A meeting of the horticultural board of the Western Fair was held vesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Chairman James Gray, Vice-Chairman H. J Childs and nine other members today of the Labor government's were present.

The old bylaws were gone over, and some needed changes in the regulation of exhibits were made. It was that the scheme is an essential part decided that in future exhibits will of Great Britain's complete defended that in future exhibits will sive made notice in the Pacific. be roped off while judges are at work, and no person will be permitted to interfere while the judging takes place The matter of enlarging the room for exhibits was discussed. It was proposed that the flower exhibit have the whole north building, the fruit the center building and vegetables the south building. This will be possible if other arrangements can be made with exhibits that usually occupy the south building. In the meantime it was left as unfinished business in the hands of the executive, who will work it out as best

Several changes were made in the prize lists, and the collection of 15 varieties of apples was struck out on the recommendation of the department of agriculture, which seeks to encourage the growing of fewer varieties. It was declared that both the fruit growers and shippers agreed of the department of the departm with the department.

The prize for Ben Davis apples will likely be discontinued, though Mr. McCormick stated that he had eaten them after all other apples had gone
There will be three exhibits in the box-packed apples—Duchess, Wealthy and MacIntosh Red.

The bad condition of the country roads prevented some of the members from attending. Of the 20 members Toronto Grand Jury Comments the following were on hand: James Gray, J. H. Saunders, H. J. every day you could throw the toothbrush away" was one of the many interesting suggestions made last night before the Talbot Street Mothers' Club by Miss Isabel Craig, supervisor of household science teachers. who gave a talk there on "Diet." This suggestion, she said, came from Dr. Crane and fitted in with the idea that if the mothers of the city would use more green vegetables in their homes they would need no spring tonics for their children. The speaker laid great stress on the study of food values, and suggested a model noonday meal and supper for children. She advised the use of milk freely in all cooking.

It wasn't the object of the domestic science department of the public tic science department of the public schools to turn out expert cooks or dressmakers, but rather to give the children an interest in these arts so closely connected with the home, and to change what they considered menial labor into a scientific task. She did not agree that the public schools could do away with the do-mestic science classes, owing to lack of school accommodation in the city, as had been suggested. There were but eight domestic science kitchen; in the city schools, and many of these were located in the basements of the buildings, so very little extra room would be gained by daine away. room would be gained by doing away with the classes. It cost but $14 a month to run one of these kitchens. R. I. Watson was another speaker of the evening, who urged the mothers to support the coming welfare drive. poisons form in the accumulated food waste. These poisons, absorbed by the blood, are carried throughout the body. Headaches follow. Biliousness, sleepless nights, lack of energy, all result from constipation. Each of these takes away piecemeal something of your health and strength. In time, intestinal poisoning due to lack of internal cleanliness may cause the breakdown of some vital organ.

In constipation, say intestinal specialists, lies the primary cause of more than three-quarters of all illness including the gravest diseases of life.

Laxatives Aggravate Constipation

Laxatives and cathartics do not overcome constipation, says a noted authority, but by their continued use tend only to aggravate the condition and often lead to permanent injury.

THEN you are constipated, Medical science, through knowledge of the intestinal tract gained by X-ray observation, has found at last in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage through and out of the body. Thus Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

WORM POWDER

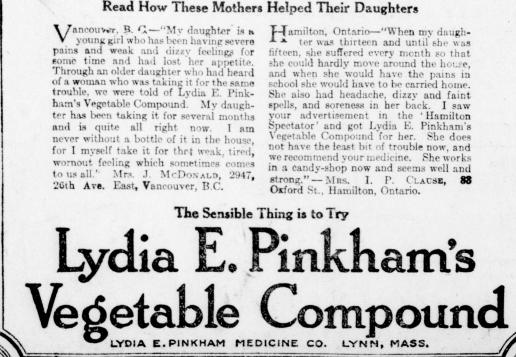

Physicians Favor Lubrication

Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world. Nujol is not a medicine or laxative and cannot gripe. Like pure water it is harmless.

Get rid of constipation and avoid disease by adopting the habit of internal cleanliness. Take Nujol as regularly as you brush your teeth or wash your face. For sale by all druggists.

Abolishing the

Show Wedding

If Only the Bride Didn't Demand a Ten-Minute Splurge at the Wedding, the Average Newlyweds Could Begin Life Free of Debt, Earning Thanks of Family and Friends.

