WHY COMMANDER PEARY'S ENTHUSIASM DOES NOT FLAG Moved by Scientific Interest, Patriotism and Love of the Game—The Men He Takes and What They Do All Winter—Esquimaux Dogs for Hunting Grizzly Bears

Commander Robert E. Peary, accompanied by his wife, passed through St. John last night on way to his ship at North Sydney. Prof. that point will begin a voyage to the North Pole that will start with greater prospects of success than any that has ever gone before.

When asked last night by a Star reporter what was his motive for struggling to reach the pole and what influence it was that kept him at it after so many attempts, Mr. Peary said: "The reason I go is that I believe that the scientific information which will be obtained by completing the voyage to the north will be of sufficient value to compensate for the difficulty in getting it. To get the information and to do it to the world is a honor which I think should belong to the United States, and as their representative I am trying my best to succeed. Another motive that influences me now is that after being at it for twenty years I do not wish to die until I have accomplished my object. One cannot engage in a work as interesting as this for twenty years and be willing to give it up while there is still any chance of success."

WINTER NOT TIRESOME. Speaking of the long winter spent in the dark of the Arctic night, Mr. Peary said: "I do not find it tiresome or uninteresting, partly because I am getting used to it now and partly because I have not time to feel that way. There is always something to be done, such as getting the equipment ready for spring, hunting and other work that is always necessary. Asked how the other members of the party who were not so used to the north stood the winter, Mr. Peary said that he always tried to keep every member of his expedition too busy to be bored. "I have always believed that the only way to keep men in the Arctic contented and in good condition, was to give them enough work, with some recreation, to keep their minds busy all the time. At it is always my policy to get everything ready during the winter for the last stage of the trip which is commenced in the spring there is lots of work for everyone."

FEDERATION OF LABOR WILL SUPPORT BRYAN Gompers Declares the Republicans Ignored Labor Requests While Democrats Met Them.

OTTAWA, July 13. — The Old Age Annuities Bill was read a second time in the Senate today. Sir Richard Cartwright said he had received enquiries from large employers of labor, who intimated that they would purchase annuities for their deserving old employees. Sir Richard expressed the belief that after he had diffused knowledge about the plan throughout the country there would be a large number who would take advantage of it, especially among those who had accounts in the Government Savings Bank.

PAIR OF LOVESICK FOOLS TRY TO DIE Suicide Agreement Between Boy and Girl

NEW YORK, July 14.—Sweethearts from childhood, the young man, 18, and the young woman, 17, who were in the head by Wild, who then turned the revolver on himself. He fell unconscious ten feet from his dying sweetheart. Struggling to her feet, the girl reached Wild's side and with her handkerchief began to wipe the blood from his face when she too fell unconscious. A policeman, attracted by the shouts, summoned an ambulance, in which the dying lovers were hurried to Bellevue Hospital, where they remained unconscious today. A letter found in Wild's pocket, addressed to Mrs. Alsham, told her that the two had decided to die together. Wild blamed the girl's mother in the letter for trying to part them, and said that they had tried to die twice before that they had resolved, and that this, the third attempt would be successful. There was no signature to the letter, but a postscript reading: "I was not crazy when I did this. I was only insane like Poor Harry Thaw."

FLANAGAN WINS HAMMER THROW, MAKES A RECORD

G. HAROLD MAIN DIED SUDDENLY AT AMHERST Had Been Ill for Only a Few Days—Was Formerly in Bank of Commerce in St. John

AMHERST, July 14.—The citizens of Amherst were shocked yesterday to learn of the sudden death of G. Harold Main, son of the late Wm. Main, collector of customs for Amherst. Mr. Main's many friends throughout the Province will learn of his death with regret.

FLAMES REACH HEIGHT OF FIFTEEN HUNDRED FEET Oil Well in Mexico is Giving a Spectacular Performance

NEW ORLEANS, July 14.—Although conferring statements about the spectacular and awe inspiring nature of the Mexican oil fields fire, Capt. Ravin of the steamship City of Mexico, from Tampico yesterday said that the giganitic fire between Tampico and Tuxtepec is endangering little of the country except the vicinity of the blaze. The fire is seventeen miles inland. Capt. Ravin also said that it is merely a huge well, not a lake, that is blazing. The people are paying no attention to the fire, except to gaze at it as they would at any other spectacular sight. The blaze started, Capt. Ravin said, from the caving of the foundation of an engine house near the well. It is visible at night seventy miles at sea. The flame is estimated to be 1500 feet high.

