Aid Rushed From St. John, Halifax and Other Places—Wireless Gives Out After Sending Call For Help—Steamer West India Liner Bound Here With Passengers and Freight

Apparently in the midst of a dense snow storm, and with a strong wind blowing, the big Royal Mail Steam Packet liner Cobequid, on the last leg of the initial round trip for that line between St. John, Halifax and the West Indies, ran aground on the southeast coast of Briar Island, near the entrance to St. Mary's Bay, of the Nova Scotia coast early this morning and is now stranded there, while every possible means of assistance are being rushed to the scene of the disaster. The place is sixty-one miles from St. John.

So far particulars of the stranding are very meagre. Reports received here by wireless from the wrecked vessel state that she was ashore and asked for assistance, but the extent of her damage was not stated, nor were the chances of her being floated on the rising tide mentioned.

It was said at the office of Wm. Thomson & Co., the local representatives of the line, this morning that there were passengers aboard, but no word had been received as to the number of whether or not they had been rescued. She carries a crew of 102 men.

Aid is being sent from St. John, Halifax, Yarmouth and Campbellton. The steamer John L. Cann was sent out from Westport, but on account of the dense storm was unable to find Cobequid. The tug Helix and the government steamer Lansdowne were sent from here to the wrecked vessel before noon, under the direction of Pilot Fenwick McKelvey.

May Be on Murr Lodges. After receiving the report from Westport to the effect that the steamer John L. Cann had cruised about Briar Island without sighting the Cobequid, the local officers of the Marine Department came to the conclusion that the steamer was not on Briar Island, but were under the impression that she had run on the Murr Lodges, on the northern side of the bay. Supposing this to be the case, a wireless message was sent to the cable ship Tyrian to proceed immediately to the Murr Lodges and she is now on her way there.

The first word of the disaster was received in the city about seven o'clock, when a wireless message came to Parkside Island from the stranded steamer. Almost simultaneously a telegram was received by G. H. Flood, of the marine department, from the department in Halifax. The wireless report gave little information as to the circumstances surrounding the grounding of the steamer, but was merely to the effect that the vessel had run ashore on the rocks on the southeast shore of Briar Island and asked for immediate assistance. A little before nine o'clock another message said that the Cobequid's engine rooms were full of water, and that no message had been received since, it was supposed that her wireless system had gone out of order.

Aid From Here. Immediately on receipt of the first message preparations were made by both the marine department and Wm. Thomson & Co., the local representatives of the line to which the steamer belongs, to send aid to the stranded steamer. The Canadian government tug Helix was the first to get away from here, leaving the harbor at 11.15 with Fenwick McKelvey aboard as pilot. There was some hesitation on the part of the captain of the Helix at first, but he finally decided to undertake the trip. The government steamer Lansdowne was also despatched in service, and got away at (Continued on page 7, fifth column).

ONE DEATH IN NEW YORK

Twenty-five Hundred Men and Women Seek Shelter—Coldest of the Winter in New England—Shipping Has Suffered

(Canadian Press.) New York, Jan. 12.—The entire central and eastern sections of the country are today in the grip of hard freezing weather, with prospects that it will continue another twenty-four hours at least and in some sections for a longer period. From the Rocky Mountains to the Atlantic coast, decided drops in the temperature were reported last night and early today. Even in the south, reports indicate a general cold wave and it was feared that in many places the orange crop would be damaged.

In New York, the temperature had dropped to ten above zero early today and weather forecasters predicted still colder weather during the day. While but one death was recorded in New York last night, much suffering resulted from the extreme cold wind, and 2,500 men and women sought shelter in municipal lodging houses and charity organizations.

The coldest night of the winter in the Adirondacks was reported, the thermometer registering fourteen below at Albany, twenty below at Utica, twenty-two below at Syracuse, twenty-eight below at Tupper Lake and twenty-eight below at Watertown. Massachusetts and other New England states experienced the severest weather of the winter with much colder in prospect.

Along the Atlantic coast shipping suffered from the offshore gale and New York Harbor early today the number of vessels engaged in towing and transferring freight was far below normal. Biting Cold in Montreal.

Montreal, Jan. 12.—Montreal today found itself in the grip of the weather which was coldest, according to figures issued from the McGill Observatory, since 1870. Early this morning the thermometer reached 27.6 degrees below zero and at noon there was no indication of milder weather. There was a driving wind. Much distress was reported.

The sale of harbor fishery lots which was continued in the court house this morning from last Tuesday, resulted in the sale of six lots at a total of $1,001.20. One lot is still unsold and may be offered again.

The upset price for the lots remaining unsold had been reduced $100 and they were bought at small advance on the minimum. There was only one bid on each lot and the advance on the upset price was $1 in one case and ten cents on each of the others.

Mayor Prink presided with Commissioners Agar, Wigmore and McLellan as members of the Fishery Committee, Chamberlain D. G. Lingley and A. G. McKelvey of his staff were present. The sale was conducted by Auctioneer T. T. Lentalum.

The lots sold this morning as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Lot description and Price. Includes lots for Wm. A. Spence, John M. Christopher, L. Silphant, George Lord, and Lot No. 8 on Navy Island.

AT MINTO

Although St. John has been feeling the effects of a slack winter, with more people out of work than at this time last year, such is not the case all through the province. The Rothwell coal mines at Minto have had considerable difficulty in getting a sufficient number of men to work in the mines at that place. One of the shafts has been out of commission for some time and is being reopened and several men have already been sent up from the city, several others have been engaged and will go up tomorrow.

REMANDED

Alexander Breen, charged with attempting to steal a goose from David Arnoff's barn, was brought before the police court again this morning and further remanded until tomorrow morning. E. S. Ritchie is acting for the prisoner.

NEW JUDGE HOLDS HIS FIRST COURT

SPEECHES BY LAWYERS

Judge Armstrong and Recorder Baxter Extend Greetings to New Justice and His Honor Replies—The Docket

(Special to Times.)

Montreal, Jan. 12.—A flourish over the granting of the use of Craig street drill hall to an automobile show in preference to a real estate show has caused a stamp in which several officers are concerned, and has angered the real estate men to such a pitch that they threaten to burn Sam Hughes in effigy, because, after at first refusing permission to use the hall at all, they yielded to a regular letter by the members of his committee and supporters stating:

"As the drill shed in Craig street is the only suitable and available hall we can secure in Montreal for the purpose of this exhibition, we may, if necessary, solicit your presence to join us in a deputation going to Ottawa by special train to wait on the minister of militia."

"The object of the exhibition, both commercial and educational, is the same as that of the other members of the committee and should be held in a hall which can be organized with modern methods, from the purchase of the land to the furnishing of a house."

The political agent of the real estate show has called on the members of the commanding officers' committee upholding the minister of militia's order of refusal. He has shown them the copy of a letter he has written to Mr. Brien, calling the minister of militia's order of refusal and threatening to build an indignation meeting beside the drill hall on Saturday, Jan. 24, in order to burn Col. Sam in effigy.

JUDGE CROCKETT

tended to Mr. Justice Crockett who presided for the first time this morning. After the calling of the jury all in the court room arose, and Judge J. Russell Armstrong, K. C., past president of the St. John Law Society extended to His Honor the hearty felicitations of that body. He said that Mr. Dees, the president, was unable to be present, and he, as past president wished to extend congratulations of the other members of the bar of this city. His Honor was if not the youngest, one of the youngest members he ever appointed to this province, and had the further distinction of being the first ever appointed to the Court of the King's Bench. He referred to the important change made in the jurisdiction of this province by the establishing of a court of appeals and a King's Bench Division. "Formerly," he said, "it has been the privilege of a judge to sit on appeal, express his opinion, and also cast his vote in the giving of a judgment in a case which he himself had tried."

A new enactment of the legislature had created this new division of the court, whose important duty it was to hear the final appeal in this province. But no less important was the King's Bench Division to which His Honor had been called, for it was his duty to hear the evidence, observe the demeanor of the witnesses, hear the arguments, change the jury if there was any, and if not to give judgment.

