LONDON, July 2.—(Bulletin).— German troops last night attempted to raid the British lines at points north of the Somme, near Lens, and on the Flanders front, but were repulsed, the war office announced today. British troops took prisoners in patrol encounters.

The text of the statement reads: "An attack carried out by the enemy last night under a heavy bombardment, northwest of Albert, to re-capture the ground taken by us on Sunday night, was repulsed with loss except at one point where the enemy succeeded in gaining a footing in one of our trenches.

FRENCH OFFICIAL PARIS, July 2.—(Bulletin).—The village of Viaux, west of Chateau Thierry, and the height to the west of Viaux were captured last night by American troops in an operation on the Marne front, carried out in conjunction with the French, the war office announced today. More than 300 prisoners, including five officers were captured in this action.

The success has resulted in an improvement in the Allied Line between Hill 204, and the vicinity of Viaux. The French carried out raids on the front between Montdidier and Noyon, and eastward of Rheims, in which prisoners were taken.

German raiders were driven off by the French fire near Belloy and in Upper Alsace. PEMBERTON BILLING M.P., AND HIS WIFE.

Canadian Hospital Ship With Eighty Doctors and Fourteen Nurses Aboard, Torpe doed by Submarine - German Policy is Proven to be a Deliberate One

By Courier Leased Wire.

LONDON, June 2.—That the sinking of hospital ships is a deliberate policy on the part of the Germans is placed beyond all doubt by the torpedoeing of the Canadian hospital ship Llandovery Castle, the newspapers say in their editorial comment today.

"In the presence of such unspeakable infamy, deliberately repeated," says The Daily Chronicle, "It is a waste of breath to reiterate the abhorrence which everybody with a spark of civilized sense must feel. But we would invite the German people to ask themselves what is the use of their statesmen appealing, like Foreign Secretary von Kuehlmann, to be credited with 'probity and honor,' while crimes so odious, dishonorable and unashamed continued to be carried out by the orders of their government."

The excuse for the attack on the Dlandovery Castle, says The Daily Mail, was a lie, and the German officer who told it did not believe it himself when he said to the captain: "You are carrying eight American flight officers."

If there had been a particle of truth in the charges, the submarine captain had only to stop the Llandovery Castle, seize the eight officers, and take them to Germany as proof of Allied guilt in using hospital ships for transports.

The Daily News declares that the which had occurred aft.

sinking of the hospital ship stands out as "one of the most horrible incidents in the hideous story of submarine warefare."

In no circumstance of tragedy, declares the Times does the story differ from those of other hospital ships that have been destroyed. In this case, it points out, there is an added element of horror in the attempt of the submarine commander, by accusations against the victim; and in his wild fury of gunfire and destructive rushing to and fro among the wreckage. If these were not attempts to sink all the survivors and blot out all trace of the crime, what was their motive? asks this newspaper. "It is unforgettable without the fact that news of the tragedy to Canadian Red Cross men and women came to the knowledge of the Canadians on their national festival. The other British peoples will not forget it, nor yet, we may be sure, will the American people."

No List for Canada

The bail lights were burning when the Llandovery Castle was torpeded. These included a huge electric cross over the bridge and strings of white and green lights on either side. The red cross on the sides of the vessel also were illuminated by electric lights.

It is assumed that the 14 nursing sisters reached a lifeboat, but so far as known there was no trace of them after the ship sank.

According to Red Cross information, many were killed in the engine to fine many were either tilled or left their posts, there was no one to shut off the power, and the ship kept on her way despite the great holes torn by the torpedo, not beginning to slow down until the water rushed into the boiler-room, extinguishing the fires.

This added to the confusion in London, July 1.—A German submarine, 70 miles from the Irish coast on the night of June 27 torpedoed the 11,000-ton hospital ship Llandovery Castle, which had been chartered, by the Canadian Government, and had been in the service of carrying wounded and sick from England to Canada for many months past. The ship was then on her way to England. She had on beard 258 persons, including 80 men of the Canadian Army Medical Corps and 14 female nurses.

