From The Newspaper Side

"There is a common and not unusual scepticism among newspaper readers in this country," says the New York Sun. "They weigh what they read with distrust which is quite justifiable, even commendable, and not a few of the shrewder sort are very ready to attribute the greater part to the fertile imagination of the newspaper makers."

THE WAR NEWS.

So far as can be gathered from the somewhat conflicting reports which come from the seat of war the Germans are putting forth their strongest efforts in Belgium and Luxembourg to invade France by those routes. They are opposed by Belgian and French armies and it is expected that these will be strengthened by the British expeditionary force, whose exact whereabouts, however, is carefully concealed. It is evident that the original German plan was to push through Belgium and Luxembourg into France, and apparently that plan is still to be pursued, in spite of the unexpected and great obstacles thrown in the way.

Germany is pushing nearly half a million men across Belgium, while another army is advancing through Luxembourg and is nearing the French border. It is indeed it has not already entered France. The news from Paris claiming French success at Muehlenheim, while Berlin asserts that the German troops won a victory. Possibly today's cables will bring fuller information, although it is extremely difficult to get authentic news because of the strict censorship, the secrecy imposed, and the great pressure upon the cables.

It is now said that the mobilization of the Russian army will be completed within ten days, and in the meantime Russian troops have crossed the Austrian and German borders, and it cannot be long before important news comes from that quarter. There is still doubt whether Italy will remain neutral or join forces with France and her allies. So far as the feeling of the people of northern Italy is concerned, they are very strongly averse to an alliance with Austria, their ancient foe and former oppressor, and it would not be surprising if Italy in the end should espouse the cause of France.

The official announcement that the ocean route from Canada to Liverpool is clear, and that vessels may cross in safety, shows that the British government is confident that its fleet commands the situation, and that it can keep the sea route safe for commerce. This news is received with the greatest satisfaction in Canada. It means that there will be no difficulty in transporting men and supplies from this country, and that our export trade will not be as seriously interfered with as had been feared at the outset. The London correspondent of the New York Herald observes that since it has been demonstrated that Great Britain commands the sea and has uninterrupted communication it matters little whether the German fleet comes out to fight or remains in seclusion.

If it be true that forty-five thousand Japanese soldiers have embarked on transports and are awaiting orders, there is a prospect that Germany will be stripped of her colony on the coast of China. The first important news concerning the operations in Europe should come from Belgium, since it is today regarded that a German army is now marching through the heart of that country.

THE PRICE OF FOOD. The mayor of Montreal has warned dealers in that city against increasing the price of food beyond what is legitimate. Any attempt on the part of either merchants or manufacturers to enrich themselves out of the necessities of the poor at a time when so many citizens are offering their lives for the sake of the Empire could not be regarded as anything but robbery. A clergyman writes to a Halifax paper giving illustrations of wholly unwarranted advances in the cost of staple food stuffs there, and protesting very strongly against such a course. No doubt the government will keep a sharp eye on the situation and prevent any spoliation of the poor in this time of trial. So far as St. John is concerned, it is gratifying to know that the merchants have not regarded the present as a favorable time to boost prices for their own benefit. The tendency of values is upward, but while that is inevitable there is no cause for panic or for any fear of famine prices.

FORECASTING RESULTS. There is much speculation as to the effect of the present war upon the system of government in Germany. While that country has a parliament, the people really have very little voice in the conduct of affairs. While the members of the Reichstag, or lower house of parliament, are elected by universal suffrage, that house is really powerless to enact any law which is opposed by the Emperor. Every bill must pass the Bundesrath or upper house before it becomes law. The sixty-one members of the upper house are selected by the governments of the various German states, and seventeen of them are named by the Emperor. This house is completely under the influence of the Emperor; and, moreover, the Bundesrath and the Emperor may dissolve the Reichstag at any time. At the time of the Zabern incident the Reichstag formally censured the imperial chancellor, but no attention whatever was paid to it by the administration. A still better illustration of autocratic rule is found in the Kingdom of Prussia, where the King, who is also Emperor of Germany, absolutely controls the upper house, while in the lower house the members are divided into three classes, of which the third, representing about six and a half millions of voters, can be out-voted two to one by the representatives of a million voters in the other two classes, composed of the wealthier citizens.