He felt sure that His Honor had the ability and knowledge of the law, the knowledge of human nature and the discernment necessary to perform these important tasks. (Continued on page 7, sixth column)

DISPOSITION OF THE AEGEAN ISLANDS

London, Jan. 12.—The London embassies of the Triple Alliance—Germany, Italy, and Austria—will today present their answers to Sir Edward Grey's note with regard to the disposition of the Aegean Islands. The contents of the notes have not been disclosed.

The Triple Alliance accepts the allocation of Greece of the islands occupied by her, with the exception of Imbros and Tenedos, and probably Lemnos, which Turkey retains. The notes ask the British government to forward to the Greek cabinet the decision of the powers as to the islands and Southern Albania, so that the Greek troops may be recalled without delay.

Montreal, Jan. 12.—Mrs. Benton McNab, wife of the proprietor of the Montreal Daily Mail, died suddenly this morning of pneumonia at her home, 85 Fort street. Mrs. McNab was a native of Moncton, N. B., being a daughter of Alexander McQuarrie. Mr. McNab will accompany the body east for interment tonight. Mrs. McNab had many friends in Moncton and her death has been heard of there with much regret. She is survived by three sisters—Mrs. J. B. Burns of Moncton, Mrs. J. C. Stewart of Shefford, and Mrs. E. L. Her only son, Dr. Norman McNab, died about two years ago. Her husband, who was formerly in the N. S., her former home, for interment.

BURLEY-McALARY

At the home of the officiating clergyman, Rev. W. H. Sampson, Duke street, Carleton, yesterday afternoon at 4.30 o'clock, a pleasing nuptial ceremony took place when Miss Muriel L. McAlary of Champlain street, became the bride of Roy R. Burley, formerly of this city, but now located in Vancouver. The bride, who was unattended, was nicely dressed in a grey traveling costume with hat to correspond. Mr. and Mrs. Burley left last evening on the Montreal express for Vancouver, where they will reside, and where the groom is engaged with the Ontario Fire Insurance Co. They will visit the larger cities en route. A large number of friends were at the depot last night to say farewell and to extend the very best wishes for future happiness. Both have been very popular here, and many valuable remembrances were received, including a handsome traveling bag from the bride's associates in the employ of the Montreal express, and a substantial check from the groom's family here.

PUBLIC WORKS.

The total amount expended by the city department of public works during last year was $1,024,774.46, a reduction of about $500 in the figures given in the morning papers. The difference occurred in the assessment for King street paving, which should be $5,460.28 instead of $5,925.82, and in the retaining walls, which should be $1,188.22 instead of $1,888.22. The appropriation for 1913 included $2,000 for granite curbing and $500 for paving gutters and repairing cinder walks which was not used.

THE CHECKERS' ARBITRATION

Six New Craters in Active Eruption and Country Side Swept by Lava Which Cut Off Natives From Safety—A Fearful Picture

(Canadian Press.)

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 12.—The entire western part of the Island of Ambrym, New Hebrides, has been devastated by volcanic eruptions, according to news brought by the Canadian Australian liner Makira yesterday.

At Sydney prior to the departure of the Makira was received news that on December 8 six new craters were observed in active eruption and on the following day, Mount Minnie collapsed. Inhabitants of the danger zone were compelled to take refuge in boats which they had hardly reached when two new craters burst, overwhelming the country side with lava on its way to the sea. Villages on the southern coast were also abandoned.

No loss of life was reported among the white population, and the fleeing people are said to have taken refuge at Port Sandwich. It is probable many of the natives on the western part of the island and the interior have perished on account of the lava, cutting off retreat towards the sea.

The steamer France succeeded in saving 202 natives, most of whom were old men, women and children left behind by young able bodied men who, at the first sign of danger took to the sea. The western part of the island was all fire and totally devastated. There is no trace of vegetation. The rest of the island was covered with cinders. The lava is even being bent with the weight. Water is scarce everywhere. The rivers have been transformed into burning lava. Returning after launching the other ports, Captain Charley, master of the France, passed as closely to Ambrym as safety permitted. The eruption was so violent that all about expected that part of the island would disappear.

"BARLESS CANADA"

Shall We Have it By 1820?—The Position of the Provinces on the Liquor Question

Toronto, Jan. 12.—"Shall we have a barless Canada by 1820?" was the interesting theme of an address delivered by Dr. Ber. McTavish before the General Ministerial Association at the Central Y. M. C. A. yesterday. As a result of what was accomplished in the course of a resolution expressing their approval of the new move and "laudable ambition." They also urged the Dominion Alliance to inaugurate such a movement and to rely on their readiness to co-operate.

Dr. McTavish said that "Prince Edward Island is all dry; Nova Scotia is dry with the exception of Halifax; nine out of fifteen districts and two or three cities are dry in New Brunswick; 859 parishes in Quebec are dry; Ontario has 519 barless municipalities; half of Manitoba is dry; Saskatchewan has a few dry spots and Alberta has embarked upon a vigorous prohibition campaign."

He declared that the temperance forces were backed by the Dominion Alliance, the Gideons, W. C. T. U. churches, economic and medical scientists.

BARRED QUEEN FROM MUSEUM BECAUSE SHE WOULD NOT GIVE UP UMBRELLA

London, Jan. 12.—Because she refused to give up her umbrella the Queen of England was refused admittance to Norwich Castle Museum yesterday. Queen Mary was accompanied by the Bishop of Norwich. As it was a purely private visit, no notification had been given. The attendant, failing to recognize the queen, stubbornly refused to admit her with the umbrella, which she, with equal stubbornness, refused to surrender. The bishop intervened, but without effect until he disclosed the identity of the royal visitor. Profuse apologies followed and the queen entered bearing her umbrella in triumph.

DEVASTATION ON JAPANESE ISLAND; HUNDRED IN ONE PLACE LOSE LIVES

Succession of Earthquakes Accompanied by Violent Eruption of Volcano—Several Villages Are Set Afire

(Canadian Press.)

Tokio, Jan. 12.—The earthquakes in the Island of Kushu have resulted in a large loss of life and damage to property which cannot be estimated at present. At Moji, on the Kinsuho Railway 100 persons have been killed. Many houses in the town of Kagoshima, capital of the Province of Satsuma, have been destroyed. Last night the entire district afforded a terrifying spectacle. The city was in darkness, the only illumination being the glare from the volcano Sakurajima, which was in violent eruption.

The evacuation of Kagoshima was impeded by a huge rock that had been thrown out by the volcano and which wrecked rails outside the town. All the coolies fled.

A telegraph operator at Kagoshima sent this message: "The city is almost buried in ashes and stones. The people are in a panic and a wild exodus has taken place. All the operators have fled. This will be the last despatch."

Wardships have been despatched to the scene with doctors and supplies. Railroad and telegraph lines are broken. The earth shocks and volcanic eruptions continue with violence. The volcanic eruptions began with thunderous explosions, and the volcano became a roaring furnace. The burning rock and ashes set fire to several villages.

Nagasaki, Japan, Jan. 12.—Despair and panic reigned among the inhabitants of Kagoshima at the southern end of the Island of Kushu, when the volcano broke into eruption yesterday, burying villages in streams of lava.

A refugee, who arrived here today from Kagoshima, says the eruption started with columns of thick black smoke and flame from the crater of Sakurajima. The inhabitants of the small island in the Gulf of Kagoshima where Sakurajima is situated, rushed to the beach and leaped on board junks and steamers which carried them across three miles of water to Kagoshima, ash and particles of lava falling all the while on the decks. At Kagoshima the heat was intense and a hail of glowing cinders made it impossible for the citizens to remain.

In Panic. The horror was increased by the incessant slight shock of earthquakes. The people fled in disorderly crowds along the highways leading west and north of the city. They had abandoned everything in their flight and soon they were suffering also from lack of food and drink.

Other reports say hundreds of people perished beneath the molten lava and that many were drowned.