LATEST WEATHER REPORT FAIR AND WARM

Sheppard, also from the United States, Victor in the 1,500 Metre Flat Race—Small Crowd at This Mornings Contests—Better Weather Prevails

LONDON, July 14.—The sun shone brilliantly at the stadium this morning giving promise of perfect weather for the second day of the Olympics in contrast to yesterday's drizzle, which threw a damper over the opening ceremonies. The flags of all nations that had sent athletes to compete in the games, with which the stands are decorated, floating in a light breeze, added a further touch of brightness to the scene, while among the competitors, the improved climatic conditions had a good effect, lightening their spirits, and increasing their enthusiasm. The spectators, however, were slow in coming and when the hammer throwing, the first event on the programme, commenced, the stands were almost deserted.

The interest centres mostly today in the hammer throwing and the final heat of the 150 metre run, in which Tait of Canada and Sheppard and Sheppard of the United States, compete for the preliminary heats run of yesterday. The opening day of the Olympic contests concluded last evening with a brilliant civic reception by the Lord Mayor and Mayoress which was attended by a thousand guests, including Lord Dunsborough and the majority of the members of the council and committee of the games together with a large number of athletes. The Lord Mayor, wearing the robes and chain of office, received his guests at the entrance to the Egyptian Hall. It was one of the most cosmopolitan gatherings ever seen at Mansion House. The athletes evidently came to London unprepared for civic entertainments, one were in flannels and others in morning attire, while yet others wore the varied combinations of every day dress. The Germans and Swedes, however, were in uniform.

The car went into the ditch, but no damage was done. Passengers say that these heave of earth should be lighted up as accidents are apt to occur.

In chambers yesterday afternoon before Judge Landry, the matter of the winding up of the Imperial Coal Co. was heard. The report of Dr. M. F. An adjournment is urged on the grounds that an arrangement may be made with the shareholders and creditors.

CANADA'S CELEBRATION

The coming celebration at Quebec will make Canada a world topic for a long time. Despatches from London say there is widespread curiosity on the part of old country people to see a souvenir of the celebration. The souvenir men who have seen the advance sheets of the Tercentenary number of The Standard, at Montreal, agree with the Standard in saying that the Standard Tercentenary souvenir number will be far and away the greatest commemorative number ever published on this continent, completely eclipsing all old country souvenirs which will be a great issue to send to friends abroad.

DRAW UP A SCHEDULE OF POSTPONED GAMES

A meeting of the executive of the St. John Baseball League was held last evening in the Y. M. C. A. rooms, King street. James Steele was elected chairman. The representatives of the various clubs present were: Clippers, T. Amour and R. C. Thomas; Marathons, D. B. Donald and H. K. Clawson; Emeralds, Y. M. A. W. Case and Roy Handrahn. The protest from the Clippers team was referred to a special meeting to be called on July 27. A communication from R. D. Isaac, offering a trophy for the championship team in the city, was read and ordered to be given to the secretary to acknowledge the offer with the thanks of the league.

The following schedule of postponed games was arranged, to be played this week: Wednesday, Emeralds and Marathons; Friday, Clippers and Portlanders; Saturday, Clippers and Portlanders.

BATHING, ETC., NOW AT MARSH CREEK

At a meeting of the Every Day Club last evening it was resolved to make a trip to Marsh Creek to have the proper officials investigate the feasibility of damming the Marsh Creek above the bridge so that the banks of the creek might always be filled with water and thus made available for bathing, canoeing, boating and fishing.

The club decided to change the date of its August excursion from the 29th to the 22nd in order not to conflict with the championships at Halifax. It was reported that entries are coming in well for Thursday evening's sports. As a result of the club's encouragement of athletics it is expected that a strong team of local athletes will compete at sports in Nova Scotia later in the season.

A committee was appointed by the club last evening to consider a proposal to hold sports and boat races at Paradise Park some Saturday afternoon.

DESPAIRED OF EVER GAINING THE SHORE

W. J. Bowen and Miss B. Genevieve Baird, members of the Daniel Ryan Co., narrowly escaped death by drowning while boating on the Basin at Digby, Sunday afternoon. It seems the two obtained a small motor launch shortly after luncheon, intending to spend the afternoon on the water. An hour was lost soon after their departure when the boat drifted helplessly about in a strong tide until rescued and taken in tow by two boys of the neighborhood. Each, it is said, is given up all hope of ever reaching land again when help arrived under fourteen years of age. Miss Baird is a native of St. John and has been a member of the Maritime Provincials.

