If you don't like Armada Tea the first time you try it, don't blame the Tea. ARMADA is so much better than any other tea, and so different, that you should not decide about it with your first cup. The way and time it is steeped makes an enormous difference. The correct way is to steep from 5 to 6 minutes, according to taste, with freshly boiled water and then (this is most important) remove the leaves from the pot, otherwise it will get strong and bitter. If you follow out these directions we have no hesitation in saying that you will find the best tea you ever tasted. ARMADA.

CHAPTER V.
"No, I did not, mamma. Mr. Bruce—a neighboring vicar—asked me who the charming girl in white was—meaning Sydney. And the Countess said she had the prettiest, most natural figure she had seen for a long time."
"Very polite of the Countess," coldly.

"And Mr. Duvesne watched Sydney all the time she played with the school-children at that idiotic 'gathering nuts in May.' After you brought him to me he hardly spoke. I don't think he listened when I talked. I said I was tired and would he get me some tea? And," finished Leonora, shaking her elegantly shaped head very gravely, "he went quite briskly. But he never came back! Instead, he followed Sydney for an hour with a heavy dish of cake!"

This was serious. Mrs. Alwyn seated herself for meditation, surveying the situation uneasily. Mr. Duvesne, an honorable and Reverend scion of the great Conyngham family, was the man whom she was ready to move heaven and earth to gain for a son-in-law—a husband for Leonora. But it was on the cards that John Alwyn's daughter might come most undesirably to the front, and, once there, hold her own in any company. The thought that the child, unwelcome from her first breath, should oust the darling offspring of her first marriage was intolerable. The mother, weighted with uneven burden, puckered her brows, and bit her lips, and sighed, but saw no light through her difficulties—quick though she mostly was at finding the straightest road to her own advantage.

For once Leonora's unimaginative self opened the way out of perplexity.
"It would be awkward, mamma," she said, plaintively, "if this sort of thing always went on. I should dislike Sydney—and I've no desire to do so. I can only think of one plan to set things comfortable."
"Ah!" Her mother looked up, anxious, not hopeful.

"And perhaps that isn't possible. But would it not be very nice if we could get Sydney pleasantly away? Get her—married, or going to be, so she wouldn't interfere at all? Could it be done?"

Mrs. Alwyn got up and kissed her daughter rapturously.
"Done! It's the very thing! An admirably unselfish thought! I fancy I see my way. I believe I know the very man. I won't lose a day, my love, in attending to it!"

And surely enough that same afternoon's post bore forth the first move in this newly suggested family game.

CHAPTER VI.

The missive calculated to inter-meddle with our heroine's fortunes was compiled with much thought and care, addressed in her mother's faultlessly correct handwriting to one "Major Villiers, Petersham," and ran thus:
"The Dale, St. Clair's, June 20.
"My Dear Alfred—It was only an hour ago, when talking with Leonora, that it occurred to me your visit to us, postponed these last two summers, ought surely to take place this

"Oh, ho! The ladies don't hit it off, that's it in plain English," said the major, with a superior masculine chuckle; "but if my sister-in-law thinks I'm going to put my finger in to that description of family pie, she's very much mistaken. Never was able to argue with a woman in my life.

They trip you up with a smile or half a dozen tears, and then what's a fellow to do?"
"I am so anxious for my children's welfare that perhaps I harass myself unnecessarily; but looking to the future, I can see my little home peacefully with your brother's child alone, and (alas!) peacefully with her and Sydney. Under these circumstances, I am sure you will quickly see in what I am trusting as a remedy—"
"No, that I'll be hanged if I can!" muttered the major, but he was quickly enlightened.
"In marriage—"
"Oh!" groaned the gallant officer; "what schemers these women are!"
"And here I think you may possibly arrange something to our mutual satisfaction—"
"Why," stammered the lady's confidant, coloring up to the roots of his gray hair, "she doesn't mean to offer her daughter to me, does she?"
"For if your son Rupert" (O—h!) "is still free and feeling any inclination to settle in life, I frankly tell you he would be a most acceptable son-in-law—"
The major heaved a sigh of relief, looked grave, and read on very seriously after this.
"You, and he through you, knowing every circumstance connected with our family affairs, would require no explanation of past events, which in itself would be a great relief to me Sydney, if the marriage were arranged, would, I trust, settle happily into a suburban life. There would be little likelihood of her returning to her unfortunate father's neighborhood which I have always felt most undesirable. Such a terrible collapse as his may even yet be remembered there. And, lastly, Mr. Rupert would secure a wife and immediate dowry neither of which, I think, is inferior to what he may have the choice of in general society. Think this all over my dear major, and if your judgment agrees with mine, that the match is one to be wished, come down and talk over with me. With me only, of course. With Sydney's temperament it would be quite unwise to let her have any suspicion of our plan. She has a great tendency to independence of action, but perhaps you gentleman might like her none the worse for that. Looking impatiently for your reply, with Leonora's kind love and my own.
"Ever, dear Alfred,
"Yours very truly,
"HELEN ALWYN."
"The truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth!" Now I wonder if his is any or all of that," mused the major, treating himself to the unusual luxury of a second cigar, to assist his cogitations. "The worst of women is, they're so confoundedly crafty."
Then he began his letter again, hummed and had over the commencement, underlined with his massive gold pencil the fact that Sydney's mother had no fault to find with her.

put a double mark under the sum mentioned as coming into the girl's control so speedily, emphatically scored the admission of what would be a great relief to Mrs. Alwyn, with rather a grim smile, and "No question she means that! But I don't know as we ought to blame her. At any rate, it's all done with long ago!" and finally, with head well back, and steadfastly sky-gazing, he ruminated long over "if Rupert is still free, and feeling an inclination to settle in life."
"Delightful pliability!" muttered the major, his gray eyebrows comically raised. "Well, well! the dead know no wrong, but poor Hal used to be dubbed as weak as ditch-water when he was alive. I suppose this is the same fact but politely."
"I find no fault with her. Pray don't think I complain of her. She has qualities which make her much liked by some. I merely confide in you that I foresee many embarrassments arising from my two families, though each so small, especially when another year makes Sydney mistress of her six thousand pounds, and leaves me so much the poorer—"
"Oh, ho! The ladies don't hit it off, that's it in plain English," said the major, with a superior masculine chuckle; "but if my sister-in-law thinks I'm going to put my finger in to that description of family pie, she's very much mistaken. Never was able to argue with a woman in my life.

present one. Pardon me for not writing and pressing this before, but, as you know, with all the weight of domestic minutiae, and the cares inseparable from the charge of two unmarried girls, my mind is always on the stretch, and I fear I am sometimes remiss where I ought to be the very reverse. Your niece and I both hope, however, that you will show you are not offended by coming to us as quickly as possible. We shall be so glad to receive you at any time you may fix. I may add, if you need further persuasion, that I have much to consult you about, much to speak of, whereon I feel your advice will be invaluable—"

"Now that must mean," quoth the major to himself, taking his cigar from his lips, and meditatively expelling rings of smoke as he lounged, "letter in hand, upon his balcony overlooking the calm beauty of the Thames valley—"that certainly must mean my clever sister-in-law wants to get something or other out of me. Let me see: the last time she requested my counsel it turned out she wanted to stay at my Cousin Sarah's in Piccadilly, and to get an invitation for Miss Leonora to the Artillery Fete. The time before it was Henley Regatta; and before that—Well, with a great puff, "I can't recollect; but the good lady's affection isn't disinterested, as a rule. However, I needn't cry out before I'm hurt. Will see what's on the carpet now. Advice—h'm, h'm—'invaluable'—ah! here's the place."
"Perhaps it may be as well to name the point that disturbs me now before we meet. Candidly, then, it's about Sydney; and though she is no real relation to you, yet, as you are associated with my own brother in the trusteeship of her little property (which charge will end next year, for she is twenty now), I am sure you will not mind my troubling you with what concerns her—"
"Twenty! Is she really?" pondered Major Villiers, with another pause. "How time flies, to be sure! And what's the young lady up to, I wonder! Got into some love-scraper, I'll be bound, as all girls do—except my niece, Leonora, by the way. She doesn't seem to hurry herself. Now, Miss Sydney. At your service."
"It is really quite a misfortune that all my younger daughter's strongest characteristics are at variance with her sister's; but such being the case, more pronouncedly so every year, you can conceive the difficulty it is to me to do justice to them both, more especially as Sydney has not that delightful pliability of disposition which Leonora inherits from her dear father—"

"Delightful pliability!" muttered the major, his gray eyebrows comically raised. "Well, well! the dead know no wrong, but poor Hal used to be dubbed as weak as ditch-water when he was alive. I suppose this is the same fact but politely."

