THROUGHOUT AT PORT ARTHUR DARKNESS PREVENTS GENERAL ATTACK TWO MORE RUSSIAN BATTLESHIPS LOST

Japanese Torpedoes Close Up to the Enemy When Haze Lifted.

MANY JAPANESE WOUNDED ADMIRAL KILLS OFFICER

YOKOHAMA, Japan, Feb. 17.—The opinion of Japanese naval officers here is that a third night battle was fought off Port Arthur, some of the Russian war vessels having been reported as leaving that harbor.

KOBE, Feb. 17.—On account of the darkness of the weather on Sunday, Feb. 14, the Japanese torpedo boats were alonging the Russian battleships before their presence was detected, and only then did they launch their torpedoes. It is determined to cripple effectively the Russian fleet, and nothing will be allowed to prevent the carrying out of this purpose.

LONDON, Feb. 17.—A despatch to The St. James' Gazette from Kobe, Japan, in reporting the Russian fleet's attack on Port Arthur, Feb. 14, says the Russian warship lying outside the harbor was torpedoed, and that the Japanese retired without sustaining any injury.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 17.—A despatch received here from Port Arthur, dated Feb. 17, says that in the action off that port of Feb. 14, the Russian volunteer fleet steamer, Ekronov, was struck by a 12-inch shell in her upper works. A slight fire broke out, which was quickly extinguished. There was no loss of life.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 17.—The Russian gunboat Mandjui of 1224 tons, for which two Japanese cruisers have been lying in wait, is being held by the Chinese officials to leave being unarmed, the Mandjui will fall an easy victim, and her chances of escape are slender.

TIENTSIN, Feb. 17.—The Russians have regained control of Shangkwan, a town about midway between Newchwang and here, and have forbidden correspondents to travel in the district. No landing is possible anywhere along the shore of the Gulf of Pechili, on account of ice, except at Tientsin.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 17.—It is officially denied that the Russian government asked permission for the Black Sea fleet to pass through the Dardanelles. It will remain at home.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 17.—The accidental blowing up of the Russian battleship, the Borodino, at Port Arthur, was a dramatic affair. Infuriated at what he considered the culpable negligence of the Russian navy, the admiral shot him dead by his own hand.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—A telegram has been received here from Irkutsk, Siberia, dated Feb. 17, saying that the first detachment of Russian troops has started from there for Port Arthur.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 17.—Reports from various sources indicate that the Russian government is making appropriations for Red Cross work by public organizations. The work is being carried out in the most efficient manner.

NIJAN, European Russia, Feb. 17.—A great patriotic demonstration was held here today. A picture of the czar was carried at the head of the procession, and a mass of bengal lights were carried.

CHITTOO, Feb. 18.—The Port Arthur cable was cut yesterday.

FIGHT OF FEB. 14.
London, Feb. 17.—Japan is most successfully keeping her plans secret. Not a single item of news which could be of possible service to the enemy has been permitted to leak out. The better press in London, based on hints in despatches from correspondents that her main objective will be found to be the capture of Port Arthur, but that nothing of a military nature will be attempted until Russia's naval squadrons are effectually disposed of.

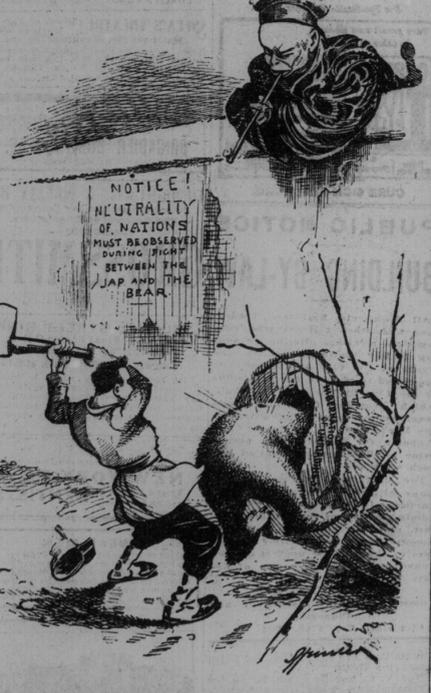

The chief correspondent of the Paris edition of The New York Herald, in a despatch in which he reports the arrival of junka bearing Japanese wounded from the Port Arthur engagement of Feb. 14, considers this to show that something more than a torpedo attack took place there.

The Tokio correspondent of The Standard reports that TWO RUSSIAN BATTLESHIPS WERE DESTROYED in this attack, while the correspondent at Tientsin of The Standard says, under date of Feb. 12, that a private despatch from Port Arthur brings the statement that the Russian squadron has again put to sea.

