that COOD LIVER OIL AND IRON are beyond question the greatest medicines known. Then why does not everybody take Cod Liver Oil and Iron? Simply because most people cannot take the Oil and few can digest the Iron in any ordinary form. These difficulties have been entirely removed by the introduction of FERROL, in which the Iron is scientifically combined with the Oil, rendering the Oil palatable and the Iron digestible.

FERROL

is manufactured from the best quality of Cod Liver Oil (the whole of the Oil) and is richer in oil than any other emulsion, and while it contains just the right quantity of the best form of Iron and Phosphorus, it is so scientifically prepared that not one person in a thousand finds any trouble in taking it. Moreover the well-established value of the Oil and Iron is immensely enhanced by the process of manufacture, and as the formula is freely exposed it is not to be wondered at that physicians everywhere have fully endorsed FERROL and used it largely in their practice. FERROL is invaluable for the treatment of any kind of Lung or Bronchial troubles, while for wasting diseases it has no equal, and 'You Know What You Take'.

THERE IS NO BETTER TEA THAN MORSE'S

It is a bad grade yet. But before the new work was done on the river division Beverly hill was a terror to trainmen.

On rainy Sundays old switchmen in the Zanesville yards still tell in their shanties of the night the Blackwood bridge went out and Cameron's stock train got away on the hill, with the Denver fire caught at the foot like a rat in the trap.

Ben Buckley was only a big boy then bracing up freights. I was dispatching under Alex Campbell on the West End. Ben was a tall, loose jointed fellow, but gentle as a kitten; legs as long as pinch bars, yet none too long, running for the Beverly switch that night. His great charm in those days was Andy Cameron Andy was the youngest engineer on the line. The first time I ever saw them together Andy, short and chubby as a duck, was dancing around, half dressed, on the roof of the bath house, trying to get away from Ben, who had the fire hose below, playing on him with a two inch stream of ice water. They were up to some sort of a prank all the time.

June was usually a rush month with us. From the coast we caught the new crop Japan teas and the fall importations of China silks. California still sent her fruits, and Colorado was beginning cattle shipments. From Wyoming came sheep and from Oregon steers, and all these not merely in car loads, but in solid trains. At times we were swamped. The overland traffic alone was enough to keep us busy. On top of it came a great movement of grain from Nebraska that summer, and to crown our troubles a rate war sprang up. Every man, woman and child east of the Mississippi appeared to have but one object in life—that was to get to California and to go over our road. The passenger traffic burdened our resources to the last degree.

I was putting on new men every day then. We start them on braking on freights. Usually they work for years at that before they get a train, but when a train dispatcher is short on crews he must have them and can only press the best material within reach. Ben Buckley had not been braking three months when I called him up one day and asked him if he wanted a train.

'Yes, sir, I'd like one first-rate, but you know I haven't been braking very long. Mr. Reed,' said he frankly.

'How long have you been in the train service?'

'I spoke brusquely, though I knew without even looking at my service card just how long it was.

'Three months, Mr. Reed.'

'It was right to a day.

'I'll probably have to send you out on 77 this afternoon.' I saw him stiffen like a ramrod. 'You know we're pretty short,' I continued.

'Yes, sir.'

'But do you know enough to keep your head on your shoulders and your train on your orders?'

Ben laughed a little. 'I think I do. Will there be two tickets to-day?'

'They're loading eighteen cars of stock at Ogallala. If we get any hours off the Beaver there will be two big sections. I shall mark you up for the first one anyway and send you out right behind the fier. Get your badge and your pouch from Carpenter, and whatever you do, Buckley, don't get rattled.'

'No, sir. Thank you, Mr. Reed. But his "thank you" was so pleasant I couldn't altogether ignore it. I compromised with a cough. Perfect courtesy even in the hands of the awkward boy that ever wore his trousers short is a surprisingly handy thing to disarm gruff people with. Ben was undeniably awkward, his legs were too long and his trousers decidedly out of touch with his feet. I turned away with the conviction that in spite of his gawiness there was something to the boy. That night proved it.

'Six or eight,' shouted Ben. 'It's the wind, Daley—the wind. Andy can hold her if anybody can. But the wind; did you ever see such a blow?'