The Turks have passed a law prohibiting elaborate and costly marriage eremonials and forbidding the giving of expensive wedding presents. What a pity that we cannot have such an edict issued in this co. atry!

would do more to allay heart burn ings and jealousies, prevent nervous prostration and bankruptcy and promote peace and thrift than to officially "can" the show wedding. In all fairness, we must admit that the display wedding is a feminine vice. No man, probably, ever really yearned to make a public exhibition of himself as he was being led as a lamb to the slaughter. But by the time she is 10 years old, the average girl has begun planning her wedding and deciding whether she will have a big church affair, with ushers and flower girls and ring bearers and maids and matrons of honor and bridesmaids, and satin dress and a real lace veil, and all the other flubdubs, or whether she will be married at home under a floral canopy, with an admiring audience fenced off from her by white ribbons. And to realize this ten-minute splurge she is ready to ruthlessly ruin her family and half kill herself. If she doesn't get ill, she goes through life feeling that she has missed her big moment. It is from this silly, dopey day-dream that women should be rescued by law, since few of them have the common sense and good taste

To begin with, it would do away with the disgraceful, barefaced holdips that precede weddings. These are camouflaged under the appropriate name of "showers," for they cause every friend of an engaged girl to shed salt and bitter tears at the realization of how much they will be mulcted for in silk-stocking showers, and handkerchief showers, and towel showers. and kitchen showers, and all the other showers that go to make up a bridal

It would also prevent that sick feeling at the pit of the stomach with which we are attacked at sight of a large, thick white envelope in the mail. We know that it means a "stand-and-deliver present, which somehow always comes just at a time when the rent is over-due, or a doctor bill has to be paid, or we had saved up a little money by pinching economics to buy a new hat or suit.

It isn't that we are stingy or mean, or that we begrudge a gift to a friend. It is only that we would like to give when we could do so freely, nd enjoy the giving, instead of having to give at a time when it is actudly dishonest to bestow a present. Why, I have actually known people who had to put off needed dental work or taking a sick child to the country when three or four wedding presents fell together. The wedding gift was a debt of honor. "They sent us a set of salad forks," "She gave us a clock when we were married," and it had to be returned in kind.

The abolition of the show wedding would prolong the days of many a poor, old, hard-worked father, whose daughter's trousseau is the straw that breaks the camet's back.

It is not because she needs them, or has any use for them, that Sally Ann who is a poor girl marrying a poor young man, has to have piles o orchid chiffon undergarments, hand-embroidered and belaced and beril oned. It is because they are to be displayed to her catty friends, who will finger them, and appraise them, and criticize them, and then go home wondering how her father is ever going to pay for them. If her lingeriere not Exhibit A at the wedding Sally Ann would go along and provide perself with a reasonable amount of underwear that would stand wear and washing, and not run papa into debt.

But Sally Ann has to have her show wedding. She has to trail up the church aisle in her white satin and her tulle veil, and all the rest of it. And by the time father had paid for the church and the flowers, and the bridesmaid's presents, and the reception, and the automobiles, he has had to borrow money at the bank and has saddled himself with a debt that bends his back a little more, and puts new lines in his face, and adds to his burden in work and worry, which was already, more than he could bear.

And it has all been for a few minutes' flaunting of herself in the face of an audience of people who smiled and nudged each other, and said: 'Did you ever see her look so homely? Brides always look their worst." "Wonder what he ever saw in her to make him pick her out. "Is that the bridegroom Looks like a scared rabbit." "How on earth do you suppose her father wil ever pay for this? Everybody knows he can't afford it, and so on, and so on. Just what everybody says at a wedding.

Above all, the abolition of the show wedding and the saving of the foolish expenditure it involved would enable many a young couple to set up housekeeping out of debt; and, best of all, they would begin life simply and honestly, and with the admiration and gratitude of all who know them

Getting married is the crucial act in a man's and woman's life. It is the most awful and solemn thing they ever do. And why they want to have a thousand curious eyes peering at them when they take the step that is going to plunge them into hell or lift them into heaven passes comprehension. It would not be more incongruous to send out invitations to people to come and watch you die than it is to come and see you married.

Wise that young couple who simply slip around to the parson and make their vows at the altar, with no one but God to look on. DOROTHY DIX.

REMBRANDT, according to Vernon Howe Bailey, is credited with being the first great artist to paint an industrial subject. The father of the famous Dutch painter was a miller. His mill stood by a river on a high bluff. Rembrandt saw its picturesque possibilities, with its round towers and windmill arms outlined against the landscape, and he made it the subject of a painting, much to the amusement, doubtless, of his neighbors, who didn't see why one should paint common, everyday things like mills when he might be depicting saints, castles and war horses. It is human nature to despise that with which we are familiar.

The best way to tell how far along we have got on our road from "the heritage of the beast" is by what we like. And we do not like a thing as an object of beauty until we have ceased to be in earnest about it. LAST-MINUTE COUNTER WINS FOR TIGER PROS

Prodger Scores Deciding Tally More Trouble That Defeats St. Pats

Forbes and Roach Give Stellar Performances in Rival Goals.

