secretly for months in preparation for their coup. They realized that in his heart the German still thought of the kindly old days, gilded, as they now are in his recollections, by memories of peace and prosperity. They knew that on their side would be all former officers, government officials, and most of the disciplined among the middle classes, who have suffered worst from Germany's present penury."

KAPP'S COUP D'ETAT WAS EXPECTED BY ENTENTE OFFICIALS.

Paris, March 15.—The German coup d'etat is described by French writers

SAYS RUSSIANS HOPE ALLIES WILL SOON CEASE INTERFERING

Why the Bolsheviki Feel Resentment Toward British.

CONDITIONS IN RUSSIA

Journalist Outlines the Situation to Londoner Visiting in Europe.

One of the chief hardships imposed upon its people by the Soviet Government of Russia, according to Mr. B. Lastar of 300 Dundas street, who recently returned from studying social and political conditions in Central and Eastern Europe, is that of compulsory education, rigorously forced upon young and old. If a Russian citizen is unable to read and write, he must return to school, provided he is not over 50 years of age. Thousands of churches, it is true, have been closed so far as religious teaching is concerned, but they are not left unused; they have been turned into schools, where men and women 30 and 40 years of age attend classes in rudimentary school subjects that nobody in authority ever saw fit to encourage, much less force them to master, when they were boys and girls.

Bolshevik Attitude.

"Why do the Bolsheviki feel resentment toward the English? Have they reason to complain of the treatment they have received at the hands of the Allies, the English in particular?" asks Mr. Lastar. From a Russian journalist at present in Berlin, and occupying a responsible position, Mr. Lastar believes he received adequate answers to these questions.

"Russia came into the great war as an ally under the czar's government, and while they continued in the war the Russians did their full share and bore their share of casualties," points out Mr. Lastar. "Finally their losses became so great, they were so far overpowered, and internal conditions became such that they could not remain in the war any longer. They had lost the war, and the better thinking class of the people came to the conclusion that for the benefit of their country, and for the benefit of humanity at large, they ought to make peace and stop the human slaughter at any price.

The Revolution.

"So came the unexpected turnover in Russian politics, internally and externally. The revolution came, and the people thought that at last they were not only going to be free themselves, but they were going to make an end of the human butchery so far as the whole world was concerned.

"What bright hopes the people at the beginning of the new regime held for the re-establishment of their country! But their leaders thought they still could fool the general Russian public. That is where they made their mistake. When the general population of Russia saw how such political leaders as Lvow, Melucow and Kerensky promised at the beginning of the revolution that peace should come at any price, but still continued to follow the politics of the last regime, they rose up and placed the reins of government in the most able hands they could find—first of all, to make peace and stop further bloodshed.

Expected Assistance.

"Having been true to the Allies so far, and after sacrificing all that they had sacrificed for them, the Russians thought the Allies would assist them to re-establish themselves and not force them to continue the war any further. But, instead, the Allies turned upon them, and are still trying their utmost to subdue the Russians to the wishes of autocratic government, by maintaining a blockade. Unable to get food and necessities, the poor and suffering, the sick, women and children, old and young alike have perished.

"What is the reason for the Allies doing this?" asks Mr. Lastar. "Is it that the Russians have betrayed the Allies? No; the reason is this: that it is a war waged by capitalistic governments against an innocent population which did not want to assume the obligations of their former oppressors, like the czar and the whole clique who had negotiated loans for their own private purposes.

The Reason Why.

"To get this poor, suffering population to take over the obligation, to get this pound of flesh, is why the French Government, with the assistance of the other Allies, is waging the war against Russia. During the last two years various bands of marauders have been created with the money of the Allies to destroy the government of Russia, but they have not succeeded. The government is stronger than ever before, and the Allies have at last come to the conclusion that they cannot hold sympathy and friendship with this kind of politics. The Russians hope that in the near future the Allies will come to their senses and stop interfering in Russia's private affairs. The sooner the Allies do this the better for them and for the world at large.

"There is a proverb that you can fool all the people part of the time, some of the people all the time, but that you cannot fool all the people all the time. I repeat this because certain misstatements directed by certain governments against the soviet government as to the dangers ensuing to the world should the soviets succeed in their policies. Thirty years ago socialism was looked upon as just as dangerous as the soviets are declared to be today. However, socialism has come to be such a power that the whole world acknowledges and respects to a certain extent some of the socialistic ideas.

Will Be Respected.

"In coming generations the soviet government will be looked upon with more respect than is even accorded to socialism today. When the world knows what the soviet government really stands for, it will be realized that it is the only solution for the complicated problem between capital and labor today. No matter how much antagonism certain powers may create against the soviet government, in the end its policies will be accomplished, even if the Russians have to endure still further opposition and hardships.

"Despite all the unrest in their country and the struggling of one sect with another, the Russians under the soviet government have passed constructive legislation that would not have been possible under the old regime for hundreds of years to come," declared Mr. Lastar, pointing to educational progress as an example.

PETER McARTHUR FAVORS MEMORIAL HOSPITAL PLAN

Says Health Is More Important Even Than Education, and Children's Hospital Would Be Particularly Appropriate To Honor Men Who Gave Their Lives To Preserve Nation.

Discussing the plan to establish a children's hospital in London as a memorial to the soldiers who gave their lives in the great war, Peter McArthur stated to The Advertiser:

"I consider a hospital for sick children a very fitting memorial. The soldiers died so that the children might be free. We should see to it that the free children have health.

"When one knows men who are going through life handicapped by defects that might have been cured by proper treatment in childhood he needs no argument to convince him of the need of a children's hospital. The fact that there are children in London and in Western Ontario is a sufficient reason for establishing the hospital.

Health is Important.

"Health is even more important than an education. A bright child can pick up an education, but a sick child cannot pick up health.

"There is nothing which reduces a man or woman to such a state of helplessness as a sick child. The sufferer has "no language but a cry," and we cannot understand what to do. All a father or mother can do is to lavish affection, and that is not always a curative measure. This applies to doctors as well as laymen. We often hear people say: 'He is a splendid doctor, but he doesn't seem to do well with children.'

"All this indicates the need of doctors and nurses who specialize on the requirements of ailing children, and it is only by having a hospital such as the Daughters of the Empire of Western Ontario have in mind that the necessary skill and treatment can be secured.

"And it is well that this should be done in memory of our soldiers. They preserved for us a nation that is whole. For their sake let the children of the nation be made whole."

CHINAMEN FINED WHEN POLICE RAID GAMBLING HOUSE

Magistrate Says Many Complaints Have Been Made Regardng the Place.

Half of Chinatown's population—at least it appeared so—was in police court Monday as a result of a police raid on the gambling house of Wong Park, 341 Clarence street, on Sunday afternoon. All pleaded guilty to the charges preferred against them. The proprietor was fined $25 and costs and the sixteen players each were assessed $2 and costs.

"I have been getting a great many complaints about this place," said Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon to Park. "I hear that a great many Chinamen, who are not so well educated as you, go there and have all their money taken away from them.

Inspector Robert Birrell, Sergt. John Barnhill, P. C. Louis McGaughey and P. C. William Middaugh executed the round-up.

Albert M. Judd appeared on behalf of all the accused.

The participants in the game were: George Som, Lee Lee, Hing Yee, Wong Yong, Charlie Sung, Jim Wong, Charlie Chon, Sing Kee, Pont Gee, Peter Law, Lee Wing, Gar Chong, Hon Lee, Wong Moy, Peter Chue and Len Leon. Ten of them resided at the raided house, and three visitors from St. Thomas and Port Stanley.

COAL FERRY WILL RESUME TRIP TO PT. STANLEY SOON

New Slip Dock Completed and Service Will Be Resumed April 1.

The new slip dock at Port Stanley has been completed and the coal ferry from Conneaut, Ohio, will start running again about the 1st of April. The Theodore Roosevelt, which wintered at Port Stanley, is being overhauled and repainted, and will commence running to Cleveland early in May. There is some possibility of another passenger boat connecting with London and Port Stanley trains.

Last season the Detroit and Cleveland Navigation Company decided not to compete with the independent company running the Theodore Roosevelt, but development of the traffic showed that there would have been plenty of passengers for two boats. The Theodore Roosevelt frequently came over loaded to the extreme limit of the number of passengers allowed by the American Government inspectors, and for days in succession letters were received in London that no additional passengers could be carried back from Port Stanley.

May Widen Harbor.

Hope is still entertained that the Government will undertake the widening of the Port Stanley harbor this coming summer, which would permit through lake boats from Port Arthur to Port Colborne, making Port Stanley a port of call. The widening of the harbor would probably be followed by the erection of an elevator at Port Stanley and some of the grain which now congests the elevators at Port Colborne would be reshipped at Port Stanley. Millers in London and vicinity are anxiously hoping that harbor developments will warrant the Port Stanley railroad in erecting an elevator, as western grain could be received in London then at an appreciable saving per ton in freight rates.

Is Sent By Boat.

As an example of the difference in rail and water shipping rates, coal is sent by boat from Conneaut to Chicago and Duluth for about 30 cents per ton, while it costs $2 per ton to come from Buffalo to London by rail. Every ton of coal that crosses Lake Erie to London can be sold 50 cents per ton cheaper than all-rail shipped coal.

TAILORS SAY THAT PRICES OF CLOTHES ARE GOING HIGHER

Great Difficulty Is Being Experienced in Getting Supplies of Cloth.

Prices of clothes are due for another jump during the summer, according to local tailors this morning. The reason given is that the demand is so much greater than production.

Cloth, especially cloth of good quality, is very scarce all through the country according to the tailors. English cloth which is used almost exclusively by local tailors, is practically impossible to procure. The reason given for this shortage by British houses is that the labor situation over there since the war has cut the production of the mills greatly.

The tailors state that rather than use the cheaper American cloth they will put up their prices if cloth takes an upward trend. It is expected that this year's cotton crop will have an effect on prices, as that commodity is being used a great deal more than ever before on account of the scarcity of wool.

The tailors would not make a definite statement as to the prices expected this fall, saying they will have to wait and see what the situation is.

PAY FINE OF $200 FOR HAVING LIQUOR IN ROOM AT HOTEL

Stratford Men Figure in Unsavory Case in Police Court.

Clarke McRae was fined $200 for having liquor in a place other than a private dwelling; Joseph D. Sprout was dismissed on a similar charge, and an Indian girl was dismissed on a charge of being intoxicated, in police court Monday as a result of Police Constables Thomas Noonon and Thomas Papworth entering room 19 at the Brunswick Hotel at 1 o'clock on Sunday morning.

Both policemen swore that they were notified by telephone of a disturbance in this room. On their arrival they found the two men, whose homes are in Stratford, sober, but the girl helpless from the effects of liquor. The men were getting dressed, and it was necessary to dress the girl to bring her to the police station.

Everything in the room was disarranged, and as the police entered the door they were greeted by a strong odor of whiskey, which had been spilled on the bedclothes and on the floor. Under the pillows two bottles, each containing very little intoxicant, were discovered.

Sprout, the officers stated, told them that both he and his friend had brought a bottle to the hotel.

In the witnessbox, Sprout denied this last allegation. He claimed that he was ignorant of his friend's possession of the bottles until after they reached the room. His friend had purchased it from a man on the train while they were en route from Stratford, but had not told him at the time, he explained. McRae corroborated this statement.

LONDON BILL MAY START FIREWORKS AT COUNCIL TONIGHT

Debate To Take Place Over Street Railway Fare Clause.

Discussion of the London bill will furnish most of the business for the city council tonight. A debate on the clause asking the Legislature to permit another vote on street railway fares will likely take place. The clause suggested at the last council meeting was to permit the purchase of the road or its operation on a cost basis. Why this was changed to a request for a vote on fares will likely be one of the questions asked.

Approval of estimates from the utilities commission and the board of education will be another item of business. The board of education is expected to approve its estimates at a special meeting this afternoon, and these will reach the council tonight.

A number of local improvements will be considered. The appointment of an assistant city engineer will be discussed.

ACCUSED OF EATING TOO MUCH OATMEAL

Amusing Scenes At Mock Trial At McClary Picnic.

The McClary picnic, held at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday night, was a success from every standpoint.

The mock trial was the best of the year. A large number of the cases on trial were very complicated, and convictions were not numerous. Crown Attorney Westbury failed to get more than an even break in dismissals and convictions.

The charges were of all kinds, ranging from drunk to eating government oats. The oatmeal charge was brought against James Lindsay. He was accused of eating so much oatmeal for breakfast that the government had to raise the price of oats, and put a ban on Scotchmen entering Canada. For this offence he was sentenced to whistle the opening bars of Bonnie Dundee before the audience.

The most complicated case on trial was that of R. Somers. He was charged with reckless driving. The evidence was very conflicting all through in this case. The plaintiff refused to give evidence until brought into court with handcuffs on.

It was stated that Mr. Somers had been driving 70 miles per hour in a Ford car. This was proved wrong by defendant's counsel, as the car was ten years old when bought by Mr. Somers, and it could not do more than 10 miles per hour at the time of purchase. The prisoner was allowed out on suspended sentence.

A very enthusiastic sing-song, led by L. M. Houlding, boys' secretary, was held in the upper gymnasium. The company band supplied a highly appreciated musical program throughout the evening.

Refreshments were served from 9 to 11 o'clock. This scheme was devised after the picnic of a week ago to relieve the rush on the dining-room when there were more than a thousand present.

GREAT WRITER STOLE G. T. R.'S PORK PIES

Samuel Blythe Once Raided Local Lunch Counter.

REMEMBERS OLD DEPOT

Library Books Tell Interesting Facts About City of London.

Whatever solution may eventually be found for London's level crossing problem and union depot perplexities, there is a growing feeling that the old Grand Trunk station should not be dismantled or torn down. Lovers of historical interest, devotees who cling to the shrine of the past and the romantic glamor of age and tradition, students of archaeology in all its phases, believe that London's best known landmark of early civic history should be preserved inviolate and suggest that it should be secured as a home for the long proposed public museum. Kings and presidents of one kind and another have nervously fidgeted and fumbled innumerable watches and watch chains, as they paced the ancient, weather-beaten boardwalk waiting for their trains. Princes and great men have been welcomed, photographed and interviewed there. Many Londoners treasure stories that their grandparents now departed to sainted memory used to tell of the confetti showers they endured in the old waiting-room upon leaving for a honeymoon trip to Goderich or Hamilton.

Fail To Appreciate.

There is much ground for the contention often advanced that Londoners fail utterly to appreciate the points of interest in their own city that are best known to people afar off. For instance, look in any of the big encyclopaedias in the public library that were published a long time ago, and you will find London credited with two important advantages. It is situated on the Great Western Railway and is noted for its mineral springs.

Among the books in the public library, where one may read entertainingly about London is an autobiographical book by Samuel R. Blythe, the famous American writer whose name is liable to appear any week on the front cover of the Saturday Evening Post. Many, many years ago in his early newspaper career, the paper on which Blythe worked out in Iowa suspended publication, and, with very little money, he started to beat it back to New York.

Scalper's Ticket.

In Chicago he was fortunate in getting a scalper's ticket to London, and arrived here penniless and very hungry.

He warmed his cold fingers at the big cylindrical stove in the old Grand Trunk waiting-room, and paced the boardwalk to espy happily the tempting array of real food on the lunch-counter, the same old lunch-counter that is there today. Frankly and fully he confesses to asking for some mythical information to get a stand-in at the lunch-counter long enough to shove five pork pies into his pocket when the counterman was looking away. Then as he plodded his weary way over the ties to Woodstock, he ate the pies, the best pork pies he ever found anywhere in the United States or Canada, he says. A kind-hearted farmer in Oxford County sheltered him overnight and in due time he reached the New York frontier and worked his way further east. And grateful for the pork pies, Blythe has immortalized the old Grand Trunk lunch counter in his book.

FINED $2 FOR DRIVING OVER LINE OF FIRE HOSE

Thomas Edwards, who was given a week by Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon, to bring to police court a fireman whom he said had told him to drive over a fire hose during the Grand Trunk freight sheds fire, appeared Monday, but not with the fireman. However, he had another witness in the person of Albert Brock, who claimed that he also had been told to drive across the hose, but who could not identify the firefighter.

Fire Chief John Aitken said that he did not think that any fireman would give anyone such instructions. Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon agreed with him and fined Edwards $2. An information then was laid against Brock, because of his admission. He settled forthwith, paying the same fine as the friend who had brought him to court.

WILL RUSH WORK ON NEW FREIGHT SHEDS

Work on the new Grand Trunk freight sheds commenced this morning in earnest and as fast as the debris could be cleared and loaded from the ruins by one gang of workers, foundations and sills were laid by the builders and a framework hurried into place. Flooring and framework had been completed by noon for a hundred feet or more of the new sheds, which will be later covered with iron, the total cost of construction under the building permit taken out being $26,000. The work will be completed within two or three weeks.

BITRO-PHOSPHATE IS GOOD FOR THIN, NERVOUS PEOPLE

A PHYSICIAN'S ADVICE.

Frederick S. Kolle, M.D., Editor of New York Physicians' "Who's Who," says that weak, nervous people who want increased weight, strength and nerve-force, should take a 3-grain tablet of Bitro-Phosphate just before or during each meal.

This particular phosphate is the discovery of a famous French scientist, and reports of remarkable results from its use have recently appeared in many medical journals.

If you do not feel well; if you tire easily; do not sleep well, or are too thin; go to any good druggist and get enough Bitro-Phosphate for a two weeks' supply—it costs only fifty cents a week.

Eat less; chew your food thoroughly and if at the end of a few weeks you do not feel stronger and better than you have for months; if your nerves are not steadier; if you do not sleep better and have more vim, endurance and vitality, your money will be returned, and the Bitro-Phosphate will cost you nothing.

Many people, realizing the really serious future in cottons, have taken advantage of our careful preparation for this situation and stocked up at least for the immediate future. You cannot do better than think this situation over. DR. G. C. CREELMAN OF O. A. C. DENIES RUMOR OF HIS RESIGNATION

Guelph Housing Commission To Ask Government For $500,000.

