For example, in the town of Erla, in the province of Saragossa, there is no longer a mayor or a municihere is no longer a mayor or a municipal government. The mayor and all the city officials are dead, stricken down with city officials are dead, stricken down with the plague, and all the doctors and chemists of the place have fallen victims to the pestilence. The shops are closed and the town is deserted by the inhabitants. The people are in a destitute condition and the mayor of the neighboring town of Egen, which is the only place from which the fugitives could expect aid, has forbidden the citizens to render them any assistance. He has declared an absolute blockade and no person is allowed to enter Egen on any pretext whatever. This is an instance of what is commonly going on throughout Spain, the provincial towns shutting their gates to all intruders. Physicians and government officers as well as people are fieeing from the disease. The survivors of Erla are consequently camping out on the hillsides without houses and with but scarty means of subsistence. According to the latest news some of them had set fire to the town, hoping by that means to burn out the plague.

The fear of the importation of cholera has taken practical shape all along the Mediterranean coast and the most rigorous quarantine precautions have been established at Gibraltar, on the island of Malta and at the ports of Egypt against all French and Spanish vessels. Marseilles steemers are not allowed to call at Malta, Suez or Port Said, and the most urgent measures are being everywhere taken at other places to ward off the threatening pestilence.

The Paris National, the first journal to announce the appearance of cholera at Marseilles, insists that the number of deaths that have occurred there from the disease is still much underrated.

There were 4819 new cases of cholera and 1840 deaths from the disease reported Friday throughout Spain.

The existence of the cholera within the Spanish lines has been officially declared and the disease is spreading. E. Rochefort Says Olivier Pain was Executed by English Orders.

Paris, Aug. 15.—La Intransigeant, M. Rechefort's paper, will to-morrow publish a letter which it is alleged will prove that Olivier Pain, the Frenchman who was the reported military adviser of El Mahdi, was executed at the instance of British efficials in Egypt. This letter will say that the British put a price on Pain's head, that he was tracked and arrested, and then summarily executed by order of the staff of the English army engaged at the time in the was against El Mahdi.

PARIS, Aug. 16.—The letter in the Intransegeant, containing what purports to be an account of the manner of Olivier Pain's death, is signed Selekovich, interpreter to the British army in the Soudan. It says Pain was shot near Abu Dom by Bashi Bazouks by the direction and under the very eyes of Major Kitohener.

Mistress Pattison and Sir Charles. LONDON, Aug. 15 .- Sir Charles Dilke's friends believe that a settlement out of court will be effected in the divorce suit brought by Mr. Crawford against his wife with Sir Charles as co-respondent. The announcement of her engagement to Sir Charles Dilke made by his fiancee, Mrs. Charles Dilke made by his hancee, Mrs. Pattison, is generally supposed to be designed to testify her disbelief in the charges brought against him, but is also said to have another aim, namely to prevent a threatened rupture between therself and Sir Charles Dilke and the another aim. nulment of their engagement. Since the death of Mr. Pattison, who was rector of death of Mr. Pattison, who was rector of Lincoln college, Dilke's assiduous attentions, which were marked and continuous before Mrs. Pattison became a widow, have been rapidly cooling and have almost ceased, and the lady's public declaration of her relations with him is believed to be meant to clinch the connection before further developments shall have made a separation almost imperative. Her husband left her a fortune of £50,000, but Mrs. Pattison is already passe and upwards of 40 years old.

The disorganization of political parties in England is an obvious fact. There is a split in the liberal camp, and in the conservative camp ditto. Nobody imagine that Mr. Gladstone or the Marquis of Hartington will endorse Mr. Chamberlain's ultra-radical policy. On the other side we see Lord Randolph Churchill in a very important position in a conservative govgrament, while leading conservative ournals are trying to "sit" on him to the hest of their ability.

before; but seldom of so grave a nature as at present. A point to be noted is that both parties respectively are suffering from certain effect; we may be sure that it has s cause to match. Nor need we long debate as to what that cause is-as to what is the powerful disintegrating force that is now disorganizing both parties.

The advance of democracy in England is the great disintegrating and disorganizing agent. It might be supposed that any advance of the democratic wave would simply be welcomed by the reformers, as a party, and resisted by the conservatives, as a party, and that between the two parties the issue would be clearly drawn. But that is not the way the thing works. Some conservatives would go half way, or even more, to meet the democracy, while some liberals would rather put on the brakes, if they could. What we see is that conservatives with a turn for culti vating the democracy, and liberals wh fear to adopt a thorough-going radical disorganizing both parties.

