Complete Surrender of Austria-Hungary; Terms Open Whole Country To Allies For Use In Operations Against Germany

THE CONDITIONS ON WHICH THE ALLIES LET UP

Washington, Nov. 4—Terms of armistice under which the land and sea forces of what once was the Austro-Hungarian empire have laid down their arms, were announced today simultaneously in Washington and the allied capitals.

From this drastic document, it may be stated, may be gleaned an accurate outline of the conditions nearing completion in the supreme war council at Versailles under which Germany may have a cessation of hostilities.

The terms of the Austrian armistice with parenthetical explanations of minor errors in cable transmission were announced by the state department today as follows:

The terms, under which the debate on the Italian front ended today at 3 p. m. (9 a. m. eastern American time), include complete demobilization of Austrian forces, surrender of one-half of all artillery and military equipment; occupation by American and allied forces of such strategic places as may later be selected; use of Austrian railroads for operations against Germany; evacuation of all invaded territory, leaving behind all equipment and supplies including coal; surrender of a portion of the Austrian surface and submarine fleets and disarmament of others under American and allied control; surrender of all German submarines in Austrian waters and repatriation of allied and American prisoners without reciprocity.

Evacuation of Austrian territory roughly corresponds to the boundary lines claimed by Italy under the Italia Irredenta or treaty of London programme. The right of occupation by allied forces is reserved, local authorities to maintain order under allied supervision.

FOCH TO DIRECT

The terms of the armistice are to be carried out under the direction of Marshal Foch, who will designate material to be turned over, and supervise the movement of Austro-Hungarian forces to the rear.

All German troops in Austria-Hungary, Italy or the Balkans must be out or interned within fifteen days.

Destruction of any property by retreating forces is specifically forbidden. Ships to be surrendered include fifteen modern Austrian submarines, three battleships, three light cruisers, nine destroyers, twelve torpedo boats, one mine layer and six Danube monitors to be designated by the Allies. All other war craft are to be concentrated and dismantled under allied direction.

Free navigation of all Austrian waters by both the war and commercial fleets of the Allies is provided for.

All enemy naval aircraft are to be put out of commission and concentrated under allied control. All Austrian harbor and other equipment in occupied Italian ports is to be left untouched.

The Danube route is to be kept open by the occupation or dismantling of fortresses to be selected by the allied commander. The existing blockade of the Allies against Austria remains unchanged, Austrian ships being liable to capture where found except where a commission, to be named later, provides otherwise.

All fortresses protecting Austrian naval bases or stations are to be occupied and the arsenal at Pola is specially surrendered. All allied craft held by Austria are to be returned immediately.

The only organized military force Austria is permitted to retain is limited to that necessary to maintain order on her own borders.

Rome, Nov. 3—Bonfires are burning tonight on all the hills throughout Italy, spreading far and wide the news of the occupation of Trieste. Church bells are ringing and guns are being fired. All the windows in Rome were illuminated tonight, regardless of the police orders concerning restricted lighting.

By a strange coincidence the Italians entered Trieste on the feast day of St. Justus, the patron saint of the redeemed city, which all the population, including the Jews, used to celebrate under Austrian rule as a patriotic demonstration of their Italian nationality.

On arrival at this port Spanish influenza showed itself among the crew and it was not long before every member was affected. Mrs. Avis also contracted the disease, to which she succumbed. She is survived by her husband and four children. Captain Avis is well known in local shipping circles and the deepest sympathy will go out to him in his great bereavement.

THE VICTORY LOAN

Some New Features in The Local Drive—Entering on Second Week

To make St. John have the highest per capita subscription list in the whole Dominion of Canada is now the object of the Victory Loan workers in this city. This announcement was made at the headquarters office in Prince William street this afternoon. With the total subscription in the city and county now standing at $2,500,000, the outlook is exceptionally good provided a good head of steam is kept up and the work driven under pressure.

It was also announced today that the number of subscribers is greater than last year and the average amount contributed to each subscriber is much larger than the average of the preceding loan in the city. It is reported that next week there will be no word workers, but each and every salesman may use his own judgment and work wherever he pleases. Then a large number of commercial travelers will be drafted into the work, and about 200 female workers will lend their services.

It is to be impressed upon the citizens that next week the man, woman or child who does not wear a victory bond, will be held up and asked whether or not he or she will purchase. It will be taken as an indication that a person has not purchased a bond if there is no button displayed.

The highways, the by-ways and hedges of the city and county will be scoured by this efficient corps of workers, and the list of names will be believed will put St. John above its quota.

The St. John workers are much handicapped in their efforts at the present time by the lack of automobile accommodations and an appeal goes out from headquarters asking citizens who own cars to place them at the disposal of the workers for a few hours each day. If they cannot be loaned the entire day, it will not be necessary to supply chauffeurs for the committee has made arrangements with the O. C. Motor Battalion to furnish experienced chauffeurs whenever needed. The committee will be wholly responsible for any damage that may result from the operation of the cars.

Rogersville had the pleasure this morning of pinning a crown to its honor flag, having reached a total twenty-five per cent above its quota. Westfield reached its quota this morning and is awarded an honor flag and is now after a crown. Loggieville now has the flag and three crowns and expects to be fourth before the end of the week which will mean that this hustling community has over-subscribed its quota 100 per cent.

Window cards are issued to those purchasing bonds and it is pointed out that in the house to house canvass to be instituted this week that window cards should be displayed prominently in those homes where bonds have been purchased. These cards may be had at the Imperial theatre office or at other sales-offices if they are not already being sent.

