

TOKIO SWEEP BY FIRE: 1000 HOUSES GONE

Money Loss is Estimated at Over Twelve Million Dollars at Lowest.

MANY THOUSANDS ARE HOMELESS NOW

Imperial Gardens Opened as Place of Refuge for Swarms Who Lost Everything.

Tokio, March 27.—The whole city of Tokio was imperilled last night by the greatest fire with which it has been visited in a decade. The conflagration destroyed 1,000 houses in the Yotsuya district, in the north-western part of the city, involving a loss estimated at twenty-five million yen (nominally about $12,500,000). Thousands of persons were made homeless, and 133 persons were injured. The burned buildings included three hospitals, a bank and several large business houses.

Checked With Refugees

Swarms of terror were witnessed in many sections as the conflagration threatened widespread destruction. The streets were choked with masses of despairing refugees from the districts already stricken, accompanied by carts loaded with furniture, the confusion being added to by the flooding in of highness from other sections. Many of the half-frozen fugitives fleeing from the flames bore infants strapped to their backs.

Panics Were Threatened

Mounted police had great difficulty in restraining impatient people. As a measure of relief, the imperial gardens were opened to the sufferers. The fire burned so fiercely and with such intense brightness that the skies were illumined as if by a sweeping light which was visible for hundreds of miles as it hung over the city.

RUSSIA NEEDS EDUCATED CLASS

But So Far Lenine Has Not Attempted to Form Coalition Government.

Helsingfors, March 27.—The Moscow and Petrograd Bolshevik newspapers of March 22 and 24, which were received here today, paint in official announcements a vivid picture of what appears to be a sweeping attempt to conciliate the opponents of the Soviets without the latter surrendering political control. A part of the apparent effort comprises an appeal by the Soviet government to Russian refugees abroad, in the course of which this passage occurs: "Some Things Suggested. "Russia in her re-construction work must rely not only upon her working men, but also upon her peasants and her intellectuals. Therefore, her new international relations oblige Russia to after her former stand regarding emigrants. The question of the means to utilize the forces of these refugees abroad, as their aid is most important in the work of reconstruction."

Berlin, March 27.—Belief that immediate danger of a co-ordinated general strike in the Central German industrial regions and its possible spread to other sections, has been temporarily banished, is expressed by government leaders here. They take this view because of the Easter holidays which have come at the critical period in the government's view. In 1918 meantime, faith is placed in the ability of the 5,000 Prussian security police to stamp out the lawlessness still rampant in out-remoteness of country between towns.

A prominent official of the Gatineau Company, which includes both the W. B. Business throughout the winter and particularly of late, had been so slack that the company found itself unable to operate at the present scale of wages.

CLAIM FARMER SLEW ELEVEN NEGRO SLAVES

Confederate in Crime Declares Five Were Slain at One Time.

GHASTLY TALE FROM PLANTATION

Already Eleven Bodies Have Been Recovered from Field Where Buried.

Monticello, Ga., March 27.—Two more bodies of negroes were recovered from the Alcey River here today, making a total of eleven bodies found since the authorities began an investigation of charges of poisoning and murder against John Williams, a Jasper County farmer. Like the first three found a number of days ago, the bodies recovered today were chained together and weighted down with sacks of stones and iron. Five bodies were found Saturday, buried in Williams' plantation.

Alleged Confession. According to a confession made to department of justice agents by Clyde Manning, a negro employed by Williams, the eleven negroes were slain and their bodies made away with in order to prevent them from testifying against Williams in the poisoning charges. Manning, it was said, confessed that he killed five of them with an axe at Williams' order. The bodies were recovered Saturday after he had pointed out the place of burial.

Dug Own Graves. The coroner's jury investigating the death found that in two cases the negroes were compelled to dig their own graves. Williams and Manning both are being held in jail here.

At the inquest today held over eight bodies, a verdict was returned declaring the negroes came to their death at the hands of Manning and naming Williams as in accessory. The coroner's jury conducted the inquest by number.

Buried in Post Hole. The first inquest was over John Williams, whose name as the plantation owner, whose grave, it is alleged, was dug by himself. The jury was informed that the negro was sent to a pasture in a ravine to dig a post hole. After digging the hole, Manning's confession is said to show that he struck Williams over the head with an axe, pushed the body into the hole and covered it up.

Johnny Green was number two. He was sent to the same pasture to bring cows back to the stable. Manning is said to have confessed that he killed Green in the same way, but had to dig the grave. Willie Givens, was referred to as number three. He was said to have been killed on his way to a country store, the name of which, but Charlie Chisholm was named as the negro who killed Givens. The other cases were killed.

"Hidden God Strikes Secret Searchers"

French Scientist Dies in Vain Attempt to Learn Powers of X-Ray.

Paris, March 27.—"The hidden God who does not wish to give up his secrets strikes down men who seek to take them," said Dr. Adolphe Leroy, chief of the X-ray laboratory in the St. Antoine Hospital, shortly before he died yesterday at Enghien.

Dr. Leroy was a victim of what he believed to have been a successful effort to find protection from the X-rays, which have caused the slow death of many scientists.

War Work Victim. The research in an effort to afford protection to others was begun by Dr. Leroy after his hands had become affected through the making of 25,000 radiographs in war work. For this work he was decorated by the French Government with the Legion of Honor.

Several of his fingers were amputated during his research work, but he still persisted in it and told those who begged him to desist that it was the hidden God who desired to retain his secrets who struck down those who sought to unravel them.

Millionaire Is Lost From Big Ship On Voyage

Heir to $12,000,000 is Missing When Norwegian Ship Reaches New York.

Cabin Torn Into Pieces by Man. Captain Thinks Big Storm Encountered Drove Passenger Insane.

Special to The Standard. New York, March 27.—Thor Dahl, the richest young man in Norway, heir to a fortune of more than $12,000,000, left by his father, head of a whaling syndicate, with stations in all parts of the world where whales are hunted, disappeared in tumultuous weather on March 15 from the Norwegian-American liner Bergensjord in from Christiania. Capt. Ole Bull said he did not know whether Dahl, who was 30 years old, committed suicide or was washed into the ferment by one of several sea crests that swept over the liner.