Thus, while Socialism has made great gains in Germany in recent years, the people have not made proportionate gains in representation in the parliament of the country. It would not be surprising, therefore, if this war should lead to a complete change in the system of government, by which it would be impossible for the Emperor and the powerful little group by which he is surrounded to plunge the country into an unjust war. So far as Austria is concerned, it would not be at all surprising if this war should witness the downfall of the ill-starred Hapsburg dynasty, which has never been able to unite the various racial elements in Austro-Hungary under a popular central government. Austria was the last country in Europe, with the exception of Russia, to grant a constitution to the people. Its mismanagement as an empire may be regarded as one of the probable results of the present conflict. This war should be followed by the abandonment in large measure of autocratic or bureaucratic rule in Germany and Austria. That system has been a curse to both countries, and the people may be expected when they come to count the cost of this great struggle to place the blame where it belongs, and insist upon a system of government which will give effect to the wishes of the people, and not leave them at the mercy of the ambitious, the prejudiced and the greed of a mere handful of persons in authority.

The city of Ottawa has offered a machine gun battery of four guns to cost $100,000, for foreign service.

An offer has been received by the minister of militia from Toronto to raise a regiment of Hebrews for military service.

A patriotic fund will be raised to provide for the families of Canadian volunteers whose wages stop when they embark for foreign service. Some large firms will continue on their pay roll the names of employees who go to the war.

There will be less objection this year than usual to the harvest excursions, since it is a matter of urgent imperial necessity to have the western crop harvested in good condition. And yet, objection may fairly be taken to the policy of the railways in charging half as much again to bring a harvest back as it costs him to go to the west.

The women of Canada, as was to be expected, are giving substantial evidence of their patriotism. Many who are qualified are tendering their services as nurses, while the success of the movement to provide a hospital ship is a foregone conclusion. The women of St. John are not behind those in other parts of Canada in their zeal and devotion at this time.

All honor to the young men of St. John and other parts of New Brunswick who are soon to leave us for Quebec en route to the seat of war. Some of them have already seen service in South Africa, and all of them will give such an account of themselves as will prove that the Canadian soldier is not inferior to any other who may be engaged in the present conflict.

The Household League of Halifax, which was recently organized, is proving itself a useful institution at this time by waging war upon any undue inflation of prices by dealers. The president of the League writes to the press asking any housewife who is charged more for goods than is justified to report to the League. The president says it is recognized that prices must increase, but any avoidable increases will be made the subject of public protest.

GERMAN-AUSTRIAN PERFDY (Ottawa Journal). In the case of German congratulations to the Boers; in the Agadir incident; in the Delcasse case; in the Austrian case of Bosnia and Herzegovina; in the German ultimatum to Russia at that time; in the Austrian interference with the Balkan states after their Turkish war; in the present Austrian attack on Serbia; in the second German ultimatum to Russia; in the German violation of treaty pledges both to respect the neutrality of Luxembourg and to respect Belgian neutrality—in all these things within a few years Germany or Austria has every time indicated the simple principle of its diplomacy to be that might is right. In nearly every case prior to the present merely the pacific efforts of Great Britain and the earnest efforts of British diplomacy for peace averted war.

LIGHTER VEIN. Death Had No Terrors. That story reminds one of the latest schoolboy howler discovered by Sir William Robertson Nicoll, the well-known Journalist.

The examination paper contained some question connected with the recent Balkan War, and a reference was made to the reputation for bravery enjoyed by the Turkish soldiers. One thoughtful youth explained that Turks did not confine themselves to one wife apiece, and then proceeded: "The courage of the Turks is explained by the fact that a man with more than one wife is more willing to face death than if he had only one!"—Pearson's Weekly.