Hamilton Tigers defeated Toronto St. Pats 6—5 here last night in the first exhibition of pro hockey ever staged in London. Everything went well, even to Goldie Prodger, London's that they protested the game on the only professional hockey product, ground that the whole Huntingford scoring the winning tally with about the Irish goal, after he had snaked his way down on a lone rush.

After playing their systematized style of hockey for two periods and half way through the third, the two teams pulled the throttle open, and while they didn't put their usual venom into their work it was sufficiently hearty and heavy to get the ciently hearty and heavy to get the crowd out of its apparent coma, and finally had them cheering and on the verge of real enthusiasm. Otherwise it was a very sedate encounter.

Those of the fans who expected to see many of the pew-holders shudder settled old scores were naturally disappointed. Those who think hockey at highest is madly rushing around ircles and chewing blizzards of in circles and chewing bitzards of ice-flakes were naturally somewhat disappointed, too. They saw more speed in spots than was ever seen on a local rink, but only in spots, and it was straight-ahead motion, being used by people who know exactly it was straight-anead motion, being used by people who knew exactly where they were going and fairly well what was going to happen when they got there. It seemed slow and deliberate work until the teams went out wide open in the last ten minutes, and then the fans saw brilliant stick-handling, tearing speed, and team-play speeded up to the last notch.

Green, 14:00.

Third period—Randall, 8:50; Holloway, 9:20; Corbeau, 10:30; Noble, 19:00; Prodger, 19:20.

The first fifty minutes was educational, the last ten convincing. Even tional, the last ten convincing. Even the slowed-down first two periods was a revelation of polished play and teamwork grounded on system. The fact that ten men weren't all trying to pick on a poor little puck all evening served to give a slow motion effect but at the same time it was fect, but at the same time it was brought out why some of the best amateur goalkeepers and defence men will always play amateur and never join the major performers. Forbes, the diminutive comedian who guards the Tiger lair, and John Ross ach, the incomparable, in the Irish nets, gave a smart performance, the former having the better chance to do his stuff. He batted pucks out of these days. The St. Thomas swimthe air, juggled them on the points of his elbows and then punted them to straight down the ice. The defence didn't aim to let attacks through, but if they got through, the net-ninders had to earn their money. The pros never get into each other's

Exchange

Associated Press Despatch.
Paris, March 19.—A small ramic followed the first quotations on the bourse little morning. Heavy selling orders from Amsterdam and Vienna threw the market at once into a high fever. Shares were susceptible to fluctuations, which the changing rates of exchange sent down 5 to 10 points at a time until an hour after the opening. Some of them were unsaleable.

hour after the opening. Some of them were unsaleable.
The sensational selling movement is attributed to the precipitate rise in the franc. Speculators in European countries were caught short and obliged to unload their securities, most of which are called "exchange stock," because they become the favorite medium of speculation when the various exchange rates become sensitive, facilitating quick profits.

SUGAR Associated Press Despatch. New York, March 18.—No change courred in the raw sugar market to New York, March 18.—No changes occurred in the raw sugar market today, spot prices holding at $6.78, duty paid. Trading was light, the only sales reported being at lot of 5,000 bags of Cubas for March shipment.

Raw sugar futures declined 5 to 10 points at the opening, owing to heavy liquidation by commission-houses, influenced by the continued weakness abroad. At the decline, however, there was active covering and buying for Cuban account, and prices rallied sharply, selling 2 to 6 points above the previous close. The advance met renewed liquidation, and prices sold off again, closing 1 to 4 points net lower, March at $5.02, May $5.07, July $5.12, September $5.09.

Refined sugar was easier, following the recent break in raws, and prices were reduced 10 to 30 points, the list now ranging from $8.50 to $8.60 for fine granulated. Business was light.

Refined futures were nominal.

Detroit, Mich., March 19.—Three bandits held up the Boston Refiners, wholesale jewelers, here last night and obtained loot estimated by Max Lipsitz, one of the members of the firm, at from $75,000 to $100,000. Lipsitz told the police he was in the store alone when three men entered. They bound and gagged him, he said, and took a wallet containing a number of unset diamonds, 24 diamond rings and $355 in cash from the safe.

After the men left, Lipsitz says, he worked loose from his bonds and called the police. Detroit, Mich., March 19 .- Three

Trade Is Brisk on Toronto Market, With Prices Holding Firm.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, March 19. — Cattle receipts 1,460. Trade opened briskly with prices holding firm. One choice load of heavies brought the top price for the year, at $8.85. The best butcher steers brought $7 to $7.50. Cows and bulls steady; milker and springer trade dull, with choice at $60 to $85 each.