But I don't know as we ought to blame her. At any rate, it's all done with long ago!" and finally, with head well back, and steadfastly sky-gazing, he ruminated long over "if Rupert is still free, and feeling an inclination to settle in life."
"Delightful pliability!" muttered the major, his gray eyebrows comically raised. "Well, well! the dead know no wrong, but poor Hal used to be dubbed as weak as ditch-water when he was alive. I suppose this is the same fact but politely."
"I find no fault with her. Pray don't think I complain of her. She has qualities which make her much liked by some. I merely confide in you that I foresee many embarrassments arising from my two families, though each so small, especially when another year makes Sydney mistress of her six thousand pounds, and leaves me so much the poorer—"
"Oh, ho! The ladies don't hit it off, that's it in plain English," said the major, with a superior masculine chuckle; "but if my sister-in-law thinks I'm going to put my finger in to that description of family pie, she's very much mistaken. Never was able to argue with a woman in my life.

Granulation of the Eyelids

is Cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment—
Scores of Uses for the Great Soothing, Healing Ointment.
Most people know Dr. Chase's Ointment best as a cure for eczema and itching piles. Nor is this to be wondered at when you think of the remarkable record made in this class of cases.
But there are scores of other uses for this ointment, which are only discovered when it is kept constantly at hand.
Mrs. Martin, 13 Carroll street, Toronto, formerly of Bowmanville, Ont., writes: "We have used Dr. Chase's Ointment for years, and found it invaluable in treating skin irritations and all sorts of burns and wounds. In fact, we would not be without it in the house. It is a most excellent treatment for granulated eyelids, from which I suffered without finding anything to help me."
Wherever there is itching of the skin or a sore that refuses to heal you can use Dr. Chase's Ointment with full assurance that it will prove entirely satisfactory. 60 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

Rupert, the one son the major's brief married life in India had bequeathed him, was still free—rather more free, in fact, than his father desired. Settling in life would be a capital thing for him; the most admirable check that could be devised on certain tendencies the young man was exhibiting for going a faster pace than his means could afford. The salary of a clerk in the War Office (Mr. Villier's vocation, for years before he had entirely refused to follow his father's; "going out to be shot wasn't in his line," he said) was not calculated to keep up fashionable bachelor apartments, membership of a select club, a growing circle of own friends, and a taste for amusements, desirable or otherwise. If the allurements of a young wife, a home, "somewhere out this way," thought the major, who was fond of his riverside lodgings, and had vainly endeavored to entice his son into sharing them—if these could attract him into the bondage of domesticity, why, then, good-luck attend the business, and bring it to a speedy conclusion.
"It would finely ease my mind, I know," thought the father, a vision of another sheaf of bills as he had lately paid off for his son floating ominously before him. "And the boy has got his own income; not large, but I'd double his allowance—put a little on besides; perhaps, he—they—might as well have it now as wait till I'm dead and buried. And then this child, Sydney, will have—have" (mentally doing a sum in division) "somewhere between two and three hundred a year. Oh!" with a profound shake of the head that seemed to clinch the matter, "Rupert might indeed go further and fare worse. I'll take the 11.40 up and have a talk with him."

Which conclusion reached, the major stepped in-doors, changed his matutinal alpaca for the soberest of well-cut tweeds, informed his landlady, widow of an old Scotch sergeant that he should lunch in town, sauntered by the water-side to Richmond, over the bridge, and off via Victoria to the Club—where he was likely to find his son discussing chops and bitter ale at one o'clock.
And there, sure enough, at his usual table in the corner of the handsome "Junior Midlands" apartment, sat Mr. Rupert Villiers, but seemingly not in the best of humors.

8882—A NEAT APRON.

Ladies' Apron.

This simple easily made style, is good for gingham, chambray, percale, lawn, denim, sateen, and brilliantine. It affords ease to the wearer and protection for the dress beneath. The waist is cut in low square outline, and gathered to a belt that holds the skirt, which has serviceable pockets. This apron could be charmingly developed in striped gingham, or seersucker, with the free edges finished in scalloped embroidery, or feather stitched. Percale in a pretty pattern with binding or braid or tape in a contrasting color would also be nice. The Pattern is cut in 3 sizes: Small, Medium and Large. It requires 3 3/4 yards of 36 inch material for a Medium size.
A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. in silver or stamps.

9518—A NEW AND PRACTICAL APRON.

Six and a Half Dozen.

By RUTH CAMERON.

Two letters lie open before me. One is from a wife and one is from a husband. The husband says, "Can you tell me anything to do for a nagging wife? My wife is always nagging at me about one thing or another. If she didn't say so much I'd pay more attention to her, but I'm so used to being reproached for one thing after another that my ears have gotten nag proof."

"Can't you write something that she will see, advising women not to nag their husbands. Tell them it does more good to speak about a thing once or twice and then keep still. She reads your articles, and it might make some impression on her."

The letter from a wife (not this man's wife, that would be too much of a coincidence) reads:

"I wish you would say something in your column about husbands who don't pay any attention to what their wives say, but keep right on doing the same things."

"My husband is a dear, but he has some very trying little faults. For one thing he is terribly disorganized. He drops everything exactly where he happens to be. I'll have our little apartment in apple-pie order when he comes home at night, and the next morning it will look as if a hurricane had passed through it. I spend a good deal of my morning just picking up after him. He thinks it is only a little thing, and he doesn't realize how much harder it makes the work."

"Another thing, he is very often late to meals. If it were necessary I wouldn't care but it isn't. He just doesn't realize how much trouble he makes, and lets himself be careless about it."

"Of course I've spoken to him about these things and tried to make him realize how hard it is for me, and he promises to do better, but he doesn't. And lately I've noticed that he gets touchy when I say anything, though at first he was very pleasant. I'm afraid he thinks I'm nagging him and if there's anything I hate in the world it's nagging. But what can I do? If he wouldn't keep doing the things I wouldn't keep speaking about them. I hate it worse than he does but his untidiness and his tardiness make my work so hard and I'm not strong."

"Won't you please write an article, Miss Cameron, saying that women wouldn't nag if husbands would pay more attention to what they said in the first place."

The case for the prosecution and the defense both rest, and leave the judge to charge the jury.

Unfortunately the judge does not feel competent to do that. Although her sympathies are strongly on one side she doesn't feel that she has a right to say which comes first, the hen or the egg, the heedless man or the nagging woman.

In every case of this sort each thinks the other caused all the trouble, and each probably deserves some share of the blame.

Let's hope these two letters will give both husbands and wives a better understanding of the way the other party feels about it.

Ruth Cameron

What Cinema Favourites Earn.

The £ s. d. of Film Making.

Picture-actresses and actors whose names are almost household words draw salaries that would make many stars of the legitimate stage green with envy. Besides, the picture-player's money is regular for fifty-two weeks of the year, whilst the footlight favourite's is liable to last for only a few months out of the twelve.

The biggest salaries in the picture business are paid in America. A star player such as Miss Alice Joyce receives £60 to £80 per week, and this amount grades down until we reach the unattached super who wanders from studio to studio seeking a day's work wherever he can obtain it, and asking 5 dollars (£) per day. There are all manner of salaries in between these two figures.

The capable "character" player who is ready to take any kind of part at a moment's notice, and do it well, and who is, therefore, a useful man (or woman) to have round the studio, although the public do not trouble to find out his name or ask their picture-palace manager to show all the films in which he acts, is worth £7 to £10 per week.

£ 100 a Week.

The leading man, unless he happens to be world-famous like Maurice Costello, or working on a salary and royalty basis like some of the best-known picture stars, will receive from £30 to £50 per week.

John Bunny is reputed to receive £80 as a weekly honorarium, and Costello £100, and they are worth these sums to the fortunate company for whom they work.

In this country six to eight pounds is a good weekly salary for a leading actor, and superstars contented with 7s. 6d. per day, with travelling expenses and meals provided. A leading artist's life is not a bed of roses; a super's life is to be avoided if any regular occupation is obtainable.

The super applies at the film-making company's office in the morning, and journeys to their country studio, but if the weather is bad and no pictures can be taken he receives only his expenses. The result is that a week's anxiety may produce two days' pay. Superstars are often regular actors, who attempt to earn a little extra money by working for the camera when otherwise they would be "resting."

The man who earns most money at picture-making, and deserves it, is a man the public seldom sees and never hears about. He is called the producer, and stands beside the camera directing the performers during the actual taking of the photographs and before. "Mr. Smith," he says, "open your eyes wider; you're supposed to be horror-stricken. And you, Miss Jones, keep that right arm quite still; you're unconscious." He engineers the thrills, and upon his ability depends the play's success, for he may allow or force the artistes to do actions that will destroy its realism.