'Ever while he spoke the cry for brakes came a third time on the storm.'

A frightened Pullman porter opening the rear door of the sleeper. Five hundred people lay in the excursion train, unconscious of this avalanche rolling down upon them.

The conductor of the fier ran up to Ben in a panic.

'Buckley, they'll telescope us.'

'Can you pull ahead any?'

'The bridge is out.'

'Get out your passengers,' said the conductor.

'There's no time,' cried the passenger conductor, wildly, running off. He was panic stricken. The porter tried to speak. He took hold of the brakeman's arm, but his voice died in his throat. Fear paralyzed him. Down the wind came Cameron's whistle clamoring now in alarm. It meant the worst and Ben knew it. The stock train was running away.

There were plenty of things to do if there was only time, but there was hardly time to think. The passenger crew were running about like men distracted, trying to get the sleeping travelers out. Ben knew they could not possibly reach a tenth of them. In the thought of what it meant an inspiration came like a flash.

He seized his brakeman by the shoulder. For two weeks the man carried the marks of his hand.

'Daley,' he cried in a voice like a pistol crack, 'get those two stockmen out of your caboose! Quick, man! I'm going to throw Cameron into the cattle.'

It was a chance—single, desperate, but yet a chance—the only chance that offered to save the helpless passengers in his charge.

If he could reach the siding switch ahead of the runaway train he could throw the deadly catapult on the siding and into his own train and so save the unconscious travelers. Before the words were out of his mouth he started up the track at topmost speed. The angry wind staggered him. It blew out his lantern, but he flung it away, for he could throw the switch in the dark. A sharp gust tore half his rain coat from his back. Ripping off the rest, he ran on. When the wind took his breath he turned his back and fought for another. Blinding sheets of rain poured on him. Water streaming down the track caught his feet. A silvered tire slipped him, and, falling headlong, the sharp ballast cut his wrists and knees like broken glass.

In desperate haste he dashed ahead again. The headlight loomed before him like a mountain of flame. There was light enough now through the sheets of rain that swept down on him, and there ahead, the train almost on it, was the switch.

Could he make it?

A cry from the sleeping children rose in his heart. Another breath, an instant floundering, a slipping leap, and he had it. He pushed the key into the lock, threw the switch and snapped it, and to make deadly sure, braced himself against the target rod. Then he looked.

No whistling now. It was past that. He knew the freemen would have jumped. Cameron? No, not Andy, not the pit yawned in front of his pilot.

He saw streams of fire flying from many wheels, he felt the glare of a dazzling light, and, with a rattling crash, the ponies shot into the switch. The bar in his hands rattled as if it would jump from the socket, and, lurching frightfully, the monster took the siding. A flare of lightning lit the cab as it shot past, and he saw Cameron leaning from the cab window with a face of stone, his eyes riveted on the gigantic drivers that threw a sheet of fire from the sanded rails.

'Jump!' screamed Ben, useless as he knew it was. What voice could rise in that hell of noise? What man escape from that cab now?

One, two, three, four cars pounded over the split rails in half as many seconds. Ben, running dizzily for life to the right, heard above the roar of the storm and screech of the sliding wheels a ripping tearing crash, the harsh scrape of escaping steam, the hoarse cries of the wounded cattle. And through the dreadful dark and the fury of the babel the wind howled in a gale and the heavens poured a flood.

Trembling from excitement and exhaustion Ben staggered down the main track. A man with a lantern ran against him. It was the brakeman who had been back with the torpedoes. He was crying hysterically. They stumbled over a body. Seizing the lantern, Ben turned the prostrate man over and wiped the mud from his face. Then he held the lantern close and gave a great cry. It was Andy Cameron—unconscious, true, but soon very much alive and no worse than hardly bruised. How the good God who watches over plucky engineers had thrown him out from the horrible wreckage only he

Sanctum Suggestions.

Through the courtesy of Mayor Black THE ACADIAN has had the privilege of inspecting the act recently passed by the legislature of the province, entitled 'An act in relation to the registration and identification of motor vehicles, and the use of the public highways by such vehicles.'

