LONDONERS MAY EXERCISE WIDE CHOICE IN DECIDING WHERE TO GO TO CHURCH

All Big Orthodox Churches Cover the Ground Thoroughly—Smaller Groups Have Each Place To Worship—Mormons Contest Grounds With Reorganized Latter Day Saints—Adventists Engage the Millennial Dawnists in Doctrinal Controversies.

Where will you go to church tomorrow? Don't know? Haven't been there for a long time? That's much too bad. All serious people go to church, some to criticize the preacher's logic, others who have been too thoughtful and too serious during the week to doze while an especially soothing pulpiteer drones out his unalarming message to tired ears.

Even very unorthodox people like George Bernard Shaw regularly go to church. Church-going is a profitable fad with Shaw. He has written a book about it, and the book is still selling very nicely.

You say you had planned to go to Springbank and commune with nature? That's quite all right. Take a volume of Voltaire along for company. You're a Deist. So was Voltaire. Like Voltaire, the great critic of the Christian Church, you worship God in nature. Voltaire in his own way was quite as orthodox as Jonathan Edwards. The "Prince of Infidels" as some people are prone to dub Voltaire, actually erected a Deist Temple out of devotion to his God-in-Nature.

Quakers Not Far Away.

But you don't like Voltaire? He's too caustic, too bitter, too slashing? Tom Paine, perhaps, is more your ideal type of Rationalist. Did you ever know that Paine in his own way was very religious, that he was brought up a Hicksite Quaker and never really repudiated the quaint, gentle faith of those who seek to follow the Inner Light, "the Light that lighteth every man that cometh into the world." There is a Hicksite Quaker church out at Coldstream, just the distance of a nice motor trip for Sunday morning. There is another church of the same denomination down at Sparta, a little longer motor trip.

St. Paul's Cathedral.

But you are orthodox after all, and while you haven't been to any church for several months you wouldn't under any circumstances go to a church that wasn't orthodox? Very well, even on those hot July Sundays it is reasonably cool and comfortable in the long, wide auditorium of old St. Paul's Cathedral, and while the ritualistic service may be longer than in other churches, the sermons are much shorter. You will profit by hearing a sermon from Dean Tucker. Or, suppose you amble over to West London and hear Canon Sage at St. George's, or run down to Cronyn Memorial to hear Quintin Warner—somehow it doesn't sound quite natural to call him the Rev. Quintin Warner. There's something delightfully informal about both his manner and his sermons. And he's fairly "liberal," too, so both friends and critics allege. But then one can be liberal in the grand old

FRANCE TO SEND REINFORCEMENTS TO U. SILESIA

Briand Asks German Government To Provide Safe Conduct.

BRITISH OPPOSITION

Paris Government Decides On Action Despite Lloyd George's Stand.

Paris, July 22.—Premier Briand, following a meeting of the council of ministers at Rambouillet yesterday, has dispatched a telegram to Berlin, requesting that the German Government take all necessary steps to insure safe conduct through Germany of a new division of French troops, which it is said in official circles will be ordered to Silesia within a few hours.

This morning's newspapers give considerable prominence to the council meeting, which was the second to be held at Rambouillet since the election of President Millerand.

The ministers are reported to feel that France should not retreat an inch from the determination to send reinforcements to Upper Silesia, despite opposition to such a move by Mr. Lloyd George.

Instructions were sent late last night to the French ambassador in London requesting him to tell the British Government that France considers it useless for the Allies to establish a Silesian boundary without providing sufficient troops to enforce the provisions, and adding that France intends to dispatch another division without waiting for action by the other allies.

HAS DRIVEN AUTO EIGHTEEN YEARS WITHOUT A FINE

C. E. Bernard Talks Interestingly of Early Days of Motoring.

THRILL IS GONE

Excitement and Spirit of Adventure Has Quite Vanished.

With the hundred and one provincial regulations and municipal bylaws governing automobile traffic which are as thorns in the side to many motorists who find it extremely difficult to go from one year's end to another without paying considerable money into the coffers of the court, eighteen years without a fine would seem about as impossible as perpetual motion, and yet it has been done.

Charles E. Bernard, secretary-treasurer of the London Motor Club, who owned the fourth car seen on the streets of London, has always driven a car since the year 1904, and in all that time he has never been summoned to court for the infraction of any bylaw whatsoever, or of the Ontario motor vehicle act.

Pioneers of Autos.

Mr. Bernard, along with F. G. Mitchell, who owned the first car, pioneered the automobile as a pleasure car in this city, although the first cars compared with those of today would hardly be called by any such name. Mr. Bernard's first possession was a one-cylindered car, whose spasmodic chug-chug is today a dead and forgotten language.

Things were still in their infancy at that time as far as the automobile was concerned, and so improvements came rapidly. In the very next year Mr. Bernard bought a second car, with just double the number of cylinders. It had two by actual count and it was a Ford.

Lost Its Excitement.

Automobiling today, according to Mr. Bernard, is not nearly as exciting or interesting as it was in the early days of this century. To take a long trip then was a big and prolonged adventure. Once started no one could know when he might return.

A trip to Detroit would occupy almost three days, he said, with all imaginable things happening en route. Every little way horses driven by farmers would have to be held, for at that time the whole onus for accidents was on the head of the driver of the car.

Three-Day Trip.

Mr. Bernard recalled a trip he made to Detroit in his two-cylindered car. He wished to go to the Ford factory, which then was only a small renovated planing mill, for some parts. The start was made on Friday and Detroit was reached by Sunday. All kinds of tire trouble was experienced during the trip, and things grew so bad at Leamington that Mr. Bernard stopped at a fish-house on the lake shore and stuffed the tires with sawdust. Before the destination was reached the sawdust was so hot that it almost melted the rubber. During the whole trip not another car was passed.

Loading ,Em Up, All Alive

Major G. Mel Brock, chief supervisor of public playgrounds, loading up city kiddies, prior to their being transported to the north end bathing camp at "The Valley," for a picnic, on Thursday. These picnics are bi-weekly features with the youth of London, those from Queen's Park, Lord Roberts School, and Bottrill playgrounds districts participating in Thursday's fun.

JOHN A. CALDER, LIBERAL M. P. P. FOR N. OXFORD, SUCCUMBS TO INJURIES

Member of Provincial Parliament Sustained Fractured Skull and Other Injuries When Pulley Breaks In Hayloft At His Farm—Succeeded Hon. N. W. Rowell When the Latter Stepped Into Federal Field of Politics.

Woodstock, July 23.—John A. Calder, Liberal M.P.P. for North Oxford, died at his home in East Nissouri at 2 o'clock this morning, following an accident sustained yesterday afternoon while assisting in the haying on his farm. It was about 5 o'clock when the accident happened. Mr. Calder was in the hay mow standing on a beam, when the pulley carrying the hay forks snapped and struck Mr. Calder on the back of the head, knocking him to the floor below, some thirteen feet. He sustained a fractured skull, a broken nose and other severe injuries. He was carried into the house in an unconscious condition. Three doctors were soon on hand, but they were helpless, and Mr. Calder died without regaining consciousness.

John Calder was born in East Nissouri about 56 years ago, and had lived there all his life. He took a lively interest in municipal as well as provincial politics, and before entering the Provincial House, about four years ago, in succession to Hon. Mr. Rowell, was a member of the township council. He is survived by his widow and four children—Donald R. and Mary on the farm, Mrs. George McCall, East Nissouri, and Mrs. Malcolm Glaves, Woodstock.

OLD-FASHIONED REMEDIES ARE STILL EFFECTIVE

Many Citizens Suffer From Disagreeable Summer Complaint.

DOCTORS AT LOSS

Source of Trouble Cannot Be Located—Probably Diet.

Local doctors report the prevalence of a disagreeable summer complaint, the chief symptoms of which are nausea and vomiting of an aggravated type, similar to those present in ptomaine poisoning. While at a loss to state definitely the cause of this illness, which was also rampant in London and district last summer, the majority of practitioners are of the opinion that the victim's diet exercises a bearing upon its presence.

These suspicions are confirmed by the fact that the history of many cases shows that all members of a family partaking of the previous meal have been afflicted with varying severity. However, attempts to single out any particular item of food responsible for the distress have so far proven in vain.

General Manager E. V. Buchanan and his wife are among the latest victims reported this week. The former escaped lightly, being compelled to "take the count" for one day only as a result of his sickness, while that of his wife was of a more serious nature. Another official of the public utilities staff has since reported sick under similar circumstances.

That the distress is not dependent upon drinking water is evidenced from the fact that Mr. Buchanan and his wife, prior to their attack, drank only H2O from a well near their summer cottage at Port Stanley. A neighbor drank water from the regular supply at Port and suffered similarly, while the official of the public utilities staff who was under the weather this week drank only aqua pura from the Springbank reservoirs.

Local practitioners are prescribing lime water, baking soda in water, milk of magnesia, or bismuth hydroxide for the ailmen, declaring that any one of these old-fashioned remedies will prove efficacious in "settling" things as quickly as other newer patent medicines.

ONE HUNDRED PER CENT PASSES INDICATIVE OF A TOO RIGID CLASSIFICATION

Inspector V. K. Greer Opines That It Means Holding Back of Some Pupils Who Should Have Had Opportunity To Try Entrance Examinations.

Public School Inspector V. K. Greer does not take kindly to boosting public school principals who pass all their students successfully on entrance examinations. In an interview with The Advertiser this morning he said: "On the front page of the Toronto Globe, today's issue, there appeared in heavy type, a short paragraph, saying that Principal Dale of a St. Thomas public school, has for the third year passed his complete class for the entrance."

Too Rigid.

When questioned by the reporter Inspector Greer remarked that "this is a sure sign of bad classification." "If the whole class can be passed for three consecutive years," he continued, it must mean that there were other candidates who might have been given the opportunity to take the work in this class, and some of them might have been successful.

"If a teacher can pass a whole class for three successive years he is crowding the thing too closely. It is my opinion that when results go above 90 per cent the classification has been too rigid, and fairly good pupils must have been denied the right of going as far as they might.

Exams Only Standard.

"Again, there is a tendency in making wide publication of 100 per cent results to make the examination standard the one standard of the work of the school, and modern educational opinion believes that much more than examination results should be taken into consideration when judging the success of a teacher or a school."

Krupps Busy In Manufacture Of Locomotives

Ottawa, July 23.—Canadian Press dispatch.—P. Harvey Middleton of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York, who has just returned from an observation tour in Germany, states that Krupps works at Essen are engaged on a surprisingly wide range of production, according to a scheme appearing in the Weekly Bulletin of the department of trade and commerce.

Heavy locomotives, he says, are being turned out in the great locomotive shop at the rate of one a day, while another shop has a daily average of eight good wagons. Five-ton lorries are also being constructed side by side with small motor scooters.

Other manufactures include railway supplies of all kinds, machines for the textile and paper industries, dredges, floating docks, pneumatic tools, surgical instruments, Diesel engines, doors for safes, cash registers and adding machines. Passenger and freight steamers are being constructed at the Krupps' Kielgaarden works.

CHEAPER GAS MAY BE HAD IN CITY SOON

WILSON CONFIDENT

Alderman Believes Committee and Company Can Agree On Matter.

London will be served with cheaper and better gas in the near future if the city authorities are successful in negotiations with the City Gas Company whereby it is expected that permission will be given to the company to use natural gas from the wells east of the city to augment their artificial supply, providing that the company lowers the price to the consuming public. Ald. W. A. Wilson received this morning a report on the wells located on the Sam farm from Gas Commissioner Estlin, and he immediately arranged for a meeting of the gas committees to be held probably next Wednesday.

According to the report received approximately 500,000 cubic feet of sweet natural gas will be available from the wells located a few miles east of London. The gas is of the best quality, containing about double the heating units of artificial gas, and it has absolutely no smell. The only cost of introducing it into the mains would be the piping, for it requires no refining.

Mix With Artificial.

As London uses nearly 1,000,000 cubic feet daily, it was pointed out by Ald. Wilson that the wells could not provide enough gas to supply the whole of London. For this reason practically the only way that it could be utilized locally would be in a mixture with the artificial commodity.

It is fully expected that committees composed of Philip Pocock, J. J. Foot, E. V. Buchanan, and John Bridge of the Chamber of Commerce, and Ald. Cameron Wilson and George Wenige of the city council, with Ald. W. Wilson as chairman, will agree to open negotiations with the City Gas Company when they meet.

Ald. W. A. Wilson stated that the committees were determined that the citizens would derive all the benefits arising from the use of the natural gas. If the City Gas Company would not agree to lower the rates, they would not be allowed to use the natural supply in their mains.

He stated that he had interviewed officials of the company, and had their assurance that satisfactory arrangements could be made.

The gas wells are under the control of a company, the members of which are chiefly Hamilton men. This company desires to wholesale the gas to the city, and to let the city make any disposition of the supply it might desire. Representatives of the company will attend the meeting of the committees, it is expected.

SMUTS WILL AGAIN ENTER PARLEY FOR IRISH PEACE

South African Premier Going to Dublin Next Week.

CAREFUL CONSIDERATION

Definite Decision Will Not Be Reached For Some Days.

London, July 23.—The outstanding feature of the Government's Irish peace proposals to Eamonn De Valera is a concession of fiscal autonomy, it was stated on high authority here today.

The position of Ulster is amply secured.

Dublin, July 23.—The impression is growing here that the Irish peace offer made by Mr. Lloyd George to Eamonn De Valera, the republican leader, will work out in a settlement. The terms of the offer are still being held in the strictest confidence.

London, July 23.—Gen. Jan C. Smuts, the South African premier, is expected to leave London for Ireland early next week, probably Monday, to place his services at the disposal of both Eamonn De Valera and Sir James Craig during their critical consideration of the Irish peace proposals made by Mr. Lloyd George. This statement was made today in a quarter close to the South African statesman.

In circles which are closely observing the developments of the Irish situation much satisfaction is expressed at the prospect of Gen. Smuts' re-entry into the negotiations in the manner indicated. This is particularly the case in view of the persistent reports that the British prime minister's offer, submitted to Mr. De Valera Thursday, includes a plan for dominion home rule for Ireland on the lines of the South African constitution. Concerning the workings of this form of government Gen. Smuts it is pointed out will be able to give information of the greatest value.

PROPOSALS TO BE WELL CONSIDERED BEFORE DECISION

London, July 23.—With Eamonn de Valera back in Dublin, British circles today apparently had settled down to await the next move in the Irish negotiations, which are expected to come from the southern Irish capital soon after leaders of the Republicans have had a chance to study the document which Mr. de Valera received from Mr. Lloyd George yesterday.

A meeting of the Dael Eireann for the purpose of considering the British offer is looked for next week, but Sinn Fein leaders here appear to feel that ten days or more will elapse before notable developments can occur. Meanwhile publication of the proposals is not anticipated immediately, unless Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. de Valera reach an agreement to that effect.

Two important points which seem to have considerable bearing on the negotiations are: First, whether another meeting between Sir James Craig, premier of Ulster, and De Valera can be arranged in Ireland; and, second, whether an amendment to the present home rule act would be satisfactory to the Irish Republicans should such a solution be advanced.

A comprehensive statement covering the entire negotiations is expected to be made by Mr. Lloyd George in the House of Commons next week.

German Janitor Has Real Thirst

Berlin, July 23.—In view of what was called his "unusual thirst," August Marcowski, a janitor, who had been sentenced to five months in jail for drinking ten cases of champagne belonging to a tenant, was pardoned by the high court today. He had consumed the ten cases in nine days. Seemingly to vindicate the judgment of the court, Marcowski entered the nearest cafe immediately after he was released to slake his thirst.

LONDON'S CIVIC HOLIDAY WEEK FROM MONDAY

Local Railways Anticipate the Biggest Week-End Business of Year.

PORT AND PARK

Many Picnics and Family Outings Are Already Arranged.

Civic Holiday for Londoners falls on Monday, August 1, which is approximately within a week. In addition to being a bank holiday, this date is also a day of rest throughout the city, in so far as employment in local industrial centres is concerned.

On Civic Holiday Port Stanley usually vies with Springbank as a mecca for Londoners, several picnics of various local organizations usually being held at either of these resorts on that day, in addition to the usual holiday crowds which stages impromptu outings.

It is one of the most popular holidays in the year for traveling, by reason of the fact that it falls upon a Monday, and enables those on a trip to add an extra day to the week-end. Railway officials here predict that heavy passenger traffic will be in order to and from London for Civic Holiday.

For the fans of the city, baseball games will be in vogue, with several league fixtures scheduled to choose from. The next holiday after Monday, August 1, will be Labor Day.

WANT LOCOMOTIVES IN MONTREAL AREAS TO USE ELECTRICITY

Monreal, July 23. — "That the administrative commission be requested to ask the board of railway commissioners of Canada to prevent the railway companies whose trains cross St. Gabriel and St. Henry wards from operating their locomotives within the city limits otherwise than by electricity, so as to abate the nuisance caused by the smoke from said locomotives, and which the residents of both these wards bitterly complain of," was a motion adopted at the city council meeting yesterday.

PROPER CARE AND TREATMENT REDUCES BABY DEATH TOLL

Montreal, July 23.—Seventy babies under its care, and not a single loss by death during the past three months, is the proud record of the Montreal Foundling and Baby Hospital. "We have been able to reduce the rate of infantile mortality from 85 per cent down to 18 per cent, as the minimum, although the present rate is about 18 per cent," stated one of the officials of the hospital last night. "That is due entirely to care and treatment. We have foundlings brought in from the streets from a few hours old up to 3 years, all sorts and conditions."

5,000 STILL WORKING ON CHIPPEWA CANAL

Two Thousand Men Laid Off in Last Few Weeks.

St. Catharines, July 23.—That two thousand, up to the present, is the total of men who have been laid off from the Chippewa-Queenston hydro power canal work, and that between four and five thousand men are still working was the true situation today.

It was stated at the hydro offices that there has been no weeding out of undesirables, as none such have been employed.

How long the present staff of workers will be kept on is quite uncertain, as it was stated this morning that no definite policy in this respect has been decided upon as yet.

It was stated at the hydro offices today that the 2,000 men have all been laid off within a period of about two weeks.

HANGED BY MOB.

Hattiesburg, Miss., July 23.—Casey Jones, white, recently convicted of the murder of Mrs. J. S. Mosely, and sentenced to be hanged July 18, but whose case was pending an appeal before the state supreme court, was taken from the county jail by a mob early this morning and hanged in the courtyard.

Whiskey Laden Schooner Seized; Crew Arrested

New Haven Conn. July 23.—An auxiliary schooner laden with Scotch whiskey and believed by the police to be a connecting link between the mysterious liquor-carrier and the shore was boarded at Lighthouse Point early today ner crew seized and 250 cases of whiskey confiscated.

The men arrested were brought to police headquarters where they were held for a perliminary hearing later in the day before United States Commissioner Lynch. The confiscated liquor also was brought to headquarters.

A telephone call at 1:30 a.m. gave the local authorities their first intimation that an attempt was being made to land smuggled liquor in this vicinity. The identity of the informant is unknown to the police. A squad of officers was sent to Lighthouse point an amusement resort at the eastern entrance of New Haven harbor. As the police approached the point they saw cases of whiskey piled up along the road while the crew of the vessel was at work unloading the contraband.

Firing a shot in the air the police charged down on the alleged smugglers, who surrendered immediately without any semblance of a struggle.

NORTHCLIFFE ARRIVES IN NEW YORK ON TOUR OF THE WORLD

New York, July 23.—Viscount Northcliffe, British publisher and political power, arrived today on the steamship Aquitania, on the first leg of an extensive tour, the prime purpose of which is to study international problems in the Pacific. After visiting the United States, Viscount Northcliffe will go to Canada, Honolulu, the Fiji Islands, New Zealand, Australia, the Philippines, Japan, China, Korea, the Straits Settlement, Burma and India.

DEPUTY MINISTER OF CUSTOMS WILL MAKE A CALL HERE

Due Here Early Part of the Coming Week—Report.

SEEKING INFORMATION

Visit Is Obviously Connected With Protest Against Dismissals.

R. R. Farrow, commissioner of customs and deputy minister of inland revenue, is expected to arrive in London at the first of the week from Ottawa. On his tour of the province the commissioner is visiting all the offices of his department.

Since the Griffenhagen schedule of revision and so-called economical elimination of positions went into effect, no officials have yet visited the local customs office, either Government officers or efficiency experts. Employees throughout the country, to the number of 65 were slated to step out on July 1. Just prior to this date, however, their retirement was postponed indefinitely, and Hon. J. D. Reid announced that it was mainly due to his efforts that such was accomplished. That the customs department would suffer intensely was his contention.

Following close upon this decision by the Government comes the deputy from Ottawa, in search of, obviously, first-hand information of the work of the various offices.

GOVERNMENTS ENTER HIGHWAY CONTRACTS TOTALING MILLIONS

Federal Administration Pay 40 Per Cent of Building Costs.

Ottawa, July 23.—Contracts between the Ontario Government and the federal highways department have been entered into to the extent of $3,800,000, and these contracts are by no means completed, it was stated this morning at the highways branch of the department of railways and canals in reference to a report that Ontario's share of the $20,000,000 highways grant was almost exhausted. At the present rate of progress, the amount of $5,800,000 having been allotted to Ontario on a 60-40 per cent basis, the federal application toward highway building should last for two or three years yet in Ontario.

Under the contracts between the federal and provincial governments, the Federal Government pays 40 per cent of all cost. "If the Ontario Government chose to build pavements, that would have nothing to do with us," said one official of the railways department. "The Federal grant only covers 40 per cent of the actual cost of necessary construction under approved highways plans."

WHERE IS PTE. J. W. DYER? — Information regarding the whereabouts of Pte. J. W. Dyer, No. 124675, and formerly residing at 617 Dundas street, is wanted by the secretary of the local branch of the soldiers's aid commission.

SENATORS WILL MAKE EFFORT TO HAVE STIFF DUTIES IMPOSED

Washington, July 23.—Canadian Press.—With the sending of the tariff bill from the House to the Senate yesterday it became known that opponents of free lumber, free oil and a number of the provisions of the House bill would make a strong effort in the Senate to have stiff duties imposed. This movement will cause much controversy in the Senate. Senator Penrose, chairman of the finance committee, said today he could not make a prediction how long it would take to pass the bill in the Senate.

UNAWARE OF ORDER.

Toronto, July 23.—Ontario department of agriculture officials here have no knowledge of any general order of the United States Government prohibiting the importation of cut flowers and truck farm vegetables from Canada as stated in some dispatches from Canadian border points. W. B. Roadhouse, deputy minister of agriculture, stated today that while there was an order in the United States against the entry of corn on the ear, owing to the reported prevalence of the European corn borer in Canada, that order had not been extended to include any other product, so far as the department was aware.

