Strict vigilance is being maintained at the Sarnia tunnel, militia guards are still on duty, and every train passing through the tunnel must have all windows and doors locked. Passengers are also requested not to leave their seats while trains are in the tunnel proper.

Under an arrangement made with the Windsor & Lake Shore railway, Flora Bondy, 6-year-old daughter of James Bondy, Harrow, will receive $1,000 for injuries caused by the neglect of the company. While the child was sitting in a tree in her father's orchard a high-power line came in contact with the limb on which she was seated. The R. J. Graham Company, of Belleville, secured an army contract for potatoes, onions and soup mixture, totalling $250,000. This order will keep ten evaporators busy until June. These plants are located, one in Belleville, six others in Ontario (mostly in Hastings and Prince Edward), two in Michigan, and one in Nova Scotia. The Graham Company has been busy all fall and winter producing similar army supplies.

During the month which has elapsed since the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' convention, 500 farmers have agreed to give one acre of crop to the empire, in answer to the call made at the convention. It is expected that at least $5 per acre of the farmers of the province will contribute to the scheme, and that together with the unorganized farmers who have fallen in with the idea, at least 25,000 acres will be set apart for this patriotic move.

St. Patrick's Box Social.

The box social under the auspices of the Ladies' Patriotic Society of Glencoe on Saint Patrick's eve proved to be very enjoyable. It was indeed a pretty social event. The rooms were artistically decorated with Irish and patriotic decorations and were made homelike and hospitable by the committee in charge.

A programme was first given, when Miss Marion Huston, Miss Bateman, Miss Elliott, Miss Ivy McDonald and little Charles Auld took part. All the numbers were well given and much applauded. Special mention is made of the pleasing instrumental rendered by Miss Bateman, of the solos by Miss McDonald, of Appin, and of Charles Auld, who, although so young, captivated his audience. The expression of force and clearness of voice made his bright songs very entertaining.

Then followed the auctioning of the dainty and ingeniously and prettily designed well filled boxes by L. L. McTaggart, reeve of Ekfrid. This part of the programme was very ably and cleverly managed by Mr. McTaggart, who, in spite of a small audience, succeeded in securing good prices for the boxes. Proceeds amounted to $38.00.

The weather has been very good since landing here and I think we will all agree it is much better than the rain on Salisbury Plain.

Before concluding, I may say that were it not for the honor I could give you a little description of the layout here, but, as you likely know, it is much better than no news be given.

Western Real Estate.

J. J. Poole, clerk of the Supreme Court at Wetaskiwin, Alberta, sends The Transcript a copy of The Western Globe, published at Lacombe, Alberta, which contains a short description of real estate conditions there.

Mr. Poole says:—"These conditions are a fair sample of the situation in every other town in the province. During the 'boom' I had numerous letters from all parts of Ontario, all of them in fact from perfect strangers to myself, asking for information as to 'investments' in Alberta, as they fondly called them in their blissful ignorance. In reply, I always warned them not to touch the stuff. I never got thanks once for the pains I took in getting the right kind of information. I always thought that I didn't give them the encouragement which they looked for, and thus they 'came mad' and gave me the cold shoulder. They wanted to sow the wind and never once thought of the whirlwind which they were sure to reap, and against which I was trying to warn them. I might just state that I am not the least bit sorry for a lot of these eastern people, who certainly let their avarice, or should I rather call it greed, get the better of them."

After expressing satisfaction over the arrest and commitment for trial at Toronto of the McCutcheon brothers, real estate manipulators, on charges of fraud in connection with selling worthless sub-division properties to 'festive Eastern and English suckers,' the Lacombe paper says, in part:—"In Hyde Park and Fairview subdivisions to the town of Lacombe thousands of lots have been sold to poor people throughout Ontario and England, and these people have not the slightest chance in the world to realize anything from their investments. The war is blamed for the slump in the realty business, but it is not a factor. Had it not been for the war, conditions in Alberta would be a hundred times worse than they are. The war has been the salvation of the province. The real estate slump and the oil boom fizzle were both due long before the war started. Real estate in Alberta towns and cities was never worth the price it was selling at, and never will be until Alberta boasts of twenty million people. The oil steal graft, and is in no small way to blame for the hard times, in the cities especially. Millions of dollars have been wasted in leasing worthless oil lands, in buying worthless stocks, and the money blown in by the suckers would come in very handy just now."

"The city papers are deploring the hard times. No one factor is so much to blame as the great loss of money to our citizens by the same city papers. Page after page of boosting stuff were printed in these papers month after month, and they are now reaping what they sowed. The easy money secured from this advertising is gone, and the city dailies are having pretty hard sledding to make ends meet. The city papers should be put under the claw of the reality and oil manipulators for without their aid many of the fakes could not have been put over."

Letter From the Front.

In assisting to prepare a box of soldiers' comforts recently forwarded by the ladies of Glencoe, Mrs. James Poole wrote her name and address and enclosed them in a pocket of one of the garments. Yesterday she received a letter from George Secord, a former Moss boy, who enlisted in the first overseas contingent at Brandon, Man., and into whose possession the garment happened to fall at Salisbury Plain when the contents of the box were being distributed to the soldiers. The letter was written from an unnamed place in France, under date of Feb. 20.

In his letter Mr. Secord says:—"I can assure you it was no little pleasure for me to receive a gift from yourself and other young ladies of my home town, Glencoe. I am very grateful, indeed, and I hope I may be allowed to return home at some way try to return the kindness. I don't know who the other young ladies are that contributed, but I will ask you to offer them my thanks."

"I think when I say that we are given every assistance possible from our good Canadian friends that I am voicing the sentiments of each and every one of my many comrades."

There are many hardships undergone that I have not yet been called upon to undergo, but as a few of my companions have gone to the firing line, I will go on.

We are at present living in a barn on the outskirts of a small village that was at one time occupied by the Germans, and are receiving every kindness from our allied friends, the French. Although we are several miles from the actual firing line, it is not hard for one to realize what is taking place, by the sound of the guns in the daytime and searchlights and gun-fire at night."

Last night we had a little concert on the barn floor, the platform being a small door laid on the top of two boxes, and although the programme wasn't what one would hear in the City Hall, it was very interesting and helped wonderfully to break the monotony."

The weather has been very good since landing here and I think we will all agree it is much better than the rain on Salisbury Plain.

Before concluding, I may say that were it not for the honor I could give you a little description of the layout here, but, as you likely know, it is much better than no news be given."

The Unemployed.

There are four things which the Canadian community can do about its large present collection of out-of-workers. It can let them starve. It can maintain them by charity. It can ship them to Europe (if Europe will stand for it). And it can provide them with work. Taking it by and large, it seems as if the latter was really the cheapest of the four. For let us consider the situation briefly.

As regards letting them starve. That method is scarcely humanitarian. But that consideration need not concern us for the moment; we are considering economic problems. Is it advantageous for Canada? Scarcely. Canada is still a great and fertile and richly endowed and largely undeveloped country, whose chief need is men. Letting our out-of-workers starve will not merely reduce the supply of men at present on hand, but it will make it very hard for us to secure fresh immigration when business livens up again. Men will not starve quietly. The newspapers insist on talking about it. The news of their deaths gets over to England and Scotland and Ireland and Italy and Sweden, where their relatives are, and has a singularly discouraging effect upon other English and Irish and Swedish who have been thinking about coming to Canada. If we decide the starve our present out-of-workers, we may figure with great certainty that the population of Canada will be about stationary for a good many years to come.

As regards shipping them back to Europe. It is not quite so objectionable as letting them starve, but very nearly so. It reduces the man-power of Canada by just the same amount. It may not give the reputation of Canada, as an immigration-seeking country, quite such a hard jolt, but it will certainly not help it any. And it is much more expensive than the starvation method.

As regards maintaining them by charity, that also is expensive. A family living on charity may not consume quite so much as a family living on work, but it is a kind of disguised Government, but it consumes a lot, and it produces nothing. And far worse than that; it develops in its members that fatal attitude of dependency, of weakness, of unenterprising hopelessness, which is the mark of the pauperized. And the workers themselves (I am not referring to the skilled professional men, who are a different class) are not so much as they were before. Many of them, and the best at that, would about as soon starve as live on charity. They do not claim that society owes them a living; all they claim is that society owes them an opportunity.

There remains the final option, that of providing them with work. Is there no work in Canada that needs to be done? Is the credit of the country, of this country so ruined by the war that we dare not undertake any of the tremendously important jobs that we were talking about only a few months ago as being absolutely necessary for the future of the Dominion? Do we need no roads? Do we need no new territory opened up? Do we need no new land broken for crops? Do we need no more food supplies? Can we sell no more wheat or cattle or lumber or potatoes to the foreigners—who in all too many cases is so busy fighting that he has no time to raise them for himself?

The only difficulty is in organizing the work and bringing the laborer to it. And here surely is the place for our Governments to show that they are worthy of the people they create. It is too big a task for individuals. What is needed really is the mobilization of another army, an army of labor. That army must be enlisted from the ranks of the unemployed. They want to serve, and must be transported to the field of labor just as the fighting army is transported to the battle-field. At the moment, the field of labor is not so much as it was before the war, and is a great deal more largely in the rural sections. But the individual worker cannot go wandering all over the rural parts of Canada looking for the place where he is wanted. Ten to one he cannot even afford to take a train to the railway station which is nearest to the place where his job might be. The Government should do that for him. The country will lose nothing by such an expenditure: a man and a job together are an asset to Canada, but a man without a job and a job without a man are both a liability. When you put two liabilities together and make an asset, you are doing good business.—Beck's Weekly.

Englishman Who Made Good.