ESCAPE BY WINDOW WHEN POLICE COME

Watching their opportunity when the shades of night had fallen, three boys, who were serving terms in the reformatory, escaped unseen through the prison window and only one has been re-captured. Moore, Read and Griffith were the boys' names and all were under fourteen years of age. After getting away from the building Sunday night their hiding place was undiscovered until yesterday when information was received of their whereabouts. Griffith did not seem inclined to remain with the other boys after the escape and found his way to his mother's home. His mother telephoned the superintendent and the boy was taken back.

The other two boys are still at large and it is believed that they are now hiding somewhere in the city. They passed Sunday night in a house on Brunswick street, but when the officers called for them they managed to make another escape through a window in the back shed and while a search was in progress, they got away.

THRILLING EXPERIENCE

McADAM, July 13. — A party of eleven, while enjoying a moonlight excursion in E. O. Lanes' launch, the "Duchess," this evening, had a very thrilling experience. The launch was proceeding down the lake at full speed, when it struck a sunken rock, and for a few moments the greatest excitement prevailed, and but for the coolness and good management of G. A. Robinson, who was with the party, might have proved serious. Fortunately the launch was not seriously damaged, and the party were able to reach the shore in safety, but will not forget their experience for some little time.

REVENUE FROM WATER PORT FOR 1903 SHOWS INCREASE

The returns of the collection of water port rates from November 22, 1902, to May 2, 1903, have been made known. The revenue derived from the water port during the past winter has surpassed that of 1902-03 by over 3-1/2 per cent. The totals are as follows: 1902-03, $21,618.57; 1903-04, $22,355.57. The detailed statements of the returns for the past two seasons are as follows: Nov. 27, 1902-May 7, 1903.

22 ponies, at 2 cents 44
19,192 cattle, at 3 cents 575 76
12,459 tons grain, at 1 cent 1,245 90
17,654 tons general cargo, ind., at 10 cents 1,765 40
2,963 tons general cargo, outd., at 10 cents 29 63
2,738 tons timber, at 5 cents 136 90
57,528,590 feet deals, at 10 cts. 575 28
4,036 sheep, at 1-3 cent 13 48
Side wharfage 10,203 63
Total revenue $23,855 57

The above statements show that the items which the increase is due are lumber, grain, timber and outward cargo. Horses and cattle show a falling off, as does inland general cargo. Outward general cargo shows a slight increase. Sheep also increased in number. The readjustment of rates made last summer had the effect of making a general increase in revenue. In the case of lumber, however, the increase in revenue was due to the great increase in the quantity exported.

SURGEONS MAY REFORM CRIMINALS

Is the modern criminal to be reformed by means of the surgeon's knife. Is our hole penitentiary system—reformatories, prisons, and asylums for criminal lunatics—to be abolished, while society detaches itself from the criminal, and looks for the elevation to a higher moral standard of the thief and the murderer to a few inches of steel wielded by the hand of a strong-nerved genius of science? Recent miracles of Dr. Barnard Hoiland, who has recently claimed that criminals should be treated according to a medical standard, suggest that we are on the eve of a revolution in our treatment of the criminal and insane. It is expected that a dozen cuts of the lancet will effect a greater percentage of Society than years of confinement in a prison.

A CASE IN POINT

Look at the case of Hothay, otherwise known as "Black Bart," the terror of half a dozen states in America. No treasure on board a train was secure against his evil design; no plans of the detectives were sufficient safeguard against his desperate and cunning hand. He was a man who murdered with impunity; but in a slack moment he fell into the hands of the police and was sentenced to imprisonment for life.

In a few weeks he was removed to the Criminal Lunatic Asylum, where, after a long and arduous confinement, he was removed to the hospital of the St. John's Hospital, where he was treated by Dr. Hoiland. He was a man who murdered with impunity; but in a slack moment he fell into the hands of the police and was sentenced to imprisonment for life.

DARING SKILL

As a miracle of surgery this probably stands supreme. During the last few years we have heard amazing tales of the doctor's daring skill — of a pig's eyelids grafted on those of a man, of the stomach being taken out entirely and the two ends of the alimentary canal joined together, of a man's tongue being replaced and neatly sewn on again.

Not long since a railway porter in the States lost his skull by falling off a truck. He was trampled and apparently got well, but always suffered from epileptic fits. His usual ailment was epilepsy, and instead of being a bright, intelligent man, he became drowsy, and listless, indifferent to all that was going on around him. In this condition he was taken to the infirmary, where it was found that a hole in the skull was an inch long, and that a flap of skin, including the old scar, was directly attached to the brain.

THE BRAIN SAVED

What did the surgeons do? They scraped the folds of the brain clear of this hole and placed between the brain and the bone a thin plate of gold in order to prevent them sticking together.

THE SENSE OF SMELL IS VERY VALUABLE.

