

MAGNIFICENT RALLY IN OPERA HOUSE---BRANTFORD HELPS THE BRITISH RED CROSS FUND

Before an Audience Which Taxed the Capacity of Building, Hon. George P. Graham and Sir George Foster Pleaded For Recruits and For Red Cross Aid--Minister of Trade and Commerce Sustained His Reputation as One of Most Eloquent Orators in America--Mayor Spence Publicly Thanked Returned Soldiers-- Generous Collection--Resolution Passed Approving of $5000 as a City Gift-- Much Enthusiasm.

Brantford has never before witnessed such a meeting as that which took place last night in the Opera House on behalf of recruiting, and the Red Cross Fund. Notable demonstrations there have been aplenty, but none in which there was such a solemn note on behalf of a united purpose and united cause.

The building was filled shortly before 8 o'clock, and the doors had to be closed. Soldiers acted as ushers. On the large stage were seated some three hundred of the overseas recruits at present training here for the front.

At the back of the stage was a large Union Jack and small flags of the Allies were across the footlights, together with palms. A huge banner bore the inscription "1906-1915".

Three large placards were prominently displayed as follows: "BRANTFORD'S HERO DEAD."

- Pte. Arthur F. Barnes. Pte. D. Rose. Lieut. Norman Nelles. Pte. Frank Isaac. Pte. Percy Wailey. Pte. Arthur Smith. Pte. James Higgins. Lt. Cameron Grant. Pte. William J. Philpott. Pte. "BRIGADIER ASHTON'S APPEAL."

"You can tell the men of Brantford that no young man can afford to stand out of this business. A man that is a man and fit to do his duty and does not answer the call, will have to face an accusing conscience that he let his brothers bear his burdens."

Those present on the platform included Mayor J. H. Spence, W. Norman Andrews, W. S. Brewster, J. Han M.P.P., T. H. Preston, Rural Dean C. W. Saunders, Rev. A. E. Lavell, Rev. D. Watson, A. L. Baird, Capt. W. T. Henderson, Capt. P. A. Shultis and Lieuts. I. A. D. Slemm, D. Andrews, J. Orr, M. Smith, Rev. J. L. Gordon and D. H. Coates. Rev. Mr. Woodside offered a most earnest prayer.

COL. H. COCKSHUTT, President of the Brant Recruiting League, occupied the chair in a most capable manner. In his opening remarks he said that he had no intention of delivering a long address for they were present to hear two of the finest speakers in Canada, but he did wish to point out that this was a supreme hour for Canadians, not only to do their duty by the Empire, but also to their own homes. All who could go to the front, should: those who could not must contribute to such noble objects as the British Red Cross and other kind institutions. The struggle was not alone for ourselves, but also for those who would come after, for Britain throughout history had sacrificed her sons on behalf of the precious liberty which all now so freely enjoyed under the Union Jack. To lose in the present struggle would mean the humiliation of the Empire, there could be no question at all about that. Victory must be the watchword. Brantford had not hitherto been behind either in men or money to this end, but the greatest test in both respects was still ahead. They had on that platform boys who were in training to give their lives if necessary, and others in the boxes who had returned from an arduous campaign, and who were returning to the Motherland for help. Would it be unheeded? Never, never, so long as the Empire continues to flow in the veins of her sons and of her daughters.

Mr. Whitaker rendered "The Death of Nelson" in fervent style. GEORGE GRAHAM This is the testing time in every particular for the Empire of which Canada fills so important a part, said Mr. Graham in opening his address: there is no gaining the situation we are engaged in a life and death struggle. For more than a year the allies have not made the advancement we hoped they would make. The enemy were prepared beyond all expectation for the conflict into which they plunged while we were not so well prepared. Perhaps we have possibly been slow in waking up to the seriousness of the situation, and the issue which demands that every man, woman and child of the Empire must do their part, that peace and honorable peace may come out of the struggle, in which we are engaged.

Trafalgar was certainly a great victory but the struggle at that time is nothing compared with the great conflict that faces us to-day; we thought that the Boer war in Africa was a great struggle but the magnitude of the present conflict is far greater. The ammunition expended in one day in the present war exceeds the amount expended in the whole African war. A few thousand men engaged in what was thought to be a big battle at Waterloo but just the other day 1,000,000 men were engaged in one great battle. These facts said Mr. Graham, show how necessary it is for us to do our best. If we do our utmost it will help but it will be the smallest thing in the empire which we can do.

MIS-INFORMED The German Emperor was evidently laboring under a delusion, he was led to believe that in the Antipodes there was trouble that would deprive England and the aid of New Zealand and Australia, but how quickly these two countries let home-strife and home-feels fly to the four winds and returned to the call.

There is another spot that was engaged in civil strife when this mighty war broke out. Their ambassador informed the German Government that there was such a struggle going on in Ireland that no help would be forthcoming from the Irish, but what did they do? Immediately they ceased to be a north or a south, a Carson or a Redmond and all rose simultaneously and joined hands in defence of the Empire.

CANADA SPRANG TO ARMS Information was also handed out that Canada was so divided on certain lines that they would not rush forth to aid but what was the outcome? We discussed our attitude without party differences, there ceased to be any Grit or any Tory. All united under the one banner.

BOTHA--THE HERO In South Africa the Germans looked for co-operation on the part of the Boers but they took their stand to down the enemies of Great Britain

STRIKING SENTENCES FROM SPEECHES

SIR GEORGE FOSTER

"It isn't the little bits we're after. It's the big bits the Empire needs to-day, and never in its history so much as to-day." "I know the meaning of words. Tonight it is a question of saving the Empire." "Their (the Belgians) destruction is an expiatory sacrifice they have made on the altar to your cause and to the common cause of the freedom of the world." "The Turk sits in his trenches. It seems impossible to jar him."

MR. GRAHAM

"If Germany is able to thresh the rest of the world, good-bye, United States." "We ought to take-off our hats in the state at the present time is to make everything subservient to the successful prosecution of this war." "There is no way of anybody shirking the issue. We all have an absolute duty to perform." "The first and foremost business of the state at the present time is to make everything subservient to the successful prosecution of this war."

County Council Gives $5000 to Red Cross

The County Council has been in session in the city during the past few days, and the Warden and the members were present at last night's great meeting. They were deeply stirred and impressed, in common with everyone present. At the session this morning the subject of a suitable contribution to Red Cross funds occupied their earnest consideration. All felt that something should be done.

