CHAPTER XL.
SIR JOSEPH'S TRIUMPH.

The wagonette proceeded to the house. Mr. Stripley remained in the vehicle, and Elliot, with Nora's arm in his, led her up the drive to the entrance. They had been seen, and Maria came hurriedly and breathlessly to the door. She had Nora in her arms in a moment, and for a while neither of them could speak; but presently Nora could still her sobs sufficiently to ask for her father.

"Take me to him at once, Martha!" she said. "I did not know that he was ill. I only heard of it last night. I must see him—she, Mrs. Ryall, must let me see him."

"You should see 'em, Miss Nora, dear. If a hundred Mrs. Ryalls stood in the way. But she hasn't here; she went early this morning, before I was up. She stole out of the house like a thief. But don't 'ee take no heed of she, dearie. Come to your father." She held Nora back for a moment, and looked at her anxiously. "You'll be prepared for a change, dearie? He's altered terrible."

"Oh, let me go to him!" cried Nora. She went up the stairs and into the "darkened" room. Her eyes sought the was and worried face lying on the pillow, and she sank beside the bed and took the hand that lay on the coverlet. He was lying as if he were incapable of sight or hearing or comprehension. With the tears streaming down her face Nora spoke the sacred name of "Father" thrice, and she dreaded that he would remain unconscious of her presence; but presently she thought she saw his lips twitch, a gleam of intelligence come into his eyes. She spoke to him again, and, to her infinite joy, she caught the murmur—

"Nora!"

She rose and put her arms round him, and drew him to her until his head lay on her bosom.

Elliot saw her for a minute or two, after half an hour had passed. He was loth to leave her, but he had a duty to perform—the duty of looking after her interests.

"I must go, dearest," he said. "I will come back as soon as I can."

She understood and let him go, though she cared nothing for the mine and her prospective wealth—nothing but for him and her stricken and dying father; for she saw that the end was near.

Elliot joined Stripley, and they went on foot to the mine. A huge marquee had been erected in the centre of the works, and it was filled by a crowd, which massed also at the entrance. There was intense silence, but for one voice, the suave, persuasive voice of Sir Joseph, who was making a speech.

The squat, rotund figure seemed inflated with satisfaction and self-importance; figure and face were eloquent of prosperity, success, and gratification.

CHAPTER XLII.
SIR JOSEPH'S DISCOMFITURE.

Elliot and Stripley quietly fought their way into the tent, and were in time to hear the conclusion of Sir Joseph's speech.

"Not only on my own account," Sir Joseph declaimed unctuously, "nor on the account of my valued friends beside me, who have helped launch this great enterprise, do I triumph in its successful progress and its marvellous promise. I am thinking of you also, my dear friends and neighbours, for the Great Byeworthy Mine will transform this place from a Sleepy Hollow to a—er—land flowing with milk and—er—copper."

He smiled at the joke, and the crowd cheered.

"For many and many a year the mine will provide work for a large number of 'ands; it will bring trade and plenty of money to the locality—in short, every man, woman and child will share in the general prosperity. And it gives me the very great pleasure to stand before you as the person who was the means of—er—discovering the source of our mutual prosperity."

CHAPTER I.
"STUARTS" AND ITS MASTER. SHOWS HOW AN OLD BACHELOR MAY BECOME A NEW HUSBAND.

It is a good many years now, though there are people living in the old West-country town who recollect it still, since the time when a prominent figure in their midst was John Aloys, magistrate, councillor of the borough, counsel-man on matters pecuniary, personal, domestic, or civic to numberless fellow-burgers; last surviving representative of a high-class legal firm, which through three generations had held honorable rank in the country, and foremost place in the society of Stillcote-Upton.

He was a tall, fine man, this lawyer, bearing his more than half-century of life with the ease of one who has always owned perfect health, few cares, and a full purse; liberal-minded, and cordial intercourse with every grade betokened; trusted and trustworthy; heartily liked by a smaller circle of intimates.

That this need not have been small goes without saying, for not a house in Stillcote-Upton but would gladly have welcomed Mr. Aloys for his guest—not a family but would have been delighted to visit at his red-bricked dwelling, "Stuarts," as it had been named long ago, when for an hour it sheltered a royal fugitive from a fatal field; and which, with front first floor dedicated to clerks and offices, stood at the main entrance of the town, faced by an iron palisaded inclosure of smooth-shaven lawn, through which curved a crescent drive, beginning and ending with tall gates flanked by sturdy brick pillars, each wearing as its crown a huge lichen-tinted stone ball; but the burden of general visiting—the master of this mansion had never cared to incur. As a bachelor he had not been expected to cultivate the art of entertaining. There were dozens of ways by which he could—and did—regulate such hospitality as he received of other folk. For the rest, he liked nothing better than to keep his house as it had been in his father's time before him, solid and handsome in all its equipments, unchanged by fluctuating fashions of the day, and to spend his evenings mostly in the solitude—to him never wearisome—of a well-stocked library.

But this rule of life knew one exception. Once every week post-prandial seclusion gave place to another arrangement, which might almost be called an institution.

On every Wednesday the leather-covered table in the study retired to a bay-window overlooking a long garden; four stands, residing side by side in four corners of the room, were brought forth and set in unvarying array before four chairs, which would be presently tenanted by the host and a trio as devoted to the intricacies of classical instrumentation as he himself.

Never had Beethoven a more devout worshiper than the leader of this weekly quartet, and, perchance, perhaps, was his life to know happier moments than those spent in affectionate interpretation of some minute as graceful as the scent of a new-blown rose in sweet, or some rondo so crisp and fresh as to put the long-drawn discords of latter-day harmony to shame.

