

41ST YEAR. NO. 17350

THE ADVERTISER, LONDON, ONTARIO, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1904.

PRICE TWO CENTS.

LAURIER SWEEPS THE COUNTRY

Liberal Government Is Triumphantly Sustained; Its Majority Is Between Sixty and Seventy.

NOT A CONSERVATIVE SEAT IN NOVA SCOTIA

The Leader of the Opposition, Mr. R. L. Borden Is Among the Slain.

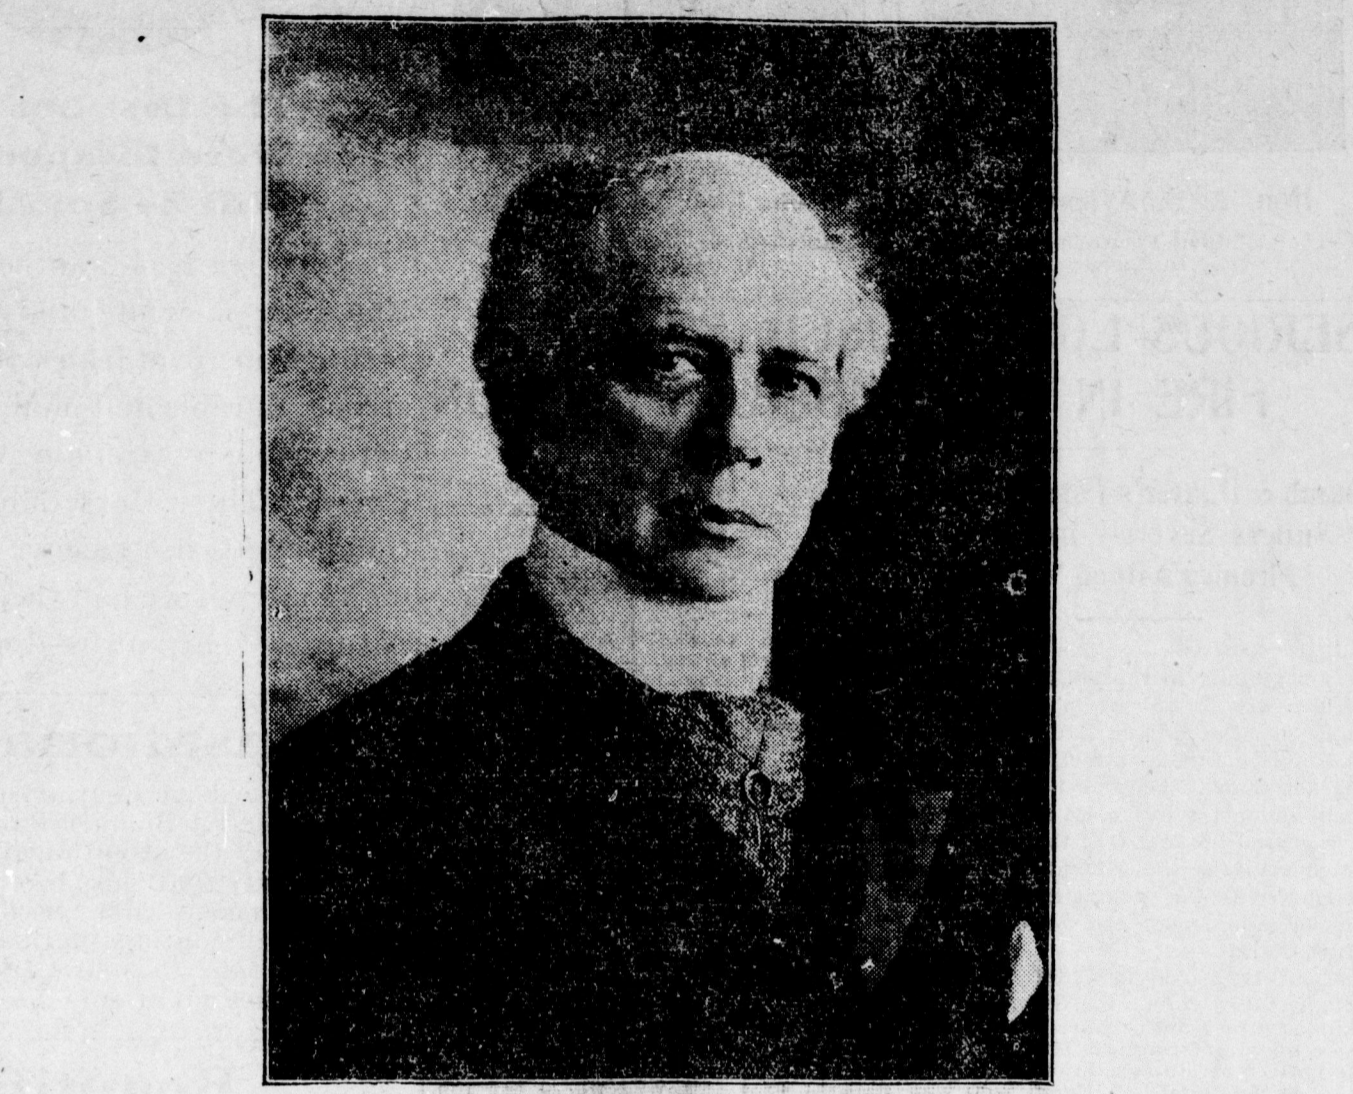

WEST GOES ALMOST SOLIDLY FOR LIBERAL PARTY.

Ontario Does Better for the Liberals, Giving About Six Conservative Majority—Opposition Makes Little Headway in Québec—Many Surprises.

The election returns that have reached The Advertiser office up till 3 o'clock today indicate that the Laurier Government has achieved the greatest political victory won by any party since 1878. There are still a few constituencies to be heard from, chiefly in the west, but the indications are that the Government's majority will range from 60 to 70. The result exceeds the most sanguine expectations of the Liberal party. Every Province with the exception of Ontario and Prince Edward Island, the returns from which are doubtful, have gone Liberal. Of ten seats the Northwest Territories will probably give eight or nine to the Government. Nova Scotia has made a clean sweep for the Government by 18 to 0, and the result is a wonderful tribute to the power, influence and achievements of the Hon. W. S. Fielding.

Mr. Borden, the Opposition leader, was defeated in Halifax, but it is likely that room will be made for him elsewhere. New Brunswick does one better for the Liberals, the standing being 8 to 5 in their favor. In Québec, where the Conservatives had figured upon capturing at least 23 seats, they will have to be satisfied with probably nine, an increase of four. In Ontario the Conservative majority which was seventeen, will be reduced to about six. Two Independents elected, Messrs. Ratz, of North Middlesex, and McCarthy, of North Simcoe, being supporters of the Government.