EVERYWHERE EXECUTION IS CONDEMNED

Huns Show Again Inability to Foresee Consequences of Their Acts. By Special Wire to the Courier. London, Oct. 22.—The Amsterdam correspondent of The Daily Express sends a story concerning the case of Miss Edith Cavell, which he says he secured from an intimate friend of the British nurse. The despatch follows: "She had long been suspected by the Germans, but always refused to leave so long as there was a single wounded man left in Brussels, saying that duty compelled her to remain where there was suffering. It is believed that before her arrest she was spied upon."

GREECE NOT TO SIDE WITH ALLIED POWERS

Has Rejected Offer of Cyprus by Britain and Will Remain Neutral. By Special Wire to the Courier. Rome, Oct. 22, via Paris 2.30 p. m.—From information available here to-day it appears that the Greek government is likely to reply to the representations just made by the Allies that Greece will abide by her policy of armed neutrality.

IN SPITE OF GREAT ODDS SERBS NOT DISCOURAGED

British and French Officers Returned From Battle Front Say That Little Nation is Not Yet Crushed.

By Special Wire to the Courier. Saloniki, Oct. 20, via Athens, Oct. 22.—Officers of the French and British expeditionary force in the Balkans who returned to-day to Saloniki from the southern front assert that, notwithstanding the odds against which they are fighting, the Serbians are not discouraged.

"I would not advise you to be taken that Serbia will be crushed." "Last Thursday we were north of Balla, in the sector where the Austrians and Germans are making their principal attack. It took them nine days to gain eight miles on that front. We saw a long line of Prussians and Austrian prisoners going to the rear. The Serbian line is absolutely unbroken. The Serbians are fighting every inch of the way." "Only five cannon of the allies and eight of the Serbians were lost around Belgrade, notwithstanding German reports. Seven of those cannon were destroyed before the city was captured."

MARCH FORWARD SINGING

The Serbian troops who were despatched to the eastern front to face the Bulgarians marched forward singing, being overjoyed at the chance to come to grips with their ancient enemy and confident of the outcome. "Throughout Serbia there is a conspicuous sentiment of gratitude to America, on account of the assistance extended by the medical commissions, which are believed to have saved the people from annihilation by the typhus epidemic." "The French general staff has issued a warning against rumors, either of bloody defeats or brilliant victories. It points out that in many instances the same names are given to various localities. An instance of the confusion resulting from this fact is the widespread report that the allied troops had captured the city of Strumitza, in southern Bulgaria, whereas in fact a skirmish occurred at Strumitza station, far to the west of the city."

Botha Assured of Safe Majority in New House

Cape Town, Union of South Africa, Oct. 22.—The followers of the Premier, General Louis Botha and the Unionists, who are supporting the Premier, are assured of a safe majority in the House of Assembly of the Union of South Africa. The Nationalists who opposed the military operations against German Southwest Africa, and are attempting to defeat the plan to despatch a contingent of the Union forces to Europe, thus far have obtained only 21 seats, mostly in the free state. Their victories there were expected as sentiment in that state is largely in favor of General Hertzog, one of the premier's most bitter opponents. He is regarded as the most influential Boer general, although in the uprising of last year he placed his services at the disposal of General Botha.

AERIAL TORPEDO OF THE BRITISH IS WONDERFUL

London, Oct. 22.—A device which is likely to revolutionize modern warfare has been invented and tested and will be ready for the market within a short time. It is an aerial torpedo, and the men who have worked out the idea are Elmer B. Sperry, president of the Sperry Gyroscopic Company of Brooklyn, and his son, Lawrence B. Sperry. Particulars were given yesterday by Lawrence B. Sperry, in England, in connection with the business the Sperry concern is doing with the British admiralty. "If carried out on a large scale, the Sperry scheme would make possible the destruction of a whole town with a single torpedo and the bombardment of cities as far distant as 100 miles could be carried on without risk of a single life by the assailants." "A DEADLY WEAPON. What the plan amounts to is this: An aeroplane, complete with the ex-

Berlin makes a categorical denial of the report that the Bulgarian city of Strumitza has been captured by the Anglo-French troops. The message states that in encounters which took place with a few Bulgarian detachments, the French and British were defeated and were unable to make any advance toward the Bulgarian frontier.

London, Oct. 22.—The Saloniki correspondent of the Daily Mail asserts that many of the reports current concerning Bulgarian successes are pure fabrications. "Bulgarian irregulars who attacked Vranja, says the correspondent, succeeded in damaging the railway so that it cannot be used for the present, but these irregulars were defeated and the entire force exterminated. The French force, he continues, is exceeding a brilliant planned movement in the rear of a large Bulgarian force for the purpose of cutting off a Bulgarian retreat on Istip. The Bulgarians are said to have suffered a notable reverse at the hands of the Serbians near Kopuldu."

SERB RETREAT CUT OFF

London, Oct. 22.—The latest news regarding the situation in Serbia is summarized in a despatch received by the Morning Post from Athens: "It looks as though the retreat of the main Serbian army upon Monastir, on the Greek frontier," says this despatch, "has already been cut off by the Bulgarians. Uskup is rapidly emptying of its inhabitants who are fleeing in anticipation of Bulgarian occupation. A strong Bulgarian force is advancing on Velts." "As to the loings of the allies, it now appears that the force sent north from Saloniki was far inferior to the numbers at first assigned, and the occupation of Strumitza seems never to have been actually carried out. Everything depends upon whether large Anglo-French reinforcements can be landed at Saloniki and rushed to the aid of Serbia by the middle of next week."

SILL LANDING TROOPS

Naples, Oct. 22.—Passengers arriving on the steamer Montenegro from Saloniki, state that the departure of troops of the Entente Allies for Strumitza has been suspended. The landing of Anglo-French forces is said to continue. "According to the passengers, the concentration of Greek troops is being carried out busily at Saloniki, where fifty thousand Greek soldiers already have been landed."

REINFORCEMENTS

Paris, Oct. 22.—The Serbian army at Valandovo has been ordered to march to the north to reinforce the troops there, according to a despatch received by the Journal from Athens under Wednesday's date. It is stated that Valandovo will be guarded by forces of the entente allies.

Women's Institute

Echo Place Womens' Institute met Oct. 21st, 1915, at the home of Mrs. R. Sowden.