For three hours these coadjutors would follow supper—plain, but excellent as epicure could wish; and then, as the timepiece between the windows rang forth "Auld Lang Syne," and struck eleven, the party would break up. Second violin and cello—one the widower-rector of the chief church, St. Clement's, the other a physician of ample means and leisure—would go off arm-in-arm toward the west end of the little town, while the viola would turn down High Street to a more modest abode.

Socially, he was somewhat less than the others; by name Jacob Cheese, chief of the copying and what may be called "general grudge" department in Mr. Aloys's office—a man of great devotion to his employer, but of peculiar ability, since he gained an upward step in his employment from youth to age, save what long plodding service entitled him to.

People were amused at the lawyer's patronage of his subordinate when it began years before, and though he might have chosen, as sharer of his tastes and companion of his two daily walks, some one more suitable than an interior employee. But Mr. Aloys had a habit of following his own prejudices. Possibly he may have had other reasons for taking to Jacob Cheese over and above their mutual love of one harmonious mistress; but, at any rate, the kindly notice of the quiet, shy man never slackened. By now the clerk's place in the quartet was as well established as his master's; while year in and year out, as half-past nine chimed from St. Clement's tower, the lawyer would emerge from his door, and bend his steps eastward as far as Mr. Cheese's domicile; then the two would return, reaching the office invariably at ten, reappearing to make precisely the same journey at four o'clock to the minute.

Warning! Unless you see name "Bayer" on tablets, you are not getting Aspirin at all. Nothing else is Aspirin.

SAFETY FIRST! Accept only an "unbroken package" of genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin," which contains directions worked out by physicians during 21 years and proved safe by millions for Headache, Earache, Toothache, Neuralgia, Colds, Rheumatism, Neuritis, Lumbago, and pain. Made in Canada.

Handy tin boxes of 12 tablets cost but a few cents—Larger packages, Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada) of Bayer, Manufacturers of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid. Side Talks
 by Ruth Cameron

WHY SHE WAS HAPPY.

A friend of mine came over to my porch in a most jubilant mood the other morning. She had just received a letter from a friend with three sheets of profit-sharing stamps in it. "That will almost 'all my book," she exclaimed, "I ought to get it finished next week and I have planned just what I am going to buy with it."

One would think the stamps she waved so triumphantly represented a gift of considerable magnitude. I took them up and glanced at their money value as stamped upon them. It was 33 cents. If someone had given that woman 33 cents would she have felt half so delighted? Of course not.

The Rich Man Who Collected Coupons.

Isn't it funny the way we all love things like these profit-sharing stamps? I used to know a really wealthy man who religiously saved certain coupons that came with his tobacco, and who was terribly put out when a package came once without a coupon in it.

And yet perhaps it is not so strange, that one of the most powerful and primitive human instincts finds expression in collecting stamps, coupons and the like. The first law of life is self-preservation, and it seems to me the third is the desire to acquire, to add bit by bit to some form of property—in other words, to collect.

Pebbles And Paintings, Stamps And China.

The small child who gathers shining pebbles on the beach and shouts in triumph that he has more shining pebbles than the other children; the boy who collects cigarette pictures and stamps; the adult who collects old furniture or china; and the millionaire who collects priceless paintings; and the woman who saves trading stamps—all are following the same inevitable instinct.

If some one gave that woman a book of stamps outright she would never get half the fun out of them that she does by saving them one by one, day by day, seeing her books grow fuller, planning what she is going to buy, changing those plans, finally achieving the joy of attainment in the last few stamps—and then starting all over again.

Do You Collect Something?

Anyone who does not have some kind of collection on hand is missing one of the biggest sources of happiness in human life. Little joys like these, the filling of a stamp book, the pleasure of getting the next installment of an interesting serial, the joy of seeing seeds poke out of the ground and watching them grow from day to day, the fulfillment of buying some long-desired piece of furniture are happenings that keep the sun shining in the average life. Big joys can't come often—they wouldn't be big if they did. The big joys must inevitably be rare, so the more of the little joys we cultivate the happier we will all be.

Vast Size of the Sun.

It may surprise many people to learn that the sun, which is by no means a large star, as stars go, could easily contain within its boundaries the entire earth and moon and also the distance between them. In fact, three systems like that consisting of earth and moon could be strung out in a row through the centre of the sun, without coming within 50,000 miles of his surface on either side.

May need our attention to put it in order for the summer months. It may need a MONUMENT or a HEADSTONE. Why not get one from us that will have that artistic effect that will make it look distinctive from every other memorial?
You may have a monument in your plot that has not been attended to for years. Let us put in some work on it and remove the traces of the weather by polishing and painting it again.
You may want another inscription engraved. We attend to all this work during the next few months. A letter or a call at our showrooms will put you in touch with an up-to-date and prompt service that stands for satisfaction.

Wants Rules Changed.

We are in receipt of a letter this morning from "Grand Stand" in which he states that he considers the new "hands" and "off-side" rules made by the Football League are tending to spoil good football and take part of the referee's attention from the game. The length of his letter prevents our publishing it, but in brief he recommends to the League that these rules be altered at to-night's meeting for the sake of better football. He also expresses the hope that Mr. Ern Churchill will reconsider his resignation from the post of official referee.

"Rain of Blood."

The "Rain of Blood," a curious phenomenon of Southern France and Italy, occurred recently at Monte Carlo and Mentone. After the downpour, roads, gardens and shrubs of the Riviera were covered with sticks of crimson. The superstitious inhabitants of the gambling metropolis were much terrified. There is, however, a scientific explanation which is perfectly satisfactory. It is that the rain clouds had been saturated with red sand from the Sahara Desert.