That Hypnotic Eye. The Gekwar of Baroda, the powerful Indian prince who got himself into trouble at the Durbar, is in London just now. His visit recalls the story of Lord Dufferin who was once asked about his relations with Indian princes. "You have been very successful in dealing with them," a friend said to him. "How do you manage it?" "I owe it all to my glass eye," he said. "Whenever I have anything very serious to say to them I fix them fiercely with the glass eye, and watch them with the other one!"—Pearson's Weekly.

EFFECTS OF THE WAR

(Bangor Commercial) Secretary Redfield remarks that there is no occasion for a general rise of prices because of the European war, and his belief that any such advance as there may be will be only temporary. There is a natural tendency to expect that such a war as that now in progress in Europe will occasion an advance in prices, as it doubtless will in some lines, but there has as yet certainly been no reason for such advances, although they have, in some instances, already taken place. Flour and meals have advanced, but for no reason other than the purpose of the manufacturer and the big packers, who have seized upon the opportunity as an excuse to increase their profits. There has been no general increase in demand from Europe as yet. There is reason to doubt if the price of breadstuffs, while it may temporarily increase, remains at a high figure. We have an enormous wheat crop this year, and in fact can supply what is required in France and England without shortening the supply below the demand in the United States. Russia can look out for itself, and while there is likely to be a need for breadstuffs in Central Europe, this will not affect the United States market if, as seems certain, we will be unable to export wheat or corn to that section during the war. There is reason to doubt if speculators will care to take the chance of withholding the grain from the market as the crop is so large a one and there remains the possibility that the war may cease as rapidly as it arose. The experts, considering the meat problem, incline to the belief that the poverty that will be brought about by the war will reduce the consumption of meat among the poorer classes of Europe to an extent that will counterbalance the increased demand for army purposes. Viewing the situation in the clothing field, the experts say that we are likely to have plenty of cheap raw cotton and the cotton mills will probably increase their foreign trade, so labor will be profitably engaged, while the cheaper forms of clothing made of cotton will remain about where they are in price. If navigation on the high seas is not seriously interrupted, this country will be able to draw all the wool it needs from Australia and South America to make up whatever may be our requirements over and above the domestic wool clip. As our woolen mills will be exempt from the competition of the German mills and will have chances to enter new fields, they are in a comfortable position. People who wish to wear silks will probably have to pay higher prices, because imports of finished goods from Europe will be interrupted. With decreased consumption of raw silk in Europe, Japan, which is the great producer of that commodity, will have to depend almost wholly upon the United States for the sale of its surplus output. Our silk mills are now enjoying great prosperity, and they will have the domestic market to themselves while imports from Europe are held up. If we are called upon to supply boots for the French and English armies, as now seems likely, some substantial additions to the cost of footwear are likely to follow, but the country as a whole will make large profits out of the whole increase in this branch of our export trade. We will have to bear some small share of the burden which this war will impose upon the whole world, but we will feel it less than any other country.

AN APPEAL TO THE GOVERNMENTS, BOTH LOCAL AND FEDERAL

(Montreal Financial Times.) The Financial Times wishes to make a strong plea to the federal and provincial governments of Canada to continue all public works during these days of stagnant business, when thousands of workmen are being discharged.

Let us ask this question: Is it better for the government to provide free food for the unemployed, which will include able-bodied men who are willing to work, or spend probably 50 to 100 per cent. more money to keep the public works in process, and give stimulus to the commercial business of the community and at the same time avoid the unnecessary swelling of the ranks of the unemployed?

The government is in strong financial condition and by the continuance of public works will not only get value received for its expenditure, but will sustain the purchasing power of the people—the basis of all commerce.

It would be as patriotic for the governments to vote a credit, if necessary, for whatever amount is required, as it is to vote a special war fund or a special emergency currency bill.

The government probably is not aware of the utter stagnation of credits in the large commercial centres, as those people who feel the pinch of poor collections and reduced buying orders are not over-anxious to advertise the fact to the world at large.

Business is built upon credit, and the several Canadian governments should see to it that in their own particular departments of labor there is no cessation of work.