An Incredible Salary.

The greatest photo-play director in the world is Mr. David W. Griffith formerly of the Biograph Company. He began making pictures in 1908 and promptly put his company at the head of the entire trade. He recently broke away from them, joining another big organization at a salary of £500 per week. This salary may seem incredible, but the writer has been assured that this statement is strictly correct. One of the British film papers suggested that £500 per week was a sample of Yankee exaggeration, and was promptly taken to task by the chief U.S.A. picture journal.

"It is because of this hesitating 'big game' attitude," said the American paper, "that England, in spite of its wonderful history and scenery lags behind in cinematography. To produce good films you must pay good salaries to good men. We some times pay enormous salaries to men who are more fitted for driving milk wagons than directing screen-plays but it is better to err on the side of extravagance."

Producers in Britain are usually partners in the companies for whom they work, but when they have no interest in the business their salary averages £6 or £8 per week, with a royalty on the sale of all pictures produced by them.

Another individual whose work is very important to the success of a play, but of whose existence little is known by the outside public, is the camera man. He must be a first class photographer, and have an eye for pretty scenery. The artistic setting of a photo-play and the clever lighting effects are all his work.

Exactly how much depends upon the camera man will be understood by this. A certain British company took a troupe of players to a distant part of Britain in order to produce some thrilling plays. The actors and actresses stayed in a little village for a fortnight and were well satisfied with their work. On returning to town the films were developed, when it was discovered that owing to a defect in the camera, which had passed noticed, the photograph was one long line of ghosts, the players being apparently transparent, and the backgrounds showing through their bodies. Nothing could be done with these films, although the expedition had cost the company nearly £500.

A moving picture studio is not complete without its staff of carpenters, scene-painters, and property men. These workers are recruited from the ranks of stage employees, and receive from 50s. to £5 per week, the scene-painters being highest paid.

There is practically no chance for anybody without influence and experience obtaining an acting position at a good salary with a film-making company.—Tit-Bits.

Sick, Sour Stomach Indigestion, Or Gas

Take "Pape's Diapepsin" and in five minutes you'll wonder what became of misery in stomach.

Wonder what upset your stomach— which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in revolt, if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps, head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and flatness.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. "A little Diapepsin occasionally" keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

TREATY OF PARIS 1856. This closed the Crimean War, which had dragged along for two years. The chief points of the treaty were that the Powers should recognize the independence of Turkey, that the Black Sea should be neutral and its ports thrown open to commerce of all nations, and that all places held by the Allies belonging to Russia should be restored.

Peace hath her victories,
No less renown'd than war.

LONDON, To-day.

The Army order, which Asquith announced, is generally considered to have been a sort of charter by which Field Marshal French and General Ewart might be induced to remain in their positions. Colonel Seeley's tenure of office at the War Ministry seems destined to be of short continuance. The Westminster Gazette, the Daily Chronicle and the foremost among the Liberal papers are saying Colonel Seeley must relinquish his portfolio. The name of John Burns is most discussed as his probable successor. That Democratic Government could be carried to such lengths to give the supervision of the Army into the hands of a sturdy character who came into limelight first as a labor agitator, would have been unthinkable a decade ago. Yet the same recognition of the soldier as on the same plane as the officer in the charter rights of duties which the Government proclaimed is a long step towards the levelling of classes. The King's action and attitude during the crisis is gradually becoming known. The attacks of Radicals and Laborites on the King for an alleged interference in politics has subsided. The Unionists are criticizing His Majesty quietly among themselves. The Unionists have most reason to complain of the King's policy, as it would appear from most trustworthy accounts of the happenings at Buckingham Palace during the frequent conferences which the King had with Cabinet Ministers and army officers.

The King followed the Ministers' Home Rule controversy and while maintaining impartiality apparently had a personal leaning toward Home Rule. The King and members of his court are out spoken in their condemnation of Carson organizing the Ulster volunteers, resented his act of reviewing the volunteers, as though they were a regular military body, assuming a prerogative by reason of which Liberals named him King Carson. Such an offense is an unpardonable sin in the eyes of the court. The Home Rule Bill will come up again on Tuesday which with two the following days will be devoted to the second reading. The events of the past week have in no way modified the plans of the Ministry, regarding proceeding with the Bill and with Welsh Disestablishment, before an appeal is made to the country. The expectation of some opposition journals that the Government will be bound to go under, in consequence of the military upheaval seems likely to be disappointed. The Government organs declare the Ministry is as strong as ever, pointing to Monday's majority of 92, while even opposition journals admit there is a lull after the storm of last week. Although it has been suggested that the Premier may be disposed to make additional concessions to Ulster to-morrow, it is asserted the Nationalists have pronounced strongly against any further surrender being made. Ministers have denied the current rumor concerning their consent to a general election conditional upon Home Rule, Welsh Disestablishment being allowed to pass. The fact of the opposition not being inclined to enter into any negotiations with them. Now it is a case of war to the knife. A dissolution in July is anticipated before which the Government counts on placing the two principal measures on the Statute Book.

Another Arbitration.

According to the New York Times, of March 22nd, one of the objects of the visit of Sir Edward Morris to the United States was to make final arrangements for an arbitration to begin in 1915 on a claim of the States against Newfoundland for $200,000 for alleged illegal seizure of American fishing vessels, fines for violation of bait and Customs laws, collection of light dues and duties on fishing supplies from American fishermen. This is the dispute which was not settled by the Hague Tribunal in 1909. It was by agreement referred to a special tribunal. Sir Edward Morris announced in 1910 that he hoped to have the whole matter settled by agreement. It would appear he has failed to do so, and we are now faced with another arbitration.

Withdraw Resignations.

The announcement of the withdrawal of their resignations from the Army Council by the Chief of Staff, Sir John French and the Adjutant General, Sir John Ewart, will be hailed with satisfaction. An explanation of the circumstances will probably be given in the House of Commons to-day and will be awaited with interest. The inception of this affair appears to have been a gigantic blunder on the part of the Secretary for War and the First Lord of the Admiralty. If the plan was a political coup, then they were wrong in using the army and navy to play it. If it was merely a plan to preserve law and order, then they blundered in countermanding the orders. It was bad enough making the army and navy pawns in the political game, it was worse using the King as a whipping boy. That showed neither decency nor political sagacity. The paltering with General Gough and his band of officers was bad enough, the fooling of the Chief of Staff and the Adjutant General was worse. That Colonel Seeley can be kept at the War Office is inconceivable. Premier Asquith should have accepted his resignation and if it is true that Churchill was in the political game of using the Navy as a pawn then his resignation would also be in order. If, however, no political coup was contemplated and put into partial operation, then the matter assumes another complexion; and it resolves itself into an exhibition of the most unpardonable vacillation. The whole affair reflects little credit on the principal ministers concerned.

Sealing Boats.

In the wireless message received from the Neptune on Saturday when that steamer was N.E. of St. Paul's Island in the Gulf, the Terra Nova, Viking and Erik were reported, but the Southern Cross was not seen. Therefore, the conclusion is drawn that the latter bore up for home and is evidently the steamer that passed Channel last evening.

It was currently reported around town this morning that the Beothic had been ordered home by her owners. Mr. R. B. Job, who was interviewed by a Telegram representative knew nothing of such a course, but it was not unlikely that the ship may come home soon.

No message was received from the Gulf to-day.

Reids' Boats.

The Bruce arrived at Port aux Basques at 1.30 p.m. yesterday, and sails again from there after the arrival of yesterday's express.

The Ethie arrived at Placentia from the Red Island route at 4.30 p.m. yesterday, and sails for the westward this evening.

The Glencoe left Belleoram at 10.30 a.m. to-day, coming east.

The Lintrose left Port aux Basques at 4.30 a.m. to-day.

BOWING SHIPS.

The s.s. Portia sails at six o'clock this evening for western ports, taking a large outward freight.

Advance Showing of New Gowns.

We beg to announce for this week our display of latest Evening Gowns, and Bridge and Afternoon Frocks. These are copies of French Model Gowns, in lovely shades and designs; no two alike. We give below a description of one Gown, but they must be seen for their elegance to be fully appreciated.

This model is of rich, heavy Ivory Crepe-de-Chine. Waist has folded Chiffon vest caught with tiny cut crystals; sleeves are of Chiffon draped entirely with exquisite lace, waist is veiled with lace, has wide crushed girdle and is finished at corsage with a cluster of shaded Mauve roses and a long rope of pearl and crystal beads. The skirt is in straight clinging lines, and has a double pleum of lace, held in place at back by drape and flat bow of Crepe-de-Chine. This Gown is a very beautiful one in its perfect lines and drapings.