Young Mermen and Mermaids

Group of city children, snapped during a supervised picnic at the north end bathing camp Thursday, when over 200 kiddies from various parts of London, disported themselves in the River Thames all day. The kiddies were carried to the "swimmin' hole," in motor trucks, and took lunches along with them. More bathing suits are necessary at this camp to supply the youngsters who patronize it.

REIGHT RATES MAY BE LOWER

at Quotation For Cattle To England Are Likely.

TORONTO, July 22.—Efforts on the rt of H. P. Kennedy Company, which numbered among the largest export- of cattle, are reported to have re- ted in the reduction in the freight es between Montreal and England. rate has ben $40 per head, but be- ning this week shippers, through the operation of the large steamship com- ies operating from Montreal, will be le to ship at the flat rate of $30 per ad.

The depreciation of cattle values in gland and the decline in the sterling e were the principal reasons for the t. Mr. Kennedy stated that this re- ction would mean approximately $10,- 0 a week of a drop in the cost on their ipments alone.

LONDON PASTOR IS GUEST OF KIWANIS

Rev. G. A. Leichliter Gave Address On Service At Galt.

GALT, July 22.—The Kiwanians at heir noon-day luncheon today at the olf club listened to an address on "Service" by G. A. Leichliter, M.A., of London, in which he dwelt upon the ransitions of life from the historical oint of view and the progress of ages.

Miss E. Winter, who is leaving Galt or Hamilton, having accepted a posi- ion on the staff of the Park Business ollege, was presented with a bedroom lock by her Sunday school class of the ree Methodist Church.

Robert Carter of Detroit was today ined $200 and costs, $268.50 in all, for tealing $71 from George Wong, a local estaurant keeper, at a circus at Kitch- ner on June 29. Carter was arrested here, given his trial and found guilty, ut the case had three remands and he btained his liberty on $950 cash bail eturning $71 to the complainant.

JUDGE REDUCED THE ASSESSMENT BY $200

Appeal of James Clendenning Aroused Much Interest At Blenheim.

Blenheim, July 22.—County Judge Ward Stanworth held a hearing of the appeal of James Clendenning today from the decision of the court of re- vision on the assessment on his resi- dence built last year. Mr. Clendenning was awarded a reduction of $200 after the judge had personally seen a number of the residences in town which were held to be assessed lower than his. Mr. Clendenning was of opinion that he should be lowered considerably more. The court of revision lowered it $800 from the assessor's figures. The ap- peal caused considerable comment as the council took much pains in dealing with the appeals at their court.

Mrs. Arthur Allison of Concession 4, W. C. R., Harwich, passed away yes- terday at the age of 65 years. She leaves besides her husband, two daugh- ters, Mrs. Huff and Mrs. Wm. Brackett, and one son Ira. The funeral is on Friday.

The last numbers of the Chautauqua four days' entertainment will be given Friday. The entertainments have been only fairly well patronized.

ARLINGTON ROBINSON WON OAT COMPETITION

INGERSOLL, July 22.—C. C. Rokeby of Port Rowan has finished his task of judging the oat crop entered in the standing field crop competition con- ducted by the Ingersoll, North and West Oxford Agricultural Society. Fol- lowing is a list of the winners and their scores: Arlington D. Robinson, 88; G. M. Nancekivell, 85; W. W. Nancekivell, 79¼; A. R. McNiven, 79; G. A. Uren, 78½; John G. Rawlings, 77; Geo. Way, 73.

The crop is considerably below form- er years. Mr. Rokeby stated that it was seriously affected by the recent storms, and apart from the damage caused by the grain being down, it was hastened to maturity by the intense heat, with a consequent shrinkage in yield.

WILL ISSUE WRIT IF DUMP IS NOT MOVED

Question Will Be Discussed Monday Night by Chatham Council.

CHATHAM, July 22.—A special meeting of the property committee of the city council was held today to discuss the question of removing the city garbage dump at the foot of Water street. For some time past the residents in that section have been raising protests against the use of the ground in a residential district for this purpose, and it is rumored that a writ may be issued to prevent the city from using the ground in the future.

The possibility of moving the dump- ing ground from its present location to a spot where it will not create a nuisance, will be considered by the property committee, and a special report will be submitted to the city council at its next regular meeting on Monday.

STOOD SHELL SHOCK, BUT NOT CATERPILLAR

MONTREAL, July 22.—Lillian Weeks of Boston, a war heroine, who, when serving as a nurse in an advanced dressing station north of Dijon, was under shellfire a score of times a day without betraying the slightest trace of fear, fainted today when a caterpillar fell from an overhanging tree in Dominion Square, down the neck of her blouse. She was sitting on a bench under a tree with a friend when she sud- denly turned pale, glanced down the front of her blouse, and, after giv- ing an involuntary scream, fell for- ward in a dead faint. An ambu- lance was summoned, it being thought that she had been taken seriously ill, but Miss Weeks quick- ly recovered.

RAILWAYMEN TO RECEIVE SMALL CHECKS TODAY

First Pay Day Under the New Wage Schedule.

ST. THOMAS, July 22.—The engine and trainmen of the M. C. R. will re- ceive their first checks since the wage schedule was reduced Saturday morn- ing. No general protest has been made in railway circles here, against the drop on the payroll. It means to the M. C. R. engineers a deduction of 64 cents a hundred miles, and 6 to 8 cents an hour off their old wages.

The effect of the ruling will not be felt by the G. T. R.-Wabash men until the end of the month, as the reduction in their scale of pay will not be effec- tive until the end of the month. All the employees of the road, from the superintendent to the call boy, come under the reduced schedule.

Speeders Fined.

Three prominent Yarmouth yeomen were fined the customary sum this morning for auto speeding on the rural highway. They all denied the offence and questioned the accuracy of the stop watch of the constable.

Officers Lodge No. 76.

The officers installed for the term at St. Thomas Lodge No. 76, I. O. O. F., last night were: Gordon Hubert be- comes noble grand, and Jas. A. Mc- Cully, vice grand, while Geo. A. Fer- guson, A. E. Andrews and A. A. Stew- art, continue to fill the offices of finan- cial secretary, treasurer and recording secretary respectively. The appointed officers for the term are: Warden, Cecil Daley; conductor, A. Walker; in- side guardian, J. W. MacDonald; O. G., George Barnes; R. S. N. G., George Johnston; L. S. N. G., William Logan; R. S. V. G., R. Reid; L. S. V. G., G. Norman; R. S. S., E. Barnes; L. S. S., George Parkinson; chaplain, John Or- rell. The installing board for the year is D. D. G. M., W. W. Farrah; deputy grand marshal, W. F. Moore; deputy grand warden, L. Moore; deputy grand secretary, W. H. Sells; deputy financial secretary, A. R. Wride; deputy grand treasurer, M. White; deputy grand chap- lain, H. Bainard, D. G. I. Guardian, H. Cook; all of Shedden.

LAWN SOCIAL WAS HELD AT CAMLACHIE

CAMLACHIE, July 22.—A lawn social under the auspices of the Vyner Pres- byterian Church, was held at the home of D. F. Smith, sixth line of Plymouth, last evening.

A ball game was played between Cam- lachie and Marthasville, resulting in a victory for Camlachie by a score of 4—3. The crowd then gathered to en- joy the refreshments served at the booths, and the splendidd program put on by the Start Concert Company of London. Miss Violet Wood, soloist, and Miss Urby, reader, and the piper, were very much appreciated, and the juvenile entertainers delighted the audience with their well-rendered numbers. About $150 was realized at the gate and a goodly sum, not yet arrived at, was made at the booths.

SAFETY RULES ARE NOT BEING OBSERVED

HAMILTON, Ont., July 22.—The jury which investigated the deaths of Misses Margaret Caldwell and Nancy White- law in the bay on June 11, in their ver- dict tonight recommend that two patrol boats in charge of the police depart- ment be maintained on the bay, and also that a life-saving station fully manned should be established. The jury found that the rules laid down by the harbor commission were not being observed by boat owners.

SPEEDING IS COSTLY.

WINDSOR, July 22.—Four speeders were fined by Judge Gundy in Windsor police court today at the rate of 50 cents a mile. They were John Bryant, $32.25; Edward Washbrook, $32.35; Geo. Fields, $23; all Windsor; and Fred W. Tilley, Detroit, $22.25.

M'FADDEN MAY HEAR FATE TODAY

OTTAWA, Ont., July 22.—(By Cana- dian Press.)—The fate of Roy Hotrum and William McFadden, both under sentence of death for the murder of L. C. Sabine, a Toronto druggist, is to- night in the hands of the minister of justice, Hon. C. J. Doherty, who this afternoon listened to appeals from law- yers representing both the condemned men. The Great War Veterans' Associ- ation also made a strong appeal for McFadden.

The minister, it is stated tonight, promised careful consideration of both cases before making a final recommend- ation to the governor-in-council.

CROP OUTLOOK IN ALBERTA FAVORABLE

Rains During Past Two Weeks Have Helped Every- thing.

EDMONTON, Alb., July 22.—Crop re- ports throughout Central Alberta indi- cate that the crop situation is very favorable. Although the weather in some parts has been fairly dry, rains of the last two weeks have supplied sufficient moisture for all growth re- quirements, and as a whole prospects are very bright. In most districts wheat is headed and is a good heavy stand. Oats are also headed in some districts. Oats and barley as a whole are slightly better than wheat. Crops suffered some from lack of rain in some parts during the latter part of June, and although there has been sufficient rain since then, some grains have not fully recovered. This applies only to two or three dis- tricts, and particularly to early sown wheat.

Hay crops are reported somewhat lighter.

FARMERS WILL REVISE PLATFORM

Important Questions Coming Up At Meeting On Tuesday.

WINNIPEG, July 22.—The main busi- ness to be dealt with at the meeting of the Canadian Council of Agriculture, opening in Toronto on Tuesday next, will be the revision of the federal farm- ers' platform, according to an announce- ment today by Norman Lambert, secre- tary of the council. Some of the planks in the platform, which has not been revised since 1918, dealing with land settlements and insurance for soldiers, already have been placed on the statute books.

Western delgates leaving tonight for Toronto include Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the National Progressive Par- ty; Hon. J. A. Maharg of Regina, and J. B. Musselman, representing the Sas- katchewan Grain Growers.

BUTTER PRICES CLIMBING AGAIN

Both Dairy and Creamery Quotations Have Been Advanced.

THORNDALE, July 22.—The price of butter has advanced; creamery butter is selling at 42c a pound, and dairy butter at 35c. The Leader flour is being retailed at $5.50 per cwt.

The results of the East Middlesex field crop competition have been an- nounced. There were twelve fields of oats entered and were judged by G. A. Williams of Toronto. The winners were as follows.

1. William Hueston, Thorndale, West Nissouri Township.
2. J. B. Nichol, Wilton Grove, West- minster Township.
3. A. Cornish, Wilton Grove, West- minster Township.
4. James Wheaton, Thorndale, West Nissouri Township.
5. Charles Guest, Thorndale, West Nissouri Township.
6. J. W. Laidlaw, Wilton Grove, West- minister Township.
7. Angus Beattie, Wilton Grove, West- minster Township.

NO CORN BORERS AROUND MERLIN

Crop This Season Will Be the Finest in Years.

MERLIN, July 22.—Farmers all through this district are expecting the finest corn crop they have had in many years. It has been making rapid growth and the quality was never better. No reports have been received of the corn borer being in the district.

The Middle road in Raleigh township is being gravelled this week by the trucks of the road department, under the supervision of County Road Super- intendent Pardo. Mr. Pardo states that the work of the new trucks has been satisfactory in every way and an aver- age of nearly one and a half miles of road a week is being traveled by the two trucks.

Rev. J. T. Dawson has been returned to his charge in North Buxton B. M. E. Church for another year.

Miss Rumbal lof St. Thomas is visit- ing with her brother here, G. H. Rum- ball.

The financial statemnts of the Merlin and New England Methodist churches for the year ending May, 1921, have just been issued. The churches have had a successful year under the pastorate of Rev. A. Murray Stuart.

The total receipts for the year for the Merlin church, including $249.85 on hand at the beginning of the year was $2,530.51, and the expenditures, $2,253.77. The church gave $290 for missions. The New England apointment raised during the year, $694.75.

National campaign fund, $844. Sun- day schools, $338. Epworth League, $169. Ladies Aid, $519. The total amount raised during the year for all purposes was $7.215.

SPEEDING TO KEEP COOL VERY DANGEROUS

Speeding motor cars to keep cool is a very dangerous practice. It is just as dangerous as buying diamonds at ran- dom. Safety first: Buy Perfect Blue- White Diamonds from John A. Nash, My Jeweler, 182 Dundas street, "where you will eventually buy."

NORFOLK WILL HAVE RECORD CORN CROP

Grain Yield Generally Will Be Light All Through the County.

[Special To The Advertiser.]

SIMCOE, July 22.—Norfolk will have a record corn crop this year, although the grain crop in general is below the average of other years, acording to G. G. Bramhill, agricultural representa- tive for the county. The intense heat has ripened the grain prematurely, he said.

Conditions in Norfolk are much more favorable than other districts, Mr. Bramhill believes.

Norfolk fall wheat and rye is a good crop and fully up to average. Hay was only fair, except alsike, which was especially good. Sweet clover and al- falfa are reported to be excellent.

Oats and barley are short in straw, and the grain yield generally will be light.

Made Rapid Growth.

Corn has made a phenomenal growth and gives promise of a bumper crop, which, with a fair hay yield, assures plenteous fodder supply.

Vegetable crops are not up to aver- age, which Mr. Bramhill says could have been largely prevented if the far- mers had used a spray of bordeau mix- ture and asenate of lead. Cucumbers are affected with blight. Early pota- toes were a fine crop, but later plant- ings are very disappointing.

The apple crop will not be more than 60 per cent of normal, and many or- chards are badly affected with fungus.

The extreme heat and humid atmos- phere had been very conducive to the development of vegetable and fruit diseases.

Teacher Engaged.

Mr. John L. Inglis, B.A. of Smith's Falls Collegiate Institute, today was engaged by the Simcoe Board of Edu- cation as science master at the local high school at a salary of $2,000 a year. The addition of Mr. Inglis com- pletes the staff of the high school here, notwithstanding the boycott of the On- tario Secondary School Teachers' Federation. Mr. Inglis is an honor graduate of Queen's University, and is a specialist in science. He is accept- ing the position at a salary $200 less than demanded by the two teachers who have since been fired. The former teachers were not university graduates, but merely held first-class normal cer- tificates.

GETS WATCH BACK, BUT NOT HIS MONEY

[Special to The Advertiser.]

BRANTFORD, July 22.—Captain Fred Howarth of the central fire department, lost a gold watch and chain and $14 cash, when a sneak thief ransacked his clothing, which had been left on the river bank while the captain went bathing. He considered himself lucky to have his clothing left. The watch was one he could identify easily and when a man attempted to pawn it, he took fright and subsequently left it on the fire hall steps. The $10 and the thief are still missing.

STOTT MOVES FOR NEW TRIAL

Second Suit May Be Entered by Former Londoner.

DETROIT, July 22.—A twenty-day stay of proceedings and the same length of time to file a bill of exceptions and motion for a new trial was granted to Arthur Stott, losing defendant in the sum of $35,000 in the breach of promise suit brought against him by Monica Hatton, formerly of London. The stay was given by Judge Harry J. Dinge- man, who conducted the trial.

Miss Hatton and her counsel, Edward H. Kennedy, are to confer on the ad- visability of bringing a second suit against Stott to determine the paternity of her child. The boy, who has been ill, was much better today. Dr. R. S. Dupont said his illness was not serious.

BYRON CHOIR HELD ENJOYABLE OUTING AT PORT STANLEY

Fine Program of Sports Was Enjoyed At the Lakeside.

PORT STANLEY, July 22. — The Byron Methodist Church choir held their annual outing yesterday. The party arrived early and had dinner on the heights, after which Leslie A. Roberts of Knox Church, London, ad- dressed the assembly on "Church Choir Work."

Bathing was a great feature with the merrymakers, followed by sports, under the direction of their pastor, Rev. G. W. Hedley. The results of the races were:

Plate race—Mrs. B. Rivers.
Candle race—Mrs. Sharp.
Orange-rolling race—Mrs. L. Hender- son.
Peanut race—Mrs. Seabrook.
Leap-frog race—Mr. S. Hadden, Mr. L. Griffith.
Biscuit race—Mr. E. Davis.
Clothespin race—Mr. F. Seabrook.

Sisters of Unity Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen of St. Thomas picnicked on the heights in the afternoon, and were represented by 200 members and families. The M. C. R. trainmen played a good game of ball against the Wabash trainmen, re- sulting in favor of the former 12 to 11. Supper was provided by the ladies, followed by sports.

HARVESTERS ARE NOT SCARCE THIS SEASON

MONTREAL, July 22.—Although definite information has not yet been received regarding the number of men required from Montreal for the prairie harvest, it is thought the number will be between 4,000 and 5,000. There will be little dif- ficulty in securing this number, in the opinion of local railway officials, as there are hundreds of inquiries every day regarding the date of the commencement and the harvest rates.

OH, HA! OH, HUM!

Moving Around Smartly With Our n Interesting But Sentimental Eye- itness:

July 22.—Keenly anticipated arising efore betimes owing to doleful lamen- ations of my most honorable day chief, which doth cause as black a mood as evenge to seize me. Arising from my ouch of slumber and frantically in- ect the stamped communications de- sited upon my ancestral doorstep by letter and postcard carrier from er Duncan's. Grim horror doth ke me, and I shiver strangely. a day of misfortune. I encounter after very precise consideration, favorite and accustomed copy of ge. By the Great Senator I heave housand curses at these slothful ows who do mail printed books, be- nd betimes, and so hold up my column.

As a disastrous sequence, I, not real- zing in my blindest fury, what I do, spill copious doses of vinegar in my morning beverage at the corner bean- ery. (Which same is plenty interesting to the public.)

Resigned stoically to my unjust fate, I, like a true and brave member of foot soldiery, tarry not, but drop into our detective and constable bureau and do converse contentedly with our Master Birrell, who reports that he has not included any four and sure-footed de- tectors in this year's estimates, despite a two-column cut and a long story to that effect, which is passing and re- passing strange.

Out and lured into our Dick Smith club and listen, both highly amused and contemptuously at long harangue by a foolish person who desires to know how far it is to Windsor by railroad ties. Which is utterly silly, and such idle controversy doth conflict greatly with my nobler aspirations for valuable in- formation. As I withdrew, hugely dis- gusted, I hear other foolish individuals raising the question as to whether early training as bartender or machinist doth fit one competently for a life of journal- ism. Which same is thoroughly aside the issue.

My night chief, who possesses a rare ear ((he is always hearing something), hears men arguing with raised voices, accompanied with violent gesticula- tions. They are on our well-advertised London South street coach. Always of an inquiring disposition, our night chief draws near, and is wonderfully con- cerned to learn that patients on the first floor of the city hospital are to be hastened forthwith to their respec- tive floors again. Which seems to please my chief vastly, as he murmurs, laborio- usly climbing the stairs to his inner- most sanctum (where one doth enter in fear and trembling): "Ah, ha! another three-column head. Great stuff!"

Out to interview General Blank of our respected Old Sweats Association of Disgruntled Foot and Horse Soldiery, where discussion of our noble General Currie doth remind me hastily that I have not prepared my regular north end hold-up story.

Same is utterly remarkable, and day chief will rail me most unmercifully. Incidentally comes a young man of newspaper acquaintance, and glasses to me on the street, and complains bitterly that he is in sore trouble, as one of our trusted police officers does threaten to connect with his diminutive nose. I console him hugely, and he doth go away with confidence fully restored.

Ho, Hum! Must now out and make my weekly appointment to honorable and respectable civil service department and then call it a day. But one re- marks, speaking of this bank hold-up near Windsor, that Master Collins, who but recently escaped from yon county inclosure, did not escape, but verily walked away, as our bespectacled friend on a local paper confides.

ORDINATION SERVICE.

On Sunday, July 24, at 11 a.m., special services will be conducted at the English Lutheran Mission, 577 Pall Mall street, in which Candidate Martin Bruer will be ordained and installed as the first Lutheran pastor of London.

Mr. Bruer is a graduate of the Luth- eran Seminary at Springfield, Illinois, Missouri Synod, and comes highly recommended. His coming to London will fill a long-felt need. The sermon for the occasion will be preached by Rev. S. B. Elx of Mitchell. At the ordination and installation Rev. E. Bruer of Wartburg will officiate, as- sisted by other pastors.

Some of the neighboring congrega- tions have been invited, and it is ex- pected that a number will motor here for the occasion.

CARD OF THANKS.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Glen express their deep gratitude for the kindness and sympathy shown by neighbors and friends following their bereavement, in the death of their son. b

PATROLMAN DOES CLEVER WORK IN MAKING ARRESTS

BOTH CONVICTED

E. W. Brock and J. H. Walters Remanded Week for Sentence.

Ernest W. Brock, alias Jack Thom, aged 17 years, was convicted in police court this morning of stealing, with vio- lence, from the person of Mrs. Martha Hill, 199 Horton street, a necklace and purse valued at $10 while she was walk- ing at the corner of York and Clarence streets at 9:45 o'clock last night. He was remanded a week for sentence.

Both Mrs. Hill and her daughter, Gladys, stated positively that Brock was the youth who snatched the purse. A smaller purse fell out of the larger one, but that was recovered.

Constable Percy Last saw Brock and his friend, John H. Walters, at 1:45 o'clock on Richmond street,; at 2:45 a.m., near McClary's factory, and at the corner of Richmond and Central ave- nue at 3:15 o'clock. When he met them the third time, and they did not answer questions put to them in a satisfactory manner he handcuffed them and took them to the police station. The neck- lace was found on Brock, also some keys and a pair of pliers.

Burglar's Implements.

Wire bent for the purpose of opening locks was found on Walters, whose alias is John Gayter. He admitted that they intended to break into places to get something to eat, but that their nerve failed them.

Brock questioned the various wit- nesses in a manner that would do credit to a young attorney. He told of find- ing the beads, and the keys and also a marked check which was in an envelope which an employee of the Bank of Com- merce had given someone to post yes- terday. He said that he had been work- ing for a Toronto art company, but had been discharged. When arrested he gave his address as 474 Bathurst street, Toronto, but in the box gave it as 1196A Dufferin street, Toronto. Walters gave his address as 17 Elm street, Toronto. He said that he came to this country from England about 18 months ago. He was remanded for a week on a vagrancy charge. Brock was fined in police court this week for disorderly conduct.