Only 24 Survivors

Up to the latest reports only 24 of those on board, including the captain, have survived the treacherous attack, which came without warning. The submarine commander, who ordered the captain of the Llandovery Castle, several of his officers, and Major Lyon, of the Medical Corps, aboard, declared that he had sunk the ship because she was carrying American awation officers and others in the fighting service of the altiers, the added to this later by assert. Ottawa, July 2—The list of names of those Canadians who were on board the hospital ship, Llandovery Castie, which was torpedoed by a German submarine on the night of June 27, will probably have to be obtained from the military authorities overseas. Enquiry at the militia department here elicited the information that the ship was started from the other side, and that as far as known, there is no list of those who were on board in Canada. At the naval department, it was said that the crew of the vessel would be furnished by the owners, and therefore the Canadian naval authorities would have no list of the names comprising it.

How Germans Get News

N interesting account is given in the London Times of Herr Otto Hammann, who for about twenty years was in

Herr Hammann took care to be well advertised in his time, and maintained his position largely by a fictitious reputation for deep political cunning. He now presents himself as a pure-minded public servant, who was always shocked by the unreasonable German prejudice against "semi-official" journalism, and whose great desire was to raise the tone and desire was to raise the tone and prestige of the press. It was notorious that Herr von Kiderlen-Wachter attempted in vain a few years before the war to get rid of Hammann. Hammann revenges himself by saying that, while he himself desired relations only with honest and reputable journalists, Kiderlen, when he became Foreign Secretary, instructed him that "it is easiest to work with shady/creatures." Hammann's chief allies, as he gratefully insists, were Cologne Gazette and the Frankfurter Zeitung.

It appears that Hammann was brought into the German Foreign Office by the second Imperial Chancellor, Caprivi, in 1894, as a reward for his services in support of the Military Reform Bill of the previous deradatsch against Holstein, Kiderlen, and Eulenburg. Hammann indi-cates, however, that Holstein and Bulow were the only authorities who kept the Press Bureau fully in-formed as to what was going on. He complains that in recent years it often happened that he "learnt of diplomatic offensives or defensives only from the newspapers or from public speeches." This is doubtles true, and the whole book really illus trates the fact that, while the Wilcue. One "crisis" was much the same to him as another.

Perhaps the most interesting page in the book is the account of the Kruger telegram with which Ham-mann seeks to rid the Kaiser of the responsibility of destroying good re-lations with England. He says: On the evening of Jan. 2, 1896, there arrived in Berlin the report of Count Hatzfeld, the German Ambassador in London, that the fight at Krugersdorp against the Chartered Company's troops led by Jameson had ended victoriously for the Boers. A report to the same effect from the consul in Pretoria was on its way. consul in Pretoria was on its way.
On the morning of Jan. 3 the Kaiser came to Berlin from the Neues Palais at Potsdam, and proceeded immediately to a consultation with the Imperial Chancellor at his residence. Those who took part in the consul-tation, in addition to Prince Hohen-lohe, were Herr Hollmann, the Secretary of State for the Imperial Navy aron von Marschall, the Foreig Secretary, and Dr. Kayser, Director of the Cologial Department. I do not know whether Admiral Knorr of the upreme Command of the Navy was sent. Herr von Holstein certainly did not take part.

The draft of a congratulatory telegram to President Kruger did not exist at the beginning of the discussion; the idea of sending a telegram from the Kaiser arose during the discussion, and when it was approved the Colonial Director, Kayser, drafted the text in a neighboring room, and, after an unimportant al-teration of one passage by Mar-schall's hand, it was signed by the Kalser. It was generally believed in the Foreign Office at the time that the idea came from the Kalser. It was not until many years later that the version arose that the intellectual author of the Kruger telegram was Marschall, and that the Kaiser had been outvoted at the consultation.