AGED MAN IS GORED TO DEATH BY HERD OF DEER

Babylon, L. I., July 12.—In a fight with a herd of weather maddened deer, led by a huge antlered buck, Patrick Horan, aged keeper in a deer park at West Islip, was gored to death yesterday. A blood-stained pitchfork, a broken club, ground torn up for many rods and blood-dripping wounds on the deer were evidences to the terrific struggle. Horan's body was set out up by hoofs and antlers that he could scarcely be recognized.

The New Colors For Spring

The stores are already beginning to answer the question that so many women want answered. As you read your newspaper today you will notice the new spring note creeping into the advertising. The stores are already beginning to show the beautiful cottons from which women will make their summer frocks. The woman who expects to keep posted to the minute must be an advertising reader. She must avail herself of the service her favorite newspaper provides for her. It is the best fashion news in the world because it is based on actual merchandise and not on "scores." It is up to the minute. It is written in a way that makes it clear to her. But it seems almost unnecessary to remind Canadian women of the joys of advertising—for they are already the greatest readers of advertising in the world.

THE SORROW OF TORONTO

Toronto's problem belt, as seen by Miss Betty D. Thornley, who writes of it in January Canada Monthly, is an extensive and important part of the city. The population of the problem belt is approximately two hundred and twenty thousand, or well on toward half the city's half million. This doesn't give a high rate per square mile, the American would say, accustomed as he is to the tenement house and its rabbit-warren tribe. But you must remember that, wisely or unwisely, Toronto has outlawed the tenement as a matter of course, and has in consequence as a present problem that same one-family domicile packed from cellar to shingles with humanity that hasn't as yet been educated sub-wards.

But you and I can't think in thousands, any more than we can spend millions. We crossed to one house near the City Hall, and after visiting the basement, first and second floor, climbed to the third story stairs.

"For the love of Mike!" gasped the reporter, "they're clean!"

"Yes," said a thin little wisp of a slighting voice, "I asked the Lord for strength to clean 'em and I done it!"

On the top step sat an old woman of whom nothing seemed alive but the restless dark eyes. She had her chin on her hand and the fluff of her gray hair framed a face that might have been any age past the ones you believe in. She wouldn't have weighed a hundred pounds, and as she talked she shook and her voice shook and there wasn't a still thing about her but her indomitable soul.

"Mother of eight I was," she said, when she had recovered sufficient strength from the stairwinding to take us into her tiny dollar a week hole under the eaves. "Five died in one week with black diphtheria and then himself was run over. Yes, Miss, yes, but I come to Canada with two and I was strong. Many's the time down near Port Credit that I'd milk nine cows afore breakfast and the little girl holdin' tight round me neck. Then I'd go back and make porridge and work in the fields all day."

"And is she dead?" the visitor asked softly.

The old eyes traveled wearily from the meager room, of somewhere past the slanting wall, through the single little window to the One Thing Left.

"I hope so, Miss," said the mother, who was sixty-eight and looked a hundred. "She went to New York and I heard she'd died."

There was a boy left, though, and it was partly for his big, bonny sake that the woman married again.

"Good he was to me, good," she crooned. "He'd kiss me'n his step-father goodly so sure's the mornin' for him to go to work. Then the Boer war come, Miss. He was one of the first to enlist, but he never lived to be sent home. I was coming died, too, and then after all Wilkins died, Miss, and now there's no one but me, a widow eight years."

THE SECRET OF GOOD DIGESTION

In perfect health, with regular and healthful action of the liver and kidneys, you need not know there is such a thing as digestion or indigestion. Unfortunately, however, modern life is artificial, and not many people avoid suffering more or less from troubles of this nature.

The great secret lies in keeping the liver and kidneys in health and vigor, for then the food is passed quickly along the alimentary canal, the nutritive portion being assimilated in the blood stream and the poisoned waste materials are passed out of the body.

When the liver and kidneys get wrong you will obtain relief most promptly and effectively by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. If chronic indigestion is to be cured it must be by inducing the action of these filtering and excretory organs. To persons who have thought only of the stomach as being the offending organ this may seem strange, but any competent physician will tell you this is correct.

ROYAL NURSERY FOR BABY DUKE

In Fact The Royal Children's Quarters Are Outdone

THE ROXBURGE INFANT

Viscountess Wolsely, Landscape Gardener, Surprises Rich Client by Her Charges — Too Much Noise Causes Duchess to Let Her House to Whisky Distiller

(Times Special Correspondence.)

London, Jan. 8.—The superb nurseries at Floors Castle, that have been months in the making, are now ready for the Duke and Duchess of Roxburgh's little heir. In size and magnificence there is nothing to touch them, even among the royal nurseries. Half-a-dozen large rooms at the back of the castle are at the disposal of his small lordship. They are on the same corridor as that on which his parents' suite is situated. His day nursery is as big as a salon, with a great fireplace at either end. The ventilation on a new principle and is the last word in hygiene.

The walls are in cream and the most charming carpet depicting a variety of nursery tales, especially women to the duchess's order, covers the floor. Around the walls are immense presses for the baby's toys which already contain gifts from many royalties, including Queen Mary, who sent him a rag doll she made herself for a Christmas present.

It is only since the arrival of the heir to the great white castle that his father would permit a telephone installation, the duchess representing to him that it was an absolute necessity in the event of his son being taken ill so that they could call a doctor. Some time ago when the baby had a slight cold, a local practitioner was called in and he noticed that the child wore sleeves to his frocks. "Dinna be foolish," he said to the duchess. "Take off those sleeves and wear him handy prices as when some months later the bill came in for £1,500 when he expected it would be a few hundreds. It is easy to imagine what his face looked like. He wrote remonstrating, but soon learned the lady did not intend to abate a jot. She had never had an account questioned and she appeared to be of opinion that it was a daring feat on his part to do such a thing. Anyway, she is determined to stick out for what she considers her rights."

The Duchess of Manchester is sick of her house in Grosvenor Square and has let it to a great whisky maker, Sir Thomas Dewar, who is going to make things hum there next season. "No house in the world is of any use to me," said Her Grace, "if my children cannot sleep in it and the traffic in the square used to wake them up even when I had used nursery put at the back? It will be remembered that Consuelo, Duchess

Household Economy

How to Have the Best Cough Syrup and Save $2, by Making It at Home.

Cough medicine, as a rule, contain a large quantity of plain syrup. If you take two cups of granulated sugar, add one cup of warm water and stir about 2 minutes, you have as good syrup as money could buy.

If you will then put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) in a 16-ounce bottle, and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup, you will have as much cough syrup as you could buy ready made for $2.50. It keeps perfectly. Any household can easily prepare it in five minutes.

And you will find it the best cough syrup ever used—even in whooping cough. You can feel it take hold—usually by stops the most severe cough in 24 hours. It is just laxative enough, has a good tonic effect, and taste is pleasant. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

It is a splendid remedy, too, for whooping cough, croup, hoarseness, asthma, chest pains, etc.

Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in quassal and all the healing plants elements. No other preparation will work in this formula.

This recipe for making cough remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup is now used and prized in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada. The plan has often been imitated, but never successfully.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded goes with this recipe. If the genuine Pinex is used. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you, if you ask him. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

Thought Nothing But Death

Would End Her Misery

WAS TROUBLED WITH Heart Disease.

Mrs. J. D. Talbot, Owen Sound, Ont., writes—"I have been a great sufferer from heart disease, and feeling wretched. I have had recourse to every kind of treatment I could think might help me, including the skill of several doctors. I suffered so for years that at times I have felt that nothing but death could end my misery. I was advised by a friend, who had suffered untold pain and misery, just as I had, and had been cured by Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, to give them a trial, so I decided to do so. I am delighted with the result, as I am now completely cured, and eat and sleep as I have not done for years.