In Manitoba, where the Conservatives claimed all, the Liberals will have a majority. From British Columbia the returns are incomplete, but they indicate that the Government has made a sweep. Most members of the Government were elected with splendid majorities with the exception of Mr. A. B. Aylesworth, who greatly pulled down the normal Conservative majority in Durham. Liberals will be delighted to hear that a seat in that Tory stronghold, Hamilton, has been captured by the Liberals. At Ottawa the Liberals gain one, thus sending two Government supporters to the Commons. In the western Peninsula, in the countries adjacent to Middlesex, the Liberals appear to have carried North Bruce, West Lambton, North Essex, South Essex and East Kent, while the Conservatives have apparently carried South Bruce, East, South and West

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND. Queen's East, Queen's West. MANITOBA.

Winnipeg. BRITISH COLUMBIA. Victoria (one). Halifax, Nov. 3.—The Liberals have won a sweeping victory in Nova Scotia today. Hon. W. S. Fielding goes back to Ottawa with a solid delegation. North Cape Breton was in doubt early in the evening, but at midnight a special glove Mackenzie (Liberal) 41 majority, although the Conservatives claim a majority. Tonight's celebration has never been cheered in this Province. Crowds of cheering Liberals are parading the streets. The majority in this Province were unaccountably large. Messrs. Roche and Currier were elected in Halifax by 70 and 60 majorities. Sir Frederick Borden by 123. Hon. Mr. Fielding, 69; Mr. Logan, 75; Mr. Macdonald, in Pictou, by 59; MacLean, in Lunenburg, 56; Sinclair, in Guysborough, 49, and Copp, in Digby, 80.

Woodstock, Nov. 3.—An enormous majority was rolled up today for Hon. Jas. Sutherland in North Oxford. Four polls out of 4 are yet to be heard from. In one of which returns have come from none from which returns have come from Mr. Wallace obtained a majority. In one subdivision in Shelburne he fell with Mr. Sutherland. Woodstock was a clean sweep for the Minister of the Interior. His majority of 36 in the city is by far the largest ever given to a Liberal candidate in a straight party contest. In the whole riding 47 polls out of 47 give 1,423 majority. The total figure will probably be about 1,600. The result is looked upon as a striking personal tribute to the representative of the riding. At his nomination meeting the members of the party took a pledge to relieve him of all worry and responsibility in connection with the campaign, and they have nobly redeemed it. Mr. Schell's fine victory in South Oxford has added to the general Liberal jubilation in the city tonight.

DOWN WENT THE LEADERS Only the Disatisfied Mr. Monk Left in Quebec Province.

Montreal, Nov. 3.—Quebec Province has stood well by Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The noteworthy feature is the defeat of two Conservative leaders. Mr. T. Chase Cassin, P. H. Hackett, one of the Provincial organizers, made a big bid for Stanstead, but he went down with the rest. This leaves the badly disrupted party with only one member of prominence, Mr. F. D. Monk, the gentleman who was so organized with the tactics of the organization committee that he resigned the leadership of the party in the house.

THE VICTORY AT OTTAWA Splendid Victory of Messrs. Belcourt and Stewart. Ottawa, Nov. 3.—The Conservative candidates in Ottawa sustained crushing defeat. Messrs. N. A. Belcourt and Robert Stewart, the Liberal standard-bearers, being elected by unprecedentedly large majorities. Mr. Belcourt headed the poll, with a plurality of 1,788 over Mr. Champagne, who stood at the foot of the list. His lead over Mr.

Hon. A. B. Aylesworth Was the Only Member of the Government To Be Defeated.

IMMENSE MAJORITIES FOR MOST OF THE MINISTERS

Every Province Goes Liberal, With the Exception of Ontario, and Possibly P. E. I.

LIBERALS GAIN SEATS IN HAMILTON AND OTTAWA

Toronto as Usual Elects All Conservatives—Government's Success Exceeds the Most Sanguine Expectations—The Returns Are Almost Complete.

boldly held his breath for a time. It was only a matter of time. Now you can shout with gladness for the continued prosperity and happiness of this city.

The speaker said he thanked all those who had voted for him in opposition to all the "rascality" which he had described. When the campaign began, he said, the Liberals boasted that they were going to win by a majority of at least 1,500, but they had been sadly disappointed.

Hon. A. B. Aylesworth, Member Without Portfolio, Defeated in Durham. Hon. Rudolph Lemieux, Solicitor-General, Re-elected for Gaspé, Quebec.

MR. GRAY SPEAKS Indulges in Talk About "Debauchery" Election Not Lost Yet, He Says.

The crowd which gathered in front of the Free Press was exceptionally enthusiastic at first, when the returns favored the Conservative candidate, but a chill passed over it when the complete returns were bulletined and it was found that Hon. Mr. Hyman had a majority.

ATTACKED BUSINESS MEN Mr. Gray Threatens to "Have Many of Them Shown Up."

Subsequently, Mr. Gray appeared at a window of the Free Press and addressed a somewhat small crowd of his supporters as follows: "I have already spoken tonight, but information which has come to me since I spoke to you before warrants me addressing you again. This fight which has been put up by our men has been a clean one, but it is not so with our opponents. Friends have come in from the various subdivisions and have informed me that many have been thrown out by the Griet returning officers. There will be a return of the rascality that has taken place in this city today should put shame upon every London Liberal. Men were carried out of the city by Tom Lewis and others of the Griet gang, and many of the business men of this city, who hold their heads high, will be shown up sooner or later. They do not bargain for anything like this. In one subdivision they have thrown out 18 of my ballots, and I am sure they will surely give us the seat. We have a record in this city. I am posing the suffrages of the people of a coat in the fight—but I am ashamed of what has been done to us. We put up a clean fight, and if our opponents had put up a fight as we would have had put up by our side, I will do everything to put this election where it should be."

PETER ELSON ELECTED IN EAST MIDDLESEX; OVER 200 MAJORITY

Westminster Gave Liberal Candidate Good Majority—Others Went Conservative.

One of the hardest fought contests in the history of East Middlesex yesterday resulted in the defeat of Mr. J. M. McEvoy of this city, by Mr. Peter Elson, the Conservative candidate, who, by the way, is one of the most widely-known farmers in the county. Mr. Elson can thank London Township largely for his success. In that municipality alone he had a majority of 356, leading Mr. McEvoy in twelve of the fourteen subdivisions, and in addition to this he had good majorities in West Nissouri and North Dorchester. Mr. McEvoy had a majority in only one township—Westminster—which has always been a stronghold of Liberalism.