There Must Be a Reason

That a great many of the garments that we have received in the past month were from new customers who had these garments mislabeled by other dyers and were sent to us as a last resort before a settlement was made with the owners. We were able to doctor up the majority of those crippled garments to the entire satisfaction of those owners. If you have any such garments of this character sent them to us. If our customers don't accept the garments after we doctor them, don't pay us. No cure no pay. We have received a new shipment of dye, the best on the market. Raglan's cleaned and dyed at shortest notice. Outport orders get my personal attention.

First Doctors—
Then a Skin Specialist—
Then a Bottle of D.D.D.

I will consider it a favour if you will allow me to add my testimonial to the many hundreds you no doubt have in praise of the great results effected by the D.D.D. Prescription. I was a sufferer for two years with eczema on the legs and ankles. I tried three or four different doctors and none of them did me any good. I got tired of trying their remedies. I then went to a skin specialist but he was no better than they. I was reading the Sunday paper and happened to see your ad. I am very glad that I did.

I secured a trial bottle of D.D.D. and it did me so much good that I sent for a dollar bottle, also a cake of soap. That is all I used, and I am perfectly well. I have advised several others to use it and the results have been the same. You are at liberty to use my name for I consider D.D.D. the best remedy in use.

TRINITY.

Common with the majority of the last generation in Trinity, there was very fond of flags. I have inherited that interest in it. Thus, I recall that fifty years ago the number of flag owners on hoisted their flags on Sundays, a pretty custom, and surely appropriate one, to mark the day of the week by an act that indicates some cause for thankfulness on our part. Porten have always thought the worthy of being perpetuated, then, during the years of my ministry, I had a home of my own and controlled my own flag staff, if ever neglected to observe in the same circumstance I certainly continue it. As flags are to "half-mast" at a funeral, because of sadness and of fear of death, and then are the most head immediately the funeral, to assert our belief, because of Christ's resurrection, that defeat by death is only a surety—surely our forefathers right when they flew their flags on Sunday—the commemoration of that great miracle, as well as the victory of Christ over death, by His resurrection from the dead. We are oughtfully wise to discontinue custom for we are living in an age when people are becoming forgetful of why Sunday is a happy day, and of the for its being a happy day. Such as the hoisting of a flag on will not only indicate our knowledge of the reason but it may also cause some one to ask for that reason—and, as at question much will learn (partly informed) so the action on may be, not only right in but also productive of good to try it—let ancient custom

Dr. Sinclair has been kept busy since he came; and he had his first call to Summerville last week. Canon Lockyer, who attended his sister's funeral at Greenspond last week, returned to Trinity by the Prospero.

Miss Goodwin, who taught in the Amalgamated School last year, and who gave every satisfaction to the Committee—left for Prospero for her home at New Melbourne, Trinity Bay. She will not return. We wish her well.

Rev. Edmund Hunt has returned to his parish and home at Twillingate. He spent an enjoyable holiday at Trinity, and like all Trinitarians, and others in the same circumstance—he was sorry to leave.

The dedication of the Orlando Morris Memorial Altar and the Rev. and Woodridge Memorial Windows in the Mortuary Chapel, will take place tomorrow (Sunday) morning and afternoon.

A neat and well-proportioned stone has just been placed in St. Paul's Cemetery, to mark the resting place of the body of one, who was a chief amongst our highly respected and best beloved citizens—Francis Ash, Master Mariner. Bay. Witnesses: John Peckham, Jr., Joseph Ballat, Thomas Cook. Field, 1821. George S. Field, of Dorset, England, married to Elizabeth Newhook.
Baston, 1782. John Baston, of Devon, England, married to Joan Higden, of English Harbour.
Ricks, 1791. John Ricks, of Hants, England, married to Elizabeth Mabley, of Bonaventure, Trinity Bay.
Brown, 1857. Moses Brown, married to Rachel Mills, of Thorofare, Nov. 19th, 1857. Witnesses: Silas Loder, Joanna Cooper, Aaron Yokoy, Rebecca Hodder, Samuel Hale.

Upon the arrival of the Prospero from the north on Saturday last, a red ensign hoisted on the new public wharf was a signal to Capt. Field, that the wharf was ready for him to bring the steamer alongside, for the first time. The captain smiled approval, and took a more northerly course than usual toward Tavernor's Point. Then with a gradual and graceful curve southerly he headed the steamer towards the wharf, and without a hitch, and without a sound, other than the quiet signals to the engineer and the man at the wheel, she glided along the wharf frontage and was berthed as easily as if she were a ton-and-a-half motor boat. Those who had seen Captain Field dock a steamer many times before, were not at all surprised at this; but this was done under new circumstances, and unconsciously there was up a "well done Captain" from the crowd of people that had assembled on the wharf to see and to observe it all.

Mr. William Morris, of Trinity, who has been Mr. Bishop's efficient foreman during the wharf construction, has been in charge of the work since Mr. Bishop's temporary call to St. John's; and from Mr. Morris's practical and varied experience at such work in responsible positions in Nova Scotia, he is well qualified for the work, and highly spoken of by Mr. Bishop.

Dr. Sinclair has been kept busy since he came; and he had his first call to Summerville last week.

Canon Lockyer, who attended his sister's funeral at Greenspond last week, returned to Trinity by the Prospero.

Miss Goodwin, who taught in the Amalgamated School last year, and who gave every satisfaction to the Committee—left for Prospero for her home at New Melbourne, Trinity Bay. She will not return. We wish her well.

Rev. Edmund Hunt has returned to his parish and home at Twillingate. He spent an enjoyable holiday at Trinity, and like all Trinitarians, and others in the same circumstance—he was sorry to leave.

all is the Cross. These are fitting emblems, appropriately placed; for the captain was an enthusiastic man, and above all he was a soldier of the cross, and one of the finest specimens of many Christianity that it was our privilege to know. May he rest in peace.