TORPEDO ATTACKED.
Washington, Feb. 17.—The Japanese Legation received today from the Foreign Office at Tokio the following despatch, giving details of the torpedo attack at Port Arthur, on the morning of the 14th: "On the 13th of February, a detachment of torpedo boat destroyers proceeded, leaving the Herce north stream, toward Port Arthur. At 3 o'clock the next morning, the Asagiri, Japanese torpedo boat destroyer, a shower of shells from the enemy's fort and ships, torpedoed a Russian mail steamer, and after firing on the enemy's guard boat, safely returned to his headquarters. The Japanese torpedo boat, Asagiri, was destroyed at 6 o'clock of the morning of the 14th, while the Russian mail steamer was sunk and the crew of the ship were killed and wounded."

IN A HEAVY STORM.
Tokio, Feb. 17.—A heavy storm spared the Russians from a desperate torpedo attack off Port Arthur on the morning of Sunday, the 14th, in the preceding night the vessels of the Japanese flotilla of torpedo craft were parted by the force of the wind and waves in a blinding snowstorm, so that only two of the larger destroyers

Japanese Employ Bandits To Blow Up the Railway

Government Warns Public to Wait Patiently for News of Russian Victories.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 17.—A despatch has been received here from Major-General Pflug, chief of staff to Vice-roy Alexieff, saying that Yuan Shih Kai, commander-in-chief of the Chinese Army and Navy, has ordered 2500 men to Tientsin, to maintain order. Continuing, he says everything is quiet at Newchwang, and that the information that the Japanese are forming bands of Chuchus (bandits), to attack the railroad, is confirmed. At Tientsin, the Russian scouts did not find the enemy within a distance of 24 miles of a river.

A government communication, published in The Official Messenger, warns the public that it must wait patiently for news of Russian victories, and says it is useless to waste men in seeking an over-hasty revenge.

The excessively severe weather at the scene of war, it is claimed, lights on the side of the czar's legions, as it did in the days of Napoleon, when the Russian proverb, "January, February and March are the Emperor's allies," was coined. At Port Arthur today, the thermometer registered 2 degrees below zero. Fahrenheit.

Victory Alexieff will not take the aggressive until he feels certain of his ability to administer a decisive defeat. Therefore, in spite of the extensive landing operations of the Japanese in Korea, an important land fight is not considered here to be imminent, although it is believed that the passage of the Yalu River by the Japanese will be disputed.

A WAR OF CONTINENTS AND EVEN MORE.

Are we about to witness the most stupendous drama that ever was enacted on the face of the globe in the way of a struggle of the races for supremacy? Are we to see the maps of Europe and of Asia blot out for a moment, then completely recast, and redrawn with much fever lines? Is there to be in the almost immediate future a gigantic struggle between the nations of the world?

No one who is watching the war now begun between Japan and Russia and who is a student of what is going on in other quarters will be surprised at almost anything happening. Let us present a few significant facts:

First of all, Great Britain is bound by treaty to assist Japan if two nations attack her, and by a somewhat similar treaty France is to come to the aid of Russia. So that a small war may involve our own empire and those of other nations, making four great powers in the struggle, and four being in, others must follow.

Germany would seize the opportunity. She has an autocratic emperor, a man with a policy and with an immense fighting machine, naval and military, and a full war chest behind him. William knows what he wants, and those about him have a similarly clear idea of what they would like to see as Germany's future. Germany is only waiting for a favorable moment to expand: to seize Holland and Denmark in the way of extension toward the west, and her desire to extend to the southeast implicates Austria and probably a portion of Turkey, bordering on the Black Sea.

The German people also have a dream in regard to the Holy Land, Syria, even reaching out in the direction of Persia. Let a world-war of races begin and Germany will try to emerge from it as a great belt of territory from the Atlantic to the Adriatic and Black Seas.

In Asia the situation is extremely critical. China could on the instant be put into a political ferment and Japan acquire such influence as to establish a Japanese dynasty and leadership of five hundred millions of yellow people. These five hundred millions turned against Russia to the north might substantially check that great empire's movement in the direction of the Pacific.

The yellow people in a blaze might set the millions and millions of native subjects of Britain in India in a state of unrest and seriously question English power in the East.

Any of the possibilities that might take place out of a most surprising character, and some of them are probable events. Russia and Germany, for instance, could agree to tear down the map of Europe, dividing the Turcs across the Dardanelles, and they might be assisted in this by France, China and Japan. Recognized under Japanese leadership might declare the doctrine of Asia for the Asiatics, and especially if aided by Russia, might drive all other European nations off that continent.