I turned an ancient poet's book. And found upon the pages, "Stone walls do not a prison make Nor iron bars a cage."

Yes, that is true. And something more: That gilded walls And marbled halls Will never make a home.

Mr. Allen's Concert.

The concert last night was enjoyed by a large audience in the T. A. Hall. It was held under the patronage and in the presence of His Excellency the Administrator and the Lord Bishop of Newfoundland. The first portion of the programme consisted of selections from Haydn's Creation, the solos being taken by Miss Russell, Mr. Fred Cornick and Mr. Pierpont, who acquitted themselves in excellent manner. Miss Herder sang "He shall feed his flock" from the "Messiah," and Mr. Frank Seymour "Where'er you walk" by Handel, while the Cathedral Choir sang beautifully Macfarren's "The Lord is my Shepherd." Miss Sybil Johnson gave an interesting rendition of Mozart's difficult Concerto in D major, and "Newfoundland" with Mr. Allen's setting concluded the programme, which follows:—

Creation.
 Recit.: In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth.
 Chorus: And the Spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters.
 Recit.: And God saw the light, that it was good.
 Air: Now vanish before the holy beams.
 Chorus: Despairing cursing rage attends the rapid fall.
 Recit.: And God said, Let there be lights in the firmament.
 Recit.: In splendor bright is rising now the sun.
 Chorus: The Heavens are telling.
 Trio: To day that is coming.
 Trio: In all the lauds resounds the word.
 Recit.: And God created man in his own image.
 Air: In native worth and honour clad.
 Chorus: Achieved is the glorious work;
 The Lord beholds it, and is pleased.
 In lofty strains let us rejoice.
 Our song let be the praise of God.

Messiah.
 Air: He shall feed His Flock.
 Chorus: Glory to God in the highest, and peace on earth, goodwill towards men.
Solemn Method.
 For orchestra by Walford Davies.

Fish Frozen by New Method.

A novel way to freeze fish for shipment has been invented in Denmark, which consists of dipping the fish in fresh water and then thrusting it into a vessel containing refrigerated brine. The fresh-water film around the fish congeals instantly, preventing the access of the salt from the brine. So quickly does this method work that a live codfish 18 inches long was frozen hard enough to be sawed in 15 minutes.

Law Consolidation.

It is announced that a Commission to Consolidate the Statute Laws of Newfoundland, will be appointed by the Government and will consist of Mr. Donald Morison, K.C., The Minister of Justice, Mr. C. H. Clean Up Day

Edmonton, Alta., March 29.—Thirty-five thousand men and women and pupils in the public and parochial schools, or half of the population of Edmonton, will take part in the annual spring cleaning and city beautification week, beginning the morning of May 4. C. Lionel Gibbs, Chairman of the City Beautiful Committee of the Edmonton Industrial Association, which is composed of 600 active business and professional men, will have full charge of the campaign.

The association will co-operate with the public works department in cleaning several hundred miles of paved and graded streets and lanes, and the ground on vacant properties will be ploughed and sowed to grains, grasses, root crops, and flowers and shrubbery adapted to this part of the country. The horticultural society also will assist. The committee having charge of the work will encourage the painting of houses and the repairing of walks and fences wherever necessary and assist residents in all parts of the city in beautifying their places.

"Our committee of a hundred men is making a survey of the city," Mr. Gibbs said to-day, "and we have the preliminary work so well in hand that I feel safe in announcing that not a nook or corner will be overlooked. Our city, which occupies a commanding site on both sides of the picturesque Saskatchewan River, will be a model for any community of the North American continent when we complete our work."

W. J. Magrath, President of the Edmonton Industrial Association, has pledged the entire membership of that organization to assist one or more days during the week, and it is expected that Mayor McNamara will proclaim a public holiday, so that all may participate.

DAVY CROCKETT.
 By GEORGE FITCH.

Author of "At Good Old Sivash."

Davy Crockett was a 101 per cent American citizen, who lived, very formally, between the years 1786 and 1836.

In those days life in the western frontier of the United States was even more dangerous than it is during a hot political campaign to-day, said Crockett being in Kentucky and Tennessee. Crockett was born in Kentucky and spent his youth roaming the region between the Ohio and the gulf, talking politics, real estate and philosophy, and now and then shooting at something with his long barreled rifle. Crockett never shot more than once at anything, being a careful shot and not fond of wasting powder. Once was always enough. In fact, he was so dead a shot that he is the only man recorded in history or mythology who could bring down his game without any shot at all. It is claimed that whenever a coon saw Crockett aiming at him he would call out, "Don't shoot, Davy, I'll come down."

Just at present a large number of trusts seem to be mistaking Woodrow Wilson for Davy Crockett.

Crockett wore a coonskin cap with a tall tail and deerskin pants and moccasins. But when he went to Congress for Tennessee he put on the wide felt hat of civilization and became noted for his humor and good sense. When Tennessee became too tame for him he went to Texas, which was suffering from Mexicanitis in its worst form, and helped citizens get up a revolution. It was a great success but Crockett did not live to see it. Together with a few hundred other patriots he was trapped in an old adobe church in San Antonio called "The Alamo" by several thousand Spaniards. He could have escaped with the other strong men, but they would have had to leave the sick and undergo that painful form of death known as a Mexican trial. So they all stayed. Crockett died with the rest so gloriously that Texas still refers to the Spartans as "The Crocketts of Greece."

But we can't help having some slight sympathy for the Mexican soldiers who had to hang around the Alamo while Crockett was still shooting that long barreled rifle.

Fill pastry shelves with creamed sweetbreads; they make a delicious centree.

God Bless Our Native Land

Let Ulster, and let Munster, Connaught, and Leitrim, too, Decide the fight between them Of what is right to do.

The peace which Terra Nova Has hallowed round her brow Let now the hand of discord Dare snatch it from her now.

May Heaven smile upon her And guard her wave-washed strand And watch and keep her ever, God bless our native land.

Now are we not all brothers And sisters of one God, And have we not all sprung from The same dear native sod?

And are not our aspirations, Our hopes and fears the same, For to love dear Terra Nova And to win her wealth and fame.

Then let us be united, All joined by heart and hand, And let our daily prayer be— God bless our native land.

I strongly recommend your Prescription "A" to all sufferers with Indigestion and Dyspepsia. I use all kinds of medicine and consult various specialists without cure, saw your Prescription "A" advertised in the papers and tried a few bottles and it made a perfect cure of me.

MRS. HALL, Hayward Ave., St. John's.

To Dr. F. Stafford & Son, Dear Sirs,—

I am sending you 60 cents stamps. Please send me one 50 cent bottle of Prescription "A", the 10 cents balance will pay for postage. You sent me a trial bottle a short while ago and it almost cured my wife and I think another 50 cent bottle will make a cure. I have tried doctors and all kinds of medicine but I don't believe that there is any medicine that can cure a bad stomach like Stafford's Prescription "A". I am more than thankful that you advertised this medicine. Please forward as quick as possible.

EVENING—APPARENTLY WELL
MISHED—STEAMER SUPPOSED TO BE SOUTHERN CROSS OR
TERRA NOVA, BUT TOO FAR OFF TO IDENTIFY.

Last evening messages were astir in sealing circles, when the news, was currently reported that a steamer had passed out of the Gulf loaded. Just after tea a large concourse of people assembled near the General Post Office, where word was received that a Gulf steamer was homeward bound and deeply laden. Many conflicting messages were posted up as to what steamer was coming. The only official message was received at 7 o'clock last night by Mr. Stott, Postal Telegraph Superintendent from the operator at Port aux Basques, and read as follows:—

"Steamer passing out of the Gulf, distant, supposed to be Southern Cross or Terra Nova; flags flying; looked well mished."

The general opinion is that the reported steamer is the Southern Cross while a great many hold that it is the Terra Nova, on account of the latter ship being reported for 24,000 five days ago, while the catch of the "Cross" was not reported for the spring, though she was mentioned as doing well. As the names and hulls of both vessels are so different that it would be an easy matter for the operator at Port aux Basques to say definitely what steamer passed, the fact of the word "distant," used in the message to Mr. Stott and the hour the message came, are assurances enough that the ship was too far off to identify; besides this it was dark. However, it is only a matter of a few days when the doubt will be removed. If it is the Terra Nova she would reach here about Wednesday evening, and if the Southern Cross she should arrive at Harbor Grace about the same time, assuming that favorable weather prevails and considering that either vessel is well mished.