Denmark Faces Problem Denmark's stock of swine, which mounted to about 2,500,000 head at the outbreak of the war, has now dropped to 490,000 according to latest estimates. Further serious in-roads on this stock are being com-pelled by the impossibility of im-porting fodder, principally corn. In 1913 Denmark's total export of pork were nearly 250,000 tons, of which just under one-half went to England. All exports have now been stopped, and the ontlook for supplying the domestic consumption's requirements, will be dark if the war continues

PRESENTATION TO TEACHER BY PUPILS

Miss Maysie Walton of Echo Place School Honored by Children

A very pleasing event took place at the closing exercises of the Echo l'lace School on Friday afternoon of Place School on Friday afternoon of last week. The pupils having been told to assemble at the school at three o'clock to hear the results of their examinations, the scholars in the 2nd and 3rd classes took advantage of the occasion to present their teacher, Miss Maysie Walton, with a token of their good-will and mestic consumption's requirements will be dark if the war continues much longer.

The Northern Ontario Association of Baptist Churches is in session at Halleybury.

With a token of their good-will and exteem, previous to her severing her connection with the school. Miss Walton has been a teacher in Echo Place School for the past four years. The following address was read by Master Herbert Styles, and a beautiful genuine seal purse was presented by Miss Marjorie McCubbin on behalf of the scholars: Echo Place, June 28, 1918. Dear Miss Walton,—

Dear Miss Walton,—
During the four years you have been here amongst us as our loved and respected teacher, you have won a warm place in our affections, and it was with sincere regrets that we learned of your intention to leave us, and though at times we have been thoughtless and disobedient, your untiring patience and sympathetic kindness have won many of us to try to be a better boy or girl.

As a token of our esteem for you we wish you to accept this purse and as you make constant use of it, may it remind you of your work among the boys and girls of Echo Place School.

THE SITUATION

The Italians continue their good work without any abatement. A sec- BOTH TROPHIES WON ond victory has now been recorded by them on the Asiago battlefield, and the prisoners taken include 85 chill wind with a continual menace officers and 1,935 men. Vienna is commencing reluctantly to admit the reverses, and the feeling is becoming ful in preventing the tourney, which more and more prevalent that the spirit and the morale of the men are becoming sadly demoralized. On top of all this, the restlessness of the starving people continues to grow

Both the British and the French on the western front have repulsed counter attacks, and strengthened Husband's Heather rink, is now the their lines. The Huns have added one more to their monstrous list of unparalleled deviltry by the sinking of a plainly marked hospital ship, with Canadian medical men and nurses on board The blood thirsty commander makes the excuse that there were American aviation officers on board, and also ammunition. In this he lied with all the glibness of his royal master and the rest of the God forsaken outfit. This additional proof of devilish barbarism will still further nerve the Allies in their determination to bring these modern monsters to their knees.

A DESERVED TRIBUTE The Toronto Sunday World, under the heading "Wonderful Work for the Blind," says: Wonderful things that may be done with and for the blind were demonstrated at the recent closing exer cises of the Institute for the Blind at Brantford. The program, which was largely of a musical character, though elecutionary and literary effort were not wanting, was of so high a character that it is doubtful if pupils in possession of their sight gave an exhibition in this year's clos-ing, which exceled it.

Pupils, for the most part, accon panied the singers. Four boys, playing two planes, gave a double duet resenting a difficult composition. everal girls played plano solos and one the violin, while the Toy Symphony Orchestra, in which the plane, several violins and a number of flute-like instruments were heard with wonderfully pleasing effect, were all a delightful surprise. Girls and boys—some quite small—compose the orchestral aggregation. There were two readings, one from a very small boy, and the other cleverly interpret-ed by one of the seniors. There was also an original poem of much beau-ty, entitled. The Isle of Prayer, by one of the young ladies of the school. In the singing, the voices were above the average, and evidence of train ing, and a certain amount of advanced technique was also shown. visitor was the confidence with which the applies went through their programme, and the freedom of movement with which they moved about the platform. For the most part the performers were given a helping hand in making their first step to the plane or to position, but after that they advanced with assur-ance. Still, another feature was the encoaragement that had cyldently been given to taste in dress, the girls appearing in white, many wearing flowers. The character of the songs, while they struck a not of pathos, was for the most part of a joyous and elevating character flowers, and the beauties of nature being the themes, dancing by a class of the smaller pupils, and a gesture song, is which discs garlanded with flowers used in unison, were other demonstrations of the things that may be done by the blind.