A long distance call was received this morning to that country and subdivision with the request that a total to date be forwarded to provincial headquarters here immediately. When these returns are received it will then be possible for the central committee to issue a state report giving a very close estimate of the provincial subscriptions to date.

In Upper Gloucester the epidemic is playing havoc with the subscriptions. This county area is reported something like $18,000 to date, last year had about $80,000 to its credit but reports from the canvassers will show a reversion of form in Upper Gloucester.

The success of the King square Victory Loan meetings justifies their continuance this week. Tonight Hon. W. E. Foster, premier of the province, a returned military officer, and W. J. S. Myles, principal of the high school, will be the speakers. Some striking pictures will be put on. Lieut. Colonel McAvity has consented to provide a military band for each evening.

Booths for the sale of the Imperial bonds will be open at the Imperial on King square and in some of the stores nearby. Suggests a Half Holiday. Steve Matthews, who is one of the most enthusiastic boosters for the Victory Loan, suggests a half-holiday this week, perhaps on Saturday, with a band to play and a market square and a procession of Victory-bond holders to King square, for a great rally to get more subscriptions. The evening meetings at the square have brought forth a goodly number of subscribers that might otherwise not have been reached.

PROPERTY HOLDERS AND THE ASSESSMENT

Street Matter Comes Up at City Hall—No Results From Bills Sent Out

Only one matter was taken up at the committee meeting of the common council this morning and that but tentatively. Mayor Hayes broached the question of the objection of property holders in Union street to paying assessment upon the improvement of the street, on the ground that other thoroughfares had been similarly improved and the property holders abutting were not required to meet any special assessment for such work.

The chamberlain has issued his bills and they have met with no response. He must now either enforce payment or pass the bills up and write them off his books. A special meeting will be held tomorrow morning to discuss this matter and come to some final understanding.

Commissioner Fisher's Suggestion. Owing to the noon celebration of the Austrian capitulation, no further matters were taken up, but before adjournment, Commissioner Fisher placed observations before the commissioners for their consideration. They included the matter of a plebiscite on the question of limited local assessments versus general taxation alone for paving and other improvements, and the views of the council on the matter be prepared and submitted to the people.

—BUY-VICTORY BONDS— FINE OF $200 IN EXTRACT CASE. Albert Murray was in the police court this morning on a charge of being drunk and having lemon extract in his possession. He was fined $20 and two months in jail for having the extract.

This is really the first fine to be struck for having the extract. The magistrate has been continually warning persistent offenders that he would strike the fine. He has told them per cent above its quota. Westfield reached its quota this morning and is awarded an honor flag and is now after a crown. Loggieville now has the flag and three crowns and expects to be fourth before the end of the week which will mean that this hustling community has over-subscribed its quota 100 per cent.

Approves Health Board. Rev. Dr. J. A. Morrison said to the Times this morning that he was in hearty accord with the health authorities in keeping churches and other places of assembly closed until the danger from the epidemic is past.

"I am one of those concerned," said Dr. Morrison, "but people are dying. The situation is still bad, and there should be no haste in this matter. Fairville Vendor.

Citizens of Fairville are complaining because there has not been a temporary vendor appointed during the present epidemic. Numerous letters were cited to Times representative where patients suffering from pneumonia were badly in need of a stimulant for the heart and none was available. They contend that it is unfair.

In Amherst. News—Up to Friday evening seven deaths from influenza had been reported in Amherst. There have been about 400 cases reported in the town since the first of the week. The number of cases reported by nine doctors a few days ago. Last week the daily number of cases ran into three figures, since Wednesday there has been a decrease of over fifty per cent. Very few patients are reported in a serious condition and it is hoped that danger of a serious epidemic is growing more remote daily.

The new influenza emergency hospital at West Hill is pretty well in shape now and by Tuesday patients will be admitted there. J. H. Barnstead, provincial registrar of births and deaths, has officially reported 281 deaths in Halifax during October, as against 188 for the corresponding period in 1917. Of these ninety-eight were due to influenza, and twenty-five of them were civilians, the balance being composed of soldiers and sailors, including several aliens.

Winnipeg, Nov. 3.—Following the deplorable loss of 558 cases on Friday, only 315 new cases of influenza were reported on Wednesday, with 906 deaths. Today's returns, however, are considerably better, with only 112 cases reported and nine deaths among civilians being reported.

The returns of the week end being the best since October 3 up to 4,138 with 906 deaths. Victims of influenza. The death occurred at Cross Creek on Friday of Mrs. Frank McClay. THE WAR NEWS AND WALL STREET

New York, Nov. 4.—War news over the week-end including Austria's surrender, imparted strength to peacemongers in the first half hour of today's trading. Mexican Petroleum led with a gain of seven points, Royal Dutch coming next with a five point advance and Marine preferred rising two points. Ralls also made a good showing, Transcontinental featuring that section at gains of one to almost two points. Steels, coppers and motors averaged one point advance, but these were soon forfeited in part. Inermet attached to the initial dealings in the new Liberty 4-4's, the first transaction in that issue consisting of one lot of $8,500,000 at 98, two per cent under the subscription price.

Noon Report. Aside from further selling of war shares and specialties, including Samatra Tobacco, which broke about ten points, the market continued to strengthen under the influence of rails and shipping. Grangers and coalers, also shares of trunk lines and southern roads, devalued investment demand with specialties. The market closed with a net gain of one-half point but rallied quickly. Oils became dull on irregular reactions. Further heavy sales of the new Liberty 4-4's were recorded at the opening price of 98. French municipal bonds were very strong and Anglo-French 5's below the market.