SERIOUS LOSS CAUSED BY A FIRE IN THE BUSINESS SECTION

Darch & Hunter's Establishment Suffers Severely by Fire—Firemen's Good Work.

Just when the election excitement was beginning to subside last night, a serious fire broke out in the upper story of Darch and Hunter's large building on Dundas street, west of the Market Lane. The wonder is that the blaze did not prove more serious than it was, and the fact that the flames did not get down the whole building must be attributed to the prompt action of the fire brigade, under the direction of Chief Clark.

This house was carried in at the main entrance and up the stairs to the fourth story. The great crowds which had gathered to watch the fire thought that it was going to be a very big one, judging from the mass of flames and smoke that were pouring from the roof. The heat of the fire was in the very center of the third story, and was consequently very difficult to reach. There is a fourth story over the front half of the building, and the blaze spread into it also. However, so well directed were the four lines of hose that steadily and surely the brigade gained control of the blaze. The fire engine was working its hardest, giving a pressure of 150 pounds, and was surrounded by a large crowd of curious spectators.

Before 12:30 the blaze was extinguished, although large quantities of smoke continued to roll out. The whole center of the third and fourth stories of Darch and Hunter's building were completely gutted. Allison & Elemen's printing establishment, which includes part of the third story, suffered the most. It is thought that this was where the fire started, but the origin is still a mystery. The printing machinery was destroyed, and thousands of packages of printing seeds were lying ready for shipment. The flames did not reach this stock, but the water leaked through upon it, and all of the paper bundles that received any considerable share of water will be practically useless. The packets were lithographed, and although they were of considerable value, the water also leaked through upon the stock, and the fire caused much damage to the stock, but the extent is not yet known. The third story contained a full stock of heavy goods, such as turpentine and mangle seeds, etc. This was almost entirely destroyed. Graham, .253; Benly, .252; Lynch, .250; Thielman, .250; "Home Run Joe" Marshall, of Portland, had another prosperous week at the bat during the post series and he has consequently remained up in front of Frisk in the averages, although the Seattle slugger outbit the ex-Pacific National graduate for the week. During the period Marshall got nine hits out of nineteen times up, or an average of a little less than .500. Frisk, on the other hand, got six hits out of nineteen times up, or an average of .315. For the season date Frisk has an average of .346, while Marshall, during the three weeks he has been with Portland, has made an average of .287. This is believed to be considerably beyond Marshall's speed, and a drop may be looked for—Oakland Insider.

The Result in London.

Events have shown that the predictions of the Advertiser last night were fulfilled more closely than we will admit, we had expected. A couple of weeks ago, Conservatives and Liberals alike were agreed in the belief that no matter who might be Mr. Hyman's opponent, his election was assured by a large majority. So satisfied was this...

ours, if they are honestly held, and fairly supported. Shake hands all round, and settle down to at least five years more of national growth and individual prosperity.

East Middlesex.

We all regret Mr. McEvoy's defeat in East Middlesex. It was perhaps to be feared under all the circumstances, a city lawyer going into a rural constituency, to fight against a resident farmer as well known as Mr. Elson, would be heavily handicapped. But Mr. McEvoy developed great strength, and he was getting stronger every day. A few weeks more of the campaign—a few more public meetings—and his success would have been assured. He has made his mark as a public man, and secured a reputation which will serve him well in some future contest. He is a young man with, we trust, many years of active life before him. And his friends who worked for his election in 1904 will, we are satisfied, have the pleasure of seeing him in parliament before long.

North Middlesex.

The result in North Middlesex, while it gives the Government a supporter, will be received by the Liberals with some division of opinion. Both candidates were Liberals; both had previously been in parliament; both had their friends and supporters in the party. The majority of the Conservatives probably voted for Mr. Ratz—not because they loved him particularly, but because they preferred to defeat Mr. Boston, who was the nominee of the party convention, and because his defeat would, in their opinion, help to divide the party in North Middlesex, and thus injure it in the future. We hope they will be mistaken in their calculations, and that any local divisions growing out of this contest will soon be healed. As a citizen of London for several years, local sympathy will be with Mr. Boston, who is a worthy gentleman and a Liberal tried and true.

West Middlesex.

Mr. Calvert has the substantial majority of 150 in West Middlesex. The riding, as at present constituted, has been always hard fighting ground, and Premier Ross' average majority is about the same as that which Mr. Calvert has to his credit. The Liberal whip has, therefore, reason to be proud of his victory.

Mr. Borden's Defeat.

Mr. Borden's defeat in his own riding—the annihilation of his party in his own province—must to a large extent discredit his leadership of the Conservative party. Liberals have no animus against him and do not wish his permanent exclusion from public life. The Opposition was lamentably weak in the last Parliament; it will be weaker in the next. Mr. Borden, though not a brilliant man, and though deficient in the qualities which make a great leader, was easily first on his own side of the House. His party needs him and will no doubt offer him a safe seat in another province. Liberals would have been better pleased had Foster been the victim instead of Borden. It is a strange turn of the wheel which brings Foster to the front and makes him for the time being leader of his party, a post which he has coveted, but which has more than once eluded his grasp. Mr. Borden may well think of the fate of Bowell when he sees this sinister figure enthroned for the time being in the leader's chair. Every Liberal will rejoice in the triumph of Mr. Fielding. The place which he holds in the affections of his native province is unique, and the result of the voting is largely a personal tribute.

Hon. Mr. Aylesworth.

The latest accession to the Government has been unfortunately defeated by a small majority. While success was hoped for, there was no certainty felt as to the result. He was a non-resident who went into a new constituency, where the old riding of which it was composed had at the previous election given a large Conservative majority. He made a gallant fight, against most adverse conditions. He failed, but he comes out of the contest with the credit and honor of having done more than we believe any other man could have done. His defeat is a loss to Durham. And we should call it a loss for Canada were not in the hope that a seat will be found for him, and his valuable services retained by the country and the Government.

Two Welcome Victories.

There is a peculiar satisfaction in the Liberal conquests in Hamilton and Ottawa. Hamilton has been regarded as a Conservative stronghold, and Mr. Zimmerman's victory is one of the greatest triumphs of the day. The Hamilton Spectator, as usual, made an unblinking appeal to race prejudice against "the French Mr. Laurier"; but it overshoot the mark. Mr. Barker retains his seat in East Hamilton by a slender hold; but the entire city, embraced in the two ridings, gave a Liberal majority. In Ottawa, the Citizen made the Dundonald episode the battle cry of the Conservative party. An election dodge it endeavored to organize a public celebration on Tuesday, in honor of Donald. People were requested to display Dundonald colors, and the Citizen gave away a mile or two of ribbon. These silly tactics, designed to inflame the English population, had the opposite effect. Both the Conservative candidates were overwhelmed.