GUELPH, March 14.— There have been persistent rumors for some time past that important changes were soon to be made in the personnel of the staff of the O. A. C., but nothing outside of the resignation of Professor Wade Toole has been made public. Dr. G. C. Creelman, when asked Saturday regarding the report that he was going overseas as Dominion director of immigration, denied most emphatically that there was any truth in the story so far as he was personally concerned. He stated positively that he was not resigning, and that as far as he knew he was not going to England.

TO ASK MORE MONEY.

The Guelph housing commission has decided to ask the city council to make application to the Ontario Housing Committee for an additional $500,000 with which to erect houses in Guelph this year. This was the most important business to come before the regular meeting of the housing commission yesterday. The request of the commission will come before the city council on Monday evening.

Last year the local housing commission applied for, and received $250,000 from the Ontario Government and of this amount $66,000 was expended. The balance of $184,000 is not considered enough to erect the number of houses needed this year, and it is because of this fact that an additional $500,000 is being asked for. It is also the intention of the commission to advise local manufacturers to form individual housing companies, as it is believed that this year will be the last in which the government will grant assistance in a housing scheme.

TORRENTIAL RAINS, WITH GALE, CAUSES LOSS IN MARITIMES

Heavy Damage Reported At St. John, N.B.

ST. JOHN, N. B., March 14.—Torrential rains, which began at noon Friday and ended early this morning, flooded various parts of the city and outlying districts, resulting in heavy damage, and during and after the try and added thousands of dollars loss gale swept over this part of the country and added housands of dollars loss to the previous damage. Wires were pulled down, half a dozen street cars were derailed, basements and cellars were flooded and buildings were damaged by the wind.

Heavy damage was also done in other parts of the province by both gales and rains. The floods were worst in the low-lying sections of West St. John and towards East St. John. The water was so high yesterday on both the old Westmoreland and Marsh roads that operation of the suburban street cars was impossible.

The Imperial Theatre, the largest in the city, was badly damaged during the storm. A large ventilator weighing half a ton was lifted bodily from the roof, carrying with it a large portion of the surrounding roofing, and hurled into the street.

NAVAL POLICY TO BE DISCUSSED AT CAUCUS OF GOVT. SUPPORTERS

Ottawa, March 15.—By Canadian Press.—Canada's naval policy is to be discussed, it is understood, at a caucus of the goevrnment supporters, which has been called for tomorrow morning. It is expected that there will be a full discussion of the full report on naval defences by Admiral Jellicoe, and that this discussion will have much to do with the drawing up of a naval bill by the government. Just when that bill will be brought before the House is problematical at the present time.

The Liberal members of the House will also meet in caucus tomorrow morning, when it is expected their discussions will be along somewhat similar lines. The franchise bill, brought down last week by Hon. Hugh Guthrie, will also probably come in for some discussion, and it is expected that the attitude of the Liberals in opposition to he Governmen will then become crystallized.

QUEBEC WILL PUT UP OPPOSITION TO NEW NAVAL BILL

[Canadian Press.]

Ottawa, March 15.—The forthcoming naval bill and the attitude of the members from various sections of the country towards it is causing considerable discussion in and about the parliament buildings at the present time. The chief opposition, it is expected, will come from Quebec.

There is little doubt as to the attitude to be taken by members from the Maritime Provinces or from British Columbia. They are said to be strongly in favor of naval protection and some take the view that it is humiliating, particularly in view of Canada's recently acquired national status, to have to depend on Great Britain for the protection of our merchant marine.

The attitude of the United States in standing out of the league of nations, it is said, will also have a bearing on the debate, as many of the members will claim that any decision should be delayed until it is known what our neighbor to the south proposes to do, before any outlay for ships is planned.

RUSH OF FREIGHT FROM WAREHOUSES

Dozens of large warehouses in the city began discharging their stores today with the return of the teamsters to work, following the settlement of their strike.

Outward freight was very heavy over both Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific lines today, but owing to the embargo on shipping not being cancelled until this morning it will be a day or two before inward shipping returns to its normal proportion.

URGING GOVERNMENT TO MAKE PROHIBITION MEASURE EFFECTIVE

Ministerial Alliance Is Sending Strong Resolution To Premier Drury.

At a meeting of the Ministerial Alliance today the following resolution was passed, and will be sent to Hon. E. C. Drury, premier of Ontario:

"That, whereas, the will of the people of the province of Ontario was clearly expressed regarding the liquor traffic at the recent referendum on October 21, 1919, and, whereas, under the conditions existing today and owing to the inadequate restrictions upon such traffic, the will of the people of this province is being thwarted daily, be it resolved by this London Ministerial Alliance that the government of this province be urged to regard the vote of the people, and that prohibition be effective in this province to the highest degree."

Church Federation.

A heated discussion took place over the subject of the forming a federation of churches. A committee had been appointed to look into the matter of getting into touch with persons who were not members of any church. This committee presented the idea of a federation of churches. Many of the members of the alliance disagreed. Some disagreed to the title as representing something other than what the organization was planned to be. Some put forth the suggestion of calling it an interchurch council or the council of churches. After much discussion the matter of forming this organization was referred back to the committee.

One minister who had an active part in drawing up the model constitution, and whose name was used in a local paper regarding the same, said that his name had been used without his permission, and that he had given no publicity to the intended organization whatever. It was the general opinion of the attending clerics that until some decision is made that the matter should not become public.

The Resurrection.

Dr. G. B. Sage gave an interesting paper on "What We Mean by the Resurrection." Ministers of all denominations being present, this brought forth lively discussion, as many were of different opinions regarding the resurrection of the body.

It was decided by the alliance to appoint Nathaniel Mills as treasurer for the Armenian relief fund for another month as further contributions yet to be received from various Sunday schools in the city. The Ministerial Alliance opened this fund for the Armenians about two months ago. No canvass was made, but the sum of about $1,700 has already been received, and this hoped to be substantially increased before the treasury is closed.

Campaign In June.

The Jewish relief committee which asked support from the Ministerial Alliance will hold their campaign in June, probably the first week. The alliance promised support.

Rev. T. S. Roy, Rev. J. A. Agnew and Rev. B. H. Robinson were appointed new members on the Social Service Council of London.

Rev. D. C. MacGregor presided.

YOUTH HAD BOTTLE; POLICE INVESTIGATING

Harry Smith, aged 17, was found by P. C. William Middaugh, sleeping in the Grand Trunk station at 4 o'clock on Sunday morning with a bottle of whiskey in his pocket. In police court Monday he was remanded for a week, during which time the authorities will communicate with his father.

Claiming ignorance of the fact that persons carrying liquor which had not been acquired at a legal place, were liable to a heavy fine, the boy declared that he was on his way to Northeren Ontario to see his father. It was for his parent that he had purchased the bottle for $6 from a man who is now in jail at St. Thomas for breaking into a case of whiskey in an express office, he claimed.

SAYS CHURCH TODAY IS FACING GREATEST CRISIS IN HISTORY

Tendency Is To Live in Past, Arthur Beal Tells the Brotherhood.

"Today the church faces the greatest crisis in its history, that is, to gain a commanding influence over the life of today. There is a tendency to live in the past. The church of today calls for consecreated effort." The foregoing opened a very interesting paper by Mr. Arthur Beal at the meeting of the Men's Brotherhood of the Askin Street Methodist Church Sunday morning.

"We cannot relieve ourselves of this responsibility," he said. "We have before us a state of affairs from which there is no escape. The church has never before been so freely and widely criticized as during the present generation, and it seems a somewhat significant though true fact that the greatest amount and the most severe criticism has come from within the church, not from without.

Consider It Divine.

"No doubt we all consider the church a divine institution; we all believe in its Divine Founder, and in the sure fulfillment of the promise. We do not wonder, then, that the church has outlived armies, tribunals and torture, and that it has grown pure and powerful under persecution. We have every reason to be proud of the achievement our church has made.

"The church has admitted to its membership a great multitude of men and women who have no conception of the Christianity of Christ, and no experience of its generating powers," said Mr. Beal. "They daily and hourly testify that it is not necessary to forsake all one hath in order to become a follower. Is it strange, then, that Christianity should be misunderstood when it is misrepresented by its professed followers. The church, too, must readjust itself and get into the social service line, the object which God set before the whole world.

"Until every one member of the church devotes his or her life to the service of the Maker we shall never get the kingdom of God nearer to us on this earth."

A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Beal for his splendid paper, of which the above is only a part, space not permitting the publishing of the lengthy paper.

NOT LOOKING FOR ANY EXCHANGE ON RAILWAY TICKETS

Local Passenger Agents Still Selling to American Points At Same Prices.

Local passenger agents have so far heard nothing regarding the rumor carried in press dispatches that exchange rates are likely to be added to the price of tickets sold in Canada to American points. At present the same amount as formerly of Canadian money will purrchase a ticket to New York or other points in the United States, and with the Canadian dollar now slowly rising in international value, the addition of the exchange will probably not be added at this late date.

For a long time, passenger traffic business at Windsor and Sarnia points has been heightened noticeably by the practice of Americans crossing the river to purchase in Canada tickets to Chicago, New York or other points. The practice came in vogue originally because the Canadian war tax is only one per cent and the American tax is eight per cent. Since the value of Canadian money declined, not a few Americans have changed their money into Canadian currency and made an additional saving by buying railway tickets on this side of the line.

U. S. TROOPS REACHED FRANCE DUE TO GOOD LUCK, STATES SIMS

American Naval Blunders Are Pointed Out by Rear Admiral.

Washington, D. C., March 15.—Only a measure of "good luck" brought the first convoy of American troops safely to France, Rear Admiral Sims today told the Sims' investigating committee.

The admiral recounted a series of blunders made by the navy department in connection with the convoy of troops. The policy of the United States Government in this connection, Admiral Sims declared, to have been "insistence upon making decisions based upon complete misinformation."

German submarines were enabled to attack the first American convoy, the admiral stated, because the department insisted upon using an unsafe code which was easily intercepted and deciphered by the enemy.

This despite his warning and the fact that all the other allies were using new wartime codes. The United States code had been in use for many years, but the Washington officials refused to change it.

"The announcement of the sailing of the first American destroyers was printed in Berlin four days before they arrived at Queenstown," declared the officer.

ROADS IMPASSABLE OUT IN THE TOWNSHIPS

Road conditions in the townships north of the city have been impassable for a week or more past. Mail carriers on many of the rural routes have been able to make only one or two deliveries a week instead of daily.

To the stations along the London, Huron and Bruce, milk has been carried in cans swung from old-fashioned shoulder-yokes or drawn on hand-sleighs over the thin crusts of snow where the weight of horses would have broken through into many feet of slush and water underneath. Old residents of the townships declare that never in their memory has there been a winter in which so much snow and ice accumulated on both the main and concession roads. In many places, it was reported Saturday, that hard ridges of ice and snow five and six feet deep covered the beaten track, while torrents of water overflowed the ditches and covered the ground on the sides of the road to a great depth.

POLICE DEPARTMENT WILL NEED $102,968

London's police department will require $102,968 for its upkeep during this year, according to estimates completed today. They will come before the city council tonight. Salaries compose $77,461 of this. These will be discussed at a special meeting along with salaries for other city departments. An addition of 6 per cent has to be made this year for the benefit fund, or $4,647. An increase in salaries of 20 per cent from April 1 would add about $12,000 if granted. Clothing will cost $6,277, while heating, lighting and sundries are estimated at $2,265.

STILL HOPEFUL OF AN INCREASED BONUS FOR CIVIL SERVICE

London Delegates to the Convention At Ottawa Home Again.

London delegates to the convention in Ottawa of the Civil Service Federation of Canada have returned home still hopeful that an increased bonus to counter the ever-climbing cost of living will be granted them. Finlay Marshall represented the local department of weights and measurer; B. C. McCann, the customs department; Frank Farnsworth the inland revenue department, and G. A. MacDonald, the employees of the postal branch.

Mr. McCann was appointed by the federation in convention to represent the customs branch on a deputation which waited on Sir George Foster and Hon. N. W. Rowell, to ask that an increased bonus to cover the increases in cost of living be granted until the salaries are adjusted or the cost of living returns to normal conditions.

Are Non-Committal.

The deputation was assisted in every way possible by Mr. S. F. Glass, M.P., and Major Hume Cronyn, M. P., and after hearing one of Sir George's usual polite and encouraging, but strictly non-committal, addresses, was referred to Hon. Mr. Rowell, who assured them that the present bonus would be continued, but was unable to say to what extent it would be increased.

The federation had asked for a superannuation bill to provide for those in the service since the Laurier administration, when a change in the superannuation methods came into vogue. The deputation was told that the department hoped to bring down a superannuation bill towards the close of the session

Has Been Authorized.

Since the federation asked that the temporary board of appeals to consider appeals against the decision of the civil service commission be made a permanent board, an order-in-council has already authorized this, and the deputation was promised that the necessary ratification by Parliament would be forthcoming in a few days.

The federation convention was attended by representatives of civil service associations from all parts of Canada.

CONTINUOUS SESSIONS AT THE CITY HALL

City solons will stage a continuous performance at the city hall this week. There will be a meeting of some body every night. The board of education will hold a special session this afternoon to pass estimates. The city council will hold its regular meeting tonight. Unless the tax rate is struck, it will likely hold another meeting Tuesday night, and still another one Wednesday.

The housing commission has called a meeting for Tuesday night. The utilities commission will make use of Thursday afternoon. Friday night is still clear, but there are good prospects of at least one meeting on this day.

WIFE IS DEAD AND HUSBAND SERIOUSLY ILL

Following an illness of only a few days with influenza, which developed into pneumonia, the death occurred at Acme, Alberta, of Mrs. Gordon Parsons, formerly of Littlewood, Ont. The remains are being brought home for burial. Her husband is so seriously ill that he is unable to accompany them. Three small children survive. Prior to her marriage Mrs. Parsons was Miss Gladys Malcolm of Littlewood.

THOUGHT THIEVES WERE IN HIS CHICKEN COOP

Charles Clinton, a north end resident, became possessed of the idea that someone was breaking into his father's chicken coop on Saturday night and called the police station. When the police arrived no chicken thieves were in sight, but Clinton was in his bare feet, leaping about the yard, a la Ruth St. Dennis, and other nature dancers. He was taken into custody and held until his father came to court today.

Magistrate Graydon was of the opinion that the man was acting in a manner unbecoming a person in his right senses. When he was taken to the station cells his cries were heard in the court above. His noise was the result of a belief that several men were trying to kill him.

HOSPITAL UPKEEP WILL COST $262,745

Upkeep of Victoria Hospital this year will cost $262,745 apart from $11,270, which will be required to furnish and repair the isolation building, according to estimates which will come before the city council tonight. This is an increase of $31,000 over last year, when the total amount expended was $231,586.

Of this amount, the city is expected to furnish $118,145 for general upkeep and $11,270 for the isolation hospital. The Government grant will total $8,500, interest on debentures $350, and bank interest $250. The county of Middlesex will be asked to pay $5,500, while $129,000 is expected from paying patients and students.

TIME IS EXTENDED FOR SERVICE MEN TO FINISH COURSES

Also For Those Wanting To Apply For Loans To Buy Tools.

The time for disabled ex-service men to apply for loans to buy tools or to furnish an interrupted educational course, has been extended to April 30. In the case of men who are on the strength of the D. S. C. R. for either treatment or a course, two months after their discharge from hospital or completion of their course, will be allowed in which to apply.

Loans of $500 will be given, free of interest, to any man who has satisfactorily completed a course with the D. S. C. R. and who needs assistance to start in business in the line for which he has been trained. This loan will also be granted to men who have not taken a course with the D. S. C. R. or are not eligible for a course, if their army services have interrupted their work to a substantial degree.

The orthopaedic departments throughout Canada have organized classes for teaching the men with amputated arms or legs, the working of the artificial limbs. The men, who were at one time rather indisposed, as far as trying the limbs for working in, have started to take a great interest in the work which they can do with them.

The Government factory is now being kept busy by the men who wish to secure the working limbs. The latest statistics show that 3,101 artificial legs, 1,171 arms and 4,446 pairs of orthopaelic boots have been supplied. Besides the above-mentioned articles, a large number of appliances and repairs have been completed.

INDOOR BASEBALL BENEFIT FOR BAPTISTS' FUND TONIGHT

Collection To Be Taken to Aid Egerton Street Congregation Building Fund.

Public Utilities meet Dowlers and the Princess Pats team, the Baptists, in the regular games of the Indoor Baseball League at the Armories tonight, at which a silver collection will be taken for the building fund of the Egerton Street Baptist congregation.

The bill provides the assurance of good pastiming, and the worthy object of the collection should insure a full gallery.

BUILDING PERMITS MAY SHOW INCREASE

Building figures for March show every indication of equalling previous months of the year. If they do they will place 1920 figures ahead of those of 1919, which was a record year. Today, the 15th of the month, the total for March had reached $25,990, making the total for the year $99,200.

The total for March, 1919, was $58,520, while the total since the beginning of the year was $117,845.

A. Evans today took out a permit to build a one and a half story brick dwelling on Erie avenue at an estimated cost of $6,000. James Baich took out a permit to build a one and a half story brick veneer dwelling on Linwood avenue at a cost of $3,000.

TAX RATE LIKELY TO BE THIRTY-NINE MILLS

Decision May Be Made by the Council At Tonight's Meeting.

London's tax rate for 1920 may be struck at the city council meeting tonight. It is more probable, however, that it will be struck at a special meeting Wednesday. Salaries, with the exception of public utilities employees and school teachers, have not been considered yet, and it is not likely that they could be given sufficient examination tonight.

Until the amount required for salaries is known as well as a few other details of the estimates, it is impossible to forecast exactly what the rate will be. It is generally conceded that it will be somewhere in the neighborhood of 39 mills. This would be an increase of six and a half mills on the 1919 rate, which was 32.50 mills.

EASY DIVORCES TO MOVIE STARS HAVE DISASTROUS EFFECT

Rev. D. C. MacGregor Claims They Cheapen Marriage Vow.

The large number of divorces granted to motion picture actresses recently was severely condemned by Rev. D. C. MacGregor, speaking to the St. Andrew's Men's Club Sunday afternoon. "There are tremendous educational possibilities in the motion picture industry," said Mr MacGregor. "We insist upon a high standard of morals for our public school or university teachers, and if a minister of the gospel develops a questionable character he is dismissed or receives no further calls by congregations."