FREDERICTON SOLDIERS IN CASUALTY LIST. Fredericton, Nov. 4.—Private Ernest Horncastle, son of Harry Horncastle of this city, has had his left leg shattered below the knee. He was carried to a dressing station by two Huns.

Private Cecil Love, son of Rev. J. J. Love and Mrs. Love of Fredericton, was reported critically ill. He left with the first contingent in 1914 when he was sixteen years old. Private Stuart Love, his brother, is in hospital with gunshot wounds.

Gunner Temple Sutherland, son of W. H. Sutherland of Fredericton, was admitted to hospital on Oct. 28 suffering from shell gas. —BUY-VICTORY BONDS—SIR LOUIS SWORN IN. Ottawa, Nov. 4.—The Duke of Devonshire, attended by his aides, proceeded to the supreme court this morning where he administered the oath of office to Sir Louis Davies, recently appointed chief justice of the dominion. Hon. F. B. Carvell was among those present at the ceremony.

—BUY-VICTORY BONDS—CAPTAIN LOUNSBURY TO ROYAL AIR FORCE. London, Nov. 4.—(Canadian Associated Press)—Capt. C. H. Lounsbury of New Brunswick is gazetted to the Royal Air Force.

—BUY-VICTORY BONDS—THE MANTOUIN ELECTION. (Kingston Standard). The result of the Mantouin election is no credit to the winners—the farmers and Methodists, though they have won. The election was against the agreement made with the Premier of Ontario that there should be no contested elections, but to the credit of the Liberals they took no active part in it. It was fought as a mean and unpatriotic protest against farmers' claims being recognized. It is the line which the United Farmers are going to take in the affairs of the country and the Empire then special care must be taken to see that at every election they are opposed and beaten.

—BUY-VICTORY BONDS—FAMOUS SOCIALIST. Dr. Carl Liebknecht, who has just been released from prison, is probably the most striking figure in German socialism and one of the few Socialist leaders in that country who have consistently stood against the government in its war policies. He was arrested in Berlin on May 1, 1916, on the charge of participating in riots on that day in the German capital. In the following month he was tried on the charge of attempted high treason, gross insubordination and resistance to the authorities. The trial was held behind closed doors, and sentenced to thirty months' penal servitude and dismissal from the army.

This sentence caused great disorders among the Socialists of Berlin, Stuttgart, Leipzig and other cities. An appeal was taken as a result of which the court sentenced Dr. Liebknecht to six years and one month, in addition to forfeiting his civil rights for six years. It has been alleged that Dr. Liebknecht was in possession of important documents showing that Austria was forced by the German leaders into war against the wishes of Vienna and Budapest.

ANOTHER SMASH BY HAIG TODAY

(Continued from page 1.) RUN AWAY. BUT NOT ROUT. With the American Army northwest of Verdun, Nov. 3, 7 p. m.—(By the Associated Press)—More than 4,000 prisoners were captured by the Americans in this sector today. The number of guns and other booty is steadily growing. The right flank of the American line is now at Hailles, on the heights overlooking the Meuse River.

It has not been a day of fighting as much as of pursuit. The Germans are not retreating in great disorder and their withdrawal cannot be called a rout, but the general staff and the field officers have lost control to a certain extent. All parts of the line were active during last night. The left wing continued its advance with little interruption, even after darkness had fallen.

Nearing Sedan. With the American Army on the Sedan, Nov. 4, 9:25 a. m.—(By the Associated Press)—American troops pushing forward northwest towards Sedan early last night had reached Sommeville, five miles north of Bunancy and thirteen miles south of Sedan.

The centre of the advancing line is held by troops from New York, Maryland and West Virginia. To the right and left of them are regulars and troops from New York, New Jersey, the District of Columbia, Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Colorado and New Mexico.

Near Metz. London, Nov. 4.—Railways and air-line hangars in the region east of Metz were attacked today by the British independent air force, says an official statement issued this afternoon. Washington, Nov. 4.—The first American army has captured dominating heights from the Germans northwest of Verdun and brought under the fire of its heavy guns the important railroads at Mont Midy, Longvion and Conflans. General Pershing reports in his Sunday evening communique, announcing an advance for the first army of twelve miles on an eight mile front in three days. Prisoners captured numbered more than 5,000 and guns more than 100.

SHOT TISZA IN HIS OWN HOUSE IN WIFE'S PRESENCE

Three Soldiers Invaded Drawing Room, Charged Him With Being Responsible for War and Killed Him

Amsterdam, Nov. 3.—The Berlin Voessische Zeitung contains a dramatic description of the assassination of Count Stephen Tisza, former premier of Hungary.

At six o'clock in the evening three soldiers invaded the drawing room of Tisza's residence. He with his wife and the Countess Almásy, advanced to meet the intruders, asking what they wanted.

"What have you in your hand?" a soldier demanded of Tisza. Tisza replied that he held a revolver. The soldier told him to put it away, but Tisza replied: "I shall not, because you have not laid aside your rifles."

The soldiers then requested the women to leave the room, but they declined to do so. A soldier then addressed Tisza as follows: "You are responsible for the destruction of millions of people, because you caused the war."

Then raising their rifles the soldiers shouted: "The hour of reckoning has come." The soldiers fired three shots as Tisza fell. His last words were: "I am dying. It had to be."