City Briefs

AT FIRST METHODIST.—In First Methodist Church on Sunday the Rev. Dr. H. A. Carnine will preach in the morning on "Partnership," and in the evening on "The Questionnaire." Dr. Carnine will take this pulpit Sunday and the following Sunday, completing the month of July.

MORE BUILDING PERMITS.—The latest building permits issued at the city hall include one for a frame addition to the Gospel Hall, Hamilton road, at an estimated cost of $800, and one to Allen King for a frame dwelling to cost $3,400.

ANOTHER CAR STOLEN.—Another touring car was stolen from the market square last night. The owner, in re- porting the theft, could not remember the license number, but stated that there was a fire extinguisher on the front seat, two tail lamps, one oil and the other electric. The round mica in the rear curtain was partly broken, and the number B 107 was painted under the hood. The matter is in the hands of the police.

OFFICERS ELECTED.—The Summer School Association of Western Univer- sity met in the art building Tuesday morning last and decided to hold a pic- nic tea on the campus Friday afternoon, July 29. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Dr. Bar- nett, honorary president; Dr. K. P. R. Neville, honorary vice-presendent; W. A. Dent, president; May Beckton, secre- tary-treasurer. Hilgarde Steven, in charge of publicity.

MISS MARY NELLES DIES IN HOSPITAL

Daughter of Late Dr. J. E. Nelles Is Victim of Lengthy Illness.

The death of Miss Mary Nelles, daughter of the late Dr. J. E. Nelles, of this city, occurred in Victoria Hospital on Friday night after a lingering ill- ness.

She is survived by four brothers, J. Witmer and Campbell of this city, Frank W. of Montreal, and Arthur G. of Toronto, and two sisters, Mrs. J. Colerick of this city, and Miss Fanny Nelles of Toronto.

The funeral will be held from the residence of her sister, Mrs. J. Colerick, Base Line, Monday, at 2:30 o'clock, to Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

Services will be conducted at 2 p.m. by Rev. W. A. Carnine of the First Methodist Church.

The pall-bearers will be Arthur and Frank Nelles, James Colerick, E. H. McDermid, R. Stephens and R. R. Bland.

CITY HERD OF DEER IS GROWING RAPIDLY

Another Little Fawn Arrived at Local Zoo Today.

Mrs. Doe Jun has presented a new ar- rival to the Springbank zoo, the baby deer reporting for breakfast this morn- ing. Both mother and baby are doing well, and General Manager Buchanan has instructed that a bunch of choice roots, tied with pink ribbon, be sent to the former with his congratulations.

There are now eight in the herd of deer at the Springbank zoo, and these docile animals are an object of much admiration on the part of adults and children who daily visit the zoo during the summer.

"Bill" Moore, a well-known Londoner, has offered to present his pet cockatoo and parrakeet, a couple of talking birds with beautiful plumage, to the zoo. However, as these are tropical birds, and it would be necessary to take them inside on cold nights and rainy days to avoid death from exposure, the authori- ties reluctantly declined this offer with thanks. "Bill" keeps these birds in his room, where they amuse him, and are sheltered from the elements in contrast to outdoor cages at the zoo.

When you want your entertainment to be successful, you must let the peo- ple know where it is going to be held, and what entertainment you intend to provide. $1.50 is the cheapest rate for an advertisement under the heading of "Amusements."

BLEACHERS AT SUNSHINE PARK

Group of Roman Catholic citizens at Sunshine Park, Waterloo street north, snapped Tuesday evening when the park was opened. This field has been made possible by subscriptions from local Roman Catholics, with Rt. Rev. Monsignor P. J. McKeon, as sponsor. A grandstand as show shower bath accommodation is under construction, the enterprise costing approximately $5,000. Bishop Fallon, Monsignor McKeon, and other R Catholic dignitaries of this city, along with Philip Pocock, chairman of the plagrounds committee, can be seen in theforeground with the contesting teams.

WILL URGE CIVIC AUTHORITIES TO FIND WORK FOR WINTER

Social Service Council To Discuss Many Proposals Regarding Unemployment.

Many valuable suggestions for alle- viating unemployment by furnishing tasks through the winter rather than advancing charity, will be presented for consideration at Monday's meeting of the Social Service Council. Although none of these have been definitely adopted as yet, and are subject to the will of the committee, it is evident that the council is determined by its tenor to increase their activity during the coming season. Although the situation is to be regarded at this moment as no way serious, it is thought well to be prepared with as much work available as possible.

One outstanding suggestion to be asked the full consideration of the council is an apepal to all government and public bodies to inaugurate wher- ever feasible roadways and other per- manent improvements. The construc- tion of storm sewers whenever weather and other conditions will permit, is pointed out as a move that might well be considered by the civic authorities. The beautifying of the Thames has been advanced as an undertaking with a two-fold benefit—employment for many during a depressing period, and inci- dentally removing from the community a continued eyesore.

Manufacturers and other big em- ployers, it is intimated, will be asked to keep their plants busy whenever such can be done without a loss. Builders, it is contended, should make a supreme effort to finish all contracts and seek new ones. Citizens who contemplate making improvements to their property will be urged to proceed in any way possible. The value of odd jobs cannot be under-estimated.

To the farmers it is suggested that they can co-operate to a large degree by draining, clearing uncut corners of their land, salvaging fallen timber, etc.

Thorough investigation of all appeals for assistance will be the order this winter.

SAW POLICE OFFICER SHOT BY SINN FEIN

A. G. McCullough Tells of Serious Conditions in Old Country.

Just having returned from Scotland, A. G. McCulloch, 77 Briscoe street, this city, informed The Advertiser as to conditions as he saw them during his stay there. Mr. McCulloch's father is a well-known mining man in Hamilton, Lanarkshire, Scotland, which afforded Mr. McCulloch a good opportunity to study the conditions. He informed The Advertiser that up to the time he left there was a great deal of poverty re- sulting from the coal strikes. When he left som of th minrs wre resuming work again in the larger mines, but the smaller mines were still flooded, and it would take weeks to get them in work- ing order again.

The cost of living is dearer than in Canada, due to the unsettled conditions in the country. The only article that Mr. McCulloch could recall as cheaper than in Canada was woolen clothing. When he left eggs were retailing at three shillings and sixpence a dozen, nominally 85 cents.

Mr. McCulloch stated that he was within 200 yards of the scene of the shooting of Inspector Johnston by Sinn Feiners when it took place in Glasgow a short time ago.

WILLIAM HARDING DIED FRIDAY NIGHT

Well-Known Citizen Succumbed After Six Weeks Illness.

The death of a well-known and long- established citizen of London, William Harding, of 326 Hyman street, took place Friday night, at St. Joseph's Hos- pital after an illness of about six weeks.

Mr. Harding was born in Shinrone, King's County, Ireland, 86 years ago, and came to this city 56 years ago, where he had resided ever since. From 1866 until 1906 he was employed with E. B. Smith as grocery manager when they were in the wholesale grocery business.

Besides his wife he is survived by one daughter, Mrs. VanDusen of To- ronto, and one son, Walter of this city. One sister and two brothers also sur- vive, and are at present living in Ire- land.

The funeral will be held Monday af- ternoon at 3 o'clock from the above residence to Woodland Cemetery.

Services will be conducted at 2:30 by Dean Tucker, of St. Paul's Cathedral.

NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR EVERYONE WHO IS SEEKING WORK

John Farrell's Retort to the Comments of Secretary Ed. Lance.

"We are not responsible for everyone who goes into offices looking for em- ployment," advised John Farrell of the local department of agriculture, com- menting today upon the statements of Ed Lance of the soldiers' aid commis- sion that he was besieged daily by un- employed.

"But we are responsible," continued the representative, "for our own immi- grants. All we ask is that, in whatever office these people may apply, they be asked every particular concerning their migration into the country, where they come from, who sent them to the sol- diers' aid or elsewhere, and the name of the official overseas who was re- sponsible for their passage. If they have an agricultural certificate and came out directly under the guidance of our department for farm work we want to know about it.

Jump to Conclusions.

"Others need not bother looking them up. We can and will do that ourselves. It may be that there are many going into these offices reporting that they emigrated out recently, but are un- able to get work. Naturally most people jump to the conclusion that all these immigrants were brought out through the efforts of the department of agricul- ture. Such is far from being correct. Many other bodies are interested in the work of colonization, and in addi- tion many have entered the country on their own initiative, after complying with the Government regulations. Con- sequently if they do not get to work for some reason or other and become stranded and seek aid at offices like Mr. Lance's, we cannot be held re- sponsible for them."

SOLDIER ORGANIZATIONS ARE STILL DIVIDED ON AMALGAMATION QUESTION

Uncertainty of Situation Is Resulting in Much Indifference.

While representatives of the differ- ent returned soldier organizations met in Toronto, as a provisional committee to further the cause of the newly-pro- posed Canadian legion, obviously for political unity, the chiefs of these as- sociations convened Friday in Ottawa and assured each other that the new body, if inaugurated, would not seek direct partisan political action. Local veterans of the rank and file, hitherto decidedly in favor of the amalgamation now express doubtfulness relative to the proposition, and even already com- mence to doubt the wisdom of the move.

Not long since, it is pointed out, in- fluential leaders like Major Hunter, of the Army and Navy, previously against amalgamation for political reasons, came out openly for one body as out- lined, declaring that the time for "beat- ing around in the bush" had ceased, and the only possible solution was for the men to get together in one body to get their innings when the present Federal Government is swept from power.

With this in view many of the rank and file were desirous of affiliating with the new legion. Hundreds of returned men, roughly estimated by competent authority at 50 per cent, have never identified themselves with any one or- ganization since returning from over- seas for any one of a number of reas- ons. If political unity is to be forth- coming they are, however, from recent observation ready to wave aside all minor or personal exceptions, if it is really assured that the new associa- tion, embracing as it would all the or- ganized returned men in the Dominion, will throw its weight at the next Fed- eral election where it will be most likely to be appreciated with desired after effects.

It is well known that the Dominion executive of the G. W. V. A. has gone on record against amalgamation, and at Friday's gathering at the capital the Dominion secretary of the G. A. U. V. is insistent that political action is not the object of the union. As a result many local veterans who were ready to join are already commencing to lose interest in the proposal.

WINNIPEG STREET CAR FARES ARE REDUCED

Winnipeg, July 23.—The city council and the Winnipeg Electric Railway Company have come to an agreement over car fares, and the following sched- ule, which is a reduction from the pres- ent rates, goes into effect on August 1. Cash fares, 7 cents week days; 5 cents, Sundays, good at all hours; four tickets for 25 cents, good at all times; nine tickets for 50 cents, good at morning and evening rush hours and on Sunday; and eight school children's tickets for 25 cents, good at all times.

The appeal to the privy council from the decision rendered by the court of appeal of Manitoba, granting the com- pany the increase in rates allowed by the public utilities commission, will be withdrawn.

GRAND TRUNK ANNOUNCES NEW CUTS IN WAGES

C. P. R. Officials Expect the Receipt of New Schedule Tonight.

Following the order issued from Mon- treal for a general reduction in the wages of railway employees, the follow- ing cuts will be made in the mainten- ance and way and bridge building de- partments of the G. T. R., according to word received here today:

Electricians, 8 cents an hour.

The cuts, similar to those announced previously are merely tentative, and are subject to revision after negotiations be- tween the company and the men. They date back to July 1. Many additional hundreds of men in the local division of the G. T. R. will be affected by the new order.

It is expected that an order for a cut in the maintenance of way department of the C. P. R. will be received locally this evening. No report has yet been received covering the transportation de- partment of either roads owing to the fact that they are mostly unorganized.

OVER 86 PER CENT OF THOSE ELIGIBLE PASS ENTRANCE HERE

Public School Inspector V. K. Greer announced today that 86.5 per cent of the public and separate school children eligible for entrance examination in London were successful. There were 634 candidates, and of this number 548 passed.

About 75 per cent of these pupils will continue school studies at the Collegiate Institute making an increase on the roll of the latter institution of approximate- ly 400 students. The enforcement of the adolescent school attendance act, effec- tive September 1, which requires all children under 16 years of age to attend school unless otherwise authorized, will greatly increase the number attending high school here, he asserts.

Certificates will be mailed to success- ful entrance candidates in the near future, according to Inspector Greer.

Would Adopt Old Country System of Wash Houses.

General Manager E. V. Buchanan of the public utilities commission, indorses the scheme advocated by The Advertiser for a municipal laundry for the wives of local workingmen. "I do not know much about a municipal free laundry, which would do the washing," he in- formed a reporter today. "In the Old Country, in conjunction with the public baths they have what they call wash houses.

"The women carry the dirty clothes of the family to the wash houses, where they have free use of tubs and plenty of hot water. Steam dryers do the rest and in a few hours they take the clean clothes home with them.

"If there is any movement on foot to provide a decent municipal swimming pool, then the municipal laundry should be kept in mind, and erected at the same time. My suggestion would be to equip the latter with electric washing machines, which would reduce the cost of operation to a minimum."

FRENCH METAL WORKERS TO STAND BY REDS

Lille, France, July 23.—A majority of one vote in favor of adhesion with the third (Moscow) internationale was given yesterday by the congress of French metal workers, now in session here. The vote stood 113 for adhesion and 112 against, with President Merrhein, an anti-communist, refusing to vote.

LONDONERS MAY

Church of England. It's a kind of pet boast that the Anglicans make from time to time. This seasoned old church has not been without its heresy trials, not at all, but there were long, long ago, centuries ago, in the growing days of the youthful ardor and sometimes the intolerance of the church.

Absurdly Low Church.

Now, Canon Sage is broad, and fairly liberal to, but his is a different type of broadness. Some people don't like his church—"So absurdly Low Church, don't you know," they say. There are lots of other Anglican churches in London; there's St. James, in South London—the rector, Rev. Leslie Armi- tage, is intensely orthodox, but a very good preacher for all that. And there's the Church of St. John the Evangelist, the Church of the Redeemer, and quite a number of smaller suburban churches out Ealing way, in Manor Park, Brough- dale, and London Junction. Don't over- look All Saints', Hamilton road, where School Trustee Rev. A. A. Bice is rector; or St. Matthew's Church, East London, where Rev. Harry Ashby, well known in various interdenominational and social service circles, is the aggressive, popular and democratic pastor of a growing flock.

Under St. Peter's Towers.

Got you sized up all wrong, you say? You're a Romanist? Well, don't let that worry you. When it gets its towers erected, St. Peter's Cathedral will be the finest piece of architecture in all Western Ontario. It's a big, roomy, cool place to worship, or meditate, or just sit quietly inside, and if you cling to the mysticism and the symbolism of the Roman Catholic Church, you will find in the big cathedral just what will help you most. If you live in the out- lying sections you will find St. Mary's, St. Michatel's and St. Martin's Roman Catholic Church all within easy dis- tance.

First Methodist Musical.

Wrong again? You're a Methodist? What extremely wild guesses one makes after a first slight error of judgment. Well, the First Methodist Church, right down town in the apartment house dis- trict, so to speak, is known far and wide for its wonderful music. Of course the choir is abbreviated a bit these hot months, but there will be a quartet of good voices, and a very energetic, right- and-left batting, 300-per-cent hotting everage preacher from somewhere down in Florida. Dr. Carnine is thoroughly orthodox, and he hands out the old- fashioned gospel in truly forcible style.

Dundas Center Exclusive?

Dundas Center Methodist Church used to be regarded as an ultra-exclu- sive church of the one great Canadian denomination, but there was an erro- neous impression created by some in- aptly-worded placards about seats being reserved for pew-holders until fifteen minutes of the opening of the service. Talk about Dundas Center Church being a church for the classes! Arrant non- sense! Where did you get it? Why, Harry B. Ashplant, champion or near- champion of the Independent Labor Party, is an active member down at Dundas Center. If Jimmie Simpson lived in London he would be down there too.

If you don't want to go to a Methodist Church in the dowatown district, there's Ridout Street, Empress Avenue, Robin- son Memorial, Centennial, Hale Street, Hyatt Avenue, Wellington Street and Askin Street churches, and a few more besides. York Street Mission is a Meth- odist outpost, which you ought to visit some time. They give you religion with a good old-fashioned flavor and down- right earnestness down there. Drop around.

Presbyterian Churches.

But your wife is a Presbyterian, you say, and us[illegible]besides where you will go on theat[illegible] church nights. Goes heavy on th[illegible]ination theory for you, and kin[illegible]etly clings to the free-will theory [illegible]herself? How about St. Andrew's? Very good people go there. They've a very earnest and a widely- known preacher in Rev. D. C. Mac- Gregor. Or, maybe, you would find the First Presbyterian more to your liking. Kind of professional man's church, the First Presbyterian. Doctors, lawyers, and other holders of various college diplomas just naturally flock there. Can't tell you why. Can't tell you either, why so many businessmen go to the First Methodist, but it's just as true.

Scotsman Founded London.

Peter McGregor, London's first pioneer, was a good Presbyterian, and maybe Peter fixed it up in his will that there were to be lots of sites reserved for Presbyterian churches. Anyhow, they're scattered around pretty generous- ously—for Presbyterian churches. You'll find them in Knollwood Park, Chelsea Green, South London, London Junction, West London, and everywhere inside the limits. There's Chalmers, New St. James', and Hamilton Road, all with very imposing, architecturally attractive red brick structures. Can't tell you why so many of the newer Presbyterian churches are built out of red brick, but maybe the psychological statistician of some contemporary paper will be able to explain.

The Church That's Different.

The Presbyterians won't do either? Your mother-in-law is a Baptist, and you ought to take her with you? How about Talbot Street? Good music, good sermon, plain, emphatic theology? Want something a bit livelier? Try Adelaide Street Church. "It's different," so the pastor, Rev. G. A. Leichliter, says. There's no danger of misquoting him, because it's printed right on the face of the church calendar, "The Church That's Different." His evening sermon tomorrow is entitled "As Fast As You Like." You may remember Mr. Leich- liter's series of sermons on "Night Life in London." Sure! The same Mr. Leichliter. Can't go tomorrow night. But you'll go the next Sunday. The Baptists also have a lot of churches in London, Wortley Road, Maitland Street, Kensal Park and Egerton Street churches, being others.

"Hope For All," Here.

"Hope For All," says the City Mission sign, up on Dundas street, near the court house square. Kind of an inter- denominational church, but reputed to be moderately inclined towards the Bap- tist persuasion.

If the Baptists are a bit too hard- shelled to suit you, out at Elizabeth and Dundas streets, you will find a Christian or Disciples' Church. The Disciples, who used to be known as Campbellites from one of their found- ers, were originally secessionists from the Baptists.

If you are still unsatisfied there are several more orthodox or nearly ortho- dox churches in London—the Bethany Union or Lutheran mission up on Pall Mall, the Christian Workers down on Ottaway avenue, and one or two gospel halls that cling fairly close to the car- dinal principles of the big Protestant denominations.

Pentecostal Churches.

Drifting slightly away are the Pen- tecostalites, who emphasize healing, speaking and tongues and various other manifestations of the power of the Holy Spirit. There is a Pentecostal mission on Dundas street, near Wil- liam, and a little different group of Pentecostalites meet in a private home on Dufferin avenue. The later group, calling themselves an "Apostolic Church of the Lord Jesus Christ," broke away from the Pentecostalites because the latter did not believe in the impor- tance of the foot-washing ceremony, which these Apostolic Christians hold in common with the Mennonites.

The Plymouth Brethren have a flour- ishing congregation at Hamilton road and Grey streets in what is known as the Gospel Hall.

Resurrectionist Groups.

Of the resurrectionist group, who do not believe in the immortality of the soul, but hold that mankind at the day of judgment will be wholly or partially resurrected by God himself, there are the Christadelphians, the Seventh Day Adventists and the Millennial Dawnists.

They differ on questions of baptism, whether all the dead will be resurrected and whether anybody will be doomed to eternal punishment or only to total an- nihilation.

There are two Jewish synagogues, both orthodox, but one attended more largely by Jews who have emigrated from Eastern Europe.

Unorthodox Groups.

If you are not orthodox after all, you may choose between the Christian Scientists, the Theosophists and the Spiritualists. The Christian Scientists may not like to be called unorthodox, but it's safe to say the great majority of other orthodox Christians regard them as unorthodox.

The Theosophists meet in an artistic- looking hall on Dundas street; the Spiritualists in a little church upstairs in an old shed at Rectory street and Hamilton road. But the Spiritualists are going to build a new church soon.

There are a number of Unity and New Thought circles, but with apparent in- consistencies in recognition of material heat on the part of the weather, they have discontinued their meetings until cooler weather.

The Mohamedans have no mosque nearer than Detroit. There are only about twenty Mohammedans in London.

Among the Chinese there are perhaps 100 Confucianists and twenty Buddhists.

There is a group of Bahai devotees, but they have no public meetings at present.

Greek Orthodox Church.

A Russian Greek Orthodox Church out on Dresden avenue is attended and sup- ported by both Greeks and Russians. The Socialist Labor party, which meets every second Sunday, includes some agnostics among its members.

POLICE IN UNIFORM ATTEND FUNERAL OF SERGT. NOONAN

March to St. Michael's Church To Honor the Veteran Officer.

To pay their last respects to Sergt. Thomas Noonan, veteran police officer, who died Thursday afternoon, following a lengthy illness, as many members of the force as could be spared from duty took part in the funeral procession from his home on William street to St. Michael's Church this morning. The men were in uniform.

Officers, who acted as pallbearers were also in police dress.

The funeral left the house at 8:30 o'clock, and after requiem high mass had been sung at the church at 9 o'clock, continued to St. Peter's Ceme- tery, where interment was made.

COMMITTEE TO TRY TO PATCH GRIEVANCES

The labor representation committee, after a short session in the Labor Temple Friday night, adjourned for a month. The secession of the carshops' federation from the committee was not recognized, and a committee was ap- pointed to meet representatives of the would-be secessionists to endeavor to patch up existing grievances. As the carshops men have already contributed towards the Labor Day celebration and have intimated their intention to march in the Labor Day parade, it is believed that efforts to retain representatives of the union in the labor representation committee will be successful.

PARTS OF NEW FILTER PLANTS HAVE ARRIVED

Word has been received by the public utilities officials of this city to the effect that sections of the new $50,000 filter plant for city drinking water to be erected adjoining the Ridout street pumping station have been shipped to this city from Montreal. This plant when in operation will remove the iron from the water pumped from the Hor- ton street wells, about which many citi- zens have complained, although it is harmless.