In an address delivered at the Patriotism and Production conference held in Strathroy, recently, John Farrell, immigration agent, of Forest, said:—"That the farmers are now without sufficient help, I believe, is largely their own fault. The Department will make every effort to provide help, but you must use the help right when you get them or you can never keep them. Some people say that the help from the old land is no good, but I met a striking example to the contrary right here in the hall and from this very neighborhood. A young Englishman a few years ago arrived here with very little money and practically no experience in farming. What is his record? Last year he rented a 100-acre farm. He paid $350 for rent, $100 for fertilizer and $225 for help. From 17 acres of corn he realized $750, and $150 for half the cornstalks; 10 acres of peas netted him $240; 13 acres of potatoes $885; 205 bushels of oats, $170; 12 tons of hay, $150; sale of pigs, $152; a total of over $2,500. Is that not an evidence of intelligent farming? And that is only one instance of many I could quote you."

Death of Mrs. McLean.

The death occurred at the home of her son Andrew in Detroit early yesterday morning of Mrs. McLean, widow of the late Allan McLean, of Glencoe.

Mrs. McLean had been in ill health for some weeks and went to Detroit to visit her son and secure expert treatment for her case. Bronchial pneumonia developed a few days ago and she passed away as stated.

Deceased was well known and greatly esteemed by a large circle of relatives and friends here, where she had resided nearly all her life. Her husband died in the spring of 1902 on the farm occupied by the family near Glencoe. Last fall Mrs. McLean disposed of the farm and bought a house in Glencoe which she had intended to occupy in the spring. She was 60 years of age and leaves a family of six sons and two daughters—Andrew and John, of Dutton; William, James, Hugh and Frank, of Saskatchewan; Mrs. Cowan, residing near Galt, and Miss Sarah, of Glencoe. She leaves one sister, Mrs. Mary McRae, of Glencoe, and one brother, Joseph Mawhinney, in California.

The funeral takes place on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence of her sister, Mrs. McRae, Wall Street, to Oakland cemetery.

Change of Managers.

Geo. Batcheller, who came to Glencoe from Brantford a few months ago as manager of the Royal Bank to succeed Mr. MacGowan on the latter's moving to Calgary, has tendered his resignation of the position, and E. M. Doull, who has been manager of the branch at Embro, is now in charge at Glencoe. Mr. Batcheller, who is a captain of artillery, will join the forces for overseas service and will leave shortly for the training camp at London.

Pastor Farewelled.

On Wednesday evening, March 10th, the Tait's Corners congregation met to bid farewell to their pastor, Rev. W. L. Nichol, before his departure for Parkhill.

During a short programme, when J. G. Lethbridge acted as chairman, Mr. Nichol was presented with an address and purse.

The address was read by Bert McCracken, and James Cook made the presentation. Mr. Nichol made a suitable reply, thanking the congregation for their kindness and loyal support during his pastorate.

At the close a dainty lunch was served by the ladies.

The address read as follows:—
To the Rev. W. L. Nichol:
Dear Pastor,—In all the relationship of life that bind us together, save that of the family circle, there is none stronger than that of pastor and people, united as we are in the bonds of sympathy and love, brought about by our union to the great Head of the Church. At no time do we feel this so much as when that tie is about to be severed.

Knowing that you have only one more Sabbath to be with us as pastor, we, the members and adherents of this congregation, gather here this evening to express to you our appreciation of your services during the past seven years. You came to us as a young man fresh from the colleges and your kind and genial manner has found a warm place in our hearts and will not be soon forgotten.

We appreciate very much all our spiritual life and for the splendid services rendered in all the branches of our congregational work.

Your kindness to us in our homes and the words of comfort and consolation spoken to many of us as we were called to pass through the deep waters of affliction will ever be fresh in our memory.

As we look back over the years you have been with us we note the gradual progress our congregation has made in every department. In the matter of giving to missions we find that in the year 1907 we contributed from all sources a little over one hundred dollars while in 1914 we reached the full amount allotted to us of the budget, four hundred dollars.

Our membership has increased by over fifty in that time. This, we believe, indicates that our spiritual life has been deepened.

Wherein we have failed to give you our united support in the work we trust you will forgive us and we will from this time forward think only of those things which under God's guidance we have been able to unitedly accomplish.

And now, dear pastor, we ask you to accept this purse as a token of our affection and esteem. In bidding you farewell we wish you success in your new field of labour and pray that His choicest gifts upon you and that you may be spared many years to serve in the Master's vineyard. "The Lord bless and keep thee. The Lord make His face to shine upon thee and be gracious unto thee. The Lord lift up His countenance upon thee and give thee peace."

Signed on behalf of the congregation — J. G. Lethbridge, clerk of session; Duncan Hyndman, chairman of the board of managers.

That the Ontario Government proposes to introduce legislation to close hotel bars at 7 o'clock every night in the week was a current rumor at the Parliament buildings Thursday. Although the Provincial Secretary's department has given no inkling of its intentions, liquor legislation of a radical nature is known to be under consideration.

BRITISH GAIN IMPORTANT

Advance Nearly Two Miles on a Line That Distance Wide

A despatch from Paris says: The victory won by the British troops north of La Basse, where they captured the village of Neuve Chapelle appears from additional details of the affair received to have been the greatest single advance which the British have made since the fighting entered upon its present stage.

In addition to the capture of Neuve Chapelle itself, the British offensive resulted in the occupation of German trenches over a front of 2,500 metres, the attack reaching its furthest point one and a quarter miles beyond the village. Thus the British troops advanced nearly two miles on a line about that distance wide.

The British are holding their gains, despite a number of counterattacks.

It is believed that the improvement in the British position brought about by the victory is of great importance and, if pressed further, might compel the Germans to evacuate La Basse and perhaps other points which make their line so strong at present. Equally important was the success achieved by British airmen in destroying the railway junctions at Menin and Courtrai. These are on one of the German main lines of communication, and their destruction will delay the arrival of new contingents of troops, which are reported to be again concentrating in Belgium for another attempt to break through to Calais and Boulogne. According to Dutch reports these troops have brought with them a large number of boats for the passage of the canals and rivers, and for the first time in months they include cavalry units.

DEFEATED DEPRESSION.

Newspaper Advertising Campaign Swelled Firm's Orders.

The results of a $800,000 campaign of newspaper advertising that brought, in the midst of the business paralysis following the outbreak of the European war, a maximum gain in business of 70 per cent. over the flourishing trade of the same period a year before were announced by George M. Brown, president of a roofing company, with its parent manufacturing centre in East St. Louis, Missouri.

While other manufacturers were bemoaning the depression, Mr. Brown's concern broadened its scope until, completely outstripping even the record of its most prosperous era, it is exhibiting for January and February last a series of colossal gains. For these two months, Mr. Brown says, the maximum gain in business was 70 per cent. in some departments, and the minimum gain in any department was 19 per cent. over the corresponding period in 1914, when conditions generally were at or above normal.

Not one of the concern's 1,600 employees has been laid off a minute since the newspaper advertising campaign was started, and all have received their regular salaries or wages. Three shifts were kept at work daily all fall and winter.

12 SUBMARINES MISSING.

Eight of Them Are Among Enemy's Newest Boats.

A despatch from London says: A report has been sent from Cuxhaven to the Admiralty at Berlin that twelve submarines have failed to report at their base, eight of them being among Germany's newest boats.

Three German Generals Have Been Retired.

A despatch from Berlin says: The Militar Wachenblatt announces the retirement of Major-General von Doerning, the commander of a German infantry brigade, and Major-General von Glasenapp and von Gravenitz, commanders of cavalry brigades.

BRITISH CRUISER IS TORPEDOED

Steamer Searching for Survivors of the Auxiliary Warship Driven Off by Enemy Submarine

A despatch from London says: The Admiralty announces the loss of the auxiliary cruiser Bayano while the vessel was engaged in patrol duty. In its statement of the disaster the Admiralty says:

"On the 11th of March wreckage of the Bayano and bodies were discovered, and circumstances point to her having been sunk by an enemy torpedo."

The statement gives the names of Lieut. Commander Guy and three other officers and four of the crew who were rescued and landed by the auxiliary patrol vessel Tarn. Eighteen more of the crew, of whom two are now in a hospital at Ayr, were landed by the steamship Balmerino.

It is probable that all others aboard the Bayano were lost.

Captain McGarrick, of the steamship Castlereagh, which landed at Belfast, reports that his ship passed on Thursday morning a quantity of wreckage and dead bodies floating in lifebelts. He attempted to search the spot in the hope of saving any who might still be alive, but was prevented by the appearance of an enemy submarine, which chased him for about 20 minutes.

Commander Carr and 13 other officers are named among the missing, and it is presumed they were lost.

The Belfast correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says the Bayano was torpedoed Thursday morning at 9 o'clock off Corsewell Point, Wigtownshire, Scotland, and that nearly 200 lives were lost, as the cruiser sank almost immediately. The vessel had a crew of about 216 men on board.

Wigtownshire is the south-western-most county in Scotland. It lies on the North Channel, which leads into the Irish Sea from the Atlantic.

20,000,000 Pigs to be Killed Off

A despatch from Bern says: It is estimated that there are twenty million pigs in Germany, and the cry now raised is death to the pigs, because of the quantity of potatoes they consume. Calculated at only sixteen millions the pigs must be killed at the rate of 400,000 daily and their meat purchased by the various communes preserved. Each pig killed between now and mid-April, it is estimated, will ensure the existence of ten Germans until October.

View of Dardanelles from Kum Kale.

The Pirate Chiefs Threaten Reprisals.

A despatch from Berlin says: In naval circles it is declared that a searching investigation would be instituted into the report that the British Admiralty intends to withhold the customary honorable imprisonment conditions from German submarine crews made captives, and that if Great Britain places such Germans under special restrictions retaliatory measures may be adopted.

The navy officials say the investigation will not be made through diplomatic channels, but decline to specify how their information will be gleaned. They claim that should Great Britain take the action she contemplates this will not affect the submarine war plans in the slightest particular, nor have any influence on the spirit of the crews.

Copper From Italy Seized by the Swiss.

