condition of the pasture lands is in all respects fayorable to the property of the cheese manufacturer.

"Potatoes are likely to be plentiful, although severly attacked by their persistent enemy the Colorado beetle. But the pest does not appear to cause all the pest does not appear to cause all the alarm it formerly excited. Probably farmers are more fully alives to the necessity for fighting it energetically, and have by this time learned how to do so most successfully. But nature provides another means of protection, the damage done by the bestles being more than made up by the rapid growth of the plant itself, under the favorable conditions presented by the present season. "From the districts where flax is cultivated the reports are satisfactory, as they also are with regard to buckwheat, which is a staple of commumption with the French population of Quebec. Hops appear to be doing well, and the graperines, although backward, are likely, it would essen, to yield a good erep. Of fruit the prospects are not encouraging. Apples, in many instances, are described as excitering from blight and the effects of frosts curing the month of May. The crop of apples, we anticipate, will be below rather than above the average. Peaches seem likely to be nearly a failure this year, and plums also have been injuriously affected. Small fruits are doing better.

"The accounts from Nova Scotia and New Brunswick are equally cheering with those from Ontario. The area under cultivation has been extended, an increased disposition being evinced to engage in agricultural pursuits. An extraordinary visitation of caterpillars is spoken of as having occurred in New Brunswick, but as no account is given of the ravages of the unwelcome invadors, it may be hoped they were limited in extent."