Considering the number of blind

on Ontario—it is stated that there re 7000 in all—and that many of these children, and others young enough to benefit by the educational lines that this school has to offer, it would seem that the government could do nothing better even in war times than extend the building and equipment, and in doing so enlarge the usefulness of the institution. Sir William Hearst was present at the are living a righteous life it is perfectly safe for you to give your in Ontario-it is stated that there

OTHER NEWS OF PARIS Great War Veterans Decorate Graves of Their Fellows

From Our Own Correspondent.
Paris, July 2.—The service in St. James' church on Sunday was of a very impressive character throughout the day. In the morning there was a celebration of the Holy Communion, as also a special intercessory and dedicatory service in fulfilment of the request made by the government. In the evening a special memorial service was held for those members son, preached a most impressive ser- | brated early in May. vice from Rev. 7-13-17. At the close Much of what the ordinary prac

At the close, large numbers passed the chacnel steps, and read the names on the bonor rolls, which had been taken from the rolls of the church and placed there for the occasion. Twenty-nine names on the roll show they have been wounded, another was a prisoner twenty-two months, while the following are those who made the sacrifice:

An Arraignment I knew that Elsie was right about b's hating to see me weep. He had said so many times. But I had given way to tears so often and for such trivial things that I knew it would be difficult to break the habit. "There's another thing, Margaret," Elsie continued, "And that is the way you have acted about your food. That and the tears go together in one way. Both habits make you old, and look old. You are older than Bob and you can't afford to do anything to make yourself a minute You must keep young, older. young."

"But he never noticed when went to the parlors," I replied still with a feeling of hurt because of the omission.

"Of course, he didn't! you waited too long, and his mind was full of this disagreeable thing he had to go through with. I can almost pity im for having to tell, as much as do you for hearing."

"But he didn't have to."
"Yes, he did! he had to do some-He couldn't stand it any longer. You remember, Margaret, I warned you long ago not to push Bob too much; that he was temperamental and wouldn't stand for it. But you didn't, or wouldn't believe me, and this is what was bound to happen. You can be on your knees that it is no worse than it is. Some men would have left you long ago. There, don't get angry, and for pity's sake, don't cry! I told you I was going to help you, after I had told you a few necessary truths; necessary if you were ever to be hanny with Bob."

"Do you think we will ever be happy again?" I asked.

Two Kinds of Onslaught. It is related that at a recent luncheon at Oyster Bay, Col. Roosevelt reeon at Oyster Bay, Col. Roosevelt re-marked that he considered America should have maintained a larger standing army, going on to say that— "Perhaps then Germany would not have dared to murder our wives and habies by the hundred to this

The Gentle Viper.

A species of viper (Viper macropa) from Bosnia, about eighteen inches in length, seems to feed exclusively on grasshoppers. An interesting point about this little snake is that, although poisonous, it may be handled with impunity. If teased it may hiss and snap, but never bits unless seriously hurt, Another viper, which feeds on lizards and mice, has a like ntation for a gentle disposition reputation for a gentle disposition.

This is common in the neighborho of Laxenburg, where the village bo may be seen playing with it.

There would be no possible use to tell you what to do and let you go on thinking you were the abused one, and that you had done nothing to merit this upheaval. I don't say that Bob hasn't perhaps been a little to blame, but compared to you, he has been angelic. I have often wondered just why he didn't kick over the traces long ago. I had made up my mind that the boys held him."
"Perhaps they did."