"A similar standard should prevail for the motion picture artists, as they in their film presentation are really teachers. Mary Pickford, I understand, appears only in the cleanest and most uplifting grade of films, yet what a distorted view of the marriage vow will be given our young girls because of her recent divorce? She admits that her former husband is a very congenial young man, too."

"I am compelled to say these things because of a conversation between young girls which was recently overheard by a member of my congregation. It has been suggested that Miss Pickford is seen by the public only in the role portrayed by her on the screen, but the conversation mentioned, and comment on her recent divorce has led me to believe that this not so, and that the private life of these entertainers is filled with interest to their following, particularly young people. Divorce in this free manner cheapens the state of matrimony, concluded Mr. MacGregor, and, in my opinion, will have a disastrous effect upon our young folks who frequent motion picture theatres."

REVOLT TIDINGS CAUSE STIR IN WILHELM'S CAGE

Hohenzollern Paces Up and Down Garden, Breaks Sawing Record.

GUARD STRENGTHENED

More Military Police Added To Patrol Along Castle Moats.

AMERONGEN, Holland, March 14.—(By the Associated Press).—The tidings of the German counter-revolution caused a great stir and much tension in Bentinck Castle, where Former Emperor William resides, and the people in the castle stayed up until a very late hour Saturday night awaiting further news.

William Hohenzollern spent part of the day in the garden, where he paced up and down, seemingly absorbed in deep thought. His excitement found utterance in the energy with which he sawed wood. The correspondent learns that yesterday he beat his own record in the number of logs cut in twain.

The news of the counter-revolution, which did not reach the people of Amerongen until Saturday evening, did not serve to rouse the peaceful village from its usual state of Sunday rest.

Except for the fact that three or four military police from the neighboring village of Veenedaal were added to the ordinary guard, consisting of 20 constables, no special measures have been taken here. Military police are patrolling along the moats of the castle. As far as the correspondent has been able to learn, the former emperor is free to pursue his usual routine.

M'COIG WILL ASK UNION GOVERNMENT ABOUT WHEAT BOARD

West Kent Member Wants Information.

OTTAWA, March 13.—(By the Canadian Press.)—Canada's wheat board, which has been under fire at recent farmers' conventions throughout the west, and which was strongly defended by H. W. Wood, president of the United Farmers of Alberta, in Calgary last January, is to be the subject of a question in the Commons Monday.

A. B. McCoig, member for Kent West, asks the number of members on the board, the number of employees, the monthly expenditure of the board, including salaries and operating expenses; if the said expenses are paid by the Government out of general revenues or deducted from the price obtained by the board for the wheat before it is divided among the farmers and whether it is the intention of the Government to continue the services of the board to handle the 1920 crop.

Farmer members of the House declare that they are well satisfied with the operations of the board and accept the statement of Mr. Wood that the Canadian farmer would get a better average price for his wheat than the farmer of the United States. They also take the ground that the board should be continued so long as other countries, particularly Great Britain, continue the policy of national marketing of wheat.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Dear Sir,—Regarding the rural mail service, please allow me to make a few remarks for the enlightenment of the readers of your valuable paper.

If the treatment given the rural mail carriers by the government were given by any employer to his employees the whole country would be up in arms, and the government would be called on to remedy such a state of affairs. That the government would do so is evidenced by the legislation enacted in recent years regulating such matters. For instance, the government pays its rural mail carriers once in three months with the stipulation in the contract that it may withhold payment 30 days longer if it sees fit to do so. Compare this with the law, which compels employers to pay employees at least every two weeks. What a commentary on a government supposed to govern in the interest of the people. We are told we offered to do this work for a stated sum, and, therefore, we are not entitled to any increase of pay. What is the difference in our doing so, and the fact that those called civil servants accepted their positions at the stated salaries affixed to each and every office or position? We are compelled to give bonds for the due fulfillment of our contracts, $400 ourselves and the same by two good and responsible parties. Having done this, we are bond slaves of the government, and as such have no rights, nor do we deserve any consideration at their hands, for who ever heard of a slave having any rights? But many men in years past, after giving bonds for many thousands for the due performance of certain contracts, have come knocking at the door of parliament for supplementary grants of large sums, and were any ever turned away empty? Then why are we singled out for such usage, except because we have neither wealth nor influence, nor friends at court?

In 1915 the government set aside $13,000,000 as a bonus for its employees, owing to the high cost of living, and again we were singled out as unworthy of relief, although all other government employees, even to the hodcarriers of public buildings were given a share in the government's generosity. And more than that, they went into the open market and bought all the hay and oats in sight to send overseas, a very laudable and proper thing to do under the circumstances, though at the same time making it almost impossible for us to get those things, vitally necessary for men under contract to perform certain work with horse-drawn vehicles. Why did they not share with us some of those millions, that we, too, might be able to surmount the ever increasing cost of providing for man and beast?

Let me make a comparison. In this town were two men, employees of the government, in an office kept warm in winter, cool in summer, and always clean and sanitary, with no expense to them, the two doing what one could do easily, getting good salaries, with short hours, and a month's holidays and all statutory holidays, and on reaching a certain age both could look forward to retiring on half their regular salary without being asked to even pretend to earn it, and yet these men serving the government under ideal conditions shared in the bonus, for one in answer to a question, told me so. Did we get any bonus Do we put in short hours in comfortable offices? Will we get any retiring allowance? Well, not if the government knows it. Is our work done under ideal conditions? Ask the farmers who see us plodding through snow or mud, through summer's heat and winter's cold, buffeted by every storm that sweeps the countryside, for these things are no respectors of persons.

Every ten years at least our horses, buggies, cutters, harness, robes and blanekts must all be renewed, and where is the money coming from, when we can barely exist on the pittance they are willing to give? I know whereof I speak. One refused to renew his contract at former figures. It was put up to tender. Another got it. He was later asked to tender for another route. He did so, and was told he must be very near heaven, he was so high. I sincerely hope when our federal government goes to the country the farmers will give them the scare of their lives.

We are supposed to be living in the freest democracy under the sun. A democracy presupposes that men shall be treated with justice, fairness and due consideration. Have any of these come our way? Have we had either justice, fairness or consideration Well, not that we know of. JAS. H. DEAN.

It is so pleasant to the taste the youngsters take it without any fuss, and at the same time its promptness and effectiveness in loosening the phlegm, and healing the lungs and bronchial tubes and such that the cough is checked before any serious trouble can possibly develop.

Mrs. Harold Acker, Lake Pleasant, N.S., writes "I have three children, the eldest eight years and the baby ten months old. They all had a bad cough. I knew of quite a few persons who had used Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup with good results so I got three bottles. I am glad I did so as it is a sure cure for coughs and colds. A home where there are children should never be without it. I highly recommend it to those who need a quick cure."

KAPP DENIES REACTIONARY MOVE; CLAIMS REVOLUTION IN GERMANY FOR DEMOCRACY

New Chancellor of Pan-German Group Willing To Fulfill Peace Treaty As Far As German "Honor" Will Allow —East Prussian Governors Lend Support — Saxon Government Denounces Insurgents, Fears Military Dictatorship and Civil War—Berlin Helplessly Quiet.

BERLIN, March 14.—(By the Associated Press.)—The two governments of Germany are now matching wits and forces to gain control of the republic. Dr. Wolfang Kapp, who proclaimed the new order at Berlin, and himself chancellor, is employing all his efforts to assure the German people that government under him and those he selected to administer affairs will mean true democracy, increased productiveness and conservation of the rights of the working people.

Friederich Ebert, president of the old government, who with most of his ministers hastily withdrew from Berlin when the revolting troops marched in and Kapp and von Luettwitz took control, was variously reported to be at Dresden and Stuttgart, and from his point of security is calling upon the socialists and working classes generally to stand by the old government and to use the strike weapon, so that the counter-revolution may be promptly arrested.

Many Strikes Called.

In response to his call, many strikes have already been called, but in other parts of the country the idea of a strike has not been received with favor. In Berlin the people are viewing events with that serenity to which they have become accustomed by the events of recent years. There is, however, an undercurrent of anxiety, because barbed-wire entanglements have been thrown up in front of the great public buildings near Unter Den Linden and Wilhelmstrasse, and cannon and machine guns are posted at the cross streets and other points of vantage, and guards heavily armed are stationed throughout the city. There is an ominous sign of possible clashes when those opposed to the counter-revolution marshal their forces for future action.

There has been constant official reiteration of the statement that the new government is not reactionary; that it does not desire the restoration of the monarchy, but that it has come into office so that Germany may be rehabilitated. Chancellor Kapp, in a statement to the foreign correspondents, said that the conditions of the peace treaty would be fulfilled so far as they could be reconciled with German honor and Germany's economic condition.

Kapp Issues Statement.

Chancellor Kapp and Major-General von Luettwitz have issued the following proclamation:

"The overthrow of the government must not be taken as reactionary. On the contrary it is a progressive measure of patriotic Germans of all parties with a view to re-establish law, order, discipline and honest government in Germany. It is an overdue attempt to lay the foundations for the economic resuscitation of Germany, enabling her to fulfill those conditions of the peace treaty which are reasonable and not self-destructive.

"Inspired by zeal and a desire for the benefit of all the German people, the new government invites heartily the acceptance and co-operation, of the independents for the creation and elaboration of laws for the betterment of the working classes."

Overburdening People.

The manifesto charges the Socialist Government with overburdening the people with taxation, failing to create conditions for an increase of production in all lines, suppressing papers which criticize it and otherwise interfering with personal liberty and refusing to dissolve the National Assembly and issue writs for new elections.

"Last, but not least," says the manifesto, "a government whose chief spokesman is Erzberger must be swept away."

It further declares that a change of government is purely an internal affair and a German question, which alone concerns the German people. It promises to use every effort to maintain internal and external peace and prevent a recurrence of the mistakes of "a government now happily defunct and obsolete."

Adherence Promised.

While adherence to the new Government has been promised by some of the outside states, Saxony has declared against it, and Bavaria, Wurttemburg and Baden have joined in denouncing the movement, declaring it a crime against the German people that the progressive development of the southern German states should be disturbed from Berlin. These states announce their recognition of the National Assembly only.

The National party refused to have dealings with the Kapp Government, and the Conservative leader, Count Posadowsky asserts that he will not identify himself with the new chancellor.

Hamburg and Darmstadt are said to be irreconcilable.

The Saxon proclamation sets forth that Germany is threatened with civil war on account of the military coup, and therefore complete ruin and calls upon the people to protect "the democratic constitutional and lawful government."

Hindenburg in Dark.

Meanwhile, one of the great figures in the German national life, Field Marshal von Hindenburg, has kept himself in the background. His former close associate, General Ludendorff, credited with being the brains and moving spirit of the German army in its belligerent days, has had a conference with the new chancellor. What passed between them, of course, is not known. It is possible, however, that von Hindenburg, who is already a candidate for the presidency, may loom large before events take definite shape.

With the advent of the general strike proclaimed throughout the country by the Independent Socialists, affiliated with the trades unionists and other organizations Berlin is already beginning to feel the pinch of suffering again. The water supply has been largely cut off, and food is scarce.

Hotels are shutting down and if the strike continues, means of transportation, both passenger and freight, will be at an end.

Noske Organizing.

Gustav Noske, minister of defense in the Ebert Government, is reported to be in Saxony organizing troops. Noske has always been a fighter and there is reason to believe that he will not accept the present situation without drastic action in opposition to it. That Noske has troops still loyal to him, is indicated by the fact that they have repulsed an attack against them in their barracks at Frankfort. Reports have been received from that city of numerous casualties in the fighting, but whether this was between troops and militia, or between troops and workmen is not definitely known.

A semi-official statement issued today says that the entente commission at Berlin has "agreed" to the new Government.

SOUTH GERMANY RALLIES TO OPPOSE REVOLUTION.

LONDON, March 14.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Berlin dated Sunday says the new government in Berlin will act conjointly with the labor party for the maintenance of order, and that the new cabinet is endeavoring to pursuade labor representatives to take office. The well-known labor leader, Richard Koersten, has been suggested for a portfolio. Negotiations are progressing, but their success is doubtful, owing to the attitude of the minister of defence, General Baron von Luettwitz. It is added that negotiations between the government and representatives of the independents have resulted in the independents agreeing to take office under present conditions.

Patroling Streets.

Sunday morning the loyal military still were patroling the streets in the government quarter of Berlin, with guns, machine guns and armored cars, but the population was calm, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Berlin. The dispatch adds that Gustav Bauer, the former chancellor, has issued a proclamation from Dresden, declaring that the German people must rally to the support of the government. A general strike has been proclaimed in the Rhine and Westphalian mining districts.

The militia at Frankfort attacked the barracks near where Noske's troops were quartered, but were repulsed, says a Central News Berlin dispatch. The Noske forces declared they would remain faithful to Ebert. Strikers are demonstrating in the streets of Frankfort.

Fighting at Dusseldorf.

According to the same correspondent there also has been considerable fighting between adherents of the old and new regimes at Dusseldorf.

In Southern Germany the governments are reported to be combining to oppose the revolution.

According to a Central News dispatch from Berlin dated Saturday night, the foreign office officials ceased work, being unwilling to serve the new government. The new regime issued a proclamation, announcing that the first day had passed without serious incident and no bloodshed, and declaring that not even a single shot had been fired.

SOLDIERS NEEDED TO SAVE EUROPE, LUETTWITZ.

COPENHAGEN, March 14.—Major-General Baron von Luettwitz, minister of defense in the new revolutionary Government in Berlin, has been interviewed by a correspondent of the Politiken. Von Luettwitz at the time was in a room in the Admiralty once occupied by Gustav Noske, the former minister of defense. He said that one ground for overthrowing the old regime was that serious work was being done under it.

"We considered it an urgent necessity to take action for the protection of Europe against danger from the East," said Von Luettwitz. "England is doing nothing and can do nothing to stay the advance of Bolshevism. Prussia must take a hand in it."

Can't Fight Bolshevism.

"We must have more than the 100,000 men permitted by the entente. How are we going to combat Bolshevism with that handful of men?"

General von Luettwitz said the new Government had no monarchist tendencies. The correspondent observed that his tone was not particularly convincing."

The correspondent gives the following description of Von Luettwitz:

"He is an amiable gentleman of the old type, with short, wiry hair, moustache clipped in English fashion and a powerful Roman nose. He looks like a man who knows what he wants. He is not burdened with sentimentality and is manifestly far stronger than Noske. He does not look bloodthirsty."

Von Luettwitz expressed great satisfaction that not a shot had fallen during the revolt. He said he had between 6,000 and 7,000 troops at his disposal in Doeberitz and Berlin.

Intervene If Necessary.

Asked by the correspondent if he reckoned that the Berlin troops would go against the old Government, Von Luettwitz said, "Absolutely. I told the Government that four days ago and demanded that it should include professional ministers in the Cabinet who opposed Bolshevism. The Government reckoned that the Berlin troops would back it and so objected to my demands and deposed me. Events have shown that I was right."

Asked concerning the general strikes that have been called, Von Luettwitz replied: "I think the workers will come to their senses when they learn what social reforms we are planning. If not we must intervene."

The correspondent asked how and where the intervention would take place, at which he says Von Luettwitz burst out laughing and answered: "With crocodiles and pop-guns as far as I am concerned."

Asked if he meant machine guns, the new minister of defense said: "You must take the responsibility for that word."

The correspondent says the revolution is regarded as an eight-day affair in Liberal circles in Berlin. The president of the national assembly is said to have declared that the members have their mandates from the people and cannot regard them as lost.

COUNCIL DISCUSSES GERMAN ATTACKS ON MISSIONS OF ALLIES

PARIS, March 13.—(Havas.)—A report on the recent attacks on allied missions in Germany, submitted by Marshal Foch, was considered by a council of ambassadors at the ministry of foreign affairs this afternoon. Premier Millerand proposed that a note be sent to Germany demanding guarantees against the recurrence of similar acts. The question will now be submitted to the allied governments concerned.

An examination into the demand of the Hungarian peace delegation for modification in the military, aerial and naval clauses of the Hungarian treaty was also conducted by the council.

PRESENT TARIFF IS TOO HIGH; SHOULD BE CUT, SAYS PARDEE

East Lambton Member Says Moderate Policy Needed.

MONTREAL, March 14.—Addressing the Reform Club here Saturday, Mr. Fred Pardee, M.P., East Lambton, and ex-Liberal whip, stated that Canada must have a protective tariff policy for two reasons: First, because of the necessity of protecting Canadian industry, and secondly, because of the need of revenue. Mr. Pardee believed that the present tariff of 42½ per cent was too high, and that the average should be 25 per cent, which would include an 8 per cent excise tax. He added that he thought the farmers would be the first to object if the tariff should be abolished, and all revenue had to be raised by direct taxation.

JURYMAN RECOVERS; WINNIPEG TRIAL TO PROCEED AT ONCE

Night Sessions Urged by Jurors To Speed Case.

WINNIPEG, Man., March 14.—By the Canadian Press.—James Jack, the juryman, who has been down with the grippe, was discharged from the General Hospital Sunday afternoon as perfectly recovered and, after a week's delay the trial of the seven strike leaders charged with seditious conspiracy will be resumed tomorrow morning.

As a result of strong representations made by the jurors, the court decided to hold night sessions with the object of getting the proceedings finished in as few days as possible. These will start Tuesday night. Tomorrow night being left open to give Ald. Heaps and Queen a chance to attend a session of the city council.

On behalf of the jurors, it was said that they were all farmers, and were behind with their work on their farms by the length of time taken by the trial.

When the court opens, A. J. Andrews, for the crown, will resume his address to the jury.

POSTAL CLERKS HEAR DEMANDS ADJUSTED

WINNIPEG, March 14.—Postal clerks here were notified Saturday that the classification demands which have been before the Government for a long time have been "satisfactorily adjusted" from the employees' standpoint. It is understood that it includes pay for work on statutory holidays, such as Good Friday, Christmas Day, New Year's Day, Thanksgiving Day.

LIVER TROUBLE AND HEARTBURN

All liver diseases of whatever character are diseases of the highest importance and demand close attention.

The liver is the largest and one of the most important organs of the body. Its duty is to prepare and secrete bile, and serves as one of the filters of the body, cleansing it of all impurities and poisons. Therefore when the liver gets out of order it is the starting of trouble in nearly every part of the body.