Would you rather be deuced, to some noxious? Suppose, in other words, that fate gave you the choice between losing your sense of sight and your sense of smell, which would you decide to abandon? Nevertheless, they use it, as a matter of fact, every instant of their waking lives, and even while asleep - when the eyes are closed, are useless. Nine people out of ten would reply that they would infinitely prefer to lose their power of detecting odors than be blind. The choice would be a less wise one than it sounds.

NASAL SENSITIVENESS.

People are so accustomed to take the sense of smell for granted, that they hardly notice its usefulness. Nevertheless, they use it, as a matter of fact, every instant of their waking lives, and even while asleep - when the eyes are closed, are useless. Nine people out of ten would reply that they would infinitely prefer to lose their power of detecting odors than be blind. The choice would be a less wise one than it sounds.

CHEMIST RELIES ON NOSE.

Mr. H. G. Wells, the English novelist, once advanced the axiom, in one of his stories, that, if a man with perfect eyesight were put in the midst of a nation all of whom were blind, the former would be at an enormous disadvantage; in fact, he would become the blind man's slave. He called this "The Miracle of Smell," and stated that a trained chemist can often read a nation all of whom were blind, to the analysis of a substance than any of the most delicate chemical tests, whose results, of course, only visit to the eye.

ETHEREAL BLUE LATEST FOR MEN

CHICAGO, July 13 - "Ethereal blue" the name of the new goods of which full garments are to be made, according to the tailors now in convention here. It is a most aesthetic shade, and will be worn, this, upon which is patterned a "herring-bone" design resembling juvenile designation of hilly section in geography class, will not be as popular as the blue. It will also have the olive cast.

DEATH OF THE ANIMAL

In the animal world it is, of course, plain that the loss of the nose means death, when the loss of the eyes would be merely a handicap. Plenty of old dogs are blind, yet can go out with their masters, and even hunt for game. A dog hardly ever weeps to distinguish between its master and a stranger.

Looseness of The Bowels.

It is very seldom during the summer months that people are not troubled with "looseness of the bowels." Sometimes it only goes that far, but generally it develops into Diarrhoea, Dysentery or Summer Complaint and has a tendency to weaken the whole system.

When the bowels get loosened up in this way and you wish to check the unnatural discharge without bringing on constipation, there is only one remedy to use, and that one is Dr. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY. This remedy is not an experiment as it has been used in thousands of families during the past fifty-three years.

Miss M. Hopkins, Roseview, Sask., writes: "I have used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry and found it is all I need to be free from Diarrhoea and Summer Complaint. We would not be without a bottle of it in the house."

EMANCIPATION OF THE FAT FOLKS

To have to sit through the hot weather quiet as a log, scarcely daring to breathe simply because one is so fat the least exertion will start the perspiration in a stream, is not a very happy prospect. But it has been the lot of the fat since time began until now.

F. W. DANIEL CO. Ltd
London House, Charlotte Street

A GREAT GERMAN INVENTOR.

The story of the inventor who sacrificed everything in pursuit of an idea is always interesting—particularly if his efforts at last attain success. Count Zeppelin, whose new airship is arousing so much interest, has a remarkable record of devotion in the search.

He is over seventy years of age, tall, broad and with flashing eyes that belie his white hair. Comparatively soon after he began his experiments on Lake Constance ten years ago he expended his whole fortune of $150,000. An old man, his whole heart was still in his experiments and he went on. He was so convinced of the practical nature of his ideas that he convinced his friends also, and they formed a syndicate to continue the experiments.

Although the Kaiser conferred the Order of the Red Eagle upon him, no government help was forthcoming, and his experiments ceased for a period. In 1904 the Zeppelin Balloon Fund was opened by public subscription, and work began again.

Last autumn the "Zeppelin No. 2" was completed. This airship made such remarkably successful trials—on one voyage manoeuvring round the Lake of Constance and steering round the town halls of its five principal towns—that the German government determined to buy his invention.

PATRIOTIC GERMAN.

The price was $500,000, and there were several conditions. He was to build another airship, "Zeppelin No. 4," which should be able to start and alight on the ground instead of as the previous airships on the water, and which should make an uninterrupted voyage of twenty-four hours' duration. The new airship represents Count Zeppelin's attempt to fulfil these conditions.

Count Zeppelin is German by birth and a soldier by profession. He holds the rank of general. His patriotism has even overcome the ambition of the inventor, for, while the German government failed to recognize his efforts he refused to solicit the patronage of any other.