The President, Mrs. Burk, in the chair, opened the meeting by announcing the singing of "O Canada," Miss Edmondson acting as pianist for the day. Minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mrs. Barnes. Mrs. Sowden then gave a selection on the victrola.

Mrs. Robert Reid of Brantford read a paper entitled "Purity in life and thought." Mrs. Reid thinks our everyday ideals should be on the same plane as our ideals in church work. She thinks worry shows unbelief in God. We are told to make our supplications known and God will reply. Mrs. Reid thinks that to be a success each one should make mistakes, with God's help, they will be then work to that end. Great emphasis was put on daily prayer and bible study. We were told not to be discouraged because of failures; were warned that discouragement was one of Satan's weapons to keep us from striving after better things.

Christ magnified christian virtues and kindly overlooked failures. Surely we, who are so apt to make mistakes ourselves, should try to follow His example. Heaven, we were told, was not gained by a single bound, but by climbing. Students were earnestly advised not to let education interfere with their duties as Christians. Christ in His life here on earth did His daily work, and in the performance of His humble duties pleased His Father in Heaven. Simple goodness and good living creates good influences, a good life is an incentive to others. Mrs. Reid made an earnest appeal to Christ's followers to so live that they would not lead unbelievers to form a wrong idea of Christ. Even Christ pleased not Himself. He came to help others.

Mrs. Reid then read a pathetic little story of the privations of a minister's family in a new country, and their trust in God in times of adversity, showing by contrast how thankful we ought to be for our comforts and our homes. Mrs. Reid's address and paper were helpful as well as interesting.

We were next favored with a piano duet by little Miss Alberta and Miss Grace Williams.

Mrs. M. Myers gave a very interesting paper on the life of Florence Nightingale. Although the name of Florence Nightingale is familiar to everyone all learned more of her life and trials than ever before. The audience was informed that Miss Nightingale, a very frail girl, was at a very early age master of several languages. While still young she was presented at court, but her superior soul revolted at the shallowness of high life, and seeing the lack of care where there was poverty and sickness, she felt called upon to relieve that want. At that time for a woman to nurse was considered very lowering, indeed, and it was after much opposition was overcome that she gained her point. It was well Miss Nightingale made her decision when she did, for when a few years later at the time of the Crimean war, her services were required on the field of suffering, she was ready to meet the call. Even there, though her care was so much needed, and so much appreciated by the suffering soldiers, so strong was the feeling against women nursing, she had to contend with much opposition and jealousy from doctors and officers. A good business woman, with a clear head, a kind heart, determined to do her bit, she went steadily on doing her duty. After the war she published from her wide experience, many useful books on nursing. Florence Nightingale can be thanked to-day as the founder of that far-reaching good Samaritan work known as the Red Cross society.

The secretary then read the government proclamation asking for aid for the Red Cross Society to help our soldiers at the front.

Miss Alberta Williams, her sister playing her accompaniment, gave a sweet little song, telling how Ireland received her name.

As the 21st was Trafalgar Day and the young people had been busy collecting for the Red Cross, a committee was appointed to meet at Mrs. Burke's home on Saturday afternoon to open the boxes and count the contents. Mrs. Burke extended an invitation to all the collectors to spend the tea hour with her that day.

The institute has secured permission from the Improvement society and school board to furnish an unused room in the Echo Place school for their use in future. As the society does not lose any time in making use of a good thing, a committee was appointed to purchase supplies for the room. A social evening was arranged for and two committees formed, one for the supper and one for the programme.

Mrs. Brown spoke a few words of greeting and promised at some future time to give a paper on Brant County.

Mrs. Tullock, Lock Road, extended an invitation to the institute to spend a social hour at her home on Nov. 18, 1915.

Heartly thanks were extended to Mrs. Sowden for her kindly entertainment of the institute. The meeting closed by singing God Save the King.

"BRINGING UP FATHER."
As a rule plays written for the purpose of making folks laugh cannot boast of continuity of plot or story. However, in "Bringing Up Father," the latest Gus Hill offering which comes to the Grand Opera House commencing Oct. 6 for a stay of one night only, there is no trouble in following a tale which is engrossing from every viewpoint. The characters are flesh and blood creations and not the exaggerated types one might expect to see in similar contributions. This piece in its entirety, even from a literary angle, is the best production Mr. Hill has fostered during his long career as a producer of stage entertainments. The piece, which was suggested by the popular cartoons of George McManus, is in three acts. Action is ripe from curtain to curtain and interest is never permitted to lag one iota. During the development of the plot at least a dozen song hits are introduced along with a number of scenes and original novelties. A most acute critic has christened the production, "a singing and dancing comedy"; apparently the appellation has been aptly applied.

The Situation.

The value of the Bulgarians to Germany is receiving striking emphasis in connection with the operations against Serbia. They are conducting a whirlwind assault upon that country at more than one point. As Sir George Foster pointed out in his speech of last evening, the unfortunate Serbians between the Bulgars and the Austro-German forces, are in a pair of nutcrackers. The Allies will have to rush forward a great deal more help before they can be of vital assistance, and direct aid seems to be impossible. Meanwhile there is the rumor that Roumania will, in the long run, join forces with the Allies, but no one can trust any of those Balkan powers. It was even said that Greece pledged herself to give active help before the Dardanelles campaign was decided upon, with the result that she is still on the fence and absolutely ignoring her solemn obligations to her ally, Serbia. The latter is evidently in for a devastation quite equal to that of Belgium.

The Russians continue to record successes in certain directions but on the other hand Von Hindenburg's army is getting perilously close to Riga, Russia's important seaport.

Last Night's Meeting.

Those who were privileged to participate in last night's meeting at the Opera House will never forget it. The gathering had an Empire tone of deep responsiveness. There was no idle flouting of the Union Jack, but the spectacle of determined men and women fully seized with the tense demands of the existing situation.

The utterances of the two leading speakers manifestly came from the very heart. Sir George Foster, a veteran in public life, a veteran in years, and the active head of an important government department, has thrown himself and his transcendent talents into the cause without any stint; and with an earnestness which has proved magnetic. He is one of the big men of Canada to-day, and admitted her best all-round orator. In a masterly manner he outlined the actual story of fifteen months of war, bringing home in direct terms the fact that the British Empire is undoubtedly in danger. Sir George did not speak as a pessimist, but as one who believes that there should be a more general awakening to the fact of an actual menace. He believes as ardently as anyone that, with recognition, there will come the undoubted extra effort which cannot fail to end in victory.