Keep the liver active by using Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, and you will have no heartburn, constipation, biliousness, sick or bilious headaches, dull, yellow eyes, brown blotches, sallow complexion, coated tongue, jaundice, catarrh of the stomach, or the painful protruding internal or bleeding piles.

Mrs. John Kadey, Chipman, N. B. writes: "I have used Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills for some time and can recommend them to anyone suffering from heartburn and liver trouble. I tried other remedies, but they only relieved me for a short time. I always recommend Laxa-Liver Pills to all sufferers, as I think they are a valuable remedy."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c, a vial at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by the T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

What causes Indigestion

An excess of acid in the stomach sours the food and starts fermentation. Distressing gases form. Your meals don't digest, but lay like lumps of lead. Then you have heartburn, flatulence, fullness, belching, headache, and real misery in the stomach and intestines.

A few tablets of "Pape's Diapepsin" bring relief almost as soon as they reach the stomach. "Pape's Diapepsin" costs little at drug stores.

SCORES ATTITUDE OF LODGE IN DENYING STATUS OF CANADA

New York World Criticises Washington Phrase-Making.

NEW YORK, March 13.—The New York World says editorially this morning: "The word mongering and phrase-making at Washington have spread into Canada like a contagion, and the Dominion House of Commons is painfully interpreting Senator Lodge's interpretation of that clause of the league covenant which gives Great Britain and its dependencies six votes.

"The president of the privy council condemns the apparent denial that Canada is a nation, and the purpose of certain United States senators to relegate it to its former colonial status.

"If the United States is to ratify the peace treaty on any condition impairing the independence of Canada,' he said, 'that country, already a signatory, will refuse its assent, and if through any influence Great Britain should fall in with such a proposition, Canada would withdraw from the league at once.'

"Here we have an ultimatum for London, no less than for Washington, and there is a great deal of reason behind it. Canada has earned its place in the world, and, unlike the senatorial representatives of its powerful neighbor, is not afraid to assume the attendant responsibilities. In beginning is career as a nation by challenging both the United States and Great Britain, it has set a smart pace for itself."

HIGH COST OF PUBLISHING.

When the owner of a newspaper makes a statement that he is suffering from the high cost of publishing, do not regard what he says as a facetious attempt to mislead you into some sympathy for him. His difficulties and his problems are real. The newspaper publisher these days spends most of his time wondering where he is going to get his printpaper supply, how much it is going to cost, and where he is going to get the money to pay for it.

We often hear the statement regarding a newspaper, "It does not cost anything, anyway!" When you take white paper at the cost of over $80.00 a ton, with the assurance that it will be over $100.00 after July the first, together with other costs that everyone knows have increased materially, it is then apparent even to the layman that every copy of a newspaper means actually more than has been received for it in the past. It is only to get somewhere near the value of our product that The Advertiser has increased its subscription rates.

OPTIMISTIC MR. HANNA.

In an address recently delivered at the capital, Mr. D. B. Hanna, the chief executive of the Canadian National Railways, wrote himself down as a supreme optimist. His description of the future of the great government system was a glowing one According to Mr. Hanna, so stupendous will be the system's success that it will be able to contribute largely towards paying off the national debt. This is to be accomplished mainly by an increase of rates. It is to be hoped Mr. Hanna has gone carefully into this matter before speaking, because the average man is of the impression that an increase in rates that will put the Canadian National into first-rate shape and at the same time produce a revenue that can be turned over to help reduce Canada's war indebtedness is an impossibility at present.

Mr. Hanna also declares—and in this his optimism is less bright, because it suggests fear and doubt—that if cabinet minister and members of Parliament keep their hands off the management success is certain. But should there be a deficit the sums required must be secured from the public treasury, and does Mr. Hanna imagine that Parliament will not insist upon having a say in such a matter? There is where interference will come in.

Boiled down, what Mr. Hanna says is, operate the system as if it were a private one, and success is assured, but run it as a national system and failure is certain. Public control, not public ownership, was the method that should have been adopted. It is to be devoutly hoped that the Canadian National will be the great success Mr. Hanna predicts, for only in that way can it be prevented from degenerating into a political machine.

THE TRUSTS AND LABOR.

The interest in the work and writings of Carleton H. Parker in the field of labor problems, which was initiated by the publication of a memoir by his widow, "An American Idyll," will be further increased by the articles from his pen which have appeared in the January and February numbers of the Atlantic Monthly. The first of these discussed the technique of modern industry, pointing out in a most illuminating way the changes that have taken place in American industry as a result of the specialization of processes, and indicating some of the effects which these changes had had upon the workers engaged in such industries as the packing houses and the steel mills. In the January number Professor Parker's paper deals with the labor policy of the American trusts.

Three main factors, in the opinion of this writer, have entered into the shaping of the trusts' policy on labor. The first of these is the lenitee directorship, the fact that the policies, whether financial or market, have been directed from central offices in New York or Chicago, or, in some towering office building, have often set rates of wages, hours of labor and working conditions for tens of thousands of men and women workers. To the absentee director a strike was always a bogey, and the spirit of dividing power with any force, least of all unions, caused the trusts to be ready always to fight. A second factor has been the changing technique of industry, the subject which Professor Parker dealt in his earlier paper. Through the use of automatic machinery labor was being constantly displaced and reduced in the scale. Speed of production hitherto unknown was attained by new machinery and by the Taylor system of scientific management. Opposed to this was the restriction of output by unions, their firm refusal to allow men or women to be worked at such a rate that they would be used up completely in a few years. In the face of the union opposition to high speed production at the cost of workers' health the trusts found their escape by the use of foreign labor, which brought patient, subservient and disorganized forces to their mills, where they were the raw material through which technique could receive its fullest expansion. With immigration of more than a million yearly in the decade before the war, the struggle between the unions and the trusts was one of life and death, and the unions lost out. When the war broke out in 1914 the unions were practically gone from the steel industry, and the strike that took place this winter can scarcely be said to have achieved much for the workers. The trust is still able to maintain the twelve-hour day and the seven-day week for a large part of its workers.

The packing industries furnish another illustration of the results of the labor policy pursued by the trusts. In the meat industry, as a whole, in 1914 about one-fourth of the workers received less than 20 cents an hour. Moreover, as a result of seasonal pressure one-third more workers were employed at one time of the year than at another, giving a wide-open door for non-union labor to be hired and union labor fired. More and more the packing industry increases the importance of its plant, as compared with the workers. In one single year the capital invested in packing plants almost doubled, the raw materials used increased 75 per cent, the power used 130 per cent, but the number of workers increased only 25 per cent. Substitution of races has also gone on in such a way as to indicate clear planning. In the eighties the packing house workers were Americans, Germans and Irish. Bohemians drove out these three races, to be in turn driven out by Poles. These were succeeded by Slovaks and Lithuanians, and the latter are sharing the work today with southern negroes. The immigration commission's report of 1911 showed more than 60 per cent foreign-born in the meat industry.

Professor Parker's summary is that the basic American industries are practically union-free. Immigrants, whether from Europe or the black belt of the south, dominate the labor force. Industrial technique scraps factories in a few years. "The crux of the labor policy of the trusts is to place the workman on as absolute a par with a machine as possible, and to organize the human element out of important consideration. The mechanization of industrial production has been realized in America beyond any precedent in economic history."

"INDUSTRY AND HUMANITY."

ARTICLE NO. 17.

SOME CONTRASTS.

Mackenzie King says:

"For their ultimate solution, international and industrial problems alike await the inspiration of an universally accepted faith in human brotherhood."

"It is the main purpose of this study to point the way to a change of attitude in industrial relations, and to suggest means whereby a new spirit may be made to permeate industry, through the application of principles tried by time and tested by experience."

The Right Hon. Arthur Henderson, in his work, "The Aims of Labor," says: "The Labor party is the party of the producers, whose labor of hand and brain provide the necessities of life for all, and dignify and elevate human existence." "It contemplates the creation of a national democratic party, founded upon the organized working class movement, and open to every worker who labors by hand or brain." "It must more than ever be appreciated that democracy is more than a form of government; it is a spirit."

It has often been said that all in Canada are workers. The definitions of the secretary of the Labor party in England include all workers by hand or brain. It is too much the custom to regard those only as workers who work for wages. The farmers are producers of the necessities of life, and here are looked upon as distinct from the Labor party. It would not be so under the definitions given. Mr. Henderson says: "We shall oppose every attempt to place upon the shoulders of the producing classes, the professional classes, and the small traders the main financial burden of the war."

Here we have still the narrow view. Labor in the restricted sense that means only those who work for wages, while there it takes in nearly all except those who live idly and are rich. Applying these rules to the people of Canada, the great majority could qualify as members of a democracy that adopted as its watchword, "Through equality to freedom."

THE ANALOGY FAILS.

[Baltimore Sun.]

The difference between what South Carolina did and what anti-prohibitionists are doing now is this: South Carolina defied the law and threatened secession. The anti-prohibitionists are appealing to the law and asking the protection of the constitution. It is absurd that such an explanation has to be made, but even a foolish error travels far. It would be nearer the truth to say that the prohibitionists are the real nullifiers. They are trying to nullify the constitution. They advocate gag law, as against free speech, in connection with the liquor question. Having put handcuffs on the country when it was not looking, and shut it up in a dry prison, they would now deny it the benefit of a writ of habeas corpus. The only thing they will allow it is "the benefit of clergy," but clergy of their own choosing.

AVIATION IN THE ORIENT.

[Times of India.]

Early next month Calcutta will have a complete monster Handley-Page ready to take Ditchers in batches of fourteen up into the sky to behold their wonderful city from angles other than those to which they have been used. Calcutta may well look forward to the day. Aviation is yet a novelty for the civilian, particularly in this country; a decade or two hence it may be little more uncommon to fly than to use a tramcar. But for the present we fear that those citizens who may be desirous of availing themselves of the opportunity of rising above their surroundings, so to speak, will have their expectations doomed to disappointment unless—and this is a vital condition—the government can see their way to providing this city with an aerodrome. It is nothing short of a scandal that Calcutta, the second city of the Empire, should be without a base for aeroplanes when stations so small as Allahabad and Gaya are provided with excellent landing-places.

COTTON IN THE EMPIRE.

[Egyptian Mail].

Many competent authorities have again and again urged the importance of steps being taken to provide cotton within the British Empire, and quite apart from this possible shortage from America it would seem that the growing of cotton within the Empire would remain one of the most desirable objects which our statesmen could foster. It should certainly be the object of all who are connected with the textile industry in all its many by-paths to promote in every possible direction every well-conceived effort to produce more raw cotton within the British Empire.

From Here and There

THE POLITICAL DIP.

[Johannesburg Times].

The man who is pleased with the oratory which has marked the opening of the general election campaign must be very easily satisfied. You can read speeches until your head whirls without coming across even the faintest outline of a practical and detailed program likely to appeal to the ordinary man who wants to see South Africa go ahead. The Laborites appear to perceive what they want more clearly than the rest of the parties, but even they are often more vague than businesslike, and in any case they are not in the least likely to have a chance of governing the country. From the Nationalists one gets nothing but the old republican cry reiterated for the ten millioneth time. It is a regular King Charles's head to the Herzogites, who probably talk separation in their sleep and tear down the window blind under the impression that they have grabbed hold of the Union Jack. As a recipe for civil strife, Nationalism may have some claim to attention, but as a prosperity policy it is sheer bosh. There isn't enough business administration in it to make a hot peanut barrow pay a dividend.

OVERHEARD IN JERUSALEM.

I'd have liked him for a brother,
For his jollity.

Stopping in his play,
That it might have been Christ
Who talked to me that day.

AS AUSTRALIA SEES IT.

Adelaide Chronicle: It has become an axiom in English-speaking communities that party government is synonymous with healthy progress. How remote from the truth this may be the United States Senate is still doing its best to illustrate by the lengths to which it is carrying its opposition to the peace treaty, especially the league of nations part of it. The real flaw in the treaty, in the eyes of the Republicans, would seem to be its negotiation by a Democratic administration, and the fear that its adoption would redound to the advantage of the wrong party at the next presidential election.

PLAIN SPEAKING ON NATIONALIZATION

London Daily Telegraph: Nationalization and bureaucracy go together, and if there is to be no bureaucracy the nationalization is a sham. Nevertheless—and here the dishonesty enters— the name has to be retained because it is popular and wins votes and draws over to the miners' side a number of people who are too lazy to think. It is not nationalization proper that the miners desire, it is not state ownership and state control of the mines; it is the control of the mines by the miners and by the Miners' Federation. The cry of "the mines for the nation" may possibly have some allurement for the general body of trade unionists. The cry of "the mines for the miners" would scarcely be so popular outside the mining villages.

TRUCKS AS SNOW FIGHTERS.

[H. W. Slauson, in Leslie's].

A few years ago it was a common occurrence to see a horse-drawn tank wagon pull up to the garages to deliver the fuel for motor truck and motor cars. Today we find conditions somewhat reversed. A motor truck and passenger car can negotiate slippery streets and snow to almost any depth below two feet without difficulty. The horse, however, will slip and flounder and to make his way easy, progressive cities are using the motor truck for snow removal. An adjustable plow or scraper attached to the front of a motor truck can remove the snow in a fraction of the time required by the horse. If the plow or scraper is followed by a series of dump trucks in which the now can be moved to the dumping ground, the winter traffic problem of many of our cities can be solved.

OLD-FASHIONED PREACHING.

[Catholic Review.]

—Cardinal Mercier said at a dinner in New York:

"Nobody preaches about hell fire now. Hell fire preaching, as it is called, evokes more amusement than horror.

"I once heard an old-fashioned Brussels priest say to his congregation:

"'Friends, you've seen molten iron pouring out of a furnace, haven't you? You've seen how it comes forth whitehot, sizzling, hissing. Well, friends——'

"And the preacher pointed impressively straight down with his long finger.

"'Well, friends, they use that stuff for ice cream down there.'"

THE FIGHTING RACES.

[John Bull.]

The 25th birthday number of the English Race, the journal of the Royal Society of St. George, contains a comparison of enlistments, tabulated to show the proportion of Englishmen, of Scotsmen, of Irishmen and of Welshmen who served in the great war. In voluntary enlistments, England "came out appreciably better than any other country in the Empire." The figures are (omitting recruits to the navy during 1918, the numbers of which are not given)—England, 4,921,000, or 80.8 per cent of the total for the British Isles; Scotland, 677,000, or 11.1 per cent; Wales, 315,000, or 5.1 per cent; Ireland, 181,000, or 3 per cent. England, therefore, furnished four times the number of fighting men supplied by the rest of the United Kingdom, having the highest proportion of the population in the fighting forces.

WINTER SLEEP.

I know it must be winter (though I sleep)—
I know it must be winter, for I dream
I dip my bare feet in the running stream,
And flowers are many and the grass grows deep.

I know I must be old (how age deceives!)—
I know I must be old, for, all unseen,
My heart grows young, as autumn fields grow green,
When late rains patter on the falling sheaves.

I know I must be tired (and tired souls err)—
I know I must be tired, for all my soul
To deeds of daring beats a glad, faint roll,
As storms the riven pine to music stir.

I know I must be dying (Death draws near)—
I know I must be dying, for I crave
Life—life, strong life, and think not of the grave
And turf-bound silence, in the frosty year.

—Edith Matilda Thomas.

CONCERNING THE FORESTS.

[Quebec Telegraph].

Ontario is faced with an apparent exhaustion of its pine reserves, through the wasteful employment of this wood for railway ties, in its raw condition. A Toronto contemporary points out that Canada uses fifteen million railway ties, mainly made out of jack pine, every year. The ordinary life of a railway tie is six years, unless it is creosoted. When this is done the life of the tie is trebled and it lasts for eighteen years. The cost of a tie is about eighteen cents. It cost about the same amount to creosote it. This means that the railways, by incurring twice the initial expense obtain three times the value and escape the cost of labor and the disturbance of two renewals. It therefore looks like good business for the railway to creosote all their wooden railway ties, and when it is considered that fifteen years has been estimated as the length of time that will probably witness the total disappearance of Ontario's stock of jack pine from the fires and the axe of the lumberman, it certainly would seem that the suggestion is a wise one that the government should step in and insist upon every possible precaution being taken that may safeguard the life of the valuable timber employed by the railways. Such precautions are as much in the interest of the railways themselves as in that of the forests, and the subject is also one that may well engage the attention of our own government, even though Quebec's forests are very far from being as near to exhaustion as those of the sister province.

LOVE OF THE WILD

BY ARCHIE P. McKISHNIE.

"Man proposes and God disposes," said Smythe piously.

"Humph," returned Hallibut, "it's too bad the men who tried to dispose of Watson didn't make a clean job of it."

"Come into the other part," invited Smythe, "dinner is all ready, sir."

The colonel sat down to the table, placing his rifle close beside his chair.

"A little liquor?" inquired the host, leaning toward the cupboard.

"Not any, thanks," returned Hallibut. "Who's smoking that rotten Canada-Green tobacco?" he demanded sharply. "'Faint you, is it?" as Watson turned quickly.

Watson shook his head and glanced at Smythe.

"Man by the name of Jamison was in here just before you came," explained Smythe. "He smoked Canada-Green."

"Funny," murmured Hallibut, "it seems to be getting stronger."

Smythe stamped gently upon the floor.

"What are you dancing about?" asked the colonel, "isn't it strictly against your religious code?"

"A touch of chilblain, my dear colonel—'ghost's itch,' my sainted mother used to call it."

"Humph! it must be a ghost smoking that Canada-twist," laughed Hallibut.

"If I thought it was," declared Smythe, "I would bid him cease. I would," he cried, raising his voice, "I would command him in his way: 'Stop smoking immediately!'" Mr. Smythe enforced his command by another thump on the trap-door.

"You must be crazy," grunted the colonel, "guess I'd better be pushing along. I'm going over to let those Bushwhackers know just where they stand."

"Dear colonel, don't go to Bushwhackers' Place," begged Smythe. "They'll shoot you as sure as you are born."

"They certainly will," confirmed Watson.

The colonel nodded.

"Let 'em," he grated, and, picking up his rifle, he passed out, followed by the distressed Smythe.