His career as a soldier includes the Franco-German war in which he is reputed to have been the first German to enter France. With three officers and seven dragoons he started on the now famous patrol ride of July 24 into the enemy's country. On one occasion he was dismounted by a French lancer, but he cut down the man, and mounting his horse continued his investigations.

Finally his little company was cornered in the courtyard of an inn at Reichshofen and all but one surrendered. The exception was the Count. He succeeded in stealing another French horse, and made his way through a woody, mountainous country which was infested by the enemy back to his own army. During his adventurous and lonely ride he hid for two days in a wood surrounded by the French troops and ultimately managed to evade them and get through with his valuable information, seven years earlier he had gone to America, where he engaged as a volunteer in the American war, having a very narrow escape in the battle of Fredericksburg. His interest in the military airship dates from that time, when he made his first ascent in a captive balloon belonging to the Southern army.

HIS AMBITION.

Not satisfied with his training in the engineers, when his mind turned towards aeronautics, he thoroughly studied mechanics, working himself in the shops and practically studying electricity and sailmaking.

He described his aims at that time as follows, and it is interesting to see in how far they have been successful: "I intend to build a vessel which will be able to proceed to places which cannot be approached—or only with great difficulty—by other means of transport. To undiscovered coasts or interiors, in a straight line across land and water where ships are to be sought for; from one list station or army to another, carrying persons or despatches; for observations of the movements of hostile fleets or armies—not for active participation in actual warfare.

"My balloon must be able to travel several days without renewing provisions, fuel, or gas. It must travel quickly enough to reach a certain goal in a given number of days and must possess sufficient rigidity and non-flammability to ascend, travel, and descend under ordinary conditions.

The distinctive feature of his experiments since 1885 has been the use of an aluminium cylinder or gas container instead of the customary silk bag.—A. M. B.

WATCH BURIED 14 YEARS RUNS.

DERBY, N. H., July 13—A rare find is reported by Arthur E. Leighton, of Chester. He states that fourteen years ago this summer he was leading a horse to plow in his home field, and while at work lost his gold watch, gold chain and gold charm, the latter in the shape of a boot. He and his friends hunted long and diligently for the lost articles, but they failed to find them. Every year since, when that particular field has been plowed and planted, he or others have looked carefully for the watch.

Thursday, while he was assisting by leading the horse to cultivate that field, he was, as usual, looking for the watch, and, much to his surprise, saw something glister in the sun. Stopping the horse, he picked up the missing watch and chain, but the charm had become detached, and was not to be found.

Mr. Leighton opened the watch, and found it in good condition. He started it and it ran, and he says it is keeping good time now. After its burial in the earth for fourteen years this seems to be a remarkable fact.

AMUSEMENTS.

NICKEL OPENED BIG AGAIN.

It was a merry muslined and straw-hatted summer crowd that filled the Nickel's big interior yesterday afternoon, but particularly the evening, and each and every member of it saw a great show of pictures and listened to a couple of remarkably good songs. One of the features of the day was the debut of Jack Gurney, the robust tenor, whose rendering of the seaside novelty, Sweet Rosie May, was received with unstinted plaudits. Miss Foley's new song, That's What the Daisies Said, was perhaps the most tasteful and catchy thing this talented mezzo has yet sung here. In the pictorial department the Man in the Overall made the biggest hit. The scenes in the saw-mill and furnace room wrought the on-lookers up to a state of considerable excitement. Bill the Billposter and Pete the Paper Hanger was a continuous round of laughter, and The Silver Foiled a pretty love ruse. Altogether it was a great show for the happy July St. Johners, and the orchestra rounded out a five cent's worth of entertainment unsurpassed. Same show to-day.

HAPPY HALF HOUR.

"You promised us something good and you have more than kept your word. I don't know where you got such excellent singers, or how you can afford to do it at the price." The speaker, a leading musician of this city, made this remark last evening after hearing Holmes and Buchanan, the great singing act that opened an engagement at the Happy Half Hour yesterday. To say that they made a hit would be putting it mild. Encores were demanded at every performance, and last night standing room was the rule from 7.30 to 10 o'clock. Gertrude Bennett, Holmes is the possessor of a beautiful mezzo-soprano voice of splendid quality, fully the equal of any that has ever been heard here, not omitting the opera companies. Robert Buchanan has a tenor voice of wonderful range, and many compared him and favorably, to Herbert Johnson of the famous Ruggles Street Quartette of Boston. The selection was the beautiful one of Back to Our Mountains, from Il Trovatore, which permitted of both solos and duets, and in the latter the blending of their voices was very favorably commented upon.

FULL HOUSES AT THE UNIQUE.