SECRET OF BALLOT BOX STEERING OUT POLL CLERK DURANCE TURNS KING'S EVIDENCE REVEALS CROOKEDNESS IN '03, '04

DR NESBITT'S STATEMENT.

Dr. Beattie Nesbitt was seen by The World last night in reference to his connection with the Thompsons as stated by young Durance in the witness box yesterday. The doctor said:

"After Mr. Thompson was suspected of manipulating the ballots in his division he came to see me. He stated that he had done nothing wrong—that the votes in his division must have been done to perjury. I had known him for many years and never knew or heard of anything reflecting on his character in any way. I told him that if he had done nothing wrong that would only be a matter of worry and suspicion, but he would come out all right. If he had done wrong the best thing to do was to make a clean breast of it."

"Subsequently his brothers and himself called on me, with Durance whom I had never seen before. They said he was the poll clerk. They both maintained that nothing illegal had been done by them. Mr. Durance said that he had been in the sweat-box. I told them that they had better have a solicitor and have him advise them. I asked Mr. Thompson to remain a few minutes and again tried to obtain his confidence, advising him not to get into trouble on other people's account, but he said he had acted correctly as returning officer."

"I may say that I did not know that Mr. Thompson was a returning officer until after this matter came up. I did not know Durance at all. James Thompson was steward at the University Residence when I was a student living there. I have known the whole family for years and have always known them as straight, honest men."

Kingston Was Browbeaten When Railway Got Charter

Ex-Mayor Poisson Tells How Company's Lobby Carried Everything Before It in 1893.

The Kingston street railway fight continues with unabated interest. The only difference now is that the scene of operations is transferred from Kingston to Toronto, by the decision of the City Council to appeal to the Ontario legislature. The Ontario legislature will not meet the deputation from the City Council for at least two weeks, both sides to the fight have men on the spot at the present time looking after their interests.

E. J. B. Poisson, M.L.A. for that city, has assumed an active part and has already done a great deal in the House of Commons. He has introduced a resolution to facilitate the deputation meeting the Private Bills Committee at an early date. The petition would be presented to the House yesterday, had it not been for the neglect to properly word it. It will be brought in today, however, by the member.

The Standing Committee has, at its request, waived the ordinary necessity of a "wider" notice, in lieu of which notice will be published in The Ontario Gazette, in the Kingston papers three times a week and in The Canadian Freeman twice a week. A hundred posters will also be put up in the City of Kingston, advertising the intention to ask the government to change the old charter.

The Globe of yesterday, in an editorial dealing with the Kingston street railway tie-up, pointed out, or predicted, to point out, that the Act of the legislature in 1893, dealing with the Kingston railway, embodied an agreement between both the city and the company, and that the legislature merely ratified it; therefore there was no right to the people of Kingston from a contract to which they had willingly been a party.

City An Unwilling Party.
The World queried by wire N. C. Poisson, Mayor of Kingston at the time, if this were a true statement of the case. Here is his reply:

Kingston, Feb. 17.—The city and street railway could not agree, and the company carried the matter to the provincial assembly. The company lobbied so successfully that the city's representatives were practically treated as intruders, and its action imposed the monstrous injustice upon this municipality which The World has made so thoroughly known to the province. In the STRONGEST possible language I WISH TO STATE THAT THE CITY WAS AN UNWILLING PARTY TO THE CONTRACT MADE IN 1893.

Neither the Council nor the citizens would have submitted to the contract so unjust to the city if they had not been compelled by the attitude of the legislative committee to make the best terms possible.

As Mayor of the City of Kingston, in 1893, and being head of the Corporation that appeared before the committee in the city's interest, I can speak authoritatively both in regard to the treatment that Mr. Blake advised us to accept, if it were possible, any further conflict with the company, so biased was the committee so disregardful of any other interest than the interest of the company, that however unreasonable its demands might be they would surely be granted.

The representatives of the city accepting the situation were compelled to make the best terms that they could negotiate with Mr. Folger, who acted for the company. The result was the long and onerous contract which has since been so much unfavorable comment through the province, and which involves, in so many ways, the rights of the municipality, as it falls to protect individual rights, as the stoppage of the street cars, the establishment of a "bank" which will be perfectly plain, therefore, that the existing agreement did not in any sense express the views of the City Council of that time, and it was equally objectionable to the great mass of our citizens.

"May I add my own appreciation of The World's disinterested fight to secure even at this late day, a recognition of the rights of the citizens of Kingston."

"N. C. Poisson."