We do not need to adopt Henry George's theory of the use and ownership of land in order to accept him as a competent observer of the political situation in England. He may not be always right, but he generally has something to say that s worth noting. As a result of recent land the tide of the time is setting toward great social and political changes to an extent that few on this side the Atlantic class who have hitherto ruled England legislature no point of resistance rehouse of lords really not so efficient a conserva tive safeguard as an American senate. A abolish the lords, vacate the throne and deal with institutions and with property as they please. No bench of judges can place a veto on their acts in the name of written constitution. Such an act as the Irish land act would in the United States have required a constitutional amendment, and could not have become a valid law unless demanded by an overwhelming majority of the whole people and after long delays. But in England this act, involving the most revolutionary principles became a law in a few weeks.

The great force that in England is making for change is, he says, not political discontent, but social discontent; and this, he adds, all the tendencies of the time are contributing to increase. Meanwhile the conditions of life are growing harder, and the struggle for existence more intense. Mr. Giffen and his fellow statisticians may prove, he says, to their own satisfaction that the poor, even more than the rich, are profiting by the increasing wealth of England; but they who are most concerned know that it is not so. Hunger, cold, the where "labor is a drug and population a nuisance," are not to be charmed away by figures, how capable soever the figurer may be of marshaling them to his desire. yn Scotland official figures show that onehird of the families live in a single room, and more than another third in only two rooms. In the richest city of the world the mortuary reports contain a column for nd more than another third in only two the mortuary reports contain a column for dreaming that the millennium was

Grip and the Montreal Witness are in agreement to this effect—that the great present want of the old reform party is to have an aim and a policy of its own. This want, it is understood, the young liberals propose to supply at an early and the propose to supply at an early are results. propose to supply at an early date, and the aving down of a new course on the chart is now being proceeded with, so it is believed. We can see at least two rocks ahead, for which our ambitious young or nopert and encouragement, and the Iliberals aforesaid had better keep a bright look-out.

One is the blunder of making the two organizations simply a junior branch of the old party, without any new and see any new policy of its own. This, we should fancy, cannot fail to be present to the minds of all who are taking a special interest in the movement, and they can scarcely fail to see the necessity which reformers, whether old or young, are under, of having something to reform.

More likely to be lost sight of, we apprehend, is the danger of running into a certain glaring inconsistency, which may lavely the building of a platform, the planks of which will not find together. Prominant leaders of the movement are having much to say these days about the abolition of the frontier custom houses, and commercial union with the United States. The same individuals are to a man on the side of free trade and opposed to protective than our present one, which they condemn as excessive and injentous to the country. They are not acting from a 10,800 bbis.; No. 2 $2.40 to $3.50, superfine true appreciation of values, but from their own speculative necessities, and so soon as they shall be relieved of these they will have any idea of. He says that when the prohibiting the employment of boys in lose control of the lower branch of the now a law to the effect that no boys under for low wages. This is decidedly not what the trades' unions expected to see.

The writer of a letter in an American paper was recently much struck by remark made by Dr. Newman, Speaking of the Grant family and their resources. the doctor said : "There are eight families, you see, to be supported." Now isn't that a little bit exaggerated? The widow should be placed, beyond question, far up along the line of pecuniary ease. Well, let's see about that. I am told by Mr. Jones that the $250,000 fund is as much a $250,000 fund to-day as it ever was. That will give this good lady $15,000 a year. Congress will unquestionably pension her. s it has the widows of all other presidents, and give her $5000 a year. The publishers of Gen. Grant's memoirs have already orders for nearly 300,000 copies, on which Mrs. Grant is to receive 75 cents each, and the large probabilities are—certainly the expectations are—that a milion copies will be sold, on each of which she is to receive 75 cents. In dire necessities of the struggle to live other words, the good lady will be rich beyond the dream of possible avarice.

she—I'd just as lief tell you—she cured me!"

It was a comfortable, matronly presence

It was a comfortable, matronly presence he found, but he wasted no second glance or thought upon it, while he detailed the symptoms, and dwelt on them, just as he had so often been impatient with his had so often been impatient with his she said in a low voice:

"I think I can help you, if you will implicitly obev my instructions for the next three months. I will not undertake it without your promise."