You are at liberty to use my name at any time as I am convinced they are the best pills on the market for any form of heart disease."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50 cents per box, or 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

London, Ont.—"I am a farmer's wife and a very busy woman. One day a friend of mine told me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as she had been greatly helped by it. I began taking it and soon got well, and my periods became natural again. Since then I have had perfect health. In fact I have never felt so well in my life. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a medicine many women need. THE CYCLING BERLINS AT THE LYRIC

A very different kind of vaudeville act is gracing the stage at the Lyric theatre the first three days of this week. This is the Cycling Berlins, a duo of celebrated cyclists performing many feats heretofore new to the vaudeville stage. Many varied styles of bicycles, tandems, etc., are used, and upon these the clever lady and gentleman offer acts of daring and sensation. The burlesque fire bicycle is an idea that called for much applause at the performance yesterday. Flying circles, acrobatic novelties and thrilling jumps from one wheel to another are accomplished with a speed bordering on the marvelous. In the picture department The Van Warden Rubics, a modern society detective drama, takes the lead, and is followed by interesting Weekly News.

ONE OF THE BEST YET PRESENTED

Get Rich Quick Wallingford Proves Delightful Treat at Opera House

When J. Rufus Wallingford, millionaire promoter, "forefather" etc., stepped off the train at Battisburg, Ia., it meant that the town was made. His original intention was that the town was "done," but by the happy intervention of love "touches," unusual in that their forte was money "touches," he and his partner, the dashing young Horace "Blackie" Daw, decided to stay and their decision meant a magical transformation from a sleepy, smoky group of buildings, inhabited by citizens equally inclined to the adoration of Morphine as a wide-awake hustling city in which dwelt all "live-wires."

Well, the way they started in to swindle those poor "boons" as they styled them in Battisburg was simply scandalous but at the same time it was amusing. At their wits' end to arrive at a plan of action to secure possession of the thousands lying snug in the town they hit upon a scheme whereby they would erect a large industrial plant for the manufacture of colored-covered carpet tacks. Later would come an extensive stretch of suburban lines, a new hotel, opera house and various other "boom" features which J. Rufus promised. Eventually these additions did come, but it was the surprise of their lives to the two schemers, and that in spite of themselves they had put through an "honest" deal, that their carpet tacks were in wonderful demand throughout the country, and that their real estate holdings would net them millions. Battisburg became famed throughout the country and thousands of the townspeople went to J. Rufus Wallingford and in a measure to Horace Daw, who became the chief citizens.

This is a mere skeleton of the comical "Get-Rich-Quick-Wallingford" presented at the Opera House last evening by the Thompson-Woods Stock Co. before an audience that appreciated every line of it and was not scanty with applause. To one who had witnessed the original production of Cohar's famous piece dramatized from Chester's early life the presentation last evening was most satisfactory, and entirely complimentary to the stock players. It was hard at first to reconcile a Wallingford of the medium stature and youthful appearance of Sam Meharry with the big, extensive stretch of humanity represented by the stage originator of the character, Hale Hamilton, but as the play continued the illustration became progressively more pleasing. Mr. Meharry played the part most effectively and in this way did much to overcome what he was minus in regard to appearance. The special part. The role of Blackie Daw in the hands of Mr. Drummond was most favorable in comparison with that of Edward Ellis, a former St. John favorite who made the role of the gentleman crook famous in New York. Mr. Drummond did particularly well.

The comely offers excellent opportunity for the large cast but some others besides the two leading characters are deserving of special mention. Miss Brandt had but little to do as Fannie Jasper, stenographer, but she made the most of her part. Mr. St. John was advantageously cast as a hot proprietor while Mr. Dodge as his clerk did his usual good work. It seemed a pity to see Leuben Weyler in the more or less insignificant role of Abe Gantner, cab driver, but though a minor part his ability and bigness were outstanding. Mr. Peger as G. W. Battles, the richest "booby" in town, and later as Donnie, a detective, added further praise for himself, which was still more augmented by the excellence with which the piece was staged, some of the compliments in connection with which must also go to Mr. Valerio, scenic artist.

The work of young Russell Cortright as an actor was very clever. The group of town financiers and their singing of the Corporation Song in which Messrs. Weyler, Peger, McCloskey and McCloskey took part was most laughable, particularly where Mr. McCloskey's voice of doubtful range chimed in. Mr. Cortright and Mr. McGinnis added to the success of the play. George Anthony also was in the cast. The ladies' company even including Miss Brandt, were well cast to display their beauty, but the work of all, Miss Bridges, Davis, Derby, and Delmore, was very satisfactory. One of the most laughable features was the playing of the Battisburg Citizens' Band in which Morton L. Harrison, Harold Williams, and others were prominent. The piece was most successfully presented, and though last night's audience was not large, it would seem safe to say that for the balance of the week the Opera House should be well filled.

VALUING THE LAND

(The Square Deal. Commencing with 1914, all the rural municipalities in the Province of Saskatchewan will raise their revenue by a tax on land values only. According to the official bulletin, published by the Provincial Department of Agriculture: Saskatchewan stands opposed to making a man pay a penalty by way of taxation on account of his thrift and enterprise, as evidenced by his buildings and by the improvements on his land. In other words, no tax will be levied on the farmers' house, his barns, flocks, herds, or personal property of any kind. The value of the land alone will bear the taxes. The valuation is being carried out by the various municipalities, each municipality appointing its own assessors—in many cases the secretary-treasurer of the municipality is able to perform the work—responsible to the council board. As a check on the assessor's work, two members of the council are appointed to form a committee with the assessor, and, before assessment notices are sent out, the roll is checked over and such corrections are made as the majority of the committee may decide. Appeal against the assessment may be made to the council board, acting as a court of revision, to revise the assessment roll. In various communities throughout the province the work of assessing is in full spring. The Public Service Monthly says: Among other benefits to be derived from the new scheme is the fact that more revenue will be secured for the municipality, but it will not be extracted from the unfortunate owner of poor land nor will it be taken from the struggling homesteaders miles from a railway station but from the fortunate owner who is more advantageously placed. The department of municipal affairs has issued a circular to the secretary-treasurers and Reeves of rural municipalities, drawing attention to the law enacted last January, which provides that "Land shall be assessed at its actual cash value exclusive of any increase in value caused by the creation of any building thereon or by any other expenditure of labor or capital." The departmental circular states, however, that arriving at the cash value of the land regard may be had to: (a) The quality of its soil; (b) Its location in respect to main highways, railroads and market places; (c) The prevailing market places; land in the community at which it can be bought and sold. It is likewise submitted that in arriving at an assessment value it might be possible for the assessor to take an average quarter section as a standard, then lowering or raising the value of other quarter sections as they are respectively below or above that standard. The suggestion that standard quarter sections might be established for purposes of comparison is similar to an idea included in the "Somers" system of assessment applied to Cleveland and Columbus, Ohio, Springfield, Denver, Houston, Galveston, and other United States cities. Weston, Ontario, used the Somers system with good results last year.

ONCE TRAM ROBBER, NOW IS CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNORSHIP

CAR INDUSTRY IS ACTIVE AT TRENTON, N. S.

New Shops Give Employment to Fourteen Hundred Men. Where a little more than a year ago was an unoccupied tract of land near the steel works at Trenton, N. S., the extensive car shops of the Eastern Car Company are now in active operation, covering sixty-eight acres, employing about 1,400 men, and turning out from twenty to twenty-five steel framed freight box cars daily.

This company was started by the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company, which holds all the issued common stock, giving, of course, the controlling interest. The car shops use largely the finished product of the steel works, and it is the intention to begin the construction of steel cars, which will mean a considerably increased output. Although the present is considered the slack season in car construction, the shops at Trenton are being worked to almost their full capacity, and greater extensions will be made to the plant during this year.