The young man had acted queerly. The tempest seemed to get into his blood which was not of the steadiest. His mother having died insane and some of his brothers being now under restraint, and he acted half deliriously while the storm was raging. Most of the ship's company looked upon him as "touched" and his behavior after he went into his stateroom on the morning when the combers were falling, indicates he had become demented. He did not appear for dinner that evening as he had regularly on all previous evenings and the skipper sent an officer to the cabin. The door was unlocked and the officers and a steward went in.

Cabin Torn Up. Everything was in disorder inside. The young man had ripped open the mattress, torn up sheets and covers, cut all his baggage, all his clothing into ribbons and wrecked the electric light fixtures from their fastenings, smashing bulbs and defacing the walls.

A search of the ship, including the quarters of the crew, failed to reveal the Norwegian, and he was entered on the ship's manifest as missing. He was not quarrelsome and seemed to enjoy himself greatly until the storm set in, when he became as wild as the sea itself. He was coming here to visit friends and have a good time. He was unmarried.

MILITARY LORRIES BOMBED IN STREET

Sinn Fein Plot Against Ulster Discovered With Plans to Kidnap Officers.

Dublin, March 27.—The headquarters of the Sinn Fein propaganda department, at 11 Molesworth street, was raided last night by police auxiliaries, who effected what was officially described as the largest capture of seditious literature yet made in Ireland. Several tons of files, books and other documentary matter were removed in the lobbies of the raiders.

The office equipment of the headquarters was most elaborate. The department had numerous divisions, one of which dealt with propaganda in foreign countries, including Italy, France and Spain, according to the official reports of the raid.

Got Publicity Lists. Files of letters, addressed to Sinn Fein agents and others in those countries were seized. All the leading British newspapers were on file at the department and scores of volumes of clippings and circular letters addressed to members of the House of Commons also were seized.

The Irish Bulletin was issued from this office, but its re-appearance elsewhere is expected. None of the members of the staff were found on the premises.

Bomb Two Lorries. A bomb attack was made Saturday afternoon upon two lorries belonging to the air force, standing in a street in the heart of Dublin, the attack resulting in the maiming of two of the air force contingent and several civilians.

The attack occurred at 3 p.m. The two lorries were drawn up opposite Flanahan's stores, on O'Connell street. A number of the soldiers had entered the stores to make purchases. Those who remained in the lorries were suddenly surrounded by armed civilians, who threw bombs and opened fire from their revolvers.

The men of the air force took to cover and returned the fire. The two wounded men were Private Brown and Corporal White. The civilians injured included several women and girls.

BAVARIANS LOSE THEIR RESPECT FOR "VERBOTEN"

Police Orders Disregarded and "Little Kaisers" No Longer Overawe Public.

MUNICH MISSES THE VISITS OF AMERICANS

Foreigners Who Can Pay Acceptable as Conditions Are Adjusted After War.

Munich, Mar. 26.—The growing disrepute of officials in Bavaria is causing much concentrated worry. Members of the monarchist group blame it on the present government which they declare is too weak to make the people do anything. An incident was related in Munich when a party of men actually walked in "verboten" railroad ground and when the official ordered them to mind their own business. Such a thing, one is informed, could never have happened before the war when every official was a little kaiser who put fear into people with a single word. Other significant illustrations are cited. There is a police order that subjects should be closed at a certain hour, but nobody heeds the order and will run the risk of being arrested rather than to go home. Even a government order to stop carnival festivities was disregarded in Munich which carries on its celebration as if the order had never been issued.

Foreigners Must Pay Heavily. It is no longer a question in Bavaria of the "unwanted" foreigners. Provided they can pay for their like, but there is not much encouragement to a visit. One pays 100 marks to stay two days in Munich and spends the greater part of those two days reporting at the police station. Surveillance of all foreigners is strict—foreigners including any Germans not born in Bavaria. Police officers have an unpleasant habit in Munich of invading a hotel at 1 o'clock in the morning and rousing everybody out for inspection of passports.

Eager to Greet Americans. Munich is eager for the return of the Americans who constituted a large part of the foreign country before the war. When the war broke out there were 14,000 Americans in Munich. Now there are about 800. Included in this number are many of the "friends" relief service, who are giving food to thousands of undernourished children and a measure of relief to the victimized middle class which includes much of the intellectual and artistic element in Munich.

Opera Always Crowded. The new brick has not been able to hold the opera, which is always crowded. The music begins at a very early hour before one has had dinner, and during the intervals the fashionable audience promenades the foyer, lunching on sandwiches of black bread and sausage. It is very fashionable, it may be able to produce surreptitiously a bit of white bread tied up in a paper parcel, upon which to lunch. Some of the modern plays produced at Munich have had extremely comic tendencies, sometimes verging on the grotesque, undisguised by art. Bizarre performers are popular at the cabarets, where there is also a great deal of American ragtime and alleged American step dancing. Art exhibits are frequently concerned to a rather painful degree with post-war German types, poor, thin-faced children, work-worn women and ragged, hungry-eyed men. The artists themselves have been through times at extreme need and their work reflects it.

Not many Bavarians know anything about the mysterious Bavarian guards, but the mere suggestion of disbanding them is all that is needed to haulark not the less powerful because little known. As to what they are a bulwark against the Bavarian is not quite sure. He leaves that question to the guards.

Comb Sage Tea In Hair To Darken It

It's Grandmother's Recipe to keep her Locks Dark, Glossy, Beautiful.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again coming to it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the messy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wigley's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply wash your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; and the gray hair disappears, and what remains is lustrous and young. Wigley's Sage and Sulphur Compound, therefore, besides beautifying darkening hair after a few applications, it also prevents that soft, lustre and appearance of abundance which is so characteristic of the youth.

GERMAN WOMEN TALK OF FIGHTING

Their Martial Spirit Grows as Pacifism Lures Young Men.

(Copyright 1921, by Public Ledger.)

Munich, March 26.—A growing spirit of pacifism among German young men and an increased war spirit among women is one of the curious post-war developments. Pacifist leagues are being formed in the universities, and there is a growing tendency away from martial life, especially among young men, who have served in the war. On the other hand, many German women are still violent in their denunciations of the allies and their talk of "another war."

Lord Sinha Urges Europeans to Exercise Utmost Control in Crisis.

NATIVES THREATEN TO USE BOYCOTT

Ruler Has Been Forced to Draft Extra Police to Put Down Looting.