When they had gone Watson lifted the trap-door.

"You idiot," he fumed, "you almost cooked our goose with your stinkin' Canada-Green tobacco. I'll be mighty glad to see the last of your red head, Amos. No, you mus'n't come up yet. Be patient for five minutes longer; then, away you go. And may you not stop until you've crossed the border."

"I'll lose no time, don't you fear," whispered a hoarse voice from the darkness, and Watson let the trap-door fall with a shudder.

CHAPTER XIX.

Blue Skies and a Cloud.

Had Colonel Hallibut known that the Bushwhackers had awaited the melting of the snows quite as impatiently as he himself had, it might have surprised him. And had he known that the Bushwhackers were just as eager to have an explanation from him as he was to have an explanation from the Bushwhackers he certainly would have been somewhat puzzled.

During the long evenings, as the loom of the weavers chided and the good wives turned the spinning-wheels, the men of the wood molded bright leaden bullets and measured black powder into curved horns. When the three days' rain began Bill Paisley went over to McTavish's and stayed with Boy until the snows were licked away. All throughout Bushwhackers' Place there surged a wave of unrest; a feeling of apprehension held the people, and they waited for what they felt must soon come. Hallibut, so they believed, had threatened to drive them from their rights. Behind him lay a power of which they knew little, but which they were prepared to combat if necessary with their lives. So during the rains that broke the manacles of winter the bushmen came together, strong-armed and clear of eye, strong of purpose and true to the great law that governed them. On one point they had unanimously agreed, and that was, no shot must be fired upon the interlopers until they themselves had opened hostilities. Big McTavish had urged this and was firm in his mandate.

"We'll fight, men," he said, his arm about his wife's shoulder. "We'll fight for our own, even if we be but a handful, but we'll not fire first. Best to be sure than sorry."

Now the men had met together again on what they seemed to feel was the eve of battle. The trails would be clear tomorrow and Hallibut and his followers would come very soon. So, throughout the night, with the soft rain falling and the forest waking beneath the kiss of spring, the Bushwhackers sat speaking in low tones before the fire in the big inner room, and the wives sat together discussing the probabilities of the coming conflict.

Big McTavish was for having all remain in their domain until the appearance of the enemy. Bill Paisley thought differently.

"What I advise," he suggested, "is that we send out three men along the trail, and have 'em act as scouts. Let 'em keep to the timber, an' when they see Hallibut and his men comin', let 'em drop back and give the alarm. We'll know best how to meet 'em when we know their numbers."

Declute supported Paisley.

"I'll go for one," he volunteered, "and Peeler thar I know'll go for another."

"I'm with you," nodded Peeler, and Boy sprang up.

"Let me go," he begged; but the others shook their heads.

"You're needed here," they said, and Paisley drew Boy back into his seat again with:

"You can't go, Boy; that's all there is to it. Somethin' tells me that Hallibut won't bring his men down in a rush. Seems it ain't his way to do things like ordinary men do 'em. He's most like to send word by one of his tools that he's comin', first. I wouldn't be at all surprised but that he'd come first himself. He's goin' to blame us for burnin' his schooner. I have no doubt. He's goin' t' do that so's to have an excuse t' wipe us out. He's deep as he is wily. However, be that as it may, you men along the line mustn't let your feelin's get the best of you. If Hallibut sends a spy along, keep clear of him, and don't cock a gun, remember."

Gloss stood in the doorway between the two rooms listening to the conversation of the men. Beside her was Daft Davie, his hand in hers. The girl's face was pale and she looked as though she had not been resting well. Her great eyes were fastened on Boy's face, and once he glanced toward her, but looked quickly down again. She passed across the room new, and over to him. The men were laying their plans of picketing along the trail. Boy looked up and smiled. Davie squatted in his old attitude beside him.

"Boy," said the girl softly, "won't you promise me what I've asked—won't you?" she pleaded, bending over him.

Her breath fanned his cheek and the red blood leaped in his veins. She brushed back his tangled curls with an oldtime caress.

"It seems just as though we was little boy and girl again," she whispered, "and you always promised me what I wanted then."

"I can't promise you——" he hesitated. "Glossie," he said tenderly, "won't you please not ask it? I don't want to make a promise I can't keep, and you know what I intend to do."

"And if you do it," she gasped, "oh, Boy, if you do, I can't—we can't——"

She turned her head away and he saw a shudder run through her frame. He reached out and drew the girl close to him.

"You've got to finish," he said. "What can't we do, Gloss?"

"I don't know," she answered wearily.

She was looking past him and the despair in her eyes cut his soul.

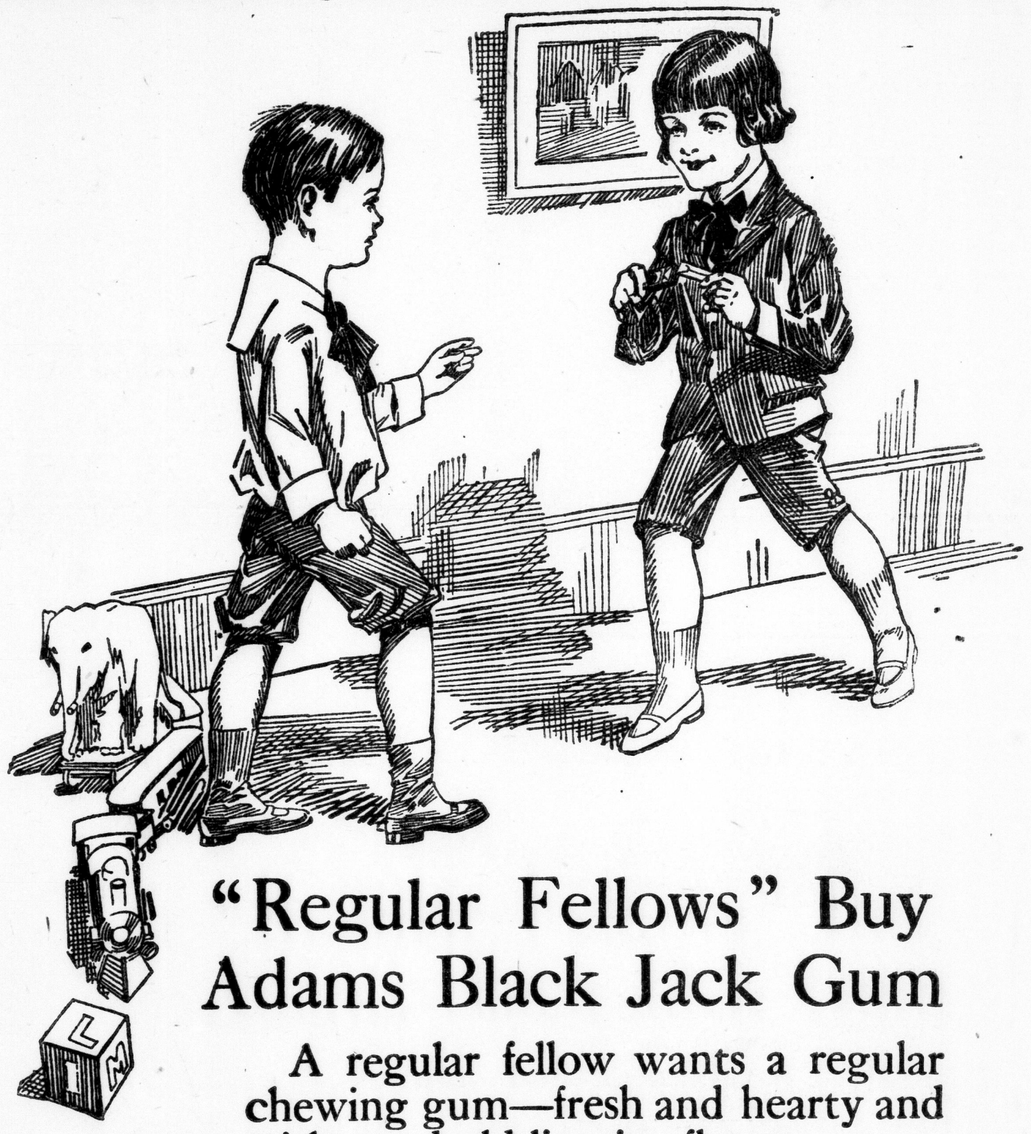

"Girl," he whispered, "I'll promise you not to kill Simpson; 'course I'll promise you. I reckon I understand why you want my promise. I didn't know before, I only suspicioned and dreaded. If he was a good man now," he smiled, "why, I'd be right down glad for your sake. But I won't hurt him, Gloss, not even if he tries to shoot me."

To be continued.

When the Noon Lunch Became A Lesson In Domestic Science The School Girl Prospered

Miss Robertson Tells How She Introduced Idea Into East Middlesex Schools—the First Teacher To Do So.

How successful one teacher has been in introducing the hot lunch system into her school is told in the following interesting letter from Miss Maude Robertson, the first teacher in East Middlesex to teach this form of domestic science in a rural school. Her school is in No. 6, Delaware.

Miss Robertson, who maintains that school teaching is not humdrum, deplores the condition of the present day public school system which makes a teacher continually concerned with the question "Can Johnny pass his book?" rather than "Has Johnny shown any special talent or inclination and how can this be most thoroughly developed?"

Her letter regarding the hot lunches reads as follows:

How It Is Done.

Now for our method of providing for the hot dish at the noon hour. The regulations state that we have to serve it from November 1 to March 31, but we find it easier to begin serving it in September, when we start school, for then we can make use of the different vegetables that children have planted and taken care of themselves. If we have a surplus of anything in the garden such as onions, carrots, tomatoes, beets or any other vegetables, we sell the vegetables to the parents who are only too glad to buy to encourage the children. With the money thus obtained we buy some of the necessary supplies with which to carry on our work. When the garden supply is exhausted the pupils bring supplies from home—such as meal, potatoes, milk, eggs, etc. With the grant that is allowed by the department we buy the necessary dishes, cooking utensils, oil for cooking, towels for drying the dishes, rice, sugar, beans, pot barley for soup, spices and other things that we can keep without danger of their spoiling.

Delight of Pupils.

The pupils seem to take a delight in helping, by bringing whatever we need for our daily lesson and we always have plenty of material to work with. The older pupils work in groups of three and the younger ones in groups of four.

Each group has its day for working and you may be sure the children always remember when their day for cooking comes and they will not let anyone else work on their day.

The group which works on Monday for example prepares the dish we intend serving on that day, and sees that the plates, soup dishes or the cups and saucers are set on the table along with the other necessary articles ready for use. When 12 o'clock comes, the pupils form in line and wait for their turn, one end of the line being served first one day and the other end being served first the next day, so that everyone is satisfied. Sometimes the pupils help themselves, sometimes one of the older pupils serves them, and sometimes the teacher herself serves.

Eat Lunch Properly.

After the pupils are served, they take their seats, get their lunch pails and eat their lunch as they should instead of just snatching a sandwich out of their pails and running outside to eat it, or perhaps throw away half of it while they are playing. When they have finished eating they pile the dishes neatly on the table and the group for that day washes the dishes, sweeps the floor and puts the dishes back in their proper places in the cupboard.

Thus everything is left neat and tidy and ready for school again.

They generally have their work finished by 12:30 and then enjoy their play as much as the others.

Equipment.

The equipment we have for carrying on our work is as follows: One and a half dozen plates, one and a half dozen cups and saucers, one and a half dozen soup plates, one and a half dozen teaspoons, two large vegetable dishes, two bowls, one large pitcher, four paring knives, one and a half dozen knives and forks, one toasting fork, four tablespoons, one large aluminum kettle, two smaller granite kettles, one smaller aluminum kettle, one frying pan, two cake tins, one large baking dish, one dishpan, one rolling pin, one flour sifter, a two-burner oil stove and oven, a kitchen table to wash on and a kitchen cabinet for storing our equipment.

What Use Is It?

Some people may still be wondering of what use all this may be to the pupils. Would they not be better off if they spent their time on their books? The only way such people can be answered is for them to come to the school and see for themselves. Then they will learn several things.

First.—That the pupils eat up their lunches instead of taking a bite out if a sandwich, a piece of cake or a cookie and throwing the rest away.

Secondly.—They will learn that the pupils keep the yard, schoolroom and themselves neater and cleaner and that they seem to take pride in doing so.

Thirdly.—That the pupils can cook nearly as well as their mothers. They are proud to be allowed to do it, and they always enjoy giving visitors a liberal helping of whatever happens to be on the menu for the day.

Eager For Lessons.

Fourthly.—When school time comes and the bell rings they are eager to get to their lessons again and it does one good to sit and watch them as they work. Every eye is trained on their books and the little heads and fingers are busy doing the tasks set for them. It is needless to say that their work is neater and done quicker and better than before we commenced taking up the subject of household science.

Fifth.—The teacher and pupils seem to have drawn closer together, and there exists between them nothing but the greatest friendship. Neither would think of doing away with household science. Of course it means quite a bit of extra work and planning for both teacher and pupils, but when such great and good results can be obtained from it can you wonder that they both enjoy school so much?

HOME ECONOMICS

MRS. ELIZABETH KENT, MacDONALD COLLEGE.

BLOCKS FOR BOYS.

Give your boy plenty of blocks to play with, and have them the right sizes and shapes.

The most precious possession of a boy I know is a set of two hundred plain hardwood blocks, inherited from a friend years ago, and still in steady use. More than half of them are the one standard size, three and a half inches by one and three-quarters, by seven-eighths, that is, half as wide as they are long, and half as thick as they are wide. All the others, in groups of four or some multiple of four, are cut to the same scale, for example, there are eight blocks, seven inches long, by seven inches wide, by seven-sixteenths thick, and there are eight of the same length and width, and seven-eighths inch thick, and there are twelve, one and three-quarters inches square, by seven-eighths inch thick, and others in other variations of the standard dimensions, but always in accurate relation. Thus the standard block is halved to squares or triangles, or quartered into triangles, or cut into eight cubes, and so on. This adherence to some scale is the fundamental important element in the selection of blocks for a child, because, in playing with these different shapes and sizes, all bearing a definite relation to one another he is discovering arithmetic and geometry for himself unconsciously. Doubles, halves, quarters, eighths, oblongs, squares, triangles, prisms and cubes are no strangers to him, but old friends when he meets them later in books.

No other toy gives such scope to the imagination, yet within the limits of mathemetical law. H. G. Wells, who has made a study of blocks, points out that a child who is allowed to keep his created work undestroyed from day to day, develops a special power of coherent planning and construction, of which the world stands sadly in need. If you possibly can, let the boy have not only plenty of blocks, properly cut to scale, but also a place of his own where he can carry out his dreams, undisturbed from day to day.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel McAlpine announce the engagement of their daughter, Jean, to Mr. Douglas S. McNabb, Minnedosa, Man., the marriage to take place in March.

The year of the Grenfel Mission ends early in the spring, so the officers would like all promised donations to be forwarded as speedily as possible to them. The latest contributors are as follows: Mrs. J. W. Little, $5; John S. Meredith, $5; Miss L. Meredith, $10; Mrs. Wm. S. Brown, $2; J. Gillespie, $5; E. C. Yeates, $5.

Mr. and Mrs. John Nutkins, 723 Elias street, city, announce the marriage of their second youngest daughter, Victoria Beatrice (Daisy), to Russell Greyson (Buff) Parker, son of Mr. Courtland Parker and the late Mrs. Parker of Port Stanley by the Rev. Canon C. R. Gunne, Christ Church Rectory, city. Mr. and Mrs. Parker will reside in Port Stanley.

Many are looking forward to the talent tea which will be held in the Sunday school of the First Presbyterian Church on St. Patrick's Day, March 17, under the direction of the Women's Association of the church. Afternoon tea will be served from 3 to 6, and the sale will consist of homemade bread, cakes, etc., aprons and small children's garments.

DECKER—SIMPSON.

An interesting marriage took place at St. Andrew's manse Saturday noon, when Miss Lillian M. Simpson of Sarnia was united in marriage to Mr. Ralph Decker of Phoenix, N.Y. The Rev. D. C. MacGregor officiated. Mr. Decker was at one-time circulation manager at The London Advertiser. He and the young bride will reside in Phoenix, N.Y.

YEATES—WILKINS.

The marriage took place quietly this afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Wilkins, of their only daughter, Nellie Penman, to Dr. Allen M. Yeates of Hamilton. The interesting ceremony was performed by Rev. Geo. A. King of St. Thomas, brother-in-law of the groom. The bride was given away by her father, and was unattended. She wore a beautiful wedding gown of silk woolray, hand-embroidered, with white Angora wool and pearls, and wore a tulle veil. She carried a bouquet of pink roses. After the ceremony a dainty buffet luncheon was served. Dr. and Mrs. Yeate left on the 3:30 M.C.R. for Montreal and New York, where they will spend their honeymoon, the bride wearing a traveling dress of navy blue broadcloth with hat to match and black fox furs.

The wedding is one of the many romances which are the outcome of the war. The bride is a graduate nurse of the John Hopkins Hospital of Baltimore, Md. She enlisted as a nursing sister and served three years' overseas, while the groom is a graduate in medicine of the Western University, London, and after completing a two-year post graduate course in Bellevue Hospital, New York, enlisted in 1915, and went overseas with the C. A. M. C. as captain. They were both on service in a military hospital in Boulogne, France, when they met and the friendship then formed, culminated in the happy event of their marriage. The guests present were: The groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Yeates, and Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Yeates of London; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Yeates and Mr. Howard Yeates of Hamilton, and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. King of St. Thomas. Cablegrams of congratulations from England were received as well as messages from friends in Montreal, the Canadian West and points in the United States.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

Wants Dialogue.

Dear Miss Grey.—May I peek into your cosy corner for help? Our church always has an entertainment at Easter and each class has its own little bit to contribute. Our class of seven girls never does anything, except with another class, so this year we talked it over and decided to get something if we possibly can. Could you or any of your kind readers help us? Some time ago, I believe I read a piece on your page. It was an old maid in a store. She was talking to the storekeeper and that formed the basis for the whole piece. I thought that maybe we could have it with seven people gossiping in the church, having some married and some not. The old maids could always be talking about men, etc. Inclosed find stamped, addressed envelope. UNCERTAIN.

P. S.—We are about 13 years old.

Ans.—Will somebody help Uncertain? Here's wishing you all success.

