FARMER CO-OPERATION.

New Brunswick farmers find that co-operation is of great value in getting fertilizer, seeds, feeds and other supplies. The Nova Scotia Fruit Growers' Exchange has like experience in marketing and buying. In Maine a Potato Growers' Exchange is proving of much benefit. A Caribou letter says:—

THE CASUALTY LIST.

The Canadian casualties from automobiles are fewer per thousand of population than those in the United States, but that is poor comfort because we do not operate so many cars. In studying the casualty list, which is alarming enough in its proportions, the main purpose should be to increase the sense of personal responsibility on the part of drivers of all classes.

The Maine Potato Growers' Exchange made first shipments of Irish cobbler September 4, commencing with occasional deliveries by members. Harvesting has progressed until at present loading for shipment is general over the entire area.

THE PORT OF VANCOUVER.

MR. R. C. Beattie, commissioner of the port of Vancouver, in an interview in Montreal this week, declined any desire on the part of his own city to wrest from Montreal the position of Canada's premier port. He said:—

"We are not trying to take any business away from Montreal. On the contrary, we are trying to work with Montreal in building up a greater Canada, by keeping the traffic of the country within her own borders. We are indebted to Montreal for the very fine support accorded us in connection with our own port development, and I assure you that we heartily reciprocate the spirit of friendship shown us."

THE WHISPERER.

It is comforting to know that the Montreal Star, in its last "Whisper of Death," expresses a belief that "Canada can and will be saved." This is a comforting assurance. How is the salvation to be brought about? Hearken:—

"If the press of Canada does its duty, the politicians will be prevented from ruining the country. We are calculating that the soothing-syrup purveyors will fail to keep the electorate asleep. We believe that the people will awake in time and seat at Ottawa a Government which will bring immigrants by the millions into Canada, will drastically and courageously cut down our ridiculously extravagant railway services until the country can afford to carry them, and will fight for Canada, for Canadian manufacture of Canadian raw materials by Canadian labor, against all-comers."

FAIRVILLE FIRE.

The Fairville firemen were given a run last night to the home of N. J. Cabell, Lane Avenue, but the fire had been put out before they arrived. Very little damage was done.

(Financial Post.) A controversy which has arisen between Canon F. G. FREE COMPETITION
FOR COAL IS URGED

Dr. Ingalls Says, Commission's Report Fails to Offer Solution.

New York, Sept. 22.—The report of the United States Coal Commission did not get to the bottom of things, declares Dr. W. R. Ingalls, New York mining engineer and economist, in the official Journal of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers. Dr. Ingalls urges free competition in the coal industry, which, he says, would bring about the elimination of the unit.

"The Coal Commission report," he asserts, "really gets no further than the conclusion that anthracite is a necessity whereof not enough is produced, and, if the operators and miners quarrel, with the result of a strike and the cessation of production, there is bound to be great misery for the public."

"Neither the public interest nor public sentiment will permit such a thing to happen again. Therefore the Coal Commission recommends that in such a juncture the President of the United States be authorized to take over the operation of the mines and the transportation and distribution and marketing of the product, with full power to determine the wages to be paid to mine workers, the prices at which coal shall be sold, and subject to court review, the compensation to be paid to land and mine owners."

"This is on the same lines as the UPHOLSTERING Upholstering and Repairing. Old Furniture Made New. Export work. L. G. SINCLAIR M. 2862.

threat whereby President Roosevelt settled an anthracite strike many years ago. No matter how repugnant be the idea, this is perhaps the only possible, immediate expedient. But what would happen if, after the President had taken over the mines and determined the wages to be paid to mine workers, the latter should still refuse to work?

"It seems to me that there is a broader solution of the anthracite problem, complex though it be. The Coal Commission dwells a good deal upon anthracite being a limited natural monopoly. It is so only in the sense that it occurs in a single region of the United States, but in that region the beds are widespread and the ownership is diverse."

"There exists already a competition, as is evinced by the different prices of the independents and the railroad companies. The railroad companies sell for what is substantially a uniform price, which is to their credit, considering that they might get more. This very discrepancy implies lack of freedom in action."

"There should be a removal of all economic restrictions and the establishment of free competition, which would tend naturally to the extinction of the unit. It should prove that even if the demand were in excess of the supply, high prices would naturally prevail."

"The complete unionization of anthracite labor will keep the workers and the operators in partnership and the workers will be bound to get a big share of the produce. In such an event, the public can only pray for the early offering of a satisfactory substitute."

"As to the high cost of final distribution of anthracite, which constitutes a large element of what the consumer has to pay, that is an affair of the public itself and is quite within its control. If the people of a town see fit to support five coal dealers when but two are necessary, that is their own lookout. Probably they have never thought of this."

Mr. Ingalls points out that the report contains no data showing the output of the mines, the number of man-days of labor used in making the output, although these are essential data easily obtainable from most large mining companies, and probably from the anthracite mining companies.

"Such data throw light upon the efficiency of labor, but that is a subsidiary point."

ject about which very little is to be learned from the report of the Coal Commission. Here and there are to be found some suggestions respecting it, but they are inconclusive."

The statistics of earnings by miners are presented in a clumsy way and are difficult of analysis and interpretation, according to Mr. Ingalls, who calls this a fault that runs through the whole report. He adds:

"When engineers and organizers have devised ways and means for using petroleum products in our houses, conditions will begin to be different."

"In the meanwhile, anthracite coal appears to be obeying simply the law of supply and demand. The supply of anthracite has not increased commensurately with the increase in population. The Coal Commission emphasizes this, but does not explain the reasons why or what might be done to increase the supply. The resources exist. Although every year they are becoming less easily mined, it is preposterous to think that the increases in costs and prices are to be explained in that way. No such thing has happened in our copper mines which also are becoming more difficult to work."

BEEBLE BATS MOSQUITOS.

A beetle on the African Gold Coast has the useful habit of eating the "grubs" of mosquitos. The bug, a tiger beetle with the imposing name of Cicindela octoguttata, goes to the edges of ponds where the grubs are swimming and fishes them out of the water. It helps very materially to reduce the number of mosquitos in any area which it inhabits.