(Copyright 1921, by Public Ledger.)

Calcutta, March 26.—The first Indian governor of a province in this country, namely Lord Sinha, who was appointed a month ago to the supreme and administrative post as Bihar and Orissa, a large tract to the westward of Calcutta, has early experienced the urgency of the problems created by the anti-European propaganda now in process in the Indian villages. Extensive looting of the markets has begun in the district famous before Sir William Phipps' discoveries for the "iron-industry" of the province. The area in question is one of large proprietary estates, many of which—but not all—are owned by Englishmen who were born and bred in England. The situation is explained as the boycott agitation against the Europeans is termed. An organized campaign, they asserted, was in progress among the peasantry, who were being encouraged to refuse payment of their rent dues and generally to render impossible the position of the white men among whom they do not consent to join the movement are themselves subjected to the social boycott, which, throughout Asia, from Constantinople to Vancouver, is the one weapon which Orientals always employ when some great object is in view.

Lord Sinha expressed his consciousness of the grave danger involved in the special police into the district and appealed to the Europeans to use "self-restraint." An Indian landlord, writing to a Calcutta newspaper, described the agitation in detail, and denounced the propagandists in terms at least as strong as those employed by the planters.

Violent Anti-European Feeling

This indigo growing area is, roughly, midway between the disturbed agricultural area round Lucknow and the great coal and iron region, where a violent anti-European shape. The movements are in a sense distinct but all of them rely on the ignorance of the peasantry, the religion (or superstitious) strain in his character and his proneness to violence when roused.

Last Sunday in the agricultural area near Lucknow the unrest which had for several days been quiescent again broke out. An Indian landlord's cattle were turned into his sugar cane. The police came out and found a large and excited crowd being harangued by a notorious mountebank. One of the police was almost immediately killed by a blow from a heavy loaded stick known as a lathi and two constables were left unaccounted for.

Fear Gandhi's Loss of Power.

In one sense this religious element in the Indian Nationalist movement is a danger to another sense it constitutes its greatest danger. To arrest Gandhi when he describes the religious character of his movement as Hinduis who take the sword immediately involve a fanatical movement over the whole of northern India which would have fearful results. Hence the movement cannot be effectively checked. It is true, however, that the microcosmic character appeal to the leader of the movement, and the religious character with which it endows his proceedings, afford a certain safeguard—for so long as he can control his followers. The riots now of frequent occurrence are due to temporary cessation of his control by the so-called mob. When such evasions become general—as they almost certainly would become general in face of even the mildest provocation from the authorities—almost anything may happen.

Believe in Supernatural.

The religious (or superstitious) element in the whole of this anti-European movement is well illustrated from (a) events of recent occurrence. Yesterday I overheard with my own ears a harangue delivered by a coolie to a group of coolies in a Calcutta main street. The purport of the address was that Gandhi, now in Calcutta, had arrived from the Punjab. While there a British soldier had cut off his head, but a new one had grown, and it was with this new capital appendage that the Mahatma (Incarnation of God) had come to Calcutta.

A solution of the problem is not at present within sight and the source from which such a settlement can come still is far from clear in view of the failure of the Duke of Connaught's tour and the recent attention paid to Lord Reading's appointment as viceroy.

Adopt English Pose To Win Belgians

German Business Agents Try to Fool Belgian People—Quote Much Lower Prices.

(Copyright 1921, by Public Ledger.)

Brussels, March 26.—German business agents are frequently met with in Belgium superficially disguised by the use of English even in social conversation. They usually try to put a sugar coating on the pill of German trade which they are giving the Belgian to swallow by persuading him that they are allied or neutral representatives of German firms. The Belgian has come to the conclusion that he has to trade with Germany, but believes intensely to trade directly with the Boche and the German firms are trying to smooth over that little difficulty by pretending that their agents are not German.

Between Two Devils.

The Belgians, as Belgian lawyers expressed it, are between two devils in the matter of trade. They prefer to buy from American or English firms, but to do so at the present rate of exchange means that they must sell their goods so high that they will lose their export trade. They dislike the idea of buying from the Germans, but German raw material is so cheap that it enables the Belgian manufacturer to produce at a much lower cost than he could otherwise. As a result, in order to gain their feet in export trade, many Belgian firms have had to swallow their prejudices and trade with the Germans.

Americans Trap German Mail Thief

Relief Workers' Checking System Causes Arrest of Berlin Postal Employee.

(Copyright 1921, by Public Ledger.)

Berlin, March 26.—Robbery of the mail in Germany has for many months been so persistent as to be a scandal, and in spite of the newspapers frequently calling attention to the fact the authorities have been unable to catch the thieves or discover the principal offenders. The registered mail was the general loser by those thefts, indicating that the stealing was intelligently conceived and carried out. Now, because of the accurate checking system of the American relief administration warehouses, it is believed that one of the principal thieves has been discovered and many future losses will be prevented. The arrest of this man, who was an employe of branch postoffice No. 5, in Berlin, came about in this way: A man went into the local delivery station of the American relief administration warehouses and presented a duplicate food draft, drawn in favor of Gustav Plum-beam, about March 1.

The local delivery stations of the American relief administration warehouses are not permitted to cash duplicate drafts without communicating with the head office at Hamburg to see that everything is correct. This was done in this case and Hamburg office replied not to cash the draft as it had been stolen out of a registered letter. Suspecting that the man who had presented the draft was the thief, the local delivery manager communicated with the police and arrangements were made for the police to be present when he returned to see about the cashing of his draft. When the man arrived the police took charge of him and discovered that his name is Johannes Plümbeam. He is an employe of postoffice No. 5, in Berlin, and had charge of the delivery of foreign registered mail. When Plümbeam was searched the police found $100 in American notes, several checks from American banks and a quantity of Hungarian and Polish bank notes. He also had legitimation cards for sales at five different banks in Berlin. How much more valuable and money he has stored away has not yet been determined, but valuable taken from registered mail have been missing over a long period.

"Triumph" With Crew of Newfoundlanders Was Crashed in Ice Floes.

RESCUED WHEN ALL DECK WAS AWASH

Shift of Ice at Last Moment
Allowed Rescue Ship to Reach Side.