Mr. Michael Ryan, of Catalina, spent the week-end with his brother, Mr. E. Ryan, at Trinity. Glad to see him.

Mrs. Sexton, widow of the late William Sexton, has been quite ill. Her daughter, Mrs. Gibb, of Bonavista, came to look after her, and she is now better.

The fine tern schooner 'Union Jack', Capt. Lahey, of Trinity, came in on Saturday on her way farther north.

The C.H.E. examinations were held in the Parish Hall on Monday and days following. This reminds me of a story that I was told a few years ago. In a C.H.E. paper on natural history, the children were asked to "describe a cat." One child wrote: "A cat is about five feet long, two feet wide, it has four horns, and two shoes. Those of us who are familiar with the catamaran, and its commonly abbreviated name, know what kind of a cat the child had in her mind at the time; but, I am sure, we would all like to know what the examiner in England thought of our Newfoundland cats, and how many marks (of land cats, and now many marks (of the child for the description.

Mrs. Joanna Blandford, who died in Port Blandford last week, was in her younger days well known in Trinity as Joanna Lockyer. She was the eldest child of George and Mary Lockyer. She was born in 1848. In 1870 she married Mr. Darius Blandford, of Greenspond, where she lived for several years. Then, when the Reid and Co. decided to make that part of Bonavista Bay—now known as Port Blandford—its terminus for the Bonavista Bay steamer, Captain Darius Blandford built a fine house there, and the family went there to live. Capt. Blandford died there a few years ago, and his body and that of his wife now lie side by side in the Church of England Cemetery at Greenspond. Their four children are living in different places: Samuel is in Winnipeg, Canada, Frances is in St. John's, Darius is in Greenspond, and Herbert is in Port Blandford. Of the family of five children born to George and Mary Lockyer, in Trinity, Canon Lockyer is the only one living to-day, and he celebrated his 82nd birthday on Sunday last. "Time, like an ever-rolling stream, bears all its sons away."

Captain have "landed" all along the shore in their usual abundance, and the men are bringing them in for fertilizing purposes. An increasing number of our poor believe that coplin as a fertilizer are not worth the handling, and they have given up using them. With the coplin the flies come, and they constitute our greatest summer nuisance.

Capt. Harbour is adding improvements to his residence.

Trinity will soon be at its best. All who have been away during the winter or spring should now come home, and strangers who are planning a summer holiday should follow suit.

Some of our men are planning to spend the long evenings of early July in the old church-yard, to put some of the old stones upright, and to do any other little thing that will tend to improve the appearance of this sacred spot. Work in this direction has already begun. Any man with a pick, shovel, or crow-bar will be welcome, and will be sure of a job.

Mr. Gil. Christian spent Sunday in Bonavista, and came back to Trinity on Monday.

Mr. Somerton has the painter working on his house, and when he has finished his work, the house will not only be the better for it, but it will add another improvement to the town. Keep it up.

Dr. Fitzgerald, of Trinity East, has ordered motor car for his personal use. After a while, no doubt he will wonder how he ever managed to do his work without one. We wish him many pleasant drives. —W.J.L.

Trinity, July 2nd.

Doubles the Cost.

The Women of Newfoundland, whatsoever their class, might do well to consider this fact: A ready-made garment that can be bought by your sisters in London or New York for twenty-five dollars, will cost you in Newfoundland not less than forty-eight dollars, and the bulk of the difference of twenty-three dollars, goes to the Squire-Cooker Administration in the form of duty, surtax, super-tax and sales tax. Will you submit to such legalized robbery? Customs taxation must be reduced by capable men.

Dr. Bond, who is the speaker at the Memorial Service in the morning, and the Rev. D. B. Hemmison, B.A., both former pastors of the Church, will preach. During the month both ministers leave to take charge of circuits in the Nova Scotia Conference. Dr. Bond at Halifax, and Mr. Hemmison at Wolfville. The Methodist War Veterans and Gower St. Troop of Boy Scouts will attend the Memorial Service in the morning. On account of the special service the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be deferred to the following Sunday.

Welcome Back.
Mr. "Coke" Cahill, the plucky little backstop of the Lions and the idol of the fans, returned by the Roanald Thursday, so that those worried wrinkles will now no doubt disappear.

from the visages of the champs. We note that "Coke" was interviewed a few days ago re baseball, and the following appears in a recent issue of the Halifax Herald:
BASEBALL IS BOOMING IN THE OLD COLONY.
Baseball is prospering in Newfoundland, according to William "Coke" Cahill, the local athlete, who is spending his vacation in Halifax. Coke says that big crowds attend the games and that the fans are greatly enthused over the game. He finds the Newfoundland sports the finest in the land and says that they are always ready to go the limit to promote sporting events. The senior league is composed of four teams, viz., Cubs, Red Lions, H.I.S. Church of England, the Red Lions being the champions of last season's league. The 1921 league is scheduled to open June 23 with a double header on the 24th. Fred Cheeman, the umpire-in-chief, is one of the prime factors in the success of baseball in Newfoundland and with John B. Orr, president of the Newfoundland Baseball Association, is making great progress with the great outdoor pastime. In St. John's and vicinity, Umpire Cheeman, says Cahill, is a regular "ump" and has done much to make the players abide by the rules. There are a number of former Nova Scotians playing in the league. Robertson, who pitched for Royal Bank in the Halifax Commercial League two years ago and Demers, also a Commercial Leaguer, are going strong in the St. John's City League. Cahill expects to leave Halifax in time to play his first League game June 23.