Dinner dress in white satin and crepe de Chine, trimmed with lace and tiny black satin bows.

White is used for this very dainty frock, the bodice and skirt drapery being in plain satin, and the skirt is self-finished crepe de Chine. For the material 4 1/2 inches wide are required for the model. Of lace for the neck and sleeve 2 1/2 yards 4 inches wide are needed, with 1/4 yard of 1 1/2-inch all-over lace for the waist.

The high waisted bodice folds across the front and fastens at one side. The sleeves are also high finished with lace and a little satin bow.

Today's lesson deals with the making of the bodice. It does not require a lining unless something more transparent is substituted for satin. The bodice, the collar and back are placed on a lengthwise fold of the material, while the front, revers, cuffs and short sleeves are laid on a lengthwise thread.

It is necessary to close the shoulder seam before forming the neck. This gives the over-scapable Gibson effect. The neck should be about three-quarters of an inch wide. Now place single "r" on double "w" perforation at lower edge in front; press neck. (Use under-arm seam as marked to small "r" perforation in front. Form pleats in left front, placing single "T" on corresponding small "r" perforations and neck.

Adjust revers to position, notches in front even and along small "o" perforations in back. Close shoulder seam of shield, turn hem in back at notches. Sew collar to shield as notched, center-back of collar and shield indicated by large "o" perforations. Adjust shield to position, bringing corresponding small "r" perforations in shield and in front together.

Close the short sleeve, adjust the cuff to position, being particular to have notches at lower edges even; then sew into the armhole with as little fullness as possible.

The front of the waist may be finished in such effect at the back, or a separate small "r" perforation in shield and in front together.

The little black bows give a decidedly French touch to the dress.

Atlantic Route Now Clear

Montreal, Aug. 11.—"The ocean route is clear from Montreal to Liverpool, and any ship can sail when she pleases in perfect safety."
The cruiser Drake was reported off the Gulf of St. Lawrence this afternoon, and her presence will increase the safety of British shipping on the Atlantic coast. The Drake is a powerful cruiser, of 14,900 tons, speed 23 knots, and 900 crew. She is much larger than any German cruiser so far reported on this side of the Atlantic.

Washington, Aug. 11.—Mining of the North Sea, as part of the plan of the European war, not only may close most of the northern European ports to navigation, but the gold-laden cruisers Tennessee and North Carolina and neutral passenger vessels bearing Americans from Europe will be confronted with new dangers.

The American government was formally advised during the day by the British embassy here that insasmuch as Germany had been "planning mines indiscriminately," Great Britain could no longer refrain from scattering mines near her own ports.

I. O. O. F. AT WOODSTOCK

Woodstock, N. B., Aug. 11.—All indications are that the I. O. O. F. Grand Lodge encampment here this week will be most successful in every respect. A large gathering of delegates is in attendance.

The grand encampment met this afternoon and elected the following officers: Harry Faulkner, Stellarton (N. S.), grand patriarch; Martin Archibald, Halifax (N. S.), grand high priest; J. G. Thompson, Moncton (N. B.), grand senior warden; Melville McKean, North Sydney, grand scribe; C. A. Sampson, Fredericton (N. B.), grand treasurer; John McLaughlin, Charlottetown, grand representative (two years); W. S. Hopper, Fredericton, grand marshal; Samuel Walker, M.D., Truro (N.S.), grand junior warden.

The Rebekah Assembly opened their session in the Fisher Memorial school this morning with a large attendance. The retiring president, Mrs. Olive E. Lindow, of St. Stephen, was presented by D. G. M. Craig, of Yarmouth (N. S.), with a twenty years jewel in recognition of her services to the order. Brunswick Rebekah Lodge No. 44, presented Mrs. Lindow with a beautiful bouquet of sweet peas. The following officers were elected: Mrs. Kate Morrison, Dominion (N. S.), president; Mrs. C. G. Folland, Yarmouth (N. S.), warden; Mrs. Mary McKean, North Sydney, secretary; Mrs. Jane McGowan, Moncton, treasurer.