The doctor thought a moment, and felt as if he was really willing to promise anything. And he did.

"In the first place, then," said his new adviser. "I want you to make a particular point of your nourishment. You are not to go without eating because you have no appetite, remember. On rising in the morning drink a glass of cold water, not iced. Have a good breakfast; you know best what distresses you least. No coffee nor tea, but shells if you like, No estimustryohnia during the day; no chloral, no lant, no quivine, no quassia, no iron, no promides during the night. At 11 o'clock lant, no quinine, no quassia, no iron, no bromides during the night, At 11 o'clook in the forenoon I wish you to have a raw egg beaten up with milk on one day, on the next day alternate it with a full cup of the next day alternate it with a full cup of strong beef tea or veal tea; on the third day with plain milk. At 1 o'clock vou will dine plainly, but satisfactorily. At 3 o'clock take another glass of milk or beef tea or egg, whichever you did not take in the morning; a plain, but hearty, supper at 6, and between supper and bedtime another glass of milk. If you wake in the nicht, have some milk standing by you to drink; but you won't wake. None of your food should be hot. You will take no other medicine than some which I shall give you. Can you remember all this?"

"Please repeat it."

"Please repeat it."

He was humiliated, but he did so.
"Now, to day, I want you to walk—"
"Walk! It's all I can do to drag one foot after the other pow."
"If want you to walk a quarter of a mile and back," she said, not heeding his interruption "and do that every day for a week. The next week make it a half mile; the next week a whole mile. Keep up that for three weeks, and then every week double your portion till you can do ten miles a day with perfect case,"
"I never oan in the world!"

"I never can in the world?"

"Do as I say, if you please. Before starting on your walk take a tepid sponge bath, and on returning from your walk rub yourself down thoroughly with a sannel mitten—I will give you one; then go to bed entirely undressed for a couple of hours, and rub yourself again on rising. Go to bed every night at 10 o'clock, and the in hed ten hours. You are not to open Sannel mitten—I will give you one; then go to bed entirely undressed for a couple of hours, and rub yourself again on rising. Go to bed every night at 10 o'clock, and lle in bed ten hours. You are not to open a book or look in a newspaper for three months—"

"Impossible!"

"Perfectly possible. You have no idea.

"What are they made of?" he demanded, bluntly. "Because if there is any calomel in them I won't take them. And podophyaline—"

"Never mind that. De as I say. Come back in three months. There is no fee until you are cured. Good morning."

And the door was opened, and he was on the outside of it, never having been so unceremoniously treated in his life—he, a leading physician of the east, sought far and wide—and he was quite inclined to be yery anory.

and wide—and he was quite inclined to be very angry.

However, Dr. Tredickar was not a man of half-way measures. Having undertaken the thing he decided to finish it. He went off on a prairie farm that he heard of, and he obeyed her instructions to the letter. He was six months instead of three obeying them; but, at the end of that time, hale and hearty, ruddy and robust, without an ache or an ail, he again sought the presence of his adviser.

"I have come," said he, "to thank you, to pay my fee, and to ask you for the formula of your wonderful medicine. I am a physician myself."

"Oh, I knew that, Dr. Tredickar," she said, calmly, lifting off the half-handker-chief of gray and black lace that she wore about her waving and still brown hair.

"You knew that! How——"

"You taught me, sir, to make these pills yourself."

"Dorothy!" he oried.

"Yes, Dorothy Merle."

Truly! And where had his eyes been?
Dorothy Merle, plumper, rosier, and almost as pretty as—well, perhaps prettier than ever. She had known him at a glance, and she had disguised her voice and walked with a cane, and worn the half-handkerchiefs to mislead him.

"I thought," he said severely, that you were Mrs. Taylor."

"No," she replied, "I have never married; I assumed the name."

"And you will assume another before this sun sets!" he cried; "do you think I am going back to the east alone? How could you, how could you leave me on that oruel day?"