We have before referred to the need of legislation governing the use of the motor carriage, and from a careful reading of the act at hand we are convinced that all the points have been well covered. Owners of motor vehicles complain that the provisions contained in the act are too stringent and interfere to a large extent with the free use of the vehicle, but they must remember that the motor carriage is an innovation and that time must be granted to the public to get accustomed to the new order of things.

Town Council Meeting.

At the regular monthly meeting on Wednesday evening, the Mayor and all the Council were present. The minutes of April meeting were read and approved.

The chairman of the Streets Committee reported verbally of work done during the month. The committee reported that a satisfactory contract had been made with Mr. Collins, the superintendent.

Verbal reports were also given by the Water, Sewer, Poor and Police Committees.

The Finance Committee reported receipts during the month $58,07 with expenditures for the same time $80,56. The debit bank balance May 1st was $502.71, as against $2582.61 at the same time last year.

Request was presented from D. D. Lyman, asking to have street line defined opposite his premises on Gasperau avenue.

Policeman Crowell asked that Frank Duncanson be appointed special constable. The following bills were read and ordered to be paid:

- F. S. Crowell $ 1.80
Miss Mary Leary 6.00
Mrs. Rebecca Gould 10.00
Mrs. Weatherly 5.00
A. J. Woodman 13.50
Acadia Electric Light Co. 43.35
William Regan 21.24
E. J. Delaney 7.03
Geo. W. Kyle 7.08
T. L. Marvey 1.68
Valley Telephone Co. 70

Resolved that a public meeting of the ratepayers be called on May 16th, 1907, in compliance with section 29 of 'An Act to enable the Town of Wolfville to borrow money for electric light and power purposes,' for the purpose of asking authority to borrow $40,000 instead of $15,000 voted at a previous meeting, to enable the town to purchase and install an electric light and power plant.

Resolved that Frank Duncanson be appointed special constable as recommended by Policeman Crowell.

The application of D. D. Lyman was referred to Streets Committee. John W. Wallace, B. O. Davison and M. W. Pick were appointed revisors of electoral lists.

Permission was given to E. C. Johnson, C. M. Vaughn and E. E. Archibald to keep pigs within the town, subject to the usual conditions.

Lord Arthur Halliburton, son of the celebrated author of 'Sam Slick,' is dead. He was born and educated in Windsor, but entered the Imperial service when a young man. He was raised to the peerage for services in the Crimean War. He leaves a considerable fortune, $50,000 of which, it is said, will go to Kings College.

Dr Falconer, the newly elected President of Toronto University, will get a stipend of $10,000, the former President had $5,500. The new President will have absolute control of everything connected with the University; his powers are most autocratic.

The separate school question, in spite of the protection to Roman Catholics by the Dominion Autonomy Act, is gradually coming to the surface in both Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Parliament was prorogued on Saturday afternoon last. The session lasted four months and five days.

PATERSON'S COUGH DROPS

The Music Festival.

The general verdict with respect to the Music Festival which took place in College Hall, April 24 and 25, was 'The best yet.' That this was so was partly because of the work which has been done in previous years but mainly on account of the magnificent training which the Chorus has received during the present year at the hands of Mr. Emery, the efficient Conductor. Not at all in disparagement of the rest of the admirable work done, it is only just to say that the feature of the Festival was the singing of the Chorus. While the works attempted were of a nature to tax the resources of a much older and more experienced organization to the utmost, in almost every place was the Chorus equal to the demand made upon it. In definiteness of attack, in rhythmic movement, in fineness of shading and sympathetic appreciation of the music sung, the work was worthy of all praise, and reflects the greatest credit upon Mr. Emery, who has had the Chorus in hand ever since last October and has led it step by step to so notable a musical achievement. Particular attention should be called to the specially fine work done in the rendition of 'Gallia,' and 'The Barber of Seville.'

In another respect the Festival of this year surpassed all others, in the depth and achievement of the artists secured. Mr. Frederic Martin, Basso, of New York, tho' just recovering from a severe cold which greatly interfered with his work on the first evening, was able on Thursday to reach a high pitch of excellence in his many parts in 'Elijah.' By his dramatic interpretations as well as fine intonation of his voice.