The majority of parts for this plant will be manufactured in London, only those parts which cannot be obtained here, being ordered from outside firms, by the contractors, who have sublet their contract to local concerns. The plant will be take nto the site in sec- tions and erected ready for operation in the near future.

BASEBALL DIAMOND IN SUNSHINE PARK

Roman Catholics Equip New Link in Chain of Recreation Centres.

Unheralded, the Roman Catholic cit izens of London, with Monsignor P. J McKeon as sponsor, have quietly gone about and laid out an ideal baseball diamond at Sunshine Park at the north end of Waterloo street, during the past few weeks.

A grandstand, with shower baths and other accommodation for players is un der construction, in addition to the field being levelled, at a total cost of ap proximately $6,000, and games have al ready been played at this new park. Although completed by funds subscribed to by Roman Catholic citizens, this park is open to all youths of the city, re- gardless of religious denomination, the originators of this creditable enterprise desiring that it be regarded as a unit in the civic playgrounds system.

A baseball game was staged in the park Tuesday evening, when His Lord- ship Bishop M. Fallon, Father McKeon and other church dignitaries of Lon don, along with leading Roman Catholic citizens, were present to view the new park for the first time since its in- auguration.

OIL FIELD FIRE IS UNDER CONTROL

Mexico City, July 23.—Fire in the Amatlan oil fields, which broke out on Wednesday, and caused property dam- age estimated at several million dollars, has been reduced to two wells, which are still burning fiercely. Reports from Tampico say the conflagration is unlikely to spread further.

WALL STREET REVIEW.

New York, July 23.—Extreme dull- ness characterized the week in the stock market. Dealings were in the smallest volume of any like period this year, and fluctuations were in keeping with the listless trading.

Another reduction of discounts by the principal reserve banks, and concurrent action by the Bank of England pointed to easier money and credit conditions, but were without apparent influence as market factors.

Operators also ignored proposed changes in the Fordney tariff bill, al- though these bore pertinently upon the capital issue of many popular com- panies, notably in oil, cotton and lea- ther industries.

Authoritative advices from leading centers of trade and industry empha- sized a more hopeful feeling. The steel industry was a striking exception, however, more unfavorable statements of earnings for the year's second quar- ter being issued.

Rails most often were dull, but main- tained a firm undertone.

Exchange on London and most con- tinental points were increasingly re- actionary, albeit actual dealings were nominal.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

New York, July 23—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Rails were the firm features at the hesitant opening of today's stock market. Shorts covered moderately in those issues on news that the federal government had virtually agreed upon a plan for funding the obligations of the transportation companies. Steels and equipments registered slight gains and losses, and oils manifested similar irregular tendencies. Sugar, rubber and paper issues were among the most steady specialties. Preliminary ex- change rates on London were reaction- ary.

FRUIT AND VEGETABLES.

Toronto, July 23.—The week-end fruit market was active, with receipts fairly heavy and demand brisk. There were no cabbage or cauliflowers. White & Co. announce the following wholesale selling prices this morning:

Raspberries—20@25c.

Blueberries—$2@2 75.

Canteloupes—Flats, $2 50; standards, $6 50.

Corn—$250@2 75.

Tomatoes—Firsts, $1 75; seconds, $1 25.

Watermelons—75c.

MONTREAL STOCK EXCHANGE.

Montreal, July 23.—The stock ex- change here is closed today.

ANOTHER VICTIM OF RHEUMATISM

MR. AMEDEE GARCEAU.

32 Hickory St., Ottawa, Ont.

"I was for many years a victim of that terrible disease, Rheumatism. In 1913, I was laid up for four months with Rheumatism in the joints of the knees, hips and shoulders and was prevented from following my work, that of electrician.

"I tried many remedies and was under the care of a physician; but nothing did me any good. Then I began to take 'Fruit-a-tives' and in a week I was easier, and in six weeks I was so well I went to work again.

"I look upon this fruit medicine, 'Fruit-a-tives' as simply marvellous in the cure of Rheumatism, and strongly advise everyone suffering with Rheumatism to give 'Fruit-a-tives' a trial.

LITTLE NAP COSTLY FOR RUM-RUNNERS

Pair Who Went To Sleep Near Exeter Were Each Fined $1,000.

DRIVER JAILED FOR A WEEK

Corunna Youth Admits He Drove Car While Intoxicated.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

GODERICH, July 22.—Charles C. Leaming of Corunna, Ont., and C. McIntosh, Port Huron, the youthful drivers of a big car of liquor, who were caught near Exeter on Tuesday evening appeared before Magistrate Reid this afternoon and were each fined $1,000 and costs.

The young men were on their way from Kitchener to Windsor with sixteen cases of liquor and became intoxicated. After driving their big car into the ditch near Kirkton they lay down by the roadside with a couple of big guns very much in evidence and went to sleep.

A telephone message brought police from Exeter, who took the pair and their car in charge. Later they were removed to Goderich.

A second charge was laid against Leaming of driving a motor vehicle while he was intoxicated. He pleaded guilty. Magistrate Reid informed him that in this case he could not impose a fine and sentenced Leaming to seven days in the county jail.

No disposition has as yet been made of the liquor pending word from the attorney general's department in Toronto.

WHO OWNS THE CAR.

WINDSOR, July 22.—Was a large cargo of the forbidden beverage spirited across the St. Clair River a few miles south of Sarnia tonight? Local authorities are inclined to that theory following the seizure of a large motor car bearing license number 17-466 by License Inspector W. J. Coulter at a point about three miles south of this city where it had been left standing. It is believed that a load had been transferred to a boat and transported across before the officer arrived, as a small boat was noticed pulling into the American shore about the time that the inspector reached the point where the machine was parked. There was no sign of any person who might be the driver near the car when it was seized. It will be held until the owner or driver appears to claim the machine.

OFFICIALS ARE NEUTRAL.

SARNIA, July 22.—Although undelivered liquor shipments have been seized in many cities since Monday at midnight, there has been no interference in this city with consignments which arrived before Monday, and were not delivered on that day. For a time there seemed to be some possibility of Inspector Coulter stepping in and taking the joy out of life for the eleventh hour consignees by confiscating their liquor. Chief Lannin of the Sarnia police department has adopted an attitude of neutrality of the question, also Crown Attorney Willson. The Canadian Express Company has delivered liquor since Monday and still have a few cases left which they delivered today.

LOSS OF $30,000 IN ROCKLAND, QUEBEC, FIRE

OTTAWA, July 22.—Fire of unknown origin breaking out near midnight on Thursday, destroyed thirteen residences and dwellings and caused a $30,000 loss at Rockland, Que. Only a small part of the loss is covered by insurance. The fire started in Poulette street and spread quickly to a restaurant. From there it spread up both Poulette and Gareau streets until it had wiped out upwards of a dozen homes and also damaged several sheds and outbuildings.

The fire was brought under control about six o'clock this morning.

PLANNED TO KILL WIFE FIRST AND THEN HIMSELF

Jury Investigates Death of Herman Steppler At Kitchener.

[Special To The Advertiser.]

KITCHENER, July 22.—That Herman Carl Steppler, who was found dead in a cistern at the rear of his home on Walter street on the afternoon of July 11 came to his death by cutting his own throat and later jumping into the cistern, was indicated in the evidence heard by the coroner's jury this afternoon.

The evidence of Mrs. Steppler showed that her husband had not been in his usual spirits for some time, and that he had threatened once or twice to kill himself and her. The evidence of Steppler's brother-in-law, who last saw Steppler on Sunday evening when he drove him home from Bridgeport, showed that the man was in a mood to end his own life. He stated that on Sunday night while driving along the road they passed an undertaker's wagon going for a corpse, and Steppler remarked he wished he was the corpse.

Planned Double Killing.

Letters found on the body of Steppler, addressed to Casper Braun and written by Steppler, stated that Steppler intended to kill himself and his wife, as a result of family trouble. He apologized to Mr. Braun, by whom he was employed, for his action, and expressed the hope that someone would look after his children.

Mrs. Steppler testified that shortly after 4 o'clock on Monday morning, July 11, Steppler came into her room, the two occupying separate bedrooms, and asked her a question. She refused him. She stated that she did not see him, as she was lying on her side, with her back turned. She did not know anything after that until she woke up and found herself bleeding and her face severely swollen. She screamed, and her young son came to her, and they went together to her mother's, next door.

No Signs of Struggle.

The evidence of the police showed that there were no signs of a struggle in the bedroom in which Mrs. Steppler was assaulted by her husband. Bert Haslem, who lives across the street, stated on the stand that he saw Steppler running for the street while he was phoning for the police, at the request of Mrs. Steppler's mother.

The post-mortem report of Dr. Hagmeier showed that in cutting his throat Steppler failed to sever the important arteries, and really died from drowning. The verdict of the jury was that Steppler came to his death as a result of drowning after he had cut his own throat while in a temporary fit of insanity.

GOVT. INSURANCE IS NOT POPULAR

Only Two Widows and Seven Nurses Have Policies.

OTTAWA, July 22.—Only two widows have taken advantage of the privilege of insuring with the Government under the returned soldiers' insurance act. Up to the present time nine families have taken out insurance under the act. Seven of the nine policies were taken out by nursing sisters who served during the war.

When the act was passed originally provision was made to enable the widows of members of the forces who died after discharge from the army to obtain insurance, for the reason that in many cases returned soldiers died after discharge frome some causes not attributable to military service, and consequently their widows were not eligible for pension. It was felt that they should be given an opportunity of insuring for the benefit of their children, and this was done by inserting a section in the returned soldiers' insurance act, enabling them to make application for twelve months from the date upon which the act came into force. This period expires on September 1 of this year, after which date no applications will be received from the widows.

SHIPPING CO'Y LOWERS CATTLE OCEAN RATES

MONTREAL, July 22.—(By Canadian Press).—Although shipping companies in this port all have a large number of cattle contracted to be shipped at $40 a head to British ports, one of them, the White Star Dominion Line, being booked at this rate up to the end of August, this concern and the others are now accepting shipments of cattle at $30 a head. Shipping men here, however, were unable tonight to state whether or not the existing contracts at the $40 rate would be trimmed to the lower level.

Mr. Biggs stated that the unemployment conference was called at the Parliament Buildings after he had made his appointment to appear in Ailsa Craig, and he was expressly asked by the premier to be present at that meeting.

CANNOT BE EXTRADITED.

OTTAWA, July 22.—Grover Bergdoll, American draft evader, will not likely be brought to Canada from Germany because he is a German citizen and as such cannot be extradited to Canada through the provisions of an old treaty between the two countries. This it is understood is the decision of officers of the department of justice, who have been investigating the case.

HEAT WAVE HAS HIT THE WEST

Rain Is Needed in Some Sections of Alberta.

WINNIPEG, July 22.—No break is apparent in the heat wave which is quite general over the western provinces, and high temperatures were reached today at many points. The present week is described as a trying one in Southern Alberta and rain is needed with which it is hoped a crop can be harvested which will be two-thirds as large as that of 1920. Prince Albert reported cheerfully today that prospects in that crop area were of the brightest.

Manitoba needs cooler weather and rain, but more heat is predicted for tomorrow.

RAIN IS NEEDED.

LETHBRIDGE, July 22.—Crops in Southern Alberta have withstood a trying week of intense heat and warm winds and a general rain is needed to bring conditions back to approaching normal. Wednesday was the hottest day since 1910. It is estimated that about two-thirds of last year's total will be the best crop that can be expected over the whole of Southern Alberta. This would be only one-third the 1915 crop. In some districts, particularly along the international boundary, crops are still standing up very well, but everywhere rain is needed to keep the fields that are left from going back.

CROP PROSPECTS GOOD.

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., July 22.—Crop prospects in this area are of the brightest. Although there are isolated cases of severe damage from hail, the percentage on the whole is negligible. No rust or smut has appeared, and little damage has been done by grasshoppers or cutworms. Wheat is all headed out, and 75 per cent of the oats have followed suit to date. Bright, sunny weather is now required, and this has been enjoyed during the week. With a continuance of the same favorable conditions the grain harvest should commence about the middle of August and continue without cessation, as the coarser grains are so well advanced. It is estimated the yield will closely rival the output of the bumper crop of 1915.

Garden produce of every kind is prolific, the abundant rains in June having assured successful growth. Hay is very plentiful on the uplands and in the sloughs, but none of the latter can be cut without difficulty, owing to the presence of water.

DRUMMERS ARE HAVING BIG TIME AT KITCHENER

[Special to The Advertiser.]

KITCHENER, July 22.—Kitchener is en fete tonight and tomorrow for the Drummers' "Snack Club," which is holding its annual outing here. More than 3,000 commercial travelers from the Dominion, with their ladies, are here. Picnics, balls, concerts, parades, sports and a full line of other amusements are in progress. The market square is a blaze of lights tonight and the travelers are enjoying the revelry of a street dance in front of the city hall. The celebration is easily the biggest affair that has been held in Kitchener in the last ten years. Saturday will be given over to a long program of sporting events.

At a special meeting of the police commission this afternoon, it was decided to call upon all citizens who have any charges to lay against Chief O'Neil to bring their charges before the commission by August 15, when an investigation will be held. This action was taken at the request of Chief O'Neill in answer to recent criticisms by the city council. The commission also decided to appoint a clerk to assist the chief of police in the clerical work of the police office.

OBJECTED TO HAVING HIS LETTERS OPENED

Reason Why Sir Lomer Gouin Left La Presse.

MONTREAL, July 22.—(By Canadian Press.)—One reason why Sir Lomer Gouin, former premier of Quebec, left LaPresse after a few months' service on the directing staff of that newspaper, was given in evidence by Arthur Berthiaume, president and general manager of the paper, today, during the course of the hearing of requests for cross injunctions made by the two warring factions now fighting for control of the journal.

Eugene, according to the witness, was also in the habit of opening his brother's correspondence, and this was a source of continual grievance between the brothers.

Eugene Berthiaume followed his brother into the box, and his evidence, as far as it went until the court adjourned until Monday, was to the effect that the books of LaPresse Company had disappeared, he did not know how.

MILLS ARE DELAYED WITH ORDERS FOR FEED

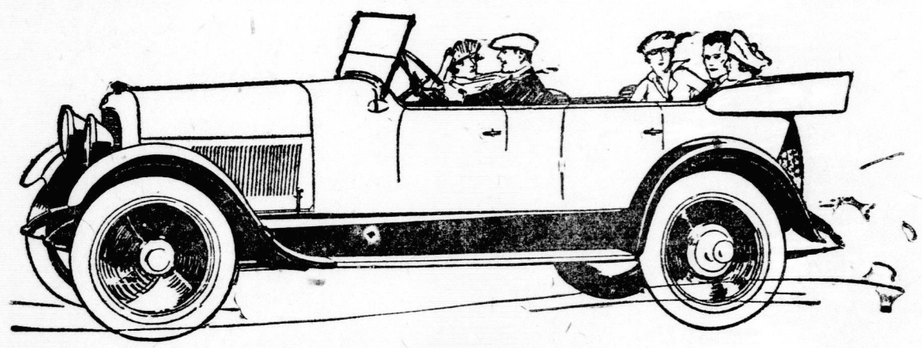

PETERBORO, July 22.—Damage to crops in Eastern Ontario and Quebec by the hot, dry weather is so serious that flour mills here are deluged with orders for feed. Both the Quaker Oats and the Peterboro Cereal Companies are operating their mills day and night in order to meet the demand for feed and foreign flour orders. Feed, which has been accumulated and stored away in buildings in all parts of the city, is being moved rapidly.

Furthermore, the price has been reduced. You have only to look at the car to realize that no greater value was ever offered before, during or after the war. In fact, no such car was possible until 1921.

These are hard facts, and they are very important. Give them a little consideration and you will understand why the "Glenbrook" is so universally regarded as a safe, sane and profitable investment.

Seasonable Pointers For Farmers

Producing and Marketing New-Laid Eggs Needs Care

Infertile Eggs Are the Best For the Purpose — Male Birds Should Be Disposed Of After Breeding Season.

Disposal of Male Birds.

The presence of male birds in the flock after June 1 each year has a decidedly detrimental effect upon the quality of eggs marketed for the following reasons:

Eggs which have been fertilized constitute the greatest proportion of the inferior stock which, when examined, proves unfit for food.

It is not necessary that these eggs shall have remained for a time under a brody hen, a temperature of 70 degrees being, in itself, sufficient to cause the germ to commence to grow.

If the heat is constant the development of the chick will continue, but if it ceases or is intermittent, putrefaction at once sets in and the egg becomes bad.

Infertile eggs free from the active germ cell, do not, under ordinary conditions, deteriorate as rapidly as fertile eggs.

Few farmers seem to comprehend these facts, and consequently very few make any effort to insure infertility.

The erroneous impression prevails among many, that the presence of the male bird in the flock is essential to the production of a maximum number of eggs.

Farmers and others selling eggs for market are therefore urged to kill off, dispose of, or at least remove from the flock the male birds after the breeding season.

Canadian farmers lose at least a million dollars each year through the presence of partially incubated and bad eggs in the produce which is marketed, not to mention the value of the feed consumed in the six or seven months in which the male birds are kept to no purpose, and the fact that the prices for poultry are invariably higher in June than later. The best trade in many Canadian cities also offers a premium of from one to five cents per dozen for non-fertilized eggs, and this suggests an additional financial consideration which but few can afford to overlook.

Production.

Feed the hens on clean, wholesome food and provide an abundance of pure water in clean utensils.

Keep the poultry house clean, sanitary and free from vermin.

Provide plenty of clean, dry nests in darkened places.

Kill off, dispose of, or at least remove from the flock, the male birds after breeding season. Their presence in the flock after June 15 is costing Canadian farmers a million dollars each year through the sale of partially incubated eggs.

MARKETING.

Always keep in a cool, dry place.

Always keep them covered with a cloth or other means to prevent falling or evaporation.

Never keep eggs near kerosene, onions, fish or other strong smelling substance; they readily absorb odors.

Do not sell eggs known to be bad. It is dishonest.

Use the dirty, small, very long and grass-stained eggs at home.

Market eggs as regularly and frequently as possible—at least twice a week in summer and once in winter.

Secure suitable crates for home use and thus prevent breakage and slight cracking.

Never use dirty, filthy cases nor soiled, musty fillers in shipping. Remember that eggs are easily tainted and extremely perishable.

Insist that your eggs and the eggs of your district be bought on a basis of quality according to Canadian Egg standards.

Women's Work At Fairs Requires Rearranging

Some Suggestions As To Handling Exhibits and Awarding Prizes—New Rules Required For Professionals and Women Directors Who Compete.

[Specially Contributed.]

The prize lists of the fall fairs where women's work is concerned are in many cases not up-to-date. Of course, in one respect the directors of the agricultural society are not to blame, for the majority are of the male sex and are not familiar with ladies' work. But why not have a woman's committee, and why not have the lists replanned and revised? There are many things on the prize lists today that were products of well-nigh a century ago.

Money is paid out annually as prizes on these entries, and this is considered by many competent judges as mere waste, as the true idea of the fair is being lost, which is to show the people what are the latest things, and to encourage the young women of the rural districts to exhibit their work.

According to many of the prize lists one may enter some quilt or cushion of a great-grandmother year after year and still secure prizes. Another thing that tends to ruin the rural fair is the professional who goes through the country and spoils nearly every fair. These people go through their trunks and bring their stuff out from year to year, and their aim is to make all the cash they can out of the fair. There are many girls of the rural communities who have good work to show, and who have to stand back because beside the professionals' work theirs cannot compete. These girls will never be able to give the community the credit of their work, for they are being barred out.

If there is a large exhibit from a professional, and it is the best there, and no reservations are made, the judge must award them the prizes. To assist this condition there might be a special class for professionals, and classes in which professionals are not allowed to enter, so that the local talent may be developed.

Directors as Exhibitors.

The women directors should not be exhibitors. Mrs. H. M. Parsons, a departmental judge at many of the fall fairs, in speaking to the Agricultural Societies' convention, stated that many times she has been approached by a woman director, who would say: "Isn't that a nice piece of work?" and presently one would know everything she had there, which is not fair.

No exhibitor should be allowed around while the judging is being done, neither should an exhibitor's husband be present. The honorable judge wishes to do her own judging, and if that is not satisfactory the board may report the complaints to the department.

At the fall fair there should be someone to arrange exhibits in the proper order in every department. In some places the exhibitors are allowed to place articles themselves, and are handicapped in not knowing just where to place them. Quite frequently where there is an exhibit of school work the teachers bring in their collections after 4 o'clock, and no place having been set apart for the work they have to search for a ladder, tacks, etc., and arrange the various classes, and not all being present at the one time they are not aware of how many exhibits there will be. A male director assists, and we often find some water-color in one division and then a space of pencil drawings, and then some more water-color pictures, etc. This makes it very difficult for the judge, for it is almost impossible to look around and examine one article up here, the other up there, and so on, and judge the merits of the work. There should be someone who understands the various divisions to supervise the arrangement, and thus give the exhibitors every advantage in displaying their work, and also permit the judge to do his duty systematically.

Allocation of Prizes.

On some of the prize lists we find large sums given for some work and too small sums for other exhibits. We find a prize of $1 offered for a prize of mitts that could be bought for 75 cents; then again, 50 cents for hand-painted china, the smallest display of which will cost several dollars if we consider the china, paint, firing, etc. Also, frequently, 75 cents will be offered as a prize for a beautiful centerpiece that would sell for $20 or $25.

So farmers' daughters and wives do not care to risk carrying their valuable china, paintings, needlework, etc., to the fair to secure such a small prize.

It would also aid the directors of the agricultural societies if donors would either give straight cash prizes or some article from their store without the condition that the donor must receive the exhibit, which might be five pounds of the best dairy butter or ten pounds of honey. The exhibitor is quite frequently offered a good price for her butter or honey, and if she must contribute it to the donor she is at a disadvantage.

It is a wise plan to have exhibits attractive. One lady, who was noted for making the best bread in the district, exhibited it in a pan which marked the bread, and made it appear dirty, and so she lost the prize. Another lady who exhibited a fine display of needlework at one of our fall fairs had each exhibit on a different piece of colored paper; for instance, a geranium centerpiece on a blue paper. So she lost the prize, as her work was not displayed to the best advantage.

All these things are bad for the fair, and by devoting more attention to these seemingly minor affairs great improvements may be made in many of our fall exhibitions.

In recent years some fair boards have installed wire screens for the protection of exhibits, and made some improvements in arrangement, but in many local centers there is still ample opportunity for a revival.

If you want a good attendance at your meeting let Advertiser readers know when it is going to be. The rate is 2 cents per word or 15 cents per line.