Well done, Canada! Mr. Blair was only a boogeyman. What's the matter with Fielding? Only the rump of the Tory party remains. The yellow dog vote was quite a factor. The Grand Trunk Pacific is a record-breaker. Canada doesn't want R. L. Borden as her premier. The three Hurons should be ashamed of themselves. The Government's majority is a fine prosperity exhibit. The Conservatives will have to find a new policy—perhaps a new leader. The commercial metropolis of Canada goes overwhelmingly Liberal. Mr. Borden is saved from the necessity of explaining his railway policy. Mr. Hyman's enemies can throw their campaign issues into the garbage barrel. Lord Dundonald's measure was pretty accurately taken by the country. Among other opponents, London's favorite son had to fight the father of lies. The Liberals were not more badly beaten in 1878 than are the Conservatives today. These twin firebrands, the Hamilton Spectator and the Ottawa Citizen, are extinguished. When Mr. Gray has had more experience he may learn to take his beating like a man. Clifford Sifton is still the young Napoleon of the West, but it's the other party's Waterloo. Poor old Toronto! While other cities are in the tide of progress it remains in the back waters of Toryism.

London, Nov. 3.—According to information from the Island of Perim, at the entrance to the Red Sea, a boat's crew of seventeen men, which left the British steamer Baron Inverdale, were massacred by the natives of Massira Island. RUSSIANS WEAR CHINESE TOGS

Lamsdorff Replies to Charges of the Japs—Latter Use Dogs in Field. St. Petersburg, Nov. 4. 1 p.m.—While no formal reply has been made to the Japanese protest regarding the use of Chinese clothes by the Russian troops, it is understood that Foreign Minister Lamsdorff, when the matter was presented, informally, but categorically, denied the truth of the charge that the troops had been a violation of the Geneva convention. He explained that there might have been some isolated cases where soldiers wore winter overcoats had not arrived, had done Chinese overcoats, but not for the purpose claimed.

LET CHRISTIANS THROUGH

Sensation Evidence at Trial of the Gonet Rioters. Gonet, Russia, Nov. 4.—During the trial today of the persons charged with being responsible for the rioting of September, 1903, Capt. Gorstkin, commander of one of the companies of troops on the occasion of the riots, testified upon cross-examination that he allowed Christian rioters to slip through the line of soldiers. He further declared that he had not received instructions from Police Chief Raevsky. The latter, who was present in court, jumped up and flatly denied the statement, saying: "I told you to serve out ball cartridges, I shouted to you to check the progress of the rioters, but you formed a loose cordon, enabling them to pass through."

BOOTH—TUCKER

New and Important Position for the S. A. Commander. New York, Nov. 4.—It is announced that Commander Booth-Tucker, who for eight and a half years has commanded the Salvation Army forces in the United States, is appointed to the international headquarters of the army in London, and will there act as secretary for and represent all countries outside of Great Britain. Commander Booth-Tucker's farewell meeting in New York will be held in the Grand Central Palace, Nov. 15, and he will sail on the following day. The work in Great Britain has been placed under the direct control of Bramwell Booth, the eldest son of Gen. William Booth, and the international chief of staff.

HIGH-HANDED CASTRO

Closes Zaba River to Navigation, and May Bring On a War. Washington, Nov. 3.—President Castro has closed the River Zaba to navigation. This stream affords access to the interior of Colombia, and its closing before by President Castro almost involved Colombia and Venezuela in war. There have been rumors for some time past of a considerable agitation in Venezuela looking to a revolution directed against Castro, and it is surmised that he closed the navigation of this river to prevent arms and ammunition from reaching the would-be revolutionists.

W. S. CALVERT IN WEST MIDDLESEX

Liberals Again Carry the Constituency by Handsome Majority.

West Middlesex has once again proved loyal to the Liberal cause. In yesterday's contest, which was conducted with spirit by both sides, Mr. W. S. Calvert, who has represented the constituency at Ottawa since 1886, and who for the past four years has been chief Liberal whip, was returned by a majority of 150. Mr. Calvert's success is well deserved, and the news of his victory will be read with pleasure by the Liberals in the Dominion. Following are the majorities:

Bona, Algeria, Nov. 4.—A hundred persons were drowned last night by the sinking of the French steamer Gironde, after having been in collision with the French steamer Schafflin near Herbillon (23 miles from Bona). Fog Tied Up New York; Ferry Columbia Sunk

New York, Nov. 4.—A thick blanket of fog, which settled down over New York City and harbor during the night seriously disarranged traffic, both by land and water early today, and resulted in at least one serious accident, when the river ferry boat Columbia, of the Wall Street Line, was run into and sunk by the Norwegian liner City of Lowell. All of the passengers were saved, but a number of horses which were being taken across the river, went down with the boat and were lost.

JAPS HAVE ONLY FOUR BATTLESHIPS

Sinking of the Yushima Last June by Russian Mine Is Confirmed. Paris, Nov. 3.—It is now positively stated that the Japanese battleship Yushima was sunk off Dalny in last June. The Japanese Government has notified foreign governments of the loss of the ship. The number of men who went down with the vessel is not known, but is believed to have been small. The official details show that the Yushima struck a Russian mine, and later attempted to make Dalny harbor, but this proved impossible and she sank in deep water. The loss of the Yushima has been concealed by the Japanese, though the Russian authorities have believed for some time that the reports that the battleship had been destroyed were correct. It is important, since it is now disclosed that the Japanese have now only four modern battleships remaining. These are the Asahi, Fuji, Mikasa, and Shikishima. The Yushima was one of the finest battleships of the Japanese navy. Her displacement was 12,300 tons. The Russian squadron at Port Arthur includes five modern battleships more or less damaged, and Rear Admiral Rojestvensky's command, which is now en route to the far east, numbers five battleships.

BRUTAL MURDER IN CINCINNATI

Beautiful Young Woman Assaulted and Beaten to Death by an Unknown Man. Cincinnati, Ohio, Nov. 3.—The body of Alma Steinhay, a telegraph operator, was found today in a vacant lot near the entrance to Spring Grove Cemetery. There is no doubt that the girl, who was an attractive and respectable young woman, was murdered. She left the Cumminsville Telephone Exchange shortly after 9 o'clock last night. It is believed that someone waylaid her in the suburbs, assaulted her, and dragged her body into the vacant lot adjoining Spring Grove Cemetery. Today a trail of blood from the lot to the street car tracks was found. The girl's teeth were scattered along the bloody trail, and parts of her clothing were scattered about. She was cut over the temple, her skull was crushed and her jaws were broken. There were male footprints in the trail, but there is no clue to the murderer.