The soldiers quitted the house accompanied by gendarmes previously employed to guard the door.

LINER REACHES PORT WITH HER LIGHTS ABLAZE

Usual Precautions Thrown Aside After Receipt of a Wireless Message

An Atlantic Port, Nov. 3.—A large French liner arrived here during the night with all her lights ablaze. This unusual procedure in war time was due, according to passengers, to a wireless message picked up at sea which caused the captain to order paint scraped from the vessel's port holes to permit illumination of the decks.

While the contents of the wireless message were not made known to the passengers, many of them landed today with the impression that peace had been concluded with Germany and that "freedom of the seas" had been restored.

Among the arrivals was Hans Sulzer, Swiss minister to the United States, who came to seek an extension of the commercial arrangements with this country, which expired on Sept. 30, as to grants as well as other food supplies.

Switzerland, he said, had to feed not only the Swiss people but also 30,000 English, French and German soldiers who are interned here.

ONLY THE HUN.

Austria is out of the war. Germany, the bully of the nations, the arch-criminal, must now choose, and choose quickly, between abject surrender and the relentless invasion of her own territory. The Allies are free to gather their forces, sweep through Austria, and assail Germany on the Bavarian frontier, or up the Danube valley or through Bohemia. It may be assumed that whatever the German-Austrians and the Hungarians may do, and they certainly will not commit overt acts against the Allies, the Poles, Czechs-Slovaks and Jugos-Slavs will do everything in their power to aid their deliverers and break down the last stronghold of autocracy.

The fast days of the fighting on the Italian front made glorious history for Italy, and for the British and French, and American soldiers who shared in the victorious advance. Not less thrilling was the news that came last night from the western front, where the Germans were in headlong retreat before the Belgians, British, French and Americans, suffering heavy losses in men and material. A terrible foretaste of what is in store for them if they go on fighting was given by the great squadrons of Allied airplanes, which with bombs and machine-gun decimated their ranks and destroyed their communications. The dullest German must now be able to realize what further fighting means, and the war-lords must realize that they stand in the shadow of doom.

It is really difficult to realize the stupendous change that has come in the last three months, and especially since Bulgaria threw up the sponge. Anxiety is now at an end, except for the lives of those who are still on the fighting line, and a possible fear that the victors may be too lenient with the murderers. If the latter choose to fight on, they will be able to destroy many noble lives, but the Allies must finish their task. Prussianism must be crushed, autocracy must be overthrown, and order must be brought out of chaos in Russia. The next move is up to Germany, and the world waits to hear whether she has learned her lesson or must be further beaten into submission.

LEST WE FORGET.

So many and so terrible have been the arrangements of Germany for so crimes committed in this war, and so accustomed have people become to new horrors, that it is a little difficult to feel now as they feel when the conviction was first forced upon them that there was a professed Christian nation more faithless and savage and murderous than the most barbarous people of whom history has given any record.

Mr. Archibald Hurd, in his book, Ordeal By Sea, just published by Jarrolds, Limited, London, which tells the story of the British seamen's fight for freedom, sets before the reader with deadly accuracy and moving power the sea-crimes of Germany, and makes us understand why British seamen have pledged themselves to have no more to do with German ships and ports and merchandise. To read the book is to experience again that feeling of horror and of loathing inspired by the sinking of the Lusitania; the shelling of defenceless coast towns; the sinking of hospital ships; the taking of life-bells from the crew of a British trawler and then submerging to leave the men to drown; the devilish laughter that greeted the seizure of members of a British boat's crew by sharks when their boat had been sunk; the murder of Capt. Fryatt;—and all the long list of murderous acts which have revealed the German in a true light as the arch-enemy of human history.

This book, Ordeal By Sea, should be read for two reasons: First, because it reveals the dauntless heroism and the nobility of the British seaman; and, second, because it shows how utterly insane would be any policy based upon reliance placed in the faith, or the humanity of Germany. It is a glorious record for Britain's men of the sea, but a terrible and unanswerable indictment of the Hun.

Consider the courage of seamen who were on torpedoed vessels time after time and on their return to port shipped immediately on other vessels in order that there should be no interruption of the movement of food and supplies for their country. Consider the fishermen facing death in an awful form in order to keep up the food supply. Consider the crews of torpedoed vessels standing by to render every assistance to others, recking not of their own lives. Consider the engineers and wireless operators and firemen remaining at their posts and going down with the ship. Then by contrast think of the Prussian soldier prisoners on a torpedoed hospital ship in the Channel, who had to be beaten back from the life-boats to give the wounded and nurses a chance, and who actually seized one boat and in their frenzy overturned it and fell into the sea.

Mr. Hurd shows that every article of the code of the brotherhood of the sea, as it is and has been recognized and observed by the free nations of the earth, has been violated by the Germans. From the actual record he tells the story of submarine atrocities, and by contrast cites from history instances of how different has been the record of the British, French, American and other navies. He takes up and exposes clearly the falsehood of the German excuses put forth in palliation of their crimes. Contrasting British and German, he says: "On the one hand the world has witnessed a triumphant vindication of those principles of law and humanity which the civilized peoples hold in common; on the other it has watched the rising crescendo of outrage committed by men professing to be the agents of 'Kultur.' German sailors have broken the vows of the brotherhood of the sea as no pirates in the past ever broke them, to expiate their crimes on the gallows, for the modern Huns have not only destroyed property, sending millions of pounds' worth of goods to the bottom of the sea to rot, but they have strewn the beds of the oceans with thousands of corpses of unarmed men, defenceless women and little children, their souls stainless before the eyes of God and man. That constitutes the condemnation of Germany for all time, and the spirit in which the sailors of our blood have opposed those acts represents a glorious record which will never be forgotten."