A despatch from Geneva says: large quantities of copper from Italy destined for Germany were seized by the Swiss authorities at Chiasso on Wednesday. The method employed for some time, according to Swiss officials, has been to send contraband from Genoa in sealed cars labeled Amsterdam. These cars have passed through Switzerland, and on crossing the German frontier have been taken in charge by the Germans, who removed the freight and returned the cars to Italy. The newspapers have published articles exposing this traffic.

Hungarian Deputies In Pessimistic Mood.

A despatch from Geneva says: The Tribune from Budapest, in which it is affirmed that an important faction of Hungarian deputies has presented a signed declaration to the Hungarian Government, asserting that the situation in Hungary, politically and economically, is desperate, and that half of the Hungarian army has been destroyed, a number of the regiments having lost three-quarters of their strength.

Save Germany's Oil By Rising Earlier.

The London Standard says in a despatch from Copenhagen: "From April 1 the hands of every clock in Germany will be advanced one hour. It is estimated that one hour of earlier rising during the six summer months will amount to a saving in the consumption of petroleum equivalent to the value of five million dollars. The real reason for this new regulation, of course, is the fact that petroleum stock is decreasing at a rate calculated to alarm the authorities."

Encountered Rough Weather. A lady and husband were crossing the Atlantic for the first time. Their steamer encountered terribly rough weather, and they were both very unwell. As they lay in their berths watching the luggage rolling about on the floor of the cabin and listening to the bangs and thumps and the shouted orders on deck, they thought their last hour had come. Suddenly, from his wife's corner, came a feeble voice just audible above the noise. "John," said the husband, "do you think the people at home know where our life insurance policies are?"

HOW TO CURE RHEUMATISM

The Disease is Always Rooted in the Blood, Which Must Be Made Rich and Pure

There are still many people who imagine that rheumatism can be cured by liniments and rubbing, overlooking the medical fact that the trouble is rooted in the blood. Rheumatism can only be cured by cleansing and enriching the blood, thus driving out of the system the poisonous acids which cause the rheumatic pains.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure the most obstinate cases of rheumatism because they go straight to the root of the trouble in the blood.

Every dose helps to make rich, red blood, and this new blood expels the poisonous acid, bringing health and comfort to the tortured victim.

Do not waste time and money in liniments and outward applications. Give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial and thus drive the disease out of your system.

Here is proof of what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can do in cases of this kind. Mr. Richard Palmer, Worcester, Ont., says: "For months my life was made miserable through a combined attack of rheumatism and sciatica. The rheumatism seemed to settle in all my joints and the sciatica pains were so great that I could scarcely hobble about."

I am a farmer, and so you can understand that in my condition I was unable to do my ordinary work. Neither doctors nor various remedies I took did me any good. Finally I was induced to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and for this I have much to be thankful for, as after taking a few boxes the pains began to disappear, and by the time I had taken nine boxes every twinge of both the rheumatism and the sciatica had disappeared and I was able to go to work again as usual, and have not lost a day through illness since."

I am thoroughly grateful for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me and hope my experience will benefit some other sufferer."

It is the curing of just such cases as these that has given Dr. Williams' Pink Pills their worldwide popularity. You can get the Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

City of Victoria Healthy. Fortunate indeed is the Canadian city with such a record of good health as that of Victoria, B.C., as is shown by the report of Mr. G. A. B. Hall in the medical officer's report for 1914.

The mortality rate is only 7.23 per thousand, while the infant mortality rate reached the almost incredible figure of 6 per thousand. Of 18 cases of typhoid, only five were local, the remainder coming from logging camps.

One of the reasons for this situation is undoubtedly the care taken to ensure a pure milk supply. The examinations taken during the year showed the butter fat percentage to average 3.9 per cent., the water supply is also above reproach.

The population of Victoria is now 55,000, and of the 367 death recorded last year 90 were over 70 years of age.

Victoria, B.C., is evidently a place where there is some competition for the position of "oldest inhabitant."

TEETHING TIME TROUBLES. Baby's teething time is a period of anxiety for mothers unless baby's stomach is kept sweet and his bowels regular. No other medicine has been found so valuable during teething time as has Baby's Own Tablets. They make teething painless and by their use baby gets his teeth so easily that the mother scarcely knows they are coming.

Concerning the Tablets, Mrs. F. Goldsmith, Nelson, B.C., writes: "Baby's Own Tablets are a mother's greatest help during the teething period." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

LIVE STOCK WEEK.

The Department of Agriculture Bulletin.

Bacon said that reading maketh a full man. If he had added that experience practically and wisely applied maketh a fuller man, he would have magnified the significance of the epigram. The present may be termed "Live Stock Week."

So far as the Patriotism and Production campaign is concerned, seeing that efforts are being mainly applied to the Bulletin issued in connection therewith by the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa, to the encouragement, improvement and development of live stock breeding and rearing. All of these Bulletins can be had free on application, but it is desirable that the applicants should say whether they would like those treating of dairying, of cattle, of sheep, of swine, or of horses.

It seems vain in this connection greater or less degree, or nearly to urge the truth that inferior animals cost as much to keep and raise as superior; indeed, they are apt to cost more as well as to be worth less for, in addition to the housing and feeding they are subject to more ailments.

Over in favor of emphasis upon the fact that in no better way can farmers serve themselves and their country than by industrious attention to their live stock. High class animals mean good prices in the best markets. Further, they mean retention of those markets.

Better illustration of these facts cannot be had than in the example of the mother country last. At the attainment of such results is the reward not only of painstaking, but also of eternal and intelligent vigilance. The trend of prices, consequent on temporarily glutted markets due to a rush to realize, may be downward on the instant compared with what they were a few weeks ago, but that is a state of things that cannot last. At the worst, values are much above the average of many years. In any circumstance, to obtain top prices we must have top animals, and they are only possible by wisdom in selection, by study and by care.

No Cure Guaranteed. Never known to fail; acts without pain in 24 hours. Is soothing, healing, takes the sting right out. No remedy so quick, safe and sure as Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. Sold everywhere—25c. per bottle.

THE KAISER'S GARDEN. How an Estate in Poland Was Converted into a Fortress.

The Russkoye Slovo, just received in London, is responsible for this interesting sidelight of the war, which it publishes under the caption of "The Kaiser's Garden."

It indicates, according to the newspaper, the thoroughness with which the Germans prepared for war.

A Polish magnate living in the Government of Suwalki, Poland, about two and a half miles from the East Prussian frontier, lost his fortune, which compelled him to sell his 16,000-acre estate some four years ago.

It was thought some other local dignitary would purchase the property, which was adorned with an ancient mansion, but at the sale, a stranger, who gave his name as Kleinsberger, surprised all bidders by running the price up $350,000, which he paid in cash.

The new owner soon transformed his estate by a lavish expenditure of money. He appeared particularly addicted to landscape gardening. He constructed new buildings, improvised mounds and little chains of hills, he installed an elaborate system of irrigation ditches, put in many wine cellars and capped it all by erecting a massive tower.

The article continues that when the war began it suddenly developed that his wonderful garden was nothing more or less than a German fortress. The mounds were for heavy guns, the wine cellars for the storing of armament and ammunition, and the irrigation ditches were perfectly arranged trenches for the German soldiers. It took two weeks for the Russian troops to reduce and capture this floral fortification, and it cost many lives.

There was an elaborate system of wireless, and wire communication from the tower, which was admirably constructed for observing everything within a range of many miles.

Finding Relief She Tells Others

MRS. W. J. MALONEY TOOK DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS FOR BACKACHE.

She Had Tried Numerous Other Medicines, But Found No Relief Till She Used the Great Canadian Kidney Remedy, Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Barachois West, Gaspe Co., Que., March 15th (Special).—Mrs. W. J. Maloney, a well-known resident of this place, is recommending Dodd's Kidney Pills to those who suffer from kidney troubles. In an interview Mrs. Maloney says:

"After suffering for many years with backache, and trying many remedies without obtaining relief, I read about Dodd's Kidney Pills and decided to try them."

"After using two boxes I was greatly benefitted, and recommend them to other sufferers. I also used them for my little girl for kidney troubles."

Mrs. Maloney got relief from her backache because Dodd's Kidney Pills cured her kidney trouble, and that was the cause of her backache. Dodd's Kidney Pills cure diseased kidneys. Cured kidneys do their work and strain all the impurities out of the blood. That's why Dodd's Kidney Pills cure so many diseases that are caused by impure blood.

A DESIRABLE QUALITY. A Feeling of Optimism Is Abroad. But Many Lack Employment.

There is clearly a spirit of optimism abroad. Workshops are starting. Factories are getting into operation. Navigation is on the verge of opening. The pall of winter is disappearing. Still, in the cities and towns there will be a lack of employment. It is in the order of things that there should be a good deal less of construction work proceeding than there has been in other years. It is possible that recently this class of work has gone on too rapidly, and that as a consequence an overplus of labor has been attracted to these shores, or that too many of our own people have taken to this order of employment. Whatever the cause, the fact remains that despite all the improving prospects and bright sunshine, there are, and will be many men, aye, and many women, who, willing to toil, can yet get nothing to do. These form a large, deserving class, who must be cared for. How is the problem to be met? Committees in every town, city and district, or commissioners, should be appointed to take active and practical measures. A square peg may not fit nicely into a round hole, but it is astonishing what can be done by organization and by exercising judgment, perseverance and patience. Many a bricklayer, many a carpenter, many a clerk, knows something about gardening. Many a one, also, and many an immigrant, possesses some knowledge of animals. In short, the main quality desired on the side of both employer and employed is largely willingness.

CHILDREN SHOWED IT. Effect of Their Warm Drink in the Morning.

"A year ago I was a wreck from coffee drinking and was the point of giving up my position in the school room because of nervousness."

(Tea is just as injurious as coffee because it, too, contains the health-destroying drug, caffeine.)

"I was telling a friend about it and she said, 'We drink nothing at meal time but Postum, and it is such a comfort to have something to drink when you are nervous.'"

"I was astonished that she would allow the children to drink any kind of coffee, but she said Postum was not coffee, but a most healthful drink for children as well as for older ones, and that the condition of both the children and adults showed that to be a fact."