Boston, Mass., March 27.—The crew of the British three-masted schooner Triumph arrived here yesterday on board the freighter Triumph from Antwerp, which rescued them when their vessel was crushed in ice floes and on the point of sinking. They lost all their personal effects, but saved the ship's cat.

The Triumph was six days out of St. John's, Nfld., with a cargo of salted fish for Gibraltar, when she became jammed in heavy ice on March 18. Her master, Charles Ross, and crew of six, all Newfoundlanders, kept the pumps working all night, but the water gained steadily and the decks were awash at dawn on March 20 when the Triumph sighted her distress signals.

Captain William George of the freighter had the disabled steamer West Galic in tow, but lost no time responding to the call for aid, and a way through the ice was cleared so that the crew were taken off without difficulty.

The Triumph towed the West Galic from the fourteenth to the twenty-fourth, when finding her oil supply running low, she turned her over to the steamer Lasadown, bound for Norfolk.

Schooner in Herald Cup Races
Next Fall Takes to Water.

Lunenburg, N. S., March 27.—Gaily decorated with flags and bunting, and with her freshly painted hull glistening the morning sun, the "Bluenose," a possible contender for the Herald cup in the international fishing schooner races to be held in Lunenburg next fall, slid smoothly from her ways into Lunenburg harbor at 10 o'clock this morning. As she struck the water the Lunenburg band played O Canada, but the strains of music were almost inaudible amid the shrill whistles of excursion boats and the cheers of the entire population of the town.

Miss Audrey Smith, daughter of Richard Smith, of the firm of Smith & Hayward who built the schooner, christened her "Bluenose," the conventional fashion.

The "Bluenose" is to be commanded by Captain Angus Walters, former skipper of the Gilbert B. Walters, which sailed a close second in the Nova Scotia elimination races of Halifax last year.

Armed Cars There

Armed cars and troops in lorries accompanied the procession, but the six carriages converged into one, despite the military arrangements and formed a procession from the cathedral to the cemetery. The six flag-draped coffins borne on the shoulders of volunteers presented an impressive spectacle.

The streets were lined with crowds which appeared almost as large as those which gathered for the occasion of the MacInnes funeral last fall.

School Teachers Want More Salary

New Brunswick Pedagogues
Will Ask for An Increase in Pay.

Fredericton, N. B., March 27.—The New Brunswick Teachers' Association executive have adopted a new schedule of salaries for 1921 which will average about 16 per cent more than the schedule in effect at present.

The meeting of the executive closed today and within a short time the new schedule will be completed in its various details and submitted to the various boards of trustees. Until then, it was said, it would not be made public.

The membership of the association consists of 806 teachers and the report presented by A. S. McFarlane, the secretary, showed that during the past year 286 teachers had joined the association, of whom 163 were second and third-class teachers. The total number of teachers in the province is in the vicinity of 2,000.

Fines Amounting to $498.50
Imposed on Supposed Owner—
Destroyed 13 Barrels.

Chatham, N. B., March 27.—The largest still ever operated in these provinces was seized yesterday morning by Inspectors Quartermen, Gammon and Stewart. It was situated about thirty-three miles north of Newcastle near Haver's Camp just over the Gloucester line. Inspector Quartermen had obtained knowledge that this still had been brought here from Milwaukee some time ago and he investigated quietly with the result that he was able to locate its whereabouts and the name of the operator. After a consultation with Chief Hawthorne he and Inspector Gammon and Stewart drove thirty-three miles to the scene and found an elaborate still in full operation, and placed a man named Grossman under arrest. They destroyed thirteen barrels of liquor and hauled out two loads with teams.

Grossman was taken before Magistrate Lawlor and pleaded guilty and fined $498.50. Inspector Stewart has also seized a quantity of liquor supposed to be home brew from a man named LeBlanc of Négusac. This he is now having analyzed.

The Cross In Modern Art

Hoffman's "Easter Morning"
Was Theme for Last of Series by Rev. F. S. Dowling

Hoffman's "Easter Morning" furnished the theme for the last of a series of sermons delivered on "The Cross in Modern Art," by the Rev. F. S. Dowling, in St. Andrew's church last evening.

The painting depicts Mary Magdalene seated in an attitude of grief and dejection at the open mouth of the sepulcher just as the day is breaking. Behind her, coming around the corner of the sepulcher is the figure of the risen Christ, and away on the horizon dawn is breaking.

The Sepulcher

The ground is bare rock and out of it rises a hideous dark sepulcher showing a portion of the entrance and the blackness of the interior. One struggling piece of life, a scraggy bush, grows out of the side of this tomb, achieving a precarious and emaciated existence. In the vault all is lifeless darkness, it is the abode of the dead.

Mary Magdalene

Seated upon the broken fragments that had sealed the opening of the tomb, but hurled from its place by the angel of the Lord, is the figure of a woman, the incarnation of utter dejection and despair. Weak and weary she leans against the stone wall, weeping, her head rests in one hand while the other listlessly lies across her knee. Before her is a small oval of fragment spiced with which she would soothe the body of the dead. She has set it down and apparently has no further use for it, as the tomb is empty and the body gone.

A supplecher is suggestive of anguish but a tomb filled, a dead body sufficed by ghastly hands, adds to the utter horror of the desolate scene. Jesus has been brutally crucified and now His body is stolen. Mary Magdalene is in utter despair.

Who is this weeping woman. One who has been driven by seven devils to degradation and sin. She met Jesus and was healed. Small wonder she loved the Physician. To His healing He added His friendship, and she learned that He who had released her from the power of evil, was spending His life in driving evil spirits from the heart of man.

Then suddenly, cruelly, He was taken by wicked hands and destroyed. The day went out of her life, and the dark night of despair settled over her. Her Lord is dead, the tomb is empty, even His body is gone, and thus the artist pictures her in the midst of her utter desolation.

Into her sorrow creeps the light of

Arrests Over The Week-End

Six Drunks on Saturday—
Profanity, Wandering About,
Liquor Case.

Possibly inspired by the absence of the police magistrate over the holiday, a number of citizens celebrated accordingly with the result that the week-end harvest exceeds that of any other for some time. Six drunks were arrested on Saturday, and George Oram was arrested for using profane and obscene language on Simmond Street. Angus McLaughlin for wandering about and not giving a satisfactory account of himself on Nelson Street. George William Cox for having liquor in his possession; Arthur M. Rovey for interfering with the police in the discharge of their duty.