Let it be said that the German sailors and soldiers did not represent the real German people, Mr. Hurd reproduces the medal which was struck in Munich to commemorate the sinking of the Lusitania, with 1,198 lives, and quotes a German newspaper which said: "With joyful pride we contemplate this latest deed of our navy, and it will not be the last." The Cologne Gazette said: "The news will be received by the German people with unanimous satisfaction." In a number of instances the German people actually formed one city a committee for a national gift to start a collection for a national gift to the mothers of helpless men, women and children.

It is well to have this record in mind in these days when Germany is trying to get by diplomacy what she failed to get by murder and pillage. The better war news should so cheer the people of St. John and the province at large as to prompt them to make the Victory Loan a complete success. The money is needed and the people can subscribe every dollar assigned to this province without hardship to themselves. Not only so, but they will be putting aside something for a rainy day.

Today's cables tell of further barbarity perpetrated by the Germans in Belgium. The supreme war council at Versailles should take note of it. A Victory Loan in Germany just now would not be over-subscribed. It's different in Canada. Have you got your bond? Go up to King square tonight and buy a Victory Bond—if you have not already bought one. Emperor Charles is prepared to abdicate. The Kaiser's turn should come soon. Every hour on the western front Foch is giving Germany another reason for a revolution. The men at the front have gone across. Have you come across yet? Buy a bond. This must be the big week for Victory bond sales. Help it along.

JUST LIKE ST. JOHN. (Ottawa Journal-Press.) Several letters have been written to The Journal recently complaining that the "No Spitting By-Law" is not being enforced in Ottawa at the present time as strictly as the health situation would seem to demand. We fear there is a good deal of justification for these complaints.

For several years after the passage of the bylaw there was a marked improvement and, doubtless, even today the conditions are not as bad as they were before the regulation was passed against the disgusting practice. It would be a pity, however, if the bylaw should be allowed to take its place among that rather large number of other bylaws honored in the breach. Possibly the attention that has been drawn to the matter will cause the chief of police to remind his men of their duty in this regard.

With the Allied Armies in France and Belgium, Nov. 3.—(By the Associated Press, noon)—The Franco-Belgian troops this morning had reached a line within five miles of Ghent. French cavalry last night were reported at St. Denis-West-rem railway station, about three miles southwest of the city.

In the meantime French and American forces occupied Audenarde, farther south. Americans had battled their way across the Scheldt between Ghent and Eyne, to the north of Audenarde. The Allied line in front of Ghent at latest reports lay approximately north to south, through Oostvelde, Vinderhaute, east of Wildendriesch and Laethem-St. Martin, with cavalry advancing toward Ghent from the southwest. Valenciennes this morning was virtually free of German machine gunners who were left behind to fight rear guard actions when the enemy withdrew on Friday night, and today lay well behind the consolidated British line, which ran approximately between St. Sautve and Peseau, both of which places were captured yesterday.

Five thousand civilians had remained behind in Valenciennes throughout the fighting. The remainder, about 20,000, were evacuated by the Germans during the last week, principally to Mons. Some of the residents yesterday and last night lost their lives as a result of a further enemy bombardment with high explosives and gas shells. The correspondent entered the city this morning through the western gate. All the bridges across the Scheldt had been destroyed by the retreating Germans. The outskirts of the place were in ruins from the bombardment. The "City of Loos," which it was expected might be found virtually intact, was a sad sight until the centre of the municipality was reached. Here practically no damage was done. The "Grand Place" with the beautiful Hotel De Ville, was intact except for trifling marks from two stray shells. The Canadians had established a satisfactory line east of Valenciennes by nightfall yesterday. Within the city remained the work of mopping up the German machine gunners hidden in buildings and waiting to snipe the advancing troops. The Canadians went about the business systematically and by this morning had accounted for every German so far as they knew.

SALTING AND "SOAKING" FISH.

Clean and head the fish and put them in salt brine for five or six days. At the end of that time take them out and wash them in fresh water, scrubbing off all the slime with a brush. Then put them in wooden kegs and pour over them more brine of the same strength. Sprinkle a little rock salt in each fish when placing it in the keg for the second time. There should be sufficient brine to cover the fish and if they show a tendency to float put a round board in the keg to hold them down. Should the brine become milky or discolored after a few weeks the fish should be taken out of the keg, washed and scrubbed and fresh brine added as before. Third brining will be sufficient to keep them for an indefinite period. After this treatment they will keep for two or three years at least. Soak in fresh cold water for at least twenty-four hours before they are used.

Food Board Flash

The Commission for Relief in Belgium, of which Mr. Hoover is chairman, has a big proposition before it today in providing food, clothing and shelter for the 260,000 refugees who are estimated to be on the roads from Lille, Roubaix and Belgian towns near the front. They are slowly progressing towards the Dutch frontier in an endeavor to escape into Holland.

If the Germans withdraw from Belgium without seizing the native food supplies, the population will endure no greater hardships than at present. If, on the other hand, the Germans in evacuating, seize the internal food supply and especially the few remaining dairy cattle, on which the babies' milk supply depends, the situation will be appalling. In an effort to cope with the food situation the Commission for Relief in Belgium shipped 180,000 tons of food to Rotterdam during September.