"I was in despair and determined to give Postum a trial, following the directions carefully. It was a decided success and I was completely won by its rich, delicious flavor."

"In a short time I noticed a decided improvement in my condition and kept growing better month after month, until now I am healthy, and do my work in the school room with ease and pleasure. I would not return to nerve-destroying coffee for any money."

Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont. Read "The Road to Wellville" in pkgs. Postum comes in two forms: Regular Postum—must be well boiled. 15c and 25c packages. Instant Postum—is a soluble powder. A teaspoon dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water and, with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly. 30c and 50c tins.

Both kinds are equally delicious and cost per cup about the same. "There's a Reason" for Postum.—sold by Grocers.

Lame Back Strengthened, Stiffness Taken Right Out

Was Relieved in an Hour, and Cured Over Night.

A lame back? Quite unnecessary. All you have to do is to rub on Nervine. It's simply a wonder for backache—relieves after one rubbing. "No" thing possibly could cure an aching back faster than Nervine," writes Mrs. Arthur Koblar, of Lower Chelsea, N.S. "I caught cold and was so prostrated with pain I could not bend over. We always have Nervine at home, and I had the painful region rubbed thoroughly with this grand liniment. At once the pain departed. The lameness was rapidly reduced and in an hour I was able to be about my housework. I was rubbed again just before retiring, and awoke as usual in the morning without a sign of my back trouble."

There is no sort of muscular pain that Nervine won't cure quickly. Thousands swear by it for rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica and lumbago. It sinks to the core of the pain—right through muscle, tissue and nerve—it penetrates where no oily, greasy liniment can go and invariably cures quickly. If you have an ache or a pain anywhere—use Nervine—it will cure you. Fully size bottle, very large 50c.; trial size 25c. at all dealers.

View From Burgess Pass. Speaking of panoramic views, the Canadian Pacific itself has just produced something out of the ordinary in this respect. The official photographer of the railway, Mr. J. C. S. Bennett, has made a print 22 feet long on one piece of paper, representing a panoramic view from Burgess Pass, in the Canadian Rockies. This photograph, the largest ever made in Canada, which will be hung in the rotunda of the Windsor Hotel, at Montreal, shows Mount Field (8,645 feet), Mount Dennis (8,326 feet), Mount Goodrich, the Van Horne range, Mount Burgess (8,463 feet), Mount Emerald (8,332 feet), Mount Wapta (9,990 feet), and Mount Vice-President (10,049 feet), and embraces a hundred miles of snow-clad peaks and glaciers, with the hotel at Field shown in the valley at the left, and to the right a glimpse of the Yoho Valley.

Family Affair. Papa and the three children were to give mother a birthday gift. The youngest boy was chosen to make the presentation address. He prepared it very carefully and thus delivered it in the season.

"Dear mamma, this gift is presented to you by your three children and your one husband."

INFORMATION FOR INVENTORS. Messrs. Pigeon, Pigeon & Davis, patent solicitors, Montreal, report that 181 Canadian patents were issued for the week ending February 16th, 1915, 137 of which were granted to Americans, 28 to Canadians and 16 to residents of foreign countries.

Of the Canadians who received patents, 12 were residents of Ontario, 5 of Quebec, 4 of British Columbia, 3 of Alberta, 3 of Manitoba, and 1 of New Brunswick.

DOGS THAT BETRAY TROOPS.

Howling Directed German Shells to Positions of Allies.

Dogs as spies to betray the position of French troops to the enemy is the newest German stratagem in Flanders, according to the Paris Liberte, which received the story from a wounded soldier. After hard fighting, the Franco-Belgians recently occupied the village of Renigne, where scrawled in chalk on the walls of a ruined house they saw the words, "Please feed the dogs."

Thinking of the many dogs left by villagers—Flanders uses dogs enormously as beasts of burden—the soldiers obeyed the instructions. About midnight the dogs suddenly began to howl, making a tremendous noise in the night silence. Immediately German shells rained on the village, whose exact indication was thus disclosed, until the allies were forced to retire hastily after heavy losses. The soldier's account concluded: "There has since been great mortality among Flanders canines."

A Nova Scotia Case Of Interest to All Women

Halifax Sends Out a Message of Help to Many People.

Halifax, N.S., Dec. 15.—When interviewed at her home at 194 Argyle St., Mrs. Haverstock was quite willing to talk of her peculiarly unfortunate case. "I was always 'blue' and depressed, felt weak, languid and utterly unfit for any work. My stomach was so disordered that I had no appetite. What I did eat disagreed. I suffered greatly from dizziness and sick headache and feared a nervous breakdown. Upon my druggist's recommendation I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

"I felt better at once. Every day I improved. In six weeks I was a well woman, cured completely after different physicians had failed to help me. It is for this reason that I strongly urge sufferers with stomach or digestive troubles to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

Dr. Hamilton's Pills strengthen the stomach, improve digestion, strengthen the nerves and restore debilitated systems to health. By cleansing the blood of long-standing impurities, by bringing the system to a high point of vigor, they effectually chase away weariness, depression and disease. Good for young or old, for men, for women, for children. All dealers sell Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut.

Advertising to the modern business is not a luxury. It is a necessary expenditure which should be provided for in the same way as rent, fire insurance, wages and taxes.

It should be considered the duty of every farmer having good seed grain for sale this year to bring it to the notice of the public in some way or other. Good seed grain is a scarce article this year, and it one farmer can assist another in securing his seed grain, it is simply an act of co-operative assistance.

For a number of years the Agricultural College has been making drainage surveys for farmers free of charge, except for travelling expenses. This offer is again renewed. Farmers having drainage difficulties may secure assistance by writing the Department of Physics, O. A. C., Guelph, for information and regular application forms.

An American inventor claims to have evolved a "magnetic torpedo" that will search out and destroy any submarine within a radius of ten miles. The mass of steel in a submarine draws the death engine to itself and there is no escape. How the torpedo distinguishes between submarine and battleship, friend and foe, is not divulged.

The thing that goes the farthest toward making life worth while, that costs the least and does the most is just a pleasant smile. A smile that bubbles from a heart that loves its fellowmen will drive away the cloud of gloom and coax the sun again. It's full of worth and goodness, too, with manly kindness blent—it's worth a million dollars and it doesn't cost a cent.

It is easier to raise wheat than the mortgage on the farm.

You can feel sure that the car is exactly as good as it looks if you will remember the wide experience which Dodge Brothers have had in motor car construction

OUT OF THE DIM PAST.

Scene of Canadian Camp at Salisbury Looms Big in History.

The Canadian force have crossed the channel and are now upon the soil of that land where their forefathers in the days of old fought many a bout and won the famous victories at Crecy, Poitiers and Agincourt. Five hundred years have passed since the latter victory was gained, and now the British cross those same dividing waters once again and land their troops upon the coasts of France, this time not to fight their ancient foes, but, allied with them, to force back a common enemy.

Though now amid the historic scene of France the Canadians will not forget the spots in old England which they visited while at Salisbury Plain. There is Old Sarum, which, if it could speak, would tell of Druids, Britons and Normans. They will not forget the old cathedral that looks out across those vast plains where for four long months the Canadians lay encamped. Its grandeur has filled them with awe and they have been strangely impressed by the quiet old places that nestle beneath its lofty spire.

The site of Old Sarum is at present under a thorough excavation, undertaken by the Society of Antiquaries. It contained the dwellings of the principal people, of the bishop and clergy, and also contained the cathedral church, which is now in process of excavation.

There are two gates to the outer bailey, one on the east and a smaller one on the west. The former must have had a very imposing appearance, for above it was built the Church of the Holy Cross. The inner bailey constituted the castle and the principal building of this was the Great Tower, or Donjon. It is known from statistics that it contained royal apartments where the Norman Kings and probably the Plantagenets frequently resided. In the base of the Great Tower was a corridor, probably occupied by the priests who attended the Chapel of St. Nicholas, which was situated in the southwest angle of the tower. At the southeast of the inner bailey are the ruins of a large rough building, in which were found four ovens, thus leading to the supposition that it was a bakery or a store. In this same area was found a partly dug well.

The little information that exists concerning the early history of Old Sarum is chiefly derived from pipe rolls and liberate rolls of the times and from a few other documents. Among them occur orders for repairs to certain buildings, which are mentioned by name, also accounts for the supply of various articles.

From appearances noticed during the excavation, constant alterations and rebuildings must have taken place formerly, but when the castle ceased to exist cannot be very clearly shown. As early as 1276 King Edward I. granted permission for the removal of stone for building a certain part of Salisbury Cathedral. Likewise King Edward III. allowed stone to be taken from the old cathedral to repair the new. In 1338 royal permission was again granted for the removal of stone on a very large scale. From this it may be inferred that from the dates Old Sarum became practically a stone quarry to supply the new city.

The excavations have afforded many interesting objects, such as some fine specimens of glazed jugs, a piece of gold lace, dice, draughtmen, keys, knife blades, tools, and rings. One ring was a fine, nearly pure gold episcopal ring with an emerald setting.

As was stated above, material was brought from the cathedral of Old Sarum to aid in the construction and repair of the present Salisbury Cathedral. The foundations of this noble pile were laid in 1220 by Bishop Richard Poore. The style is that of the First Pointed, or Early English, and the ground plan is that of a double cross. The building was not completed till 1258. The tower and spire were not added till the 14th century. The point of the spire is 400 feet above the ground.

New Lieutenant-Governor.

Hon. Pierre Evariste Leblanc, K.C., of Montreal, former leader of the Conservative party in Quebec and an ex-Speaker of the Legislative Assembly, who has been appointed Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec, in succession to the late Sir Francis Langelet, is a descendant of an Acadian family that settled at Isle Jesus, Quebec, after the dispersion in 1757. He was born at St. Martin, Que., in 1853 and was educated at Jacques Cartier Normal School and McGill University. He was called to the Bar of Quebec in 1879 and has since practiced law in Montreal, having been created a Q.C. in 1893.