One of the great problems of modern tropical medicine is the killing of mosquito larvae, consequently, it is probable that an effort will be made to cultivate the new beetle extensively. At present one method of the same sort is in use in most malarial countries. This consists in putting shoals of a tiny fish known as "millions" into mosquito ponds. The "millions" feed on the grubs.

Science is beginning to take a very deep interest in these "balances of nature," for it is probable that, by making a judicious use of them, both health and crops can be improved. The ravages of the "green fly" for instance, are controlled by the "ladybird," a poor ladybird year the green fly becomes a serious pest.

RUSSIAN WOMAN WHO FACED FIRING SQUAD FLEES TO U. S. AS A TURK

Mme. Michhalovsky Gave Up Valuable Gems to Save Her Life.

New York, Sept. 22.—Mme Nadia Michhalovsky, young woman, who barely escaped from Russia with her life, coming to this country by way of Turkey, where she earned the money to get here, is in this city a ward of the Traveler's Aid. She arrived on the George Washington and was admitted under the quota from Turkey. She has found work making hats, a trade she learned in Constantinople. Through an interpreter she told the story of her escape.

The young woman said her father had a large shoe factory in Moscow, and when she was 16 she married Gen. Michhalovsky of Petrograd. Her husband was wealthy, and in the revolution both her husband and father were killed. She said that she hid some large diamonds, which she had inherited from her father, and that she was sent to a prison to force her to reveal their hiding place.

Five days in succession, she said, she was taken out to be shot if she did not give up the diamonds.

"I thought," she said, "that if I was going to lose my diamonds as well as everything else I might just as well die."

Reports of torture in the prison in which she was confined caused her to change her mind, she said, and finally she gave in, told where the jewels were hidden and they let her go. Soon after she escaped to Greece and then to Constantinople dressed as a peasant.

While with the refugees in Constantinople she began to make hats and succeeded so well that eventually she had a little shop and in it she made the money with which she came to America.

The young woman now is at work in the hat department of a Fifty-seventh Street shop. With all that she has been through Mme. Michhalovsky is a typically vivacious Russian woman. Her hair turned white in the Russian prison. She has had it dyed a deep auburn and bobbed.

"I thought it too old for bobbed hair, I am 25, but they said: 'Oh, no, in America women of 50 bob their hair.' In America all are young."

Traveler Declares Half Clad Islander Spoils Fine Scenery

San Francisco, Sept. 19.—(A. P. By Mail).—The South Sea Islands have been ridiculously overrated, according to a statement made here recently by Mrs. Whitney Sperry, San Francisco society woman and globe trotter, who has just returned from a 75,000 mile jaunt including a tour of the Orient, the South Seas and the Antipodes.

Mrs. Sperry said she visited the South Sea Islands expecting to find a land of dreams and romance. "I found beautiful scenery ruined by fat, half-naked men and women," she continued. "There was every sort of mixture of race and drink. Prices were three times higher than they should have been. The place was full of half-dressed artists who have 'gone brown,' and everything I ate gave me indigestion. The food was responsible. The South Sea Islands have been ridiculously overrated."

In Java, Mrs. Sperry said, husbands may be plucked from the trees, bushes and the road side. These are not human wrecks or doddering derelicts, but fine, handsome and charming men from Holland who go to Java to make their fortunes.

"The heat is so intense that most women refuse to live there," Mrs. Sperry went on to say, "so the only alternative these men have, if they wish to exchange single blessedness for harnessed cagedness, is to marry the native women. So you see what a golden opportunity there is for single white women."

"In Hongkong I met many American and English women stranded without a cent, whose real reason for going to China was to get married. Most of them were more than thirty years old and more or less unattractive. They had heard, incorrectly, that there were so many more English and American men than women in China. Once there they couldn't return. Java should have been their goal!"

Mrs. Sperry entertains a bitter and hearty grudge against those writers who have painted glowing word pictures of the South Seas and the maidens thereof. She says: "I received the biggest disappointment of my life when I landed in the South Sea Islands. The scenery is beautiful, yes, but nothing startling. Java is more beautiful. And those beautiful maidens one hears of are fat, nearly all of them, and sloopy. Valupitoo, yes, but oh, so broad! There are derelicts of every race and nation, gone to seed. Of course there is quite a colony of writers and artists, but even a large number of these have gone to seed. What struck me particularly was the number of white men, chatelains and cultured, many of them successful writers and painters, who have married the native women."

WELL REFUSED.
Hamilton Herald: The Soviet Government at Moscow cannot even offer relief decently. It sent a shipload of food to Japan, explaining that it was for the relief of "laborers only," and declaring that the Russian Government regarded the earthquake as "an opportunity for furthering the revolutionary movement." The Japanese Government would not accept relief on those terms, and refused to allow the ship to discharge her cargo. It should not take long to decide which of the two governments is the more civilized.

HEART BALM AWARD STANDS, SAYS COURT

Toronto, Sept. 21.—After an energetic argument on the part of his counsel, D. L. McCarthy, K. C., W. W. McKeown's appeal from the second jury award of $4,800 for breach of promise in favor of Mariette Van Hoorde, the Belgian girl, was dismissed by the second divisional court this afternoon with Mr. Justice Latchford dissenting.

In today's judicial panel was Mr. Justice Logie, who had been the trial judge when Miss Van Hoorde was given the first heart balm of $4,000. His presence today was by consent of counsel.

When McKeown appealed from the first judgment the appellate court directed a new trial. But the second jury made the damage $4,800 instead of $4,000.

The dissenting judge held that the marriage was conditional on the father's consent and that the girl knew young McKeown had no profession, but that his parents were rich. The majority view, however, was that the agreement to marry was unconditional and that he would have been unable to support Miss Van Hoorde had he married her.

It is understood that McKeown will appeal.