Mr. E. Strong, Tenor, was a delight and a surprise. He was confessedly the best solo work of the Festival. His voice, of rare tenor quality and under complete control, did just what he wanted it to do, and fairly captivated the audience. Perhaps his best work was done in his beautiful rendering of 'Onway,' although at all times and everywhere he was heard with delight.

While Mrs. Hawley's voice is not large enough for the most striking results in Oratorio, it is of fine quality, good range and pure intonation. She became increasingly a favorite with the audience, both on account of her charming stage presence and her unusual and artistic interpretation of her parts.

Miss Merson's rich Contralto was heard to best advantage in 'Lullaby,' accompanied by the ladies' voices in Chorus. A severe cold contracted on the evening of Wednesday interfered somewhat with the larger effectiveness of her work on Thursday, but some of her renderings of the recitative in 'Elijah' were most finished, and reflected great credit on her as a true artist.

Mr. J. C. De Buan, Cornetist, contributed largely to the strength of the Chorus by playing the trumpet parts. Notably in 'Gallia' was his support most effective. At the afternoon concert his solos revealed him the master of a tone as rare as it was pleasing.

Perhaps no one individual at the Festival attracted so much attention, not because of her ostentation, but solely because of the phenomenal nature of her work, as Miss Joy Lawrence, the Accompanist, Acadia Seminary, '07. The visiting artists could not say enough in her praise. The endurance which carried her through three such heavy programmes was only equalled by the marvellous skill with which the Chorus was supported and the delicacy of shading and sympathy of interpretation which rendered all the solos so much the more delightful. The ovation she received testified to the esteem in which her work was held. Surely Director Emery should have felt proud to have carried forward to so successful an issue a Festival which might, so far as the quality of the work required was concerned, easily have been a most disastrous musical failure. Instead it was a triumphant success. Visitors were present from Sydney, Halifax, Annsbury, Truro, St. John, Yarmouth, Liverpool, Bridgewater and many intermediate towns. Nova Scotia has been laid under large musical obligation, and this we feel that she will be willing gratefully to recognize and discharge. Acadia Seminary should and does feel grateful to all who by expenditure of time and work contributed to the musical and financial success of an undertaking which too often proves if musically successful a financial loss.

The Massey-Harris people have decided to make their headquarters for the Maritime Provinces in Moncton. They have paid $6,000 for a site and will erect a building to cost $15,000.

CASTORIA. The kind you have always bought. Mr. J. W. Margeson was the speaker at a largely attended meeting held on Friday last, under the auspices of Canard Division. The subject was Observations on Twentieth Century Problems.

Kings county was represented at the Dalhousie University convocation by D. H. M. Marchant, of Brooklyn Street, who received the degree of Bachelor of Engineering.

So far the spring of 1907 appears to have beaten all former records as a backward season. Very little farm work has so far been done.

Rev. M. G. Henry, of Canard, has returned from Thompson, Cumberland county, where he has been spending the winter.

'Well, no,' replied the young lady addressed, thoughtfully; 'I would rather that you thought of me as Saturn.'
'Indeed, why?'

'Oh, well, you know, didn't you tell me that Saturn was a ring.'
He thought her one on the following day.

The imaginary invalid, who fancies he has all the diseases in the book, or, at least, all the interesting ones, had called in a young physician who had a considerable reputation.
He was telling this doctor what he thought was the trouble with him, when the doctor ventured to disagree with his diagnosis. For a moment he was speechless.

'I beg your pardon,' he said, at last, in a haughty way. 'But it isn't for a young physician like you to disagree with an old and experienced invalid like me!'
And he went out to seek another doctor.

Provisions of the Will of the Late Dr. Oronhyatekha.