Conservative in politics, he was candidate of that party for the Legislative Assembly in 1882 and sat until 1897. He was elected Speaker in 1892 and held that position for five years. In religion he is a Roman Catholic. He was married in 1886 to Hermine, daughter of the late Theodore Beaudry, of Montreal.

Fifth Generation of Soldiers.

Sergt. Hamilton, who was probably the first member of the Canadian contingent wounded in the trenches in France, is twenty-eight years old and unmarried. He is with the Second Battalion of the First Brigade. He was educated at Upper Canada College, and graduated in law in Toronto last April. He had just entered upon law practice when the war came. He has been on service practically ever since Aug. 4 last, for on that day, on the declaration of war, he was one of the members of the 51st put on guard duty on the Sault Canal. Sergt. Hamilton is the fifth generation of the Hamilton family to serve the British colors, his great-great-grandfather having fought with the British in the American Revolution.

A DINOSAUR'S HUNT.

Palaeontologist Brought Home One of the Queerest Bags Yet.

A man returned East not long since from a hunting trip in Alberta with a most remarkable bag of game. It weighed many tons. The man was Barnum Brown, associate curator of fossil reptiles in the American Museum of Natural History. He had been out in Alberta engaged in the greatest of modern sports—hunting dinosaurs. He got five.

How Prof. Brown came to find them is an interesting story. Some years ago a man named Wagner stood in the Hall of Reptiles in the Museum of Natural History examining with great curiosity the skeleton of the Jurassic brontosaurus. Then he went up to the office of Professor Brown. He introduced himself as J. L. Wagner of Alberta, Canada. He remarked on the gigantic size of the brontosaurus, and its peculiar formation. Would Mr. Brown be interested in collecting such bones as these? he inquired. Professor Brown would. Mr. Wagner said that he came from the region of the Red Deer River Canyon, in Alberta. In the vicinity of his ranch he had seen many such bones.

Acting on the directions of Wagner, Prof. Brown made a preliminary trip in 1910. He found the Red Deer River region rich in fossil bones. He went again a year later, and in June of 1914 made his most recent and thorough exploration, which lasted all summer and into the fall. The skeletons he brought back were those of the ankylosaurus, the monoclonylus, the triceratops, the ornithomimus, and the tyrannosaurus.

It was in the region of Red Deer River Canyon that Prof. Barnum Brown and his fossil-hunting expedition camped. They requisitioned a large flat-boat on which they floated slowly down the stream between the frowning walls. No artist or scenic voluptuary, drunk with beauty, ever scanned his surroundings with such avid eyes as did these fossil hunters. They searched the region with candles, as the saying is.

On occasions their eyes would detect something on a lofty ledge; perhaps a bone weathered out and lying exposed to view. Then the party would leave the boat and climb to examine the "find." One look at a bone tells the scientist what part of the reptile it is.

Now for the quarrying. Having satisfied themselves as to how the bones of a skeleton lie—that is to say, in what direction is the head and what the tail—the fossil collectors set themselves to find out how far in both directions the remains run. This is done by chiselling away the rock, partially exposing the bones, until they terminate.

A trench is dug completely around the rock incasing the skeleton, gradually undermining it. When this is done, a mixture of plaster of paris and water is poured over the stone to hold it together and prevent its cracking or breaking with the bones incased within. The detached stone is then rolled over and made ready for transport and water poured upon it. The whole mass is done up in gunny sacks, hauled down to the boat and brought back to camp to be shipped in that condition to the museum.

In the laboratory of the museum the skeleton is stripped off and experienced men set to work with hammer and chisel chipping away the stone incasing the bones. When all the bones are freed they are assembled and made ready for mounting. Bones that have been weathered out are very often cracked and crumbling, and over these is poured white shellac. The shellac seeps into the broken and porous parts of the bones and holds them solidly together. Without any other treatment, the petrified skeletons are ready for mounting. With the aid of strong wires, channel irons and steel supports, the huge fossil frames are set up and placed on exhibition.

Still More Service.

Capt. J. C. Fletcher, of the Twenty-Sixth Middlesex Regiment, has just received from Ottawa a colonial auxiliary forces long service medal.

Capt. Fletcher, whose home is on Madison avenue, London, has completed twenty-four years of service in the army. He entered military life in 1891, enlisting with the Oxford Rifles; but in 1896 he transferred to the Twenty-Sixth Middlesex Regiment with which he has since been connected, steadily rising till he obtained his captaincy. His courses of instruction for the various ranks which he has held have been taken at the Royal Military College, from which he has received seven certificates, among them being a military drill instructor's certificate.

In 1912, the year following that in which Capt. Fletcher received his captaincy, he was successful in passing the examinations to qualify for a field officer.

Capt. Fletcher has volunteered for service at the front with the overseas forces.

Badly Frost-bitten Feet.

Private C. H. Craig, of Calgary, to whom belongs the distinction of being the first and only Canadian to be received into the newly-equipped Canadian military hospital at Olive-den, was invalided back in consequence of badly frost-bitten feet.

In common with about half his company, he said that he occupied a trench waist deep in water and slush almost continually from the first week in January, with the result that when severe frost set in, about the middle of January, more than a dozen of them succumbed to the frost. Craig has since been at the hospital base in France, where, he says, several of the Princess Pats are still being treated.

Some of the men are rather seriously wounded, but on the other hand, he had learned that in the majority of cases the Princess's wounded will soon be able to take their place at the front.

INTERNMENT POPULAR.

Alien Enemies Have Lost Their Fear of Being Put in Detention Camps.

There are many husky Germans and Austrians in Canada to-day who are mighty glad that war came. Work is none too plentiful in Canada this winter and what there is is hard work—railway construction, snow shovelling and all that. In the big Canadian cities there are long bread lines, and the charities organizations are overtaxed.

Through all this the alien enemy is getting three square meals a day, warm clothes and living quarters and it doesn't cost him a cent.

American Consul Bradley of Montreal, who, as the neutral representative there, handles the mail from the prisoners at the internment camps, says that he has not only seen no complaints, but that many of the letters are written to friends in Montreal urging them to enlist in the army of prisoners and join them in one of the several camps.

This applies particularly to Austrians. The comparatively few Germans who are included are inclined to be more sullen of disposition and at times resentful of the confinement, though even from these there has been no word of complaint about the treatment.

The Germans and Austrians, soon after the alien enemies' regulations were put in force, were all kept at Kingston, but after a while a developed which culminated in a fight. Then the internment department decided to separate the prisoners, sending the Austrians to Petawawa, where they were engaged in brush cutting and road making until the snow came.

Later the Government established a camp in the Abitibi district known as Spirit Lake camp, exclusively for Austrians, and at the present time there are about 300 Austrians at work there clearing the ground, erecting huts and stores and laying out what will be a miniature town.

At the outset of hostilities the alien enemies feared that internment meant real imprisonment, and to avoid this they declared to the registrar that they had work and were able to support themselves and their families during the winter, and they were accordingly placed on parole. But after a few weeks their resources came to an end, they lost their work and could not get employment. A petition was drawn up by the leaders among the Austrians in Montreal in which expression was given to the desire of the Austrians to go to the Spirit Lake internment camp and work under the supervision of the guards. This petition was circulated among the Austrians and within a week, 300 Austrian workmen voluntarily signed the petition.

Two things have contributed to this desire among the Austrians to get away—the fact that the Government supplies them with sheepskin coats, thick winter underwear, lumbermen's socks, overshoes and haversacks for their belongings, feeds them regularly and pays them 25 cents a day for their labor in addition to housing them.

The guards have no trouble with them and the registrar of alien enemies for Montreal is receiving requests every day from batches of Austrians to be sent away, and they are being complied with as quickly as possible.

German Spy as Priest.

Some interesting and authentic sidelights on the war in France are given in a letter from Mr. Paul Rochat of Toronto, at present in the 13th Regiment of French Infantry. Mr. Rochat writes from a hospital in Dijon, where he has been lying wounded for the last three months.

"In a village," he writes, "to which the regiment had retired for a few days' rest, the doctors and several officers, about twenty in number, looking for a house to rest in, met a kindly priest. He said to them: 'I have a fine house for you to rest in. Come with me. I shall give you a good dinner, my children, and to-morrow morning I shall say Mass for you and bless you.'

"They accepted his invitation with delight, and soon were ready to sit down in front of a good dinner. The priest disappeared, and ten minutes later a shell burst over the house, met a kindly priest. He said to them: 'I have a fine house for you to rest in. Come with me. I shall give you a good dinner, my children, and to-morrow morning I shall say Mass for you and bless you.'

Weeds.

During the past five years agricultural investigation work has been conducted along various lines by the Lands Committee of the Commission of Conservation. The weed question has received considerable attention and some facts have been revealed which show the real seriousness of this problem. Many of the worst weeds are getting ahead of the farmers and unless methods of control are put into practice at once, the weeds will gain the upper hand.

In 1910, 100 farmers were visited in each of the Prairie Provinces and on 100 per cent. of the Manitoba farms, wild oats were found. In Saskatchewan, 71 per cent. and in Alberta, 3 per cent. reported wild oats. In 1911 on the same farms in Alberta, 31 per cent. reported wild oats while, in 1912, a still larger number reported this weed, showing that it was traveling westward rapidly.

Countess Zeppelin a Canadian.

A fact not generally known is that Countess Zeppelin, wife of the inventor of the German aircraft, is a Canadian girl. Countess Zeppelin is the daughter of the late W. H. Mesgarvey, formerly of Petrolia, who died recently in Austria, where he had become one of the leading oil magnates of the country. She was born in the village of Wyoming, Lambton County, in 1875, going to Europe with her father at an early age.

Section 10 of the Ontario Statutes for 1914 reads:—"Unless accompanied by its parent or guardian or by an adult member of the household to which it belongs no child under the age of fifteen years shall be permitted to attend any theatre or any exhibition by cinematograph, moving picture machine or other similar apparatus at which theatre or exhibition an admission fee is charged." The penalty is a fine of not less than $20.