Since we went to press on Saturday, the subjoined messages were received but nothing of an encouraging character:

From Beothic to Job Bros.
Saturday Night.—"Pierce morning, wind N. and snowing; can see one boat and seven pans; think the rest are taken and beaten up; took 900 young yesterday."
From Nascopie to Job Bros.
Sunday.—"Steamed 30 miles today, saw only a few seals. Adventure Beothic in company."
From Stephano to Bowring Bros.

From Fitzroy to Bowring Bros.
Sunday.—"Nothing new to report."

Earles to Close Business at Twillingate.

The sensation of this week has been the announcement that Earles, Sons & Co. have decided to close out their business on the South Side and gradually realize on the whole property there. This decision has been arrived at partly on account of the unsatisfactory nature of that premises from the standpoint of shipping facilities, inaccessible as it is to our coastal steamers and making it necessary to transport all goods, but more especially cask fish, by schooner or lighter to some more convenient place for shipment. This added expense, together with the fact that the company has already a plant at Po-go, which is adequate to handle all the fish they need, are chief reasons which have caused them to take this step. The property will not be immediately closed down, but will still run on for a year or more while the stock is gradually disposed of, and some of the hands will continue on for a while yet.—Twillingate Sun.

Household Notes

Whites of eggs should be cold if you want to beat them very stiff. It improves prunes to add a little cider to the water in which they are cooked. Steel knives can be very well cleaned by a paste made of emery powder and oil. Muslins must be ironed wet. If allowed to get dry, they will have a rough appearance. All muslins should be starched wet. If they are starched dry, they never look so clean. Always use cotton instead of silk when mending gloves. The cotton will not pull the kid. Fruit jars can be easily opened if you will take hold of the top with a piece of sandpaper. In starching colored muslins, do not allow the starch to be too hot; it will destroy the color. Food for late comers can be kept hot by covering it tightly and placing it in a pan of hot water. Scissors are excellent to shred lettuce; they are much more convenient than using a knife. It is good economy to save the basting threads. Wind them around a spool as you take them out. Stains on mirror glasses can be removed with a flannel cloth dampened with spirits of camphor. A little flour sifted into the fat before frying mush will prevent the fat from spluttering and flying. Cream soup is improved by adding a spoonful of whipped cream to the top of each cup before serving. When beating butter and sugar to a cream a perforated spoon will be found more convenient than a fork. A piece of wire screen cut to fit and put in the bottom of the oven will prevent it from burning things on the bottom.

The s.s. Morwennta reached Halifax at 10.30 a.m. to-day. She is set down to leave New York again on April 4th. The s.s. Talsiman is scheduled to sail from New York again on the 15th of April.

CLEARED FOR OPORTO.—On Saturday the s.s. Little Gem cleared from Maryshtown for Oporto, with 2,733 qtls. of fish.

Lord Murray in Witness Box.

London, March 25.—Lord Murray, of Edbank, was in the witness box yesterday during the House of Lords inquiry into the Liberal party fund investments in American Marconi shares. He answered all the questions put to him slowly and deliberately, very rarely losing his calm.

Only once did he seem to hesitate with a reply, and that was when it was suggested that he come home from abroad to give his evidence before the House of Commons committee, and Lord Halsbury, keen and alert, in spite of his many years, said: "There is no good beating about the bush. Did you want to avoid coming before this committee or not?"

Lord Murray made ready no reply and then paused. After a few seconds he said: "I was quite ready to give my evidence before the committee, but I did not volunteer any evidence, because I was in hope that it might not be necessary for the transaction with party funds to be made public. I think now that was neither wise nor correct."

Spalding's Base Ball Guide.

The thirty-eighth annual number of the Spalding Official Base Ball Guide has made its familiar and seasonable appearance. Since the death of Henry Chadwick, the "Father of Base Ball," who was its editor for many years, John E. Foster, a former newspaperman and now the secretary of the New York National League Base Ball Club, has occupied the position. Mr. Foster's experience of thirty years well qualifies him as an authority, his connection with base ball being coincident with the most critical periods in the life of the national game.

The contents of the Guide include the usual editorials on important subjects connected with the game, an account of the recent tour around the world of the Giants and White Sox; the world's series of 1913, reviews of the season in the National, American (the latter by I. E. Sanborn of Chicago) and leading minor leagues, and a very instructive article on the art of batting. More alterations in the playing rules have been made this year than for many seasons past and deserve a careful study by all players.

"Since its earliest days the Guide has made a specialty of pictures of leading players and this year's issue surpasses all previous ones in the extent of illustrations, full page groups being shown of all the National and American League clubs and over one hundred and fifty action pictures of leading players of both organizations, in addition to scenes taken during the world's series and the playing season of both leagues. Group pictures of many prominent minor league clubs are also shown.

The Guide will be sent to any address in the world on receipt of 10 cents by the publishers, the American Sports Publishing Company, 21 Warren Street, New York City.

WATERMAN IDEAL FOUNTAIN PEN.

PEN 21 YEARS OLD; STILL WRITES

Below is the copy of a letter recently received by the New York office of the L. E. Waterman Company:

"In 1892 I bought a fountain pen in San Francisco.

"That pen was my companion through Princeton College, and was used to take notes in a thousand lectures.

"I went with it to the theological seminary and it helped me out in a thousand more lectures. It was my faithful friend during nine years in the pastorate.

"It has been in my hands through six years of editorial work. I presume that at least seven million words have been written with it.

"It has never failed me, never leaked and never balked. The cap was lost, and once the dealer supplied a new barrel when the pen was sent to be fixed.

"But the pen is still on duty. Twenty-one years old, but not retired yet! For I am writing this letter with it now.

"Very truly yours,

Charge Of Rhinoceroses.

Wounded Officer Saved by Faithful Natives.—Officer's Five Hundred Miles Stretcher Journey.

London, March 14.—Lieut. Lloyd Jones who was wounded in a gallant fight with Abyssinian raiders on the borders of British East Africa, reached Nairobi after an extraordinary journey of five hundred miles on a stretcher. He was suffering from lockjaw, and once two rhinoceroses attacked the stretcher, but were driven off by his faithful orderlies.

According to intelligence received by the East African mail, Lieutenant Jones, who is aged twenty-eight, with fifty King's African Rifles and a machine gun was in charge of a remote station to the southeast of Lake Rudolf, known as Loiyangaina, some six weeks' march from Nairobi, British East Africa.

In view of shortness of food caused by the non-arrival of the supply caravan, it was thought that possibly Abyssinian raiders had cut off the transport. Leaving a portion of the garrison in the station, the commander and a small escort made a ten days' journey to the north to get food from a friendly tribe.

This proved unsuccessful. On the arrival of Mr. Kittermaster, the political officer for the next post, search was made for an Abyssinian raiding party known to be in the neighbourhood by a force consisting of the two white officers, 25 King's African Rifles, a score or so of camels and a dozen Somali constabulary. The raiders were posted one day's march from the fort. After several days' search a valley was reached which seemed to be a likely hiding place of the robbers. Scouts went out and reported the existence of a strong stockade held by riflemen.

Lieut. Lloyd Jones, left most of his men behind, advanced quickly into the valley with fifteen rifles. He came on a circular thorn zereba (enclosure) ten feet high. Taking advantage of a dry river bed he worked his way round to rush the former entrance. At 25 yards' distance he placed his men in formation to prevent all egress. The inmates of the stockade, whose number was unknown, were told that if they came out their lives would be spared. No answer being given, the bugler sounded the charge.

A man was seen crawling to the entrance to close the thorn gate, his movement being covered by an Abyssinian armed with a rifle. In answer to the bugle call the soldiers, with a yell, rushed forward firing a volley. The bugler was hit and a soldier was killed. Orders were heard in Abyssinian to shoot the white man, and as Lieutenant Lloyd Jones reached the gate he dropped, shot through both legs.

Twelve of the soldiers had by now retreated, leaving the white officers with only three rifles at the entrance of the zereba, at the mercy of the raiders. The orderlies attempted to carry their commander away, but he told them to leave him and rush the narrow gate. This they did with the greatest gallantry, killing every man in the zereba.

The wounded officer was carried to the top of a neighbouring hill, and a start was made next morning for Marsabit. The political officer, who had been fetched, fashioned splints out of his drawing box for the wounded officer. Three days later the little party reached their post on Lake Rudolf.

