The copy filmed here has been reproduced thanks to the generosity of:

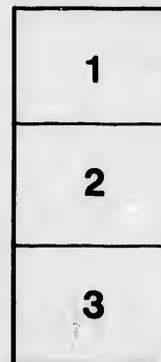

Izaak Walton Killam Memorial Library
Dalhousie University

The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol  $\rightarrow$  (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol  $\nabla$  (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

L'exemplaire filmé fut reproduit grâce à la générosité de:

Izaak Walton Killam Memorial Library
Dalhousie University

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole  $\rightarrow$  signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole  $\nabla$  signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. Les diagrammes suivants illustrent la méthode.

Then look upon "THIS CANADA OF OURS!"
Behold your Viceroy, both his hands extend,
While either party claims him as a friend,
Anxious, as you, with all his main and might
"To uphold the Empire and maintain the right."

There's many a familiar face, I ween,
We look in vain for on this busy scene—
We miss too many who have passed away,

THE SPEECH,

AS IT SHOULD BE,
FROM A CIVIL SERVANT'S POINT OF VIEW.

FOURTH SESSION.—THIRD PARLIAMENT.

My Senators and Commons, welcome all!
Obedient you have come at duty's call—
All full of fight, but animated yet
With what Canadian Statesmen ne'er forget—
Their country's welfare—Canada's best weal,
What nobler theme to animate your zeal!

Ye doughty Legislators—brimming o'er
With patriot warmth, and eager as of yore
To break a lance with all who say you "nay,"
Full willing, anxious, burning for the fray—
Happy, ye are! ye children of the West,
With peace, health, wealth and fair contentment blest!
—Hark from the East there comes a doleful sound,
With "horror breathing from the silent ground."
We see John Bull, his finger on the trigger,
Watching the Czar—that everlasting nigger!
We hear of earthquakes, famines, desolations,
With sore distress and trouble 'mongst the nations,
Of men's hearts falling them for very fear,
As though the end of everything were near.
Then coming back across the salt sea foam,
And viewing men and matters nearer home,
What do we see? A nation, sprung to life
But five score years ago, now plunged in strife,
Yes!, thus their centenary are they keeping—
A sight indeed to set the Angels weeping!
Contrast your lot with theirs—your neighbours—those
Poor cousins—victims to litestine foes,
Behold them, driven well-nigh to distraction,
With rival Presidents—poor slaves of faction!
We see them, with policemen at the gate,
And so prompting "freedom of debate!"
One country writhing 'neath two rival powers:
Then look upon "THIS CANADA OF OURS!"
Behold your Viceroy, both his hands extend,
While either party claims him as a friend,
Anxious, as you, with all his main and might
"T'uphold the Empire and maintain the right."

There's many a familiar face, I ween,

1874

Men who had served their country in their day,—
Their names are now engraved on honour's scroll ;
They acted well their parts with heart and soul ;
And now, rake up their ashes !—God forbid it !
They knew their duty, and full well they did it ;
Peace to the dead, then ! 'Tis to you to-day
Your Governor has some few words to say :

I visited, a few short months ago
Our fair Pacific (?) Province, as you know,—
And, though perhaps, by some misunderstood,
I think my mission did a little good—
For, though they cried "Carnarvon terms, or bust,"
They've all come to their senses, now, I trust—
But if they haven't, all I have to say
Is (most reluctantly)—the more fools they !

Some honourable lieges on my left,
Men wise in Council, shrewd, longheaded, deft
In all the arts of statesmanship, have raised
A cry for more "Protection." I'm amazed !
Think they that England's power has sunk so low,
That Canada need fear a foreign foe ?
We surely need no more "Protection," while
Protected by a certain little Isle !

Our trade and industries, I grieve to hear,
Have not been as they ought, this bygone year ;
We hear of business failures far and wide,
And tales of sore distress on every side.
" 'Tis true, 'tis pity, and pity 'tis 'tis true,
And some there are who say—believe it too—
That while the Rouges reign, things must look blue !
They may be right—'tis not for me to say—
Your duty is to drive the clouds away,
With patient diligence to find the cause,
And then, by wise and well-considered laws,
Bring back, as in the happy days of yore
Peace and prosperity to every door,—
Which done may "Hard Times come again no more !"

Talking of hard times, though, I cannot pass
In silence that maligned, long-suffering class,
The Civil Service, by : for many years
They've poured their sorrows into "dead men's ears,"
Year in and out—(but ah ! without avail !)
A soundarises. "very like a wail !"
For Sessions past, their fond appeals you've heard,
And now, heart-sick, at last, with hope deferred,
They wait in sadness with uplifted eye :
Then, oh, ye Legislators ! hear their cry,—
The Lord forbid that I should ever say

You serve your country merely for the pay !
 Banish the thought ! but p'rhaps you may recall
 A certain session when you, one and all,
 Concluded that the simple cost of living
 Had so increased, that what you then were giving—
 Or rather what you got, would never do
 For men, e'en though abstemious as you—
 How sixty, forty, twenty-eight per cent,
 Were added with unanimous consent
 To yours—to ministers and their vices' pay—
 But the poor rank and file ! ah where were they ?
 Alas, that they who made no vain pretence
 To be above such sordid things as pence,
 Who work so faithfully "from 9 to 4,"
 To keep the wolf, starvation, from the door,—
 They who most wanted help, if truth be told,
 Should be left out to shiver in the cold !
 Then list to what your Governor has to say.
 "You must see Justice done—and right away ! "

They've had another gathering of the clans
 Among our warlike friends, the Fenians :
 It seems they smelt the blood of Englishmen,
 And started on the warpath once again.
 We heard their dreadful, muttered "Fee Faw Fum !"
 And waited for them—but they did'nt come,
 So hemp went down again—the price had risen,
 For comfortable quarters in a prison,
 With Shelter, Clothing, Fuel, Light and Board
 In these hard times we could'nt well afford—
 Next time they come, they vow they mean to stay,
 And so they will ; their souls may fly away,
 Their bodies though we'll keep, they may be sure,
 —They'll serve as first class Fenian manure.

One word of counsel, now, e'er I conclude,
 With your kind leave—"I hope I don't intrude,"
 Let's trust we'll hear of no unseemly brawls
 Profaning these august and hallowed halls :
 Keep calm and cool—observing law and order—
 Exemplars prove to those across the border,—
 They want some good example, Heaven knows !
 A nation pited by its very foes :
 Be courteous one to another, then,
 For though M. P's. you still are gentlemen !
 Soft answers, as you know, oft turn away
 E'en bitter wrath—this maxim, then, obey—
 While Fortiter in re, your passions quell,
 Be suaviter in modo, too—Farewell,—
 Now get to work, and may the best men win—
 So prays.

Yours most sincerely,
