

THE CHIEFTAIN'S TRIUMPH. Will Sir John's triumph ever cease? His enemies have been gloating over his prospective annihilation in Kingston for many months. The Grit organ in this city was cock-sure of seeing Sir John ousted from his seat, and only yesterday published a most absurd alleged dispatch narrating his great wickedness. He had bribed the constabulary right and left and had committed a life of villainy by debauching the electorate of Kingston. Nothing was too bad to say of him, and indeed Gunn occupied his seat. And then the protest is tried and the Judge says that from the evidence adduced the election would seem to have been an exceptionally pure one, and dismissed the case with costs. We congratulate the veteran Premier on his victory, adding another to the long list of triumphs which have been showered upon him by the people of Ontario. It is a grand thing to have it said from the Bench that the noble old man, who is a constant target for the abuse of the Grit press, has come out of a bitter election fight without a stain upon his character, having fought and won one of the purest elections ever waged in Canada.

UNRELIABLE AS USUAL. The Times, referring to Sir Adolphe Caron and the annual inspection, rushes to the aid of the national papers and with Grit obstacles on (when does it have them off), does all in its power in its own harmless way, to create a feeling against the Minister of Militia, and, of course, through him, the government. The Times has been at this kind of work for some time and the results are apparent in the elections. It has established in this city, Little credence is placed in anything political appearing in its columns, for the reason that everybody is aware of its insane hatred of Sir John Macdonald, as evidenced by the many gross attacks it has made upon him personally. Not the least of these was the last general election, when it was the last general election that his mind was weakening. In rushing to the defence of the Grit contemporary the Times makes a statement which is absolutely untrue. It says: "In making his explanation at the citizens' banquet Sir Adolphe made no reference, by implication or otherwise, to any newspaper comments on his conduct at the present time on the occasion referred to." We say he did, and we had hoped to prove it by the notes of the short-hand writer who reported the speech for THE COLONIST, which was copied by the Times without as much as saying "by your leave." He is, however, at Nanaimo and upon his return we shall be able to make such an untrue statement, in view of the fact that all eyes were turned upon his unfortunate representative while Sir Adolphe was speaking, we cannot imagine. He looked as if he would have liked the earth to swallow anybody who reported that the motives of Sir Adolphe never said anything of the kind. What he did say was that the advertisement would appear "in the morning papers." Our contemporary, when he does garble, should not do so so clumsily. The sentence we have quoted has been the subject of general laughter and the most absurd and unbecoming of that "unhinged gale" and journalistic "enterprise" (T) which is so characteristic of its author.

THE RESIGNATION OF MR. JOHNSON, P. M.