PLAYED WIFE'S FAVORITE BEFORE JOINING HER

Adam Bombagh has played the "Ave Maria" on his beloved violin for the last time. Neighbors missed the plaintive strains on Sunday, and it will be some time before they become accustomed to the silence of his house at 108 Cornelia avenue, East Rutherford, N. J. The children used to wheedle him for gay tunes until three months ago, when Bombagh's wife committed suicide, after a long struggle with ill health. Since that time he has played nothing but the "Ave Maria," his wife's favorite.

Bombagh started early Sunday to visit the grave of his wife in Ledawanna Cemetery. At night his son, John, became alarmed when he did not return, and went to search for him. Across the grave lay Bombagh's body, one hand holding his violin in its accustomed place under his chin, the other a revolver, with which he had put a bullet through his brain. Beside him was a note, which read:

"My poor boy, forgive me. I have left you alone in the world, but I go to your mother. I played the 'Ave Maria' first, because that brings me nearer her. Take the violin, which is all I have. Be a good boy and be careful with your music."

PRaise FOR THE SHELL WORKS IN DOMINION

In its summary of the iron, steel, metal and machinery markets for the week ended Oct. 31, Canadian Machinery and Manufacturing News, Toronto, makes the following observations:—The warehousing business in Canada is surely coming to the point where it works in rather uncertain channels. For a long time material of less than one-eighth inch in thickness was not included in the embargoed list, and firms that had a good connection at United States rolling mills had little trouble in "carrying on."

Even when the War Trade Board turned down an application for the release of certain material—particularly plate—they often did so with the recommendation to "use some lighter material." This provided an easy way out, but now this lighter material is under the same ban. Canadian shops maintain a very high standard of efficiency on shell work. A party of French mechanical experts are in Canada at present, under the guidance of an interpreter from the dominion government. They have been in the United States for some months in connection with French orders. They state positively that in point of production and the well-planned arrangement of the sequence of operations, Canadian shell shops are absolutely the best in the business.

Inquiries for equipment in machine tool circles are mostly for 165 mm. contractors. Those shops that are producing now are in much better position to add, piece by piece, to increase their output, than new plants are to go out for an entire outfit. Dealers have odd machines on standing orders, and delivery in this way is comparatively rapid. Supplies were sent forward this week for the mechanical equipment that is to accompany the Canadian expeditionary force to Siberia. Apparently nothing is being lost sight of that will be needed to make the force self-sustaining so far as repairs are concerned. Shipment was made to the embarking point at Vancouver. United States War Industries Board has given notice that the manufacture of

The lesson is plain. Invest as much as you can in Victory Bonds. It is profitable for you to hold your bonds. THE WAR INDUSTRIES OF THE MARITIMES

Shall they lag for want of money?

WHILE the whole of Canada is called upon to produce with feverish activity the food, clothes, shoes and the thousand and one other war needs that must be supplied for Canada's fighting men, it is to these Provinces—the Maritime Provinces—that our armies look for those supplies that are peculiarly the products of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island.

Iron and steel is perhaps the greatest need of all. We have the mines and industries to produce them.

Ships are needed with a need that is imperative and pressing. We are building them.

Timber is needed for those ships and for a hundred war-time uses. Our forests are providing them.

Fish, fruit, hay, potatoes and many other natural products of the Maritimes are in enormous demand. We are supplying them.

These and other Maritime industries have been speeded up—how?

By the energy of our people? Yes, by that and something more.

Our energy would count for naught without money.

And the money to finance these great achievements in production has been provided by Canada's war loans.

Canada must keep up the glorious effort she is making, and for this she must have money—money which she must obtain from her people.

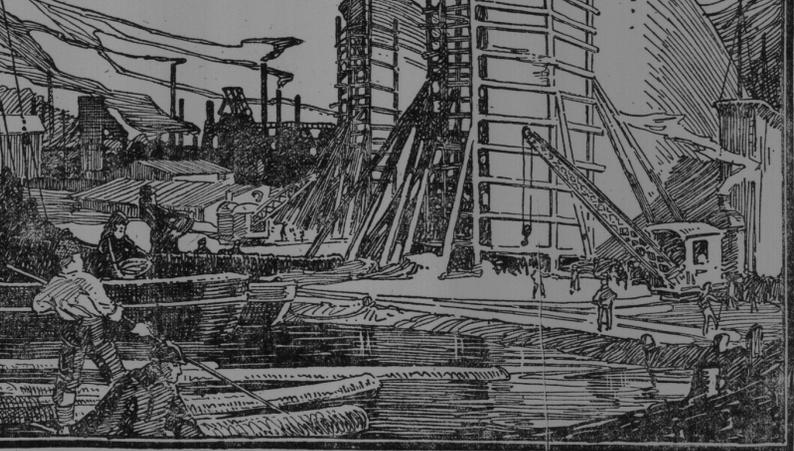

And the men of the Maritimes will supply their share of the needed money. They will eagerly come forward with their applications for Victory Bonds.

Never laggards in war or in work, they will to their utmost, not only to the limit of their resources but to the very limit of their credit.