PALE AND NERVOUS SCHOOL CHILDREN

Need Rich, Red Blood To Regain Health and Strength.

Many children start school in excellent health, but after a short time home work, examinations, hurried meals and crowded schoolrooms cause their blood to become weak, their nerves overwrought and their color and spirits lost. It is a mistake to let matters drift when boys and girls show symptoms of nervousness or weak blood. They are almost sure to fall victims of St. Vitus dance, or drift into debility that leads to other troubles. Regular meals, out-door exercise and plenty of sleep are necessary to combat the nervous wear of school life. But it is still more important that parents should pay attention to the school child's blood supply. Keep this rich and red by giving Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and the boy or girl will be sturdy and fit for school. The value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of this kind is shown by the statement of Mrs. Watson, Grand Falls, N. B., who says: "In the spring of 1919 my daughter, Thistle, then 12 years of age, began to show symptoms of nervousness which developed into St. Vitus dance. She seemed to lose control of her limbs and at times every muscle in her body seemed to be twitching and jerking, and the trouble seemed to be growing worse. We finally decided to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and the result was better even than we had hoped for, and she is now enjoying the best of health."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

Canada Wants Bacon Hogs In Preference To Fat Ones

The Nature of Home and Export Demand Makes Bacon Type Necessary—British Market Requires "Wiltshire" Sides Every Week.

There is no sound argument for the production of the "fat hog" in Canada. As a matter of fact, we have long since been forced out of that business because of the peculiarly strong advantages possessed by the United States in the marketing facilities and outlet for the product of that type of hog. The fat hog supplies to the American trade enormous quantities of lard for which there exists a tremendous home demand. This means that the American packer can make use of a very fat hog, making lard from the fat and putting the lean part of the carcass on the market as meat. On the other hand, Canada has comparatively little home demand for lard, and so practically all the Canadian hog must be consumed as meat, and the greater part of that meat as bacon. It is therefore plain that the nature of our home and export demand make the bacon hog the necessary type for the Dominion.

But, strong as are these reasons against raising the fat hog in Canada, there are others more potent still. To produce the fat hog economically, the feeding of large quantities of cheap corn is an absolute necessity, and corn is one of the principal crops of the United States. To bear out the truth of these statements, it may be pointed out that the greater part of the hog output of the United States is produced in the corn belt. It may truthfully be said that, being a great corn country, the United States has been forced for that very reason to produce the fat hog. It has long been recognized as the salvation of the corn-growing states, for it offers one great source through which to market their enormous annual crop.

On the other hand, Canada has not a large corn production. We have no corn belt and as compared with our neighbors, we cannot begin to produce a similarly large amount of cheap corn. Fat hogs cannot be produced for competitive marketing unless grown on corn. These facts make it very plain that we cannot go into open competition with our neighbor across the line. The higher cost of production and inability to produce t similar perfection of type in the fat hog prohibit it.

Local or Export.

It has often been argued that fat hogs have commanded just as high prices as the higher quality bacon hog. While this may be true, it must be clearly understood that there is a certain rigid home demand for fat hogs, but, as soon as this demand has been supplied and an attempt made to dispose of the surplus in Great Britain, we would find ourselves put out of business by American competition. With their immense and varied home market and their cheap corn they have every advantage. The bacon hog enables us to dispose of our surplus on a profitable market. If we lose the bacon hog, we sign the death warrant to our export trade in hog products.

We must produce a regular supply. We cannot go into the business for six months of the year, and then go out of it for six months without having a general average of price that is unprofitable both to producer and packer. Such a course breaks trade connections, loses customers and ultimately results in a cutting of prices on the part of the packer to get these customers back. The farmer must pay the price for this irregularity. The British buyer must have the assurance of a regular supply, otherwise he will utilize sources where the supply is dependable. In short, our supply must be organized to meet the requirements of the trade. If the market wants hogs in September, then October marketing will not do. It may suit our convenience but it will not build up our business.

It is this irregularity in the production of our hogs that has been directly responsible for what is often wrongfully termed overproduction. Irregularity breeds a surplus. Regularity distributes to avoid a surplus. For example, the British market requires a certain number of Wiltshire sides every week. Let us say, for illustration, this represents the product of 15,000 hogs. This means a total trade of 780,000 hogs per year. If we produced and marketed these hogs as required, we would have an outlet for just that number of hogs. We could depend on marketing that many. On the other hand, if we produced and marketed the greater part of our hogs in the fall of the year, the period of lowest prices in the British market, what would be the result? We would find a market just exactly the size of the trade for that period. An oversupply is created, we have congested the market and lower prices follow as a consequence. Demand controls supply. Supply does not and cannot regulate demand.

Ranching and Reforestation

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Sir,—While it is very desirable that farmers should do all they can to preserve, improve and extend what is left of the original forests on their farms, respectively, it is quite as important that the great northern areas of Ontario, which have been stripped of their crops of white pine and white spruce, should be reforested with trees of the same valuable species. These lands have been lumbered over and burned over until they have nothing more to yield to the owners or licensees, and for a whole generation they have been allowed to lie useless for all economic purposes.

Meanwhile what is left of the original lumber crop is disappearing with constantly intensifying rapidity. For a comparatively few years Ontario's revenue from resinous timber will for all practical purposes be exhausted. Ministry has succeeded ministry in the administration of the provincial public domain, and not a move has been made either to conserve the reproductive capacity of the forest or to replace the waste by artificial means.

There are millions of acres left without enough trees to produce the seed necessary for reproduction. The only recourse is to force the licensee either to surrender his timber limit or replant it and care for the trees in a scientific way. If he chooses the latter alternative, his license should be cancelled for non-fulfillment of the conditions, in the event of his failure to observe them; if he chooses the former, then the government should re-grant the vacated areas to others who will undertake to carry on reforestation work to the stipulated extent.

Fortunately it is quite practicable to utilize the waste lands for the ranching of beef cattle while new forest is growing to maturity. Much of the spontaneous vegetation of forested lands is suitable for cattle fodder. Areas small or large are supplied with soil that is both fertile and arable, and these might be devoted to the production of pasturage in summer or forage for winter. The great pre-Cambrian region abounds with streams and small lakes. The climate is favorable to the comfort of cattle on account of its dryness. Shelters may be easily and cheaply constructed. Deer and moose abound throughout the region, and so do furbearing animals. There is no reason why it should not be revenue-producing while a new forest is developing.

SPRAY POTATOES FOR LATE BLIGHT

The Late Blight and Rot of potatoes is one of the most destructive plant diseases in the world. Partly by killing the plants prematurely before they have time to mature a crop, and partly by rottingt thet tubers, the annual loss which it occasions is incalculable. Yet this loss can be reduced to a vanishing point by thorough and timely spraying with Bordeaux mixture. If the spraying be carefully done it is practically certain that it twill be a profitable undertaking every year, and a very profitable one every year that Late Blight is prevalent.

About five applications will be necessary, and to be perfectly safe the first should be made when it is necessary to apply poison for the Colorado beetle for the first time. That will be as a rule about the middle of July. The succeeding ones should follow about the end of July, the middle of August and the end of August, and the middle of September, or at intervals of about two weeks. It is necessary to put on the spray with a spraying machine of such power that it will force the liquid out in the form of a fine mist. It is better to put on from 50 to 100 gallons to the acre. More will do no harm, though less may suffice when the plants are small.

Preparation of Bordeaux Mixture.

Bordeaux mixture, containing 6 pounds of copper sulphate (bluestone) and 4 pounds of lime, to 40 imperial gallons of water is recommended. To prepare this in large quantities proceed as follows:

(a) Make a stock containing 1 pound of copper sulphate to the gallon of water. To do this, measure 40 gallons of water into a barrel, tie up 40 pounds of copper sulphate in a small bag or a piece of canvas, and suspend it just beneath the surface of the water. It will go into solution in this way. Do not use an iron vessel for copper sulphate.

(b) Make a stock mixture of lime water containing 1 pound of lime to the gallon of water. Place 40 pounds (two-thirds of a bushel) of quick lime in a barrel and slake it by the gradual addition of water. Air-slaked lime is useless. When thoroughly slaked add more water, working the lime up with it into a paste, and then fill up with water to the 40-gallon mark. Cover both barrels to prevent evaporation.

Both these solutions will keep good as long as they are not mixed, and the spraying mixture is made up from them only as it is required. This latter will not keep, and it should be used the same day as it is made. Run 30 gallons of water into the tank of the seraying machine, add 6 gallons of the stock solution of copper sulphate and stir well. Mix up the stock milk of lime thoroughly and draw off 4 gallons, running it through a strainer to keep back the coarser particles. Then stir up the copper sulphate in the spray tank again, and while stirring pour in the milk of lime. The result is 40 gallons of Bordeaux mixture. Never mix the concentrated copper sulphate solution with the concentrated milk of lime.

The spray must not contain excess of copper sulphate in proportion to lime; if it does it will burn the foliage. As lime varies in strength, the Bordeaux should be tested with a testing mixture of half an ounce of potassium ferrocyanide dissolved in half a pint of water. This substance is poison. Add a drop or two of it to the spray, and if a distinct brown color appears where the drop falls, more lime is needed. If not, the mixture is ready to use.

The poisons for the Colorado beetle can be supplied with Bordeaux mixture. A combination of half a pound of Paris green and one and a half pounds of arsenate of lead is recommended.

Both substances should be stirred up with water until they form a uniform thin paste, which is then added to the spraying mixture, the whole being well stirred.

Points in Spraying.

Spray before the blight appears.

Spray before rainy periods, and give the spray time to dry. It won't wash off.

Half spraying won't pay. Don't waste your time and money proving it.

GOOD PROGRESS WITH HARVESTING

Wheat Practically All Cut and Good Progress Made With Barley.

Following is a summary of reports made by agricultural representatives to the Ontario department of agriculture:

Good progress with harvesting operations is reported from all parts of Ontario. Wheat is practically all cut and a good start has been made on the barley. Only a few oats have been cut as yet, but they will be ready any day now. An anomaly is noted in Western Ontario, where the wheat is harvested before all the haying is done in some instances. This is because the wheat ripened so early that farmers had to leave their haying to take care of it and have not as yet been able to entirely complete the haying.

Weather conditions are having a varying influence on the crops. In Eastern Ontario the drought is having a severe effect. In Kent particularly, and in some other Western Ontario counties slightly, considerable damage was done by the heavy storms of last week. On the other hand, Middlesex particularly reports that the corn which was flattened by earlier storms has now practically all recovered.

The intensely hot weather has greatly curtailed the milk flow, the decrease being estimated as high as 30 per cent in several counties. Prices are accordingly strengthening, with cheese up to 23 5-16c, butterfat ranging from 27c to 35c, and dairy butter from 35c to 45c per pound.

In the fruit sections raspberries and cherries are still being marketed, the latter proving a larger crop in many sections than was anticipated.

New potatoes, tomatoes and harvest apples have made their appearance on the markets, commanding good prices.

While not a great deal of marketing is being done, hogs are quoted at country points at $10.50 to $10.75 per cwt., general purpose horses, 5 to 8 years old, $150 to $200, hay $20 to $22 per ton. Kent reports the marketing of some spring wheat at $1.25 per bushel.

With haying and harvesting operations at their height, the reports from many sections are fairly unanimous that the demand for labor is greater than the supply. In some instances it is noted that the labor offering is inexperienced and therefore unsatisfactory. It is apparent that many able-bodied men who are willing to work and have had some experience in harvesting could be placed in the rural sections for the next few weeks.

Temiskaming is of opinion that while alsike for seed will not yield so well as last year, the quality of the seed will be better.

Wellington says that some farmers are plowing down heavy crops of sweet clover. Scores of others are counting on plowing down the second crop.

HOW TO CONTROL RASPBERRY PESTS

Orange Rust Is One of the Most Serious Diseases Attacking This Fruit.

Owing to the abnormally dry season and other causes, insect pests and plant diseases appear to have been unusually plentiful. The result is that in some districts the fruit yields will be seriously affected. Disease has attacked the raspberry bushes in some parts of the country, and the following information in regard to this matter may be found useful:

Diseases.

Anthracnose (Gloesporium Venetum) is distinguished by the drying up of the leaves and the dying of the canes, especially at the tips. Small purplish spots appear at first on both leaves and wood, but later the center of them becomes grey and sunken, giving a bird's eye effect.

Remedy—Control measures have not been effective. Prevent from spreading by cutting out and destroying as soon as noticed.

Orange Rust (Gymnoconia Peckiana—This is a very serious disease, but it is easily distinguished by the yellowish rust that appears on the leaves and canes. It attacks the plant at all stages, and though the plant may not be killed outright it is so weakened that it is valueless.

Remedy—Control measures are ineffective. The diseased plants must be cut out and destroyed as soon as they appear. The least delay only allows the disease to spread further. Spraying is ineffective.

Crown Gall (Pseudomonas tumefaciens)—This attacks the roots, producing galls or growths thereon which causes the weakening of the plants and makes them unprofitable. It is the same as that which attacks the peach.

Control—By digging out and destroying. Do not plant in the same field for three or four years.

Injurious Insects.

Snowy Tree Cricket—The only injury done by this insect is in depositing the eggs in the canes. They are noticed in rows from one to two inches running lengthwise of the canes. Otherwise the insect is beneficial, feeding upon injurious plant lice. The cutting out and destroying of the old canes in winter or early spring keeps it under control.

Raspberry Cane Borer—The injury is done by the insect making two girdles around the cane about half an inch apart, between which the eggs are laid. The egg hatches and the larvae bores down in the pith of the cane. This causes the top or injured portion to wilt and die.

Root Borer—The injury here is done by the larvae of a clear-winged moth which bores in the root from the cane just at the surface of the ground. The canes in the spring appear to be winter-killed. The damage is worst in the old plantations.

Control—By keeping the plants healthy by exercising good care and cultivation. Dig out and destroy all weakened plants.

Raspberry Saw Fly—The damage is done by the larvae of the fly, green in color, eating the tender green portions of the leaves, leaving only the veins. The fly deposits the eggs on the leaves, and the larvae begin feeding as soon as hatched.

Control—If early in the season spray the plants with two pounds of lead arsenate in forty gallons of water. If the fruit is ripe or ripening the larvae may be jarred off by hand on to the hot dust between the rows. It is not well to use the poison on the ripe or ripening fruit, because of discoloration. White hellebore, either dusted over the plants or steeped, one ounce in two gallons of water, and sprayed over the foliage, is a very good remedy.

FIVEFOLD INCREASE IN CANADIAN BACON EXPORTS TO BRITAIN

Canada's Trade With British Possessions Increases Over Half Million.

The forthcoming number of the Weekly Bulletin of the department of trade and commerce carries a brief digest of the proposed new tariff of the United States (known as the Fordney tariff) by Wm. Gilchrist, chief, foreign tariffs division, commercial intelligence branch. A series of tables is also presented, showing how the proposed revision of the tariff would affect those articles which go to make up the bulk of Canadian exports to the United States, as compared with the tariff of 1913, the items affected by the recent emergency tariff act being specially indicated.

Canada's Exports.

A graph is published which shows that Canada's trade with Newfoundland and the British West Indies, and with Cuba, has steadily increased since 1916. For the fiscal year ending March 31, 1911, Canada exported goods to St. Pierre and Miquelon to the value of $155,927, while in 1921 this trade has increased to $590,055.

Canada's Bacon Trade.

Mr. Harrison Watson, trade commissioner in London, in summarizing the Final Report on Meat issued by the standing committee on trusts, notes that the imports of Canadian bacon into the United Kingdom increased in quantity about fivefold between 1913 and 1920. The prospect of the Canadian trade expanding sufficiently to drive the American bacon out is, it is stated, not great, for in the past the Canadian farmer has not taken kindly to the hog, and the growth of export trade will depend upon that animal taking a more prominent place in Canadian agriculture than it has done hitherto.

Cuba's Financial Situation.

Major H. A. Chisholm, trade commissioner in Cuba, reports that the sugar interests of that island are threatened with a "carry-over" into next year of that commodity of more than a million tons. Sugar has fallen so low that it can be bought in warehouses in the country for one and a half cents a pound. The failure of three large banks has resulted in such a stampede that money is no longer considered to be made safe in banks, and thousands of Cuban businessmen are meeting their ordinary living expenses by withdrawing cash as they require it from their safes or safety deposit boxes. Possibly no other country's trade is less adversely affected by depression in Cuba than is Canada's, as the exports to that country have been more or less limited to necessities in foodstuffs.

Australian Conditions.

Mr. D. H. Ross, trade commissioner in Melbourne, reports that trade conditions in Australia are steadily improving, although banks are disinclined to establish purchasing letters of credit, while the country is largely overstocked with commodities. The agricultural outlook is exceedingly good, wool sales have shown an unexpected firmness and ocean rates are dropping substantially.

Canada's Implements Exports.

Mr. D. H. Ross, trade commissioner in Melbourne, reports that in 1919-20 Canada continued to maintain the predominant position in the importation of agricultural machinery and implement trade of the commonwealth. In addition to the adaptability of the implements for Australian requirements many being made specially for that purpose—the principal manufacturers are represented by either branch houses or capable agents, with perfect selling organizations.

MOTHERS!

WATCH YOUR TEETHING BABIES

THOUSANDS OF THEM DIE EVERY SUMMER

When the baby starts to cut its teeth, then is the time the poor mother is under the stress of great anxiety. The child's bowels become loose, and diarrhoea, dysentery, colic, cramps and many other bowel complaints manifest themselves; the gums become swollen, cankers form in the mouth, and in many cases the child wastes to a shadow, and very often the termination is fatal.

On the first indication of any looseness of the bowels, give a few doses of

DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF Wild Strawberry

and thus, perhaps, save your baby's life.

For the past 76 years "Dr. Fowler's" has been used by mothers for teething babies so you do not experiment with a new and untried remedy which might be dangerous to your darling's health.

Eyes Sore?

If your eyes or lids are sore; if they itch, burn or feel dry; if your vision is blurred, your eyesight dim; if you are obliged to wear glasses, go to your druggist and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Dissolve one in a fourth of a glass of water and bathe the eyes from two to four times a day. Sound, comfortable eyes and improved eyesight will make the world look brighter.

Note: Doctors say Bon-Opto strengthens eyesight 50% in 6 week's time in many instances.

GUARD BABY'S HEALTH IN THE SUMMER

The summer months are the most dangerous to children. The complaints of that season, which are cholera infantum, colic, diarrhoea and dysentry, come on so quickly that often a little one is beyond aid before the mother realizes he is ill. The mother must be on her guard to prevent these troubles, or if they do come on suddenly to banish them. No other medicine is of such aid to mothers during hot weather as is Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the stomach and bowels and are absolutely safe. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

FREE TO ASTHMA SUFFERERS

Free Trial of a Method That Anyone Can Use Without Discomfort or Loss of Time.

We have a method for the control of Asthma, and we want you to try it at our expense. No matter whether your case is of long standing or recent development, whether it is present as Hay Fever or Chronic Asthma, you should send for a free trial of our method. No matter in what climate you live, no matter what your age or occupation, if you are troubled with Asthma, our method should relieve you promptly.

We especially want to send it to those apparently hopeless cases, where all forms of inhalers, douches, opium preparations, fumes, "patent smokes," etc., have failed. We want to show everyone at our expense that our new method is designed to end all difficult breathing, all wheezing, and all those terrible paroxysms.

This free offer is too important to neglect a single day. Write now and begin the method at once. Send no money. Simply mail coupon below. Do it today—you do not even pay postage.

They Didn't Put Their Camp Fire Out!

Out of every 100 fires:

Railways cause	40 fires	Settlers cause	9 fires	Lightning causes	3 fires
Campers cause	11 "	Lumbermen cause	4 "	Miscellaneous	33 "

Out of every one hundred fires, ninety-seven are largely due to men's carelessness or bad judgment, and are, therefore, preventable.

Because of the carelessness of 5,000 people in Ontario's forests in the last four seasons, 1,000 fire rangers are employed each year at a daily cost of $3,500.00 to detect their fires and put them out.

Save Ontario's Forests

They're Yours

Forest fires are mainly the result of carelessness and indifference.

Railways start forty per cent. of Ontario's forest fires, but the number is only one-half of what it was four years ago. If the railway companies had kept the fire protective appliances on their locomotives in the safe condition required by law, Ontario would have been saved 2,000 forest fires and many, many acres of valuable timber since 1917.

Neglected camp fires are the cause of one out of every nine forest fires—tourists, hunters, fishermen, prospectors, picnickers, berry pickers, etc. Ordinary precaution would have saved 550 forest fires from this cause in the last four years and $50,000 each summer in expense.

Settlers clearing land cause forest fires by exercise of poor judgment in setting out fire to burn slash, brush and stumps, or by reason of indifference towards responsibility or else in straight defiance of the law. Permits to set out fires are required by settlers in the newer districts of Ontario, and where this rule is neglected prosecution follows. But every year large fires are caused by pure carelessness or indifference on the part of some settlers in older districts where permits are not required.

Careless loggers, river-drivers, dam-watchers, tie-makers, sawmill employees and others engaged in lumbering operations have caused 200 fires in Ontario's forests in the past four years. Fire rangers cannot prevent these fires; they can only to a small extent lessen their terrible consequences. Until lumbermen assume more responsibility and initiative to help prevent this class of fires, little improvement can be looked for.

Everybody Must Help

The duty of prevention of fire rests upon Everybody who steps inside our forests. Don't throw away matches, cigarettes, cigar butts or pipe ashes until you are sure they are out.

Build your camp fires small and on bare soil or rock near the water's edge—never against a tree, log or stump. Before leaving, put your camp fire out with water—or earth—and be sure. Forest fires start from a tiny spark and are soon beyond control. Take the same care of fire in the woods as in your own home. Millions of dollars, and human lives may be at stake.

THE SAVING OF CIVILIZATION.

A species of spiritual unrest is abroad in the earth, and Herbert George Wells is its prophet. He visualizes and expresses, as few have been able to do restiveness with the traditional in political economy, education or religion. It does not follow that existing beliefs held in these fields are all astray or awry, but through Mr. Wells' unsatisfied vision finds its expression. He is an author to be reckoned with. Since, say, 1900, he has become probably the most conspicuous star in the present English sky of letters. Whether a fixed luminary or of meteoric order, the cycle of time will determine. Meanwhile the outflow of his genius has kept people athinking, and has traversed into several other languages. He writes his titles with newspaper skill and marshals his case as an avalanche. He has alternately provoked alarm and enthusiasm by the very audacity of his conceptions and the sweep of his rhetoric. From purposeful fiction he proceeds to reel off a slashing history of the world; then scans the probable future of mankind, and lays down plans and specifications for conserving the accumulated advances of humanity and dethroning Thor.