SAY COAL PROBLEM MAINLY IN STRIKES

Commissioners Hold Walk-outs Only Bar to Soft Coal Abundance

Washington, Sept. 21.—Labor disturbances are the most serious obstacle to superabundant production of coal in the United States, the Coal Commission declared in a report to President Coolidge on the subject of "irregular operation and over-development of the bituminous industry." While inefficient transportation machinery was said to tend its effect to fuel shortages, the commission's decision was that "the strike of the mine workers is the only bar to continuous production considerably in excess of any present possibilities of consumption."

To attempt to solve the problem solely by improving transportation, the report said, would be "simply to transfer to the railroad industry" the over-development now seen in the coal industry and necessarily to increase freight rates. It was estimated that the railroads would entail an expenditure of $2,000,000,000 if they set out to build up their equipment to the point where it could serve the peak demand for fuel, which would impose an additional charge on coal of about forty cents a ton.

Commenting upon the labor factor in recurring shortages, the report said: "There have been but two national strikes of the union coal miners since 1915. That of November-December, 1919, cutting off some 70 per cent of the soft coal output, and that of the summer of 1922, affecting the bituminous coal fields to the same extent and shutting down the anthracite fields completely for about five months.

The loss of production occasioned by these concerted withdrawals of the organized mine workers has in each instance caused such general shortage of coal that even after resumption of mining there were long periods of insistent demand and high prices. The strike of the mine workers is the only bar to the continuous production of bituminous coal at a rate considerably in excess of any present possibility of consumption by the industries, railroads and households of this country and of demand for export.

"The bituminous coal industry rests upon abundant unmined reserves. The capacity in mines and mining labor is sufficient to produce at least 25 per cent more than the highest rate attained in periods of peak demand, and if demand were spread evenly over the year the overdevelopment would be even more pronounced.

Washington, Sept. 22.—(A. P. By Mail).—Expert advice to American coffin makers has been received by the Department of Commerce from Alexander Dye, its commercial agent at London.

Concerning coffins, coffin lumber and similar materials, Mr. Dye advises American manufacturers that the British market for American products is at low ebb because the British, since the war, have lost their taste for expensive funerals and made cheaper coffins the vogue.

In two days Machorro is credited with having murdered four persons and escaping with many thousands of pesos.

IN DEFENCE OF THE MARITIMES

Reply of Capt. Masters of Moncton to Montreal Gazette.

The following reply to the Montreal Gazette's criticism of the Maritime Provinces is from Captain J. E. Masters of Moncton—ex-president of the Maritime Board of Trade.

"None knows better than the Montreal Gazette that the Intercolonial was not a commercial enterprise. English capital and engineers built it over a circuitous route and mountainous territory, for military purposes. An engine that will haul thirty cars from Sydney to Riviere du Loup will take fifty the same distance west of the capital.

"Of course there was nothing in the fact to guarantee rates, any more than the Gazette would guarantee rates fifteen years hence. Twenty-eight million dollars is not a large deficit over a military road in about fifty-five years. How much have the canals, that are no benefit to us, cost these provinces alone in that time?

"The Gazette says the Intercolonial was a free gift to the Maritime Provinces. In that case Quebec and Ontario politicians and financiers have taken it from us.

"Why the New England States? We have nothing to do with them except to protest against the millions of Canadian money that is flowing through their ports that should come to ours; and why should not rates from central Canada be such as to allow all Canadian goods to be shipped through Canadian ports? Can any one imagine the United States giving any foreign power that privilege that Port land enjoys from Canada?

"Yes our farmers can make good; but a prohibitive tariff on one side and the Forney bill on the other make hard sledding for them.

"Why is the Atlantic region deficit so large? Because these same politicians and financiers located the western boundary of the Atlantic Region at Riviere du Loup instead of at Montreal, depriving us of three hundred miles of easy grades and productive country.

"We do not nurse our grievances. We have not the wealth of Quebec and Ontario for development, not the population for consumption, but we have the brains that make this country what it is and all the courage and ability to make good with an even chance."

NEW SETTLERS CAUSE FIRES

Hon. Mr. Robinson Speaks of This and Other N. B. Matters.

(Moncton Transcript)

"It is entirely too early to estimate what the lumber cut will be on the lands which were burned over in the terrible forest fires of last summer," declared Mr. Robinson, Minister of Lands and Mines to a Transcript representative when interviewed this morning.

"Prices are not yet steady, and it is not possible to estimate with any degree of accuracy what the demand of the American consumer will be," declared Mr. Robinson. "However conditions are as bright and the prices are not any lower than they were at this time last year."

Referring to the fires which caused so much loss during the dry spell last summer and their causes, Mr. Robinson said that undoubtedly there had been a deliberate disregard of the law in some cases, particularly along the line of the International Railway which was a comparatively newly-settled country and where it had been difficult to prosecute owing to the alleged bias of the Jurymen.

"Moreover it is this question of loss by forest fire, that makes the new settler in this province of doubtful value," the minister continued, "while several thousand people have been brought into this province and placed along the railway lines in the northern sections during the last fifteen years and they have opened up valuable farming lands; they have caused a loss in the most valuable timber areas amounting to millions of dollars. It is doubtful if they can ever produce wealth equal to what has been lost by carelessness."

"The Board of Trade advocates the adoption of a strong immigration policy in order to encourage the settlement of the vacant lands of this province. Such a policy would undoubtedly be of benefit but before it can be carried out properly a great deal of work will have to be done particularly with regard to handling them after they arrive in this country," declared Mr. Robinson.

"A survey of the province has been recommended by the members of the board and that is a step in the right direction, undoubtedly, but such a survey should not be confined, as it is in Nova Scotia, to one phase of the settlement plan. There, I believe, the authorities are making a survey of the abandoned farms in the province with the intention of placing British settlers on them. In all probability it will be found upon investigation that such farms were abandoned because they could not be made to pay by Canadians who had had experience with conditions in this country. Consequently such a survey might prove fruitless and one that would investigate the opportunities for industrial expansion would be of far greater advantage," Mr. Robinson stated.