EPHESIANS AND THE PROPHETS

Discussed at the Bible Institute—Officers Elected—Last Day's Doings. The first lecture yesterday at the Bible Institute at the First Methodist Church was by Mr. Irwin, on "Ephesians." The lecture emphasized the two outstanding thoughts of the epistle, that God is in all things and events, his will controlling the development of man to that "far-off divine event to which the whole creation moves," and that every man may have his share in the wonderful love of God and his wonderful plans for men. Mr. Crummy then delivered a lecture on "Amos." This book consists of a series of sermons delivered at Bethel, on the occasion of a great feast. Amos charged Israel with her sins, and disclaimed responsibility for his message, which was direct from Jehovah. He assured the people that though Jehoviah was not in their glutinous feasts, he was yet in the disasters that had visited them. Mr. Crummy's reading of this book will always be a precious memory to those who heard it. Mrs. Stephenson outlined clearly and concisely the development of Protestant missions in Japan, showing herself thoroughly familiar with the situation. In the afternoon Mr. Crummy continued his Scripture reading, taking up Hosea and Micah. Mr. Lovell followed with a lecture on "The Reformation," showing how it grew naturally out of the renaissance. None could fail to appreciate this lecture.

Rome, Nov. 4.—The Pope considers that he has been restored to his usual health, and today resumed his audiences, receiving among others, Cardinals Oreglia, Martinelli and Talloni. To the latter he said the weather was so fine that he could scarcely resist going for a walk in the gardens, but Dr. Lippont still forbids him to go out.

Story of Death Slopes at Pt. Arthur; Battle Bloodiest in World's History; Japs Victorious, But at Awful Cost

In the Six Days' Assault the Japanese Lost Fourteen Thousand Men—Stoessel's Little Band Fighting Every Foot of the Way—Russians Driven From Every Fort, Until the Japs Secure the Dominating Position.

Headquarters of the third Japanese army in front of Port Arthur, Nov. 2. By way of Chefoo, Nov. 2.—When the Japanese drove the Russians from their strong position on the last range of hills in front of the fortress by a surprise attack July 30 the Russians retired to the forts, but they also strongly held previously prepared advance lines to prevent the Japanese from closing in upon the fortified ridges. This line of forts was fourteen miles long, forming a semi-circle from the east coast to four miles from the west coast and circling five miles northwest to Port Arthur. The fort itself proper was a twelve-mile semi-circle, from coast to coast.

The Japanese position was a mile from the advance Russian line in the center of a range of hills called Feng-noano Mountain. Between the Feng-noano Mountain and the Russian fortresses was the triangular Shushi Valley, two miles wide.

Though the advance of the Japanese center over the valley was comparatively easy, owing to the good cover they were subjected to a concentrated, converging fire from the forts. Two mountains, Taku and Shabku, close to the eastern extremity of the fortified ridges and essential to a close investment, were held by the Russians. On the right flank were two powerful advance works. Three more strong advance works were situated on the lower peaks of the same range. The Russian left flank and prevented the Japanese from pushing a force on Port Arthur, through the valley, from the shores of Pigeon Bay, as the works commanded the gap in the Chiar Hill forts on the west coast. It was decided to close in the Japanese left flank, first taking Taku and Shabku Mountains. A division was ordered to take the crest of the hill and the bombardment began in the afternoon.

The Russians replied with field guns from Taku Mountain, and with larger guns on two hills which were situated on the Japanese left flank. At 6 p.m. the Japanese infantry advanced in three columns. A heavy rain impeded their movements. When the infantry closed on Taku Mountain the Russians suddenly opened a heavy rifle fire from the crests of the hills and compelled the Japanese to retreat to build trenches close to the foot of the hill slopes.

One Japanese regiment took an essential angle on the first ascent of the south slope. All that night and the next day the Japanese worked their trenches, unable to advance in the rain, and shelled from the east forts. Russian torpedoes were fired upon the Japanese regiment on the south slope, so that it had to retire. The fleet was compelled to abandon the fire of the howitzer batteries. Then a general bombardment commenced, and all fire from Taku and Shabku Mountains was stopped. Night Japanese regiments gained a foothold on the crests of Taku Mountain and, after a desperate hand-to-hand encounter, compelled the Russians to retire westward into their permanent forts. Four field guns were captured.

The Japanese regiments then combined for an attack on Shabku Mountain, but were repulsed and compelled to spend the night in their trenches at the foot of the hills. At 4 a.m. the attack was renewed and the hills were captured. The Russians left hundreds of dead on their abandoned positions. The Japanese casualties numbered 1,400. Though the Japanese were unable permanently occupy the captured hills they robbed the Russians of invaluable observation points. Attention was then turned to the Russian left flank. Two Japanese brigades were ordered to advance. They started in the night, a line two miles in length. At 2 a.m. a heavy rain greatly impeded their progress, but they reached the Russian entanglements amid heavy fire. The position was captured at 4 1/2 in the morning of Aug. 14. A Russian counter attack being repulsed.

A night attack was made on the Russian advance works. The Japanese reached the outer entanglements, but were repulsed. Starlight shells located the Japanese lines, which searchlights were thrown, after which the Russian machine guns played havoc all night with the Japanese troops in the trenches on the hillside. Finally a concentrated fire from Eise Mountain and the advanced Russian troops in the Japanese to cease operations.

It was announced at the Japanese headquarters on the 15th that the siege guns would be in position and ready to begin a bombardment on the 20th. The Associated Press correspondent on his arrival there was welcomed by Gen. Nogai, who said he was just in time to see the conclusion of a successful campaign and the capture of Port Arthur. It was evident that a general attack had been planned. The railroad to Port Arthur was taxed to its capacity in bringing troops, siege guns, ammunition and supplies to the front, and the roads were crowded with marching troops and transports.

Bombarded Whole Line.

In the morning the siege guns opened a desultory fire, and a division of infantry assaulted the Russian positions at Kihlung Mountain. The trenches were taken. The operations began in earnest at daybreak on the 20th with a bombardment of the whole line of Russian forts. Battery after battery of Japanese artillery was unmasked, the Russians replying spasmodically. The Japanese infantry made a general advance against the Russians first trench, along the railroad, Nov. 2. In the valley between the east and west of Shushi village.

To the south the city was protected by four advance half-moon forts in the form of a hollow square open at the rear and connected by bomb-proof trenches and having a 20-foot moat in front. A desperate attempt was made by the Japanese to capture these trenches. The infantry charged, cut with scaling ladders, stormed the fort and drove the Russians back. The West Russian fort was captured after a slight resistance, the Japanese being unable to occupy the magazine. Japs blown up, but they held the trench line around the crest.