MEN AND WOMEN CAN SAVE THEIR HAIR WITH HERPICIDE

No woman should have poor, thin, scraggy hair, and no man need become bald. Poor hair and final baldness are due to the dandruff germ. Newbro's Herpicide will destroy dandruff and stop the hair from falling. Further evidence of this is found in a letter from Mrs. E. Nelson, of Tomah, Wis. She says: "I fought the worst kind of dandruff for nine years. I have been using Herpicide now one week and my scalp is healthy, the dandruff has gone and the itching stopped. It is the best remedy for scalp disease I ever saw, and I have seen many." Don't subject yourself to disappointment and expense by accepting something claimed to be "just as good" as Newbro's Herpicide. These few brands may possibly be good, but why take chances? The genuine and original dandruff germ destroyer can always be obtained. It stops itching of the scalp and fast-acting teachers on winter cruises. Newbro's Herpicide in 50c. and $1.00 sizes is sold by all dealers who guarantee it to do all that is claimed. If you are not satisfied your money will be refunded. Send 10c in postage or silver for sample and booklet to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich. Applications at good barber shops. E. Clinton Brown, special agent.

THE WATER SYSTEM The question of a high and low level water system for St. John is now set at rest. Engineer Murdoch, in his reply to the questions submitted by Commissioner McLellan, no longer advocates a divided system, but says it is now too late to discuss the division of the city into districts for high and low level supplies.

The answers which the engineer submitted to the commissioners yesterday will be made more clear to the average citizen when they have been discussed in detail by the council and the engineer. For the present it is known that there must be but one system for the whole city, and the council has decided to have that system inspected by an eminent engineer, who has done similar work in forty-five cities in the United States, and who installed the high pressure system in the city of New York.

The city at the present time is not getting so much pressure in the distribution system generally as was expected when the extension to Loch Lomond was made. To find the cause of the shortage, and the best means of overcoming it, is now the task of the council, and in that they are quite justified in getting the views of an expert, especially since those views are available at an extremely moderate cost to the taxpayers.

HON. DAVID LAIRD

The Hon. David Laird not only rendered great service to Canada in aiding to bring Prince Edward Island into the Confederation, but in later years he also did invaluable service in that new land which Confederation opened up in the west.

Years ago in Prince Edward Island he was recognized as an able journalist. He was the founder of the Charlottetown Patriot, which is still the leading Liberal paper of the Island province. He sat in the Charlottetown city council, became a member of the board of education, and a governor of Prince of Wales College. For two years, from 1871 to 1873, he was a member of the legislature, and in the latter year was taken into the government, and was a member of the delegation which went to Ottawa to conclude negotiations for the entrance of his province into the Dominion. In the same year he was elected a member of the Canadian house of commons, and was made minister of the interior, in the Mackenzie government. In 1876 he began his labors in the west, as in that year he was appointed the first lieutenant-governor of the Northwest Territory. He returned to Prince Edward Island in 1881, and was again a candidate for the commons in 1882, but was defeated. In 1887 he was a candidate in Saskatchewan, but was again defeated. In 1898 he was appointed Indian commissioner, and performed the duties of that office until 1900, when he removed to Ottawa to act in an advisory capacity. Hon. Mr. Laird concluded several treaties with the Indians, and was held by them in the highest esteem. He has been well described as, "one of Canada's nation builders," and as "a high-minded and public spirited statesman."

He saw the beginnings of this Dominion, and lived to see the remarkable development of the intervening years. More than that, he served his country in an important capacity, as one of the ablest men his province has given to the larger life of the Dominion.

SOUTH AMERICAN PROGRESS

Reference was made recently in the Times to the progress that is being made by the adoption of modern methods in the republic of Peru. There is another South American country in which the adoption of a progressive policy is yielding splendid results. An official bulletin from Brazil gives us some interesting information regarding agricultural education in that country. In 1910 an institution known as The Higher School of Agricultural and Veterinary Medicine was opened, to provide official instruction in agriculture and stock raising. We are told that it obtained an immediate and great success, and similar schools have since been established in seven states of the Republic. But this is not all. Nineteen professors travel over seven states, giving itinerant courses embracing agriculture in general, the dairy industry, poultry raising, silk growing, wine, apple and bee culture, and other subjects. These professors give the farmers the results of observation and experiments at the central stations, and give expert advice with regard to cultivation, and combating and preventing diseases which attack the crops. Steps have been taken to prevent the introduction into Brazil of animals suffering from contagious diseases, and there is systematic treatment of such diseases in the feeding of animals, the nature and value of pastures, preservation of milk, manufacture of cheese, and other branches relating to animals and their use. The dairy industry is rapidly being developed. Dry farming has been investigated by an expert. One of the great difficulties is the scarcity of farm labor, but it is noted that while only 12,477 immigrants entered the country in 1904 there were 180,162 in 1912; while the

BIRTHDAYS OF NOTABILITIES

SUNDAY, JANUARY 11.

Lieut.-Col. D. M. Robertson, honorary lieutenant-colonel of the 48th Highlanders, Toronto, and one of the organizers of the regiment, has two hobbies, one being soldiering and the other farming. Down in Gengarry County, where he was born, he has a fine 600-acre farm on which he keeps one of the best herds of short-horns in the country. He has recently returned home from Scotland where he arranged to bring out a shipment of Highland cattle and will make the experiment of breeding these hardy animals in Canada. If his efforts are successful, he will have accomplished a valuable work. In everyday life Colonel Robertson is a lawyer and lives a jolly bachelor life in Toronto.

MONDAY, JANUARY 12.

This is the seventy-second birthday of Sir Alexandre Lacoste, former chief justice of Quebec, now living retired in Montreal. Sir Alexandre received his knighthood in 1892, following his elevation to the bench as chief justice of the province, therein enjoying the honor usually accorded to occupants of this position. He had been previously a member of the dominion senate and for a short time was its speaker. A man of fine character and high attainments he was an ornament to the bench for many years. His eldest son, the late L. J. Lacoste, was known to fame as the inventor of the Lacoste slip-hydra, intended to control the motions of ocean liners, a device which received a great deal of attention from marine engineers.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 13.

George Hague, a veteran Canadian banker, who is eighty-nine years of age today, came to this country from England sixty years ago to act as financial manager for a firm of railway contractors. Chance brought him to Toronto and there he fell in with a little group of men who were organizing what was to become the Bank of Toronto. The young Yorkshirman was offered and accepted the post of accountant in the new institution. A few years later he was promoted to be cashier of general manager. After he had been in office for thirteen years he transferred his services to the Merchants' Bank, of which he remained general manager until two years ago. Mr. Hague is one of the foremost authorities on the Canadian banking system and has written several books on the subject.

1913 versus 1914

We increased our turnover by 50 per cent. in 1913, naturally we desire to do as well in 1914.

We believe the rapid growth of our business is due to our careful selection of goods, close attention to our customers' needs and our genuine values.

We have been asked how we can do better than others in the same line. The answer is simple: WE DO NOT RENEW OUR PAPER AND WE DO TAKE OUR CASH DISCOUNT AND WE DO GIVE OUR CUSTOMERS THE BENEFIT OF THIS DISCOUNT.

THIS IN ITSELF MAKES A DIFFERENCE OF BETWEEN 10 AND 15 PER CENT. IN THE COST OF AN ARTICLE TO THE CUSTOMER.

For the present year we promise to continue this policy.

We promise a better selected stock than we have ever carried.

Give us one trial. WE GUARANTEE SATISFACTION ON EVERY DEAL.

ALICE JOYCE AT GEM IN UNUSUAL DRAMA

Alice Joyce, one of the most popular actresses in the picture world appeared to distinct advantage yesterday at the Gem Theatre supported by Tom Moore and Henry Hillman in "A Midnight Message," a two part Kaleid production with an unusual theme. It was a story of a wealthy widower remarrying. His second wife was much younger than he and for various reasons he believed his son by his former marriage and his new wife to be in love. Jealousy overcame him and he ordered the son to atone for his act by death. The story held the audience in keenest attention throughout with its many tense situations, but was pleasantly brought to a close making a climax to an unusual story in an unusual manner. Another two part production, "The Diver," is billed for the mid-week show.