Every evening no matter how warm it is, finds the Unique Theatre packed to the doors with well pleased patrons. The pictures today are much above the average, and that is saying a great deal. The leading film is called The Husband's Revenge, or the Poisoned Pills, and tells the dramatic story of a fond and loving husband wrecking his revenge on the head of a false friend who tried to steal the love of his wife. Another picture is called "The Magnetic Eye," and is one of the best comedies ever produced. It shows to what extent the eye is capable of exerting its influence. The next on the list is a comedy-drama called "The Salt Dill," or if you want to catch a bird put salt on its tail, and shows the experience of a little girl whose bird escaped, and who endeavors to recover it in this manner. The last picture on the list is entitled, A Gallant Knight, and is one of beautifully costumed pictures, whose scenes are laid in the drawing room of the royal palaces of Europe. Miss Outon, of London, Ontario, will be heard tonight in that New York hit, "Take me Around."

This charming singer was repeatedly encored at every show yesterday. Mr. Will Harrison, of Halifax, is singing that beautiful little song, "How'd You Like to be My Wife?" Matinee every day at 2.15.

NURSERIES TO RESTOCK

ONTARIO FORESTS

TORONTO, July 13—The provincial government has decided to establish forest nurseries throughout the province in the neighborhood of lands which are not suitable for agricultural purposes. These nurseries are to be made the centres of reforestation for the particular areas in which they are situated.

With this object in view they have purchased 100 acres in the township of Wainman. The plot is believed to be particularly suited for forestry purposes, as it adjoins several thousand acres which has already been declared unfit for agriculture.

The government are also arranging to utilize the services of students of the university who are taking courses in forestry.

ONE FAMILY FILLS A SCHOOL.

As he was the only man with young children in a district of Lake County, Oregon, Mr. John Larkin formed a school committee, of which he was elected chairman and his wife clerk. Mrs. Larkin was installed as teacher by the chairman and the five little Larkins now go to school to their own mother, who is remunerated by the state.

THE STAR, ST. JOHN, N. B. TUESDAY, JULY 14, 1908

THE CYNIC

By ELEANOR HOWARD-WARING.

SHE SPEAKS.
No, do not interrupt me—let me say all. Last night I was convinced of your love, and this conviction swept over me like a gale that bends a slender willow tree. During those moments I think you did love me. . . . Oh, yes, and now, perhaps, as you say, for a while, last night is not so very far in the past. You might love and be true to me for as long as a fortnight, or until the novelty of possession wore off, or until a prettier woman came—My mind as well? Then I shall say, "Brighter, prettier woman. . . . Yes, there are lots of them!"
You see I am not a girl. I've lived and studied men and women of many countries. I love they are all alike. My marriage was not a success—never mind why. It was years ago and seems scarcely more than an episode in my life, but it was long enough for me to learn something of married men and marriage vows, which seem but a matter of elasticity of conscience—Yes, I heard that your marriage, too, seems true, but so is marriage often.
In the beginning I had ideas—one has them in youth you know—that one by an angel could live up to. The young expect much that maturity knows never existed. The law freed me from these shattered illusions, and as a burnt child avoids the fire I have no ideas now, and I have never married again.
Yes, I have become a doubter. No, I would not trust you. Why should I? With certain environments I would trust no one. . . . Hard! Perhaps I have wanted for years to say all this frankly.
So long as you were under my personal influence you might easily remain true, but one let this relax and another woman come into your life, I would not give that for your faith to me! You are not to blame. Nature has endowed men with a desire for novelty—and much curiosity. When this is satisfied—like a bee forsaking the flower when the honey is ziped, they flutter to another blossom or even away to another garden. Strange to say, too, the heart that's most loving, the most responsive to be responsible, if you can understand what I mean.
The only genuine unhappy men I ever knew have been married men. I think it is the method of conducting the marriage relation. Too much excitement, too much familiarity. Some men are strong enough to defy the fate that blew over their house of cards—No, when they are too wise they know better than to attempt another such frail structure. . . . Some of them stand on the ruins and with their heads erect go on to the end and the world never knows.
"What of the women?" Oh, it is all the same, men and women too. Only the woman of course, is the greater sufferer because of the restrictions of conventional and the impossibility of seeking outside diversions.