One drunk was arrested on Sunday and two protectionists were sheltered. The court will open at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

DECIDED TO ADD SIX NEW MEMBERS

An announcement was made at the morning service of the First Presbyterian Church yesterday to the effect that the session has decided to add six new members to their number. The congregation are invited to put in ballots next Sunday and the following Sunday. A sermon on the office and work of elders will be preached by the minister of the church, Rev. Dr. J. A. Morrison. After the ballots are completed, ordination of the elders will follow.

dawning day, and the risen Christ quietly and gently comes to keep His promise, "I will not leave you comfortless, I will come unto you."

In conclusion the speaker said that Jesus Christ gave to every believer a life of such quality, such out-reaching hope and confidence, such communion with God, that the conviction comes that this life is as deathless as God Himself, such deathless life, he termed, the gift of the resurrected Christ.

The services of the Salvation Army which were being conducted at the corner of Charlotte Street and the southern side of King Square last evening, were rudely interrupted when a pitcher came hurtling out of a building nearby and crashed on the pavement near the little group of worshippers. A bottle was thrown from a King Street building on Saturday.

FOR WOMEN'S INTERESTS

Six Points Group of Englishwomen Organizing to Obtain New Legislation — Mixed Juris Causing Difficulties.

(Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger.) London, March 28.—A great woman's political movement, set in motion by the announcement of the "six points" of Lady Rhondda, is the latest development in progressive women's activities in England. The six points are the six matters of legislation that still are to be cleared up in order to correct legal prejudice against women, and to establish equality of privilege and opportunity for both sexes. They are: Widows' pensions, penalties for child assault, equal pay for equal work, equality of franchise, equal guardianship rights, and better protection for the unmarried mother. The adherents are known as the "six points" group. They include Clementine Dane, the writer; Miss Clara Watson, sister of Sir Auckland Geddes; many former service women; members of the teachers' federation; civil service employees and a number of other progressive and influential Englishwomen.

Directed Against Government. In announcing her six points, Lady Rhondda, who is the leading business woman in England, declared that the motive in organizing women to support bills to influence the government is to influence the government in the present state of legislation, and for this reason the women are directing their forces upon the government.

While Lady Rhondda is organizing women to put their political force behind the legislation they desire, Lady Astor is also having conferences with the intention of convincing some means by which women voters will be able to get their views more directly before Parliament. This question still is in the process of development and is considered an important one, as up to the present women were only able to get their views before Parliament through Lady Astor and one or two sympathetic men. This political force, the women declare, is not at all the nucleus of a woman's party. It is Lady Rhondda's belief that women must organize to push through matters relating to their sex, because these receive so little attention unless pressure is used. It is impossible to expect she points out, that there can be such a thing as a woman's point of view on matters like Ireland, industrial questions or foreign policy. Those issues are in "divided" sex questions, she believes.

Programme Becoming Universal. Besides the six-point group, almost every woman's organization in England is committed to a similar programme, and the moment, when in full force, should carry with it almost every progressive woman in England. Unprecedented situations in England, but the most startling is the proposal of Sir Ernest Wild, a stand member of Parliament, to upset traditions and introduce a referendum into the country just to ascertain whether women really wish to serve on juries or not. This proposal is not creating much disturbance among feminists. In the first place, the bill proposing a referendum is a private member's bill, and therefore stands no chance at all in

Dancing Masters Against New Trots

"Exotic Dances" to be Eliminated if Possible by the Leading Teachers.

Paris, March 27.—A general revision of the present dances, looking to the elimination of the shimmy, the fox trot and the new step, is on the program for consideration by the congress of the dancing professors of France, England, Belgium, Holland and Switzerland, which opened its sessions in the 27th academy of the delegates, it is said, are advocating a return to the waltz.

The Paris press has greeted the news of the prospective change with some of the newspapers have been conducting a determined campaign against what were termed the "exotic dances" which were declared to be totally unsuitable for European ball rooms.

Parliament. In the second place, England, which still prides itself on being conservative, would consider the introduction of a referendum in such "high-bred fashion" an even more radical breach of precedent than the enjoining of women jurors.

The women jurors have put the lawyers into what is colloquially known as a "stale." They don't know how to address them. Some tried "ladies and gentlemen of the jury"; others, who prided themselves on their formality, made it "men and women," and a great deal of time was wasted, until exasperated judges ordered the lawyers to call them members of the jury and put an end to the "stale."

LET'S TALK IT OVER

Does it not happen often that in grasping a general principle we are apt to pass over a particular case? This was brought very forcibly to my mind in considering the matter of neighbors in the Anglican Church children in learning that part of the catechism called "My Duty Towards My Neighbor," are given as illustrations, the story of the Good Samaritan, and that we are instructed that one's neighbor is not, as a child at once thinks, the person living next door, but anybody whom you can benefit.

There is a little verse called "City Neighbors." It tells of one living next door and never knowing of the death of the neighbor's little child until it was put on the door. "There is, in a city by the sea, an English wife of a Canadian soldier who has said that she hopes she may some day have a house where she can see the ships going back to England. No, that is not the way she put it. 'Selling her home,' she said. She knows few people and has not found that spirit of friendliness which should be characteristic of Canadians towards strangers who are going to be citizens. Something is wrong in her neighborhood and will not be right until we make that bride and others who come to live in our midst call St. John 'home,' and realize they can claim as a friend."

One Good Deed
The woman was old and bent and grey and otherwise corresponded to the description of the Calf of Malabar in the old second reader. Her husband was a snuff shaver, which would have been wielded by one of the husky soldiers of city meat tickets, and she was making better weather of her battle against the snow.

ENTERPRISE
The new method of heating homes and all kinds of buildings without the use of air pipes has been proved to be satisfactory and pipeless furnaces are now being sold all over Canada. The standard overhead favors the design that have made the same impression upon public interest, and now that the new system has been universally adopted and is actually being used in the heating of the world, the Enterprise Foundry Co., Ltd., is actually in the field with its Enterprise Blower pipeless furnace, and every day of the week orders and enquiries for explanatory literature are being received at Sackville.