Hon. George Graham has never been heard here before to such advantage. He has a direct way of putting things and driving them home in a manner to challenge the close attention of any audience. Moreover, the land of his ancestry has imparted the true Irish touch, so elusive to define and yet possessing so much that is winning.

Foster and Graham certainly make a great team, and it is to the lasting credit of both that they have thrown off their coats, this time in a common cause, with a combined effectiveness which has never before paralleled in Canada.

EVERYWHERE EXECUTION

down through the Lusitania case and the visit of Zeppelins to open towns and finally incidents of the Cavell sort, the Germans have shown everywhere a lack of the most elementary conception of psychology." THANKS DUE TO WHITLOCK. London, Oct. 22.—The Daily Express in an editorial regarding the execution of Miss Edith Cavell, says: "The whole empire will echo Sir Edward Grey's thanks to Mr. Whitlock (United States minister to Belgium) for his splendid efforts to save Miss Cavell, whose execution is an affront to American and Spanish humanity, which will surely demand more than President Wilson's usual note. Germany is the parish of the nations. No other nation can continue relations with her without losing self respect."

The Times in an editorial says: SPIRIT OF ZABERN "The very spirit of Zabern, but of Zabern in war time, broods over the whole brutal and stupid story. There is not in Europe, outside of Germany, and the countries of her allies, a man who can read it without the deepest emotion of pity and shame. We do not know whether the hide-bound brutality of the military authorities or the lying trickery of civilian officials is the more repulsive. "They have killed an English nurse, as Napoleon killed the Duc d'Enghien (who was executed at Vincennes in 1804 on a charge of complicity in a conspiracy against Napoleon, after a court-martial at which no evidence was taken) and by killing her, have immeasurably deepened the stain of infamy that degrades them in the eyes of the whole world. They could have done no deed better calculated to aid the British cause."

The Daily Mail in an editorial says: CRIES TO HEAVEN FOR VENGEANCE. "It is a deed which in horror and wicked purposelessness stuns the world and cries to heaven for vengeance."

The Morning Post in an editorial says: "Surely such a story has never been presented to the modern world as here unfolded." The newspaper then refers to the Napoleon-Duc d'Enghien incident and asks: "But what is there in common between such an episode and the midnight execution of a defenceless woman who never meant harm to any human being, who only came within reach of the criminal law by her superior regard for the higher precepts of mercy and compassion."

The Daily Chronicle says: "The American legation at Brussels acted nobly. Comment is wasted on the story of the butchery. The sense of the civilized world can be left to judge between this helpless woman and her murderers."

The Daily Telegraph says: "We cannot be too grateful to those American and Spanish officials who worked with such passionate zeal in behalf of our unhappy countrywoman."

Greece

"Our strength in the Balkans seems to have been in nerveless, incompetent hands. Meanwhile Serbia struggles desperately against great odds and the chances of saving her grow more remote. The desperate position in the Balkans is not the result of mistakes, but inability to stand by our friends or to stand up to our enemies. There is a field here for courageous strategy and able diplomacy, but if strategy takes the form of dribbles and diplomacy the shape of gifts, our natural advantages and superior resources will not suffice."

WHAT STANDARD SAYS "The Evening Standard says: "Our policy would be far stronger if we ceased to reckon upon the intervention of Greece at all."

This newspaper assesses the quadruple entente has failed to recognize the significance of the second dismissal of Premier Venizelos and interprets it as demonstrating the deliberate decision of King Constantine not to side with the Allies.

"The King doubtless has reckoned with Greek public opinion," The Standard continues, "and so far there are no signs that the royal policy is sufficiently unpopular to necessitate its abandonment. The only way in which the Allies can induce Greece to comply with her treaty obligations is by pressure. If Greek intervention is necessary for us we must make Greece realize the unpleasant consequences of treaty breaking. Our command of the Mediterranean gives us a powerful weapon, and weapons are made to be used."

WINDMILLS OF MONTMARTRE

Paris, Oct. 22.—(Correspondent of the Associated Press)—The windmills of Montmartre, the oldest, most artistic and characteristic monuments of the district, have, some of them, already succumbed to the modernizing of Paris, or to the action of the elements; the others are threatened with destruction unless the friends of old Paris can get them moved from their present sites.

The "Moulin de la Poivriere" was demolished two years ago to give way to the new Avenue Junot. The "Moulin du Rouge" became a prey to the flames last winter, and now the old "Moulin de la Galette," which dates from the middle of the thirteenth century, is doomed to extinction or removal. A modern apartment house with steam heat and bath is going up there now, and the mill, the girls and their dancing partners must go elsewhere.

The "Old Paris" municipal council committee has decided that something must be done to perpetually commemorate the Bohemian days of Montmartre, and to preserve some of its artistic features. It proposes to transfer the "Red" or "Moulin de la Galette" to the Place Jean Baptiste Clement where it will continue to overlook Paris. Cherry trees are to be planted around it to commemorate the godfather of the Place, the popular song-writer and author of the "Chanson des Cerises."

Since the beginning of the war the Moulin de la Galette has been occupied by the society women of Montmartre as a sewing room, and has produced thousands of soldiers' garments.

SEA POWER IN EARLY TIMES

The Phoenicians were the first to make long voyages and the first to arm their vessels for war. They readily availed themselves of the advantages of a marine and thereby soon secured an extensive commerce. In time they assumed the empire of the sea, a sovereignty they long continued to enjoy, during which time they became tyrants of the sea and exercised piracy. They were the first sea pirates known in history.

After the Phoenicians, the Aeginetes and then the Cretans assumed dominion of the sea during various epochs, but it remained for the inhabitants of the island of Rhodes to create, digest and promulgate the first system of maritime laws of which we have any authentic knowledge. So great was the success they attained their code has always been referred to as the "Cradle of maritime law."

Nevertheless as far back as the reign of King Hammurabi, who was a contemporary of Abraham, 2,250 years before Christ, we find in the Code of Hammurabi numerous sections which fix the obligations arising under contracts for boat building, hire or charter of vessels, transportation of goods for hire, collision, etc., and the principles there laid down are in many instances recognized at the present time as the rule of decision.

The Persians and the Greeks in turn succeeded the Rhodians as masters of the sea. These two countries mainly fought by the ancients as a class "vessels of force," as distinguished from their merchantmen, or "ships of burden."