Ladies' Blouses in White Lawn, Colored Saleen, Cashmere, Poplin, Crepe de Chine, Georgette Crepe, and Silk, all marked down at and below Cost. Don't miss them at BOW-RINGS—June 3, 1921

An Important Matter

The discussions now being held at Ottawa by the Lighthouse Board of the Canadian Department of Marine and Fisheries and representatives of the shipping industry, some particulars of which were given in the public despatches of Thursday last, cannot fail to be of interest to Newfoundland. It has been proposed that certain stations under Canadian control erected on Newfoundland territory, be either changed or closed up. The context of the report suggests that wireless stations only are to be affected by this decision or proposal, as no fixed action has apparently yet been taken. The two most important light stations on the Gulf coast of Newfoundland are Cape Ray and Point Riche; on the Labrador side are Point Amour and Belle Isle. These stations are equipped with the most powerful lights and fog alarms, the pharological brilliancy of the former being equal to any in North America, while the latter are of the most modern construction, their blast being heard almost incredible distances. The four places named are also equipped with wireless, but not, we think, in connection with the light and fog alarms, all of these being maintained and manned by the Canadian Government and its employees.

The official Year Book of Newfoundland gives a list of coast stations in Newfoundland operated by the Marconi Wireless Telegraphic Company of Canada. Among these are Belle Isle, Point Amour, Point Riche and Cape Ray, the two latter being connected by land wire with the Newfoundland Postal Telegraph System. It is by no means clear from this whether or not the Canadian Department of Marine has legal power to close up the wireless stations on the Gulf coast, viz., Point Riche and Cape Ray, as according to the official records they are not under the control of the Canadian Government at all, and possibly and legally could only be abandoned by the Marconi Company itself. The buildings in which the wireless plant and power generators of these stations are independent of the light stations, and are far removed from them, being in no way connected. It might be argued from this premise and from the vagueness of the cable despatch of Thursday, that the Canadian Lighthouse Board contemplates the closing of the light stations. This would surely be a calamity. Or on the other hand it might only mean that there would be a withdrawal of subsidies from the wireless stations. Until further details are available it cannot be determined just what is meant. But should it be the decision of the Lighthouse Board of Canada to close up the lights on Cape Ray and Point Riche, and to remove that on Point Amour to Canadian territory, then our own Marine and Fisheries Department should take immediate steps to restore them, and in any case to investigate or enquire into such proceedings as are taking place at Ottawa having regard to these stations, the continuance of which are of paramount importance to the fishermen and mariners of Newfoundland.

Whale Follows Caplin.

At about 7 p.m. yesterday a large whale, about 80 feet in length, was seen at Tappan passing down Conception Bay. The monster of the deep, whose bulk, close to the shore, and which, in passing, was seen by people on the beach, is a sight which it was seldom that the whale which were seen in the bay.

Dined by His Excellency.

On Thursday evening, His Excellency, following an annual custom inaugurated by himself, dined the Proprietors and Editors of the City Newspapers. A very sociable function was enjoyed by those present, and the occasion was one of a very pleasant nature.

Railway President Interviewed.

Seen by a Telegram reporter this morning Mr. H. D. Reid, President of the Reid Newfoundland Company, beyond stating that certain proposals had been made in connection with the future operation of the Railway, had nothing to say for publication. He said that if anything were to be made public before the proposals were placed before the Assembly it was entirely a matter for the Government.

Gov't Railway Policy a Mystery.

SIR GEO. BURY'S REPORT WILL BE TABLED MONDAY—EXPERT LEFT COUNTRY TO-DAY.

The Government's new railway policy has not been made public yet, and efforts by a special representative of the Telegram to ascertain their nature were unsuccessfully made. Neither the Prime Minister, Mr. H. D. Reid, nor any other official would speak for publication. "There is little to say," Sir Richard Squires said. "We have received Sir George Bury's report and recommendations, and this will be tabled in the House on Monday." The Prime Minister was warm in his praise for the Canadian railway efficiency expert, whom he described as "undoubtedly the world's greatest figure in works of this kind." Sir George who left by to-day's Rosalind, was vice president of the C.P.R., and is one of those C.P.R. men who know the business of railroading from A to Z. He was, in 1917, commissioned by the British Government to effect a reorganization of the Russian railway system, which he was doing when the Russian Revolution broke out on Nov. 7. He was also in Roumania and Cuba, on the same business. Australia has asked him to take charge of its railway system (which is nationalized) as has the Government of South Africa. Since coming to this country Sir George Bury has delved thoroughly into the railway problem, being met in special car at Port of Spain by the Government Engineer, who carried all statistics and data on the subject. He went over the branch railways, interviewed line-men, engineers, etc., and by the time he got into the city knew, according to the Prime Minister, as much about Newfoundland's railway as anyone in Newfoundland.

Mr. H. D. Reid, President of the Reid Newfoundland Co., also spoke highly of Sir George Bury. Mr. Reid, like the Prime Minister, was reticent about the new arrangements for the railway. "I can say nothing until the Government makes its pronouncement," he explained.

Sir George Bury, who deftly maneuvered the conversation from railway matters, was enthusiastic over the country. "You have a beautiful country here," he said, "and the climate is delightful. I should say, too, that Newfoundland has a great future. This would depend on development of her natural resources."

Board of Trade Discusses U.S. Tariff.

The Council of the Board of Trade at its regular weekly meeting this morning discussed the Protective Tariff, now being imposed by the United States Government and which will have a serious effect on our fish exports to that country. A deputation was appointed to wait on the Prime Minister, and a meeting has been arranged to take place this afternoon. Some of the duties imposed by the American Government are: On dried codfish, 1 1/2 cents per lb.; herring, 1 1/2 cents per lb., including packages. (This is Scotch Cure would amount to about $5.25 per barrel.) Green codfish, 1 cent per lb.; cod oil, 1 1/2 cents per gallon.

City Without Council.