To Set Color.

Dear Miss Grey.—Would you kindly tell me if you have any way to harden the color in red flannelette? I have comforter covered with a good piece, and it rubs off on the other bed clothes, which makes it very disagreeable and hard to keep clean. If any of your readers have any help to offer me I would be very thankful.

2. I have a white panama hat with a soft brim on. Could you tell me anything that will stiffen it?

3. Which should speak first, the lady or gentleman?

4. Which do you think is the nearest to grandchildren, the mother's mother or father's mother?

I hope to be of some help to the Page some time. Thanks for your valuable space. NEWCOMER.

Ans.—1. To set the color of red, use one-quarter cup of alum to one gallon of water. I am not sure that this would refer to flannelette, but it would be a good idea to try a sample first. After soaking rinse in clear water before washing.

2. Referred to readers.

3. The lady.

4. As a rule, the mother's mother, as usually they are more devoted one to the other, but the children should be taught to make no distinction.

Who'll Lend a Hand?

Dear Miss Grey,—This is my first letter I am sending to you. I have been a constant reader for several years. I certainly have found much help in the Mail-Box. I have seen where some have been asking for edgings. I am sending one, and hope it will be of some use.

I have noticed where Mahaska was asking for some correspondent who likes sewing, crocheting, writing, reading, and likes to go to church. I think its loads of fun getting acquainted. I would correspond with her if I can get her address. I am leaving my address with Miss Grey.

I hope I didn't take up too much space. Would you kindly send me a pattern of a crochet boudoir cap, and also words and music of "The Blue Bird," or "Say, Young Fellow, Where Did You Get That Girl?" Thanking you, Miss Grey, for the space and indulgence.

LOVABLE BROWN EYES.

Ans.—My little friend of the brown eyes, I have sent you Mahasks' address, so you can write to your heart's content.

Now Boxites, surely some of you can satisfy Brown Eyes' desire, re songs and crochet. Hurry up now and lend a hand.

Here's Our Old Friend Back.

Dear Miss Grey,—I wonder if you will pardon my second intrusion, having been here such a short time before this?

Allow me to express some word of thanks to the Mail-Box readers and yourself, Miss Grey, for the wonderful help I have received from the Mail-Box at many times.

The "book" discussion is most interesting. I wonder if many readers have read Rex Beach's book, "The Rainbow Trail," also "The Port of the Rainbow," by another author? They are splendid books. "When a Man's a Man" is very interesting, but I have forgotten the writer's name.

Now that spring is approaching, also muddy weather, we are anxious of having our grey rubbers look brighter. When the shine has disappeared, why not apply a little vaseline to the rubbers? It helps to give them a more respectable appearance. Some evening for supper, when it is hard to know what to serve, just toast some bread, butter it, then place in a hot oven until the butter has melted, then dip in some sweet cream (or milk if cream is scarce), and serve piping hot. It will be found this makes a delicious supper, especially where plenty of cream is available.

How nice it is to not have such friction in the Mail-Box as there was a while ago. "There's so much good in the worst of us, and so much bad in the best of us." I believe it is that way in the Mail-Box, as in all other places.

I have some questions to ask and then I really must stop.

1. When a girl is introduced to a boy what would be suitable for a reply?

2. Could someone please supply me with Elizabeth Barrett Browning's "A Woman's Question"?

3. After a skate with a gentleman, what is a suitable remark to make?

Where are Original Lonely, Calamity Anne and Scottie frae Dundee? Speak up, friends.

THE INSPIRED DISHWASHER.

P. S.—I wonder if anyone realized that "Bubbles" was the music to which my little poem was set, "I'm forever washing dishes, etc."?

Ans.—After this timely hint re rubbers, I hope the Pageites won't forget to give the heel a nice shiny rub, too.

Doesn't that cream toast sound good?

Re the squabble in the Mail-Box, everything is peaceful and quiet now, and I'll just have to put the first man out who starts the next argument.

Listen, Pageites, don't you think it would be a good idea to buy an electric dishwasher for our poor friend, who dislikes this task so?

1. "Pleased to meet you."

2. Will somebody send T. I. D. this poem?

3. "Thank you, I enjoyed our skate immensely."

About Books.

Dear Miss Grey.—Please find inclosed 10 cents for the Children's Hospital. I saw in your column where Fleur-de-lis was asking for the song, "Star of the East," so thought I would copy it for her. I think it is a good idea for the Boxites to write about books. I guess this is because I like reading so well myself. So Nneeda Guess has read E. P. Roe's books. I have never read the one she mentioned, but have read "Nearer to Nature's Heart," "The Face Illumed" and "What Can She Do?" These are all very good books. As my letter is getting long, I will sign myself, GLOSS.

a queen who ruined her king

Feminine lust for power—feminine blindness to consequences and German blood that was stronger than wifely love or queenly allegiance ruined a king and discredited a nation. ¶Don't fail to read the thrilling historical account of how a Queen, the blood sister of a ruling enemy monarch, deliberately accomplished the ruin of the poor pantaloon monarch who lacked the strength to combat her network of intrigue. ¶With a weakness born of desperation, he fought in vain the power that bound him, and as a result, wanders in exile to-day. ¶A fascinating event of history complete in the March issue of EVERYWOMAN'S WORLD.

WHAT'S IN A NAME

By Mildred Marshall.

(Copyright, 1920, by the Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.

IMOGENE.

Not so frequent in usage, but none the less lovely and possessing of a good deal of poetic charm is Imogene. The name has no definite history and etymologists find it difficult to account for it, but the generally accepted theory is that it is another form of the Imagina, which is found in Germany in early times.

There was an Imagina of Limburg in 1400, and various other instances of the use of the name by German women. How England secured the name of Imogene is open to speculation. It is probable that Shakespeare's heroine established her vogue there though etymologists contend that it was used by British ladies before the master playwright wrote his version of the old story of the deserted and betrayed wife, which he so strangely placed at the court of the last independent British prince.

At any rate Shakespeare called his heroine Imogene, thus establishing her vogue forever. The name is still a great favorite in England, but has never had widespread popularity here, due, perhaps, to its rather poetic associations. A few devoted admirers of Shakespeare (and others unwittingly), gave the name to girl babies in baptism, probably ignorant of the fact that as Ygnoge, the name was once bestowed on a daughter of Emperor Pandrasus of Greece and the wife of Brutus, according to Geoffry of Monmouth. She was mentioned in Anne of Brittany's funeral oration in 1514.

Imogene's talismanic stone is the jacinth. It is said to protect her from danger, especially from lightning. Worn when traveling, it will insure her a happy, successful journey. Wednesday is her lucky day and six her lucky number.

BETTY AND HER FAMILY.
Part 10.

Good fortune was certainly with the travelers, for the very first river they came to turned out to be the right one. They had journeyed for a great number of days, but now when Betty led her little family and Mr. Bear along the banks of the river, she felt that they were homeward bound.

They had not gone far when people and houses started to appear, and then Betty knew that all was well. However, a new peril had come. The people could not be expected to know that Mr. Bear was a tame and quiet fellow, so after giving one man a good scare and being chased with a gun by another man, the little party had to go in hiding. At night they started out again. So it was that they traveled by night and slept by day from then on.

At last early one morning, just before it was time to find a place to sleep, Betty caught sight of a familiar object. It was the bridge of the village where her master lived. How happy the sight of it made Betty, for their journey had been long and tiresome, but now the end was in sight.

"My master lived just a few blocks from here," said Betty, as she surveyed her family, now five handsome full-grown dogs, none the worse for their journey.

Betty's master had, of course, given up all hope of seeing Betty again, for he believed she had been drowned with her puppies in the flood. Imagine his surprise then, when Betty pushed open the door and walked quietly into the kitchen. But that was nothing to the surprise he got next. After her came five of the most handsome collies he had ever seen. It almost took his breath away when he realized that it was the long lost Betty with her puppies, returned.

At first Betty's puppies were very shy, but when they saw how glad their master was to see them, how welcome he made Betty and how pleased she was to be home once more, they soon lost their shyness and were receiving his caresses freely before many minutes had past.

"Where was Mr. Bear?" Tiny was the first to ask this question. In the excitement of their return, the faithful old animal had been forgotten.

Had harm befallen him? Had the man with the gun caught up to him and done injury to the poor fellow?

(The Story of Betty and Her Family and Mr. Bear ends tomorrow).

TALKS ON HEALTH

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D., Noted Physician and Author.

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writers' names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is inclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

Something on the Chest.

To make a mustard paste mix a tablespoonful of mustard flour with four tablespoonfuls of wheat flour and enough tepid water to make a sticky paste. Spread this evenly upon a piece of waxed or brown paper perhaps eight inches square. Over it lay a piece of muslin or cheesecloth, folding the edges of the cloth under the paper and stitching in place. Warm the paste comfortably over the fire and apply it with the cloth next the skin.

For young children, instead of mustard as an external application, use camphorated oil. Prepare this yourself. Dissolve all the coarsely crumbled gum camphor the warm oil will take up, and always keep the bottle tightly corked when not using it, lest the camphor volatilize away. Either sweet oil (sweet almond oil) or olive oil may be used. Rub this gently on the chest, throat, bridge of nose, night and morning, for any illness that produces cough. I can assure mothers that it will accomplish all that any so-called croup or cold remedy can accomplish as an external application.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
One of Those Movie Babies.

My baby man is 8 months old, and I intend to wean him at 9 months. Would it be all right to give him whole milk right off the reel or should I dilute it and gradually give it to him? He is taking vegetables and meat broths as you suggested, and doing fine, so I want to be sure about it. MRS. T. E. M.

Answer.—It would probably be well to dilute the whole milk with water or cereal gruel (barley or oatmeal gruel), using about three parts milk and one part water. Then use less diluent each two weeks till he takes it right off the reel. My compliments to the young star, and be sure to send me a bit of his first film.

Stomach Ulcers.

Can ulcer of the stomach be cured without an operation?—E. P.

Ans.—In about half of the recent cases cures may be obtained through a sojourn of several weeks in bed, a fast, many stomach washings daily, medication, and carefully resumed and adjusted diet. In most cases of more than a year's standing operation is the only remedy.

So-Called Enlarged Pores.

Will you please give me a good prescription for enlarged pores on the face? Also a good skin food to apply when retiring.—C. M. S.

Ans.—Use this lotion for the enlarged sebaceous gland ducts (whose openings give the appearance of "enlarged pores"):

1. Sublimed sulphur.
2. Alcohol.
3. Compound tincture of lavender.
4. Glycerin.
5. Camphor water.

Mix equal quantities of each of the five ingredients (if alcohol is not available double the amount of lavender). Shake well and daub on at night.

As a very good skin food to apply at night I would advise two apples, a pint of milk, and a slice of graham bread and butter and sugar on, applied internally. Of course, no external application can "feed" or nourish the skin or any other tissue.

Battle Creek at London For M-O Opening May 11

1920 Schedule Adopted At Hamilton Meeting — Higher Prices Decided On Because of Higher Cost of Operating Clubs.

HAMILTON, March 14.—The adoption of the 1920 schedule and a big budget of business left over, took up the time of the meeting of the M.-O. League held at the Royal Connaught Hotel here yesterday.

The season opens on Tuesday, May 11, as follows, in Ontario:

Battle Creek at London.
Saginaw at Kitchener.
Bay City at Brantford.
Flint at Hamilton.

The season opens in Michigan on Saturday, May 15:

London at Saginaw.
Brantford at Battle Creek.
Kitchener at Flint.
Hamilton at Bay City.

The schedule calls for 120 games, the pennant race ending on September 12.

The constitution was adopted as revised. The going over of the many sections of the constitution required much of the time.

As decided at an earlier conference the admission was raised and the league adopted a 40-cent general admission fee (including war tax). This measure was unanimously carried, but found the owners reluctantly agreed that it was a necessary evil.

Pointing out only one side of the situation, not only one of the club managers, but a majority of them, have failed to come to salary terms with many of the 1919 players.

The No. 1 Spalding National League baseball was adopted as the official ball for the season of 1920.

President George H. Maines of the league told the directors that in the event of Umpire Lu Fyfe being retained after June 1 by the National League, President Heydler will pay the sum of $350 to the M.-O. League for his services.

Only six of the clubs were represented owing to illness of the Saginaw and Battle Creek delegates. Those in attendance were:

Hamilton, Martin Battle, G. Kirkpatrick, F. R. Close; Kitchener, L. Seller, J. Beatty; London, W. H. Rhodes; Brantford, T. J. Nelson, Knotty Lee; Flint, T. J. Halligan; Bay City, R. Beckett. President G. H. Maines, Flint; Secretary-Treasurer F. Wilson, Toronto; Honorary President J. S. Jackson, Detroit, and Messrs. T. Wall, Montreal, J. McAuley, Detroit, and H. J. Love, Toronto, of A. G. Spalding & Bros.

SHORT SHIP CIRCUIT CHANGES DATE OF 1920 MEETINGS

Reduces Percentage of Money Winnings From Seven To Five.

SAGINAW, Mich., March 14.—The Michigan Short-Ship racing officials have decided to reduce that percentge paid by money winners from seven to five pre cent, according to an announcement of Circuit Secretary Morris of Saginaw. It applies to first, second, third and fourth moneys. The stakes will close April 12, instead of April 1. Several weeks of racing have been changed because of the uncertainty of Bay City giving a stake meeting. Bay City has been shoved back to August 2 to 6, which is the date of the Grand Circuit at Toledo, and if it does not go through the Michigan caravan, can be shipped to Toledo for a week's layoff. Flint, which gives its initial meeting this year, will follow Saginaw, and have July 12 to 17, which were Bay City's dates.

Flint's former dates, July 27 to 31, will be taken by Grand Rapids. Several other changes will be taken up by Michigan breeders at their annual meeting at the Hotel Cadillac in Detroit Tuesday.

WILDE TO MEET EBER IN WINDSOR AT END OF MONTH

War Veterans Staging Briton's First Canadian Appearance—Tremaine Will Substitute.

WINDSOR, March 14.—Jimmy Wilde, British champion flyweight, will fight "Bad News" Eber of Hamilton for a guaranteed purse of $6,500 at Windsor Armories, the contest to take place at the end of this month, or the first week of April. If Eber, for any cause should not be ready, Carl Tremaine will be Wilde's opponent.

This announcement was confirmed on return today from Toledo of officials of the Army and Navy Veterans, who secured the signature of the champion to an agreement for a Windsor battle. The bout will be in the nature of a benefit for the veterans.

The spacious Armories, with seating capacity of more than 5,000, and a clear floor without a single upright to interfere with view of the ring, has already been secured.

WORLD'S HOCKEY SERIES TO OPEN ON MARCH 22

Vancouver and Seattle Game Tonight Decides Coast Title.

OTTAWA, March 14.—The world's championship and Stanley Cup Hockey series between Ottawa and the winners of the Pacific Coat title, Vancouver or Seattle, will open in Ottawa Monday night, March 22, according to an announcement made today by the officers of the Ottawa club. Vancouver and Seattle play at Vancouver tomorrow night in the final game of their home and home series, after which the winners will jump the Imperial Limited and rush to Ottawa to meet the National Hockey League finalists. Vancouver defeated Seattle by 3 to 1, at Seattle Friday night, so it looks as though Fred Taylor and his Vancouver teammates will be the victors.

The Ottawas wired Frank Patrick today recommending that the coast champions get here in time for a game next Saturday, but it is doubtful whether they can do this. The Ottawa club notified Frank Calder of the Ottawa Hockey League yesterday that it had selected Monday, March 22, Wednesday March 24, and Friday, March 26 as the dates for the first three games. If necessary, the fourth game could be transferred to Toronto, though the Ottawas are determined that all the matches, weather and ice conditions permitting, shall take place in the capital.

Weather conditions for hockey in Ottawa are now ideal and regardless of what change may take place meanwhile, there is certain to be good ice at the local arena for at least two of the games, if not all that are necessary to decide the world's championship.

President Patrick wired the Ottawas yesterday that the coast champions would leave for the East early Tuesday, coming right through to the capital.

A referee for the series will be appointed by the league officials and Stanley Cup trustee. World series prices are in vogue, and the sale of seats will start Friday at one o'clock at the arena.

This will be Ottawa's first world series, and it is probable that the big teams will play to the largest crowds that have ever witnessed hockey struggles in the capital.

McClarys and Standard Drug Meet Tonight In the Finals

Brisco Cup Mfrs. League Championship Trophy Goes To Winner With Individual Medals—Close Game Predicted.

The finals of the Manufacturers' League will be played tonight at Westminster Rink between McClarys and the Standard Drug. The Brisco Cup, emblematic of the championship of the league, goes to tonight's winners, as well as individual medals, donated by Mayor Little to the players.

A big crowd watched the semi-finals Tuesday night, and the fans of the league will be out in full force to witness tonight's battle, which has every promise of being one of the best games of hockey staged in the city this winter. McClarys have the edge on paper, but the Standard team have forged ahead the last few weeks, and the Stovemen haven't got an easy evening's work ahead of them. With hard going, the heavy Drug team would have the advantage, but weather indications insure a fast sheet of ice.

McClarys will take their band along, and a big buch of rooters.

Corker Legg has been secured to handle the bell tonight, and this means that both teams will be made play hockey throughout.

The line-up will be:

McClarys.		Standard Drug.
Gleason	Goal	Martin
Buchanan	Defence	Brown
Delaney	Defence	Manning
Campbell	Centre	G. Brown
Clark	Wing	Crittle
Campbell	Wing	Connor

GUELPH TO HAVE SIX TEAMS IN THE SOCCER LEAGUE

City Circuit With Changes and Player Limitations Encouraging Prospects.

GUELPH, March 14.—With prospects for a very successful season before them, there was good reason for the enthusiasm displayed at the annual meeting of the Guelph Football Association held last evening at the Y. M. C. A. The local soccer league will likely have at least six teams entered, the line-up at the present time being Dominion Lines, Guelph Carpet Mills, G. W. V. A., Taylor-Forbes, Paisley Memorial and Sons of England. It was decided to allow the home team to take the entire gate receipts, which is a departure from the former custom of handing a percentage to the association. The entrance fee for each team, however, has been increased to $15, and each player has to pay a 25-cent registration fee.