In "The Salvaging of Civilization" Mr. Wells obviously forecasts a catastrophe more tragic than The Great War by improvements in the means of destruction ushering in a decadence that might imperil the very existence of humanity itself. Only the other day the Chemical War Service of the United States announced the discovery of "Lewisite," an aeroplane load of which would in one trip destroy all life, human and vegetable, over a territory seven miles long by one hundred feet wide. Statistics just issued by the recent Soviet census show that through the last war and its accessories of starvation and disease, 12,000,000 Russians perished. The peril is therefore not unreal. Civilization seems a frail structure. In 1914 Mr. Wells found St. Petersburg with all the appurtenances and modern comforts, say, of New York, but in 1920 its population had dwindled from two million to half a million, with indescribable decay and ruin on all sides. Bolshevism he sees as only a part of the general collapse. The real disease is more deeply seated. How then, is a more dreadful outbreak to be averted, and civilization—or what is worth while in it—saved, at this desperate pass? That is the task to which Mr. Wells addresses himself. In brief, his remedy is threefold—a new world state, a new education, and what he calls a "Bible of Civilization." By improved facilities of transport and spread of knowledge he considers the project of a world state as feasible. Instead of a rancid, national patriotism, he would substitute the idea of a World State for all mankind, which is something more and bigger than a League of Nations. From the success attending the spread of Islam in quarters of the world, and of Christianity, he deduces that with the more universal means of propaganda now available peoples' ideas could be shaped into the framework of a world-wide community, politically undivided, probably without a head like a president or monarch, but, instead, a representative assembly or council, with various departments, such as a Ministry of Peace for the welfare of everybody. For all this there must be a broader type of school and schooling to prepare and make straight the way, and teach an enlarged patriotism. Concerning the need of something yet more impressive and informing, he expands at great length the idea of "The Bible of Civilization," a book of wisdom and knowledge up-to-date, modeled on the Sacred Scriptures, and compiled by a committee. The existing Bible is spoken of as "redundant," but the proposed work would run into four or five volumes, the printing and distribution of which to the world would be covered by thirty or forty million dollars. Re-casting the Bible on radical lines is not a new suggestion. Among others, the late Mr. Hankey proposed it during war-time. Special mention was made of the Ten Commandments, and the Sermon on the Mount, which seriously inconvenience persons who have designs on the lives and property of other people. As in the past, textual revisions will come in an orderly way. Some have been greatly perturbed over the want of recognition of the Supernatural on the part of Mr. Wells, but in his chapter on the enlargement of patriotism he expressly assumes his commonwealth "under the God of all mankind." Read between the lines, his works are believed to disclose a steady mental progress towards the Theistic conception of the world, and that he may yet come to recognize in the Christian Gospel and The Redeemer the true solvent and deliverer from the woes of humanity. One great trouble with the race, as he observes it, is that "we have lost touch with history and ceased to see human affairs as one great epic unfolding." Now, the late war had its roots in greed, ambition and hate, and left them in existence like the trail of some foul cancer again to sap and destroy life. In the last page but one of his book Mr. Wells arrives closer to a true diagnosis and remedy for the ills of the world, viz., "a better heart." When Israel was to be purified and restored the inspired prophet of old indicated the only effectual way in which the result was to be accomplished: "A new heart will I give you, and a new spirit will I put within you." In other words, the seat of the affections was to be radically changed and the spirit and intellect so enlightened as to correct the judgment and direct the will. This is precisely the proposal of the Christian Gospel, and no equal way has been discovered. This glorious task calls for the consecrated activity of persons trained in the School of the Redeemer. Every such man and woman can promote conditions in the social order making for peace and restricting the areas of Godless strife. The leaders of humanity are looking hopefully forward, and have made progress just in proportion as the Christian Gospel has been accepted and applied by means of the individual renewal of spirit and an educational growth in grace. This is the teaching of The Word which, without purporting to be a technical encyclopedia, has demonstrated its verity as a universal disclosure of the Divine mind and purpose concerning man and his redemption.

THE WORKING OF THE O. T. A.

According to the chairman of the Ontario License Board, the new conditions that exist under the Ontario Temperance Act are working out entirely satisfactorily. Of course, the act, in its amended form, has not been long enough in force to form a conclusive verdict as to the success or otherwise of its operation, but there are already developing some interesting phases of the matter. So far the License Department and the Attorney-General's Department have taken no steps to prevent the carrying of liquor by individuals across the Quebec boundary, and the question of how far police officers can go in searching the persons of travelers or in investigating the contents of their grips and trunks has not yet been clearly defined.

But, on the authority of the head of the License Department in Ontario, it is stated that there is no law which authorizes a policeman to search the pockets of a private citizen, whether on a train or anywhere else, on his way from Quebec into Ontario. It appears that not even the fact that a suspicious bulge on the pocket of the individual might furnish strong presumptive evidence that it was caused by a bottle of illicit refreshment is considered an adequate reason for making a closer investigation. Whether the individual in question can fortify himself with an occasional pull at his bottle is not quite clear, but the chances are that if an officer came along and caught him in the act the stuff would be liable to confiscation.

The circumstances that bulges are permitted to pass without investigation must be a source of great consolation to the average citizen, for it would be mighty unpleasant, for example, if paterfamilias had to submit to a rigorous search every time his pockets displayed corpulent tendencies, owing to the presence of packages of candy or toys that he was taking home to the kiddies.

The prevention of the hand-baggage liquor traffic is another story, and up to the present no organized measures have been taken for dealing with this. It can be readily imagined that the investigation of every club-bag and suitcase carried across the Quebec border into Ontario would necessitate the employment of a very large force of men, and the taking up of a considerable amount of time; but this and other problems will no doubt be dealt with as soon as possible. It is quite evident, however, even at this early stage of prohibition, that in its just and reasonable enforcement the authorities have their work cut out for them.

WILL THE STRIKE WANE?

A writer in the New York Herald estimates that strikes have caused a total loss of about a hundred billion dollars. This cost, of course, falls upon the body of consumers, and is an important element in the advance of the cost of living. Whether or not the struke "succeeds," this cost is increased, still more, obviously, in the event of success.

The strike is thus a very expensive and doubtful method of securing better things for the workingman. He should be more persuaded of the value of political and constitutional means as against "direct action." Fair taxation and state control over distribution should be objects of Labor effort.

Donald B. McMillan and his companions are taking with them on their exploration trip to the Arctic a motion picture machine with which to entertain the Eskimos. It is calculated that the humorous films will cause the Eskimos to laugh and grow fat, while the more serious ones will make them blubber.

A gang of young women in Hamilton, who are described as "beautiful and expensive to look upon," have been working "frame-ups" on the young and innocent businessmen by invading their offices, screaming, and threatening charges of assault. There seems to be more black male in this than white female.

FAMOUS STICKS.

Sir Walter Scott's favorite walking-stick, described as a blackthorn, or, again, some say hazel, has been presented by Lord Knutsford for preservation in the Scottish Museum of Antiquaries, Edinburgh. It is the stick which is depicted in many of his portraits, and bears an inserted silver plate with the inscription, "Sir Walter Scott, Abbotsford," in case it might have been lost. Around it is still tied a faded silk cord and tassel. As famous a stick in American eyes is one much venerated in Washington. It is Benjamin Franklin's crabtree walking-stick, with a gold head quaintly wrought in the shape of the cap of liberty. In a codicil to his will he bequeathed it to "the friend of mankind, George Washington," adding that "if it were a sceptre, he has merit it, and would become it."

THE WEST: YES, BUT WATER IN A PUDDLE ISNT WATER ON THE LAND

LETTERS

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

For the special benefit of those who may have been in a state of "suspended animation," owing to the recent great heat, permit me to say that there was "some" rain on Sunday morning, with accompanying celestial fireworks. It is a good thing to be able to see the humor of a situation, and to accept untoward circumstances philosophically. Pat and Mike were engaged in putting down cobble stones in the street on a hot, sultry day. Mike, profusely perspiring, and constantly wiping his face, remarked: "Pat, the hate must be up to 100 in the shade." "Thin," says Pat, "ye's ought to be thankful that ye are workin' in the sun."

The wet weather, too, has its humors. An American tourist was traveling in the Highlands of Scotland in the rainy season. The copious downpour of rain every day, often accompanied with a driving wind, was depressing. One day, hailing his guide, a stalwart Gael—high cheek-bones, solemn countenance, bedraggled kilts and glengarry ribbons drooping limp in the rain: "Dear me, Sandy," he asked, "does it rain like this all the time in the Highlands?" "Na, it disna," the Gael replied. "It rains whiles from the west."

But all jokes aside, the recent long-continued heat was becoming a very serious matter, both to the country and the individual. Yes, and how the poorer classes who had to work, rain or shine, to keep themselves and dependants, and who perhaps after a hard day's work had to turn in to small, stuffy rooms, where the mercury in the thermometer on the wall was flirting with the 90 mark—envied the opulent and well-to-do who could speed away to the lake side and enjoy the cool breezes, or lounge in the shady parks by day and sleep on wide, airy verandas by night, and where a modern oscillating fan provided an artificial breeze instead of the natural one. But the copious rains have not only insured enough for man and beast, and let us hope broken the backbone of the hot spell, but they have tended to even up social conditions and convince even the toilers that they too are worth something.

Then, too, while we as a people are virtually shaking hands with ourselves over the turn in weather conditions, let us not forget that a great famine-stricken people, different in color and racial characteristics from ourselves, are also jubilant. A few days ago representatives of that great nation in the making flashed the good news by underseas cable and overland relays to every part of the civilized world that the long-expected rains had come, and a bountiful harvest was now assured. We are to "rejoice with them that do rejoice, and weep with them that weep," and while the apostolic injunction applies no doubt primarily to individual cases, yet here it is peculiarly applicable in an international sense. The countless gifts of Christendom, small and large, often given quietly and unostentatiously, have saved many millions of that interesting Oriental people, and now God himself has opened his own inexhaustible store and made it possible for the nation to save itself. So another apt, virile Scripture text comes to the mind, "What shall he do who cometh after the King?"

OTHERS' VIEWS

THE ALBERTA PLATFORM.

[Montreal Herald.]

Now that the United Farmers of Alberta are about to be called upon to form a Government, following their victory at the polls on Monday, it will not be amiss to glance at their platform. It was this same United Farmers' organization that won the great victory over the candidate of the Dominion Government at Medicine Hat a couple of weeks ago. Its alliance with Labor, as in the case of a similar party in Ontario, is indicated by the concession of one Labor member of the two members elected for Medicine Hat on Monday. If the farmers can work that extraordinary alliance in the other provinces at the next Dominion election they may go far towards securing control of the federal authority.

"Believing that individual citizenship can only be made efficient and effective through the vehicle of systematically organized groups.

"We, the United Farmers of Alberta, base our hope of developing a social influence and a progressive force on becoming a stabilized and efficient organization.

"Our organization is continuously in authority and while through it we formulate declarations of principles or a so-called platform, these are at all times subject to change by the reorganization.

"We are a group of citizens going into political action as an organization. Our elected representatives are at all times answerable to the organization.

"Thus organized citizenship becomes the vehicle not only of intelligent voting but also of intelligent guiding of elected representatives."

These declarations do not indicate any desire to promote our system of representative government. The elected members are to be subject to outside control and dictation—"at all times answerable to the organization." They are to be subject to the recall and will be permitted to remain members of Parliament only so long as the directors of the organization choose.

A political party usually exists for the purpose of advancing certain definite and well understood principles. It is when party organization is used for personal profit or advantage instead of for the advancement of principles, that a political party falls into disrepute. The so-called farmers' party in Alberta frankly announces that it is organized for power, not for principle.

WHO ARE THE HEROES?

[New York Evening Post.]

Chief among the low-down outrages of these sizzling days is the fact that a half-dozen explorers seize on them to announce their departure for the Polar regions. Donald MacMillan has just started to go up the Greenland side of the Arctic. Stefansson, returning from the Siberian side, announces he will set out again soon. Amunsden has chosen the same quarter. Shackleton is to sail for the Antarctic next month. These wretches put whole continents of perspiring humankind to the tortures of Tantalus. They remind us that we have not really felt cool since the Liberian bishop landed here a few weeks ago and said that 90 degrees wasn't a circumstance to what he had to endure. There is a certain measure of revenge in the thought that these Polar explorers are sacrificing their reputations for courage. The perils of toppling icebergs, of cold so intense that, as Mark Twain said, it freezes your shadow to the deck, of fierce blizzards—who wouldn't rush into them? The real hero is the man who wraps his wilted collar about him, staggers over the treacherous floes of asphalt, smiles good-naturedly if wanly when his jammed train gets stuck in the subway hummocks, and at 4:30 p.m. cheerily shouts "Mush on!" to his fainting stenographers and office force.

POETRY AND JEST

A TURKISH LEGEND.

[Thomas Bailey Aldrich.]

A certain Pasha, dead five thousand years,

And had this sentence o'er the city's gate
Deeply engraven, "Only God is great."

And ever more from the high barbican,
Saluted each returning caravan.

Lost is the city's glory. Every gust

ALWAYS CORRECT.

Jack—The college girl I am engaged to picked me up on grammar before a week had passed over our heads.

Harry—You got off easy. The one I knew corrected my English while I was proposing to her.

IT'S OVER NOW.

[From "Love Sonnets of an Office Boy," by S. E. Kiser.]

It's over now; the blow has fell at last;
It seems as though the sun can't shine no more,
And nothing looks the way it did before;
The glad thoughts that I used to think are past.
Her desk's shut up today, the lid's locked fast;
The keys where she typewrote are still; her chair
Looks sad and lonesome standin' there—
I'd like to let the tears fall if I dast!

This morning when the boss come in he found
A letter that he'd got from her and so
He read it over twice and turned around
And said: "The little fool's got married!" Oh,
It seems as if I sink down through the ground,

JUST A SUGGESTION.

[Exchange.]

He had not expected much at the little inn, but even the cold roast beef and pickles were stodgy and tasteless.

And there's nothing else?" he inquired.

"No, sir," said the waiter, with that grim delight which a certain breed of his kind always take in disappointing a hungry customer.

"Dear dear! That's too bad,. Have you no cheese?"

"Well, haven't you anything in the shape of celery?"

The waiter hesitated.

"There's rhubarb," he said.

TRAPPED.

[Philadelphia Public Ledger.]

At the intersection of two busy thoroughfares a pedestrian hesitated, giving every evidence of panic. From one direction a motor car was bearing down upon him; from another an auto truck was coming from behind; while a taxicab was speedily rushing toward him.

It appeared, then, that there was for him but one resource. He was standing upon a manhole cover. Quickly lifting the lid he jumped into the hole and—was run over by a subway train.

What's In a Book?

By Kathleen K. Bowker.

"Blinkers" is the title of Horace Vachell's new book. (Cassell & Co., London, England.)

Miranda had been brought up by her father to believe in the dignity of service, and to cherish the fact (fact, mind you, not fancy) that the work we do well is the work we love; and that the work that we love ennobles us.

Prospero—or, in other words, Adam Issell, Miranda's father—was the living victim of love and death. His adored wife had died when Miranda was a toddler, while they were on a holiday at Moscombe, a suburb of "Cronmouth —where stupid people lived stupid lives in stupid houses, and Moscombe, of course, touched its cap to Cronmouth, in season and out of season."

But not far away lay the noble Forest of Y's.

It was because Adam could not bear to leave his beloved alone in the ugly cemetery by the sea, that Miranda was brought up in Moscombe. Her father, a dealer and designer of wall papers, set up his little shop there; and grew poorer and poorer. He had the gifts of God—but no gift for salesmanship. He was a designer—and a sage. The combination of these two naturally precluded the faintest chance of his being a businessman.

His household was run—though not ruled—by the excellent Aunt Barbie.

When Miranda gathered from her aunt that things were going from bad to worse with them financially, she made an immediate calculation that she was costing her father about one hundred pounds a year, and that this must not be. Not having the qualifications for a governess, or any other work of a "specialty" kind, she decided at once to apply for a place as a parlormaid, and secured one at the vicarage of Medbury-Hawthorne, within easy cycling distance of homeñ To please she does not use her aunt Barbie, she does not use her own name.

For some weeks before the story opens Adam Issell has been visited by a young man whom he believed to be deeply interested in his ideas. Ralph Somervell's father, the colonel, was one of the most exclusive of the landed gentry in that district. Though Adam's own eyes brightened at the sight of Miranda, he did not count on such intelligent taste in others. So he, too, was touched by the influence that he deplored for others—the influence of the pre-conceived idea.

Ralph, inflamed by Miranda's unusual charm, and dazzled by the sparkling superiority of her brain (a rapturous lightsome in a wife, as Ralph's wise mother realized), still keeps his head enough to remember that his people will not welcome the daughter of an obscure tradesman as one of the family. They visualize their son married to Alice Apperton, the Squire's daughter. But Ralph believes that if Miranda appeared to them as the only child of an artist who was on the way to fame and fortune as a great designer, it might be a different matter. Though not an artist himself, the young man recognizes something unusual in Adam and Adam's work. So he enlists the help of his friend, Miles Purdie.

Miles is a heaven-born, self-made journalist, the maker and ruler of other journalists and of journals. He knows how "sweet are the uses of advertising" to 'nth degree. If Miles will boom Adam——!

Miles will.

He decides on this after meeting Adam, even though he hasn't met Miranda. Though Miles is a "thruster," he has enormous tact, when he cares to use it. He assimilates the sage's theory of "the preconceived idea," and decides (having met Miranda) to use it to further the romantic love affair of his friend. Miranda meantime has excited much comment by her obvious "difference" from the average parlormair. Her intelligence is even better than her looks; her vocabulary distinctive. And a series of fortunate circumstances (some of them egineered by Miles, and some of them pure coincidence), assist in giving her a fictitious value in the eyes of her employer and their visitors.

Once started on the imaginative path it is easy to believe that "Mary" (all parlormaids at the vicarage are Mary) is fathered by a belted earl (rich but eccentric), who has persuaded his pretty daughter into masquerading for any one of twenty reasons. Absurd! But——

It is easy to find "points" about such a girl. And seeing his father completely—if innocently—"bowled over" by Miranda on this ingenious theory, Ralph admits his engagement to her—and his knowledge of her before she "took service." He knows that it will make a difference to his father, but believes that that gentleman has committed himself too deeply about Miranda (insisting that he recognized her quality at a glance) to face the perfect surfeit of conversation that he must swallow if he once starts to eat his words.

Ralph, be it said to his credit, thinks her just as lovely as Adam Issell's daughter as though she had sprung from the royal line. He has a preconceived idea of Adam outside of his small tradesmanship, and another of Miranda as "the sweetest girl in the world" 'Tis true that there are lovers who see their "ladye faire" in an ugly hat and frock, for them her beauty is really dimmed, and others who deplore the costume but admire the lady none the less. So Ralph towards the profession of parlor-maiding. But when Ralph springs his mine, the Colonel bases his refusal to consider Miranda on the mighty words, "The Somervells never marry out of their class."

Suppose you read the outcome for yourself.

Mr. Vachell's novels are always well written, delightful to read, with a tender touch and a good savor of humor; here and there a trenchant bit of insight, as good in the reading as the olive in the potato salad. Such as apropos of the vicar's wife, when she reviewed the situation between Ralph and Miranda:

"Soaring far above Medbury-Hawthorne—quite forgetting that she was the daughter of a respectable solicitor —she attempted to see herself a young —she attempted to see herself a young and ardent lover. Having accomplished this feat, she blushed inwardly. Few men are aware of what middle-aged woman can imagine."

This boom has a real interest in the consideration of the theory of this "preconceived idea." Just how far is Adam Issell's tenet rampant in this country? Are you able to observe the individual apart from his surroundings —segregated from his job? Can you make a balanced criticism of those whom you love—or want to love? Of those whom you hate—or want to hate? Are you what Miranda's father aimed to make her, a person "with powers of analysis and detachment"?

If so you are specially blest—especially if you are able to live up to your powers.

LITTLE TRIP in BIG CANADA

by FRANK YEIGH

No. 11—TO OTTAWA.

Again, it's a swing back from the West to the East, from the Rockies to our federal capital; from a wonder-world of wild nature to a modern city, famous as the governmental headquarters of a Dominion.

Ottawa is richly worth a Little Trip thereto. Probably few Canadians realize all the attractions of this Ontario centre of population, nor how many sights may there be seen by a Little Tripper.

Much depends upon the first impression of a place. In the case of Ottawa, this is more than favorable. Emerging from the Central Railway Station, with its facade of Corinthian pillars, the eye takes in a notable group of buildings. Across the way is the Chateau Laurier, built to resemble a French Chateau of the Middle Ages, and occupying a strategic position in a city park. The post-office borders the square on the west, reached by a massive bridge that spans the Rideau Canal, and more distant glimpses are had of the northern hill country on the Quebec side of the Ottawa.

The crowning glory of Ottawa—its pride and magnet—are the Parliament Buildings, one of the fifty that have sprung from the old mother of parliaments, in London. A noble group of structures these Canadian edifices are, imposing in their exterior dignity and worthy of the Britain of the West. As they are viewed in their entirety from any angle, the outline of the towers and spires, the grey walls and wings, and the octagonal gem of the library silhouetted against the sky, makes a combination of rare effectiveness, especially when seen from the Quebec side of the Ottawa River, and the natural base of Parliament Hill is revealed.

But the interior of the new main building is yet another revelation of creative genius and the handicraft of the workers. The Senate Chamber and House of Commons are surpassingly rich in their designs and decorations while the corridors and ceilings and staircases are built in keeping with the general design.

What further has Ottawa to offer? Well, she is rich in parks of great beauty, such as Rockcliffe, bordering the historic Ottawa; she is also rich in her nature setting and in waterways and avenues that lend themselves to landscape gardening and charming drives. To the north, the Laurentian Hills for a background of ethereal blue, while a rich and varied landscape encircles the city on every side.

Within the city boundaries are many additional public buildings well worth a visit: the Dominion Observatory, with its fine telescope; the Experimental Farm, a garden of delight; the Mint and the Archives; the Museum and Art Gallery.

The lover of the out-of-doors, whatever the season, will find Ottawa more than satisfying—the best winter sports in tobogganing, skating, snowshoeing and ski-ing; and the best of summer pastimes in every out-of-doors game and especially in aquatic sports.

Some great industries thrive in Ottawa, as befits a centre of the timber trade, in which thousands find employment: the products finding their way over and around the world. There is, too, much that is historic in the place and street, names and the statues of famous Canadians that adorn Parliament Hill visualize many a page in our national history, in pre and post confederation days.