THE BRITISH ARMY.
(From Despatch to the London Times From War Correspondent's Headquarters, Oct. 1.)
Never have the British armies been more admirable than they are today. The spirit of the men is incomparable, and I venture to doubt if so splendid a fighting machine was ever brought into being as has been created under Sir Douglas Haig here. The magnificent character of our organization and the superb co-ordination of every part of the huge, complex machine in the intricate and complicated operations of this last week have been incredible and faultless. Our strength has been tested in the last years in victory and in retreat, and we have learned from both. Considering the enormous strain to which the armies were subjected this summer, and the character of those armies themselves, with the great quantity of new material which they contain, the perfection of all the movements in all their huge scope and completeness of every detail of organization, transport and supply, coupled with the indescribable great-heartedness and cheery determination and discipline of the troops of every grade, in every branch, have been things which no one could have seen without marvelling, and before which any whisper of criticism must be stilled. No nation ever had such right to be proud of its armies, from the highest command to the lowest rank, as Great Britain has to be proud of hers today.

THE SEA AND THE FLEET.
(London Daily Chronicle.)
American soldiers who reach Europe are impressed by two wonders—the wonder of the sea and the wonder of the British navy. “The eternal distance at first oppressed us,” says one, “for it seemed impossible that any navy could police such a space. Yet everything was safe and snug. Only one excitement—a ship which did not signal satisfactorily. A converted cruiser simply leapt there to get the right answer. Then the destroyers and the saucy skimming torpedo-launches in the dancer zone! Not a peep of danger anywhere. We said among ourselves: ‘This, then, is what British sea power means.’”

Who is it in France you are most interested in—a husband, a brother, a son, a friend you long to see again?
Picture this boy, trudging, tired and sleepy, back from the trenches.

He sees posted up at an army hut a notice of the overwhelming success of the Victory Loan 1918.

He sees the notice posted that more Canadians bought Victory Bonds than in any previous loan, that money to carry on the fight is assured.

He sees that his self-sacrifice, his courage and self-denial are appreciated, that mighty battalions of Canadian money are marching to reinforce him.

Can't you see his tired face brighten?

Can't you see him hitch his pack and shift his gun with renewed resolve?

What a mental bracer this bulletin will be to the Army of Brave Souls who fight that we may be free?

If Canada-at-home will keep constantly before it the picture of Canada-in-France, then every previous record of investment in Canada will be shattered by the message we will send to our army when the Victory Loan 1918 is closed.

The Rodgers shooting case was resumed in Sussex Saturday before Judge Folkins. After several witnesses were heard the judge adjourned the case until after the epidemic ban has been lifted.

William M. Ryan is appearing for the defendant McDermott and J. M. McIntyre, K. C., for the crown. Benjamin Varnar testified that he was with McDermott at the time of the alleged shooting. He swore that McDermott shot at an animal, sighted in the direction opposite to the barn where young Rodgers was working. He said that no one, as far as he saw, shot in the direction of the barn.

Fred Cutrie, Thomas Barnes and Jas. Armstrong also testified.

Toronto, Ont., Nov. 4—Hon. T. W. McGarry, provincial treasurer of Ontario, has written to G. R. "Let me say," he writes, "it is the intention of this government, at the next session of the legislature, to pass such an amendment to the act as will exclude from payment of succession duty in the province of Ontario Victory Loan bonds held by a person domiciled at the time of his death in another province, although registered at Ottawa."

Coughlan helped the Tigers to capture the American League pennants of 1907 and 1908, and it seems an odd turn of fate that the rival saptains of the world series of those two seasons, Coughlan and Evers, should work side by side for the soldiers and the K. of C.

Leading health authorities say that breathing superheated, dried, indoor air produces more Headaches, Colds, La Grippe and Pneumonia than all other causes combined.

THE RADIATOR HUMIDIFYING PAN offers a natural relief from the injuries of impure indoor air. When filled with water and placed on the back of any steam or hot water radiator, between the radiator and the wall out of sight, it evaporates the water, rapidly converting the dry, vitiated indoor air into a moist, healthful atmosphere that Nature requires and good health demands. PREPARE FOR THE BIG DAY OF CELEBRATION

Special Meeting of Council This Afternoon

Possibly a Public Holiday in Saint John But at Anyrate the Council Means to Have Plans Ready for Rejoicing on German Collapse

While the Victory Loan drive continues to be pressed forward with all speed, St. John is preparing for a German capitulation and peace. It was decided at the meeting of the council this morning that a special session be held this afternoon to form the nucleus of a big celebration programme when the German war lords accept the Versailles council's armistice terms.

"No doubt when the war ends it will be more or less of a gradual process, but the German capitulation may come at any moment," said Mayor Hayes, "and if we desire to have one day of big celebration to let loose," he continued, "I think we should have some preparations made. Possibly it will be thought necessary to declare a holiday, and if the German collapse comes upon us suddenly, which I think it will, then most assuredly we must be prepared."

The other commissioners concurred in this opinion, and this afternoon the council will meet to discuss the whole matter. Lieut.-Colonel James L. McAvity and other prominent military men in the city will be invited to be present at the meeting and act jointly with the council in the preparations for the big celebration.

HOW ST. JOHN TOOK NOTE OF THE SURRENDER OF THE AUSTRIANS

Spontaneous and unlike any other celebration held in St. John since the great war began was the silent and heart-felt thanksgiving outlined in every face at noon today when a crowd assembled at the head of King street to celebrate the Austrian surrender, but everyone was filled with an unspeakable joy since the brave music rendered by the Depot Battalion band.