The communication of Mr. Edwin Johnson, P. M., to the city council on the 26th inst., has been already placed before the readers of THE COLONIST. We join with the majority of the councillors in expressing regret that this efficient and worthy public official has taken umbrage because legal advice other than his own was asked by the council, and has consequently resigned. It is a scientific discharge of a public duty that was entrusted to the police committee by the unanimous vote of the council. Mr. Johnson complains that the opinion of outside counsel was taken on an important question without his advice referring to the $75,000 loan by law. The motive of the mover in bringing forward a resolution which passed by the police magistrate is unknown to the writer. The mover was not friendly to the Summerfield scheme, and the idea was generally entertained by the councillors that the mayor would refer the matter to the board of defence, was acting on the advice of Mr. Johnson. How or why this impression obtained it is impossible now to say, but it existed nevertheless, and it was felt that an appeal from the mayor to the magistrate would be like an appeal from Caesar. It is not known whether Mr. Johnson shares the opinion of the Q. C.'s, as to the power of the council to proceed with the Summerfield scheme under the $75,000 loan by law. We have never heard any expression of an opinion; the statement appeared in the columns of the Times in an endeavor to get in a "hit" at Sir Adolphe, and was just what anybody might have expected from that remarkable sheet. In the second place the assertion that "the review had got up for the express purpose of entertaining Sir Adolphe" is untrue. The occasion was the annual inspection by Lieutenant Colonel D. G. Sir Adolphe happened to be here at the time and of course invited to be present. In the third place the fabrication that "the Minister of War seemed more anxious to arrive on time at a banquet which had been prepared for him than to note the points of stenographic presentation by the citizens' committee" is an absolute lie. Sir Adolphe did not know of any scheme for the extension of the water works. On motion of Coun. Vigelinus, seconded by Coun. Braden, the report was received and ordered to be spread on the minutes. Mr. Johnson's second ground of complaint is not nearly so strong as this. He asserts that the official opinion was "rejected—not because it was un sound, but because it impeded for the moment the course of action which they (the majority) were impatient to pursue." We think that on reflection Mr. Johnson will admit that his statement is not entirely in keeping with the facts. Mr. Johnson declined to assist the water commissioner in preparing the papers for the contract with the Albion Company. The water commissioner then procured a copy of the blank form of contract which has been used for several years by the council in bridge and street work. A contract based on this form having been prepared by Davis & Pooley, the water commissioner presented it to Mr. Johnson for his approval or amendment. This was done in the presence of three councillors and the secretary of the Albion Co. Mr. Johnson took the contract away with him and a short time before the council met on the next evening, sent an enclosure to the magistrate, containing the contract submitted to him by the water commissioner and an opinion deprecating the water points of the contract. When Mr. Johnson complains that he has been ignored by the council, does he not forget that it was he who ignored the water commissioner by addressing the enclosure to the magistrate, and that it would be a great discourtesy to keep him waiting. For that reason after seeing as much of the review as possible, he "posted" to the hotel to meet His Honor. They then called on the Admiral (he was no banquet, nor thought of one), and fulfilled an imperative duty. Sir Adolphe states that he had formed the highest opinion of the local militia and paid them the compliment of saying that they were as fine a body of men as he had seen anywhere in the Dominion. Thoroughly conversant with the drill, they presented a most soldierly appearance. The credit of the militia he requested that he was unable to address them but had done the next best thing he could—expressed to Lieut. Col. Holmes his high appreciation of our citizen soldiers, the position in which he was placed, and the pleasure it would have given him to call upon them. He was pleased with their drill. These are the facts, and we ask the Colonist how under the circumstances Sir Adolphe could have acted other than he did?

The same issue of the Colonist refers to the unpopularity between Collector Hamley and Capt. Webber in some of the editor's alleged wit. He will probably find when he has read the last two issues of THE COLONIST that he is as much as to say that the editor of THE COLONIST is not the man we have just referred to at length. We regret to be obliged to convict a contemporary, for whom we have only the best wishes, of publishing statements that are without a grain of truth, but the Colonist has lately overstepped all bounds and has been brought to a sharp rebuke by the editor of THE COLONIST. His contemporary only speaks his own bitterness—he is nowise reflects the opinion of any portion of the people of New Westminster.

As an interviewer has been inducing the editor of THE COLONIST to furnish him with a list of the names of the stores consumed on the double trip across the Atlantic. The figures are rather startling, even in these days of big things, but when eating and drinking seem to be going on all day long on board the Oceanic. For the single journey the goods provided for the carcasses of 1,000 sheep, 1,000 calves, 4,000 pigs, 1,200 hogs, 1,200 fowls, 2,500 turkeys, 500 ducks, 500 geese, 1,400 quarts of condensed milk, and 1,400 quarts of condensed milk are supplemented by wines, mals, liquors, and mineral waters sufficient to quench the thirst of an army of giants. The Oceanic, it may be observed, carries no live stock.

THE "RABBIT PEST." To the Editor:—A great deal of alarm is expressed at the threatened importation of English rabbits into this province. The editor of THE COLONIST is mentioned as likely to undertake our country if the importation is permitted. I do not share in the general alarm. English rabbits have been acclimated in the Southern States and in this country for many years. Many have been introduced, and the pest has never increased so as to be a nuisance. In fact, climate, influence, and the existence of numerous wild animals have always kept the rabbits down. We have never heard any expression of an opinion; the statement appeared in the columns of the Times in an endeavor to get in a "hit" at Sir Adolphe, and was just what anybody might have expected from that remarkable sheet. In the second place the assertion that "the review had got up for the express purpose of entertaining Sir Adolphe" is untrue. The occasion was the annual inspection by Lieutenant Colonel D. G. Quite a little news occurred at the annual meeting of the Montreal St. Andrew's Society, held at the Hotel de Ville, Montreal, Dec. 7. E. B. Greenhilda, 2nd vice-president, declined to act when Duncan McElroy was nominated. Upon this Rev. J. E. McElroy, president of the society, objected to the society being made a C. P. R. concern. This gave rise to a spirited discussion, and finally Mr. McElroy was elected.