Between noon and one o'clock this afternoon the mercury touched 67.8 degrees. The nearest to this occurred in 1916, when 63.7 degrees was reached.

TEARS
When I consider Life and its few years— A wisp of fog between us and the sun; A call to battle, and the battle done; Ere the last echo dies within our ears; A rose choked in the garden; an hour too late; The guests that pass a dawning show do best; The burst of music down an aisle; I wonder at the blindness of tears. Ye old dead, and ye of yesterday, Chearful and bold, and keepers of the way; By every step ye narrow that you tread, Loose me from tears, and make me see my right; How each has his own part to play; How each his own, David the little lad; —Lillian Woodworth Reed.

Washington, Mar. 27.—A resolution requesting President Harding "to call a conference of the nations on the question of world disarmament," and asking that increased appropriations of Congress for armaments be postponed pending such a conference was adopted here today at an Easter mass meeting held in advocacy of disarmament under the auspices of the Women's Disarmament Committee.

Three Nation Agreement
Senator Borah, of Idaho, who was the principal speaker, again advocated an agreement between the United States, Great Britain and Japan to reduce naval armaments and charged the authors programme for increased armaments for the world, with being "suspicious patrons of Bolshevism, bolshevism and other enemies of our people."

Promenaders Out In Force Yesterday

Ideal Weather for Display of New Gowns and Other Easter Finery.

Ideal weather was served up for Easter and as a result churches were filled to capacity for the morning services, with promenaders out in force. The fair ones of the Spring's style and color, were the popular promenaders of the afternoon and these thoroughfares presented a study in colors where the fair ones got on parade gowned in the latest of the Spring's styles and wearing hats the last word of the milliner's creative instinct. The bright sunshine set off to advantage this parade of Easter millinery, modest in effect and none too gaudy in colors, and its bright rays showed up pleasingly the new and dainty costumes.

Much Rubbing.
There was considerable rubbing by the fair and not a little by the masculine. The fair ones would turn to look at some sister who had just passed with a particularly fascinating head piece; and man, well, he just turned to look at—the latest things in patent leather pumps and to make a mental observation that skirts are a little shorter this season if anything.

Where They Commented.
St. John's only refreshment center on Sunday was the social centre of the afternoon. Here the birds gathered to sip soda water, linger over a college ice and discuss their neighbor's new rig out. It was amusing to a more man to hear some of the comments passed. The following that passed between two refreshment sippers is a fair sample of remarks heard: "Say Aggie, take a slant at that lid over there in the corner. Ain't that a fright? Did you ever see such a taste. I'll bet she's mortgaged two months salary to get that top. Such stuff makes me sick."

Canal Ship Route Hits Canadian Waters

Vancouver - Montreal Water Line Competition Aided by High Freight Rates.

(Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger) Ottawa, Ont., March 27.—Much interest is evinced in the report that the Williams Steamship Co., with head quarters in New York, will operate via the Panama route, a line of vessels between Vancouver and Montreal in summer and St. John, N. B., in winter. This new competition may have a considerable effect on the freight rates carried by the Canadian Pacific National lines.

The arrival in Italy of the first cargo of wheat shipped from Vancouver through the Panama canal has demonstrated the possibilities of this route, and the prevailing high freight rates upon wheat have made it possible to transport the grain at a profit on the long haul.

Some claim that the effect of this may be to take British Columbia lumber from the railways altogether, and that it would not be long until they say that grain would move west via the Panama canal to Great Britain and other European countries, but grain cost of medicine has, Alberta, will certainly go out by the eastern route.

Cannot Use American Ships. If the Williams Co. does operate the proposed service it will have to use vessels of either British or Canadian register, and it is reported that arrangements to this end have been made.

The possibility of the Panama route will also be tried by passenger vessels sailing from Vancouver to England. The trip is to cost about $300 on way or $600 return, the home journey being made to some Atlantic port, and thence by rail to British Columbia.

This will be the first time that a passenger steamer has sailed for Europe from this port, though the journey from Europe to British Columbia has been made a number of times.

Launch Hudson Bay Schooner

Vancouver, B. C., Mar. 27.—The Hudson Bay Company's schooner Lady Kinderley, built here for the Arctic trade, was successfully launched yesterday at the shipyard of the British Columbia Marine Engineers Limited.

The vessel, which is of 635 tons gross, is 200 feet long, 28 feet 3 inches beam, with a molded depth of 15 feet. She is constructed to ride out the storms of the ice floes of the Arctic Ocean. The Lady Kinderley will be employed in the fur trade of the company.

Grand Manan Churches Busy

Seventy Persons Unite With Various Churches as Result of Special Meetings. Grand Manan, March 27.—The Rev. Wallace C. Macdonald, Secretary for Religious Education of the Maritime Baptist Convention and Associated Secretary for the Religious Education Council of the Maritime Provinces recently spent a few days on Grand Manan in the interests of Sunday School work.

Mr. Macdonald held a series of dressed meetings at Castalia, White Head, Seal Cove, Woodward's Cove, North Head, and on Sunday last held a Sunday School Convention at Grand Manan. The day proceeding stormy, few outside Grand Manan attended this convention, hence little of the Parish programme was realized.

The reports from the various Sunday Schools showed aggressive and constructive work being done by the schools. The address given by Mr. Macdonald last afternoon and evening were statesmanlike in vision and adaptability and cannot but be productive of lasting good. Mr. Macdonald left by S. S. Grand Manan on Monday morning to continue his work on the mainland.

Rev. J. J. Tingley, who has spent the winter in Evangelistic work on Grand Manan has left for his home in Windsor, N. S. Mr. Tingley has assisted in services at Grand Manan, Seal Cove, White Head, Woodward's Cove and held a few services at North Head and Castalia. About seventy in all having been added to the churches.

The Rev. Dr. Dwight Lyttle, who has spent three weeks with the United Baptist Church at North Head in Evangelistic services, left on Monday morning for his home in Arcadia, Yarmouth County, N. S.

Mr. A. R. Gibson of White Head is assisting Rev. Halley of Woodward's Cove in Evangelistic meetings this week. The Rev. R. Ogden Morse of Grand Manan is also rendering some assistance.

The Rev. David Jenkins reports excellent interest in the Lenten Services in connection with the Grand Manan Festival.