"Yes, I think they did! and we nust use them now to help us," Elsie said musingly. "But what am I to do, Elsie? the year. Now, will you promise?"

"Then for that year you are to do exactly the opposite to what you have done. You are never to cry. never! you are to eat good, nourishing food, and take care of your looks. You are to keep open house for Bob's friends, and make him feel his home is at least partly his. You are to go with Bob whenever he asks you; and go as if you liked it whether you do or not. You are to show an interest in the things which interest him. You must read and study to keep up with him. He is a brilliant man, Margaret, and you are terribly rusty on all subjects not domestic. Bob is not a domestic man in any sense of the word. So don't bore him," she stopped for breath, then said seriously: "If you will do all these things, and do them in the right spirit, I will guarantee that Bob will love you better than ever he has. EXPLOSION IN BEAUCE.

Ouebec, July 2.—A dynamite ex-Quebec, July 2.—A dynamite explosion shook the entire village of Beauce Saturday afternoon. A number of houses were damaged, but no one was injured. The explosion occurred close to the house of Valere Cosselin, registrar for Beauce county. In this house alone there were twelve perons, some of them weekend visitors from Quebec City. The houses of Notary Cosselin and Notary Taschereau were badly damaged, barely one pane of glass standing the shock of the explosion. A pile of fire wood was shot up in the air by the force of the shock and fence posts were picked up over two hundred feet away.

PREVENTS DISEASE

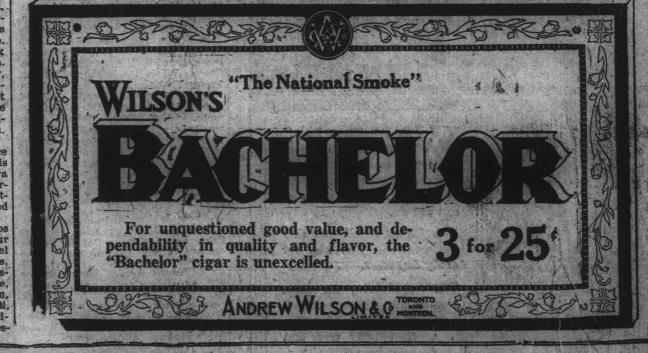

Bad blood is responsible for more ailments than anything else. It causes catarrh, dyspepsia, rheumatism, weak, tired, languid feelings and worse troubles. Hood's Sarsaparilla has been wonderfully successful in purifying and enriching the blood, removing scrofula and other humors, and building up the whole system. Take it-give it to all the family so as to avoid illness. Get it today.

Representatives Appointed to Confer on War Chest Project

At the meeting of the local Council of Women on Friday Mrs. George Watt presented the auditors' statement dealing with all the funds handled by the society since the out-break of the war. This statement was adopted, and on a motion made Watt and seconded by Mrs. Sutherland, it will be published immediately in the local press. Thus the public will be shown how excellently kept are the books of the society and what a higher percentage of pedged monies has been col-

On a motion made by Mrs. Buck and seconded by Mrs. Gordon Duncan, a very hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Mrs. George Watt and the auditors, Messrs. S. H. J. Reid, Fred W. Frank, and C. J. Parker, for their painstaking work in preparing the statement.

opportunity of catering for the luncheon to be served to the howlers at their tournament on July 1st and arrangements are already in the hands of a capable committee. As a special plea has just been received from the Canadian War Contingent Association for funds to supply Christmas pudding to all Canadalan soldiers abroad, it was moved by Mrs. Wm. Watt and seconded by Mrs. J. Heath, that all money collected from the tournament up to one hundred dollars, be donated to this fund. Carried.