Notice of motion was given to limit the number of players from sixteen to fourteen. This matter will be dealt with at a later meeting. The following officers were elected for the coming year: Honorary president, J. D. McArthur; president, Alvan S. Simpson; first vice-president, W. Moore; second vice-president, S. S. Law; secretary-treasurer, Charles Moore; executive committee, F. B. Kelly, Capt. Pettman, E. K. Carruthers, T. Lee, S. A. Hamilton and Phil Evans.

Western U. Basketballers Lose Close Semi-Final

Toronto Central "Y" Nose Out 25--24 Win in Queen City in Last Moments—Here Next Friday.

Central Y of Toronto nosed out a win over the Western U. basketballers Saturday night on their own floor in the Queen City by a score of 25 to 24, in the first of the home-and-home games in the O. B. A. semi-finals.

Western led all through the game until the last few minutes. The half-time score was 17 to 13 in favor of the locals, but after that they failed to make their advantage of play count in points. They were decidedly off in their shooting at this stage of the game, too.

The Toronto quintette play the return game here next Friday night, and Coach Brock's outfit have every confidence in their ability to make up the lone point needed to get on even terms with the visitors. Buscombe, who handled the game in Toronto, will handle the final game here.

The Toronto team is a bunch of real battlers, and the local Varsity men will take no chances on getting out of condition between now and Friday night. It will probably be one of the best games to be seen here this season, no matter how much farther the Western U. five travel.

1,238 Miles Covered by Winning Pair—Do Twenty Miles Last Hour.

NEW YORK, March 14.—Alfred Goulett and Jake Magin won the 28th international six-day bicycle race which finished in Madison Square Garden at 11 o'clock Saturday night. The men covered twenty miles during the final hour's riding. Goulett won more than half of the sprints for points single-handed, and breasted the tape a winner in the final dash.

The point totals of the teams were: Goulett-Magin, 1,238; Kaiser-Hill, 573; Dupuy-Hanley, 514; Buysse-Speissens, 294; Godiver-Vannek, 242.

The Egg-Madden pair had won 517 points, but were dropped back to sixth place when they lost a lap.

Five teams covered 2,379 miles and two laps. They were Goulett and Magin, Kaiser and Hill, Dupuy and Hanley, Buysse and Speissens and Godiver and Vannek.

Egg and Madden; Coburn and Kopasky, and Lang and Chapman were one lap behind the leaders.

RIVERVIEW TEAM CHAMPS OF 1920 SCHOOL LEAGUE

Win Memorial Cup and Medals by 7—1 Defeat of Ryerson.

Riverview became the champions of the London Public School Hockey League on Saturday night when they defeated Ryerson by a score of 7 to 1. Not only are they the winners of the memorial cup and medals, but also total strangers to defeat throughout the season.

Both teams were well matched as far as age and weight are concerned, but the Ryerson team wasted a great deal of energy by not playing their positions. There was a good exhibition of checking on both sides, but the visitors found the opposing forward line a hard proposition. Saturday's game was fast throughout and clean, and Jack Greer, who handled the bell, found it necessary to penalize only one player on each team.

First Period.

After three minutes play, G. Pennie carried the puck from behind the Ryerson nets and drove in the first goal, repeating the trick two minutes later by grabbling a rebound. J. Pennie scored goal No. 3 on a pass from Adair, while the latter youngster made the final tally of the period by a neat piece of work all his own.

Three minutes had elapsed when J. Pennie broke loose, and on a red hot shot notched goal No. 5. Graham romped up the ice for one more.

Two minutes later Adair played cross-tag with the Ryerson defence, and scored the seventh goal. During the last minute of this period a scrimmage took place before the Riverview nets. When this fracas was over Stevens had scored for Ryerson.

The last fifteen minutes were scoreless. It was in this period that Ryerson made a supreme effort, but the rally was short lived. Stevens of Ryerson, though the smallest player on the ice, was a credit to his team and has a great future.

The work of Adair and the Pennie brothers was very good. Summary:

First Period: Riverview—G. Pennie, 3 minutes; G. Pennie, 2 minutes; J. Pennie, 4 minutes; Adair, 3 minutes.

Second period: Riverview—J. Pennie, 8 minutes; Graham, 3 minutes; Adair, 2 minutes; Stevens, 6 minutes.

Third period: No goals scored.

CANADIENS BEATEN IN LISTLESS GAME BY IRISHMEN

11 to 4 Score of Last Game of Season At Arena—Five Goals First Period.

TORONTO, March 14.—Canadiens and St. Patricks rang down the National Hockey League curtain here on Saturday night, when in a listless game the Irish beat the once-feared Frenchmen by 11 to 4. The locals attempted to give the fans a run for their money, but the visitors played poor hockey.

St. Patricks tallied five goals in the first period with ease. Manager Kennedy was evidently none too well pleased with his team and he did not again appear on the bench until after the third period began.

During the intermission between the second and third periods a local enthusiast, Mr. Ross, presented Coach Harvey Sproul and the St. Patricks team with a "loving cup." The loving cup was once a teapot, but it had long since outlived its usefulness, and the donor, who is a painter of ability, decfoated it with such skill that to the casual observer it appeared a suitable gift for the runners-up. At any rate it was accepted with rare good grace by the Saints.

The line-up:

Vardon To Be With Touring British Golf Pros

MONTREAL, March 13.—It looks as through Harry Vardon, the six times open British champion, is a certainty in the party of British professionals which will tour the United States and Canada in August and September. There was some doubt of his making the trip, but under date of February 20 he writes to Ralph Reville, the Herald's golf editor, from South Herts Golf Club, London, England:

"I am in great hopes of finding my game going strong this season, and if so I shall certainly make the journey, because I should hate to disappoint both our golfers and yours."

Orient A. A. A. Banquets Players Of London's 1920 Junior Team

End of Successful Season Fittingly Ushered Out—Prospects Bright For Next Year.

The Orient Amateur Athletic Association wound up the junior hockey season Saturday night with a complimentary banquet tendered to the junior team in the Foresters' Hall, and, as there were no Stratford people present, it was an entirely enjoyable affair and a fitting recognition of the end of one of the best season's the junior game has ever experienced in London.

The association started the season with very poor prospects and in a new line of endeavor, which looked anything but promising. That the team worked the way it did and travelled through into the semi-finals is a distinct credit to the officials of the club and the harmony of feeling and co-operation they engendered. Dr. Al Moore, the president of the club, presided over the banquet board, and was ably abetted in the evening's efforts by Manager Dave Wright and Secretary H. V. Doidge, who throughout the entire season had no small part in the operation of the club and in its season's success.

From goal out, the players were given tokens of the occasion, and the guests of the association were not overlooked. Mr. T. Jones represented the London Curling Clug, and he praised the work of the officials of the club in a brief, but eulogistic address.

The association ends the season with a sense of work well done, and have the brightest of prospects for the season of 1920-21.

Brantford Golfers Raise $75,000 For New Club House

BRANTFORD, March 14.—So successful was the three-day campaign of the Brantford Golf and Country Club for $75,000 to erect a new clubhouse and enlarge the greens that the directors have instructed the building commission to go ahead with their plans, and it is expected that the new clubhouse will be available by the end of the year. The campaign, too, will be carried on until next Wednesday, many members being out of the city.

GERMAN COMMUNISTS

as not unexpected or surprising. When Premier Millerand had received sufficiently explicit details, he is said by the Echo de Paris to have convoked a conference of the ambassadors, which reached the determination that the entente governments would not intervene in German internal affairs.

The conference resolved also to advise the German de facto government, whichever it might be, of the intention of the Allies to exact execution of the treaty of Versailles more firmly than ever. The action was interpreted by the Paris press to be an answer to Major-Gen. Von Lossow's declaration that the new German Government was ready to execute the reasonable clauses of the treaty, the word "reasonable" being seized upon by many of the papers for emphasis. Some of the writers refer to recent neutral and allied warnings that an attempt to demand too much in Germany would overturn the Government and bring the militarist party into power, contending that this is disproved by the event.

AUSTRIAN PRESS IS ALARMED BECAUSE OF GERMAN REVOLT.

Vienna, March 15.—The newspapers in their comment on the overthrow of the Ebert Government in Berlin showed marked anxiety over the situation. The Neuiswinger Abandblatt says it is a crime "that a handful of blind generals and other officers who organized the plot" can occupy public buildings, but cannot compel workers to work. It adds that "a durable military victory is impossible."

The Neur Tag says: "Berlin is not all of Germany, and a successful raid is not a victorious revolution. The Entente still has a word to say."

BAVARIAN GOVERNMENT RESIGNS, TROOPS ARE IN POWER IN MUNICH.

Berlin, March 15.—Announcement was made by the new government late last night of reports from Munich that the Bavarian Socialist Government had resigned and that the troops were in control of that city. The reports added that the Landtag would meet on Tuesday to form a new government.

Another announcement by the Kapp Government stated that conditions in East Prussia were quiet, civilians and militia guarding the railways and the postoffices.

REVOLUTION LIKELY TO BE SHORT LIVED IS GENERAL OPINION.

Berlin, March 15.—By the Associated Press.—The conviction has prevailed from the start among men not identified with the present revolution that it will be short-lived, as it is outwardly without the support of the conservatives or the reactionary leaders, and it is viewed in many quarters as a "trial balloon," which will collapse shortly.

The most immediate danger is recognized as a general strike throughout Germany, which has already been proclaimed in many of the principal cities, including Berlin. In the meantime, the old government is recovering its nerve and seems to have very liberal support from the federal states.

NEW GOVERNMENT IS NOT RECOGNIZED BY ALLIED COMMISSION.

NEW GOVT

London, March 15.—One of the first acts of the new government in Berlin was to request recognition from the allied commissions in Germany, according to an official British message today. The request was ignored, the commissioners taking the attitude that they would not extend recognition even to the extent of answering the communication.

An official message filed in Berlin at 6:30 o'clock last night said there was no confirmation of the reports that the sailors at Kiel and Altona had gone over to the new government.

AMERICAN TROOPS NOT TO PARTICIPATE UNTIL WILSON GIVES THE WORD.

Washington, D.C., March 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—While technically still under the direction of Marshal Foch, American troops on the Rhine will not participate in any allied advance into Germany without specific directions from President Wilson, it was said today at the war department.

Officials said the situation so far as the American forces were concerned, was a complex one. The United States is the only nation having troops on the Rhine which has not become a party to the treaty of Versailles, it was explained, and consequently the American detachment still is governed by the terms of the armistice. Under these terms they still were subjected technically to the orders of Marshal Foch as the supreme allied commander.

The American forces on the Rhine consists of about 13,000 troops under Major-General Henry T. Allen.

BERNSTORFF GOES TO STUTTGART TO SEE OUSTED OFFICIALS.

Berlin, March 15.—Count von Bernstorff, former German ambassador at Washington, is reported to have gone to Stuttgart to negotiate with President Ebert and Premier Bauer of the government which was ousted on Saturday by the reactionary revolt.

Measures looking to arrests calculated to present an uprising against the new regime have been abandoned, according to a statement issued here yesterday, but a communist named Levy is said to be imprisoned.

The Government will not exercise control of newspapers, all of which, including the Vorwaerts and the Freiheit, will reappear today.

PRUSSIAN MINISTERS REFUSE TO TAKE OFFICE IN NEW GOVERNMENT

London, March 15.—A conference took place in the chancellery in Berlin last night, at which attempts were made to complete the cabinet of the new government, the Exchange Telegraph Company correspondent at Berlin reports. Dr. Albert Suerekum, Prussian minister of finance, Herr Oeser, Prussian minister of railways, Lord Mayor Daumig, Dr. Schille and August Winning, former president of East Prussia, were participants in the conference. Herr Suedekum and Herr Oeser refused to accept places in the government, but the others are reported to have agreed to enter it.

Chicago, March 15.—Opening: Corn—May, $1 47¾; July, $1 41⅝.

Oats—May, 82½c; July, 75¼c.

Chicago, March 15.—Corn displayed considerable strength today, chiefly owing to reports that eastern roads had been ordered to furnish 300 cars a day to Chicago corn shippers. Besides, Liverpool cables in regard to corn trading seemed to favor the bulls. At first, however, the market was inclined to sag as a result of more liberal receipts here, and because of disturbed conditions in Germany. Opening prices, which varied from the same as Saturday's finish to ⅜c lower, were followed by a material upturn all around.

Oats paralleled the action of corn. After opening unchanged to ½c lower, with July at 75¼c, the market scored a moderate rally.

DECLINE IN EXCHANGE.

New York, March 15.—A decline in sterling exchange marked the opening of the market today, demand bills being quote dat the rate of $3 64¾, or 2¾c below Saturday's closing figure.

Demand sterling rose to $3 65¼ in the first half hour.

Canadian dollars were quoted at a discount of 11⅞ per cent.

WALL STREET.

New York, March 15.—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—The only notable exception to the moderately heavy tone at the opening of today's stock market was Crucible Steel, which immediately added 5 points to last Saturday's 16-point advance. This was increased to almost 10 points within the first half hour. In some quarters of the list trading seemed to be influenced by further uncertainty respecting the course of foreign legislation and latest developments in Germany.

Noon.—When the shorts were driven to cover in Crucible, which extended its early rise, oils and motors began to advance, also equipments, tobaccos and numerous specialties. General Motors dropped 2½ points, Mexican Petroleum and Texas Company 5 and 8 points respectively, and American Car, American Woolen, Industrial Alcohol, Sumatra Tobacco, California Packing 2 to 4 points. A few of the high-priced rails strengthened, but in general that division was backward.

GENERAL STRIKE SPREADING ALL OVER GERMANY

All Cafes Closed in Berlin—Prussian Railwaymen Threaten.

NO CABINET FORMED

Von Jagow, Notable Reactionary, Mentioned For Minister of Interior.

BERLIN, March 14.—(By the Associated Press).—The new cabinet has not yet been formed, but it is definitely known that Dr. Kroutt von Jagow, former chief of police of Berlin, and a notable reactionary, will be Prussian Minister of the Interior.

The other appointments are in abeyance. It is proposed for the present to have only a two-man cabinet, or directorate composed of Dr. Wolfgang Kapp and Major-General Baron von Luettwitz.

Minister of Transportation Oeser has informed Kapp that the railway employees of Prussia objected to a cabinet in which Kapp and von Jagow are represented, and that if they remained in office the entire railway forces would strike. The Government declined to make a promise.

Strike Spreading.

The general strike is spreading all over Germany. It was effective in Berlin today. All the cafes were closed.

The socialist cabinet at Munich has retired and a bourgeoisie cabinet is being formed.

The censorship has been removed as a result of the representations of the foreign correspondents, who called on Kapp and protested against the censorship of Ignatius Tribitich Lincoln, once a member of the British Parliament, but who was deported from England in 1919 after his English naturalization had been revoked. The correspondents claimed that Lincoln was holding dispatches from twelve to eighteen hours.

One of Callers.

General Ludendorff, former chief quartermaster-general, was one of the callers at the chancellor's office today. August Winning, president of East Prussian, and a member of the Right Socialist Party, and Dr. Alberto W. Suedekum, former Prussian minister of finance, who is also a socialist, have been in negotiation with the new government.

Conservatives and National Liberals have promised to support Kapp, provided he appoints experts as ministers and issues writs for new elections within 60 days.

HALF MILLION PEOPLE IN UNTER DEN LINDEN, BUT CLASHES ABSENT

BERLIN, March 15.—(Associated Press.)—The city at this hour is very quiet (12:15 a.m.). There were half a million people in Unter Den Linden yesterday, but no clashes with the troops were reported. The military patrol seems to have the situation in hand, but the real test is expected to come today or tomorrow, when the general strike probably will be in full swing.

Chancellor Kapp today told newspaper correspondents that the government would not hesitate forcibly to suppress any action by strikers. As yet there is no visible political support for the government, but reports indicate that the government is winning the support of troops in South Germany, and that its prestige has risen considerably since Saturday.

SECOND SCHLESWIG ZONE FOR GERMANY

COPENHAGEN, March 15.—Unofficial figures of the plebiscite in the second Schleswig zone up to midnight show an overwhelming majority for Germany. No Danish majority has thus far been recorded in any district. The German majorities are three or four to one.

MANY CASES OF RHEUMATISM NOW

Says We Must Keep Feet Dry, Avoid Exposure and Eat Less Meat.

Stay off the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat less meat, drink lots of water and above all take a spoonful of salts occasionally to keep down uric acid.

Rheumatism is caused by poisonous toxin, called uric acid, which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which overcomes uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well.

WATCH YOUR GUMS— BLEEDING A SIGN OF TROUBLE

Medical science knows how serious is the sign of bleeding gums. For it knows that tender and bleeding gums are the fore-runners of Pyorrhea, that dread disease which afflicts four out of five people over forty.

If the disease is unchecked, the gum-line recedes, the teeth decay, loosen and fall out, or must be extracted to rid the system of the Pyorrhea poisons generated at their base—poisons which seep into the system and wreck the health. They cause rheumatism, nervous disorders, anaemia, and many other ills.

To avoid Pyorrhea, visit your dentist often for tooth and gum inspection, and use Forhan's For the Gums. Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhea or check its progress, if used in time and used consistently. Ordinary dentifrices cannot do this. Forhan's keeps the gums firm and healthy—the teeth white and clean. Start using it today. If gum-shrinkage has already set in, use Forhan's according to directions and consult your dentist immediately for special treatment.

35c and 60c tubes in Canada and U. S. If your druggist cannot supply you send to us direct and we will mail tube postpaid.

XXVI. The Man in the Dark.

Tony disappeared as rapidly as he had come into view.

"Tony Lascelles—your son's foster-brother—I never dreamed of such a thing!" I gasped, staring at my companion. "Oh, it surely isn't possible!"

"Indeed it is—as I know to my sorrow!" she replied. Her sweet, middle-aged face wore a startled, strained expression. She gazed after the retreating Tony. "It's Tony Lascelles, who has got my Jim into all this trouble! I'm positive of that!"

Waves of emotion swept over me. Tony who had forged the check—Tony who had bought the diamond bracelet —oh, if it were only true, and Jim were cleared!