The city is now without a Council, Mr. J. J. Mahoney, the Secretary-Treasurer, being in full charge. On Thursday at midnight the term of the Commission ended and there was no provision made by the Legislature for their continuance in office although Sir P. T. McGrath brought the matter to the attention of the Government members of the Legislative Council at its session last session. Bill to continue the Commission till December next and another to indemnify the city for all undertaking which might occur since Thursday midnight up to the time it is signed by His Excellency, will have to be introduced at Monday's session of the House.

Tribute to Heroic Dead.

Dear Sir,—The following is forwarded in the event of its being thought an interesting item for your paper:—

"A telegram has been received from the High Commissioner's Office, London stating that Sir Edgar Bowring in company with Mr. E. R. Morris, will come for his sympathetic work in connection with the Newfoundland War Contingent Association, and Lieutenant Colonel T. Nangle attended on July 1st at the Cenotaph in Whitehall and at Wadsworth and Brookwood Cemeteries, to pay respectful tribute to the memory of all those of the Regiment who died for Newfoundland five years ago. Arrangements have also been made by Lieutenant Colonel Nangle for the placing of cypress wreaths on six hundred and fifty graves in more than one hundred and twenty cemeteries in the United Kingdom, Belgium and France."

Harbor Grace Notes.

Caplin have been pretty plentiful all along for the past week and quite a lot have been and are still being cast for currag purposes, as well as for the gardens.

To-day, July 1st, Commemoration Day, in honor of our gallant lads who made the Supreme Sacrifice at the actin of Beaumont Hamel, (1916) whilst serving King and Country with the Royal Newfoundland Regiment, is being observed as a general holiday here, as well as throughout the Island and let us ever strive to keep their memory ever green, for:—
"There would be no flag to fly,
But for those who went to die
And they chose to remain,
Safe from harm and free from pain.
Loved ones of the glorious dead,
Dark would be the years ahead,
Now because they dared to go,
Peace and Victory we know."

"The dead the living cheer!
"The dead that men revere!
Loved ones of the courage splendid
Now that War's grim reign is ended,
Though they shall not come again
Think not that they died in vain
"The because they dared to die
That the Flag of Freedom fly."

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

TO STRENGTHEN RELATIONS.

NEW YORK, July 1. Gloucester Armstrong, British Consul General in New York, declared tonight that the time was ripe for the erection in New York of a building representing the British Empire and for the Housing Representatives of Canada, Australia, Newfoundland and other Dominions.

DEMPSEY LOQUACIOUS; CARPENTIER TENSE.

NEW YORK, July 1. Supreme confidence appeared to reign in the camps of Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier on the eve of their championship bout in Jersey City to-morrow. Special statements furnished the Associated Press, either directly or indirectly, by principals, three managers and promoters follow: By Jack Dempsey, heavy weight champion of the world, "I am in the best shape of my career, ready and anxious to give an account of myself in the ring, as champion of the world. I expect to win, and win as quickly as possible. If one punch will knockout Carpentier, I'll be better satisfied, but regardless of how long the fight goes the public can depend upon me to do my level best every second of the way. I am proud to represent United States against a European challenger, and this pride will cause me to make what I feel will be the greatest fight of my life. I never was more anxious to win a fight than this one. Of course I know that Carpentier is a great fighter, but I feel confident that I will be able to successfully defend my title. I have faithfully trained the best I know how. I put in ten weeks of work and six weeks of real hard training. I am ready." By Georges Carpentier, challenger, "When I go into the ring against Jack Dempsey, I will be prepared to make the supreme effort of my fighting career."

BETTING ON DEMPSEY.

NEW YORK, July 1. Jack Dempsey will probably enter the ring to-morrow, a 2-1-2 or 2 to 1 favorite over Georges Carpentier, the French challenger. When Wall Street Brokers' Rooms closed today it was estimated that two hundred thousand dollars had been placed during the day on the outcome of the contest. In all five hundred thousand dollars are believed to have been wagered in the financial districts here, which is not a high figure compared with some of the wagers made in previous titular contests. The total amount of money to change hands on bets on the outcome, probably will run into millions, although there is no way of establishing definitely the exact or approximate amounts wagered throughout this country and Europe.

Henry, Miles and Snow, and Lieut. Rendell, Porlin, Reid and Moty, whilst Capt. Jeffery and Lieut. Reeves, Rev. Fletcher, King, H. Hayward, House, Hunt, Lewis and Ash were in attendance in uniform. Hayward is next for duty and the duty officer in No. 3 Section, F. Co.

The Battalion School held its last session until September and the members of the school were transferred temporarily to F. Co. It was announced in orders that the Battalion would participate in the Memorial Parade which takes place to-morrow and a large turn out is expected. The parade will form up at the Armoury at 9 a.m. and will march to the Prince's Park Grounds and from thence to attend Divine Service at St. Thomas'. The Spencer College Girl Guides will parade with the Battalion. The order of march will be as follows: Band, Girl Guides, A Co., Colors, F Co., Old Comrades. A large number of lads in the College Company, who will not be returning to school in September, have been transferred to the reserve with effect from June 30th. Corporal Ewing, who has resigned is being replaced in the command of No. 1 Section, F Co., by Corporal Rees, who will no doubt carry on as efficiently as his predecessor.

The annual Camp at Topsall, which is always looked forward to so much by all ranks, will be held this year from the 20th to the 30th of July. It is hoped that this year's camp will break all records.

After parade on Thursday the officers Mess held a special meeting at which matters of great importance were dealt with. A meeting of the Athletic Association, a report of which will be found in another column, was also held. It was given out in Orders that all ranks attending the Dominion Sports to be held under the auspices of the Athletic Association on July 6th must wear kit.

At Sunday's parade a large number of good conduct stripes and other awards which will be announced in a Special Order, will be presented by Lieut.-Col. Goodridge.