Mrs. Wlm. Watt, treasurer of the committee which arranged for the conference luncheons, read a statement showing how this hospitality was paid for through the generosity of the Ladies' Aid Societies of the The routine business having thus been disposed of, Rev. G. A. Woodside addressed the meeting to explain the proposed War Chest. In a concise and lucid manner

Common garden sage browed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. hair beautifully dark and luxuriant.
Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store. drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hai with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell because it does it so naturally, so evenly You just dampen a sponge brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after an other application or two, your hair beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant. This preparation is a delightfu

Mr. Woodside described the operations of this way of raising money for all war charities, whereby one campaign collects for British Cross, Canadian Red Cross, France's Day, the Patriotic Fund, etc. On the conclusion of his address Mrs. Buck were appointed as representatives to meet with others interested in the War Chest project and to discuss its feasibility.

A Tin Pyrometer.

A fin Pyrometer.

A tin pyrometer is now used for measuring temperatures above the thermocouple range with the use of a direct insertion pyrometer. According to the Electrical World, the tin is contained i na graphite bulb and expands through a graphite capillary tube. In this way the metal is subject to a reducing atmosphere, which is to a reducing atmosphere, which ject to a reducing atmosphere, whiteheas to maintain a bright surfa and keep the metal pure and from dross. The expansion of the state and keep the metal pure and lies from dross. The expansion of the graphite is almost negligible in comparison with that of the tin. The tin does not appreciately evaporate until a temperature of presumably 2,000 deg. C., is reached, so that no difficulty in change of calibration is encountered. A steel tube containing an insulated contact is lowered down to the capillary tube until it makes a contact with the surface of the tin and thus completes a circuit through an electric buzzer or sounder. The height of the tin is indicated by the position of the upper end of the steel tube which holds a pointer that moves beside a scale. Since the contact is insulated in quartz, which has an inappreciable thermal expansion, the inaccuracy is negligible.

Rippling Rhymes

BUSY ANIMALS.

The hens are laying luscious fruit, and cackle in their pride; they seem to know that from the Teut they'll help to take the hide. My Dorking hens, in other days, were rather stern and dour; but now whene'er a chicken lays she cackles by the hour. My old red cow's as fine as silk, she knows our needs, I think; the way she's turning out the milk silk, she knows our needs, I think; the way she's turning out the milk would drive a man to drink. She would drive a man to drink. She stancs around and thews her cud, stancs around and thews her cud, sedulous efforts of the British to until the milking is done, and seems to say, "This forming thod will help to can the Hun." It may be I ima-gine it, but Dobbin seems to know; gine it, but Dobbin seems to know; he pulls up harder on the bit, he's always keen to go. I hitch him to my one-hoss plow, and as he does his trick, methinks he says, "I'm striving now to queer the Prussian hick." This Dobbin horse was wont to balk before we drew the sword, and I would pelt him with a rock and lam him with a board. It may be I impose things but let us how? be I imagine things, but let us hope I'm right; we'll surely spoil the kraut-fed kings, if all the

The Echo From Rheims. The bombardment of the Cathedral of Rheims consolidated Mohammedans in India against Germany medans in India against Germany. This interesting statement is made by Bishop Warne of the American Methodist Church who has lived in India as a missionary for many years. He declares that in Lucknow the news of the first attack upon the cathedral was followed by the formation of an Indian National Mohammedan League. The leaders of this avoid hurting the sensibilities of Mohammedans. A special and shin-ing instance of the British way was cited by Bishop Warne in an interview quoted by the Literary Digest city authorities, rather than commit such a sacrilege, were preparing to construct a subway under the prayer platform. The Viceroy took the position that the street should be diverted slightly. Thus the expense of a subway was avoided, and the prayer platform was undisturbed.

Since the capture of Jerusalem additional evidence has been offered to the Mohammedan world of the contrast between British and German methods. In the days of peace Wilhelm of Germany visited Palestine. A portion of the wall of Jerusalem was pulled down so that he could have the satisfaction of riding into the city. In war-time, Gen, Allenby left his horses outside the walls and entered the city on foot. If, as Bishop Warne testifies, the reverberations of the guns trained upon Rheims reached the bazaars of Lucknow, how much more, the story of the British advance on Jerusalem?