Points to the Presence of Corrupt Fund and Pluggers Who Dispensed It.

PRESSED TO KEEP QUIET EVEN RECEIVED MONEY

The inside details of ballot box stuffing has finally been related by one of those who participated in the work. It is the first genuine, tangible thing the civic investigation has revealed upon which may be based the lower that threatens to overturn the whole fabric of corruption. The detailed story of young John Durance following the flight of Samuel Thompson is the first positive evidence supplied that sweeps away the veil of mystery with which the crooked workers have surrounded their deals in the past. A warrant is out for the fugitive and there are well-defined rumors that other implicated election officers have intimated a desire to accept crown clemency in return for their confessions. These developments coming with the hint that several warrants will be issued charging perjury connected with the latest phase of the case have injected an element into the affair that even the most energetic officials scarcely anticipated until yesterday.

Poll Clerk Durance supplies all the evidence of how the crooked work was done in division nine of ward four and renders an explanation of how the voters operated in their actions without fear of detection—except by accident. Incidentally the confession shows the existence of a corrupt fund of considerable proportions, and the presence of unscrupulous pluggers who were busy in the night with the pressure on any person who seemed a disposition to weaken.

Assured of Protection.
Durance brought how he was assured almost daily by the five Thompson brothers that he would be "protected," and that he would know that him and Sam what should work had been done in that "both" how cash was paid to him in the form of $50 by one of the Thompsons and now he and the other conspirators went first to Dr. Beattie Nesbitt's residence for a conference and later with in quiet confidence to the residence of a certain Richard, with the avowed purpose of securing some assistance.

Where came the money and what explanation the gentlemen mentioned in the confession will make are some aspects of the investigation likely to afford some interesting revelations when Dr. Nesbitt, Controller Richardson, Ald. Alfred Jones and others are placed in the witness box.

Subpoenas are out for Secretary Moore, Manager Keating, Superintendent Gunn and others of the Kingston Railway Company. The connection of "Dave" Thompson, one of the bondsmen with the company and his proved activity for Mr. Richardson, one of the men for whom the crooked ballots Thompson alleged in the witness box were marked, together with Mr. Jones, is mentioned as one of the "leads" which would be followed up by the investigators of the company before the work is finished.

That there were ample funds for whatever use necessary is now a certainty. In previous years the trace of the people fund has been found, but never was it so well defined as in this case. Under the strict rules of evidence none of the "racy" story told by Durance would have been possible. He could not have told what the Thompson told him about third parties money of receiving money and advice and other things from that source. The likelihood is so wide in the present investigation that if it is not possible to avoid answering a question.

Durance Got $50.
When Durance said he was being paid to great expense he was told by one of the Thompsons to come to the post-office the next day and get fifty dollars and he got it. When Sam Thompson was preparing to leave the city his bondsmen, Edward Magner, a water carrier, and another man, who was testified yesterday that he was not afraid that he would lose the money, he would be willing to pay the cash if his friend failed to return. He was asked if there was not some man to indemnify him, but denied that there was. Eight different lawyers were consulted by Durance and the Thompson brothers were selling him "leads" and he was not to worry, that what funds he required would be supplied.

The source of this cash and its influence behind the pluggers promises to be revealed if Mr. Riddell's present vigorous examination of witnesses is continued. He has got at the Thompsons and even Durance with almost iron-clad determination. The result is in the interest of light on the whole nasty affair. The same force must inevitably uncover the men who supplied the money that made these frauds possible. Dave Thompson declared he was working for Controller Richardson for fun and that the cards he was circulating were found by him in the street railway barn. He was peddling cards for Richardson, yet all of this was being done without pay, if the man's evidence is to be credited. Another one of the Thompsons was a deputy returning officer and that poll is now being searched. All the boys who had anything to do with the election are under suspicion.

Immunity for Truth-Tellers.
Several of the other poll clerks and returning officers who are now being covered for trial are frequenting the court room daily. They recognize inevitably that they cannot avoid conviction with the speed that is being shown. Thompson and Durance would have been convicted of the fraud even if the clerk had not confessed. Many of these other suspects understand they are confronted with a choice.

BALTIC FLEET SETS SAIL PASSED GOTHLAND FEB. 15

Six Russian Warships Observed Going South to Join the Far East Squadron.