BUT THE WAR WILL UPSET HIS PLANS

(Times Special Correspondence.) London, July 28.—R. H. Campbell, director of forests for the dominion, arrived in London last week after attending the convention of forestry at Glasgow. He left almost immediately for the continent to examine the forests of northern Germany, Sweden and France.

CARTER'S POINT NOTES

The pretty cove at the point never looked more beautiful than it did on Saturday night as the boats of the R. Y. C. after the commencement of their annual cruise, lay at anchor. "It was a calm still night," and the twinkling lights, mingled with the soft beams of the rising moon over the water, made it a picture not soon to be forgotten. Amid the chug, chug, chug of the motors came the soft melodious strains of "Sweet Adeline" and the "Bonnie Bonnie Banks of Loch Lomond," sung as only the yachtmens can sing. Early next day the yachtmens continued on their journey with prospects for a very pleasant holiday.

Among the visitors at the hotel are Mr. and Mrs. McKinnon, Miss Lane, Miss Owens of St. John, Miss Bertha McAdoe, who has been spending the last week with Miss K. Y. C. after the commencement of her vacation here, returned to the city on Monday, accompanied by Miss Wright.

Miss Pitt of Mattapan, Mass., will spend part of this week at Chipman. Sydney Collins, who has been enjoying his vacation here, returned to the city on Monday. James Collins of St. John spent Sunday with his son Fred who has been staying at Mr. Currie's for the last few weeks. E. C. Wright and Edward Smith were among the week-end visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morgan and family have rooms at Alfred Whelpley's and are enjoying the summer months there. Mrs. S. Lipsett and son, Waldo, of New York, Miss Mona Storin and Mrs. Henderson of Boston have been guests of Mrs. John Frodham. Messrs. Fred Henderson, Roy Tower, Don Vanwart, of St. John and Wilber Hutchinson of Mattapan, Mass. were camping for the week-end. Mrs. William Dunham and family, of St. John, are also camping for a few weeks. Fred Reynolds and Mr. Williams of the city were guests of Mrs. Lennon on Sunday.

Announcement.

We are pleased to announce that the large bulk of our new fall goods has already arrived and the balance is safely in transit.

Our orders being placed for early delivery on account of the Exhibition to be held in September, assures us of all goods at the lowest market prices prevailing before the war. No war advances in prices will be necessary on any of our goods.

We also beg to say that in the next few days, as soon as the full line of goods in and arriving, is opened up and marked off, we will have one of the best stocks including the newest in dress fabrics, cloakings, made-up garments and accessories, that we have ever shown, and at our usual low prices. We are,

Yours truly,

GERMANS HAVE MILLION MEN ON ADVANCE

When Armies Meet in Alsace-Lorraine Conflict Will Be Terrific—Main German Force Came Through Luxembourg.

(By William Philip Simms, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Paris, Aug. 11.—French military activities are again shut off by the impenetrable curtain of complete censorship. But the experts at the war office indicate that important events are impending.

It is believed that the army sent into Alsace from Belfort, and commanded by General Joffre, commander-in-chief of the French forces, is now moving in a formation shaped like a huge fan from the Jura Mountains on the Swiss border through all Alsace to a point east of Colmar. The forces that are engaged in this invasion from the second mobilization centre of the French army with headquarters at Langres.

At Point of Beyond.
After making their initial stand at Altkirch the Germans fell back rapidly, and it was not until Colmar was reached that any serious resistance was encountered by General Joffre's men. Mul-

NOT TO COMPLETE CAPE COD CANAL TILL JANUARY 1

Boston, Aug. 11.—Hundred of Sept. 1, as announced after the formal opening ceremonies, it probably will be Jan. 1 before the Cape Cod Canal is dredged to a uniform depth of twenty-five feet. What effect this deepening of the present shallow section near the middle of the eight-mile water course will have upon the current or tidal flow is uncertain, but it is expected by the officers of the canal and owning companies that it will appreciably reduce the rush of water back and forth and make the navigation much easier.