It was something of a coincidence that as the band was playing "O Canada," and the bars concurrent with the words, "O Canada we stand on guard for thee," that the noon hour struck and hundreds of factory and steam boat whistles were loosed and filled the city with their shrill screams of joy because one of Canada's greatest enemies had "kissed the dust." It was a defiance as well to the only remaining nation threatening the happiness and liberty of the world, and whose downfall is now so imminent.

It had been cloudy all the morning and nature was not in her most jovial mood, but while the band played and friends met and congratulated one another upon the success of allied arms overseas the sun showed himself and beamed good cheer upon the happy throng. In the crowd was the returned soldier, still in uniform, with his wound stripes prominently displayed upon his faded tunic that had seen much service. There was the mother whose son was "over there" and who could not return after the last gun had been fired, but she was happy in the knowledge that he who slept had fought and had been an atom in the scheme of things which after weary months had won the war for freedom and the heartfelt thanks of a Christian world.

Possibly to the casual observer there was little in the celebration to begot enthusiasm but to one who studied the faces of those about him it was like a beautiful masterpiece of city, Madonna and the child, without inscription, but understood and revered in feelings too deep for expression, which made it all the more beautiful.

Before the band played the national anthem Stephen C. Matthews recited a patriotic poem on the Victory Loan campaign after which Mayor Hayes spoke briefly about the great achievements of the allies and then called for three cheers, which was given with great zest by the gathering.

The band played its last selection—the soldiers stood sharply at attention and swung down Charlotte street—the people turned toward their homes knowing that for a little they had been brought very near to the heart of things.

Matter of Harry Quinn Gone Into —The Circumstances Renewed and Judgment of Court Given in Matter of Interest

That the liquor inspectors under the prohibition law have the authority to search a person's pockets if they be under suspicion was the verdict of the magistrate in delivering judgment this afternoon in the case of the Crown vs. Harry Quinn, charged with interfering with Liquor Inspector Robert McAlinh in the discharge of his duties on Oct. 22. Quinn was informed that he was liable to a fine of $80 but the case was allowed to rest as two reputable persons had spoken to the court in Quinn's behalf.

The judgment was as follows: THE KING VS. HARRY QUINN. Interfering with Robert McAlinh, local liquor inspector, in the legal discharge of his duty. Oct. 22nd, 1918.

The indisputed facts as disclosed on the hearing are that the inspector saw the defendant Quinn walking up Peters street; observed the defendant through the glass in the automobile. Defendant went up as far as Coburg street, stood at the corner peering around, looking up and down Peters street, simultaneously with defendant, walking down Peters street from Coburg street, one McCarthy was walking up Peters street from Waterloo street. There is an alley about half way up Peters street; both the defendant and McCarthy went up the alley. The inspectors followed them. The two men had gone into a barn. The inspectors went into the barn and searched the men for liquor. McCarthy was searched first—he has a police record. Then the defendant was searched. The defendant gave testimony. McCarthy was not a witness on the trial. McCarthy had been previously committed to gaol on two occasions for violating the Prohibitory Act.

Defendant before joining McCarthy acted in a suspicious manner. The inspectors had noticed defendant about the streets for months and did not know of his working. Indeed the defendant admitted he returned from the United States in the early part of this year, and has not done any work since February last. Those facts, the suspicious circumstances of evidence against him, are against both the defendant and McCarthy, who were searched by the inspectors.

Have the inspectors the right to search? Inspectors are peace officers, clothed with adequate powers for preventing and detecting violations of the Prohibitory Act. Inspectors can enter and search barns and other places for liquor; may demand the name and address of any individual under certain circumstances, and on his refusal may apprehend him. The officers have power to examine, open and search any package, having reasonable ground to suspect a violation of the prohibitory law. The inspectors may also search "pockets," automobiles or other vehicles for liquor.

Indisputably the law governing such cases is plain and open to argument. The old government passed the Prohibitory Act and the Foster government is carrying it out.

We must not forget that without ample, drastic power be given the inspectors and policemen it would be difficult, if not impossible to detect violations of such an enactment as the prohibitory law.

In this city peace officers have been protected since 1848. Persons arrested recently for interfering with the police have been fined $80.00 or ten months in gaol.

Inspectors and policemen must be protected more particularly during war time and under war legislation.

The defendant Quinn was seen on Peters street conducting himself so as to attract attention and cause the inspectors to have suspicion, and his action on Peters street, in the alley and in the barn, coupled with the fact that he was found with the well-known McCarthy, justify his being searched.

McCarthy was first searched, then Quinn, who said "the inspector had no right to search him." Quinn put his hands up to the inspector three or four times and got "hot-headed" over the search.

The evidence is that the defendant has been around the city since prohibition and at times in company with persons under suspicion.

Defendant admits that he said to the inspector "what are you searching me for? Why you were drunk in Fredericton." Quinn does not deny that he put his hands up to the inspector, but explains this by saying that he was indignant at being searched. He also admits that since his return from the United States he has not worked.

Whether citizens are in favor of, or opposed to, the Prohibitory Act, whilst it is on the statute book it must be observed. It is dangerous doctrine to put forward the idea that Canadians must only obey an act, the provisions of which meet with their approval. Until the law be repealed it must be observed. Inspectors and policemen are sworn to carry out its every provision. Let them do their duty and the courts will do the rest.

The evidence is against Quinn. I have gone into the matter since prohibition and at times in company with persons under suspicion. I have given evidence as to the defendant's good character, so the matter may rest here, with the hope that all may hereafter understand that under suspicious circumstances the inspectors may search the pockets of an individual, may search an automobile or other vehicle for liquor.