Ten Mile Road Race.

The ten mile road race, which is being held in connection with Wednesday's Dominion Sports, is being looked forward to with great interest. Several of our best long distance runners have entered for the event which promises to be closely contested. The competitors will be taken by motor cars to a point not far from Dopovan's, where the race will be started, and the finish will be in St. George's Field. It is a long time since any road race of this sort has been run, as the old time marathon which used to be followed with such keen interest has not taken place since 1914.

Intercolonial Football.

A football match was recently played at St. Pierre between teams from the French Colony and Grand Bank. After an exciting contest which contradicts an opinion that the score would tend to create, the French team won by 7 goals to 1. It is hoped that the Newfoundlanders will make good if it is the intention to play a return game.

A meeting of all Officials of the C. L. B. Dominion Sports Committee will be held in the Armoury to-morrow, Thursday, at 8 p.m. B. COLTON, Sec'y.

An Amicable Arrangement.

The trap berth case which came up for hearing in the Central District Court on Thursday, was amicably settled by a conference in the Magistrate's Chambers this morning in which the plaintiff and defendants with Messrs. W. J. Higgins, H.C. and Mr. J. Barron as counsel for the defendants and Fisheries Department, respectively.

The case was as follows:—Until this year there were not any drawings for trap berths at Blackhead, but now that a draw had been held the people of the settlement object to those who drew berths in their waters coming to look for them. They claim that the place is reserved for them for ordinary net fishing.

After a considerable amount of discussion, it was finally decided that the holders of the trap berths can fish their traps, but they must give a portion of their catch to the people of Blackhead who are using nets.

Thoughts at Twilight.

BY MARIE.

MEMORIES.

A strain of low, sweet music; a hurrying rivulet; an opening rose; a moon-road across the sea;—a little mysterious something that suddenly brings back an hour of enchantment; a day all crystal and gold;—a day like other yesterday, gone forever, swallowed up into the midnight silence and carried out into the vast nothingness through the portals of eternity, just as a new day was born.

Memories-rush on us at unexpected moments. So a bar of lovely music comes to you across years of toil and sorrow; a moment in your life when you were completely happy. Has the light of a murmuring rivulet hurried on to join the big river, reminded you of a twilight hour when you wandered with someone dear beside another stream in a land far-off, and wondered what warnings the swiftest sounded as they hurried on? Has an opening rose brought back some starry night in an old garden and the shy whispered answer to a question asked among the scented flowers? And, as you watch the moonlight making a path of silver across the water, can you not, in fancy, see a little bark gliding along the moon-road bringing you and another into uncertain sideways and close to unknown shores?

Alas! you will say the music is too far distant to make audible the notes, the rivulet has widened to an ocean, the rose garden is weed choked and clouds hide the moon till all is darkness—where the moon-road crossed the sea. Memory is but an opium dream—all splendour and joy; but sad in the awakening.

TOO LATE.

When we hear of the death of a dear one, a great gloom falls on our souls, tears spring to our eyes and we are grief-stricken. Out of respect, and in remembrance of happy days forever gone we send a wreath of rare blooms to be laid on the still heart of one we loved in life and whom we love in death. Words of praise and devotion are spoken into deaf ears. Looks of love and tenderness may not find an answering gleam through the snowy lids that shut out forever the light of earth. How gladly we would once more clasp those hands that so meekly now are clasped over the pulseless breast.

Flowers, kind words, loving looks given or offered before. Death does not solicit such remembrances, but life is yearning for encouragement and love.

Give your flowers to the living who can drink in their fragrance and observe their beauty. Let your praise fall on ears desiring its sound, and give a hand-clasp when you can feel the responsive pressure on your own fingers. Death will only chill the bloom you offer the dead and will hear in silent scorn the kind words which would have been wealth to the living, if spoken at the right moment. Memories of the dead too often bring reproaches, because we were thoughtless of the living hearts, whom we nevertheless loved, and who loved us.

REMEMBRANCE.

Remember thee? yes, when the dawn unwraps
Her cool grey mantle, turning to the East.
And twines a misty veil around the morn,
I think of thee so peaceful in thy rest,
With smiling dreams of fairer dawns unborn.

Remember thee? The noon brings joy supreme;
Each sunbeam paints thine image on my heart.
And in each sun-kissed bloom I see thee yet.
In all my summer day, thou hast a part.
I must remember, though I would forget.

Ah, when the twilight shadows hide the day,

When sighing winds make music in the trees
And fleecy clouds dance lightly o'er the moon,
Your voice I hear across the restless sea—
Remember? Yes, though you forget so soon.

DRAWING THE LINE.

Oh, every mortal ailment has had its grip on me, and I've known what a pall meant when taking boneset tea. In Troy I had lumbago, in Kansas I had mumps, and here in San Diego neuralgia bumps the bumps. And when in old Nebraska my liver wasn't right, and up in Athabasca my bunions were a sight, I've traveled here and yonder, that comfort I might seize, but everywhere I wander I have some new disease. In Maine I had the shingles, in Illinois the croup, and when I wrote my jingles they were not worth a whoop. And all throughout the nation the surgeons sought my door, and said, "An operation will make you hale once more. Oh, let us carve your body—we'll do the job with care—and you'll be feeling gandy and fit to whip a bear." And friends and neighbors told me to try the surgeon's knife, but I replied, "Behold me—I'm still as large as life! And when King Death releases my soul from this worn trunk; I shall not die in pieces—I'll perish in one chunk." The surgeons still are howling for every known disease and o'er the land they're strewing the sawed-off heads and knees; they boost their carving riot, and oft I wonder why, for invalids who try it are pretty sure to die.

Railway Commission Report.