The great naval battle of Salamis, fought by these countries, in which it is said over 1,500 vessels took part, followed by that of Plataes and of Mycale, demonstrated to the Greeks, with the success of their arms, the immeasurable value of sea power. They lost no time and spared no efforts in the creation of a still greater navy and adopted measures they deemed judicious in furthering the interests of their merchant marine. Among other things, they established a special jurisdiction of A-thenes, to pass upon maritime transactions.

ACADEMY MUSICAL CLUB. Last evening the meeting of The Musical Club of the Academy took the form of a social evening and a very enjoyable time was spent by all present. The attendance was unusually large and following the program a guessing contest was engaged in, after which refreshments were served. Special mention should be made of the violin number by Miss Marjorie Jones and also the readings by Misses Annabel Ryerson and Nellie Berry. The programme was as follows:

Piano, Spozalizio, Liszt, Miss Bertha Brigham; vocal, "Where The Bee Sucks," Arne, Miss Louise Jones; reading, "The Day," Miss Annabel Ryerson; piano, The Kiss Waltz, Strauss-Schuetz, Miss Mary O'Grady; vocal, The Asra, Rubenstein, Miss Gertrude Brohman; reading "The Little Canadiane Girl," Drummond, Miss Nellie Berry; violin (a) Valse Triste, Sibelius (b) Perpetuo Mobile, Bohm, Miss Marjorie Jones; piano Duo, Pas des Cymbales, Chaminade, Misses D. Dake and E. Burr.

AT THE BRANT. An exceptionally fine bill is being presented at the Brant for to-day and to-morrow. Without doubt the finest list of pictures and vaudeville presented here for some time, which is saying a good deal, and all patrons should not miss this chance of enjoying a real treat. Among the varied list showing is the well-known Charlie Chaplin in his latest production "The Bank." Also the thrilling feature photo play, Lillian Russell in "Wildfire." Synder and May in their comedy duo, and the four Richards in "The Act Beautiful" is vaudeville worthy of the name, and will delight one and all.

British Steamers Sunk. Its Special Wire to the Courier. London, Oct. 22.—"The British Steamers City of Berlin, Auk and Iris, which were detained at Hamburg at the outbreak of the war, have been sunk by the enemy." This statement from Lloyds is all that can be permitted to be published at present.

Draw Fight. Its Special Wire to the Courier. Moosejaw, Sask., Oct. 22.—Curley Hume, a lightweight of Montreal, and "Kid" Bruny, of Minot, N.D., went twelve last rounds to a draw here last night. The men weighed in at 133 pounds.

A Discovery. Its Special Wire to the Courier. Paris, Oct. 22.—"It has just been revealed," says a Havas despatch from Rome, "that the agreement between Germany and Bulgaria, which was followed by that between Bulgaria and Turkey, was concluded last winter at Rome by Prince Von Buelow, the German ambassador, with D. Rizow, the Bulgarian minister, who on that account was transferred to Berlin before Italy entered the war."

Berlin Says Advance

Berlin, Oct. 22.—(By wireless to Sayville)—Bulgarian troops have advanced south of Strumitza and have driven the forces opposing them across the Vardar River, it was officially announced to-day by German army headquarters.

He who has a Life Policy has done his duty. He has discharged his responsibility and obeyed the law of equality in that he has not neglected nor refused to accept his opportunities. What is the consequence of his action? A great deal of the misery and misfortune of society comes from this one fact that people do not save the one surplus dollar which is the factor of energy they have wasted. BRANT DEANERY ASSOCIATION IN ANNUAL SESSION

The annual meeting of the Brant Deanery Sunday School Association was held in St. Jude's Sunday school room at p.m. Oct. 18th inst., the Rev. Patterson-Smith, President, in the chair.

The President opened the meeting with prayer, after which the minutes of the last meeting were read by the Secretary, Mr. Henry Fielden, and were adopted as read.

Mr. Morrison, Diocesan Inspector of Sunday Schools, then dealt with the progress of the Sunday School work in the Diocese, the appointment of Sunday School Inspectors, who meet every three months for discussion and compilation of reports. He strongly urged the adoption of a proper style of keeping books, also teacher training and pointed out that the adoption of the latter would tend to solve many of the problems which constantly face those interested in Sunday School work.

Inspe. Morrison's report and remarks were fully discussed by many of those present. Mrs. Turner then read a most interesting paper, dealing with the Kindergarten work in the reformed Sunday Schools. She pointed out as the result of her experience, the benefits that accrued from this system of fitting the teaching to the child, and not the child to the teaching; taking into account the child's nature, the reformed system was entirely contrary to the old, and visual means were used, as well as a hymn. Whilst collections were taken a hymn was sung and the children marched round to the music. Seats etc. are provided, suited to the height of the children; the lessons occupy about 12 minutes and then follows expression work by clay or chalks. Afterwards Superintendent's questions and closing hymn, great emphasis laid on good behaviour and efforts made to obtain teachers from the oldest pupils so that they do not drift away.

A general discussion followed Mrs. Turner's paper and in reference to some method by which the elder pupils could be induced to maintain their interest in the Sunday Schools and not drift away. The Rev. Chairman spoke of the success which had attended his introduction of the troop of Church Ladies' Brigade at Grace Church and the Rev. C. V. Lester spoke warmly of the benefits following the starting of the troop of Boy Scouts at St. Lukes.

The Rev. T. B. Jenkins then followed with an earnest address emphasizing the value of the mother and the home training that she gives, the responsibility the teacher assumes in taking the material from the routine train, and the infinite possibilities of the child, the perseverance of the teacher, and the adoption of a high standard. He spoke of several doors and only one master key that would unlock those doors and that was love and fellowship with the Divine Lord. He hoped that all teachers would possess the master key when no difficulty would be found using one of the many avenues which would lead to Success. The following officers were then elected for the following year:

Hon. President, Rev. R. D. Saunders; President, Rev. S. E. McKegney; vice-president, Rev. C. Patterson-Smith; secretary-treasurer, Mr. Henry Fielden; secretary of Pont Roll, Miss Emily Bunnell; superintendent of Home Dept. Miss Edna Senn; Supt. of Adult Bible Classes, Mr. Hunt; Supt. of Missionary Dept., Mrs. Fielden. As with two exceptions, the clergy-

The meeting was then closed with prayer by the Rev. Rural Dean Saunders.