"On the other hand it might be more advisable to attempt, first, to hold the people who are already settled in this province," said the Minister. "When thousands of our most able and promising young people are going to the United States it would seem more reasonable to make a strong and sustained effort to hold them rather than to induce others to come who might only in turn desert this country for other fields."

"And this can be done only by increasing the efficiency, and enlarging the capacity of our present manufacturing concerns, with an attempt of course to induce others to locate here. When such a programme has been carried out, then it would seem more fitting to look for other settlers than at the present time. However there are probably plans underway by which it will be found possible to work in conjunction with the other," continued the minister.

"Such a survey by the Board of Trade might be conducted in connection with that which the Provincial Government is making of the water powers of this province. The powers will be developed if users who will guarantee to take a certain amount can be found in numbers sufficient to make it worth while to spend the large amounts of money that are necessary for the carrying out of such projects. The Board of Trade could undoubtedly assist in finding such consumers and possibly in the encouraging of outside capitalists to invest in undertakings in this province," concluded Mr. Robinson.

DANE SOLVES EEL MYSTERY.

Locates Hitherto Unknown Spawning Grounds in the Atlantic.

Dr. J. Schmidt, a Danish zoologist, declares that he has unraveled the mystery of the life history of the eel, which has hitherto been the despair of naturalists. For many years they have been vainly seeking to learn where the newly hatched eels began their lives, for science has not been able to locate the spawning grounds. All that was known was that they were not in fresh waters, but somewhere in the open sea, probably in the Atlantic.

When Dr. Schmidt began his latest investigations no eel larvae were known less than one and one-half inches long—too large to be regarded as newly hatched—and these were well out in the Atlantic. So Dr. Schmidt cruised slowly across the ocean from the areas where three-inch eels abounded toward the American coast, carefully charting the area where progressively smaller larvae were found, until he came to what he was satisfied were the long-sought spawning grounds, because the larvae found there were only half an inch long. These spawning grounds he has thus far described no more definitely than to say they are in the Atlantic 3,000 miles southwest of the British Isles; but it is expected that at the meeting of the British Association this month in Liverpool he will give this and many more details of his investigations.

He says that it takes about three years for the larvae, which are then about two and one-half inches long, to reach the rivers of Great Britain.

RECIPE FOR WEDDED BLISS SAYS NEITHER RULES ROOST

Deputy Clerk Will Print a List of Don'ts for Newlyweds.

New York, Sept. 22. — Thomas J. McCabe, City Clerk in charge of the Marriage Bureau in The Bronx, is a happily married man. Furthermore, he is a willing philosopher and friend to every young couple contemplating entering the holy state through the legal processes of his peculiar office.

The genial McCabe has prepared a tentative list of "don'ts" for prospective matrimonial adventures. He plans to have them printed on neat little cards with an embossed wreath of orange blossoms or some such design.

But he is withholding his order for a few days pending possible suggestions of additional "don'ts" from persons of even wider and more comprehensive experience. He would like to receive one or two—perhaps more—from some persons not so happily married as he—and who are sorry for it. He might, if the suggestion commend itself to him, even accept a suggestion or two from some person for whom the marriage business didn't take at all. But here are the rules that Mr. McCabe already has approved:

"Don't let wife or husband rule the roost. Don't try to do it yourself."

"Don't nag."

"Don't forget to show affection."

"Don't neglect to trust each other."

"Don't permit relatives to interfere."

"Don't blame the other for all the trouble."

"Don't forget to keep an interest in your family affairs."

"Don't imagine that one person only makes the home attractive."

"Don't forget you're married."

PREDICTS ALCOHOL AS MOTOR CAR FUEL

Prof. McKee Announces a New Process for Making Methanol

Wood alcohol, now known to chemical science as methanol, will aid in meeting the national need for a new source of motor fuel, according to Dr. Ralph H. McKee, professor of chemical engineering in Columbia University, who described for the American Chemical Society a synthetic process for the evolution of this product. The raw materials used are natural gas, chlorine and lime.

"Methanol remains," says Dr. McKee, "the only product for the production of which the distillation of vast quantities of our most useful hardwoods is indispensable. The desirability of a synthetic method for the production of this product is accordingly evident."

Dr. McKee is one of a large group of American educators who at the sixtieth meeting of the American Chemical Society at Milwaukee, beginning September 10, will tell of striking advances made by chemistry in the solution of social and industrial problems. U. S. Produces Half Output.

"In normal times," according to Dr. McKee, "the United States produces about one-half of the world's supply of methanol. Previous to the war, this amounted to over 10,000,000 gallons a year, all of which was obtained by the destructive distillation of wood, for up to the present time the so-called hardwoods have been the only industrial source of this compound.

"During the war the urgent demand for wood distillation products gave an impetus to this industry, which resulted in an increase in productive capacity of over 25 per cent. At the present time the productive capacity of this country is approximately 17,000,000 gallons of methanol, requiring the consumption of over 2,000,000 cords of wood per year.

"The yield of methanol obtained by destructive distillation amounts at best to eight gallons per cord of wood, which is less than 1.5 per cent. by weight of the wood. In addition, charcoal, acetic acid and acetone are produced. The war period, however, saw the development and establishment on a commercial scale of several competitive processes, of which acetic acid and acetone are the products.

"These processes are the fermentation process for acetic acid, the synthetic production of acetic acid from calcium carbide, and the fermentation process for acetone. Thus, with the exception of charcoal and methanol, these new processes offer competition on all the products formerly produced by wood distillation only.

"Moreover, developments in the metallurgy of iron and the improvements in the production of metallurgical coke have greatly reduced the demand for charcoal. Methanol remains, therefore, the only product for the production of which the distillation of vast quantities of our most useful hardwoods is indispensable.

"The raw materials for methanol prepared by this process are natural gas, chlorine and lime. Natural gas is a cheap and plentiful raw material, which has not received the chemical exploitation it deserves. Certainly, it is a far more desirable source of methanol than our valuable hardwoods.

Chlorine is a raw material for which new demands are greatly needed, for the disposal of chlorine is one of the factors which has limited the growth of the electrolytic alkali industry."