My brain was whirling. For a moment or two I could frame no definite, coherent thought. Then a vision of Alice Anstruther rose up before me—a complacent, pretty Alice, flaunting her bauble before my miserable eyes!

Tony had given her the diamond bracelet! My Jim was innocent! Yes, innocent! Even in his delirium he had protested that the accusations against himself had been a lie—"an infernal lie."

"I know—who did—it!" he had muttered, before sinking back into unconsciousness. All afternoon this phrase had puzzled me. . . .

But now, tonight, Jim's mother had arrived to throw light upon her son's unconscious mutterings. Tony Lascelles, she said, had been the guilty party!

Tony himself, at sight of her, had slunk off like a whipped cur. That was odd. Extremely odd, too, how at the last minute, for no logical reason, he'd backed out of going to the railway station to meet Jim's mother, once he'd learned of her relationship with Jim!

Yes, I began to see daylight now!

And—that memorable afternoon at tea! Alice's confusion when I remarked upon the bracelet that she wore! A slow, self-conscious red had crept into her cheeks.

"The bracelet was given me by a friend of my husband's," she had said, explanatory-wise.

"An expensive gift!" Tony had supplemented, grimly. I'd wondered over that sarcastic comment.

But now I understood. Thank heaven, I understood! Tony—forging the check for which my Jim had been so wrongfully blamed—had been—the foolish giver!

I drew a long, deep breath of ecstasy. My eyes shone like stars. I could have hugged Jim's mother, then and there.

Dear Jim! Oh, I'd been wicked, cruel, in daring to disbelieve my Jim!

The awful problem to be faced now was—would he ultimately forgive me? And—even if forgiving—could he ever forget the detestable suspicions I had harbored?

"Your—your information astounds me!" I muttered to my companion. "I —I've known Mr. Tony Lascelles for some time—"

Jim's mother turned in the car and looked at me. She could just dimly see my face. And then we swung around a corner of the drive, and the lights of Anstruther Lodge fell full upon us both.

"I guess that Tony Lascelles has been making love to you," she said. "He never could resist a pretty woman! And —forgive me, Miss Beauclare—you are so pretty!"

I started over the name of "Miss Beauclaire."

If she only knew that I was no longer Helene Beauclare, but Mrs. Jim St. Aubyns, her son's secret wife!

The car drew up before the door, and we alighted. After the formalities of introduction were over, I led her straight to Jim's room, the nurse following.

Jim was still asleep. A nightlight glowed beneath a shade beside his bed. It cast an eerie shadow across his good-looking young face.

I longed to kneel down beside his sleeping form, and then and there proclaim him as my husband.

But now was not the fitting time for such a dramatic scene.

"Jim!" His mother tiptoed close up to his pillow. Tears were running down her cheeks as she regarded him. "Oh, Jim—"

I could not bear to watch the two of them. A queer, ridiculous jealousy did actually seize me—a feeling of which I was most heartily ashamed. For this kindly, grey-haired woman could acknowledge her relationship with Jim—and I could not!

And so I slipped away. I wanted—desperately—to be alone. Regrets had seized me—vain regrets for the once-possible Might-Have-Been!

"Jim innocent—and I thought him guilty!" The words reiterated through my brain. "He never will forgive me —never!"

After our ecstatic honeymoon I'd taken our happiness in my obstinate, stupid hands, and flung it far away.

Rightfully, legally, ethically, I should now have been beside Jim's bed. Too late! Regretting was of no avail.

I sped across the wide hall, opened a side door, and slipped out into the chilly darkness. Nearby the lights of the garage shone out, a cheerful beacon.

But I turned away in an opposite direction, anxious to be alone.

If only Jim and I could be in my little flat tonight—together—oh, how happy I should be! How gladly would I nurse him, work for him!

A path ran down beside a privet hedge. I followed it, stumbling occasionally as I walked. Tears—stupid, babyish tears—sprang to my eyes, so that the darkness seemed more dense than ever.

But I wasn't frightened of the dark. The only thing I feared was something that now seemed to me inevitable —the loss of my young husband's love!

Until the cataclysm how proud I'd been of Jim! He was my hero. Yes, and—now I knew the truth—he was my hero still.

There was a sudden crackling of twigs beside me, the glow of a cigar, and a tall form loomed up.

"Helene! Helene!" Before I realized just what was happening I was seized in a man's strong arms, and hot, terrifying kisses were being rained upon my face!

SIR ADAM BECK IS BACK FROM ENGLAND GREATLY IMPROVED

Lady Beck Coming Soon as She Is Strong Enough to Travel.

Sir Adam Beck arrived in London shortly after 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. He has been absent in England for three months, part of which time both he and Lady Beck were critically ill. Lady Beck, in fact, was unable to accompany him on the homeward trip, because of her condition. It is expected that she will be able to make the journey in a short time.

In spite of his recent illness Sir Adam seemed to be in excellent condition. No formal reception was tendered him, out of respect to the day, but he was warmly greeted by a delegation composed of members of the London and Port Stanley Commission, the city council, utilities commission, city and railroad officials and personal friends.

Sir Adam made the trip from England on the Mauretania, landing at New York. He travelled to St. Thomas on the Michigan Central, but owing to missing connections at Buffalo, he arrived at the Railway City much later than expected. As a result the London delegation, which had gone there on a special car to meet him, was unable to make an inspection of the new L. and P. S. R. station as planned.

Immediately on arrival in London, the members of the party were the guests of Philip Pocock at an informal luncheon in the Tecumseh House.

It is expected that Sir Adam will become active in public life immediately.

Still a Responsibility.

"I feel that there is responsibility still on my shoulders so far as the province is concerned," he said. "Affairs in London are being carried on under much more able direction than mine, but there is another big project under way which I may be asked to consider, and if I am I know that we will all be strenuously opposed. It will need support and co-operation to carry it through. We are not through the wilderness so far as public ownership is concerned.

"I need not mention the interests that will oppose it, but we hope to have the co-operation of both governments, and we feel that the elections in the various municipalities point to their hearty support."

It is rumored that as chairman of the London and Port Stanley Commission Sir Adam will take an immediate part in municipal affairs.

The city of London bill will come before the city council tonight. It contains a clause to authorize the issue of $105,000 debentures for capital expenditures on the London and Port Stanley Railway. Sir Adam may come before the council to express his opinion of this measure.

ASKS FOR ALIMONY, CLAIMING TEMPER OF HUSBAND BAD

Mrs. Bearss Says Husband Did Not Speak Civilly For a Year.

Florence Eva Bearss of this city has entered suit against her husband, Edward Bearss of Blanshard Township, Perth County, for allmony. The trial of the action is to take place at the assize court this month.

The plaintiff claims that she was married to the defendant on May 7, 1904. Some years ago, she alleged, he developed a temper. She claims that her regular attendance at church and a missionary society was his chief reason for this. The statement of claim further sets out that he denounced the church and the society; that at times he would work himself up to such a fury that he would pound the table and make the dishes jump, and that on one occasion he beat a colt so hard that it was necessary to call a veterinary surgeon to save its life; that he had told the plaintiff that if it were not for his children he would not care whether or not he were hanged. She claims that he did not speak civilly to her for a year and that he often would go to the telephone, hold down the receiver and talk to the wall.

These actions, she alleges, culminated in her leaving his house on January 25, 1920, and taking Orloe, an eight-year-old child, with her.

The defendant denies these allegations, and states that his wife went away on one occasion for a week to attend a religious meeting, and did not tell him of it; also that while he drove his son, Howard, to high school on January 25, she left his house.

W. C. Fitzgerald is acting for the plaintiff, and J. W. Graham of St. Marys for the defendant.

Venner Vs. Lerner.

Venner vs. Lerner, a jury action, also has been entered for trial at the coming sessions.

George E. Venner, the plaintiff, claims that on December 14, he agreed that the defendant, Max Lerner, should purchase a house for him. The defendant found one and said that it would cost $3,500, which included $100 commission. After $1,250 had been paid, the defendant asked that the plaintiff execute a mortgage for the balance. The plaintiff claims that the defendant paid only $1,250 for the property, which in on Saunby street. He therefore claims $1,150 damages for misrepresentation, and asks for an injunction preventing the defendant from disposing of his property.

The defendant claims that he was not an agent, but became the absolute owner of the land before he sold it to the plaintiff.

Theatregoers will recall the sensation which the play created when it was first produced twelve years ago, and the controversy which arose over the astonishing portrayal of the role of the "Drainman" by Mr. Power. Dramatic critics, both in New York, and in all the principal centres of the population throughout the United States and Canada, agreed that Mr. Power had created a character that was destined to stand out prominently among the most notable of a decade. LONDON VETERANS UNITE TO DEMAND LARGER GRATUITIES

Central Council Is Formed to Deal With Problems Affecting Soldiers.

All soldier organizations in this city have united to support the request for a war bonus of $2,000, $1,500 and $1,000 respectively for those who have served in France, England and Canada. A resolution to this effect was adopted at a meeting composed of representatives of the three local returned soldier associations held on Saturday evening in the Army and Navy clubrooms, when a "central veterans' council for London" was formed. A copy of the resolution is to be forwarded to each member of Parliament from Middlesex.

The new organization is a representative council of all the soldier organizations in London, and has for its purpose the discussion and handling of matters of importance affecting veterans in general. It is looked upon by the members of the different organizations as the first step toward a grand solidarity of purpose, which now, more than ever, is deemed by them as the only solution of the vexing problems which are said to confront the veterans in Canada.

Comrade G. P. French of the Grand Army of Canada, was elected president; Comrade Chester Butler of the Great War Veterans, vice-president; and Comrade W. Casson of the Army and Navy Veterans, secretary of the council. A committee, consisting of W. Casson, E. A. Pocock and G. Tustin was appointel to prepare a constitution and bylaws.

The organization meeting was attended by five elected representatives from each of the bodies concerned. All business was conducted with smoothness and with a seeming oneness of purpose among those present. The name for the council was selected unanimously and the officers were all elected by acclamation.

Unity the Only Way.

The question of a further gratuity, or as it was decided to refer to it, "the war bonus," was thoroughly discussed. It was the belief of those present that the members of all the associations in London were in favor of the graduated scale with a maximum amount of $2,000. It was felt that the only way the returned men could gain this request was to strive for it with a singleness of purpose.

A motion was passed to the effect that all veterans engaged in business should receive the practical support and encouragement of all their comrades, was heartily indorsed. The suggestion was made that each association should have in its club rooms a form of business directory of all veterans in business in this city in order that all its members might know which stores were deserving of their support and patronage.

Labor conditions in so far as the veterans were concerned came in for a great deal of discussion, and it was decided that the man who knowingly and willingly acted in the capacity of a strike-breaker should be strongly and vigorously condemned. He should be considered, also, absolutely unworthy to be accepted as a veteran and a comrade.

The new system of co-operation between the vocational branch of the department of soldiers' civil re-establishment and organized labor in this city was lauded by several of the speakers. It was generally felt that it would be the means of bringing about a more harmonious relationship between labor and war veterans.

SPRINKLER SYSTEM WRECKS INTERIOR OF CHATHAM STORE

Thousands of Damage Done When Tons of Water Are Released.

CHATHAM, March 14. — Damage, which will amount to several thousands of dollars, was caused by the bursting of a sprinkler system on the roof of the Charles Austin store at noon today. The releasing of the water rang the fire alarm, but it was some time before the firemen could stop the leak. Huge volumes of water surged through three stories and created havoc in the furniture and drygoods departments.

CO-OPERATORS PLAN TO SECURE GREATER PURCHASING POWER

BRANTFORD, March 13. — Brant County Co-operators, meeting here this afternoon, declared in favor of uniting all such societies in Ontario in order to secure greater buying power and financial strength. It was also announced that after having outgrown two warehouses the local society would have to secure a new warehouse at once.

FORMER BUTLER SUES SIR CLIFFORD SIFTON

TORONTO, March 14.—Sir Clifford Sifton is being sued by George Holmes of this city for $3,000 damages for alleged wrongful dismissal. Holmes claims that he was a butler for Sir Clifford at the time the fire at the Sifton residence in this city in the early morning of January 20 last drove the family out to the streets, and that in saving Sir Clifford's life and the residence from destruction by fire he became physically incapacitated, and that owing to this incapacitation he was dismissed from Sir Clifford's service.

RUPTURE KILLS 7,000 ANNUALLY

Seven thousand persons each year are laid away—the burial certificate being marked "Rupture." Why? Because the unfortunate ones had neglected themselves or had been merely taking care of the sign (swelling) of the affliction and paying no attention to the cause. What are you doing? Are you neglecting yourself by wearing a truss, appliance, or whatever name you choose to call it? At best, the truss is only a makeshift—a false prop against a collapsing wall—and cannot be expected to act as more than a mere mechanical support. The binding pressure retards blood circulation, thus robbing the weakened muscles of that which they need most—nourishment.

But science has found a way, and every truss sufferer in the land is invited to make a FREE test right in the privacy of their own home. The PLAPAO method is unquestionably the most scientific, logical and successful self-treatment for rupture the world has ever known.

The PLAPAO PAD when adhering closely to the body cannot possibly slip or shift out of place, therefore, cannot chafe or pinch. Soft as velvet—easy to apply—inexpensive. To be used whilst you work and whilst you sleep. No straps, buckles or springs attached.

Learn how to close the hernial opening as nature intended so the rupture CAN'T come down. Send your name today to PLAPAO CO., Block 413, St. Louis, Mo., for FREE trial Plapao and the information necessary.

BEATTY, C. P. R. HEAD, HOPES FOR SUCCESS OF NATIONAL LINES

Welcomes Competition, Tells Toronto Hearers.

WELCOME BROTHERHOODS

Representatives of Union Labor Organizations Attend Banquet For First Time.

TORONTO, March 14.—(By Canadian Press).—The fourth annual official banquet of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company was held Saturday night at the King Edward Hotel, attended by some six hundred guests, who arrived by special trains from the eastern and western parts of the Dominion and from the United States at an early hour in the day. They were representative officials and employees of every department of the C. P. R. service.

The feature of the function was the speech delivered by President E. W. Beatty, K.C., who announced that he welcomed the competition of the Canadian National Railways and emphasized the fact that the Government railway system "is and will be an extensive system, which will probably increase in magnitude. We all hope it will be a success," he added, "and we do not need to be altruists to harbor that hope. I think I can say with perfect candor that no man in Canada has more reason to hope for its success than I have."

Had Two Reasons.

Mr. Beatty said he had two reasons for this hope, because the success of the publicly-owned system meant the gradual release of the burden on the taxpayer, and the C. P. R. is a fairly heavy taxpayer, and secondly, because the factors which would contribute to the National Railways' success would also insure the further and continued success of the Canadian Pacific.

Apart from the holding of the official banquet outside of Montreal this year another innovation was the fact that for the first time representatives of the railway brotherhoods throughout the Dominion were in attendance as the guests of the company. One of the features of an eventful evening was the emphasizing of the relationship, which was growing stronger day by day between the skilled laboring men and the officials of Canada's great system.

Welcomes Labor Men.

Vice-President A. D. MacTier drew special attention to this fact. "I desire," said he, "to say a word of very special welcome to the representatives of the great railway organization who are with us tonight for the first time at our annual banquet, and I hope and trust that they may be with us on every such future occasion. I have for the past eighteen months had the great privilege of being closely associated on the Canadian Railway Board of Adjustment with a number of gentlemen representing these organizations. The experience has allowed me to know them and their aims far better than I should otherwise have done, and to admire and respect them to a very marked degree. I desire specially to welcome these gentlemen because their presence here tonight is the visible proof, were one needed, of that wonderful C. P. R. unity. The C. P. R. does not alone consist of tracks, roundhouses, yards and so on, but it has a far greater asset in its esprit de corps—a living spirit which has joined up these material things and made the C. P. R. a company of which we are all so proud."

W. G. Chester, chairman of the employees' co-operative board, stated that he appreciated very highly the courtesy that had been extended to the men. "This is not the first time," said he, "that an invitation has been extended to representatives of organized labor on an occasion of this kind, and I am sure that the rest of the employees feel as much pleased at the company's invitation as myself." Mr. Chester went on to say that he felt very much at home because he could see many men sitting around him who had held positions as conductors, brakemen and firemen, in days gone by. He expressed the opinion that one of the main things in building the C. P. R. to further greatness would be the selection of men who knew their work and do it. There is no finer body of men in the country than those who engage in the service of the C. P. R.," declared Mr. Chester emphatically. "Organized labor has tried to play the game fairly and they have had their part in building up the company. I believe that every employee has the interests of the company as much at heart as the officers. I know this from what they say to each other. Our interests are, and must be, all the same because the success of the company means the success of the employess."

Proof of the Spirit Theory Is Beyond Doubt, Says Lodge

Sir Oliver Tells Toronto Audience of Evidence.

TORONTO, March 14. — "Proven phenomena relating to the survival of life after death are overwhelming in number," declared Sir Oliver Lodge, the noted English scientist and spiritist, in a lecture here Saturday night. It was the first lecture given in Canada by Sir Oliver since 1884, in which year he appeared before the British Association in Montreal.

"The Evidence for Survival," was the subject of Sir Oliver Lodge's lecture last night. He spoke of his friend Meyers, who had passed on some years ago, and from whom he had received messages which to him proved beyond doubt the survival after death.

Kitchener's second annual automobile show was informally opened in the market building Saturday night. The display of cars is much more complete than that of last year, owing to the fact the building affords more floor space. There was a large crowd in attendance in spite of the inclement weather. The show will be formally opened by Mayor Eden on Monday night.

Arthur Foley, found guilty of burglarizing the factory of the Robe and Clothing Company, was sentenced to not less than three months or more than two years at Burwash today by Magistrate Weir.

The Telephone Situation.

Serving as Many as Possible

In communities in which telephone development is greatest there is a very general use of two-party line service. Four-party service for residence purposes is also widely used.

We are recommending two-party service at this time because of the world shortage of telephone material. We wish to serve as many applicants as possible with the cable and central office facilities available. The general use of two-party service will mean double the number of installations that would be possible if we devoted all our facilities to individual line connections.

Similar conditions of material shortage are being met everywhere. It is one of the inevitable results of the colossal waste of war.

In extending two-party development we are endeavoring to meet a trying situation in a manner that will provide the convenience of telephone connection to the maximum number of applicants.