CHILDHOOD CONSTIPATION

Baby's Own Tablets will promptly cure constipation of childhood. They act as a gentle laxative, regulate the bowels and stomach and are absolutely safe. Concerning them Mrs. A. Crowell, Sandy Cove, N.S., writes: "I can strongly recommend Baby's Own Tablets to all mothers whose little ones are suffering from constipation. The tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont."

Strike Arrests.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—Four arrests were made to-day in connection with the strike of Garment workers. Two girls were charged by a third with assaulting her because she would not strike and a similar charge was lodged against two men strikers by a workman who declined to quit his job.

Of Importance to Every Eyeglass Wearer in Brantford and Vicinity

THE EVER-LOCT MOUNTING

The most useful eyeglass invented in a decade. Wobbly lenses, due to loose screws, are the most annoying feature of eyeglass wearing. Frequent breakage of lenses, due to screw holes, is the most expensive feature of eyeglass wearing. I HAVE A CURE FOR WOBBLY LENSES which at the same time minimizes breakages, because no screws are used. In the "EVER-LOCT" eyeglasses and spectacles, which are sold here only by me, there are no holes, no screws and the LENSES ARE ALWAYS TIGHT. "EVER-LOCT" mountings on your glasses mean comfort and economy. Cost little more than the old style mountings. Come in to see them.

MAGNIFICENT RALLY

EVERYONE MUST HELP
Now, affirmed the speaker there are other duties to perform. No one must escape. You who are too old, if militia says you are too old, have duties just as important as those of the men who are fighting for us all, as well as the families left behind. I think we owe a debt of gratitude to the vast army of women who have done so much for the alleviations of the sufferings of the wounded. "The British Red Cross Society," who make the sacrifice when someone goes into action from a family? The individual above all others who suffers the greatest agony is the mother. "O where is my boy?" is impressed upon the mother's very mind all the time and the names of the mothers who gave their sons for this noble cause will occupy a great page in the annals of history. All honor to the women of Canada.

Now said Mr. Graham, let us go further. Too much cannot be said of Canadian boys who have gone to the field of battle. Everywhere in Canada is found in a glory spot. No Canadian ever turned his back on the enemy. The courage of the boys has served the British Empire on many occasions.

The young men who stay at home while others fight for them will have the inglorious end to share when the triumph comes, even some of those engaged in the manufacture of munitions should be spared; the older men might take their places. While the manufacture of munitions is as essential as the furnishing of men, Kitchener says he wants men and men and more men. Are the young men about the right age who braved before the war started about their duty and honor going to stand by and see that honor stricken and trampled in the dust. The crucial test, said Mr. Graham, has come. Are you as good a man as you thought you were?

CALL FOR MEN
On all sides the cry comes, from Belgium, Flanders, the Dardanelles, the Balkans, also from your fellow men who are now fighting, and for their lives for you, to come to their aid and defend your liberties. Your duty is beside your comrade in the trenches of Flanders.

NO SACRIFICE TOO GREAT
You hear many men, said Mr. Graham, mourning the fact that they are working along at their business not making any money. Have you stopped to think that many have given up making money altogether and gone to sacrifice their lives, what compares is that? While it is the duty of every man who is not fit to go to keep business running it is not you who are making the sacrifice but those who are going. Let us be careful that we are not economizing by someone else, in the Dominion are not doing our duty until we realize this.

MONEY SHOULD BE SUPPLIED
I think, said the speaker, it is the duty of the financial institutions throughout the country to go as far as they can in seeing that men who cannot go to the front are given encouragement in the keeping on of business.

The success of this great war depends upon a good deal upon commerce and it is everyone's duty to see that merchandise is kept moving which means silver bullets a necessary factor in the tremendous expense this war is causing.

Now said Mr. Graham a word for those who could go but have not done so as yet, are you going to sit down while others, ladies and children included, are doing their part, smoking perchance and wondering how those men who are suffering and dying to protect your liberties just as much as their own are getting along? You will no doubt contribute a little from time to time but if you were to give every dollar you possess, what sacrifice would it be in comparison with those who are laying down their lives.

Some lady, perhaps, had given up having a maid and donated the money thus saved to the Red Cross or some other war fund. She hadn't sacrificed anything; it was the maid who was doing the sacrificing. "If I had the authority to order everyone to the front unless they paid $250, or $500 or $1,000, what a lot of hidden treasures would be produced."

We at home, said Mr. Graham have so much at stake we cannot afford to keep back our last dollar if it would mean victory for the allies. What benefit is it to the men who have so seriously fought and bled for us, if the blood before us if you men of 1915 allow the liberties they gained to be taken from you? In event of our losing we would come under the most despotic form of government ever known. Better to have lost in 1812 and become part of the neighboring republic than to let ourselves be worsted in 1915.

APPEAL FOR RED CROSS
We are here to-night, said Mr. Graham, on behalf of the Red Cross Society which stands for the highest type of humanity, kindness, charity and womanhood. Shall we be lax in our contributions and offers of aid? If a wreck occurred near the city to-night, said the speaker, you would be ready to open your homes and rush to their aid even if they were perfect strangers to you. The same heart that responds to this call must respond to the call of the Red Cross society would impel you to do your utmost for a stranger who should you do for your comrades fighting for you on every hand on land and sea and in the air?

The more it is thought of, do we realize the necessity for prompt action it is the duty of all not to hesitate for one moment to help every cause so that in the years to come history will show that the men who could not go did their utmost for the interests of those who sacrificed their lives.

FIG COLLECTION
The ladies of the Red Cross then took up the collection in cash and card contributions. The total was about $2,500. Many citizens not at the meeting are requested to send in their contributions.

The audience during the passing of the baskets sang, "For those in peril on the sea" and the soldiers on the platform "We'll Never Let the Old Flag Fall" and "Tipperary."

It was announced that the collection at the children's meeting in the afternoon totaled $1,864.45.

The chairman referred to the fact that he expected to be Mayor of Brantford during the Boer war and spoke of the jubilation when victory finally came and he felt sure they would ultimately triumph in connection with present hostilities. Mayor Spence had done excellent work during the recruiting and other demands in Brantford and they would like to hear from him.

MAYOR SPENCE

your eyes. But we are not doing our duty," continued the speaker impressively, "unless we make the sense of peril instant, present and consistent with our own waking and sleeping hours. As we do that the young men will rush to do their part and old men will do their full duty."