HAMILTON, Aug. 14 .- Only about three hundred people visited Dundurn this after-noon to see the baseball match between he Clippers and the Maple Leafs. The he Clippers and the Maple Leafs. The game dragged wearily on through two hours and fifteen minutes, the spectators gaping and moving uneseily in their seats during the numerous tiresome pauses. Now a player would get his arm broke or his fingers out of joint and the audience would be obliged to wait while the umpire performed a surgical operation, them when this delay was over the the ball would touch the end of the bat and go bounding over the grand stand, down one ball would touch the end of the bat and go bounding over the grand stand, down into the ravine at the rear, where it meually took a host of officials five or ten minutes to discover its hiding place. The fielding of the visitors gave one a decided pain, and especially their attempts to catch a fly, which they almost invariably failed to do, even when it was batted direct to their hands.

The "kid" pitchers of each team were in that they are amateurs in very truth. Fitzgerald couldn't even throw a ball direct to a base, and when he attempted a curve the field captains and the audience in that portion of the stand which is unprotected ran a great risk of annihilation. True, Hendvicks struck out twelve men during the game, but then the Leafs are not noted for their heavy batting, and when they had the courage to approach within four feet of the plate they ran a tremendous

The Torontos and Ottawas. At first the baseball game on Saturday between the Ottawa, champions of Eastern Canada, and Toronto clubs was amusing, but before the end came it got terribly sedious. Seven or eight hundred people were present and were disappointed. The Ottawas had written up declaring they could play "good ball" and telling of their doughty deeds down east. They even demanded $75 guarantee and, in a moment proved that while they had some idea of the way the game should be played, they entirely lacked the necessary ability to put their knowledge into force, the first baseman and the pitcher, Valois, being excepted. The others failed to hit the easiest balls, and their fielding was simply ntelerably loose, the ball, whether knocked for a fly or a grounder, having invariably to spend its entire force before being thrown in. The Torontos got tired of running bases and in the last inning struck

Jeffers was umpire. In the evening the Terontos were entertained at supper by the distinguished Peter Green for making more runs in one innings than the visitors made in their whole nine. Baseball Tooday.

To-day the Toronto baseball club has their work cut out. In the morning they play the Clippers and in the afternoon tackle the Londons. Thus in one day they meet the two strongest clubs in the league. What the result will be of course it is im possible to say, but there is no earthly reason why they should not win both games, and if they beat the Clippers in the morning, we regard it as almost a certainty that they will. Anyhow the games are bound to be rattlers and the people may reasonably be expected to testify their appreciation of so excellent a bill of fare appreciation of so excellent a bill of fare by turning out both morning and afternoon in their thousands. Play commences at 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. respectively.

The monotony of Saturday's game was relieved by a little dispute between a representative of the Toronto athletic grounds association, lessess of the Jarvis street grounds, and the management of the baseball association. The latter's rental of the grounds covers every Monday. Wednesthe grounds covers every Monday, Wednes-day and Friday with one Saturday in the mo .ca, excepting only statutory holidays.

The arrangement was that the team which won the most games by 6 o'clock should be considered the victors. Three games were played. The first was earned by the boys of the Hill in ten minutes, the ball being put through by Palmer. The Torontos captured the second game in 12 minutes, Schofield shooting the ball to victory. Much interest was taken in the third game, which lasted an hour. A few minutes before six Searle of the Young Canadians added to the glory and happiness of his team by flinging the rubber through and crowning the Hill boys rubber through and crowning the Hill boys At the close of the game the Toronto boys entertained their vanquishers at the club rooms to a capital lunch.

East Toronto C. C. v. Parkdale C. C. A cricket match was played Saturday on the East Toronto ground, Easter avenue, between the above clubs, and resulted in an easy victory for the home team by 42 runs. The scores were: East Toronto 88, Parkdale 45. The double figures obtained were, W. Caven not out 18, W. Ledger 18, E. E. Cooch 17, and D. W. Caven 18, for Factor W. Cameron 18 for East Toronto, and B. W. Cameron 18 for East Toronto, and Featherstonhaugh 20 for Parkdale. The bowling of R. Cameron was remarkably good, he taking 7 wickets for 13 runs.

America. His collection of rare and value famous relic hunters on the continent of America. His collection of rare and valuable coins is alone worth a large sum. His East Indian curiosities and his South Sea Island stock of war clubs, have cost him many years of research and trouble. The island of Mahati, which is one of the South Sea group, has furnished Mr. Jamieson with many unique relics of barbarism. The customs of the inhabitants of this little isla (it is only two and a quarter miles in customs of the inhabitants of this little isle (it is only two and a quarter miles in circumference) are peculiar. The people only rise once in six weeks to wash their hands and look at the family timepiece, and the very ducks walk barefooted through the mud. No one who passes up Yonge street can avoid seeing Jamieson's palace clothing house. Its well stocked and well displayed windows catch the eye of everyone. It is celebrated far and wide for its cheap clothing, and is the resort of all who want first class tailoring at a low price.