CANNOT BUILD ENGINES IN NEWFOUNDLAND.

The ordering of six new locomotives, as outlined in paragraph three of the agreement, was dealt with very early in our proceedings. Fortunately this could be done almost immediately because the whole subject had previously been considered in detail by the Reid Newfoundland Company. Mr. Hall objected to the original specification on the grounds that the axle loads were rather too heavy for the type of track and the structures under same, and was supported in this contention by Mr. Powell and those responsible for the upkeep of the track. Eventually the weight was decreased, but, necessarily, at the expense of the tractive power of the locomotives. However, the latter is considerably in advance of that of the existing locomotives, and the new locomotives embody features that will enhance their superiority in regard to economy of fuel consumption and facility of inspection and repairs, while being easier on the track. The design is that known as the "Pacific Type," which is defined by the wheel arrangement. This is made up of a leading four wheel truck, six driving wheels and a pair of trailing wheels. The driving wheels are placed closer than on the present express engines thus securing a foot less in the fixed wheel base which will make them less severe on the curves. The addition of the trailing axle, which distinguishes them from the Atlantic type now in service, enables the adoption of Belpaire fire boxes, thus increasing the grate area considerably. The object of this is to obtain complete combustion of the fuel through having a larger fire which does not so frequently require forced draft. A large proportion of fuel is at present wasted by being blown through the tubes and into the front extension before it is properly burnt, due to the necessity of frequent applications of the forced draft blower in order to raise sufficient steam in a given time to negotiate the steep grades which abound on our railway. Another fuel saving which has been introduced for the first time is the superheater which utilizes the waste heat, which goes up the smoke-stack, in drying and raising the steam to a higher temperature than that at which it would be delivered otherwise. Walschert valve gear has been introduced also for the first time. This places the valve motion on the outside of the engine frames where it can always be under observation and easy of access for repairs, which is not the case where narrow gauge engines have their valve motion between the frames. These are a few of the many new features which go to make up engines that are believed to be much superior to anything yet brought to this country, and which are confidently expected to be able to handle at least two more passenger cars per express country express on time, and five more loaded freight cars per train than could be handled hitherto and at relatively less cost. The erection of these engines locally is now completed, and they have been put into service with results which appear at the time of writing to fully bear out all that has been claimed for them and especially their economy in coal consumption, which is expected to reach a saving of from twenty to twenty-five per cent.

Some comment has been directed against the policy of your Commissioners importing these engines instead of employing local labour in their construction, but it is an entire misconception and want of knowledge of our local resources that has prompted this criticism. The so-called local building of engines for the Branch Railway of 1909-14 consisted merely in the construction of the boilers and fire boxes locally, while practically all other parts—wheels, axles, frames, machinery, etc., had to be imported. Our shops and their equipment are totally unfitted for such work, and even the dock shops which produce the boilers have not got the machinery necessary to turn out economically work of this class, and the delivery is necessarily so slow that, instead of these engines having been fabricated complete in a little over six months, it would have taken probably four times as long to construct the boilers in the dock shops. Furthermore, the Superintendent of the Dock Shops has informed the writer that several times the deliveries of steamers have been recently delayed either through the boiler-makers failing to make full time or being unable to turn out the volume of work required in the time. It would be invidious under the circumstances to compare foreign and local cost of production, but on this point alone your Commissioners were justified in their action. It is only necessary to add that local labour did not suffer, seeing that both the Dock Shops and the Railway Commission Shops have been continuously employed to full capacity and in the latter case with greatly increased staffs, giving all the labour that it was possible for us to give.

As regards the freight cars which it is our duty to provide under the Agreement of 13th August last, we found that the Reid Newfoundland Company were engaged on the construction of ten ballast cars which we have taken over as part of our programme in substitution for an equal number of box cars. Our building of the remainder of the stock has been very considerably delayed by the failure of the suppliers of trucks and other gear to let us have these parts promptly as contracted for, and being unable to find storage room for the car bodies we had to abandon the idea of proceeding with our programme till the trucks were delivered. These being now in stock we are building flat cars at the rate of five per week, but have had to increase the ordinary working force.

MUSTN'T TOUCH.
Been down to the art museum an' looked at a thousand things. The bodies of ancient mummies an' the treasures of ancient kings. An' some of the walls were lovely, but some of the things weren't much. But all had a rail around 'em, an' all were a sign "don't touch."

Now maybe an art museum needs boards an' a warning sign. An' the hands of the folks should never paw over its treasures fire. But I noticed the rooms were chilly with all the jays they hold. An' in spite of the lovely pictures, I'd say that the place was cold.

An' somehow I got to thinkin' of many a home I know. Which is kept like an art museum, an' merely a place for show. They haven't railed off their treasures or posted up signs or such. But all the children know it—there's a lot that they mustn't touch.

It's hands off the grand piano, keep out of the finest chair, stay out of the stylish parlor, don't run on the shiny stair. You may look at the velvet curtains which hang in the stately hall, but always and ever remember, they're not to be touched at all.

"Don't touch!" for an art museum, is proper enough, I know. But my children's feet shall scamper wherever they want to go. An' I want no rare possessions or a joy which has cost so much. From which I must bar the children and tell them they "mustn't touch."

Japan's Royal Ambassador.

The visit of the Japanese Crown Prince establishes a precedent in more senses than one. His Imperial father and the Japanese people could not have shown us in a more striking manner the reality of the alliance between the two island kingdoms than by breaking a centuries-old tradition in our favour and entrusting the sacred person to the half-apparent to our hospitality. Truly East and West may be said to meet when such an accord is established. Following so closely upon the triumphant progress of our own Prince Charles amongst all sorts and conditions of men, the inspiration of the Crown Prince's visit naturally suggests itself. And