TORONTO, April 8.—The will of the late Dr. Oronhyatekha, supreme chief ranger of the Independent Order of Foresters, disposes of the estate valued at $59,559.54. Of this $37,000 is life insurance and $6,450 in real estate. The Union Trust Co. is instructed in a sealed letter attached to the will how to dispose of $12,000. The Pines at Deseronto passed to Dr. W. A. H. Oronhyatekha, his son. It was to go to the daughter provided she married an Indian. The son also receives the premises known as the Log Cabin on Foresters' Island, Prince Edward. Provision is made that he can dispose of the property to the Independent Foresters, but if such is not done at his death the premises are to become the property of the Foresters' Orphans Home and the rest of Foresters' Island excepting the premises known as the Wigwam and the property of his daughter Catherine pass to the supreme court. Other bequests are: $500 each to George P. Morton and Simon Morton, brothers; Ann Powlis, sister; Margaret Powlis, sister; and Elizabeth Hill, sister-in-law. Miss Lillian Barker gets the furniture and personal effects at the castle street. The residue of the estate is equally divided between Dr. W. A. H. Oronhyatekha, son, and his sister, Catherine Evangeline.

Oh, for a Clear Complexion!
A clear complexion is the outward evidence of inward cleanliness. In bad health the face becomes a sign-board, telling of disease within. If yellow, bile is not properly secreted; if pallid, the kidneys are faulty; if skin is murky and dark circles beneath the eyes, look for consumption. Whatever the cause, no remedy compares with Dr. Hamilton's Pills which are mild, safe, purifying and vitalizing in their action. They give a marvellous rosy tint to the cheeks, brighten the eyes and establish health that defies age and disease. Sold everywhere in 25c. boxes.

A Baltimore woman who had a perfect treasure of a cook, 'was horrified recently when Maggie came to her saying:
'Please, mum, I'm givin' yea wake's notice.'
'Why, Maggie!' exclaimed the lady of the house, 'this is a surprise! Aren't you satisfied? Do you hope to better yourself?'

'Well, no, mum,' responded Maggie. 'Tis not exactly that. The fact is, mum I'm going to get married.'
Like a Thief in the Night.
That's how pain comes. We sit near an open window, get stiff neck or sore back. Perhaps cool off too quickly after exertion—rheumatism develops. Spend what you may, but money can't buy anything better than Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Its penetrating power enables it to reach deep tissues,—that's why it cures aches that all else can't touch. For outward application we guarantee five times more strength than any other liniment. Inwardly it's harmless and as sure as the hereafter to ease at once. Don't accept a substitute for Dr. Shoop's Restorative which is the one great household panacea of today.

Comfort is a relative term. In a soldier's camp things appear delightful which would hardly be thought so at home. When after the 'battle of Gains's Mills, John, a negro servant, came in for supplies, says Mrs. Fryer, in her reminiscences, his mistress asked after his master's well-being.
'Did he have a comfortable night, John?'

'He sholedy did, missus,' was thereply. 'Marse Roger sartfully was comfortable last night. He slep' on de field 'twixt two daid horses.' Youth's Companion.

The Cause of Sore Feet.
Examine them carefully and you'll probably find corns. Whether hard, soft or bleeding, apply Putnam's Corn Extractor. It's painless, it's sure, and above all quick to act. Insist on only 'Putnam's.'

Let us get up in the morning resolved that we will live a truer life than we did yesterday, make somebody happy, keep our temper, and do something to make faru life richer and better.

In a Fog.

Nothing has such a bewildering effect as fog. Only animals which find their way by scent can get about in it with any certainty. Birds are entirely confused by it. Tame pigeons remain all day motionless and half asleep, huddled up, either in or just outside their pigeon houses.

Chickens remain motionless for hours during heavy fogs. No bird sings or utters a call, perhaps because it fears to betray its whereabouts to an unseen foe. During one very thick fog a blind man was found wandering about a certain district in London. This man was in the habit of coming up every day from a suburb carrying notes and parcels, and had scarcely ever lost his way before.

Asked why he had gone astray (for he was quite blind, and it was supposed that weather would have made no difference), he said that in a fog the ground sounded quite differently.

Away With Weariness!
BRACE UP—GET STRONG—GET FAT.
THE CURE IS SIMPLE.
You're nervous and uneasy. Appetite is poor. Sleep is hard to get. Still worse, you are thin and fagged out. Work must be done but where is the strength to come from? Make your blood nutritious and you'll have lots of strength.