THE BIG BITS THAT COUNT
"Until you have," said Sir George, "we haven't got to the point where the Empire will be saved. Mark that, saved. I know the meaning of words. To-day it is a question of saving the Empire. Shake your lives and shake out of yourselves years of vaunting and boasting that the Empire can never be in peril—that the fleet and the army will come through."

THE DARDANELLES
Then there was still the Gallipoli Peninsula. Five months have passed since the Allies landed and what progress has been made? "The Turk sits in his trenches. It seemed impossible to jar him and we were no nearer Constantinople than when we began. There was more still to be reckoned upon as the result of fifteen months of war. The Germans and Austrians battering ram knock at the gates of Serbia and the Bulgars on the Balkans. The Serbian army, which had passed through two wars and a devastation of typhus was like a nut between the crackers."

AFTER SIX MONTHS OF WAR
"What progress have we made?" inquired the speaker. "Have we been an all-conquering force? Look at the field as it is to-day. The Germans possess one-tenth of France and hold Cairo. They possess in their one-tenth the best and most productive parts, the centre of great mining, manufacturing and industrial resources. They have in their hands an inspiration for all to give as generously as they could."

RESOLUTION PASSED
It was moved by Mr. J. H. Ham, M.P.P., seconded by Mr. W. S. Brewster, K.C., that the citizens of Brantford, having heard the appeal on behalf of the Red Cross Society, and recognizing the need of funds to carry on its work, and that all members of the community will desire to contribute, hereby approves of an appropriation being made by the Mayor and Council of the City of Brantford of the sum of Five Thousand Dollars, to be met by the issue of debentures or otherwise."

Mr. Ham said he need not address much to the resolution. The people of Brantford and Brant County had been called on again and again, and would be called on still further. In each instance the response had and would be most hearty. He did not consider the voting of $5,000 by the city at this period at all out of the way. Such a sum would constitute a heavy upon every citizen, and he heartily approved of it.

Mr. Brewster expressed the opinion that the voting of $5,000 would be the most equitable way of getting at each instance the response had and would be most hearty. He did not consider the voting of $5,000 by the city at this period at all out of the way. Such a sum would constitute a heavy upon every citizen, and he heartily approved of it.

THE EASTERN FRONT
Fifteen months of war and Germany held one-tenth of France and all of Belgium. There was another front and along that front Russia had been fighting. How had the battle fared? Our cause to-day had not improved. Our ally was not on German soil.

But there were no more to be said. The speaker then turned to the ladies and children. "We will be glad to see you all at the meeting on Friday, Saturday and Monday."

THE BLUE JACKETS
"When by and by victory spreads itself on our banners and Despotism is rolled back, among all the things we will be thankful for will be the Blue Jackets of the fleet who have stood between us and destruction."

DON'T DODGE THE QUESTION
"I pray you, young men, don't dodge this question," said Sir George, in conclusion. "This is an era which is making character all over the world. Belgium was taken up into the heights of the mountains and Satan plied her ears with all his wiles. The Belgian nation said: 'Get thee behind me, Satan! Liberty and freedom is better to us than all the kings of this world, said Belgium. We have lost our nationality but we saved our soul, and made a character which by its purity

TRUE COURAGE
"It is when we see the facts as we are now beginning to see them—it is then that true courage will have its birth. It is then that action will make itself felt and set itself in motion. True courage is when you see the whole of the peril and then follow along the road in which it impels you no matter whether it leads to death or it leads to glory." (Applause.)

GEOGRAPHICALLY LUCKY
There were two conclusions to be drawn from this. First, Belgium had no interest in this struggle that Canada did not have. Second it was mere geographical luck that Canada was not Belgium and Belgium was not Canada. Their cause is your cause. Their fight is your fight. Their destruction is an expiatory sacrifice they have made and you have not but it is cause and the common cause of the freedom of the world. Every Belgian who has fallen has been your proxy; every Belgian who has fallen has been your champion and when he has died it has been a sacrifice for your liberty as well as his own. Let us thank God that our battle is fought 3,000 miles away from us and not within 50 feet of us.

THE MIGHTY FLEET OF BRITAIN
"But there are one arm that has never failed, one defence that has never weakened and never trembled. The world is safe to-day because of that one great redeeming factor, the fleet of Britain. For 15 months the most powerful fleet in the world, thrown somewhere on the rolling waves and shrouded in the mists of the North Sea, has looked up Germany might and German hate; has kept the seas free for the commerce of the world. Suppose for one moment that the British fleet had been wiped out, you would not be sitting here complacently to-night. No region in the world would have remained unharmed and remained undevastated." This superb tri-

FOR ONE TIME THEY ARRIVE, NINE TIMES THEY DON'T
London, Oct. 22.—Sir John A. Simon, the home secretary, replying to a question last evening in the House as to whether it would be possible to warn Londoners of Zeppelin raids, asserted that nine times out of ten before they even reached the coast. "If the public was warned every time Zeppelins were sighted on their way to England," said the home secretary, "nine times out of ten they would be disappointed. Besides, the government could not say which part of the metropolis would be visited, as the Zeppelin crews themselves have not the remotest idea where they are, and, after all, if the public was told, it would not prevent the dropping of bombs and would only have the effect, judging from previous experience, of bringing people out into the streets."

SHELL MAKING INDUSTRY IN THIS COUNTRY

Component Parts Are Made at Different Places and Then Assembled.

A great world-industry of the present time is that of shrapnel and lyddite. The value of the shrapnel fired by the French army alone in one week of its retreat from Belgium to Paris was over $15,000,000, so it follows that the total value of that fired by the allied armies to date must have reached a literally stupendous figure. Canada is doing her part in supplying Great Britain with this kind of munitions of war. With the exception of the arsenal, it is probable that no factory in Canada, was the meaning of the words "shrapnel" or "lyddite" understood before the 1st of September last, which was the date when the British Government placed its first order for shells (200,000 of them) in this country to be followed by other and larger orders. But, so adaptable were the Canadian factories that Great Britain received 250,000 shells from Canada delivered in London before she received any from those British factories on the same basis as all the Canadian factories that is to say, without previous experience in the shell industry.

The component parts of the shells are made at different places in the country. They are all Canadian-made, with the exception of the copper band. At about (possibly) a dozen factories in Toronto these parts are assembled and finished. Most explosives are put in at these factories—that is done either at the Woolwich arsenal in England or at the base in France.