Tom Bentley, formerly of Glencoe, has also enlisted at Edmonton. There are three divisions of troops of a thousand men each ready to leave Edmonton.

The writer of the words, Mr. Pitts, is a member of the 48th Highlanders, Toronto.

It is understood that the Provincial Government in making certain changes in the marriage license fee regulations will not increase the amount of the fee which will hereafter be divided equally between the government and issuer. The amount of the fee, $2, has heretofore been divided unequally, the issuer retaining $1.50 and the government getting only 25 cents. It is understood that under the new regulations the fee will be $2, and the dealer and one dollar to the government.

At a recent meeting of the "Safety First" committee, a locomotive engineer referred to the carelessness of the public in crossing streets in front of approaching trains at public crossings. In many cases after they have passed over the crossing, they will stand and watch the train pass, indicating that they are in no hurry, but that their one object is to cross over ahead of the train. While they may do this safely nine times out of ten, still it is the tenth time with its loss of life or serious injury. Railways wish to guard against this dangerous habit, and urge the public to consider the fact that the wait of a few minutes for the train to pass, is time well spent.

An exchange says:—"Blind to the plainly obvious fact in our economic life, man has been stumbling along trying to solve the heavy problems of the country's prosperity without taking stock of the amount of material used in a woman's skirt. There have been inklings of this trouble all along but the tight skirt has not heretofore been brought home to us, as it were. In France the government pleaded with the makers of women's fashions to widen women's skirts so that the mills could run full time and give employment to thousands of unemployed. Not until fashion was ready, however, did the ameliorating decree come forth. The tight skirt is doomed and the era of the full skirt is upon us. Prosperity will smile upon our broad land and terrible trade conditions caused by the tight skirt will no longer prevail." Thus, in the everlasting circle of things, is industrial salvation at hand.

Again the wall of complaint is heard about chickens running at large. It is all right to keep chickens, especially this year when "patriotism and production" is the watchword. But it is one thing to keep chickens and another thing not to keep them confined within reasonable limits. The man who is loyal to his country will be just to the community in which he dwells.

London, March 17.—Members of the London and Middlesex Historical Society listened last evening to a most enjoyable talk on "Pioneers of Middlesex" by Peter McArthur, the well-known author and journalist of Appin.

Mr. McArthur did not attempt to enter into an historical resume, but instead, in his own inimitable manner, presented a word picture of pioneer life as he had known it. Speaking from conversation with many of the older settlers. The result was a story replete with the "human" touch, which drew many congratulatory comments from the members at its conclusion.

In his introductory remarks Mr. McArthur asserted that Canadians of today owed a freedom unknown in other countries to the sacrifices of the pioneers, and declared that when Canada had achieved national greatness the deeds of these men and women, which formed their history, would be a monument to the greatest of the nation.

Speaking from his own experience Mr. McArthur said that his own respect for the pioneer had grown up with a hundred-fold when he attacked with an axe a short time ago a two and a half foot maple tree on his farm.

At the conclusion of his address Capt. T. J. Murphy moved and Mr. M. D. Fraser, K.C., seconded a vote of thanks to the speaker of the evening. Many others also spoke in eulogistic terms of Mr. McArthur.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

We are apt to indulge too easily and freely in the assumption that this is the most wasteful war, the world ever knew and that the cost of it will be enough to keep nations at peace forever more. This is to be the last war because it is the most destructive war. Considering the destruction of capital and the loss of life without relation to any other facts it is the most wasteful war, but the world is better able to stand it, better organized for and against it, and, consequently, is likely to emerge from it less disturbed than would seem possible.

With comparisons and proportions kept in mind, the hope that this war will be preventive becomes illusory. The Thirty Years war was more wasteful. It was almost one of extermination. It went over Germany like fire. It devastated like a pestilence. Armies of Swedes and Saxons, Spanish and Dutch and Bohemians, of many nationalities and great brutality, had traversed the country, subsisting off it, getting their pay by torturing folk to reveal hidden gold, by sacking cities and levying indemnities, by looting, highway robbery, and extortion. They pillaged until there was hardly an article of value remaining in the land. The suffering peasantry had no safety except in flight, and yet returned as the pressure was lifted to ruined farms and tried to find a living in the ruins only to be swept over by a fresh horde of savages.

Soldiers lost all restraints which govern humanity. With their women, children, and with camp followers and brigands, they went across the land like a scourge and nothing living or growing remained. Armies were tattered rabble suffering only a little less than the victims of their brutality. So impoverished did the country become that even the military was barred from entering certain regions because human life could not be supported. Humanity was sunk in a pit of barbarism.

Bohemia had a population of 2,000,000. It was reduced to 700,000 and half the houses were vacant and falling in decay. Half the soil was untilled. In central Germany conditions were no better. The county of Henneburg had lost 75 per cent. of its population, 65 per cent. of its dwellings, and 80 per cent. of its live stock. Germany as a whole lost half of its population and two-thirds of its movable property. The waste and destruction were such that a day's ride might not find a human being or means of subsistence for one. For half a century after 1648 Germany struggled towards strength and repose.

Compared with the destruction done by that war, the waste of this war is nothing. We are not justified in thinking that this war will be the end of wars. More wisely, we shall read what Admiral Mahan, just before his death, wrote to a friend: "I have no quarrel with any method that will minimize the occurrence of war, but I have much quarrel with the charlatanism that ignores facts and bases statements as confident as they are absurd upon misrepresentation. At present and probably for several years—perhaps a generation—the suffering and social disturbance attending this war will discipline people to a renewal. But the grass will grow over the graves, the troubles be partly forgotten, and new causes of offense will cause new wars until the spirits of men undergo a change. The human heart, acting upon sentiments and interests, is the cause of war; no methods can avoid it except as they deal with the inner man. I agree with you that a council of defense is an imminent necessity, corrective of the extremists on either side."

Sudden Action.
"What is your most valued possession, Miss Sharpe?"
"My self-possession, of course!"
"Then I suppose there's no chance of giving yourself away?"
"Oh, George!—I am so sudden!"

With reference to the use of abundant negatives, a correspondent of the London Chronicle quotes the inquiry of the navy looking for work: "I say, mate, I s'pose you don't know nobody what don't want nobody to do nothin', do yer?"

HOME

Tested Recipes.

Cocoonut Puffs.—Mix two cups of grated cocoonut with one cup of powdered sugar and the beaten whites of two eggs, add two tablespoons of flour, shape into little pyramids, put on buttered tins, and bake in a quick oven.

Beef Loaf.—To two cups of chopped meat add one medium-sized onion and one tart apple. Chop both fine. Add a little nutmeg if this is liked and salt to taste. Put into a greased pan and spread a little sweet drippings over the top. Bake in a hot oven for forty minutes.

Banana Splits.—Prepare one banana each for a person. Peel, scrape and cut lengthwise. Lay on a plate, cut side uppermost. Heap a spoonful of ice cream in the center, cover it with a generous amount of whipped cream and decorate with a maraschino cherry.

Dutch Date Cakes.—Use one cup of chopped walnuts, one cup of cut-up dates, two eggs, one cup of sugar, one tablespoonful of flour, one-half teaspoonful of salt, and one teaspoonful of baking powder. Drop the batter on a tin baking sheet, and bake it in a moderate oven.

Honeycomb Pudding.—Use one-half of a cupful of flour, one-quarter of a cupful of sugar, one-half of a cupful of Porto Rico molasses, one-half of a teaspoonful of soda. Mix one-half of a cupful of milk and one-quarter of a cupful of butter and heat them together; beat two eggs and stir them in. Mix the ingredients in the order given, bake the pudding twenty minutes in a moderate oven and serve it with foamy sauce.

A Use for Stale Bread.—Break pieces of stale crust into pieces the size of a large walnut, dip for a moment in milk to which has been added a pinch of salt and a dusting of cayenne pepper. Place the break on a baking sheet, and bake in a moderate oven till they are golden brown. When cold store in a tin. These are excellent for tea rusks.

Creamed Chicken and Sauce.—Beat two cups cold, cooked chicken, cut in dice, in sauce to which celery salt has been added. Make white sauce by putting butter in saucpan, stir until melted and bubbling. Add three tablespoonfuls of flour with one-fourth tablespoonful salt and a few grains of pepper and stir thoroughly. Boil a cup of milk two minutes. If a wire whisk is used all the milk can be poured in at once.

Cheese Fondue.—Cover one cupful of stale bread crumbs with one pint of milk and let it stand 15 minutes. Beat two eggs without separating, add them to the milk and bread, add a half-pound of chopped cheese, a half-teaspoonful of salt, a dish of cayenne, a salt-spoonful of baking soda dissolved in a tablespoonful of water, and a tablespoonful of melted butter. Beat thoroughly, turn into a baking dish and bake in a quick oven until a delicate brown.

A Wholesome Baked-Apple Dessert.—Wash and core enough sound tart apples to fill a baking pan when each apple stands upright. Place a small bit of butter at the bottom of the hollowed space in each apple, fill the rest of the space with sugar, lay a raisin and some walnut meat on top of each, and sprinkle them all with cinnamon or nutmeg. Put in the pan round the apples the usable bits of pulp cut from the cores, a handful of raisins, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, one tablespoonful of butter, and half a cupful of water. Bake the apples in a moderate oven, and add water from time to time, so that there shall be sufficient liquid in the pan to serve as a sauce.

Chocolate "Hurricane Cake."—Sift together one cupful of pastry flour, one cupful of sugar, two and one-half teaspoonfuls of baking powder, and one-half of a teaspoonful of salt. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter and two-thirds of a square of chocolate in a measuring cup, add two teaspoonfuls of milk, and stir the mixture until the ingredients are blended. Add two unbeaten eggs, and fill the cup with milk. Pour the contents of the cup into the prepared dry mixture, and beat it briskly. Pour the latter into a medium-sized pan, and bake it in a moderate oven for thirty minutes. Frosting—Add one and two-thirds cupfuls of confectioner's sugar to three teaspoonfuls of cocoa and two tablespoonfuls of melted butter. Mix the sugar, cocoa and butter with hot coffee to the proper consistency to spread easily upon the cake. Work rapidly, for the frosting sets very quickly.