THE CENUINE PIANO.

Manufactured by Rainer & Co., Guelph, Ont.

The undersigned respectfully announce that on the 2th day of April, 1884, Joseph F. Rainer dissolved partnership with Frank Sweetnam and John Hazelton, as piano manufacturers, and that said Joseph F. Rainer, with his son, will continue to manuacture the original cross-scale Pianos, of which the said Joseph F. Rainer is the sole inventor.

Since the above dissolution, Mr. Rainer, sr., has greatly improved the small Cross-scale Piano by adding one string more to each note throughout the middle, making three strings to each note instead of two, thus giving the Piano a third more power of tone throughout the middle. There will be fifty-three notes from the treble down that will have three strings instead of twenty-four notes from the treble down as formerly. The undersigned will give to wholesale and retail customers the benefit of this improvement by letting them have these Pianos for the same price as the ones formerly made with two strings.

These Pianos have now been before the public for 23 years, and have always ranked among the very best, and are celebrated for quality of tone, great power and durability of action, promprelastic touch, fine finish and elegant style of case, combined with every known improvement. The most complete and unbroken list on record, embracing a period of 30 years, and made up of 28 first prizes, medals and diplemes, received at the principal exhibitions in Canada—Montreal, Kingston, Toronto, Hamilton and London. At the Centennial Exhibition in Philadelpihia, in 1876, we secured a medal and diplome for our plano. The great favor with which the cross-scale planos have been received for so long a period, and the reputation they bear, has induced others to imitate them. We therefore caution intending purchasers and dealers wishing to obtain the original cross-scale piano to see that the name of "Rainer & Co." is on each instrument. We make the Upright and Square Grand Planos, For further particulars. Price Ilst, &c., address EAINEE & 448., Gue fanufactured by Rainer & Co., Guelph, On

Rochester, Aug. 17-About two weeks ago a man who represented himself to be James W. Conklin, a large dealer in Canadian horses, opened an account with the Commercial bank of this city, deposit. ing several hundred dollars in currency, to which he added and checked against from which he added and checked against from day to day in a regular business way. He had a handsome check of his own printed, and conducted his business in all respects like a legitimate customer. Last Friday afternoon he deposited to his credit a draft of the Banque du Peuple of Montreal on the bank of the Republic of New York for $3900. On Saturday morning a clerk whom he had engaged, and who was well known to the bank, presented a check for currency for $2500. The officers of the Commercial bank declined to pay the check until satisfied of the genuinents of the draft and retained the check and sent word to Mr. Conklin to call later. They had forwarded the draft to New York and telegraphed to that city and found that the bank of the Republic had paid the draft without hesitation and apparently everything was all right. The officials of the Commercial bank were still more suepicious as Conklin failed to enquire why his check had been dishonored and they telegraphed the Montreal bank asking it the draft was all right. They received a prompt answer: "No such draft drawn by this bank." The New York bank was at once notified of this fact. The Commercial bank still holds the $3900 with some curiosity to know whether the New York bank has paid a forged draft of one of its customers, or in what way the Montreal bank has been swindled.

It is alleged that as soon as Conklin found out that suspicious were aroused he left the city and his young clerk was much surprised at the non appearance of his principal and the turn affairs had taken. day to day in a regular business way. He

A man giving the name of S. Edwards Friday afternoon last deposited a draft for $3700 drawn by the Banque du Peuple of Montreal on the bank of the Republic of Mew York for collection at the German American bank of Rochester. Next day he checked against it for $2500. The check was not paid to-day and the draft was protested as a forgery. On the same day Edward's deposited a draft or the same amount as the other two by same day Edward's deposited a draffor the same amount as the other two by the same bank on the bank of the Republish the Flour City National bank of Rochester. In this instance the check to $2500 was paid and to-day the draft we protested as a forgery in New York.

A Canadian to-day offered to deposit certified check on an Ingersoll, Ont., ban for $2700 in the bank of Monroe desiring to check for a portion of the amount. The bank decimed the business. So far as can