In a word, Ottawa epitomizes the Dominion and is, therefore, worthy of a Little Trip, indeed, of many Little Trips.

The Floral Poetry of Burns

(From Scotch Exchange.)

Burns appeals most to my mind through his poems which reveal deep passion for nature-beauty, a love of nature linked with some vehement passion, or glowing with sweet affection. The floral poetry of Burns is of matchless beauty; traversing his works is like rambling down some fair valley radiant with flowers of every hue; the exactness of his knowledge of the wildlings of the field and wood enabled him to be exact in his illustrations. How happy these are, and how sweet, distilling to all time the fragrance of nature to all of us who love nature and find rapture in her joyous revelation. Burns revels and luxuriates in the flowers and blossoms, and what joy 'tis to walk with him as a worshiper at nature's shrine, for he sings thus:

"Oh, Nature, a' thy shows an' forms,
To feeling pensive hearts ha'e charms,
Whither the simmer kindly warms,
Wa'e life and light,
Or winter howls in gusty storms,
The long dark night."

His descriptions are true to nature. He sings of the holly with polished leaves and berries red, rejoicing as he does in the unfathomable canopy of blue overhead and the green earth beneath, where he is enrapturned with the "wee, modest crimson-tipped flower."

I find 'tis the fullness of summer when the daisy is tipped with crimson. Burns sings sweetest

"When rosy May comes in with flowers
To deck her gay green spreading bowers."

His elegy on Matthew Henderson is a superb nature-poem, every verse calling the wildings of nature to mourn his loss. I cull one verse of inimitable beauty and truth:

"Mourn, little hare-bells, o'er the lea,
Ye stately foxgloves fair to see,
Ye wood'dines, hanging bonnily, In scented bowers,
Ye roses on your thorny tree, the first of flowers."

When spring hangs out her blossoms there is none fairer than the lilac, and Robbie sings, "Oh, were my love yon lilac fair, wi' purple blossoms to the spring."

It is beautiful imagery that compares his love to "a red, red rose, that's newly sprung in June." This is, I think, his sweetest and most expressive song. He visited oft the shrine of the primrose on sweet Afton's banks, for he sings thus:

Through his poems are scattered in joyous abandon beautiful bouquets of wild flowers, and hawthorn trees blow in the dews of the morning, and wild, scattered cowslips bedecked the green vale. Like him, we have strolled by the banks of the Jed to see the rose and woodbine twine, and lingered by the milk-white thorn that scents the evening gale. When the sweet summer air bears along the frágrance of the rose, we recall this pleasing image:

"See yonder rosebud rich in dew,
Among its native briars sae coy,
How soon it tines its scent and hue,
When pu'd and worn a common toy."

Adown a corn-inclosed bawk,
Sae gently bent its thorny stalk,
All on a dewy morning."

We who love nature and have interpreted her message know how

"Simmer blinks on flowery braes,
And o'er the crystal streamlets plays."

I have in this short notice but culled one flower from a field of countless blooms, but how rich and varied are the nature mosaics that can be wrought out of his matchless works, for wherever birds sing, and wild flowers blow, and the seasons come and go, proclaiming their ministry of beauty, the name of Burns will find a home in every heart of nature's child. I am, etc.

DAILY SHORT STORY

FORBIDDEN FRUIT

She was forty, but she was slim and dainty. The grey hair was soft and becoming, and her eyes were unusually large, with streaks of grey in their depths. But she was just Miss Allan, dressmaker, who worked by the day and often late into the evening for her rich customers. Her work, however, to her was a beautiful art, and it was never long before her wealthy patrons recommended her to their friends.

As she paused at the corner of Winter street her attention was called to the figure of a man of about 50 years who looked, to her sympathizing gaze, unutterably tired and pale. A wisp of his iron grey hair was pushed carelessly from under a cap, and the grey uncared-for beard tended to prove him a tramp.

In all her 40 years Miss Allan had never hesitated to follow the generous little impulses by a kindly little heart. So in her positive woman's way she marched up to the middle-aged wanderer and touching his black sleeve with one slim finger, said:

"You are very hungry, sir. Come with me and have your lunch."

The tall man turned abruptly, and for a moment looked quizzically at the purposeful, resolute little face. Then with a "Thank you, ma'am, I'd be most pleased to," he allowed Miss Allan to lead him to a near-by restaurant.

"Er-what would you like?" she said, somewhat embarrassed by his untramp-like manner. She handed him the menu, which he refused on the ground that he couldn't read it.

"Can't read it?" she repeated. Then with a shrug of her little shoulders she ordered for him and arose from the table to go to work.

"If this is not enough, order what you wish and charge it to Miss Allan. They know me here. And here is my telephone number in case I may be of assistance to you."

She forgot to ask him his name, chiefly because in some subtle way he embarrassed the little lady. His poise, his self-possession, his gaze, while not offensive, nettled her and checked her philanthropic motives.

After that time she saw him many times. In fact, he seemed to have a particular fondness for that corner, and to her smile and bow responded always by lifting his old, black cap. Once when she stopped to speak with him he told her he was looking for work. Then it was amusing to see her straight, little form grow business-like and her face assertive as she advised him to appear neat and always brush his clothes before applying for work.

A week later Miss Allan received a telephone message to come to Travers avenue, which, as everyone knows, is where the blue bloods reside. The lady had never heard of—or rather she could not think who lived at that particular house; so gathering up her material, she smilingly wended her way to Travers avenue to see the new customer.

Her grey eyes took in the quiet, subdued beauty of the house. Evidently this lady, whoever she was, must be a musician, since a piano occupied one part of the room.

Then as her interested little face wandered about she saw a tall figure standing on the threshold of the door. As it came nearer, Miss Allan gasped and grew pink. It was none other than her unknown "tramp!"

There he was looking the typical handsome, well-bred, middle-aged gentleman. His hair was combed back smoothly, showing a low, broad forehead, under which an amused pair of dark eyes gazed at the fluttered little lady.

"I really didn't mean to deceive you," he said gently. "I am Robert Brown, whom you must be familiar with. You see, I have been going out that way, or rather in that disguise, for the last year or so. No one recognized me and I was free to stand and watch the world without the world being aware of the scrutiny."

"Then," he continued, coming nearer to the indignant little woman whose grey eyes were flashing, "you came and I kept it up because it gave me back a new faith when I saw you so dear and helpful in your efforts to befriend an old tramp."

"But you said you couldn't read," she said, her face not yet resuming its normal pink.

"It didn't, little woman," he denied laughingly. "I said I couldn't read the menu, which was and is true. I am forbidden to look at fruit for at least a month. Won't you forgive what deception there was, dear, when you know that through that experience I learned to love you."

Miss Allan—or more truly Mrs. Brown (which really answers the above question), is unusually fond of her tall, middle-aged tramp husband. He still has a little trick of bending over her chair before kissing her, and whispering mischievously: "Yes, ma'am, I'd be most pleased to."

SINCLAIR—HENLEY.

A very quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. R. Henley, of 350 Rectory street, when her only daughter, Vera Maude, was united in marriage to George Thomas Sinclair. The bride was supported by her mother, while Cliff Martin assisted the groom. Elder Frank Gray officiated.

WINNIPEG GOLDEN WEDDING.

An interesting event in Biscarth, Man., community life took place Monday when many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Walter met at their beautiful home, the occasion being Mr. and Mrs. Walter's golden wedding anniversary.

After extending greetings and congratulations, the Rev. Mr. Little of St. Matthew's Church, Biscarth, expressed the high regard in which Mr. and Mrs. Walter were always held by their fellow-townsmen.

As a token of the good wishes expressed on the fiftieth anniversary of the aged couple's married life, Mayor MacIntosh presented them with two handsome chairs and a table, following this with a special present, a pipe for Mr. Walter.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter were married in Tillsonburg, Ont., July 21, 1871. Mr. Walter came to Manitoba in 1882. In 1883 he returned to Ontario where he was married. Since that time they have resided in Biscarth.

STAFFORD—ROBERTSON.

A pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robertson of Southwold on Wednesday at noon, July 20, when their daughter, Helena J., was united in marriage to William T. Stafford of St. Thomas, the Rev. W. M. Kiteley officiating. The house was beautifully decorated with flowers and pink and white streamers. To the soft strains of the Wedding March, played by Mrs. E. White of Sparta, the bride entered the room on the arm of her father. She was charmingly gowned in a dress of white georgette, with French tunic of gold medallions, and wore the conventional veil of white net. She carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses. Attending as bridesmaids were her sisters, Misses Maud and Olivia Robertson, in prety frocks of white, and carrying bouquets of sweet peas. Mr. G. Stanton and Mr. Ralph Robertson acted as best men, while Miss Beth Stevenson of Tempo made a pretty flower girl. During the signing of the register Mrs. Charles Prior of Sparta sang "O Promise Me." The groom's gift to the bride was a gold bracelet set in pearls. Following the ceremony luncheon was served to over 30 guests. Mr. and Mrs. Stafford left shortly after for St. Catharines, Niagara and points east. The bride traveled in a brown georgette embroidered dress with grey hat and veil. The happy couple will reside at 303 Ross street, St. Thomas, on their return.

BROWN—CHILDS.

One of the prettiest of the season's weddings took place on Wednesday, July 20, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Childs of Dawn, when their eldest daughter, Ella B. Childs, was united in marriage to Mr. Alexander Brown of Oakdale, Rev. Lawson officiating.

At 5 p.m., to the strains of the Wedding March rendered by Miss Edna Lendon of Chatham, the groom took his place under a beautifully decorated arch on the lawn and awaited the coming of the bride, who was given away by her father.

The bride was unattended and looked most charming in a gown of white embroidered crepe de chine and a veil entwined with orange blossoms, and carried a bridal bouquet of Sunset roses. Miss Ella Hughes of Detroit made a sweet little ring-bearer in a dress of yellow organdy.

After the ceremony and congratulations, the wedding party adjourned to the dining-room and partook of a sumptuous wedding dinner.

Only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom were the guests of the occasion.

XXXIII.—A Lonely Vigil.

"I slipped and hurt my head a little," Mary said quietly, giving no indication of the tumult in her brain.

Eve rose to go. She could hear the sound of the car outside. Vandaveer would be waiting for her. Her duties at the night club, too.

"I'm sorry." No trace of human feeling showed in her manner. Eve's "forte" certainly was not sympathy! "But these accidents do happen—after merry parties!" Her insinuation was quite definite—her smile a trifle crooked. "Be more careful next time, that's my tip. Meantime"—she narrowed her eyes—"I promise not to say a word to my guardian about your escapade, provided you give me your word that you won't repeat any of my remarks to Dick Calardin."

This seemed odd to Mary's mind. She had no intentions, anyhow, of chronicling Eve's visit. Dick was a dear—but there was no necessity of making him conceited. And a recital of two young women quarreling over one young man would not sound edifying.

"You may tell Mr. Carrington Bellairs anything that you please concerning my movements," she replied, with dignity, "but certainly I wouldn't dream of repeating your—your confidences—to Mr. Calardin. Only—for the future—I'd be glad if you'd deal with that young man direct—not come to me!"

The laurels of the skirmish were to Mary! Eve felt that. She made her exit hurriedly, considerably crestfallen.

Mary sat all alone beside the tiny, smoky fire. She was naturally a cheerful, normal girl—not given to moods. But after Eve's departure a curious depression settled on her, acting like a heavy weight upon her heart.

How quiet this bare, prim "parlor" was! The glass-incased wax fruit furniture, the crochet tidies—oh, they upon the mantelpiece, the Victorian were hideous, hideous!

Upon a "what-not" in one corner rested a large stuffed bird. It steadily regarded Mary with a beady and a hostile eye. Its gaze made Mary shrink.

The clock struck nine. A coal fell from the fire into the grate. Mary abandoned hopes that Dick would come. The silence of this room! The quietness of the street outside! The gloomy boarding-house seemed totally cut off tonight from human life and happiness.

Ah, what a fool she'd been, to trust so utterly in all he'd said.

Eve's words should have been ample warning.

Hadn't she heard instances of just this sort of thing a hundred times?

A long life, spent alone in this great, gloomy barracks. Contrast its drabness with the sunlight Dick had painted in his glowing pictures of those far-off lands he knew so well! For a few brief hours Mary had been transported, in a flight of fancy, to those lands, with Dick, her lover.

Such dreams had all been folly. He had forgotten her.

Her curly head sank down, down, and two big, dejected tears trickled on to Mary's frock. She tried to brush them away, but more tears followed drearily.

She hid her face in her two slim hands, and wept for very loneliness and disappointment.

The things that he had told her, too! Her eyes—like blue lagoons—like misty mountain pools—like deep sea-water when the sun is shining.

Her shoulders shook with sobbing. Dreams were not easy to relinquish.

So utterly unhappy was the young girl that she didn't hear the quiet opening of the parlor door.

"Mary! My sweetheart! What's the matter?" In two strides Dick was across the room and kneeling by her chair. A great sheaf of beauty roses fell at Mary's feet. "Mary, I had to go out of town today on business. I tried to get back early, but there wasn't any train till late. Mary, dear heart, please look at me—I love you so!"

He flung his two arms round her, hfolding her slim figure close. His cheek was pressed against her own.

"Mary, I want my answer—will you marry me?" he whispered.

IN PRAISE OF BLOOMERS.

It is droll, but in these days a little saddening, too, to run across a writer on the educative value of play, who in all seriousness remarks that girls shou not be allowed to stand up in swings because their skirts will fly up. Poor girls! who must, if that point of view be followed, grow up missing half the fun of life, with muscles undeveloped, wills untrained, and spirits unsocialized. All that games mean to boys, in education, they mean to girls as well. Fortunately we know better than this notion of fitting girls to their skirts, as the old Procrustes used to cut or stretch travelers to fit his bed. We puta bloomers on our girls and let them play, up and down and round about, as freely as any trousered little boy. No modern fashion is more to be commended than that of providing bloomers as a necessary part of every little girl's dress. In winter the serge bloomers under the serge frock are a guarantee of warth, of protection for the most sensitive parts of the body; and in summer bloomers to match the gay little gingham gowns make the child securely neat, securely free, and save wear and soil of white under garments.

Straight, loose one-piece frocks, with bloomers to match, are appropriate and good-looking for all occasions. For real outdoor play, middy blouses over full bloomers are best. A true evolution is implied in this change of attitude towards girls, no longer to forbid them to play because their skirts fly up, bubt so to dress them that they may play freely.

CRESS AND ENDIVE.

The more we read about vitamines the more we are justified in our liking for green foods, for lettuce, water cress, garden cress and endive. It is a wholesome fad, this modern craze for salads, and it is pleasant to realize that in gardens all over the country, where five years ago there were no gardens, there are now rows of lettuce, cress and endive at least, and many a housewife just naturally goes out twice a day to gather some of them for her family all summer long. It is easy for her and good for the family—a happy combination.

Garden cress grows very quickly and occupies little space, so that a pot or two in a sunny window is quite worth having, and in a garden there is simply no excuse for the lack of it. It makes delicious sandwiches; it is very good as a relish with just lettuce and mayonaise, or cut fine into cream cheese; it may be used to garnish cold meats or cold jellies, as a change from parsley. It is not, to those who can get fresh water cress an adequate substitute for it, but it is ever so much better than no cress.

Endive is a species of succory, or chicory, much used by the French, who are famous for their salads. It is very pretty, with its light green curly leaves, and makes a dainty salad. Its color indicates much yellow coloring matter, and that, in turn, is probably an indication of the presence of the most important vitamine, fat soluble A, which seems to occur especially in yellow foodstuffs.

Talks to Special Classes. V.—A Talk to Teachers.

Every man, I imagine, has in mind certain vague types or examples when he thinks of woman. His mother, his sister, his sweetheart, his wife, his teacher—something like a composite of all these is the ideal woman. Fortunately for him and for the world if his ideal is a beautiful one.

One of the serious faults with many teachers right now is their lack of knowledge from the eyebrows down. For this, of course, the teachers themselves are not to blame so much as the educators who trained the teachers. Being ignorant of all that concerns the welfare of the pupil below the brow, how can a teacher hope to understand boys and girls and win their confidence and love, save by chance? And what chance has any teacher, may I ask, who is compelled by an unwise curriculum to require a pupil to study two or three hours a day over and above the regular school hours?

It may be true that teachers have little or nothing to say about the arrangement of a curriculum or the methods of teaching in a given school; but it is nevertheless the consensus of opinion of the teachers in a given school or community that finally determines whether "home work" shall be the bane of the pupil's school life. Too many good high schools have found "home work" entirely unnecessary, for any teacher to insist that it can't be avoided. There is no better gauge of a school's efficiency than the very amount of "home work" expected of pupils who spend five hours daily in school—the more "home work" the lower the general standing of the school. What I mean is that a given school, rightly conducted, will accomplish much better work without requiring home study or night study than it can accomplish with any amount of such study outside of school hours. When "home work" is the order of the day, you may be sure the education of the pupil from the eyebrows down is to all purposes nil—and every teacher knows the world is cursed today with top-heavy, unbalanced, badly-educated highbrows.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Forms on the Right.

Kindly state where appendicitis forms. Of late I am getting pains on my right side, that is, between my right side and my stomach. Is that the sign of appendicitis? I am subject to constipation, but keep taking Epsom salts.

Answer.—Appendicitis forms on the right side, and generally advances toward the center—that is, the pain does. It is not unlikely that your harsh treatment of the constipation has something to do with your trouble.

Great Scott, No!

We have no mother, and ask your advice as to whether a girl 12 years old should start wearing a corset waist. She has worn skeleton supporters up to the present and as she is beginning to develop, should I change to something more supporting? MISS L. R. A.

Answer.—No. You have the wrong idea. A girl or woman requires no "support" to maintain a good figure and gracefulness, provided she takes a reasonable amount of exercise.

CO-OPERATIVE GUILD COMBINES PLEASURE WITH BUSINESS

Delightful Program Enjoyed by Large Gathering Thursday Night.

The Women's Co-Operative Guild of London met last night in the Labor Temple. The meeting was of a social as well as a business nature and an excellent program was provided. The various numbers included songs by the Harmony Four Quartet, consiting of Mr. William Orr, Mr. Albert Gilmore, Mr. J. Stevens and Mr. Johnson. Mrs. Warren also obliged with several pleasing vocal numbers, which were followed by a delightful violin solo.

Dainty little Miss Simmie gave graceful interpretative dances of the gypsy and the butterfly, both of which were heartily encored.

The central feature of the evening was an address by Mrs. Thos. Grantham of St. Thomas.

Mrs. Grantham discussed the question of co-operation in a very able manner, explaining the primary meaning and its application to both men and women in the business and social world. She viewed these worlds from every angle and showed that co-operation is the only sane and safe course for success in either.

Credit must be giver to Mr. A. L. Simmie under whose direction the program was composed and carried out.

INVITATION COMES FROM BUFFALO

London Ladies Invited To Great Golf Tournament.

A telegram has just been received by Mrs. E. B. Smith, president of the London Ladies' Golf Club, which should be particularly interesting to all members of the club. It is from the Buffalo Country Club, signed by Mrs. Spaulding, president, and reads os follows:

"Am particularly anxious to have the first invitations to our golf tournament, which starts July 26th, a success. Hope you will send any number of members and players and be house guest of all our members. Wire us, care of Buffalo Country Club, as soon as possible. State number and time you arrive so we can meet you."

This delightful invitation from Buffalo is open to any member of the London Ladies' Golf Club and since the kind hospitality of the Buffalo Country Club has been enjoyed before, there is no doubt but that there will be a large response. Since the time for accepting this most generous invitation is short, it is to be hoped that the ladies will not delay in getting in their names. Any member desirous of entering this tournament are requested to communicate at once with Mrs. Ronald Harris, captain of the club.

No Place Like Canada.

Dear Miss Grey,—Have you room in your corner for another newcomer? What grand weather we are having, and isn't the country just beautiful at this time of the year. I understand now why the Canadian boys that went overseas thought there was no place like Canada. I have not been in this country long, but I think it is grand. I have been spending a lovely holiday with one of your Boxites, and it was while I was helping her to pack slips to send to other Boxites that I got the idea to join your corner, thinking it would help me to get acquainted. I have some crochet patterns I would send in exchange for same to anyone having need of them. Inclosed find mite for C. H. F. I will use the name of the city in England where I came from for my pen-name.

MANCHESTER.

Ans.—Welcome to our cosy corner, Manchester. Many thanks for offer of patterns, also for hospital mite.

Veranda Chats.

Dear Miss Grey,—I see in your Page of The Advertiser a widow writes that she comes from Forest Gate. I, too, am a widow with five children. If Forest Gate Widow cares to write I will be pleased to answer, as I come from Ilford. She will know where that is. I am also alone out here, just myself and children —no relatives of mine are here. Well, Miss Grey, I guess I had better ring off this time. Wishing you and your Page readers prosperity and health. I remain,

ANOTHER WIDOW.

Ans.—You neglected to inclose your name and address. Kindly send it in, repeating your pen name.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have just finished glancing over your Mail-Box corner and again find some helpful hints. Scarcely a day passes without some hints. Could we only remember them all, our minds would be stored with most valuable information.

In today's paper, I notice that Emeline has sent in two crochet patterns for Mail-Box use. She states that they are easy to do. Might I have same, as it is difficult for me to learn a new pattern. I shall return them when I copy. Am sorry, but I seem to have no help to offer at present. ORCHID.

Ans.—I am sorry, Orchid, but Emeline's patterns have already been sent out. When they are returned I shall forward them.

Dear Miss Grey,—As I wrote to your Mail-Box about a year ago, but did not see my letter in print, I thought I would try again. Now for some questions: 1. I am 15 years of age, short, and rather stout, about how long should I wear my skirts? 2. I have auburn hair, blue eyes; what do you think are the shades I could wear best? Well, I hear Cynthia sighing, so I better take my leave. Will sign, PEGGY.

P. S.—What do you think of my writing? Awful, isn't it?—P.

Ans.—1. About 12 inches from the ground. 2. Any shades of blue or brown. I would not term your writing "awful," but it is a little careless.

THE BANDITS.
Part Two.

We'll leave Rolf to wander about, and tell of another dog who is to play an important part in the story. His name is Tige, and he lived very happily with a kind man in the country, but the kind man had to go abroad, so he shipped Tige to his sister in the city, and Tige became the pet of her little girl.

At first everything went along fine. Tige was a kind-dispositioned dog, and although his new mistress wasn't very fond of dogs, she liked him. She didn't like him half so much, though, until one night he saved the house from burglars. Then she liked him still more when he prevented his little charge, the little daughter of the house, from falling down the well.