KLAN FACTOR IN NEXT ELECTION

Politicians See Move for National Control—Pressure on Candidates.

(Special Dispatch to The New York Sun)

Washington, D. C., Sept. 22.—Although deprecated, it is not doubted by political leaders here that the Ku Klux Klan will have a great influence in the next election, and may determine who will be the next President of the United States. There is every evidence that the Klan has already started out to control the election in every State of the Union.

First evidence of the Klan's activities have been noticed in the preliminary campaigns of some of the Democratic candidates for President. An organizer for William G. McAdoo, recently in Indiana, announced that some of the Democrats there wanted to know how McAdoo stood in relation to the Klan. They had heard that Thomas B. Love of Texas, regarded here as one of the leaders for the Klan, was one of the most influential McAdoo backers, and they wanted direct assurances from Mr. McAdoo's representatives before they committed themselves to him.

Indiana, they said, cannot be carried by any candidate unfavorable to the Klan, and although the Indiana Democrats professed opposition to it, they insisted that the Klan is so strong politically in Indiana that it would be political suicide for them to support a candidate opposed by the Klan. Men are openly displaying evidence of their membership in the Indiana branches of the Klan, it was said, and the movers and shovers in the proportions there that persons who are eligible to Klan membership and are not members are openly suspected by their neighbors.

Underwood Troubled, Too.

Other candidates are having their troubles with the Klan. Senator Underwood of Alabama, for instance, has been pestered ever since he entered the Presidential race by Klan leaders who desire to know his position with respect to it. Being a Southerner, Senator Underwood is naturally expected to entertain sympathies toward the Klan, but his lack of backers toward the Klan has caused his backers some annoyance.

Plans of certain Democrats in Louisiana to present the name of a supporter of that State to the next Democratic convention appear already to have been frustrated by the Klan because the Governor, since his investigation into Klan activities at Mer Rouge, has been violently opposed by the Klan. Reports from Louisiana now have it that Gov. Parker cannot count on State delegation and his name will not be put before the Democratic convention.

It is the intention of the Klansmen, as reported here, to see to it that no one is nominated by the Democrats who is obnoxious to the Klan. While it is understood that the Klansmen make no attempt to dictate the Democratic nominee, yet it will use its power and influence with the delegates to prevent the nomination of any one suspected of being unfriendly to it.

Pressure on Coolidge.

Efforts have been made to have President Coolidge make a stand regarding the Klan nomination. Recently members of the Klan served notices on the President's political sponsor that if he did not repudiate the Klan nomination, the Knights of Columbus in their Montreal convention they would use the influence of the Klan against his nomination as President. The President, however, maintained a calm and dignified attitude in the face of these attacks and patiently waited until the officials of the Knights of Columbus had corrected the unwitting error by which a former statement of the President in regard to the Knights had been made to appear as if the statement given out after his election.

If the Klan has an idea that it will force President Coolidge to give some tacit approval of its organization, it is disappointed. For a great surprise, the President's friends say, for he will not be coerced by any organization, though it may mean his political ruin. As a matter of fact, the President is opposed to Klan methods, his close friends say, and if pressed too strongly will not hesitate to say so publicly.

From many States come reports of the increasing strength of the Klan and of its increased activity in political fields. The Klan was reported to have won an important strategic victory in Maine only this week and from the far West come reports that Oregon and Washington are virtually at the mercy of the white robed organization. In many other States the Klan is reported to have invaded political committees and to have put its representatives in high political places.

Observers here believe the crest of the Klan movement will have been reached in 1924 and that the great American habit of joining will have run its extreme course. Movements similar to that of the Klan have been noted before in the United States and it is a matter of history that after a brief period of prosperity these movements always fade and die out, just as the original Klan died out when its usefulness ended.

Nevertheless the politicians are worried about the Klan's present political strength and believe it will be an influential factor in the national elections. The Klan's main activity will be of course directed toward State and local political offices, but this is certain to have an effect on the national election.

Three Lives Lost As Flaming Ship Is Beached Up River

"I thought," said he, "about what the consequences would be if those bales would happen to catch fire."

He squeezed past them, then descended the stairs, where he met Mr. Dean of Boston, with whom he entered into conversation as they strode to the companion-way and a similar later, then from down on the main deck came the frightened screams of children and the hoarse cry of a deckhand that the bales had burst on fire.

Mr. Putnam did not notice anyone loitering in the vicinity of the hay as he passed, but from another source it was learned that children were playing hide and seek around the bales.

The cry of fire was soon heard by all along the main deck. They had scarcely seen the flames when a similar hurrying from overhead towards the top of the companion-way stairs, for the shouts of fire had been taken up, and already streams of smoke floated lastly up the companion-way stairs.

Captain Edward Day, from the saloon deck, called to the mate, William Whelpley, who was in the wheel-house, steering to beach the boat, and shortly afterwards Mr. Whelpley called to the purser, Peter Allen, to get out the hose. This was attempted, but before an effective stream could be obtained the flames had eaten through the hose, rendering it useless.

When the flames began to do no work but race for the shore. Already the Weston had swept to the right, and with steam at high pressure was driving swiftly landward.

Captain Day called for all passengers to go forward, and as the Weston gradually neared the shore everybody to maintain a grip on whatever offered, as the boat would be liable to hit hard.

William Whelpley, the mate and pilot was seen yesterday at his home. He lay on the lounge and in plain, direct way recounted what he knew of the disaster, taking care however, to make himself of small consequence.

His head was banded, his neck and shoulders swathed in bandages, his ears were peeled and his right hand was bound up, his eyebrows singed, his hair scorched; his mustache was ragged where the sparks had eaten through it.

"Oh," he remarked slowly, "the boat just caught fire that's all. I was in the wheel house heard Peter Allen say 'out fire!' Then the Captain yelled for me to beach her, and I shouted back for somebody to start the hose going."

"The fire prevented the hose from working, then the flames got hotter. We were about half a mile out in the stream, when I got the order to beach, and the time it took I think to get her ashore was about five minutes. Some dropped, some jumped, some fell, and the circumstances attending them were varied. Oh, I could just hug him. I could just hug him through and through."

