More Facts from the Census.

The Census shows that St. John has 28 bakeries, employing 106 hands. The wages paid amount to $77,185, the raw material cost $174,294, and the value of the articles produced is $240,462. St. John has 27 blacksmithing establishments that employ 104 hands, with salaries amounting to $32,098. One raw material to the value of $40,987, and produce articles to the value of $110,540. New Brunswick has only four manufacturers of agricultural implements, employing 107 men, with salaries amounting to only $2,030, using raw material worth $676, and producing articles to the value of $3,789. St. John has 70 manufacturers of boots and shoes, employing 344 men, 160 women, and 9 girls (under sixteen). The yearly wages amount to $128,850, the value of the raw material used $23,026, and the value of the boots and shoes produced is $339,280. The rest of the Province manufactures nearly as much in this line. It is curious to note that in Halifax, there are 231 men, 87 women, 46 boys and 14 girls, are employed in the same business. The wages amount to $135,865, more than is paid to 194 more hands in St. John. The value of the raw material used by the Halifax manufacturers is only $147,665, while the articles produced are valued at $435,860. St. John has three breweries, employing 49 hands, who earn $5,900, using raw material worth $1,500, and producing bricks worth $11,900. The value of all the bricks and tiles made annually in the Province is $12,900. One day in the Province, 15 carriages are factory, employing 69 men and 23 boys, at salaries amounting to $28,850, using raw material worth $30,630, and producing $109,130 worth. The fur trade in the whole Province amounts to $162,033. For the manufacture of carriages St. John has 12 establishments, employing 100 men, two women and seven boys, paying $36,975 wages, using $29,717 worth of material, and producing carriages worth $85,614. The Province has 176 carriage factories, employing 472 hands, paying $130,000 wages, using material worth $84,911, and turning out $308,634 worth of manufactured articles. Nova Scotia carriage-builders, by the use of $23,000 worth of material, produce the payment of $96,703 wages, produce $204,223 worth of vehicles. Ladies, attention! Come to millinery and dressmaking. St. John has 32 establishments, in which 154 men and 194 women earn $29,941 a year, $130 each. They use up $109,638 worth of goods, and value the product at $195,000. Halifax has only 24 of these establishments, in which three men and 130 women earn $3,076, only $29.27 each. The sewing girls of Halifax, if these figures are correct, get but little for their toil. The work which they are paid $3.07 for doing increases the value of the material that is used from $75,214 to $123,175. We call the attention of the Halifax millinery and dressmaking employes to this. The branch of New Brunswick's manufactures doesn't amount to much outside of St. John, less than $500 being paid elsewhere in the Province for the wages of those employed in it. Nova Scotia has 101 men and 88 boys earning $111,875 annually, using $125,337 raw material and sending out articles of the value of $233,070. St. John owns more than half of New Brunswick's interest in this branch of industry. The men in St. John earn $107,420 a year, using $111,875 worth of material and sending out articles of the value of $233,070. St. John's mill number 15, employ 66 hands, pay $10,329 in wages, and produce $37,285 worth of material. The men in St. John employ 36 men and two boys, pay $11,332 wages—$339 per man—and convert $20,124 worth of material into $39,000 worth of goods. New Brunswick's six mills (combined) employ 563 and give employment to 6,293 men, three women, 837 boys, and one girl. The amount of the annual wages is $1,400,000, the value of the logs is $5,747,000, and the value of the lumber produced is $6,375,720. The profit is just equally divided between the men, who get about $200 each for 6 or 7 months' work, and the owners. St. John has 92 of these mills, employing 221 hands. Nova Scotia has 114 mills, which only employ 2,858 hands, who earn only $380,417, and produce lumber to the amount of $1,207,187. There are 282 men and nine boys employed in New Brunswick's tanneries, whose wages amount to $89,467—$296 per man—and whose exertions charge $33,295 worth of hides, and turn out $54,725 worth of leather. The Vatikian and the Masons. The rather serious conflict which the Vatikian is waging with the Government does not seem to be sufficient for the full employment of its fighting talent, and one of its organs makes a fresh onslaught on Free Masonry. Without knowing or caring what may be the relations of the Catholic # Church and Masonry in Italy, Mexico, and South America, or stopping to inquire whether the natural inclinations of the Masons of the persecutions of the Church produce the appearance of hostility between them, we are sure that English and American Masonry, meddles with nothing in which the Catholic Church is concerned, has no hostile feeling for the Pope or his ecclesiastics, and affords the pleasantest excuse for the condemnatory language with which the Pope and his newspaper organs assail it. These assaults are purely voluntary, wholly unprovoked, and never replied to in kind by the Order. And yet the Vatikian is more intolerant of Masonry, if we are to judge by its fulminations on the subject, than of Mahomedanism or infidelity. Although the late Grand-Master of English Masonry gained a taste for gorgonian uniforms and ceremonial pomp that led him to leave the Anglons for the Roman Church, yet the acceptance of the Grand Mastership by the Prince of Wales is made the occasion of a Roman onslaught on Masonry and Anglons. The English Masons, as a body, have nothing to do with the Anglons or any other Church, and will not conduct their affairs without reference to the voluntary advice or assaults of any religious body. The Anglons are not identified with it, or hostile to it—its having nothing to do with it, no cause of complaint against it, and will not claim its alliance or invite its aid. The Anglons Church seeks to save souls in the way it deems best, and does not meddle with charitable and social organizations of which it knows no such thing, taking for granted that they cannot be very wicked—murderers and all that—in the Lodge room, and lead irreproachable lives in public. The Vatikian has enough to do, one would think, in carrying on the struggle for the restoration of its former authority in Germany, for the re-establishment of its temporal sovereignty in Rome, and for the overthrow of national systems of non-sectarian education, without making unprovoked assaults on Masonry and Anglons.

A New Arithmetometer.

A correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial gives the following account of a "calculating engine" as he calls it: "The inventor, Mr. F. P. Warren, a watchmaker of this place (Three Oaks, Mich.), has been working for years upon a very difficult and curious piece of mechanism—a calculating machine—which he said was to work not only in the first four rules of arithmetic, but was also to perform complicated mathematical calculations. No person who knew his plans ever thought it possible to construct such a machine, but the inventor's faith has been strong from the beginning, and his persistent perseverance has at last been crowned with complete success. The machine is the result of about ten years of labor. It was not built for manufacture and sale, but to see what it was possible to accomplish by machinery. The machine, which is a beautiful piece of mechanism, surprises every one who sees it in operation. It will use a multiple of divisor of 12 figures, the multiplied and divided being limited only by the number of wheels placed in front to receive the answer. The present number on the machine is twenty. The machine contains over 1,000 specially formed pieces, and including screws and rivets, over 3,000. It is probably the most complicated and intricate piece of mechanism ever constructed, and yet it works with perfect ease and accuracy. It will run backward as well as forward, and detect and show an error, were it possible for one to occur. It will take a number by another, subtract or multiply, according to choice, it can operate in decimals with fractions as well as whole numbers. By putting the first power of a number up to the full capacity of the machine can be obtained. It can # also be used as a difference machine, if desired. The following example in compound interest was set into the machine and performed in forty-five seconds: What is the compound interest of $5,000.75 for twenty years at 7 per cent? Answer $10,138.47.