No, no, let us be friends. Marriage spoils friendship. If I did not really know, your arguments might seem strong, but I am quite determined to let my head govern my heart. I don't know you last night when you kissed me. . . . no—no—don't touch me! that might make me think I loved you today! I wish to protect us both. . . . No, not even my hand, please. Last night when you carried me away by your eloquence and presence, by the strength of our manliness, I was overcome. The quality and intensity of my feeling left me exhausted, it seemed to me at the time that you defied every evil thing that perils love—inconstancy and unfaithfulness included. I had neither power nor inclination to resist you. . . .
Oh, but that was last night. The lights and the music and the odors of many flowers make such a difference. I was reckless under their spell. I forgot all the lessons I have learned by daylight, and sitting there beside you with your shoulder so close to my cheek and your arm flung over the back of the bench. . . . Once more, today, and last night it was the arch tempter that whispered to us both. "Somewhere there are truth and love and faith, and you two can find them for the seeking."
Do you remember how the orchestra solved the tenor solo from "Cavalleria"? Let me play a bit of it, shall I? Just here beside you on the piano bench. I want to feel the spell again. . . . Is it not wonderful? Do you feel it too? But we must not. . . . Why? Because there is no truth nor loyalty in the world and we must not deceive ourselves. You see, the "atmosphere" is really gone today. The daylight is too prosaic and the piano—ah!—only violins can sway one truly. See, when I raise the shades high how garish the afternoon sunlight seems! . . . Well, close it if you like—it does seem rather blatant. Thanks. . . .
Yes, you may sit beside me again—but not so near—there is plenty of room, the bench is made for duets! And I can talk and think more clearly if you don't touch me. When you do I feel lost, for some reason, and I have a sense of helplessness and a desire not to go on living but just to float into space with half-closed lids and relaxed senses. . . . You feel this too? I can scarcely believe it, men are so different. . . .
What I really crave is your friendship—a relation based not upon a shallow attitude to each other. In my proper senses I do not love you. The music, lights, flowers, your closeness, ed the words, as if you were afraid:

GILLETTS' PERFUMED EYE CAUTION.

Put a strong glass on the label and examine it closely every time. Always look for the name "Gillett's."

Like all good articles, which are extensively advertised, Gillett's Eye is frequently and very closely imitated. In some instances the imitators have actually copied directions and other printed matter from our label word for word. Be wise, and refuse to purchase imitation articles for they are never satisfactory.

Insist on Getting Gillett's Eye and decline to accept anything that looks to be an imitation or that is represented to be "just as good" or "better," or "the same thing." In our experience of over fifty years in business we have never known of an imitation article that has been a success, for imitators are not reliable people. At the best the "just as good" kinds are only trashy imitations, so decline them with thanks every time.

exhale a strength that stimulates me like a tonic. You give me hope and courage. Your firm mouth gives me a sense of power, your square shoulders seem to me a bulwark against the world, but above all it is your mind which I most admire.
Against all of these things I must guard myself. The tonic of today, which stimulates, was as intoxicating wine last night. You touched me, you crushed me to you and I gave myself up to a joy for which I thought I had lost the capacity. I am glad I can still feel so deeply, but I must let my head guide me. I postponed my answer until today, fearing to trust myself last night and knowing, even in the supreme moment, it would be different by daylight. Most of life is daylight. Music and palms and the subdued lights of a conservatory grow fever and fever as we grow older. That is all over. It is your mind today which I delight in—see your physical rest. Oh, very well, I can hardly deny your expression, for you have been patient with me. But it will do no good. I am quite determined. . . .
Why do you pull the shades so low? The room is quite dim. . . . Yes, you may play, certainly. . . . Are you going to sing it? . . . Ah! . . .
Do you mind if I go on playing as I talk? This "Cavalleria" thing seems to be a sort of motif with us. . . . When I first heard you sing I realized the possibilities of life in you and saw your temperament. You were singing Verborghenheit and you always whistled the words, as if you were afraid:

"Temp me not, O world, again, Lure me not with joys that perish, Let my heart unspoken cherish, All its raptures, all its pain."
These harmonies are very interesting just here, I think. . . . Is not this a queer strain? . . . I had seen you the evening before for the first time. From the moment our eyes met I knew that this was to follow. I never rested it. . . . Never mind, the daylight does not make such a difference. Do you like Debussy? Sometimes there seems never to have been any other composer. Listen to this. . . . You see, life only offered us the dress the first time. Today you and I will fill the glass with glowing wine and drink together. . . . Yes, we will, for we are yet young enough, and blood never quick in our veins.
Last night, with your violet-scented hair against my cheek, your warm, paint-pink body against mine in your evening gown, your hand with its sudden, unhelped-for clasp on mine and your lips so near. . . . Go on playing! Very well, since I am not to "touch" . . . I like to see you smile like that. I can't believe you are over twenty and your teeth gleam so white. . . . I did not think I should ever paint-pink body again until you came, and now I am as fresh and keen as a beardless boy. The youthful longing for a mate sweeps over me.