Uses For Old Newspapers.
Those who are obliged to face the elements in bad weather will find a newspaper folded and placed between the shoulders and over the chest a great protection.

Worn in shoes newspaper protects against cold and dampness. By pinning newspapers together one can improvise bed covering that will in an emergency take the place of blanket or quilt. This is Lieutenant Herbert Asquith and His Wife.

The second son of the Prime Minister is like his father and elder brother, Raymond, a barrister. He is thirty-four years of age, and since the outbreak of hostilities has joined the army. He married Lady Cynthia Charteris, the eldest daughter of the present Lord Wemyss, and has two children. Mr. and Lady Cynthia Asquith have a charming house in Sussex Place, Regent's Park. Inset is a new portrait of his wife, Lady Cynthia Asquith.

worth remembering, as it often happens when people are away from home that extra bed clothes are not obtainable. It is easy to have a few newspapers as a lining at the top and bottom of your trunk.

Ice will keep much longer if wrapped in several thicknesses of newspaper. The paper excludes heat as well as retaining it, so that summer and winter an old newspaper is a dependable friend.

Useful Hints.

Don't pick up broken glass but lay a wet cloth over it and "pat" it up.

Paste for pies should be rolled very thin. Always brush the undercrust with water and be sure to perforate the upper crust.

In serving fish for dinner, the light-meated kinds are preferred because they are more easily digested than those with dark meat.

To take out machine oil spots tack a piece of cotton wool over the spot. Leave it on for some time. You will find the cotton wool absorbs the oil and the mark will be entirely removed from the material.

To handle dates with ease and comfort pour a little warm water over them before stoning and cutting them, and the dates will separate without stickiness.

Do not have the oven too hot when cooking custard, or the custard will become watery. Set the custard in a pan of hot water, and see that it does not boil during the baking.

All linen should be hung straight to dry, and all pieces will wear better if a third or half of the napkin or table cloth is hung over the line.

It makes sponge cake very light and spongy if a tablespoonful of water, with the chill off, is put into the cake mixture directly after putting in the eggs.

When silk is spotted with grease, cover it well with magnesia and press with a warm iron, having a white blotter beneath the goods. Afterwards, sponge with chloroform.

To put the tops of old stockings to good use, draw them over sealed fruit jars to keep the fruit from light. Light darkens the color of the preserved fruit. A label could be pinned to each stocking cover.

A nice way to cook white turnips is to dice them before cooking, then boil in salt water, and serve with a cream sauce.

Old broomhandles, sawn into six inch lengths, then padded and covered with odd bits of silk, etc., are excellent to wind ribbons on.

Never set rice to cook in cold water, or you will have a thick, mushy dish that is unpleasant to the sight and taste. Always use boiling water. Do not stir from the moment it begins to boil, for it will be noticed that when first the rice is put into the water it will cease boiling till the water is heated.

No Sympathy.

"Sir, your daughter has promised to become my wife."
"Well, don't come to me for sympathy; you might know something would happen to you, hanging around here five nights a week."

The Essential Thing.

"What must I do, doctor, to attain a ripe old age?"
"Live."

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

INTERNATIONAL LESSON, MARCH 21.

Lesson XIII. Jonathan and His Armorer. 1 Sam. 14, 1-46. Golden Text, Rom. 13, 12.

Verse 1. The young man that bare his armor. The armor of the Israelite warriors was patterned on that of their enemies. It was heavy and cumbersome. The warrior needed a servant to carry his arms.

He told not his father—The relationship between father and son is such among the Oriental people that it was a very unusual thing for Jonathan to have done what he did without telling his father.

2. Saul abode in the uttermost part of Gibeon under the pomegranate-tree—Saul was a full hour's march from the place where Jonathan was. For other instances of places made prominent by trees, see Judg. 4, 5; 1 Sam. 22, 6.

3. Ahijah, the son of Abitub—Ahijah is the same Ahimelech. See 1 Sam. 21, 1; 22, 9-11. The ending of Ahijah, "jah," means "God"; and the ending of Ahimelech, "melech," means "king." The Hebrew names frequently had a different beginning, but the name itself was the same.

Jonathan's brother, the son of Phinehas, the son of Eli—Jonathan is referred to in 1 Sam. 4, 21. When the wife of Phinehas, the son of Eli, gave birth to a son, it was just at the time when the ark of the Lord had been taken by the Philistines. She called the name of her boy, therefore, Jonathan, which means "no glory," or, as it is explained, "the glory is departed from Israel" (1 Sam. 4, 19-22). Ahimelech was the son of Phinehas, who was one of the sons of Eli, he was, therefore, the grandson of Eli, and was not so much younger than Samuel. This means that about fifty years had passed from the time when the ark of the Lord was taken by the Philistines to the time when Jonathan scaled the heights of Michmash. The fact that a grandson of Eli should now be a priest, even although his father, Phinehas, was a wicked man, and really brought about the death of his father, Eli, shows the hereditary character of the priesthood among the Israelites. Even one who was untrue to the tradition and office of the priesthood could not break the line of priestly descent.

Wearing an ephod—Verse 3 is seemingly thrown into the narrative here. It is important for two reasons: first, because it gives us these facts about the grandson of Eli, who was a priest, and, therefore, helps us to fix the time of the occurrence; and, second, because it paves the way for the events that are to follow. Because of Jonathan's violation of an oath which his father took (1 Sam. 14, 23-30), even although Jonathan was an innocent offender, it was necessary to cast lots. This was always done only in the presence of a priest who wore an ephod. (See verses 18-25ff.) Also compare 1 Sam. 2, 28; 23, 6, 9. As to the nature of the ephod, see Exod. 28, 6, 7.

The people knew not that Jonathan was gone—It seemed important for the narrator to state this fact so that the people themselves would not be held responsible for anything that Jonathan had done. 4. The name of the one was Bozez, and the name of the other Seneh—Bozez means "the shining." It was a crag toward the south which caught the full rays of the sun, and hence, whenever the sun shone, it was shining. Seneh means "thorns."

6. The garrison of these uncircumcised—This is a term of reproach used by the Israelites only of the Philistines. See Judg. 14, 3; 15, 18; 1 Sam. 17, 26, 36; 31, 4; 2 Sam. 1, 20, etc.

There is no restraint to Jehovah to save by many or by few—It was a well-established belief of the children of Israel that wherever the proper faith was shown the desired result would follow. Jonathan believed that the Philistines ought to be smitten, and that God would help him to smite them. That he and his armor-bearer were two against a multitude did not spell defeat to him.

8-10. The Israelites believed in signs and wonders. They would consider certain things as desirable or possible, and then look for such things to come to pass. A splendid example is found in the twenty-fourth chapter of Genesis in the instructions of Abraham to his servant and in the meditation of the servant himself.

This shall be the sign unto us—See Gen. 24, 12-26; Judg. 6, 36-40; Isa. 37, 30, etc. It will be remembered that Jesus once reproved the Jews because they were always looking for a sign, when, as a matter of fact, their eyes were not open to the things that were happening all about them.

11. The Hebrews came forth out of the holes where they had hid themselves—The Israelites had been so pressed by the Philistines that they had hidden themselves in caves, and in thickets, and in rocks, and in coverts, and in pits, or cisterns (1 Sam. 13, 6). The Philistines knew this, and when they saw Jonathan and his armor-bearer coming up the hill, it doubtless looked to them as though they had come out of a hole in a rock.

The boldness with which they came led them to think that other Israelites also were near, and so they jumped to the conclusion that the whole Israelite army was coming out of the places in which they had hidden themselves.

Come up to us, and we will show you a thing—This, of course, was said mockingly. The Philistines thought they could easily overcome not only Jonathan and his armor-bearer, but the whole Israelite army.

LACKS VITAL ELEMENT.

Germans Without Moral Strength Based on Liberty.

Harold Cox, a London editor, writing on "Militarism Abroad and at Home," says:

"The present war has furnished a magnificent demonstration of the value of our voluntary system, even from a purely military point of view. Still more has this war demonstrated that the military point of view is not the only factor that has to be considered in the supreme problem of national defence. This is the great blunder that Germany has made. Her statesmen assumed that it was only necessary to have the army strong and ready, and they could sweep all before them. But scarcely had they begun to do this, critically, wantonly, and without provocation, before they woke up to the fact that moral as well as military forces still count in the world. They then set to work with frenzied haste to persuade neutral countries, and their own people, that Germany was fighting in a righteous cause and defending herself against the unprovoked aggression of her neighbors. This implicit confession by the German apostles of militarism that their creed breaks down in practice is perhaps the most important lesson of the war.

"In Germany there has never been a general and successful revolution of the people against their oppressors, like the revolution in England against the Stuarts and the French revolution against the Bourbons. The conception of individual liberty never seems to have taken hold of the German people as it has of the other peoples of Western Europe. It is not surprising that the German nation should be infected with the worst form of militarism, the mere desire to 'dominate.'"

The Reason.

Mr. Harold Begbie quotes in "The Happy Irish," an amusing story that he got from the doctor of a little town that he visited in the course of his tour of Ireland:

"I was rung up pretty late one night by a peasant from an outlying village, fifteen miles away. It was in the days before I had a car. The wind was blowing horribly, the rain was sweeping against the house, and it was deadly cold. The peasant asked me rather shamefacedly if I would come and see his mother. I invited him to come in. 'Patrick,' I said to him, 'your mother is a very old woman.'"

"I know that, doctor," he admitted. "She's over eighty, Patrick."

"She's all that, doctor."

"And nothing that I could do tonight would be of the smallest use to her."