Mr. Bell, who came from Scotland to Grand Manan with his daughter, Mrs. A. R. Gibson, in August last, sails for the homeland next week.

Beautiful Home Totally Destroyed

Geo. McArthur's Residence at Riverside Burned - Loss $30,000.

A fire which it is believed was caused by a defective fire completely destroyed the fine residence of George W. McArthur at Riverside Saturday afternoon. The building was a remarkably fine example of the old colonial style of architecture and was recognized as one of the most beautiful homes on Rothesay Avenue. The loss is estimated at in excess of $30,000 and but half covered by insurance.

When Discovered

The fire was first discovered about 4 o'clock by a young lady on a hill back of the house, who noticed flames breaking out about the chimney on the roof of the house. The alarm was quickly sounded and help was called from every available source. The entire crew of the Peter's Line, King responded to the alarm as well as a number of villagers from Rothesay. Because of the height of the house and the location of the blaze, nothing could be done with the only means of fighting the fire, a bucket brigade and several lengths of garden hose. Owing to the fact that the fire was a slow burning one, a remarkably fine bit of salvage work was done by the willing corps of volunteers, everything movable in the house was saved all the furniture, and even the bath room fixtures, electric light fixtures and the radiators of the heating system. Means were also taken to ensure the safety of several summer cottages near by which also belong to Mr. McArthur, flames broke out in them several times but were successfully checked.

Call for Help

Shortly after the seriousness of the fire was realized a call for help was sent into the city and the motor company from No. 2 Engine House responded, but the fire had gained too great a headway on its arrival to be of any use. "The McArthur house was singled out by the Prince of Wales when he motored from St. John to Rothesay during his visit here in 1919. A beautiful house at all times it was very attractively decorated and that occasion drew the admiring comment of the heir to the British throne.

Memorial Service In Portland Church

Rev. Harry Clark Preached Sermon in Honor of Nine Members of Congregation.

"How can we be worthy of the exalted company?" asked Rev. Harry Clark, in preaching a memorial sermon in honor of the nine men who made the supreme sacrifice in the great war, and who were members of the Portland street Methodist church. The church was crowded to the doors for last evening's service, which was deeply impressive. The Easter message of resurrection hope was brought before the congregation both in sermon and special music. During the day thirty persons were received into the church.

The Text

"Wherefore seeing, we are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses," Hebrews 12: 1, was the text chosen by the pastor, who said that the devotion to the memory of such men as the Canadian soldiers is the duty of every loyal Canadian. Their memory will never fade so long as men continue to love liberty and have faith in justice. Any eulogy fails to do justice to those who followed the best traditions of the British race.

Canadians Overseas

The way in which the Canadians carried on overseas was highly praised by the preacher who stated that their prosecution of war was as honorable as their cause was right. They were not like the German who made their name as by word among the nations, but throughout the gruesome business of war our soldiers were true to the principles of chivalry and their deeds are immortalized by any tablet Canada's contribution to the conflict was not alone in money but in the high calibre of the men - "a breed of men" who were brave in their hearts, and whose fortitude, their heroic endurance, their whimsical humor, and the sublime patience which characterized them.

Gravestone of Canada

The graveyard of Canada overseas is very large, Mr. Clark said, and went on to pay a fine tribute to the men of Portland street church who sealed their faith with their blood on the battlefield. Their spirits are hovering near encouraging us with their example to be ready to all that is required of us, and preserve the principles for which they died. Extracts from his own diary written on the 9th of April, 1916, were read and brought the scenes of those fatal days very near. These men fought and died for a dream of peace and in concluding his heartfelt address, Mr. Clark pointed out that it is the duty of every one to see to it that war shall be no more and that by following such good examples the world is made better.

Names of Heroes

The pastor then read aloud the following names of departed heroes, the congregation departed heroes: Thomas Corn, Edward Reid, Robert Tall, William Kirk, John Howe, Roger Chesley, Edward Brown, William McKay, John Wright. The last named died after returning home. The last rest was then sounded by Sergeant A. E. Ricketts.

GARDENS OPEN THIS AFTERNOON

Smallpox Aboard Scandinavian

150 Passengers Placed in Quarantine at Partridge Island - Mild Case.

C. F. O. S. liner Scandinavian from Antwerp and Southampton docked at No. 2 and 3 berths at 12.30 yesterday afternoon, after a voyage, the initial stages of which were marked by very rough weather, followed by an event which caused some consternation among the 1,043 listed passengers.

Encountered Gale

A series of gales were encountered after the liner had gotten under way and continued for several days. Seas, mountains high, broke over the ship and made life exceedingly wearisome for passengers and crew. "Were it not for the fact," said one passenger, "that the Scandinavian was specially designed to battle heavy seas, we would have suffered greater sickness than we did."

Smallpox Aboard

When three days out from Antwerp two special trays were carried down with a case of smallpox. This threw fear into the hearts of the passengers and all were tied up in quarantine fourteen days after reaching this port. When the disease was discovered the ship's physician immediately isolated the case, as well as some 150 of the passengers who had come in contact with the man stricken. For eight days of the voyage they were completely isolated from the other passengers, and every reasonable precaution taken to prevent any spread of the disease among passengers or crew.

At Partridge Island

Arriving at Partridge Island yesterday morning the sick man was taken ashore to the hospital there and the isolated passengers put ashore and placed in quarantine. Dr. Brown, in charge of the quarantine station, reported to The Standard last night that the case is a very mild one, and because of the prompt methods employed aboard ship by the doctor, preventive measures, he does not look for any serious results to follow from this case. Those in quarantine on the island will probably be detained a few days, providing no new cases break out.

Bernardo Boys Arrive

The steamer's list was made up largely of foreigners on their way to Western Canada. There was a party of Dr. Bernardo's boys aboard who are on their way to Ontario, where homes are awaiting them. Two special trays were sent out by the C. P. R. to handle the passengers from the Scandinavian.

Akerley Case In Circuit Court

Witnesses Give Evidence in Case Where Woman is Alleged to Have Taken Money

The case of Johnson Lodge, No. 23, La. O. B. vs. Grace Akerley was continued before Chief Justice McKeown Saturday. The following witnesses were examined: Mrs. Emory, Mrs. Crook, Miss Bessie, Bessie Whalley, Catherine Johnson, James Moore and Francis Kerr. The evidence showed that the thousand dollars claimed by the lodge was an estimated amount given out by the committee of three, Mrs. Logan, James Moore and Francis Kerr, who formed the committee appointed by the lodge to go to the accounts in the tea room held at the exhibition.