Three battalions of Japanese reserves joined the center division that day, and drove the Russians back. The West Russian fort was captured after a slight resistance, the Japanese being unable to occupy the magazine. Japs blown up, but they held the trench line around the crest.

At daylight the Japanese center division, led on the Pen Jusan and Keekwan Forts, the Japanese now were driven out of the East Russian fort, endangering the Japanese foothold on the fortified ridge, and General Nogai held a council of war, during which several companies without orders, charged up the slope of the broken wall of the trench around the crest of the fortified hill, under cover of a splendid shrapnel fire from their field batteries in the valley. The Russians behind the wall and in the fort poured out a hail of rifle bullets, and the machine and quick-firing guns belched forth on the intrepid Japanese. Twice the latter were forced back till the slope was covered with bodies, but a third attempt was made and a wall. The terrible fire of the Russians, however, started their retreat.

An Heroic Officer.

Suddenly a Japanese officer stood up, called out an order, planted his regimental flag on the wall and was immediately riddled with Russian bullets. The effect of this sacrifice was instantaneous. The retreating infantrymen stopped, hesitated, and then charged the Russian trench. The Japanese were reinforced from time to time by rushes made by their comrades up to the death wall from the trenches. They stubbornly scaled the corner wall trench till 5 o'clock when the Russian fire was stopped. The Japanese trenches of another regiment worked their way up the trench and attacked the West Banjusan Fort, the magazine of which had been blown up a short time before. Taking advantage of a diversion of the Russian forces, the Japanese

Vote in the Middlesexes In the Provincial Fight

In consequence of the redistribution, the Middlesex constituencies are vastly changed for Dominion electoral purposes. With the exception that West London votes in the city of Dominion contests, and in East Middlesex in provincial elections, the ridings are now the same both for Dominion and provincial contests. Hence the returns of the last provincial election in East, West and North Middlesex, will be interesting, enabling the parties to compare their work on that occasion with that of yesterday. The returns of 1902 were:

SCHWAB MAKES A BIG KILLING

Famous Financier Cleans Up $8,000,000 on Wall St.

$3,000,000 OUT OF COFFEE

Chicago Lawyer, Recent Arrival in New York, Among Other Big Winners at Expense of Lambs.

New York, Nov. 3.—In the midst of the severest break in the present bull market, Wall street was flooded Monday with gossip of how certain men had made fortunes on the rise. Chief among these was Charles M. Schwab, formerly president of the steel trust. His winnings for the last year were reported to be at least $8,000,000, and circumstances corroborated the statement. He was in the street yesterday buying selling stocks, and silent but former agents substantiated essential parts of the report.

It was a woman, the wife of a broker noted in the coffee trade, who let escape in a moment of exhilaration at dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria, the story of amazing profits. The secret had been well guarded, but became public property yesterday.

Schwab's campaign began in coffee, in which he cleaned up more than $3,000,000. It is ending in steel preferred. According to the report, Herman Slielken, the great coffee merchant, of Broad street, had Schwab as a partner in his celebrated bull campaign last week. Slielken, as a bear, had drowned the bulls, under leadership of the late Leonard Lewisohn, in an ocean of coffee, and had broken the price from 12 cents to 5 cents a pound.

When the market waded at the bottom Slielken turned, and with Schwab as a market companion, bought millions of pounds. The sensational rise that wiped out a paper loss of more than $12,000,000, and returned the Lewisohn estate is history. Out of the uproar Schwab cashed his $3,000,000 or more of profits. He took part in other speculations until he was certain the tide had turned in stocks, and especially in steel.

Ever since the steel trust had been on the market, Schwab, in common with other insiders, was reported to have been selling the common shares, borrowing stock for delivery and leaving his original holdings apparently untouched.

When steel preferred was at 50 he was almost the only insider to buy openly, and there is apparent proof that he turned his profits made in coffee into steel preferred at bottom prices. He bought and advised others to buy. So publicly did he buy that he was often severely criticised, Wall street taking it for granted that he was really selling.

As steel rose from 50 to 60 and then to 70 and 80, Wall street realized that Schwab had been telling the truth, and he marvelled at his own stupidity in letting the glorious opportunity slip. During his recent visit to San Francisco, where he went to buy in the Union Iron Works for his reorganized shipyard trust, he bought 25,000 shares of steel preferred so openly that all the world knew of it. The stock broke two points the next day, and Wall street sighed at the loss. Schwab had sold at the top. They got it, the wise traders scrambled to get a "little off the top." They got it, for Schwab became the heaviest seller in the market, and it is said he has "turned" almost 100,000 shares of steel preferred in the last week.

The net result of his year of speculation is that his share of the shipyard trust, which is valued at $7,500,000 and capitalized at $15,000,000 is what the street calls "velvet."

But little more than a year ago it was common gossip in Wall street that Andrew Carnegie had deserted his favorite, and that Schwab would never see the completion of his palace on Riverside Drive, and even if he did, could never afford to live in it.

But while Schwab has turned his profits into real money, most of the other big winners are still holding out for more. One of the most important of these is Schwab's close business associate, John W. Gates. He is said to have made as much as $8,000,000 and perhaps has evened up the severe losses he sustained two years ago when all Wall street was pounding him and he was calling the other operators bandits.

David H. Lunderback, a lawyer from Chicago, who recently became a Wall street operator, is another who is reported to have made a modest million or so on the rise. He started in grain, and when the public got madly bullish in wheat transferred his accounts to stocks.

Samuel Untermyer, who aided in the exposure of high financiers of the shipyard trust, is another credited with a big addition to his fortune. Broker-tell of customers who have made small fortunes, ranging from $1,000 to $10,000. The really big financiers are J. D. Rockefeller, H. H. Rogers, George F. Baker, William Rockefeller, James Stillman, P. Morgan, H. D. Havemeyer and August Belmont are richer by many millions according to the market quotations of their securities, which they have no idea of selling except in part and then only to match their own again on any rebound. Inter-continental, for instance, which was risen $15,000,000 for August Belmont and his friends, has not been disturbed. Sugar, in which the Havemeyers are working to furnish a foundation for letting the public carry some of the new stock about to be issued as an extra dividend, is still in the hands of manipulators.

Others who have shared heavily in the rise are the Moore brothers, D. J. Reed, A. A. Housman and Jacob Field. The great life insurance and trust companies in whose treasuries have been stored reams of undigested securities are richer by millions.

The rise from the low prices of a year ago amounts to more than $2,500,000,000 for the issues traded in on the stock exchange.

BARRYMORE AT DEATH'S DOOR

Famous Actor Awaits Last "Call" in Madhouse.