Calf receipts 3,884. The heavy hog run caused 25c drop in prices. Sales are being made at $8 fed and watered.

Sheep receipts 79. Small lots of lambs sold steady at $13 to $15 prices.

Winnipeg. March 18. — The wheat market was fairly active today, with a good trade passing, both buying and selling, but at times the quantity of wheat coming out was more than the market could absorb, and prices eased off, the close showing a loss of 1c for May, 1½c for July and ¾c for October. The bulk of selling was unwinding of spreads between here and Chicago, while on the buying side overnight demand from the United Kingdom was reported, with a fair amount worked with the seaboard today. On the scale down houses with eastern connections also came into the pit for supplies, but this was not large, and the market values, with a majority of the trade inclined to the views that the price tendency may work lower.

The future coarse grains, especially barley and rye, were weak today, following the trend of wheat, with very little wheat passing. Flax was also weak, and broke about 5c early in the session, but at the close values were about 3c lower.

Practically no interest was displayed in the cash wheat market, with spreads reported about unchanged.

A fair demand developed for the lower grades of cash oats and rye, but only limited offerings came out.

Common Cough Syrups Won't Help-You've Got To Make Your Own.

Cheap and Best

For any kind of cough, but especially for the stubborn one that persists and keeps you awake nights, this home-made cough mixture will quickly loosen the phlegm, allay the inflammation and stop the cough.
You can make it yourself at home in two minutes by following these instructions: Get from any druggist one ounce of Parmint (double strength) — to this add a little granulated sugar and enough water to make one half-pint —that's all there is to it, and children like it.

Like a soothing, healing poultice one costly substance in this homemade mixture spreads itself completely over the membrane of the throat. This causes the most stubborn hang-on cough to cease almost instantly. No ordinary slow-acting cough syrup contains this expensive ingredient.

It's a mighty fine remedy for chest colds and acute nasal catarrh, and remember, that any remedy that overcomes catarrh, partially or wholly, is bound to be of benefit to those who are troubled with head noises and catarrhal deafness.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Natural Color and Lustre at Once.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Sulphur recipe at home, though, troublesome. An easier way get the ready-to-use preparation, im proved by the addition of other in gredients, a large bottle at little cost, at Drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youth-ful appearance and attractiveness By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally and evenly. You just dampe a sponge or soft brush with it an draw this through your hair, takin one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hairs have disap peared. After another application of two your hair becomes beautifull dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant, a you appear years younger .- Advt.

Makes a Family Supply of Cough Remedy

Really better than ready-made

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made gh syrup, which is easily prepared few minutes. et from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, syrup, as desired. The result is 16 ounces of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made and saves easily $2. Tastes pleasant and never spoils This Pinex and Syrup preparation

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont

Nissouri Township Farmer Is Given Verdict As Result of Car Accident.

ASKED FOR $10,000

Colin Leitch, Nissouri township farmer, was awarded $1,224 damages in his $10,000 action against Robert McKay, Embro blacksmith, by a Middlesex jury last night. Mr. Justice Lennox, presiding judge, made no comment on the verdict

The case started on Monday afternoon, the jury retiring at 5:10 yes-terday. Their verdict was ready at 7:20 last night but was not given to his lordship until 8:25, when court was resumed for the sole purpose of receiving it. Leitch was injured in an automobile accident last Novembe on the provincial highway, east of The Pottersburg.

Pretty Frocks For Tens and Teens

Every mother knows that it's a bit of a problem to find dresses which conform to her ideas of what is appropriate and practical and her daughter's ideas of what "all the other girls are wearing." These varied and exacting requirements have been skillfully combined in these little dresses.

A vivid little dress of cerise wool crepe is waiting for a little girl of eight with dark bobbed hair. The full pleated skirt, the long waist, the set-in sleeve, and the narrow self girdle are as pretty and practical as one could wish. lightly turns to thoughts of clothes. (This is not plagiarism, but collaboration). The statement itself is one of the self-evident truths which may be confirmed and explained by a casual tour of the store.

But I insist that you just can't be casual at the wash goods counters. The soft new voiles, the novel crepy weaves, the clear fresh ginghams and linens are too distractingly

Here are colors that never fade. It may sound almost too good to be true, unless you have already used the Duro ginghams and zephyrs, and the Renfrew ginghams and Devonshire cloth.

Cheerful tints of violet, rose, daffodil yellow, vivid tulip colors and new leaf green. Stripes and checks and plaids in a dozen different designs. They hold out alluring promises of inexpensive garments as fresh as Spring her-

Tub-proof for energetic rompers and hardworking house dresses which require frequent laundering. Sun-proof for the more leisurely porch and beach frocks which invite the combined attack of sun and wind and waves.

After all, the proof of a tub frock is in the tubbing!