Just after he gave directions respecting the boat, Mr. Whelpley devoted his entire energy to putting the boat ashore. He succeeded in turning her; then, with the roar and crackle of the flames, with drifts of smoke filling the wheel-house, with a furnace beneath him and under that the water, with the likelihood that the means of escaping to the lower deck would be destroyed, Mr. Whelpley clung to the wheel. By the time the steamer was half way in, her body was nothing but a floating bonfire. At times the wheel-house would almost be hidden behind the rolling guests, and the hands that held the wheel and the face that looked into the snapping shock would be stung with whirling embers.

When the boat grounded, Mr. Whelpley, whose condition warranted immediate care, succeeded in making his way below, and assisted in the work of lowering the boats, the women and children. He climbed over the rail, clung with one hand, and with the other handed down passenger after passenger.

Efforts have been made to have President Coolidge make a stand regarding the Klan nomination. Recently members of the Klan served notices on the President's political sponsor that if he did not repudiate the Klan nomination, the Knights of Columbus in their Montreal convention they would use the influence of the Klan against his nomination as President. The President, however, maintained a calm and dignified attitude in the face of these attacks and patiently waited until the officials of the Knights of Columbus had corrected the unwitting error by which a former statement of the President in regard to the Knights had been made to appear as if the statement given out after his election.

If the Klan has an idea that it will force President Coolidge to give some tacit approval of its organization, it is disappointed. For a great surprise, the President's friends say, for he will not be coerced by any organization, though it may mean his political ruin. As a matter of fact, the President is opposed to Klan methods, his close friends say, and if pressed too strongly will not hesitate to say so publicly.

From many States come reports of the increasing strength of the Klan and of its increased activity in political fields. The Klan was reported to have won an important strategic victory in Maine only this week and from the far West come reports that Oregon and Washington are virtually at the mercy of the white robed organization. In many other States the Klan is reported to have invaded political committees and to have put its representatives in high political places.

Observers here believe the crest of the Klan movement will have been reached in 1924 and that the great American habit of joining will have run its extreme course. Movements similar to that of the Klan have been noted before in the United States and it is a matter of history that after a brief period of prosperity these movements always fade and die out, just as the original Klan died out when its usefulness ended.

Nevertheless the politicians are worried about the Klan's present political strength and believe it will be an influential factor in the national elections. The Klan's main activity will be of course directed toward State and local political offices, but this is certain to have an effect on the national election.

Enrich Your Blood With This Newer Form of Iron

For many years physicians and chemists experimented to produce a newer form of iron, like the iron in your blood, because they realized that the old metallic iron often blackened the teeth and upset the stomach. Their experiments proved that three people out of every four were deficient in iron content in the blood and that thousands were weak, sick, nervous, ailing and run-down, suffering from all sorts of alarming symptoms which as a matter of fact their trouble was all due to iron starvation of the blood. At last they discovered this newer form of iron, like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples in highly concentrated form. It quickly helps to strengthen your blood and color into your cheeks. Get your doctor to take your red blood count today, then take this newer form of iron known as Nuxated Iron for a few weeks and watch your red blood corpuscles increase; see how much purer and richer your blood becomes; how much stronger and better you feel; what difference it makes in your nerves. Over 4,000,000 people annually are using Nuxated Iron. Your money will be refunded if you do not obtain satisfactory results. In tablet form only. At all druggists.

August Production Of Iron And Steel

A report issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics states that pig iron produced in Canada during August 1923 amounted to 82,387 gross tons, an increase of 18 per cent. over the July output of 69,847 tons. The production was less than 700 tons below the highest output obtained in the corresponding month in other years and only exceeded in August 1920.

The increase was wholly in the quantity of basic iron produced by the

POM POM SITS FOR PORTRAIT

"Sweetie" is Taken to Photographer by New York Mamma.

(New York Sun)

"Good afternoon, Mr. Sarona—I want to have my baby's picture taken. Please. I haven't had my own done since the one you did with the imitation pearls my first husband gave me. Of course I didn't leave the child home—don't you see him on the end of the leash? He's so well behaved I don't wonder he's overlooked a genuine thoroughbred."

"I want a life size portrait, hand colored. Something I can hand down to posterity when the dear child has passed on to a better world."

Oh, no, he's not very old—hardly 16; but one never knows with so many automobiles on the roads on Sunday nowadays. And of course he does have fits once in a while—epileptic ones; my grandfather had them just the same way. I never dare let him out alone because I am afraid some one will think he is mad and dose him with plain water instead of gin—that's the only thing that soothes him—if it is the real article, you'll find it on gin.

"Sit on the nice big chair, Pom Pom. Oh, get down, don't do that, Mr. Sarona. I forgot to tell you never to wave anything in front of him—it antagonizes him. It's only a tiny scratch, though. He could possibly get hydromorbus from those dear little teeth—they're too refined."

"I want one full length portrait and one profile; he has such lovely classic features. Sometimes he reminds me of stop snapping at the man, darling. Sometimes he reminds me of that old portrait Napoleon or Mary Queen of Scots—I can't remember which. So calm and dignified."

"Turn his head more to one side so that you can get that fine line of his throat and the poise of his head—like 'patience on a monument.' Bless his baby heart! Let go of the man's ear, darling. You mustn't be too playful with him. That pose is simply perfect—so natural and unaffected."

"How amusingly like New England to believe in this age of twentieth century 'new poets that anyone feels the slightest interest in a nineteenth century 'old poet,' was my thought as I paid my 25 cents admission fee to the Henry W. Longfellow House in Portland, Me. the other day. Probably I am the only person who has been in Portland since I visited the birthplace of Longfellow."

WOMAN'S HEALTH RESTORED

The Claims Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did It After Everything Else Failed

Milwaukee, Wisconsin.—"I feel that ought to let you know about my case. I was ailing and could hardly do my work. I took a lot of medicines and had doctors. Then I gave them all up and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I feel wonderful. I do every thing that comes along, and we all take your medicine as a tonic when we don't feel just so. I am thankful for what the Vegetable Compound has done for my health and for my family."