PASSES TIME WITH OLD PARTS

Builds a Theater of Cards and in Fancy Goes Through the Various Scenes of His Play.

New York, Nov. 3.—Maurice Barrymore, the actor, is dying, it was stated at the Amityville Sanitarium last night. It is feared that the end is only a few days off. His vitality has been marvelous, but is now at its last ebb. His son, John Barrymore, the artist, is almost constantly with him. The other son, Lionel, is only now convalescing from a very severe attack of typhoid fever. The information of his father's approaching death is said to have been sent by Eitel Barrymore, the daughter, is out by the way, but early messages are sent her of the celebrated actor's critical condition.

The climax will come quickly. Such is the nature of his disease that he will die between the ticks of a clock. He has refused all food and does not recognize his friends, mistaking him frequently for a call boy.

The actor who thrilled thousands of playgoers by his art is true to his instinct in these dying days. Before an imaginative audience, in a miniature theater of cards, his now feeble voice rings out. He is seen to be mouing his lines that formerly brought his audience their feet in thunderous applause.

Slowly but surely the darkness is closing in. He is back in fancy amid the scenes of his great successes. By the side of his bed is a pack of cards. He finds him astray, and with his back to the window, his face turned from the world that was, he hears up a theater of pastboard.

With intangible power he constructs the lobby, then tier after tier of seats, the orchestra pit next, then the proscenium boxes, and finally the stage.

Then "Barry" the peerless, his once matchless voice now shattered and broken, his handsome face gaunt, he stiffens up behind the stage which he has constructed, and for hours repeats the lines which made him famous.

It was in "Captain Swift" that Barrymore made one of his greatest hits, and it is to Mr. Wolting, the role which he created in that famous play, that he now returns, bringing his fellow-patients crowding about his door where, awaiting a patient, they grovel, and listen and, as the climax of the play is reached, and making the motions of putting a revolver to his head, Barrymore, Mr. Wolting falls dead, they burst into tumultuous applause.

At times, it is almost the old "Barry" who stalks about the narrow room in the sanitarium, now as Rawdon Crawley, then as Captain Bradley in "A Man of the World," and again as Bill Lewis, in "The Burglar." His hollow voice grows clear, his gestures confident and emphatic, his eyes bright and flashing.

Two or three hours pass, while his old life, and then, when twilight can be seen, the light flickers from his eyes, and like a tired child, he lurches forward and sweeps into a shapeless mass the theater of his construction.

Again, like a tired child, he sleeps, and dawn once more finds him building his playhouse stage, his proscenium, and for the final scene in the tragedy of his life.

"Barry" has developed outbursts of uncontrollable anger, during which he attacks his attendants and is controlled with difficulty. These intervals are declared by his physicians as being of increasing evidence of the fast-approaching end.

These periods are invariably followed by long spells of silence, during which he builds and rebuilds his theater, his lips moving all the time as he repeats to himself fragments of his past plays, his fingers following across the miniature stage, the characters that are crowding such corner through his clouded brain.

As the actor thinks his nurse is a call-boy, he finds he is being urged to hurry on the stage.

"Coming, boy, coming," mumbles the old actor.

And before long, fully prepared for the scene, rehearsed in the bitter school of experience, dressed in the part and letter-perfect, "Barry" will follow a call-boy out, and the curtain will descend on the final act of the tragedy.

It may be a week, but the stage is being set. Over there "Billy" Florence, Emmet, Bartley Campbell, Mackaye and Chas. are busy with the call-boy is on the stair. In the armchair his back to the window, "Barry" is awaiting.

PRINCESS IN DOVE RY. Alice of Bourbon Will Wed Italian Captain This Month.

Rome, Nov. 3.—Notwithstanding the earnest efforts made by the Pope to reconcile Princess Alice of Bourbon (daughter of Don Carlos) with her betrothed, the Prince of Schoenberg-Waldenburg, it has been announced officially that the princess next month will contract a civil marriage with an Italian cavalry captain named Del Prede, at present attached to the garrison at Naples.

Owing to the persistent refusal of Don Carlos to turn over to his daughter the money left by her mother, the princess is nearly destitute, and her prospective husband has only the salary of a cavalry captain, amounting to about $30 a month.

The statutory period in which the princess was forbidden to wed will expire in November, and then she will immediately take advantage of her freedom. She has been living quietly at Naples for two or three months, and the birth of a child recently created no end of scandal.

Her other child, who is in Naples with her, still is registered officially as a son of the princely house of her divorced husband, but suit is pending in the Roman courts to deprive the child of his princely title, because of facts brought out in the divorce proceedings.

GIRLS CAPTURE EIGHTY WHALES

Exciting Chase of Monsters in the Shetlands.

MEN WERE AWAY SELLING FISH

Daughters, Wives and Sweethearts Drive Shoal Ashore Making a Rich haul.

Glasgow, Nov. 3.—The first great whale hunt in the Island of Yell for many years has just taken place, and great has been the excitement and the adventures thereof.

Yell is one of the northern islands of the Shetland group. The very name of it suggests roaring surf and shouting winds; and at Yell you have them in all their savagery.

In this great whale hunt, the ladies of Yell took prominent part. The men of Yell were away during the summer months selling their herrings; and consequently from June to September the whole district is left in charge of the lassies, with just the laird and the clergyman, and a perhaps a shopkeeper or two, to see fair play.

The joys of the telegraph and the daily newspapers, Yell is unknown to. Basta Boe, and the only sensation of the season is the weekly advent of a small steamer laden with mails and a passenger or two.

But the other day, great things came to the town. In the beautiful clearness of an early summer morning, with never a ripple in the bay, the sea suddenly began to move in a strange manner, as though somebody was stirring it up from down below.

Little jets of water shot up into the air, and there soon arose a mighty splashing and flapping. Basta Voe was awake in half a minute. "Whale! Whale!" was the cry. Close in to the shore were nearly 100 sportive leviathans, having a very merry time of it. Out came the boats, stealing off seawards to cut off all ways of retreat, and to hem in the unsuspecting whales.

Mr. Moir, an Edinburgh visitor, piloted the first boat. The second two were entirely "manned" by young women.

Then followed a game of hide and seek, whales and humans equally enjoying the fun. The whales refused to be driven ashore, and no amount of shouting and splashing could discompose them.

Presently a Mr. Livingstone, who was rowing in a little seven foot boat, pulled out of the surrounding fleet and dashed straight into the shoal.

A baby whale, thinking, no doubt, that he was a new kind of marine monster, swam up alongside and wanted to play with him. Mr. Livingstone seized the unsuspecting baby by the tail and a terrific battle ensued. Mr. Livingstone swears that the whale turned him quite a long way before he was able to get the whale and upset him, and nearly swamped the boat.