THROUGH THE SLUICE GATES AT THE UNIQUE

Not only interesting but also sensational this opened the week at the Unique Theatre yesterday. The feature of the bill happens to be a Majestic subject, bearing the descriptive title, Through the Sluice Gates. The story is one of jealousy and love told in the hills and plains of California. Notable among these is the one depicting the sensational escape from the arm of the law by means of the sluice gates, which upon opening, disclose a human form struggling for victory over a nicker case, 7 jewels, for $5.50; same movement, in gold filled case, 7 jewels, for $9.50 and in 15 jewels, for $12.50. These watches are without a doubt the biggest watch values ever put upon the market.

A Cascaret tonight will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver and bowels regulated, and never know a day of discomfort. SAMPLES FOR ROYALTY

King and Queen Receive Enough to Total Thousands of Pounds Value

(Pearson's Weekly)

None of Their Majesties' subjects receive anything like the quantity of samples of goods which are sent to the king and queen. They keep coming to Buckingham Palace throughout the whole year, but they arrive in enormous quantities some weeks before Christmas.

A special room at Buckingham Palace is set aside for the reception of these sample goods, and at Christmas-time so numerous are the samples that arrive that usually two men from the private court post office have to be employed to deal with them.

Many of the unsolicited sample goods sent to Their Majesties is very simple. All such goods of considerable value are returned to the senders; ordinary samples of little value can be retained and divided among any of the royal servants who wish to keep them.

The rule concerning unsolicited sample goods sent to Their Majesties is very simple. All such goods of considerable value are returned to the senders; ordinary samples of little value can be retained and divided among any of the royal servants who wish to keep them.

Many of the unsolicited sample goods sent to the king are of considerable value, and they come from tradesmen all over the world, who hope by this means to secure the patronage of the British monarch. For example, a Paris cigar merchant sent the king some after his acceptance of a sample of cigars in a magnificent gold box, worth at least fifty pounds. Both the box and cigars were returned to the sender.

Enough Smokes for Years

Last Christmas, among the samples received by the king were enough cigars, cigars, tobacco, and pipes to keep the most inveterate smoker well supplied for many years. Five thousand sample boxes all sorts of cigars arrived in one week from hundreds of different cigar manufacturers, and most of the samples were in silver boxes.

At Christmas-time, when sample goods begin to arrive in large quantities, a clerk enters in a book particulars of the value of articles received, and opposite each item a note is subsequently made giving the date upon which the sample has been sent back; it is but very occasionally that the king or queen care to retain some of these valuable samples, but if either of Their Majesties so the goods so retained are paid for.

The total value of the various sample goods sent to Their Majesties in the month of December was less than $20,000, but the bulk of the goods arrive some weeks before Christmas.

Queen Mary receives most marvellous assortments of exquisite dress fabrics, examples of beautiful laces, embroidery work, and shawls, whilst specially prepared catalogues, never sent by the ordinary public of various goods arrive in a perfect avalanche at Buckingham Palace at this time of year.

Many of these catalogues cost a very considerable sum of money to produce. A well-known firm that specializes in children's toys has a special catalogue prepared every year for their royal customers which costs them about £200 to turn out.

It is printed on the best class of cream glazed art paper, and is most elaborately and profusely illustrated from drawings and photographs. It is bound in velvet, and bears the royal crown on the cover stamped in gold. A copy of the catalogue is sent to every crowned head in Europe.

A Motor-Car of Silver Gilt

A great Paris firm which specializes in children's dresses prepares every year a still more expensive catalogue for their royal patrons. It is illustrated by two distinguished artists, who are each paid five hundred guineas for their contributions to the catalogue, which, moreover, contains a number of interesting children's stories.

When foreign royalties come to this country they become recipients of the most valuable sample goods. The King of Spain, when he first came here some years ago, was sent, among other things, a model of a motor-car made of silver-gilt. This beautifully-designed car was two feet in length and modelled in proportion. The value of the metal alone in it must have been more than a hundred pounds.

The young king was very much taken with the model and in due course purchased it. The maker would not at first put a price on it, but when the Spanish monarch intimated to him that unless he did not do so he would send the

The Right Underwear for All Seasons

Linen absorbs moisture in all forms rapidly. Such articles as are commonly used for the purpose of drying the body, as towels and handkerchiefs, are generally made of linen.

The Dr. Deimel Underwear is made of a two-ply composite thread, the chief part of which is linen yarn of superior quality. In order to bring out the full advantage of linen and correct its drawbacks, when used as underwear, such as chilliness, lack of elasticity and durability, another select vegetable fibre—Abassi or Macao—is added to the linen yarn in the making of the thread.

Wearers of Linen-Mesh get along with lighter clothes and are indifferent to drafts or exposure. Try Dr. Deimel's next time you buy Underwear.

MEN'S FURNISHINGS DEPARTMENT.

Manchester Robertson Allison, Limited

model back. The maker admitted that the model cost him three hundred pounds to produce and duly received a check for that sum.

A very wealthy and celebrated firm of furnisher sent models of six furnished rooms to the Kaiser when he was staying at Buckingham Palace as the guest of the late king some years ago. The dimensions of each model room was twelve inches by eight, and the furniture was modelled in proportion. All the chairs, tables, bureaus, and other pieces of furniture were of antique design, and were carved in mahogany and satinwood. Many of the chairs in one of the model reception-rooms were of Louis XV, and XVI, periods, and were exquisitely reproduced in gilt.

The whole model took nearly three years to prepare. The Kaiser purchased it for seven hundred guineas.

Samples Are Only Kept a Few Days

Of course a firm having the regular patronage of royalty is frequently specially asked to send samples of goods to Buckingham Palace; these are never retained more than a day or so, and are returned usually with an order from the king and queen for some articles of which samples are sent.

Occasionally a tradesman is requested to attend at Buckingham Palace at a specified hour, and bring samples of certain goods with him, which are then personally inspected by the king or queen and the tradesman departs promptly with a big order in his pocket.

"You have produced a play without a single suggestive line or situation in it."

"Yes," replied the theatrical manager, with pardonable pride. "The public wants novelty nowadays."—Washington Star.

SCREAMED WITH THE TERRIBLE PAIN

"Fruit-a-tives" Completely Cured Distressing Kidney Trouble. St. Thomas, Ont., April 1st, 1913. "In 1911, I was laid up with Kidney Trouble and not able to get out of my chair. Had tried many kidney remedies without satisfactory results. The pain was excruciating and my screams could be heard on the street. One day a friend from Ottawa came to see me, and while he found me in such poor health, said he would send me a sample of "Fruit-a-tives," which he did and I commenced taking them. I would strongly advise anyone suffering with Kidney Trouble to take "Fruit-a-tives" and cure themselves.

Cannot Use Dual System To Maintain Pressure Engineer Murdoch Admits That High and Low Levels of Water Service Cannot be Separated—Expert Engaged to Report on System

Matters relative to the city water system were brought up in two ways at the meeting yesterday of the council...

The reading of Mr. Murdoch's report gave rise to no discussion and little comment, but it was decided to take the matter up in the near future...

The commissioner said he was satisfied that Mr. Goldsmith was the man this city wanted at the present juncture...

The question was asked as to the fee that Mr. Goldsmith would ask for a week's work, and he moved that his services be secured by the city...

The report of the city engineer follows: Ald R. W. Wigmore, Commissioner of Water and Sewerage, City.

Dear Sir:—Replying to your question I beg to state that some years ago, and until the year 1906, when our water supply was taken from Little River...

High service.....1,652,000 gallons per day Low service.....3,624,000 gallons per day Total.....5,276,000 gallons per day

Now that the services are combined under the greater pressure due to Lake Latimer head, the same meters register a total consumption of 9,400,000 gallons per 24 hours.

The foregoing table is prepared from the results of an exhaustive series of experiments made at Springfield (Mass.), as published by George A. Ellis, civil engineer, in the year 1878.

This shows that the damage foreseen by the writer, when the union of the services was discussed, has taken place and it is now too late to discuss directing the city for high and low level supplies.

size than the present, as shown on the accompanying plan. It would also be necessary to have pressure regulators at various points connecting the high and low services, so that an extra supply would pass from one to the other when the pressure would fall below given amount.