Copenhagen, Feb. 17.—A despatch has been received here from Wisby, island of Gothland, saying that six Russian warships passed the island on Feb. 15, going south. No doubt these vessels are part of the Russian Baltic fleet about which there have been a series of conflicting telegrams. Wisby is on the west side of Gothland, an island in the Baltic belonging to Sweden. It is reported today that the German government has given permission for these vessels, in the event of the weather being unfavorable, to pass through the Kiel canal today, thus saving the long and dangerous journey thru the Kattegat and Skager Rack round the north of Denmark. This course will, however, have to be taken if weather conditions permit. In any event the action of the German government must be regarded as an act of benevolent neutrality.

GIVES $5000 FOR EAST CRUISE.

TROOPS EMBARK FOR COREA FROM ALL JAPANESE PORTS

Combined Movement Between Army and Fleet From Nagasaki is Now Going on.

London, Feb. 18.—Despatches published in the London newspapers this morning continue to give alleged descriptions of the embarking of the Japanese troops. Instead of this embarkation occurring secretly from Ulsan, as was the case during the Chinese-Japanese war, the transports, according to despatches, are openly embarking troops from Nagasaki, Moji, Kobe and elsewhere.

A cablegram from the Daily Telegraph from Nagasaki says transports are clearing every night from these ports for Korea, and 10 large steamers were embarking troops at Nagasaki last Monday. All arms of the service were represented, but the cavalry mores were such sorry and scrubby pointers that they hardly seemed worth transporting.

In conclusion, this correspondent says the harbor of Nagasaki has been mined.

Cabling from Shanghai, Feb. 17, a correspondent of The Daily Telegraph declares that a combined movement between a Japanese fleet and a large landing force from Nagasaki is now proceeding. The reports that the Japanese have captured the East Asiatic Company's steamer Manchuria, as well as the Siberian Railway's steamer Manchuria, are confirmed.

PUBLIC AMUSEMENTS.

The beautiful production of the successful Clyde Fitch play, "Lovers Lane," at the Grand Opera House...

George Grossmith arrived in town last evening from Belleville, having been compelled to cancel last night's recital at Lindsay on account of the illness of his wife...

Part 1—A dissertation on "Things you must have noticed," introducing the superior sex crossing roads, etc., in new songs, "Always Good on Sunday" and the musical illustration, "Haunted by Dolly Gray."

Part 2—"How to Succeed," a lecture to married men, showing them how to succeed in being popular in their own homes, how to succeed in commerce, etc.

Part 3—"How to Write a Modern Musical Comedy," the title, "Another Girl," "We're the Pretty Young Girls of the Chorus," the comic major-general, the plot, "A Little Bit of Fun," the Chinaman, the plot again, the duke, the earl and the millionaire, the comic man with the topical songs, "Don't You Trouble Yourself About That," a comic of nothing, the inevitable cakewalk, the plot for the last time, the same old final chorus.

Eleanora Duse, the actress, is seriously ill with pneumonia, says a despatch from Genoa.

The Star Theatre will present next week the famous Cracker-Jacks. The combination has always been identified as a top-notch, and this season is no exception to the rule.

One of the most pretentious melodramatic productions of this season will be George Klim's scenic play, "On the Bridge at Midnight," to be presented at the Majestic next week.

Henry Lee and his players are at Shen's this week in what may be declared the best combination of the season. For next week Mr. Shea offers a large and widely varied list of vaudeville acts headed by the celebrated Blind Tom, the negro pianist.

Without anything to enliven security, the local stock market drifted along again today with a few scattered transactions. It is admitted by brokers that a halting stage has been reached, and that a further advance is a remote possibility for the time being. Another heavy decline in U.S. rail earnings for the second week of February was without apparent effect, and the present conditions of railroad operations are accepted in association of the heavy fall-off in receipts.

There was a general feeling of uncertainty and lack of confidence in the market, and the price of the bonds was not very high. The market was not very active, and the price of the bonds was not very high.

Called to the Far East

Well-Known Newspaper Man of Toronto to Represent the London Standard at the War.

W. Richmond Smith, who was war correspondent for The Montreal Star in South Africa, yesterday received instructions from The London Standard to leave at once for the scene of hostilities in the Far East.

Mr. Richmond Smith has had a wide newspaper experience. For many years he served in the Press Gallery at Ottawa. He became city editor for The Montreal Star in 1898, and when the Boer war broke out he was despatched to South Africa with the first Canadian contingent.

Mr. Smith is well known in Toronto. He was editor of The Evening News under its former management which position he held until that newspaper was taken over by J. W. Playville.

It was in South Africa that Mr. Smith became acquainted with William Maxwell, the correspondent of The London Standard. Mr. Maxwell evidently formed a high opinion of the Canadian correspondent, and his recommendation was the means of giving Mr. Smith the commission which was yesterday conveyed to him by cable from London.