While the Boston office of the Boston, Cape Cod & New York Canal Company reports that business is increasing slowly, no large volume of traffic is forthcoming or likely to be for some months. This is largely due to other high toll rates, the tidal flow and the fact that craft drawing more than twelve feet are not wanted, although some vessels drawing as much as fifteen feet are being put through when they come along all ready to make the passage.

The tolls are higher now than they will be when the canal is completed and in good working order. Purposely they were kept high in order that too much business would not come along to interfere with the dredges and their barges and possibly cause an accident which would block the channel for a time.

Talk of a boycott of the canal by shipping interests is scouted by the officers of the company, because they feel so sure that terms will be made satisfactory when the time comes that they are ready and have the facilities for taking care of a large volume of commercial business.

THE PRICE OF BREAD

(Frederick Gleason)

Frederick Gleason has the distinction of being probably the first place in Canada to find the price of its supply of bread advanced as a result of the war.

The announcement that the price had been boosted has caused considerable feeling and this morning The Gleaner made enquiries at St. John, Halifax and other places and thus far not a single city has been heard from where there has been an advance in the price of bread.

St. John, Halifax, Chatham and Moncton were heard from this morning and they all reported no advance. The Gleaner's St. John correspondent wiring as follows: "The leading bakers said this morning that they knew of nothing to justify an advance in bread prices under present conditions. They see no prospects for the present and the future prices would be affected only by a most marked advance in flour which they say they have no reason to anticipate."

The Gleaner's correspondent at Halifax wired that the Women's Household League was active there, and "any dealer taking the initiative in raising prices is liable to find a heavy decrease in his trade the first week."

EXPROPRIATION OF THE BRIDGE SITE PROPERTIES

The award of the board of arbitrators appointed to value the property in Douglas avenue expropriated by the department of public works has been received greatly lessening the claims of the owners, but increasing the amounts offered by the government. The amounts to be paid are as follows:—M. J. Nugent, $7,220; Mrs. Margaret Lannoo, $8,470; Alice Morgan, $8,400; Mrs. Annie O'Grady, $2,075; W. E. Francombe, $300; and W. E. Gunter, $1,000. The board of arbitrators was composed of I. Fenton, James Myles and Leon Keith.

Commission Probes Immigration Problems

James Gilchrist, T. H. Estabrooks and Brigadier Taylor Give Evidence at Imperial Inquiry - Province May Have Agent General in London and Home for Child Settlers Here - Seeing St. John This Afternoon

Immigration problems occupied the attention of the Dominion Royal Commission this morning. James Gilchrist, provincial superintendent of immigration, gave evidence regarding the work of the department, the class of settlers brought here and their success after landing. He complained that the province did not receive fair treatment at the hands of the dominion government with regard to immigration aid. In order to strengthen their work, he said, the province was contemplating the appointment of an agent-general in Great Britain and also the establishment of a home for young children who might be brought out.

T. H. Estabrooks, general of the work of the Imperial Home Reunion Association and Brigadier Taylor described some of the work of the Salvation Army in bringing out and caring for settlers. This afternoon will be devoted to an inspection of the city and its surroundings. Leaving the hotels in motor cars they will go to East St. John, then through Rockwood Park to Fort Howe, out Douglas avenue and around to West St. John. There they will embark on the tugboat Lord Kitchener for a trip around the harbor and, if time permits, they may land at Partridge Island.

James Gilchrist, provincial immigration agent, was the first witness called when the commission resumed this morning. The system in use by the province for attracting settlers and providing for their location in New Brunswick was described by Mr. Gilchrist. He explained that the province is working at a disadvantage on account of the greater inducements offered by the western provinces and the railways for through bookings. He knew of 1,200 bona fide agricultural settlers arriving in 1913, and there were many others of whom they had no record.

Mr. Gilchrist said that almost all the farm laborers come from Great Britain. The pay for such men ranges from $20 a month for a young single man to $35 for a married man with family. Single men being boarded and cottaged and various necessities being provided for the married men. His records for 1913 showed about $500,000 brought in by these settlers, but this would only be a portion. Others were assisted financially and usually this money was paid promptly.