FERRY SERVICE COST CITY $5,600

New Wharf Project Referred to Mr. Gutelius — Many Matters Dealt With by Common Council

Discussion in committee of the whole of the appropriations for the different departments for the year 1914 occupied about two hours of a long session of the common council yesterday afternoon, when a large number of routine matters, with some of outstanding importance were also dealt with.

The passing of a resolution that Clarence Goldsmith, of Boston, an expert in water works, be employed by the city during the current week to draw up a report on the local water conditions was a feature of the meeting, and answers to the remainder of Commissioner McLellan's questions as to supply and pressure, embodied in a report submitted by the engineer, were read, it being decided to let the matter lie on the table until the council should have time to deal with it.

Mr. Hazen, minister of marine and fisheries, relative to the mayor's proposal that the government build additional berths near Red's Point, was read. Mr. Hazen's letter was of similar purport to communications already received from the government in this matter, stating that the decision lay in the hands of Mr. Gutelius. Commissioner Agar's proposed legislation respecting the paving of streets and sidewalks was submitted and laid on the table for discussion at a later date.

The renewal of his request by H. C. Grover, the C. P. R. that that company be permitted to lay plank in Union street, west, for their electric trucks, was left to be taken up with another engineer. A letter from R. M. Boyd asking that heat be turned on in the ferry waiting rooms during April and May was also taken up by the commissioner of harbors and ferries. It was decided to make a refund to Weldon & McLellan for water taxes collected for a supply in a vacant house.

Commissioner Agar promised to write to the St. John Railway Company regarding a complaint received from the Teamsters' Union that too much salt was used on the streets, thus spoiling the sledding. A letter was received from Mr. B. E. McLean, city solicitor, in relation to a city lot at a nominal fee for the Daughters of the Empire, Loyalist Chapter, as a site for a modern school. Pepps will be mailed you by return.

A letter from Hon. J. D. Hazen relative to the request for a wharf for ocean steamers near Red's Point, said that the matter had been referred to F. P. Gutelius for a report.

A request for a grant for Riverview Park was laid on the table for consideration. It was decided to take no action regarding a letter from T. M. Breton offering to let the city certain documents and trophies formerly in the possession of the Nervine in good condition. After the reading of the whole report Commissioner Wigmore said the matter would come up for discussion at the present time. On motion, the report was laid on the table.

Lot No. 3, block F, Queens ward, to Julia Magee at $12 per annum, formerly $10, and lot No. 689, Queens ward, to Bertha B. Brundage, at $12 per annum, formerly $10.

The Trades and Labor Council submitted an amendment to the city by-law, embodying the same as that which had been prepared by them in order that the by-law might cover cases where laborers were employed on the work of the city, and which was of great importance, such cases the wage of the artisan whose work he was doing. The communication was laid on the table to be taken up at the next regular meeting of the council.

The annual report of the chief of police was received, and on motion was read and referred to the commissioner of public safety with power to take such action as having the report or a part thereof, in his discretion, printed for the city. This printing of the report which contains minute details of the work of the police department for the year is customary, but Commissioner McLellan suggested that it was unnecessary expense for the city to print in full the report which contained details of the work of the length. He was given power to use his own discretion in this matter.

Ferry Finances. A summary of the receipts and expenditure of the ferry department, for the year 1913 was submitted by the commissioner of ferries. The report showed a surplus of $1,831.98 surplus over expenditures, though this surplus was not available for the year, as it had existed without the assessment for ferries of $7,152.03, which included the payment of some arrears of taxes due from previous years.

The total receipts for the year were $56,190.50, as against total expenditure of $54,358.52. The number of passengers carried during 1913 was 2,400,333, being 222,402 in excess of those carried in 1912, namely 1,178,931. The number of teams that crossed the harbor in 1913, namely 120,786, was 9,192 in excess of the figure for 1912, namely 111,594. The total receipts for the month of December 1913 were $5,848.55. In dealing with this report it was remarked that all appropriations for the ferry department had to be spent during the year.

The Facts About Gunboat Smith

(FROM T. S. ANDREWS)

Milwaukee, Jan. 12.—Up to last week I was under the impression that Gunboat Smith was of German descent and born in Minnesota, but comes the father of Gunboat with an alibi. The following letter was received by the writer dated Philadelphia: "I notice by the record books that Gunboat Smith is of German parentage and born in Minnesota. Such is not true. He is my son and was never in Minnesota unless of late. His name is not Edward Eckblad, but Edward Smith, and he was born in Philadelphia. He is Irish-American and I, his father, was born in County Antrim, Ireland, while his mother was born in County Tyrone, Ireland."

There has always been doubt as to the nationality of Gunboat and this will clear up the matter once and for all. There have been many fine fighters by the name of Smith and it is hoped that Gunboat will keep up the good record for the house of Smith. His defeat of Arthur Pelley must make his father feel like getting into the game himself. Gunboat was hot after a match with Georges Carpenter, but as the latter will sail soon for Australia, the chances are that he will have a considerable length of time to wait, as Georges will soon have to enter the army of France.

Milwaukee is to see several fistie stars within the next few weeks. George Chip, who scored two sensational victories over Frank Klaus in Pittsburgh, and who now claims the middleweight championship along with Jimmy Clabby and Jack Dillon, will clash with Gus Christie before the South Side A. C. on January 12th in a ten round bout. Chip will not find Christie an easy mark by any means and if he can stop the local boy he will be doing more than Joe Deon was able to do in five trials.

Following this match will come Jack Rivers, a Mexican lightweight, with Ad Wolgast for a ten round spile before the National Athletic club. Rivers and the Michigan braced fough on July 4, 1912, and Ad won in thirteen rounds after a terrific battle. Now they will renew their bout and it should be a warm one. After this display there is a probability that Charles White and some star lightweight will be brought together in the big auditorium where the Oeneburg A. C. holds forth. Charlie would like to match again with Ad Wolgast, but he may prefer to fight with some of the West Coast fighters, or possibly Leach Cross.

Washington: Baseball players and managers must wait a year more before getting light from the supreme court on the much disputed question in major league circles as to it being competent to enforce players' contracts by injunction. The point has been raised that contracts with players are not enforceable by injunction because they contain a clause giving the managers the right to terminate the contract without giving a similar right to the players. The case will not come up for argument until next winter, too late to affect baseball contracts for the coming season.

To Play, on April 12 The Chicago Nationals and Cleveland Americans will play each other on the latter's grounds on April 12. The game will wind up the Cubs' training trip. Helms Zimmerman, the Cub's third baseman, has reported. His contract has two years to run.

Signs with Cincinnati Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 12.—Second Base man Groh, of the Cincinnati National League today signed to play with the Cincinnati Reds for the coming season. Groh had liberal offers from different Federal League clubs.

Dugan to Southern League If Frederick has a ball team in 1914 Pat Dugan, manager of Frederick's three championship teams in 1911, 1912 and 1913, will not be one of the Pets. MATTY'S BIG LEAGUE GOSSIP

BY CHRISTY MATHEWSON THE GIANTS' STAR PITCHER

Copyright, 1914, by the Wheeler Syndicate, Inc. Every fan who goes to a big league ball park and pays seventy-five or fifty or twenty-five cents; or perhaps a dollar, gets with his ticket of admission the right to roast all the players, local or visiting, umpires, and managers confined within the grounds. The availability of his position for roasting purposes depends largely on the amount of admission he pays. The two-bit boys, for example, must do their roasting at long range, but, as a rule, they have louder voices. Yet if a fan goes to the Polo Grounds early and is lucky, he may get a nice seat right behind the Giants' or visitors' bench, whichever he prefers, where he can roost until he reaches the asbestos hide with which most players are equipped.

Ball players do not, as a rule, mind this especially the veterans. However, if the fans, or a single section of fans, get to "riding one man day after day, it frequently bothers him, no matter how much of a veteran he is, and this form of constant, playing attack has driven many a good player out of a big league city. Harry Lord, recently of Boston, and Hal Chase, formerly of New York, are examples of this. Both have succeeded much better in different uniforms. But the occasional roaster does not seem to bother a tried player, especially if he is working away from home. It generally hurts a man, however, to be ripped on the back by local followers of the game.