All the shells are 18-pounders, the shrapnel being machined, heat-treated and filled with bullets—375 bullets to each shell—in the factory. The eighteen pounder high explosives (lyddite) are machined in the factory, but not heat-treated, and they are filled with lyddite in England or elsewhere. It may be mentioned that all new tooling has been required for the machines.

The "blanks," that is to say, the empty, unfinished carcasses of the shells, arrive in carload lots of about three thousand to a car. First of all the top of the shell is cut, and then its base, so as to get the standard length. Then it is bored out in order to get the standard size inside. Next, four machines, technically called "automatics," by means of a revolving process, smooth the outside so as to ensure the exact outside size. Then the driving band—the band which takes the rifling of the cannon, which gives the directing twist to the shell—is put on. One peculiarly delicate operation is known as putting on the wave-line on which the driving band is put—this prevents the driving band from creeping on the shell.

The heat-treating is conducted in what is called the hardening room—the tensile strength of a forged shrapnel shell must be 80,000 to 90,000 pounds per square inch. The shells are heated to a certain point in a furnace for a certain length of time, and are then cooled in a tank containing a combination of oils. Each shell is tested for hardness by a machine called a scleroscope. Before testing for hardness a portion of the surface of the shell is polished, in order to get a true reading, then placed in a fixture, and the hammer of the scleroscope allowed to drop on it. The reading should be between 40 and 50, indicating an elastic limit of 80,000 to 90,000 pounds per square inch.

By a special process of "nosing in" the temper is drawn from the nose of the shell, and it is nosed in—that is the nose of the shell is closed to the proper shape and diameter—in one operation. Before this is done, the steel diaphragm, which is larger in diameter than the nose of the shell, is thrown in. The object of the diaphragm, which fits in at the base inside, above the powder cup, is to compel the whole charge of bullets to be discharged at once. A powder tube is inserted for the purpose, hereafter, of filling the powder cup with powder. The shell is filled with bullets and then charged with powder. A brass cap is finally screwed on to the top of the casing.

There is a painting room in the factory with a very ingenious arrangement, which turns all the time, for painting the shells. Each shell is given two coats of paint. In the shipping department the shells are packed—six in a box—in boxes of great strength and heavily clamped. The shells are subjected to the most rigid inspection. Each company has its own inspection staff which inspects them carefully before they go to the bonded warehouse and before the Government inspectors of whom there are eight in the premises at work all the time.

All the Government inspection staff are Woolwich arsenal men, and the exactness with which they perform their work may be gauged from the fact that each shell is subjected to no fewer than forty-eight measurements, and is weighed five separate times. A deviation of a thousandth of an inch from the standard measurements is sufficient to disqualify a shell. In fact, the inspection of shells is far and away the most rigid inspection that is required in any factory in Canada to day.

THREE THINGS HUNS WANT IN SERB DRIVE

Junction With Turkey, to Impress the Mussulman, to Restore Prestige.

By Special Wire to the Courier. Paris, Oct. 22.—The Petit Journal to-day publishes an interview with Dr. M. R. Vranich, Serbian minister to France, in which the minister is quoted as saying that Emperor William desires to effect three things by an attack on Serbia. These are:

"First, a junction with Turkey, in order to recruit soldiers from Asia Minor; next to impress strongly the imagination of the Mussulmans and lastly to restore the German army's prestige, lowered by the failure on the eastern and western war fronts. The expedition of the Entente allies, the minister says, not only will succeed Serbia, but will settle the five hundred year old eastern question.

ROUMANIA FOR ALLIES Petrograd, Oct. 21.—Via London, Oct. 22.—The Novoe Vremya prints an interview with the Roumanian envoy who has arrived here on a mission from the Roumanian foreign office. The envoy is quoted as stating that the Roumanian army and the nation are wholly on the side of the entente allies and that he is convinced that Roumania will soon abandon neutrality.

Regarding the Russian reproaches at Roumania's delay, says the paper, he points out that premature action in the absence of an adequate supply of munitions might have placed the country in a terrible situation.

"Now that we are almost ready," the envoy is quoted as adding, "we can reckon on an army of 600,000 men which could be increased to over a million, but for the question of munitions. Our war office has already adopted appropriate measures in the Carpathian defiles where an army of 320,000 is concentrated."

According to the Novoe Vremya, the envoy is a near relative of J. J. C. Bratianu, the Roumanian premier.

NO COLLECTIVE ALLIED ACTION PROBABLE YET

Only Way to Induce Greece to Take Military Action is to Land Troops.

By Special Wire to the Courier. SEND ENOUGH TROOPS. Paris, Oct. 22.—The Athens correspondent of the British press has the following under date of Wednesday. The only way of inducing Greece to take military action is to send troops to Salonika in sufficient numbers. Minister Elliott and Demidoff (Sir F. E. Elliott and Prince Elim Demidoff, respectively British and Russian ministers to Greece) have called on present, for it would have little chance of success. The Roumanian military attache here is daily in close relation with his German colleague and the German minister.

THE CYPRUS OFFER London, Oct. 22.—The offer of Cyprus to Greece was made last Sunday, according to The Times and is a partial revelation of the proposals which had been under consideration for some time.

Greece, says The Times, was clearly informed by the British note that fulfillment of her treaty obligations to Serbia would entail the cession of Cyprus without prejudice to any other eventual advantage which the allies might share with Greece. It is understood that the Greek Government had already been assured of large military and adequate financial support from the allies and had been given to understand that the condition of the guarantee of Greek possessions for a term of years recently mentioned by Eleutherios Venizelos, the former premier, in the Greek chamber, would be fulfilled.

Before the war in the quarter where commerce in luxuries flourishes particularly, the landlord had never to seek a tenant. He simply marked up the rentals 10 per cent. in anticipation of the expiration of the lease and waited for his customers; he was never obliged to advertise. Today one of the striking features of these same quarters is the long wide bands of canvas that here and there advertise an apartment or a store for rent. There are dozens of them on the grand Boulevards from the Place de la Concorde to the Place de la Republique; there are four in the Place Vendome, several in the Avenue de l'Opera and the Rue de la Paix. Some of the former tenants have gone out of business. Some have sought other less expensive quarters and others have simply compromised with the landlords; unable to pay rent, they have given way for anyone who can. Real estate experts predict that the

By Special Wire to the Courier.