Ten days after the fight an Indian medical assistant arrived after a forced march with short rations over a waterless country, but Lieutenant Lloyd Jones had been steadily growing worse. One leg had become septic, the pain was maddening, and the scanty supply of chloroform began to give out. Accordingly Lieutenant Lloyd Jones, accompanied by the political officer, the Indian assistant, and a small escort, began another ten days' trek across waterless country. Two days later lockjaw supervened. With what few drugs were available efforts were made to relieve his terrible sufferings. Three weeks after the fight Marsabit was reached, but the doctor was on tour. Messengers were sent to try to find a surgeon and to get chloroform and morphine. Lieutenant Lloyd Jones was taken charge of by Captain Dickinson. Two days out of Marsabit, at dawn, two rhinoceroses charged the wounded officer's stretcher, but both were turned at thirty yards by the two Abyssinian orderlies, who remained with their leader to the end.

By this time the sufferings of Lieutenant Lloyd Jones were terrible. There was still no doctor and no anaesthetic was left. Forty three days after he had been hit the officer and his escort reached the post of Nyeri, where he found a doctor and a nurse. For fourteen days all that was possible was done, but the muscles had shrunk and one leg was four inches shorter than the other, rendering Lieut. Lloyd Jones a life-long cripple.

It was not until after he had undergone a stretcher journey of over 500 miles in horrible conditions that the wounded man eventually reached Nairobi and a hospital. After lockjaw set in he was delirious practically all the time. The doctors at Nairobi regarded his arrival there alive as most miraculous. Had it not been for the devotion of his two Abyssinian orderlies this would have been impossible.

THE GREATER QUESTION.

At this season of the year for Farmers with up-to-date ideas is what are the best means to use to get the best returns from the land.

Fertilizers must be used liberally if large returns are looked for. There are several good chemical fertilizers which may be recommended, but Sulphate of Ammonia has been proved to give the best returns, and is the most valuable and economical source of Nitrogen for agricultural purposes.

For vegetables, grass, and all leafy crops, about one and a half cwt. per acre is the best quantity to use, and this should be applied when the plant is making its growth, as well as before sowing the seed.

If a liquid manure is preferred, a ½ oz. of Sulphate to one gallon of water should be used, and applied once a week for a month. This quantity should not be exceeded.

It is a good plan to reduce the Sulphate to a fine powder, and mix with four or more times its own bulk, for the purpose of diluting the manure, which is very powerful.

For potting use the following mixture is strongly recommended:—
40 lbs. Superphosphate.
25 lbs. Fine bone meal.
10 lbs. Carbonate of Magnesia.
15 lbs. Sulphate of Potash.
21 lbs. Sulphate of Ammonia.

1 cwt. Apply at the rate of 10 to 11 lbs. to 43 square yards.
The use of Carbonate of Magnesia, in conjunction with Sulphate of Ammonia, is of great importance in potato culture.

For turnips use the following:—
66 lbs. Superphosphate.
13 lbs. Fine bone meal.
13 lbs. Sulphate of Potash.
20 lbs. Sulphate of Ammonia.

1 cwt. Apply at the rate of 10 to 11 lbs. to square yards.
Sulphate of Ammonia of excellent quality is now made by the St. John's Gas Light Company, and may be obtained on very reasonable terms.

Full particulars may be obtained at the Gas Works, or at the Board of Trade Building. Ask for special booklet on the use of Sulphate, it will be found of great value in securing the heaviest crops.

Party to Search for Karluk.

San Francisco, Calif., March 24.—To search the Arctic circle for the lost Canadian exploration ship Karluk is the mission of the steam whaler Hormon, which left San Francisco to-day for the far north. The Canadian government is sending the whaler, to the relief of the Karluk, which, with the greater part of her crew, has been missing for several months. Explorer Stefansson, commander of the expedition, who with three of the crew left the Karluk, which was fast in the ice to hunt caribou, could find no trace of the vessel when they returned. The ice had been broken up by a gale and the ship, it is supposed, drifted eastward.

McMurdo's Store News.

MONDAY, March 30, 1914.

Do you know that McMurdo's Kidney Plaster, not long placed on the market has been doing much good, in the way of curing backache? If you suffer from anything of this kind it is worth while to know this, because you can get relief from the same source. McMurdo's Kidney Plaster is much larger than the ordinary plaster and is made of substantial material that makes it form a support to the tired or aching muscles, while it is medicated for the very purpose of relieving pain in the back—and it does it. Price 30 cents.

At The Kirk.

During last evening's service at the Kirk the singing was most inspiring. Mr. H. H. Goodridge's rendition of "It is Enough," and Miss Irving's solo "Lead Kindly Light" were beautiful.

Rev. Mr. Sutherland, who conducted the service, gave an impressive and instructive lecture after which Mr. T. Tessler read an interesting paper on "Travelling the right road."

Current Events Club.

Mrs. Schurz read an interesting paper dealing with the life and works of Henrik Ibsen at Saturday afternoon's meeting of the Current Events Club. At the close teas were served by Mrs. Dr. Macpherson. The Saturday meetings will now be discontinued until November next, but the rooms will be open regularly as heretofore.

Confirmation at St. Thomas's.

Confirmation was held by His Lordship Bishop Jones at St. Thomas' Church yesterday afternoon, when 35 male and 51 female candidates were confirmed. The Bishop was attended by Rev. A. Clayton, as Chaplain, and the candidates were presented by the Rector, Rev. G. R. Godden, M.A., and Rev. G. H. Hewitt, M.A. A large congregation was present, and the service and singing were inspiring. His Lordship's address, mainly directed to the candidates, was listened to with the closest attention by all present. The Bishop's references to the necessity of prayer, private as well as public, and also the need for intercessory prayer for relations, friends and those in authority, were timely. He also referred to the need for daily Bible study amongst the young, as the impressions made during youth were lasting. The young folk present were earnestly enjoined to take up the Christian life and persevere and prove themselves examples of the religion they professed. At the evening service in the Parish Church, Rev. A. Clayton was the preacher, and after the service, a class preparing for Easter Communion was conducted by the Rector, at which those confirmed in the afternoon attended.

New York Town an Armed Camp.

Depew, N.Y., March 24.—Daybreak found Depew an armed camp. The 74th regiment, ordered out by Brigadier General Welsh of the fourth Brigade National Guard, at the request of Sheriff Becker, whose force of deputies was unable to handle the rioting strikers of the Gould Copper Works, yesterday, began to arrive before dawn and by six a.m. the plant was under military protection. The question of placing the whole town under martial law will not be decided until the arrival here later in the day of Colonel Wolf, commander of the 74th.

Obituary.

MRS. WILLIAM R. WARREN.
Mrs. William Warren, eldest daughter of the late James Gordon, of Balld, Gordon & Co., passed peacefully away at her late residence, Waterford Bridge Road, early this morning. The deceased had been only ailing for a few days, and the shock comes quite suddenly to her family. About two years ago her younger sister, Mrs. Johnstone died. To the sorrowing husband and three little children the Telegram unites with the entire community in the sympathy extended.

To whom it may concern: This is to certify that I have used MINARD'S LINIMENT myself as well as prescribed it in my practice where a liniment was required and have never failed to get the desired effect.

Cornea of Pig's Eye

Is Grafted to Child's.
Baltimore, March 24.—What is believed to be the first operation of its kind in this country was performed yesterday at a local hospital when the cornea of a pig's eye was taken off and grafted on the sightless eye of a three months old boy. In the operation the pig was chloroformed, the eye ball taken out and the cornea cut from it. An extraordinarily fine needle and fine silk were used in putting the cornea into place in the child's eye ball. The eye will remain bandaged for about a week.

 Manager—J. F. Hynds.
 Plans for the coming season were discussed and prospects for a successful year are good. The material to hand this spring is as good, if not better, than that of last summer, and the number to turn out to practice, greater. This latter condition will give the first team much needed practice which it was not possible to obtain heretofore. Greater interest is being shown in the game by the younger generation, which augurs well for the game on the year. With a square deal this year Bell Island will certainly show up and cause her adversaries some considerable loss of sleep.—Com.

Billiard Tournament.

Spot side is 26 in the lead.
 At the Star Rooms N. Furlong (Spot) defeated E. Tiley (Plain) by 6 points.

In Case of Fire.

Levin had been the victim of so many fires that the agent refused to consider the risk on the stock of Levin's newest store. They argued for an hour, and at last the agent said:—"Well, Levin, I will tell you what I'll do with you. If you will allow me to put hand-grenades all over your store I'll take another chance."

"Hand-grenades?" spoke up Levin. "My insurance agent, you can put in hook and ladder companies, fire-engines, hose-carts, anything, only give me my insurance."

When the time came for him to open his store, hanging on the ceiling and on the walls were about two hundred hand-grenades. Levin was sitting in his store, the opening day, when a friend of his came in.

"Halloo, Levin! You hef a grant place here. Isn't it finde and dandy! But say, vat is all dose coloured bottles around der ceiling und der walls? Decorations?"