Your only hope is Ferrozone, an instant blood-maker, blood purifier, blood-enricher. It brings keen appetite, digests food and supplies nutrition for building up all the bodily tissues.

Ferrozone makes muscle and nerve-fibre, increases your weight, instils a reserve of energy into the body that defies weariness or exhaustion from any cause.

For men who toil and labor, for the office man, the minister, the teacher—these will Ferrozone bring a new life of spirit and robust health.

For growing girls, women of all ages—no tonic is more certain. Sold in 50c. boxes by all dealers.

Lord Chester.
That King Edward's travelling title comes in useful sometimes is shown by this story told by 'True Blue.' When the King (then Prince of Wales) was staying in Paris once as Earl of Chester, two Americans encountered him in a picture gallery. 'I'll lay you a dollar, said one to the other, that's the Prince of Wales, Donee, promptly said the other, walking up to the Prince's party, the layer of the water asked one of the attendants who the gentleman in dispute was. The earl of Chester was the answer. 'Sold!' said the man, as he returned in disgust to his companion, he's the Earl of Chester, and I could have sworn he was the Prince. Here is your dollar.

Free Samples of 'Preventives' and a booklet on Colds will be gladly mailed you, on request, by Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis., simply to prove merit. Preventives are little Candy Cane tablets. No Quinine, no laxative, nothing harmful whatever. Preventives prevent colds—the same implies—when taken early, or at the 'Sneeze Stage.' For a seated cold or LaGrippe, break it up safely and quickly with Preventives. Sold by A. V. Rand.

When you put in your small grain this spring do not scant the seed, improve this upon your memory in big letters. It sometimes occurs that through careless handling of the seed, the amount of seed sown is low, and a poor stand of grain results. The cost of ploughing and harrowing is as much as for a good stand, and the threshing a little less. For lack of a few more bushels of seed, there may be a direct loss of several hundred bushels of grain.

Piles get quick and certain relief from Dr. Shoop's Magic Ointment. Please note it is made solely from Pines, and its action is positive and certain. Itching, painful, protruding or blood piles disappear like magic by its use. Large nickel-capped glass jars 50 cents. Sold by A. V. Rand.

'What can we do to improve the present method of dancing?' thundered the parson; 'dancing is mere hugging set to music.' 'We might cut out the music,' softly suggested the bad young man in the rear of the auditorium.

Indigestion
Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms of a certain specific nerve sickness—nothing else. It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop to the creation of that now very popular stomach remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Getting direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and gave to Dr. Shoop his Restorative. With out that original and highly vital principle, no such better stomach medicine ever came to hand. For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and slow digestion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it will do. We sell our Restorative only where it can be sold with honor.

STOP, WOMAN!

AND CONSIDER THE ALL-IMPORTANT FACT

That in addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are addressing a woman whose experience with women's diseases covers a great many years.

Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for many years under her direction, and since her decease, she has been advising sick women free of charge.

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing full well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty impels them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions and probable examinations of even their family physician. It is unnecessary. Without any price you can consult a woman whose knowledge from actual experience is great.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation.
Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. All letters are promptly opened, read and answered by women only. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; this has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Out of the vast volume of experience that she has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She is a natural modesty, except your good-will, and her advice has relieved thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.

If you are ill, don't hesitate to get a box of Little's Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice. When a medicine has been successful in restoring to health so many women, you cannot well say without trying it 'I do not believe it will help me.'

Alcohol and Heredity.
Dr. Mary Sturge, of Birmingham, Eng., widely known as an authority on child training, is preparing a book on collaboration with Sir Victor Hardy on the subject of imbecility and alcohol. Dr. Sturge holds that mental dullness amounting to incompetency exists to a startling extent among the children of parents who drink alcoholic liquors to excess.