Mr. Gilchrist said that the arrangements for male passengers on board steamers are quite satisfactory, but his attention had been drawn to so many cases of advantage being taken of young girls on shipboard that the department had ceased efforts to bring out unaccompanied girls. When such a case is reported he has been told that the steward on the vessel are the worst offenders in this respect.

Mr. Taylor Mr. Gilchrist said that the province is considering the payment of a $3 bonus for settlers. He told of children being brought out by organizations and settled on farms, adding that the province may establish a home to look after such work in addition to the present facilities.

Sir Jan Langeman also had many questions to ask regarding children who are brought out regarding instruction and assistance from the agricultural department, agricultural colleges, free lands and the farm settlement board. Sir Jan thought better results might be obtained by offering greater inducements for trained farmers than for unskilled laborers.

To Sir Rider Haggard the witness said that the capital brought out can be as high as $10,000 in some cases. Improved lands with good buildings are brought for $2,000 to $4,000 for 100 acres or less. Unimproved land is available free in great quantities. As he put it, New Brunswick has the area of Scotland, with only twelve per cent waste land, and with only the population of Glasgow. About 100 domestic servants come in each year and this quantity could be employed annually. The witness admitted that much of the trouble on board ship might be due to laxity on the part of the girls themselves. Regarding the appointment of an agent-general in Great Britain, Mr. Gilchrist said that considerable trouble arises from the present system, as for instance, the provision of forged references. He thought there should be careful government supervision of such agents.

To Mr. Campbell he said that the provincial grant last year was $18,000 and this year $12,000 but this year the amount has been largely over spent. To Sir Alfred Bateman the witness told of many openings for middle aged women in this province. He said that Mr. Bowler performs many of the duties of an agent-general in Great Britain but that the province is contemplating the appointment of another man for the office of agent-general.

T. H. Estabrook, president of the Imperial Home Reunion Association, of St. John, was the next witness. He described the purpose of the organization, rendering assistance to English speaking settlers in bringing their families from the home land to the city. Money is advanced for this purpose, the fund being provided under the guarantee by twenty five men of $200 each.

The association has assisted in bringing out twenty adults and thirty-eight children, $13,274 has been advanced, $11,913.51 has been returned and of the balance only $42 of this is regarded as a poor asset. Further details were given in reply to questions by the various commissioners.

Brigadier Taylor of the Salvation Army concurred with the evidence of the previous witnesses. The only criticism he had regarding immigration methods was the same as that of Mr. Gilchrist, the need of better supervision of unaccompanied female passengers. Those who would appreciate protection deserve it and those who would not require it, he said, adding that parties brought out by the army are supervised by nuns.

"They are on board only eight or ten days; pretty rapid development of affairs would not indicate that they must be a loose lot?" asked Sir Rider Haggard who spoke highly of the protection afforded by the ship's officers.

Mr. Taylor said that the amount of unemployment here is less than in many cities and that the opportunities for work and advancement are very great. The commission adjourned until ten o'clock tomorrow morning.

The question is now being asked, "Would you rather be a live coward or a dead hero?" To which some have been heard to reply, "I would rather have the people say 'Can't that man run?' than to remark 'Doesn't he look natural?'"

How are we going to call this war, anyway? It would hardly do to speak of the Austro-Serbo-Russo-Germano-Anglo-Japano-Electro—(to be continued in our next.)

RULE BRITANNIA MEANT RELIEF TO ANXIOUS TRAVELERS

St. John Girl Writes of Voyage on Arabic - German Cruiser Speaks Them; Then Comes The Essex

One of the first steamers to reach an American port from England after the war broke out was the Arabic, which reached Boston. Among those aboard was a St. John young lady who had been on a visit to Europe.