The deadly combat of the ladies of Basta Voe drew closer and closer in, and the whales began to get anxious. The shouts of the women remained on the beach, and the shrill cries of the hunters in the water filled the air with a most terrific din, and the leader of the shoal made a sudden dash for the open sea. He was turned back, however, and a sudden death for the open sea. He was turned back, however, and a sudden death for the open sea.

Meanwhile the whalers had been joined by the schoolmistress, who, going on in the bay, gave her remaining holiday at once, sail to her boat, and headed the attacking party.

The second attempt at escape on the part of the head whale proved disastrous. In his bewilderment he "swam blind" and stranded himself in shallow water.

If a whale hunt is to be successful it is absolutely necessary to "draw blood" as soon as the first victim is driven ashore.

No weapons in the boats; but a young Yell girl solved the difficulty by rushing ashore and reeling the whale inwards with a large fishhook. She then dragged the whale to the sea and stabbed the luckless whale in the side.

With the leader dead, the rest of the whales gave up very quickly. In two and three they were driven ashore, until over 80 were successfully and safely beached.

At least three score whales were killed, and the only weapons used were the fishhook and a harpoon.

Early afternoon saw the end of the fray with the whale hunt at its most dead with exhaustion. A few whales managed to escape and some were left alive on the beach, but the result that when the tide rose they struggled off and sought solitary shelter in deep water out beyond the bay.

All the officers and stockholders of a bank in the Creek nation are negroes.

RESULTS OF ELECTION OF 1900.

The following table gives the results of the last general election, or of the last by-election in cases where the seat has been vacated for any reason since 1900. The figures will be useful tonight for purposes of comparison. It must be remembered that many of the constituencies of Ontario have been materially changed by the redistribution, and that not a few, such as Carleton Place, Bothwell, Leeds and Grenville, West Durham and West Ontario and one of the Northwicks, disappear altogether.

ENRAGED BY TORTURES. German Recruit Kills First Lieutenant of His Regiment. Berlin, Nov. 3.—All Germany has been stirred by the news from Forbach, where a recruit, unable to stand the tortures inflicted upon him by his officers, turned upon one of his tormentors, the first lieutenant of his company, and killed him on the spot.

Fibroid Tumors Cured. A distressing case of Fibroid Tumor, which baffled the skill of Boston doctors. Mrs. Hayes, of Boston, Mass., in the following letter tells how she was cured, after everything else failed, by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Hayes' First Letter Appealing to Mrs. Pinkham for Help: "Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I have been under Boston doctors' treatment for a long time without any relief. They tell me I have a fibroid tumor. I cannot sit down without great pain, and the soreness extends up my spine. I have bearing-down pains both back and front. My abdomen is swollen, and I have had flowing spells for three years. My appetite is not good. I cannot walk or be on my feet for any length of time.

Note the result of Mrs. Pinkham's advice—although she advised Mrs. Hayes, of Boston, to take her medicine—which she knew would help her—her letter contained a mass of additional instructions as to treatment, all of which helped to bring about the happy result.

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—Sometime ago I wrote to you describing my symptoms and asked your advice. You replied, and I followed all your directions carefully, and to-day I am a well woman. "The use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound entirely expelled the tumor and strengthened my whole system. I can walk miles now.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth five dollars a drop. I advise all women who are afflicted with tumors or female trouble of any kind to give it a faithful trial."—(Signed) Mrs. E. F. HAYS, 252 Dudley St., (Roxbury) Boston, Mass.

Mountains of gold could not purchase such testimony—or take the place of the health and happiness which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought to Mrs. Hayes.

Such testimony should be accepted by all women as convincing evidence that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound stands without a peer as a remedy for all the distressing ills of women; all ovarian troubles; tumors; inflammations; ulceration, falling and displacement of the womb; backache; irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation. Surely the volume and character of the testimonial letters we are daily printing in the newspapers can leave no room for doubt.

Mrs. Hayes at her above address will gladly answer any letters which sick women may write for fuller information about her illness. Her gratitude to Mrs. Pinkham and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so genuine and heartfelt that she thinks no trouble is too great for her to take in return for her health and happiness.

Truly it is said that it is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that is curing so many women, and no other medicine; don't forget this when some druggist wants to sell you something else.

$5000 REFUND If we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above testimonials, which will prove their absolute genuineness. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Lowell, Mass.

STOCK MARKETS.

H. C. BECHER, stock broker, Bank of Commerce Building, 100 Broad Street, London, Ont. Private view from Bartlett, Frazer & Carrington, London, Ont. New York, Nov. 4.—(Non.)—The volume of transactions up to noon was rather large, but business was poorly distributed, commission houses generally complaining of a decided falling off. There were some large orders in the market, one house taking 10,000 Penna and 10,000 Union Pacific, another taking 10,000 of Erie, while also-called Standard oil brokers were heavy buyers of stock, common and preferred. The movement in Erie was attributed to the revival of rumors that the company had made a deal with the C. H. & D. Insiders took large blocks of B. R. T. The theory on the floor is that the larger interests in the street are buying stocks with a view to disposing of them when the expected boom takes place after the election of Mr. Roosevelt.

A STORY WITHOUT ANY FOUNDATION

London Manufacturer Accused of Discharging Employees for Political Reasons.

Mr. C. W. Smith, proprietor of the Jollys, a well-known upholsterer in the Free Press, has published in the Free Press that two of the employees of his cooper shop at Stratford had been discharged because they refused to vote for Mr. J. P. Mabee, K. C., the Liberal candidate. E. J. Dawson and L. F. Latimer, formerly of this city, were the men alleged to have been dismissed for political reasons. According to the story, the two men were dismissed because they refused to vote for Mr. Mabee. The story says, according to orders issued through the foreman by Mr. Smith, they attribute their discharge to no other cause than their refusal to vote for Mr. Mabee.

LIBERALS RATHER COURT RECOUNT

Feel That It Will Increase Rather Than Decrease the Majority for Mr. Hyman.

Local Liberals do not take much stock in the Conservative boasts that a recount will change the aspect of the election in London. As a matter of fact, it is said that all the spoiled and rejected ballots do not total over 50, and of those very many are marked for Hon. Mr. Hyman. In one subdivision, a Liberal scrutineer reported that of the four ballots thrown out as spoiled, one was marked for Mr. Gray and three were marked for Mr. Hyman. The scrutineers and deputies also declare that many of the ballots thrown out were spoiled by members of the Socialist Labor Party, who did not feel like voting for either candidate, and wrote their names on the ballots, and a note on the paper the word, "Socialist."