An Honest Saloon-keeper a Curiosity.
A respected correspondent asks an explanation of our remark that he believed saloon-keepers to be living in the proximate occasion of sin. We gave it as our personal opinion because it is a conclusion drawn from our own observation and investigation, which has been of greater extent, perhaps, than our correspondent supposes. So far as we are able to learn the rule of saloon keeping is to refuse liquor to no one who is able to stand up to the bar and pay for it, unless he be noisy or quarrelsome. Our correspondent may not believe that we have observed or investigated a sufficiently large number of cases to deduce this rule; but we think that if such be the rule, the saloon business is a proximate occasion of sin to those engaged in it, since they are prepared to serve liquor to those who should not have it, just as readily as to any one else. The saloon-keeper may say that he is not aware that any persons who should not get liquor, enter his saloon, but it may be questioned whether his ignorance is invincible or crass. Everyone else in the community knows these persons, if the saloon-keeper does not. We have heard of some conscientious saloon-keepers; it is said there was one some years ago in the city of Chicago. People flocked from miles around to see him, as they would to see a two-headed

A Policeman's Testimony.
A number of young men were one day sitting round the fire in the waiting-room at the Normanton Station of the Midland Railway, England, talking about total abstinence societies. Just then a policeman came in with a prisoner in handcuffs. He listened to the young men's conversation, but did not give any opinion. There was also in the room Mr. McDonald, a minister of the gospel, who, hearing what the young men were saying, stepped up to the policeman and said:
'Pray, sir, what have you got to say about temperance?'

The policeman replied:
'Why, all I've got to say is that I never took a teetotaler to York Castle (prison) in my life, nor to Wakefield House of Correction either.'—'Band of Hope Review.'

Must Have Sober Men.
Managers at factories and railways give practical testimony to the value of sobriety. They have no place for the victim of the drink habit. Mr. Fleming, General Manager of the Toronto street railway is rapidly weeding out the drinking men in the company's employ, and so is reducing the number of accidents on the road. He says: 'We say very severe on drinkers. When we catch a workman under the influence of liquor on his car we warn him. The second offence means instant dismissal, and there is no reconsideration of the penalty.' The front end of a car is no place for a drunkard.'

Good Words for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.
Please everywhere take pleasure in testifying to the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mrs. Edward Phillips of Barley, Md., writes: 'I wish to tell you that I can recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. My little girl, Cathie, who is two years old, has been taking this remedy whenever she has had a cold since she was two months old. About a month ago I contracted a cold myself, but I took Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and was soon as well as ever.' This remedy is for sale by RAY'S DRUG STORE.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.
There is probably no medicine made that is relied upon with more implicit confidence than Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. During the third of a century in which it has been in use, people have learned that it is the one remedy that never fails. When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take. For sale by RAY'S DRUG STORE.

Sore Nipples.
Any mother who has had experience with this distressing ailment will be pleased to know that a cure may be effected by applying Chamberlain's Salve as soon as the child is done nursing. Wipe it off with a soft cloth before allowing the babe to nurse. Many trained nurses use this salve with best results. For sale by RAY'S DRUG STORE.

Threatened With Bright's Disease

This case well illustrates the way in which kidney diseases of the most serious form are developed from derangements of the liver.

Mr. John Wilson, 915 Esplanade avenue, Montreal, Que., writes:—'Last February I was taken sick and had to have the doctor, who said that my ailment was a disordered liver. A few weeks after completing his treatment I began to notice symptoms of kidney disease. The urine took on a reddish appearance and continued to get worse, until there were brick dust deposits, and then I knew that the kidneys were seriously affected, and that I was threatened with Bright's disease.'

'I obtained some of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and as a result of this treatment was completely cured. My water became a natural color, and is still so. The cure was thorough and lasting.'

Relief from Rheumatic Pains.
Two allures will remunerate for over two years' says Mr. Holland Curry, a patrolman, of Key West, Fla. 'Sometimes I feel it in my knees and lamed me so I could hardly walk, at other times it would be in my feet and hands so I was incapacitated for duty. One night when I was in severe pain and lame from it, my wife went to the drug store and had some back with a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I was rubbed with it and found the pain had nearly gone during the night. I kept on using it for a little more than two weeks and found that it drove the rheumatism away. I have not had any trouble from that disease for over three months.' For sale by RAY'S DRUG STORE.

But, protested the first dear girl, I haven't got the face to ask a favor of him. Well, rejoined dear girl No. 2, you might visit a complexion specialist and have your face remodeled.'