"Sure, doctor," said he, "I know very well it's the truth you are telling me; but me poor mother, do you see, would have me come and fetch you because she does not want to die a natural death."

Women learn to run an automobile more quickly than men.

GOD IS THE COMMON FATHER

Instead of Nations, Races or Religions, He Beholds Only Humanity

"Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God."—Matthew-v., 9.

When Jesus declared that "the peacemakers," an distinction from others, should be entitled to bear the high title of "the children of God," did He have some particular idea in mind or was He simply making a graceful but more or less empty generalization. In most of the Beatitudes the apostles' use of the word "shall" is very obvious. How appropriate, for example, the promise that those that mourn "shall be comforted," that the merciful "shall obtain mercy," and that the pure in heart "shall see God." In certain others, however, the connection seems more remote as where we are told that the poor in spirit shall receive the kingdom of heaven as their possession and that the meek shall inherit the earth; and it is to this latter class, rather than to the former, that the great Beatitude which we have taken for our text would seem at first sight to belong.

The Children of God.

A more careful examination of this statement, however, will indicate with clearness, I believe, that Jesus had in mind a perfectly distinct and inevitable relation between the virtue blessed and the reward assigned. He was guilty of no looseness of phrase when He conferred this title. Not "the poor in spirit," or "the meek," or "the merciful," or even "the persecuted for righteousness' sake," but "the peacemakers"—these alone could be rightly called "the children of God."

The reason for this will become apparent when we remember that, fundamentally speaking, all the hatred, discord, warfare of the world, have had their origin in sectional emotion and parochial viewpoint. The man who takes up arms and thus makes war against his fellows is the man who can see little good outside the borders of his own tribe or nation and feels nothing but hostility toward people who speak a different language, salute a different flag or worship a different god from his own. His sympathies are limited to the members of his own family, clan, country, race or religion; his loyalty to what is native is confused with antagonism to what is alien. He misses altogether that instinct of all-embracing human relationship which can lift him out of and above the narrow citizenship of a local group and give him the universal viewpoint so wonderfully expressed by Terence, "Humanum nihil a me alienum puto." Hence he hates and fears, and sooner or later bends the bow and draws the sword of conflict! He is a war-maker!

He Is a Peacemaker.

The peacemaker, on the other hand, is the man to whom has come the wider vision. The scales of provincialism have fallen from his eyes. He sees the world as the single abode of a single family, of which all men are members and God is the common father. Instead of English, German, Japanese or Kaffirs, he recognizes only men. Instead of countrymen or foreigners, Occidentals or Orientals, blacks or whites, he knows only the "one blood" of which God hath made mankind. To feel hatred toward any being in human form is as impossible to him as to feel hatred toward one of his own kind and to wage war against any portion of humanity as impossible to fight against his "brother and sister and mother." He prays, with Bahá'í, "Let not a man glory in this that he loves his country; let him rather glory in this, that he loves his kind." Hence he seeks to abolish strife and bloodshed and make all men to be one. He is a peacemaker!

Just here, now, is the explanation of the blessing pronounced by the Master in our text, "Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called"—not the children of Rome, Egypt, Israel—not the children of Germany, England, America—but "the children of God!"—Rev. John Haynes Holmes.

Fashion Hints

Fads and Fancies.

Worth is not the only great currency who has started making many fancies. It has become the fashion and the spring will give us our fill of it. Callot made frocks that he ruffled from hem to waist as far back as last February, but the dressmakers here, and the women, would have nothing to do with them. They liked tunics which were a greater novelty and insisted upon the straight line, an insistence which they keep up and which may continue. There is a great gulf fixed between the first fashions shown for a season and the gowns the women wear a month or two later.

However, at the present moment we must consider the outlook for new fashions, not the acceptance or rejection of them by women. The designers have set their feet upon the patch of fancies and fowers, of round décolletage and puffed sleeves, of evening frocks made of silvered fabrics that are not assisted into softness by tulle and chiffon from the waist up.

Large hats with wide brims touched up with groups of pink roses are also shown to go with the gowns that should smell of lavender. Slim, yellow gloves are brought out by the smart glove makers of Paris.

Accessories like black velvet belts caught with smoked pearl buckles, and prim velvet bows with ends, fastening below turnover white collars of stiff organdie, and lace berthas around the décolletage caught with full blown roses or camellias, are Victorian trifles that are being glimpsed.

Several skirts for dancing have old-fashioned lace flounces, two or three of them, festooned under roses, and individuals are elongating their lace sleeves until they form mitts with thumbs to cover the top of the hands.

So far there is no glimmer of the leg-o-mutton sleeve; the long, tight one prevails, although there is little doubt that the small elbow sleeve is coming back for evening wear.

Nothing is more graceful, especially for the dance, than the long, swinging, veil effect that is attached to the back of each jewelled shoulder strap. And another graceful invention is the square, high back formed of colored chiffon finished with a picot edge extending to the tips of the fingers when the arms are extended. This is sometimes caught to the wrists with bracelets of crystals or left to swing back to the figure when the arms are in repose. It is the first aid to the woman who has not a well-filled or a well-formed back.

There is no explanation for the apparent truth that the fashions of the First Empire are to be generously sprinkled in with those of the mid-Victorian era. Queer mixture, isn't it? Josephine and Victoria! But, as designers leap from epoch to epoch without fear, they are, also, no respecters of persons, and they have neither shame nor resistance in coupling pagan with Puritan. Thais with a Jane Austen heroine, monk and Cossack, Crusader and The Hun.

What is history to them but a chance to glean dress inspiration? They are bees in that they care not for the name or pedigree of the flower so long as it gives honey. The tunic topping a moderately narrow skirt has nothing to do with any of revived fashions. It is a modern creation in which women are far more interested than in an Alexandrian sleeve or a Victorian basque, for they have tunics, they like tunics and they are ardently desirous of knowing whether or not there are still to be tunics.

The answer to that all-important question is, whether fashion changes abruptly after all the first Paris models are shown is not easy to tell. But the first spring showings have tunics in various forms. They serve to give fulness to the skirt. Some are pleated at the sides and back, others are gathered and just escape the hem of the underskirt, a trick that Jenny employed very smartly last October.

There are also pleated skirts with the pleats stitched down to the knees. There are evening skirts that not only have ruffles like Cheruit made fashionable two springs ago. There is not always a disposition shown to keep the fulness flat at the rather high waist line, but there is danger when one does not observe this law of grace.

Not Quite Right.

Boy (in book store)—"Sister asked me to get her Mr. Darn's novel, 'Great Expectations.'"

Clerk—"Mr. Darn! You mean Dickens!"

Boy—"That's it. I knew it was some kind of a swear word."

There are over 300 woman architects in the United States.

The lazier a man is, the harder he tries to work for other people. Male servants in Berlin earn on an average of $5 per month.

Wife—Please hurry up. Haven't you ever buttoned a dress before? Hubby—No; you never had a dress that buttoned before being blind.

Worms in children work havoc. These pests attack the tender lining of the intestines and, if left to pursue their ravages undisturbed, will ultimately perforate the wall, because these worms are of the hook variety that cling to and feed upon interior surfaces. Miller's Worm Powders will not only exterminate these worms, of whatever variety, but will serve to repair the injury they have done.

Relieves Asthma at Little Expense. Thousands of dollars have been vainly spent upon remedies for asthma and seldom, if ever, with any relief. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy, despite its assurance of benefit, costs so little that it is within reach of all. It is the national remedy for asthma, far removed from the class of doubtful and experimental preparations. Your dealer can supply it.

A SURE CURE FOR HEADACHE.—Bilious headache, to which women are more subject than men, becomes so acute in some subjects that they are utterly prostrated. The stomach refuses food, and there is a constant and distressing effort to free the stomach from bile which has become unduly secreted. Farnell's Vegetable Pills are a speedy alternative, and in neutralizing the effects of the intruding bile relieves the pressure on the nerves which cause the headache. Try them.

WHOLE FAMILY USES THEM

"Fruit-a-tives" Keeps Young And Old In Splendid Health

J. W. HAMMOND Esq.

SCOTLAND, Ont., Aug. 25th, 1913 "Fruit-a-tives" are truly only pill manufactured, to my way of thinking. They work completely, no gripping whatever, and one is plenty for any ordinary person at a dose. My wife was a martyr to Constipation. We tried everything on the calendar without satisfaction, and spent large sums of money until we happened on "Fruit-a-tives." I cannot say too much in their favor.

We have used them in the family for about two years and we would not use anything else as long as we can get "Fruit-a-tives."

Their action is mild; and no distress at all. I have recommended them to many other people, and our whole family uses them."

J. W. HAMMOND. Those who have been cured by "Fruit-a-tives" are proud and happy to tell a sick or ailing friend about these wonderful tablets made from fruit juices.

Court proceedings at the town hall Saturday forenoon attracted quite a crowd of men. Three cases of infringement of the local option bylaw were tried, in which there were two convictions and one discharge.

During the past two years ten cases have been tried, with nine convictions and one dismissal. Since neighboring municipalities are going under local option in May, it is expected that there will be little difficulty along this line in the near future.

Mrs. (Rev.) Snell entertained the Women's Missionary Society Thursday afternoon at its monthly meeting. Final arrangements were made for the lecture, "Looking on the Sunny Side," to be given in the church Friday evening, March 20, by Rev. Howson, of Glencoe.

The gripe is the order of the day.

At the present time a great many are planning their annual tour. Considerable numbers visit the popular California resorts, while many prefer the unsurpassed resorts, palatial hotels and magnificent scenery of the Canadian Rockies. This year why not combine the two by a visit to the Panama Pacific Exposition?

Numerous people in comfortable circumstances, well able to afford a trip have the mistaken idea that a journey of this nature is most expensive. This not so, thanks to modern railway facilities, an extensive trip, both interesting and educational, can be made with speed and comfort at a comparatively small cost. Why not investigate?

Those contemplating a trip of any nature will receive full information from any C. P. R. agent; or write M. G. Murphy, district passenger agent, Toronto.