Members of Committee

Francis Kerr and James Moore, who were members of the committee, stated that they had no definite way of checking Mrs. Akerley's figures, but took the receipts that were passed in by her and called together the ladies who had worked at the tea rooms and asked each one to estimate the amount of sandwiches they got from a loaf of bread and the number of cups from a pound of coffee. They multiplied the number of sandwiches by the price they sold for, and the coffee at 10 cents per cup. They estimated that a pound of coffee would produce a hundred cups; otherwise they had no personal knowledge of any deficiency at the tea room.

Other Witnesses

Other witnesses described the system used at the tea room in reference to the amount of the bills, in some cases the customer would have three or four checks for eighty cents. It was left to the honesty of the customer whether they paid the cashier on leaving the check or the amount represented by the checks they held. Witnesses swore that when cleaning up at night they swept numbers of these checks off the floor and found them left on the tables, showing these people did not pass them into the cashier.

The Checks

Witnesses swore that when cleaning up at night they swept numbers of these checks off the floor and found them left on the tables, showing these people did not pass them into the cashier. Mrs. Crook swore that she and other members had acted as cashier as well as Mrs. Akerley. Catherine Johnson stated that she had fed twenty to thirty children of the orphan home free and that the help, of which there were about two dozen, also ate at times at the tea room free. She also stated that families would come in with their families and bring their own food, but a cup of coffee and occupying the tables. Defendant's Report

It was shown that the report made by Mrs. Akerley to the ladies showed about five weeks' work, and that they had been very busy on Saturday, as they had no table to accommodate the people.

Francis Kerr, member of the lodge

Easter Services in The Churches

Large Attendance at All Services - Special Sermons and Music.

With a day of bright sunshine the Spring festival of Easter was celebrated yesterday, unusually large attendances marking the services at all churches. Triumphant Easter music filled with the hope of the Resurrection and the victory over death was sung by all choirs throughout the city. Appropriate hymns and organ selections will further remind worshippers of the meaning of the day. Flowers and plants decked the churches. A special feature of Easter is the baptisms and receptions into the churches which take place, and yesterday one hundred and eighty persons were admitted to the Baptist, Presbyterian and Methodist Churches. At the Anglican and Roman Catholic Churches attendance at all services was very large, the number of communicants at several churches being the largest for years.

At Baptist Churches

At Germain Street Baptist Church seventeen persons were baptized at the morning service. S. E. Pochter, pastor, gave the sermon "King Triumphant" was sung in the evening. In the Queen Square Methodist Church Rev. Neil McLaughlin baptized four persons and received eighteen into membership, four by letter and fourteen by profession of faith.

At Central Baptist Church

Rev. A. L. Tedford of the Tabernacle Baptist Church, Haymarket Square, baptized eight persons at the morning service. The new member received into the church next Sunday. At the Central Baptist Church Rev. F. H. Bone baptized thirteen persons at the afternoon service. Music was supplied by the children's choir and a special sermon on the significance of baptism.

At Waterloo Street Baptist Church

Rev. L. B. Gray, B. A., pastor of Waterloo Street Baptist Church baptized one person at that church at the eleven o'clock service. A children's choir rendered special music. Fourteen received into membership and four baptisms with a very large attendance at all services was recorded. At Victoria Street Baptist Church yesterday, Rev. George Hudson, pastor, an Easter Cantata, the story read by Mrs. John Howe was rendered.

At Fairville Baptist Church

Rev. C. T. Clark, pastor, eight persons were baptized at the evening service. Rev. Isaac Brindley, pastor of Ludlow Street Baptist Church preached upon the ordinance of baptism at seven o'clock this morning when seven candidates were baptized.

At Other Churches

At Edinburgh Street Methodist Church, instead of the regular evening service, a beautiful Easter Story and Song Service entitled "A Morning of Service" was given by the choir. Rev. George Dawson and the choir. There was the largest attendance in the history of the Church at the Holy Communion administered by the minister, Rev. Dr. Morrison of Presbyterian Church, West Side yesterday morning. Two persons were baptized at the afternoon service. St. Philip's Church, Rev. Claude Shaw, pastor had a very beautiful service of Easter music very beautifully rendered at all services.

Rev. Father Palmer S. S. J. E.

was the special preacher at all services at the Mission Church, St. John Baptist yesterday. He spoke of the Easter message in the morning and evening and made an address on the same subject in the afternoon. The lesson of the Easter was the theme of two eloquent sermons preached by Rev. E. E. Styles, pastor at Carmarthen Street Methodist Church yesterday. The morning subject was "A Misdirected Search" and the evening "The Difficulties of Life." Large congregations were present at all services.

In Sunday School

In the Sunday School a special programme of Easter music with recitations and an address by the Pastor was gone through before a very large school of parents and scholars. A pleasing feature of the afternoon was the presentation of a banner to the class having the best average attendance for the quarter. The banner was the gift of the Pastor and was gained by the class of Miss Nina Brown with a percentage of 700, being closely followed by Miss Stella Earle's with a percentage of 96.

stated he was on the committee which investigated the accounts, and that at a meeting in October Mrs. Akerley reported the balance from the tea room to be $11.

Questioned as to the small balance, Mrs. Akerley said she had paid a balance of $200 on furniture presented by the lodge to the Memorial Home. Vouchers were found which Mrs. Akerley had presented in April, one of them was written on an envelope in Mrs. Akerley's own hand for a dining room suite for $72.50. The name signed as having received the money was Mrs. Curtis. The name Curtis was also in Mrs. Akerley's writing. Mr. Kerr said this aroused his suspicion. He got in touch with Mrs. Curtis, who said she had never sold any furniture to Mrs. Akerley or any one else. The receipt was produced in evidence. Previous to the exhibition, Mr. Kerr urged Mrs. Akerley to invite the other lodges to co-operate in the tea room and to install a cash register. She refused to adopt either suggestion. The committee appointed to investigate the accounts, after making a most careful allowance for all expenses, estimated a shortage of over $1,000. The case will be resumed this morning in the circuit court room in the Mission building.