"Oh, no, no!" said Levin. "My insurance agent vud not gif it no my insurance papers unless I put dose things up dere."

"Vy, you don't say it! Und vat was in dem, Levin?"

"Vot was in dem I shall not know, but dere is paraffin oil in dem now."

When Peacock Was a Regal Dish.

There was a time years ago, in England when, next to the boar's head, the peacock was the most important dish. No little trouble was taken before Argus was pronounced fit for the table. The skin was first carefully stripped off, with the plumage adhering. The bird was then roasted, when done, and partially cooled, it was sewed up again in its feathers, its beak gilded, and sent to table. It did not fall to common hands to serve the bird that even in death flaunted its plumage, but that privilege fell to the fair hands of lady cooks distinguished by birth or beauty.

At tournaments this dish was generally served in the form of a pie, for at one end of which appeared the peacock's plumed crest above the crust, while his tail was unfolded in all its glory at the other end. The victor of the lists cut the pie, swearing to undertake any perilous enterprise that came his way, and succour lovely women in distress.

GREAT MAIL ORDER HOUSE.

Finds Ambergris Worth $2,800.

Biloxi, Miss., March 4.—Ben Bailey, young man residing in this city, has found five pounds of ambergris on Horn Island. Bailey's find is worth in the neighborhood of $2,800. A small quantity has been sent to the Government laboratory at Washington, D.C., for analysis, and a report is expected within a short time. Probably $8,000 worth of the ambergris has been thrown away by Mrs. William Waters, who resides on the island, because she thought it was of no value.

Vaudeville and Pictures

AT ROSSLEY'S.

There is a very funny farce comedy at Rossley's to-night, one that the patrons will enjoy a good laugh at; also five very special reels, newly imported from London, Eng., and many of our favorite artists in the cast. It is now an established fact that Rossley's pictures are making great headway with the people of St. John's. Mr. Rossley has imported his own pictures from the great markets of Europe, and only the finest subjects are shown. The act entitled "So-and-So" will also be found most enjoyable.

Dislike of Propriety.

"No one can have watched the life of our cities for the last few years without noticing the extraordinary rage for all that is not respectable, not only among men, but quite as strongly among women," says Truth, in a scathing article on the mock impropriety of the times.

"From a period of extreme gentility we have been gradually approaching this phase ever since the first person dared to smile at any of the codes of Jane Austen's time. But the last few stages of our progress have been so rapid that one wonders where we shall stop."

Duchesses Imitate Chorus Girls.
 "Thanks to dress and special customs, one can watch the new dislike of propriety best in women. Ten years ago every chorus girl wanted to look like a duchess; and her notion of a duchess, if perhaps a little highly colored, was yet remarkably like the current idea of a gentlewoman. Nowadays the chorus girl goes her own way, sets her own fashions, makes her own customs, secure of having all our duchesses assiduously imitating her as soon as her new coiffure or her extra inch of knee have been displayed on the stage.

"There was a time when a theatrical dressmaker never dreamed of drawing any custom from the world of great ladies. Now their books are crowded with titled customers, who are anxious to look as much like Totty Tipton or Lotty Lacks as possible, and would even undergo an operation if they could thereby get the same adolescent smile. Last year a fashionable bride, daughter of a great house, was married in a dress not modified, but exactly copied, from one worn by the heroine of a certain long-lived musical comedy."

Dowdy to be Respectable.
 "Women go as a matter of course to places where they used not to be admitted. There is nothing in that; but both men and women seem to prefer things which have a show of being improper. It is a little dowdy to be respectable, or to seem so; and this applies very strongly to conversation. Not only do women hear language which they would once have swooned to read, but they take an open pride in not being shocked by it. Many little groups of people who meet together often come to glory in their own cynicism and immorality. Which be it noted, do not exist. Never was a hollower farce played out.

"What will come of it is difficult to imagine. We have not much further to go before we arrive at the real thing. There is little doubt that when we reach that point our indomitable hereditary sense of propriety will assert itself. But the road that remains to go will surely be fertile in surprises. When we have not only danced the tango, but told the latest definition of it; when we have not only left off bodices but diminished skirts a little more; when our language has been a little more highly spiced, and our fear of seeming dowdy has led us into all kinds of places which bore us, we shall surely find something else with a requisite appearance of indecency to keep us going. But that we shall ever arrive at real impropriety not even our most sensitive bishop can believe. We have the very greatest deterrent in the case of the improper themselves.

Limit of Public Theatricals.
 "The youngest man about town who wants to look as though he drank took much absinthe, the flightiest young grandmother who dresses as if for the promenade of the Empire, will be excellently turned back into the paths of righteousness they have never left by five minutes' conversation with, or observation of, Montmartre habitue, or the sweated worker who has no market but the streets."

"Our sense of drama has led us to try and ape impropriety under the impression that it is amusing to be improper; we are approaching the limits of public theatricals, and shall shortly be so close to the real thing that we shall be able to realize what Kipling meant when he talked of Life with a capital Hell."

Cook Has Sued.

Chicago, March 21.—Suit was filed in the Circuit Court against Cyril Scott, leading man in "Seven Keys to Baldpate," at George M. Cohan's Grand Opera House, by Dr. Frederic A. Cook, who reported in 1909, that he had discovered the North Pole. The declaration for suit alleges that Dr. Cook's reputation has been attempted to recover damages, but no amount of damage is asked, and the plaintiff's attorney said that Dr. Cook at this time had no desire to attempt to recover damages, but wanted to stop Scott from continuing to use the line: "That little trip from the station taught me to believe everything that Jack London wrote about and Doc Cook lied about."

Students Crowd To St. Mary's.

The Bishop of Oxford has been holding a mission for undergraduates in the University Church of St. Mary's. That old and historic building has seen many memorable scenes in past days—the trial of the Protestant Bishops; the funeral of Amy Robsart, Robert Leicester's wife; the preaching of John Henry Newman. It has held crowds of many kinds and many minds. In more recent days, however, it is safe to say that St. Mary's has witnessed no such series of deeply significant and effective gatherings. The men have come in great numbers, and have filled the church throughout the whole 'octave.' 'Newman in his greatest days never had such crowds as these,' writes Norman H. Smith in the Christian World.

For the First Time. The Bishop was simply proposing to re-state in a very simple but full and complete fashion the Gospel of Jesus Christ. He wanted men to brush away all prejudices and traditions, and to imagine that they were listening to the preaching of that Gospel for the first time in their lives. But he frankly accepted modern conditions, and his restatement was to be in modern terms. 'There were always present a very large number of devout and sympathetic men. They sang the hymns with obvious fervour and sincerity. It was interesting to note that the hymn specially printed for the Mission and frequently sung was a simple Pilgrim song by John Bunyan. The University as a whole had been well canvassed by selected 'recruits,' and although the Mission was intended to be 'domestic'—for members of the Anglican Church—it certainly appealed to a large number of Free Churchmen.

Dr. Gore Comes to His Own. 'So from night to night, he has calmly, lucidly and incisively declared the Gospel of Christ in unmistakable terms and with impressive sincerity. With what result? Certainly the spiritual vision of hundreds of men has been clarified, and large numbers of 'confirmed' Anglicans have been reminded very effectively of their confirmation vows. Probably a handful of Free Churchmen may have been won over to the Anglican Church. But the best and most lasting results are no doubt hidden, but will, in the long last, be made manifest. Throughout the week the doorstep of the Bishop's lodgings in High Street has been thronged by men anxious to secure his direct and personal advice. Dr. Gore has come to his own Oxford—with all the prestige of an Anglican prelate and a great and solid reputation for both learning and piety, and he assuredly has proved himself a Mission preacher of the first order.'

'The attendance on the first Sunday was about 1,500, roughly half the 'University, and an average of 1,000 a night was maintained throughout; the number on the last evening rising to perhaps 1,400 again. Nobody who heard the addresses on Friday, Saturday and Sunday could have failed to carry away a deep and overwhelming sense of the massiveness, the breadth, and the nobility of the religion therein taught. The Mission ended with a general Communion on Monday morning, at which about 500 communicated.'

'The whole mission has disclosed latent possibilities of religion in the undergraduate world rather surprising to pessimists,' says the Church Times. Some Results. 'Many thought, I believe, that religion meant some dogmas to credit, some service to be attended, some moderate standard of ethics to be spasmodically sought. They learnt, I think, the lesson which so many miss; that religion is a relation to a Person, and that there is simply no bound or limit to the depth, the beauty, the sweetness, the joy of the union between the soul and its Maker. 'There are many, I think, in Oxford, who will never apologize for their religion again.'—Public Opinion.