Dr. MARY S. SARGENT, 344 25th Street, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Letters like these testify to the value of the Vegetable Compound. These women speak from the fullness of their hearts. They describe as correctly as they can their conditions; First, those symptoms that affected them most conspicuously and later the disappearance of those symptoms. They are sincere expressions of gratitude. For nearly fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been so praised by women.

A Good Wing.

Cy Perkins of the Philadelphia Athletics is considered one of the best catchers in either major league. As a matter of fact a number of experts consider him the premier backstop of the big show.

Eddie Collins of the Chicago White Sox and George Siler of the Browns, who has been out of the game all season because of eye trouble, are two of the best base runners in the American League.

Recently in a game between Chicago and the Athletics, which Mack's club won 3 to 2, Collins in the eighth inning hit safely and a moment later tried to steal second.

After the contest Perkins remarked, "Although I have been in the American League a number of years that is the first time I ever remember throwing out Eddie Collins. It has always seemed that every time he started to steal on me, something always happened to make the attempt unsuccessful. Throwing Collins out today is the first time in my career, if my memory serves me correctly, and I have been trying to do it for over half a dozen years."

Most Valuable Player.

Babe Ruth of the New York American League, was declared yesterday to be the most valuable player of the year and was awarded the American League trophy. Ruth was the unanimous choice of the committee and his name will be inscribed on the 1923 tablet of the $100,000 monument to be erected in East Potomac Park, Washington, and presented to the U. S. Government as a memorial to baseball and a hall of fame for the greatest players.

Grand Circuit Meets.

Racing was resumed on the grand circuit at Columbus, Ohio, yesterday. The track was very heavy after three days of rain and as a result the time in all of the events was slow. The 214 class trot for the Merchants' and Manufacturers' stake, valued at $5,000, was won by Mrs. Verkes in straight heats, best time 2:07 1/4. The 218 trot was won by Zaguilla in straight heats, best time 2:07 1/4. The Capital City stake, valued at $3,000, was won by Rose Scott in straight heats, best time 2:07 1/2. The 204 pace went to Logan Hedgewood, two out of three heats, best time 2:06 1/4.

Today's Grand Circuit.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 22.—Five events are listed for today's Grand Circuit race card at the Columbus Driving Park. Two of the races will be stake events and the other three regulation class affairs. Purses offered today total $2,000.

BOWLING.

A Challenge—For Worthy Object. The Imperials have issued a challenge to any bowling team in the city to roll on the Imperial alleys next week. Twenty-five cents admission will be charged and the entire proceeds will be turned over to the Japanese relief fund. The Sweepstake winners of the City League last season, will accept the challenge and will play them any night next week. Arrangements to be made with W. H. Gansblin.

GOLF.

Uimmet and Gardner Beaten. Francis Uimmet of Boston and Bob Gardner of Chicago were eliminated yesterday from the amateur golf championship of the U. S., the former being defeated by Max Marston of Philadelphia three up and two to play, and the latter losing to Jess Sweetser eight up and seven to play. The two winners will play today for the championship.

RING.

Smith Triumphant. Kalmanson, Mich., Sept. 22.—Homer Smith, heavyweight, knocked out Sgt. Ray Smith, Camden, N. J., in the eighth round here last night. Smith will meet Harry Wells in New York next Thursday night.

HEILMAN AND HORNBSBY LEADING

Retain Top Positions in Batting Honors in the Big Leagues.

Chicago, Sept. 22.—Harry Heilmann, of Detroit, continues to lead the batters in the American League but his margin over Babe Ruth is considerably less than last week, for Ruth maintained his average of .385 while Heilmann dropped from .385 to .291, according to averages for games through last Wednesday, released today. Speaker and Sewell, of Cleveland, rank third and fourth with .272 and .269 respectively, but their colleague, Jamieson, who rested in fifth place last week, was supplanted by Eddie Collins, of Chicago, who jumped eleven points during the week and now has .360.

Hornbsby Leads Nationals.

Rogers Hornsby, of the St. Louis Nationals, continues first with .384. Wheat, of Brooklyn, gained nine points during the week and pulled into second place with .375, showing Bottomley, of St. Louis, into third place, the latter dropping a couple of points and now having .360.

Two New York players also are sharing the big honors, Frisch leading in total bases with 292 and "Pop" Young heading the run getters with 117.

Other Leading Batters.

ARGENTINE'S STYLE IS ALL HIS OWN

The Champion Has Never Fought Battler Like His Present Challenger.

(Wilbur Wood in New York Herald) White Sulphur Springs, N. Y., Sept. 21.—There is one thing of which Jack Dempsey is not getting the least inkling in his daily sessions with his sparring partners here on the shores of Saratoga Lake and that is the style of battling employed by Luis Angel Firpo, who will try to knock the heavy-weight crown off the champion's head at the Polo Grounds next Friday night.

Not one of the champion's helpers big or little, even approximates the Wild Bull's style. Dempsey is going to be up against a totally unfamiliar proposition which he steps in to do his best to do or upon the big Argentinean. All the champion's assistants are orthodox boxers and if there is anything Firpo is not in his ring methods it is orthodox. Every member of the punch absorbing brigade is faster on his feet than Firpo. Not one of them throws the shock absorbers, did not seem to camp some one who could play the role of Firpo truly and convincingly.

Some one may at this point arise to inquire why Jack Kearns who slip up the shock absorbers, did not seem to camp some one who could play the role of Firpo truly and convincingly. The answer to that one is easy—there just hasn't been any other heavy-weight now appearing in American rings and perhaps that is one of his greatest assets. Tex Rickard, for one, figures it is.

Whether or not this failure to stack up against a Fitzpoque attack and defense in his daily sessions will be a handicap to the champion on Friday night is doubtful. Some of our most brainy and successful glove wielders think that it is not advisable to know much about an opponent's style before stepping in with him. They hold that the best place to familiarize one's self with a foe's methods is in actual combat. That prevents, they believe, any false theories being built up in advance.