We can be happy together, for our love is not founded solely upon physical attraction. We have each had a hard lesson and we know, wherein we failed before. . . . Ah, you must let me finish—that is only fair, you know.
I can and would be true to you, for I would find in you always that infinite variety that makes association interesting. Your moods fill me with a desire to penetrate and respond as you would have me. When you are happy you irradiate happiness. I heard you laugh somewhere on the lawn yesterday. I wondered at your capacity for joy, but I laughed with you. When the gardener's wife told you of her suffering child your eyes filled with tears—but that was not all, I saw the doctor when he came at your request, he told other tales out of school, too. So you see I know you. . . . Yes, I know more than you think. You are not hard, you are not really cynical. I love you for all the things you are, not for the things you call yourself. . . . Please do not move. . . . then I shall follow you. . . . Yes, lean there on the piano with the dusk falling outside and your face shining so white. Your hair is like a halo against the fading light. . . . No, you shall not go. . . . Yes, I meant to do it and I shall not ask to be forgiven. Can't you see and feel that you must never go? That you must stay here, in my arms, always, and that I must kiss you so . . . and so . . . forever?

MISS HUTCHINSON HAS CLOSE CALL

OTTAWA, July 12.—Miss Emily Hutchinson of St. John, who is visiting in Ottawa, had a very narrow escape from drowning while out sailing on Blue Sea Lake with her cousin, L. R. Cameron, Saturday. The stiff was suddenly capsized in a strong gale of wind. Both, however, succeeded in getting hold of the overturned boat, and after some time were noticed by a young girl and her little brother on shore nearly a mile away. They plucky pulled out in a boat to the rescue and despite the heavy seas on the lake finally reached the two in jeopardy. Miss Hutchinson, who was much exhausted, was rescued just in the nick of time.

THE FIRE SITUATION REMAINS UNCHANGED

Warden Dean is at Work Near Spruce Lake—Little Doing Around South Bay

The fire situation is unchanged today and unless there is rain there remains much danger of serious results. The country is very dry and the vegetation proves a good fuel for the fire that is eating its way through the woods and in many places destroying valuable timber tracts.

This morning word was received from South Bay that the fire was still burning with a light wind from the north, but if the wind shifts and blows strongly from the eastward it is expected that the damage done by the flames will be great.

Fire Warden Dean, of Musquash, is directing a gang of men in fighting the fire, and this morning was in the vicinity of Spruce Lake.

Men are guarding the Back Lands Bay ready to fight the fire if it threatens to cross the road, for should it cross the houses at Grand Bay would be in danger. It is said that if the fire had been fought when it started last Tuesday it would have only done a couple of hours to have stamped it out, but nothing was done until the flames had covered about five miles of territory.

Fire Warden Dean says that the fire area at Musquash is about two miles and it was property that was burned over before.

LATER.

A report from South Bay at 2:00 o'clock this afternoon says that the forest fire are spreading rapidly since morning. There is quite a heavy breeze blowing and the flames are racing worse than ever. This morning, with out any wind, it was thought the fire might die out, but this afternoon the whole country is alarmed, and nearly every person, who is able to see, is fighting fire.

WHOLE HARBOR MAY BE PUT IN COMMISSION

Committee Will Consider Change in Bill

Meeting Tomorrow Will Discuss Plan to Include All the Harbor— Grain Conveyor and Courtney Bay Borings

The question whether St. John should have the whole harbor placed in the hands of a harbor commission will be discussed tomorrow at a meeting of the harbor facilities committee. The committee will meet at eleven o'clock in the city hall for the discussion of this and other important matters.

Now that the harbor bill will have to remain over until next session before coming before the house it is possible that the bill may be altered to include the whole harbor instead of only the west side facilities as it now does.

It is understood that some of the private wharf owners are anxious to see the commission would also take the improvements, such as coal sheds and other warehouses which are of value only to their present owners.

Another matter that will be considered by the committee is the arranging for the construction of grain conveyors to supply the two berths at the new Rodney wharf.

The lack of a grain conveyor was a great inconvenience last year and this year with an extra berth there the necessity for the conveyor is even greater. The C. P. R. have refused to build the conveyor at their own expense and in a wire received by the Mayor from the C. P. R. the cost was estimated at the sum of $90,000. There is no doubt but that the conveyors will be taken over by the commission is formed and it is possible that with a guarantee of this the C. P. R. may be induced to do the work as their engineers are more familiar with the work than the city's engineers.

The committee will also arrange to send a delegation to Fredericton to meet the local government at their session on Thursday evening.

The city delegates will urge on the government the desirability of the sharing the cost of the Courtney Bay borings.