Writing home about the experience on the voyage across, she tells of the steamer being spoken by a German cruiser one night but the Arabic was not near enough to bring her into trouble. Still naturally there was great anxiety among the passengers. Happily it was brushed away next day, however, for the British cruiser Essex came into touch with the Arabic and conveyed her to within fifty miles of Boston. The change in the situation is well described in the following paragraph from the St. John girl's letter.

"Rule Britannia" sounded mightily well when we realized that the Essex had been seen. There was great relief and feelings of the Americans aboard were expressed by "Thank God she does." The thought in the German's mind which had spoken us on the previous night was still fresh in their minds and they forgot to scream for the cable. Mr. J. Currie.

CATHEDRAL WEDDING

The marriage of Miss Mary Agnes Moore, daughter of the late Robert and Mrs. Agnes Moore, to Samuel Joseph Parsons, took place in the Cathedral at 12:30 o'clock this morning. The ceremony was performed at nuptial mass by Rev. William Duke in the presence of Mr. Patterson, cousin of the bride, who was the bride's best man. The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl pendant and chain, and to the best man a pearl scarf pin. At the conclusion of the wedding service the bridal party motored to the home of the bride's mother, where a dainty wedding repast was partaken of. Mr. and Mrs. Parsons left for a short trip through the province, after which they will reside in the city.

WEDDING AT BORDER

Ralph P. Hartley and Miss Elsie Blanche King Wed—Both Mt. Allison Graduates

A nuptial event of interest to many friends was solemnized this afternoon in St. Stephen, N. B., when Miss Elsie Blanche King of London, Ont., became the bride of Ralph Perley Hartley, of Woodstock, N. B. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. B. Wylie, of St. Stephen's Presbyterian church, at the home of the bride's aunt, Miss Emma Robinson, which was prettily decorated with flowers and potted plants.

Both young people are well known about New Brunswick. Miss King, who is a daughter of Robert King, divisional superintendent of the C. P. R. in London, Ont., is a graduate of Mount Allison University, while Mr. Hartley is a graduate of J. C. Hartley, K. C., of Woodstock, and also a Mt. A. graduate. He is also a graduate of the St. John Law School.

At the wedding today the bride was becomingly attired in ivory satin with seed pearls, oriental lace, and rose point. She wore an embroidered, French imported veil, and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. She was given in marriage by her father. The bridesmaid was Miss Elsie Patterson, cousin of the bride, who wore a pretty yellow satin creation with shadow lace, and carried a bouquet of sweet peas. Wm. W. Titus of St. John, was best man. Miss Elva Nicholson presided at the organ, and played at the commencement of the ceremony, Lohengrin's wedding march and at the close Mendelssohn's. A large number of invited guests were present and enjoyed a reception and luncheon after the ceremony.

Costly and valuable wedding remembrances were received. The groom's gift to his bride was a purse of gold, the bridesmaid, a cameo ring, to the groomsmen a gold signet ring, and to the organist a sterling silver card case, with monogram. Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Hartley left in the private car "Rosemead," placed at their disposal by H. C. Groat, Atlantic superintendent of the C. P. R., St. John, attached to the evening express, for a campaign out trip on Skiff Lake. The bride wore an attractive traveling costume of brown with white coat and white hat. After their return Mr. and Mrs. Hartley will reside in Woodstock, where the groom is a promising young barrister. The best wishes of a large number of friends will be offered for their future happiness.

LIGHTNING KILLS THREE AND INJURES 20 IN NEW YORK

New York, Aug. 12—An electrical storm, accompanied by a strong wind and a brief but heavy downpour of rain, swept suddenly over the city late yesterday. Three persons were killed and twenty injured. Lightning struck in several places, and the shooting of a new subway car in upon fifteen laborers. A bolt of lightning descended near Charles Seligert, so frightening him that he dropped dead of apoplexy. Lightning struck a motor launch containing William L. Anderson and Freda Fenberg, killing Anderson and severely burning the woman. In Yonkers a bolt fell among a company of moving picture actors, killing Charles Fisher and stunning four companions.

The storm brought refreshing breezes after a day of heat, which had caused several prostrations.