BY CABLE

Special to Evening Telegram. LONDON, March 29. After five defeats in the annual inter-university Boat Race, Cambridge on Saturday won from Oxford by four and a half boat lengths.

LONDON, March 29. Up to a late hour on Saturday, nothing had occurred to break the deadlock, but the Government is still hopeful that the difficulties in the Army situation will be overcome before it meets the Commons on Monday. In the meantime the opposition of the Army to coercion in Ulster is vouchsafed for by no less an authority than Sir Edward Richard Russell, a staunch supporter of the Government who, in a signed article in the Liverpool Post, of which he is the editor, says to-day that it is a positive fact that when he visited the War Office last week, Lord Roberts had in his pocket a list of 900 Army officers who were ready to send in their papers.

LONDON, March 29. An exciting scene occurred just before the House adjourned for the week-end. When Bonar Law had concluded his criticism of Mr. Asquith's new Army orders, Major Morrison-Bell rose and insisted on making a statement on behalf of the officers and men of the Army. A determined attempt was made to shout him down, and a scene of wild excitement ensued. Encouraged by his Unionist friends, with the aid of his powerful voice he compelled the House to listen to him. 'The statement we have just listened to is the grossest insult to an Army ever offered to it. He protested, as an old soldier, that the new order was unnecessary. The Army officers and men, he said, had always been ready to do their duty.' This passionate outburst brought to an end the dramatic political week, and the House then adjourned.

The Silver Lining.

Last summer, when the hot winds blew, and wilted things on every hand, and when the sun, in skies of blue, shone down and blistered all the land, we mortals raised a bitter wall, and cried, 'In this there is no sense, for all our cherished crops will fail! Oh, drought disastrous, get thee hence!' Had any moral high-brow guys attempted to convince us then that back of all was purpose wise, we should have jeered and jeered again. But now that theory is fulfilled, for we're informed ten thousand score Ben Davis apple trees were killed, by that fierce drought, to bear no more. Ben Davis trees are standing dead throughout this glad and fertile land, and we regret the things we said because we did not understand. So let's be patient after this when trouble dogs us, close behind, for sorrow's but a cloak for bliss, and threatening clouds are silver-lined.

In Memoriam.

Last week, St. Jacques was plunged into grief by the death of its oldest and most amiable lady—Mrs. Mary Clinton (nee Sheehan). Mrs. Clinton had passed her 80th year and up to the moment she was fatally stricken, enjoyed perfect health. Her passing was a fitting sequel to a saintly life. She was taken suddenly ill on Sunday following High Mass, and received the last sacraments in the Church. Two days later she passed away. The deceased was born at Harbor Breton where her father, Dr. Sheehan, practised his profession for many years. After his death she was taken to Ireland where her childhood was spent under the guardianship of her uncle, the venerable Father Sheehan. Later she returned to Newfoundland, residing at Burin until her marriage to Dr. Clinton, of St. Pierre. Mrs. Clinton's life in the old French colony was spent in works of benevolence; and old-time visitors to St. Pierre recall with unfeigned regret the passing of the saintly woman whose demise we mourn to-day. Four years ago Mrs. Clinton came to St. Jacques to reside with her son-in-law, D. J. Burke, Esq., and during the years spent amongst us her life was an inspiration. The very personification of culture and refinement, her days were spent in acts of benevolence, relieving the burdens of the needy and bringing comfort to the cheerless.—Requiescat in pace.—Com.

The One to Own if You Can Own But One.

That is what a critical user of a 'Globe-Wernicke' cabinet says of his equipment. Another says 'It leaves nothing to be desired.' Another says 'So complete yet so concise.' Another 'Perfection as a filing arrangement.' Another 'It is really indispensable.' Another 'A surprising advance in handling records.' Another 'A welcome improvement in office conditions'—and so on. The extensive sale of 'Globe' filing cabinets in St. John's is by no means as remarkable as the abundant evidence that it is on merit alone that these devices have earned such generous appreciation. For certain when you become a user you will be well contented with your adaptable and reliable outfit. Mr. Percie Johnson has your catalogue ready for the asking as well as other necessary details.

C. C. C. Nomination.

The C.C.C. Reserves held a largely attended meeting yesterday, and 22 new members joined. Nomination of officers resulted as follows: Chairman—C. H. Vaughan. Vice-Chairman—J. Spears, P. Kelly. Secretary—W. J. Oakley. Treasurer—T. Clare. Asst.-Treas.—T. Ryan. Mr. W. Oakley, for his untiring efforts as Secretary for the past year, was presented with a handsome gift which the recipient greatly appreciated. A discussion on Baseball matters resulted in the decision that the Reserves will not enter the Baseball League this year.

LEFT LONDON.—The Furness Liner Rappahannock, left London yesterday afternoon for this port.

A word to those who wear 'Twenty-five cent Glasses.' Do you realize that by so doing, you virtually admit that twenty-five cents is the value you place upon God's greatest gift to you? There is no law to prevent you from injuring your eyes by using such glasses excepting, perhaps, the law of common sense. Of course you don't know why cheap glasses play such havoc with your eyes, and health generally, nor does the man who sells them to you. An eyesight specialist can tell you, and if you would interest yourself to the extent of asking him to explain, you would never look through a pair of them. Anything more perfect or beautiful than the human eye would be impossible for man to conceive. Then, why, when physical aid is needed to enable it to perform its functions with greater ease, do you use cheap glasses or submit yourself to persons of questionable ability to suit you? When your eyes cry out for assistance, go to R. H. Trapnell, the Eyesight Specialist who will faithfully examine them and give you none but the best quality glasses if glasses are needed at all. Thousands are ready to testify to the great benefit received at his hands.—mar18,ed,t

A CRYSTAL LIGHT.

Doesn't that suggest a clear, bright light? That is why the name CRYSTALITE was chosen.

TEXACO CRYSTALITE is a crystal light, giving forth mellow, penetrating rays. It gives no smoke nor smell, and is good to the last drop.

TEXACO CRYSTALITE will not fluctuate, it gives a steady glow.

The next time you buy illuminating oil don't merely ask for "a gallon of kerosene". Ask for TEXACO CRYSTALITE and find out why this illuminating oil is known as "the light of the home".

TEXACO CRYSTALITE costs no more than ordinary kinds and most good stores have it.

Remember the name. It will be worth your while to discriminate.

Special Opportunity for Investors.

MARITIME TELEGRAPH & TELEPHONE COMMON.

We draw the attention of the investing public to the merits of this stock. The annual statement of the Company shows a large increase in business for the year ended December 31st, 1913,—an increase of 2378 subscribers, and the Directors state that it would appear from present indications that this growth will continue for some time to come. The stock pays an annual dividend of 6 per cent.

Public Utility Securities are always very popular. The statements of well managed companies show constant increases in receipts in prosperous times, and only a minimum of disturbance in periods of business reaction.

We are in a position to offer a block of Maritime Telegraph & Telephone Common at an attractive price, and would advise investors to write at once for full particulars.

A Canada Life Actual Result!

NET CASH RETURN MORE THAN TWICE THE COST.
 W. J. Robertson, Welland, 12th June, 1913.
 AGENT CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE CO.,
 Port Hope, Ontario.

Dear Sir,—
 When acknowledging receipt of the Company's cheque for my matured Endowment Policy No. 24937, I desire to avail myself of the opportunity to express my satisfaction with the outcome of my investment.

The policy was payable to me at age 60, with ten premiums of $48.00 each. The return under it is as follows:

Sum assured $1,000.00
 Dividends added 416.54
 Total amount payable $1,416.54
 Deduct total premiums paid 480.00
 $ 936.54

That I should have insurance protection free for all these years and now have over twice the amount of my premiums returned to me in cash is a most satisfactory outcome and I heartily congratulate you on it.

Yours very truly,
 GEO. ROSS.

Filed for a Year— At Hand in a Minute!

There are records kept in your business which are seldom referred to, but when reference to them is desired, can you locate them instantly?

"Office Specialty" Filing Systems do more than provide a place to file papers. The method of filing the papers under proper indexes makes the finding of any letter, on any subject or from any firm, as easy as the filing. You don't have to tumble all the letters out of the file to find any particular one.

There is only one place for each letter, and every letter is in its place. Card Records, Cheques, Stock Records, Correspondence, are all found instantly when wanted if filed by "Office Specialty" Saving Systems.

Here is a very convenient stack of Sectional, Quarter-Cut Oak, Filing Cabinets, 2 vertical drawers for Letters, 5 drawers for 5 x 3 inch Card Records, 3 Shannon drawers for Receipts, Invoices and Bills, 4 drawers for 6 x 4 inch Card Records, 3 Stationery drawers, which together with the top and base make a very useful stack for any business office.