"If I am in a batting slump, I don't care how much they roost on me, but I have heard 'T' Cobb say, 'because I like opposition and hooting at me makes me fight harder. But I hate to have the home crowd riding me.' Most spectators do not realize that there is often a good reason for a ball player having a bad day. They never consider such a thing possible. Cincinnati was playing the Giants a series last summer, and 'Joe' Tinker, struggling much with his losing and misfit organization, which had him worried half to death anyway, had a bad day at shortstop. The New York fans began to hop on him and bowl him out.

"What's the matter, Tinker?" yelled one fellow, equipped with leather lungs and a fine location right behind the Cincinnati bench, after 'Joe' had struck out. "Ain't you trying to work now that you are a manager?" "Joe" had a rough day both at the bat and in the field. The crowd was after him, bawling this man who had so often beaten the Giants almost single handed when in a Cub uniform. I happen to be pitching the game and perhaps that is the reason I recalled the incidents so clearly. Tinker did not get a hit off me and fanned twice, I think.

"Guess Matty's not pretty strong out there today, Matty," he said. "But it didn't bother me. Here is what is bothering me. Look at that. He handed me the telegram about his wife's illness. 'I'll probably have to go to Chicago tonight,' he said, 'and I may not get there in time.' 'Why did you play, 'Joe'?' I asked him. 'Well, if they saw me on the field, and I didn't work, the fans and my boss

Speaking of shocks and roasts of players by the fans when the player does not deserve them, they tell an interesting story about 'T' Speaker, the great center fielder of the Boston Red Sox. Speaker is very fond of his mother, who lives in Texas, where Speaker has his winter home. 'T' has never married, because of his fondness for his mother. He hates to go away to the spring training camp and leave her. He has not seen her from early March during the 1912 race, and it had rolled around to September. Then the mother decided to make a trip to Boston to surprise 'T' and also to take in the winter series, which, it looked certain at that time, would be participated in by Boston and 'T' Speaker knew nothing of her coming and, as she arrived in town in the afternoon, she went directly to the ball park.

It was toward the end of an exciting battle, with two runners on the bases, when the batter pushed out a fly toward Speaker. As he looked up to gauge the ball, he caught sight of his mother in the stand. He entirely forgot his business in his surprise, and the fly fell safe, the two runs scoring. Oedipus Speaker, who is a sure fielder, would have smothered it. The fans, not understanding his reason for quitting on the ball, thought he was "dogging" it and cut loose with terrible panning. The Red Sox lost the game as a result of Speaker's muff.

"What was the matter with you on that ball, 'T'?" asked Stahl, when Speaker came to the bench. "I caught sight of my mother in the stand and forgot all about it," replied the good natured Speaker. "That crowd certainly gave you a rough panning," answered Stahl. "And it worries me a lot, I guess," came back Speaker. "It is liable to give me insomnia."

Plumbing and Heating Engineers Open Annual Session Here

Matters of interest were considered this morning at the opening of the annual convention of the New Brunswick Society of Domestic, Sanitary and Heating Engineers in the Forsters' Hall, Co-burg street, with the president, George Blake, the chief, in the chair. About fifty delegates were in attendance, including many from outside points. Technical education was discussed and the association was decidedly in favor of its introduction into the school system; reports were presented from various committees, and much general business was dealt with. This evening it is expected that the attendance at a banquet to be tendered by the local members of the association to the outside delegates and other friends in the Victoria Hotel, will be very large and an enjoyable time is anticipated.

Besides the officers of the association, Mr. Blake, president; D. J. Shea, of Fredericton, vice-president; and W. J. Crawford, secretary-treasurer, there were present at the convention today the following members: A. H. Farrell, R. H. O'Brien, Walter Scriver, George Wandless, and Edward Hurley of Fredericton; Joseph and Thomas Feur, J. B. Pickles, and C. Churchill of Woodstock; Hugh Marcus, A. H. English, of Campbellton; L. H. Estano, G. S. Dorman, Wm. Watson, Ed. Brooks and J. S. McFarley of Moncton; H. L. Regan and Earle Steves, of St. Stephen, and F. S. Walker, E. N. Harrington, J. S. Douglas, G. W. Williams, W. B. McDonough, Thos. Kane, H. Noble, J. H. Doody, Jr., R. E. Fitzgerald, D. Peir, Jeremiah Buckley, D. Doyle, H. Codner, Campbell, W. C. Emmerson, and J. J. McNecey, all of St. John.

A letter was received from Dr. J. W. Daniel referring to the good feeling existing between the board of health and the association, and speaking appreciatively of the good work and value of the association with regard to the general health of the public. Since the last meeting of the association a member has been placed on each board of health in the province, and there is also representation upon the provincial board, the worth and importance of the body being generally recognized.

For the banquet this evening invitations have been extended to the mayor and commissioners, members of the board of health, representatives of the trading houses and other friends of the association from about the city, Montreal, Toronto, Boston and elsewhere, besides representatives of the Plumber and Steamfitters of Toronto, and the Plumbers' Trade Journal, New York.

ANDREW J. STEPHENS DEAD

For Ten Years Was in Charge of Gardens at Rockwood

All who have visited the public gardens at Rockwood Park during the last ten years, and many others who were among his friends and acquaintances, will learn with regret of the death of Andrew J. Stephens, who had charge of the public gardens for ten years, retiring in July last, and who previously had been engaged as a gardener and florist on his own account on the Sandy Point road.

The death of Mr. Stephens occurred last night at his home, 170 Hawthorne avenue. He was a native of Gloucester, England, and had been a resident of St. John for more than forty years. He was a very skillful gardener, and the public gardens at Rockwood Park pay tribute to his knowledge and skill as a florist and landscape artist.

He is survived by his wife, two sons and four daughters. The sons are Isaac of Winnipeg and Andrew L. H. of St. John. The daughters are Mrs. B. Lawson of Sheffield, N. B., Mrs. Archibald Whitaker of St. John, Mrs. William Dillon of Oromoto and Mrs. John Law of Gibson. Very many friends will join in extending sincere sympathy to the bereaved family.

WATER EXPERT WILL BE HERE ON THURSDAY

Clarence Goldsmith, expert on water distribution systems, who has been engaged by the common council to report on the local system has replied accepting the invitation and will leave Boston on Wednesday evening, arriving here at noon on Thursday.

THE BOYS WERE THERE

The value of a boys' club was very well illustrated last evening when the Every Day Club opened its doors for winter. No public announcement had been made. Boys who had enjoyed the privileges of the club last year had been constantly inquiring whether the institution would be open this winter or not. A few of them came around last week while the hall was being put in condition, and were told that it would be opened at seven o'clock Monday evening, and that they would then be welcome. The news spread, and at ten minutes after seven last evening there were between forty and fifty boys in the hall. They were very briefly addressed by Sergeant James Sullivan and A. M. Belding, and Sergeant Sullivan led them in some physical drill and marching movements; but most of the evening was devoted to games which had been provided, and in which the boys are greatly interested. Harry Scott, an old member of the Every Day Club, is in charge of the hall this winter, and will be there every evening to preserve order and look after the room. Fred Shear and Ernest Sheppard, who assisted in the work last winter, were also present, and the season's work was opened under very favorable auspices. The physical culture department of the Y. M. C. A. will co-operate with the club this winter, and it is hoped that many people will think it worth while to take a little personal interest in the welfare of a boys' club, which is conducted on the broadest lines.

MAY GO TO LONDON

Charles Patrick—Harold D. Buchanan of The Busy East of Canada, published at Moncton, is again in the city. Mr. Buchanan has resigned from The Busy East, and intends taking up a new line of work, in all probability connected with the fox industry of the island. It is likely that in the near future he will proceed to London, England, and make known the prospects for investment of British capital in fur farming in this province.