WILSHUR WINS CROWN FROM ROY

Toronto Man Gets Featherweight Title on Close Decision.

Toronto, Sept. 22.—By a mighty effort Carley Wilshur, of Toronto, edged the featherweight crown from the rugged head of Kid Roy of Montreal, and placed it upon his own brow at the Arena here last night in the presence of one of the largest crowds that ever witnessed a boxing bout in Toronto. Fully 7,000 light fans crowded the arena and gave both boxers an ovation at the close of the bout. The decision was a close one. One of the judges called the bout a draw, the other favored Wilshur and Referee Hugh Hayes of Hamilton, gave the award to the Toronto man. Roy put up a great battle.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT.

According to the report submitted to the American Bar Association by the Special Committee on Law Enforcement of which ex-Governor Charles S. Whitman is chairman, there were 9,000 homicides in the United States in 1921, and in the ten years ending 1921 there were not less than 85,000 murders. In the last year, for which facts were available, there were 17 murders in London as against 137 in Chicago and 260 in New York. Out of the 260 cases in New York there were only 8 convictions. In one year there were more than four times as many murders in New York City as in England and Wales combined—Richard Spillane, in Forbes Magazine (N. Y.)

College bred but disappointed in love, he has become a truly primitive cave-man but, more than that, his underlying intellect and polish have given him all the attributes of the "Sheik." Elaine Hammerstein is the Society Butterfly pictured to perfection—treating every real problem in life as a huge joke, constantly tasting of dangerous pleasures, and continually looking for new and more exciting diversions. The restoration of these two characters to social normalcy through one of the most unusual love affairs is the backbone of the story.

JUDSON HARRIS MEETS BROTHER HERE AFTER A SEPARATION OF 34 YEARS

Was on Wrecked Ship in Saxby Gale When His Father Drowned.

George A. Harris and Judson I. Harris, sons of the late George Harris, one of the United Empire Loyalists, who settled at Yarmouth, N. S., and Mrs. Harris, who was Priscilla Bain, of Scottish descent, met here this week after an absence of 34 years. George left Yarmouth when twenty-one years of age, and was employed at farming on the Manawagonish road here. After a few years of energetic labor he bought a farm and erected a home, where he still resides with his wife and daughter, and where he is now engaged in market gardening. Their father farmed at Yarmouth and took an occasional trip to sea. On a stormy night fifty-four years ago, he was one of a crew of three on a little coasting vessel in command of Captain Robbins, who was sailing from Yarmouth to St. John for a load of provisions. Judson, the little ten year old son of Mr. Harris' was on board. The "Saxby Gale" broke forth in all its fury and the little vessel was rocked to and fro, and was driven on a rocky ledge at Mispic Bay at midnight. The captain and mate managed to leap to the rocks, but before the others could land the schooner slid again into the settling torrent. Ropes were thrown to Mr. Harris, who fastened one on his little son, and the boy was hauled to safety. The other rope attached to himself, but the rope parted and the helpless man was tossed about in the tempestuous billows. The vessel was broken to splinters. In the morning the body was found, but so mangled with beating against the rocks and surf that burial immediately took place in the little seashore grave yard on Mispic Beach.

Notwithstanding this early tragedy, at the age of 16 Judson went to sea, for which he still has a great liking. Later he engaged in electrical work, which he has followed for many years in various places—P. E. Island, Florida, California and other U. S. cities. In 1910 he went to the Panama Canal, where he worked at the electrical profession for four years. Since then he has been living with his family at Waverley, Mass., where at the age of sixty-four years he is still actively engaged in work. Mr. Harris is of fine physique and weighs 193 pounds. He is now enjoying a vacation with his brother, who is four years his senior. Their last meeting was thirty-four years ago, when George visited Judson in Boston. Today the brothers will motor to Mispic, to the grave where their father rests, and to view the scene of the disaster which occurred so many years ago, and which still lives vividly in the memory of Judson. The reunion of the brothers is a very happy one, and the visitor is enthused with the beautiful scenery surrounding his brother's home. Later Mr. Harris will visit Yarmouth, the home of his boyhood, en route to Waverley, Mass.

A Frederick Case. The Frederick Gleazer says that George W. Ross of West Lubec, Me., and Robert W. Ross of Newcastle met at the races there recently. The Maine visitor asked the judges to call for Robert. He happened to be there and responded. In a few moments Thomas E. Ross, another brother from West Lubec, Me., joined the party, and then a younger man, with his hair turning somewhat grey; he was Robert E. Ross of Robert W., who had not seen his father since he was 2½ years old. The result was a happy family reunion. Robert W. left West Lubec, Me., the home of the family, 33 years ago, after his first wife died, and he never returned, his sister acting as mother to his son.

Another name has been added to the list, that of Miss Lillian Williamson, eldest daughter of Samuel Williamson, of Brown's Flat. Miss Williamson is a recent graduate of the Margaret Phillips Hospital of Concord, N. H. On her graduation her efficiency and popularity were recognized by an invitation to become head nurse of that institution, and by numerous gifts from members of the staff and sister nurses. As Hiram Sees It

"I see some professor up in Ontario he got a new name for petater balls," said Mr. Hiram Hornbeam to the Times reporter. "I see that," said the reporter. "Seems to be a great curiosity up there," said Hiram. "Some feller got a story into the papers that they had tomatoes growin' on petater stalks, an' the yarn went all over this country an' the States, too. Now this here professor feller he calls 'em petater apples. Say, you know mind fifty year ago when they was a big bunch of petater balls on every stalk in the field? We used to sharpen a stick an' spear 'em an' see who could throw 'em the furthest. We called 'em petater balls—'em that's what they was. I hadn't seen 'em for long 'd forgot all about 'em till this here yarn about petater-tomatoes an' petater-apples was started by the newspapers. You fellers is alwus lookin' fer some kind of a yarn to set people talkin'. No you jist tell that professor fer me that them things he's talkin' about is petater balls—'em they're as old as petaters is—yes, sir."