But how soon good deeds are forgotten! The kind man who once had owned Tige, and had gone abroad for his health died. His sister decided she would have to go away and see his grave, so she packed up her belongings and made preparations to close up the house.

Poor Tige had been filled with remorse at the news of the death of his master, for he had loved him dearly, and he hoped that when he went abroad with his new mistress they would let him stay on the grave of his master until he died there—but little did Tige know that they weren't planning to take him at all.

So busy were they with their preparations, and so rushed were they at the last minute, they never gave a thought to Tige, so one day the house was locked up, and Tige found himself without a home.

They would come back for him, Tige felt sure, for he could not believe his kind master's sister would be so unkind as to leave him behind. So all that night and all the next day Tige sat on the steps of the deserted house, waiting for his friends to return, but they did not return, and Tige had to go off in search of food. Every day for weeks he came back to the house, but there was no sign of his friends. They had quite deserted him. Tige had grown thin and haggard. There was no use waiting longer, he decided; there was only one thing to do, that was to become a wanderer, a common street dog. How that hurt his pride. How much more pleased his old master would have been if his sister had stayed to look after Tige instead of going off to visit a grave, thought Tige, and somehow we feel that Tige thought right.

Pack Lose Tacks When They Try To Nail Jinx Sign On Tecs Again

Matuzak Victim of Short, Sharp, But Concentrated Two-Frame Attack in Fine Duel With Pinto.

Mister Matuzak, who sounds like the end of the alphabet, but doesn't pitch at all like that, was sent out to tack the jinx sign, which was unceremoniously shaken off Thursday, back on the local braves, but instead, pretty nearly choked swallowing the tacks and the hammer. It wasn't because Mister Matuzak was so bad, but because the opposition furnished by Pinto and the Londoners was so good that he didn't succeed in his nefarious purpose.

The duello furnished by Messrs. Pinto and Matuzak was one of the fairest and prettiest of the season. Matuzak lost the trail, when the locals dragged four ancient herrings in the hit line across it in the sixth, good for three runs, and he again struck a short, sharp squall in the succeeding stanza, when Shay's triple to right was followed by Schaefer's double to the other side of the ground of battle. Otherwise, he led the pack in full chase the rest of the time. True, there were three errors made behind him, but they came when things were not serious, and none of them figured in the two-inning attack, which got London their quartet of markers.

The Wolf pack kept nipping at Pinto's heels for the whole chase, but the youthful rookie had them sitting in a pack circle outside the fire with nothing to do but howl when he wanted to. It was in the pinches that there was low visibility for the visiting menagerie. The Wolves had got one run in the second, when Cy Boothby threw off a few years and coltishly smacked a single out to centre, was advanced on a cootie whack to Pinto and came in on Matuzak's sacrifice lift to right. Pinto was an accessory after the fact in the Wolves getting their second and last counter, as he walked Cuyler, who was sacrificed to second by Cy, wild pitched to third, and came in on Close's infield ground out.

Pinto was a yellow-hided, piebald mustang after this touch of good samaritanism. In the fifth he filled the bases by passing Whaley, and struck out Cuyler with three that jumped right through the middle of the plate from nowhere at all. These three navigators marooned so high and dry in this frame made seven, and he made Robinson Crusoe's of four more in the next frames.

Matuzak Toils Hard.

Meantime, Matuzak had been toiling along for the first few innings with a complete satisfaction in himself and the job of sign-tacking he was doing. Stutz crowded him a little when he reached third on a balk in the third, having stolen second just before, but in the fourth Matuzak retaliated, whiffing the London side, though two hits, contributed by Kuhn and Carmen, got mixed up in the performance. He was still blissfully unconscious of what the future held when the fifth rolled around. When Malmquest singled and had been killed off at second on Carmen's choice, Matuzak still thought he could hear the swish of Lady Luck's flowing garments. But she was on her way, and he didn't know it. Joe Briger, after pounding two successive louis to right and left, either within a few inches of being of triple worth at least, was given a lift to first. Kuhn followed at the plate in the natural course of events, but what happened wasn't in course of events ever fashioned for baseball and about baseball hits. Any ball that is close enough for a first baseman to get credited with a fielding is generally conceded to be worth nothing more than a single, but this blow, struck by Kuhn, which was on the way up when Kelly's hand deflected it, besides scoring Carmen, rolled so far southward that Kuhn was on second before it could be gathered in again. This burlesque double was followed by a legitimate two-ply swat to centre manufactured by Pinto himself, which brought both Joe and Bill scampering in.

Vandyke followed with a long single to right, and Pinto started for the plate, but Palm's peg caught him, though Stumpf bounced off the flying bronc like a piece of rubber when he said: "You're it." Van was caught cold in a little sortie off second.

Then the two earnest knocks in the seventh added the fourth. Shay's triple had Palm's good left peg beaten feet, and Schaefer's double hit the signs with an echo. Two fly outs and a ground out stopped further punishment.

Hams Tie With Red Sox For First Place.

BRANTFORD, July 22.—Port Huron took the second game from the Erants, second series leaders, today when Horne, their ace twirler, was invincible with men on bases. The Brants got six hits, but the men died on the sacks, the timely hit not forthcoming. The Hurons were not hitting strong, either, but following a single by O. Kelly, Kaylor hit the ball over the centre field fence for the only two runs of the game. The score:

Fans in Scathing Criticism of London Club, for the Weak Stand Taken in Player Crichlow's Case

[BY GEE S. GEE.]

The London Ball Club directorate, because of their apparent indifference and total lack of aggressive spirit or action over the continued suspension of Crichlow, London outfielder, are coming in for caustic and scathing criticism from the fans. It is the sort of criticism which might conceivably express itself more forcibly in a box office tone, in the near future, if not answered by the London Club with action.

President Maines had been getting the great bulk of the criticism at first, but the views of the fans have suddenly switched at the amazing complacency of the local directorate in a case which is so glaring, as not to be easily forgotton outside the club and among the fans, even if it is receiving no attention where it should be receiving at least notice.

The London Ball Club may consider that it is none of the fans' business what is being done in the case of Crichlow, and toward having his suspension lifted.

That was answered by two veteran fans, who heatedly said to the writer last night at different times, but in identically the same words:

"We are paying for a good ball club and we want the best team London can get and we are not getting it with Crichlow kicking his heels in idleness."

That word "we" is the kind of spirit that makes London the best minor league ball town on the continent, even though it doesn't extend to collecting dividends at the end of the season. And that is why, the grumblings of the fans ought to get some definite and immediate answer.

President Maines may be foolish enough to pursue the course he is taking all by his lonesome, but without crediting the presiding gentleman with too much genius, most people don't think he is.

Either President Maines is taking his cue from the indifferent attitude of the London Club and getting his moral support for his unheard of line of action from this source, or he is just making out a good case for an alienist with himself as the chief subject.

Whatever it is, and there are a lot of strange angles to the present situation which don't appear on the surface, that is keeping the London Club from getting Crich reinstated, the fans would like to know. The magnificent support they have extended to the present holders of the London baseball franchise.

WINDSOR VETS SAY RACE TRACK JOBS GIVEN YANKEES

Charge Over 250 Were Brought From Latonia To Kenilworth.

WINDSOR, July 22.—Charging that almost 250 men have been brought to this city from the Latonia, Kentucky, race track to fill various clerical positions at Kenilworth Jockey Club's race meeting now in progress here, members of war veterans' organizations have taken steps to bring the matter to the immediate attention of the Federal Government.

All of these race track jobs pay handsomely, the usual rate being anywhere from $12 to $20 a day. The work is not difficult or arduous, and most of it could be satisfactorily done by returned men. If it can be proven that the racing association has brought these men here from Kentucky it will not be a difficult matter, it is said, to obtain an order for their deportation, on the grounds that in coming to Canada under an agreement to work all have been guilty of a violation of the Canadian contract labor law.

That Canadians have been discriminated against in the employment of help by the Kenilworth officials needs no denial, say the veterans, who point to the fact that but four local men were given work by the track management.

In contrast to this treatment, it is pointed out that practically all the men employed at the Windsor Jockey Club track were local residents, many of them out of employment and glad of the chance to earn the extra money.

President A. Morris and Secretary Bilyou of the G. W. V. A. have already stirred themselves actively in the matter of bringing the case to the attention of local immigration officials, and have been given assurance that the department at Ottawa will be promptly notified.

W. O. B. A. Draw Open Until Today For Late-Comers

Draw Will Be Published in Monday Morning Papers.

It was decided by the W. O. B. A. draw committee last night to hold the draw over until tonight for belated entries.

The draw will therefore be published in Monday morning's papers.

The entries are coming in splendidly, but it has been a noticeable feature of all tourneys this year that procrastination in entering rinks is epidemic.

It is hoped that those who intend attending the big classic will get in their work by tonight.

INTERNATIONAL GOLF TITLE WON BY BARNES

Had Score of 289 Strokes For 72 Holes—One Canadian Had 313.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Playing as fine a two days' session of golf as the most pessimistic critic of the ancient and honorable game could desire, James M. Barnes of the Pelham (N. Y.) Country Club won the open national championship on the course of the Columbia Country Club here late today, with a score of 289 strokes for 72 holes.

Nine strokes in his wake came Walter Hagen of New York, champion in 1919, and Fred McLeod, professional of the local course, each with a score of 298.

Another amateur of national golfing prominence, tied in the next group of three, in the person of Robert T. "Bobbie" Jones of Atlanta, whose score of 303 placed him alongside the professionals, Alex. Smith of New London, and Emmett French of Youngstown, O.

Charles R. Murray of Montreal, the only Canadian to finish well up, had a score of 313.

Barnes, in winning his first national championship, gave a remarkable exhibition of brilliant, yet consistent golf, especially upon the greens. While he had an occasional stroke lapse from his almost perfect play, his game for the complete 72 holes established a standard which will probably stand for some season to come. Had Barnes been a trifle more fortunate in his putting on the final nine holes, where he began to fall away, he would have created a new championship record. As it was he came within three strokes of the figure made by "Chick" Evans in the open of 1916, when the western amateur played around the Minnekahda course at Minneapolis in 286.

ONLY THREE CANUCKS WILL PLAY AUSSIES FOR THE DAVIS CUP

FIRST EVENT OF KIND

Will Be Red-Letter Day in Tennis History.

TORONTO, July 22.—Canada will enter the competition for the Davis cup with only three players on the team, which plays the Australian champions tomorrow in the first games of the contest. A. S. Milne of Vancouver, selected as the fourth member of the team, had the misfortune to break two bones in his right hand today, and will be unable to play tennis for some time.

Tomorrow will be a red-letter day for Canadian tennis enthusiasts, as it marks the first international contest ever staged here. The first match will be a single between J. B. Hawkes of Australia and Paul Bennett of Canada at 3 p.m. In the latter game J. B. Anderson of Australia meets E. H. Laframboise of Canada.

In the doubles encounter on Monday J. B. Anderson and C. V. Todd of Australia meet Paul Bennett and G. D. Holmes of Canada. Two days later J. B. Anderson meets Paul Bennett, while J. B. Hawkes has E. T. Laframboise as his opponent.

Norman Peach, the captain of the Antipodean quartet, will not take part in any of the matches, all of which will be best three out of five sets. Both teams have been hard at practice, and brilliant tennis is expected.

On Local Sand Lots

Greene-Swift nine of the Manufacturers' League defeated Scott-Chamberlain in a league fixture at Queen's Park last night by the score of 4 to 1.

Flint, pitching for the losers, had ten strikeouts. He allowed seven hits, but his teammates made five errors and these accounted for his defeat.

Mel Wray of the winners only allowed four hits, two of them two-baggers. The Shoemen got their lone tally in the fifth when Tucker hit for two bases, was sacrificed around to third and came home on a pass ball by Pirie.

BROCKVILLE SCULLER WILL GO TO BUFFALO

BROCKVILLE, Ont., July 22.—The Brockville Rowing Club executive has decided that the organization will be represented at the forthcoming Canadian Henley by Adiel Steacy, last year's single scull junior champion, who will compete in the senior event, and by Harold Swain, a promising junior oarsman.

Steacy will proceed from St. Catharines to Buffalo, to compete in the intermediate and association singles events of the American National Regatta.

Both Steacy and Swain are in the pink of condition.

BUFFALO TOURNAMENT OPENS ON MONDAY

Record Entry Already in the Hands of Secretary.

BUFFALO, July 22.—The International Lawn Bowling Association's eleventh annual tournament, which opens Monday on the lawns of the Buffalo Club in Delaware Park, has once again assumed the character of representative bowling. A record entry from the Buffalo bowlers will make it interesting for their Canadian friends.

Last year Buffalo captured both of the main trophies, and are putting forth a strong effort to repeat. The lawns were constructed eleven years ago by the city of Buffalo.

Five hundred dollars worth of prizes have again been received by E. L. Hengerer of the prize committee, donated by interested citizens, this being a record. Many Canadians are actively interested.

The annual meeting and dinner of the association will take place at the Hotel Lafayette on Monday evening.

Kinburn, oh boy, here is a bird to take the "Cleaners." Fact o' the matter I have positive information where the proverbial ton of commission were planted overnight. In support of this I might add that the "Faithful," the followers of this shatter, cleaned up on this bird last time. Well, for your info it's the same crowd again today. The contention will in all probability come from King John, with the Archer right bang up. The latter has been working extra well, and there was quite a few "whispers" about his "coming to life" overnight. You have the info for what it is worth. "Uncle Charlie" Worthinghton tells me that he can't miss in the day's opener in which he is represented by Dorothy Buckner. She doesn't rate quite as well as Ambush or even Bumpty Bumps, but then agin that may be one of the "Angles." Kama, which has been knocking at the door for the last few starts, is given the preference in the second. This bird is better than one or two recent performances would indicate. It is not a plunge bet, though by any stretch of imagination. Saddle and Boots, which will have Butwell in the pilot house, is along as special. Now I know that some real smart people are betting on this bird today. In this respect, too, I might add that there is quite a commission planted in Louisville on James B. Brown. You have the answer in your lillywhite mitt. The Seagram entry is taken to trim the odds on Choice Black Servant. True, there are many, like myself, who believe that last effort of the Bradley horse went for the end book, or even Murphy, the man who tends the morgue, but on the other hand it is just possible that Black Servant has tailed off a bit. In the closing dash I am stringing with La Foundre, one of the most consistent performers on this circuit. If they put Burke in the pilot house it will be little puff of smoke, good night. Of course, you may differ with me, but that's my story, and I'm going to stick to it.

BOSTON AND PIRATES SPLIT DOUBLE-HEADER

Kelly Gets His Fourteenth Homer—Superbas Down St. Louis.

BOSTON, July 22.—Boston and Pittsburg divided the honors today, the home team winning the first game, 2 to 1 in ten innings, but losing the second game, 4 to 3, in thirteen innings.

Hamilton forced the winning run of the opener when he walked Holke, after the bases had been filled on two passes and a bunt.

The score:			R.	H.	E.
Pittsburg	001	000 000	0—	1	5
Boston	010	000 000	1—	2	8

HOMERS HELP.

PHILADELPHIA, July 22.—Home runs by Grimes and Deal in the ninth inning today helped Chicago to a 6 to 1 victory over Philadelphia. The two drives accounted for four runs.

The score:			R.	H.	E.
Philadelphia	000	000 001	—	1	9

Ponder and Daly; Sedgewick, Baumgartner, Betts and Peters.

KELLY'S 14TH.

NEW YORK, July 22.—Cincinnati won again from New York today, 11 to 2, as the Giants were unable to hit Luque effectively except in the fourth inning. Douglas was batted out in the seventh. Kelly hit his fourteenth home run of the season.

The score:			R.	H.	E.
Cincinnati	210	001 331	—11	15	0

Luque and Hargraves; Douglas, Causey and Smith.

SUPERBAS WIN IN 8TH.

BROOKLYN, July 22.—Brooklyn took a see-saw game from St. Louis today, 6 to 5. The Cardinals obtained a three-run lead in the first by batting Cadore out of the box and, after the Superbas tied the score, went into the lead again in the eighth. Errors by Stock and Fournier then helped Brooklyn to win.

The score:			R.	H.	E.

NOVICE NAG FORCES 4TH HEAT AND WINS

Guardian Trust, in First Race, Beats Neva Brooke, Favorite.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., July 22. — It required a fourth heat today to determine the winner of the 2:15 trot on the getaway program at the Kalamazoo grand circuit meeting and bring Guardian Trust, starting for the first time on any track, a winner over Neva Brooke, the favorite, and The Great Miss Morris, the heat winners. The McMahon colt won the second heat and took the overtime drive.

"Pop" Geers won his first race of the week when he piloted Lillian Silkwood to victory in the 2:10 pace. Abbe Hal finished second.

'CONFESSIONS' OF INDICTED SOX ARE MISSING

CHICAGO, July 22.—Original copies of the grand jury confessions, in which Eddie Cicotte, Joe Jackson and Claude Williams, White Sox players, declared they had been paid from $5,000 to $10,000 to throw games in the 1919 world series, and the statements they signed waiving immunity, are missing, it became known today, when the state began its fight to introduce the confessions as evidence in the baseball trial.

The announcement came as a dramatic sensation near the end of today's session of the court, when the state placed Hartley Replogle, former assistant state's attorney, who directed the first gand jury investigation of the baseball scandal, on the stand, and revealed that it would have to depend on carbon copies of the confessions, and on the testimony of the men who heard them, and who are said to have seen the immunity waivers signed. The defence plans to contend that the confessions were made involuntarily.

Judge Hugo Friend sent the jury from the courtroom and will hear all of the evidence in the matter before deciding if it is admissible. If he decides it is it will have to be repeated before the jury.

Indications are that Williams, Cicotte and Jackson will take the stand during this private hearing to testify that their confessions were not made voluntarily.

Replogle, Judge Charles A. McDonald and grand jurors will be the state's witnesses.

This is the second loss of papers in the baseball case, copies of the grand jury testimony having been made and offered for sale in Chicago some time ago.

Previous to beginning the fight over the confessions the state introduced testimony, naming Cary Zork of St. Louis, now on trial, as an instigator of the alleged sell-out, and Ben and Louis Levy of Kokomo, Ind., as bet placers for Abe Attell during the series.

UHLAN'S RECORD IS BROKEN AT ALPENA

Herbelwyn, in 2:13, Set New World's Record For Half-Mile Tracks.

ALPENA, Mich., July 22.—Herbelwyn, a Michigan gelding driven by Hal Erwin, won the 2:13 trot for the $1,000 Alpena manufacturers' stake and sets a new world's record for number of heats run on a half-mile track, at the final day of "Short Ship" races this afternoon.

Herbelyn took the second and third heats in 2:09½ and 2:10 flat. This makes a total of six heats the horse has run on half-mile tracks in 2:10 or better.

Prior to this afternoon's performances Herbelwyn had been tied for this record with Uhlan, each having run four heats in 2:10 or better Herbelwyn broke badly at the start of the first heat and finished behind Louis Winters, who won the heat in 2:14¼, the geldings' mark of 2:09½ in the second heat lowered Alpena track record by a quarter-second.

Bingen Bold winning the 2:15 trot and Hally C., the 2:11 pace made a clean sweep by favorites. The first heat of the latte revent was paced in 2:10¼.

STRATFORD KIDS WIN.

STRATFORD, July 22.—Stratford Junior North Wellington baseball team earned a hard-fought victory over Seaforth tonight, 11 to 10. This makes three wins for Stratford out of four games played. The game was zig-zag all the way through. Stratford took the lead early and maintained it until the seventh when Seaforth forged one ahead. However, in the ninth the locals put over the winning run. The score by innings:

WITH AMATEUR NINES

WINGHAM REPEATS.

WINGHAM, July 22.—The Wingham baseball club, champions of the N. W. B. A., today won their league game from Lucknow, at that town, by a score of 15 to 2. The game was very one-sided and lacked in interest. Telefer pitched for Wingham and was well supported.

BAINS CONTINUE.

WOODSTOCK, July 22.—The Bains continued their winning streak when they defeated the Eurekas tonight by 7 to 3. The Eurekas staged a belated rally near the close, but sharp fielding held them to two circuits in the inning. Serge furnished the fielding feature with a dandy catch of one of Kelly's lone ones, labelled a home-run. Kelly was on the mound for the Eurekas and pitched a good game. Wobbly support in the first and breaks for Bains netted five of the runs scored off him. Webb Thompson worker for the wagonmakers and was steady all through the piece.

The result:

Bains	7	8	1
Eurekas	3	7	3

Batteries—Thompson and Henderson; Kelly and Harvey.

Umpire—Kennedy.

TIE FOR FIRST PLACE.

LUCAN, July 22.—Lucan team of the N.W.B.A., winners of the first half of the schedule, lost their league game with Fullarton here this morning by the score of 4 to 3. Each of these teams have won two games apiece in the second half and are tie for first place.

A meeting of the protest committee will be held in the rooms of the chamber of commerce in Stratford on Saturday afternoon to air the Fullarton-Lucan, Kirkton-St. Marys and Goderich-Zurich protests.

MINT PATTER

—By C. S. G.

The Wolves may have lost their sway over the Tecs, but if they do play mixed-freight ball on other lots they manage to look like a transcontinental de luxe at the local battleground.

* * * *

Both teams have a crutch list, and are on even terms in this respect. "Punch" Knoll had to go out of Thursday's game, but went in as a pinch-hitter in the ninth for Matuzak and drew a walk. He was limping badly at third.

* * * *

With Collins out for two or three more days, Koehler uncertain for the rest of the season, the pack are having their troubles. Close, filling in at second for "Dad" Koehler, is doing quite nicely. He had two hits yesterday, when hits were hard to gather, and had trios of assists and putouts on the defensive end.

* * * *

Umps O'Hearne wasn't in as talkative a mood as he was the day before. Incidentally Curry pulled one of the best bits of repartee heard in the park this season on Thursday.

He had been throwing his mask around carelessly, generally in the direction of the umps.

O'Hearne picked it off his shin for about the thirtieth time, and quoth he: "You'll kill me yet with that mask, Curry."

Hamilton Spectator:

"Hump" Pierce, the comedian of the M.-O. League and manager of the Port Huron team, tells this one:

When the Hurons made their first visit to Kitchener this season Ted Kaylor was late in getting to his room at the hotel.

"Where have you been?" asked Pierce.

"I was at a wake," replied Ted.

"Who's dead?" asked Pierce.

Dan Holly, scout of the Boston Red Sox and formerly a Toronto Leaf, was again in the stand yesterday.

Vandyke has made three fielding errors all season, and they've all been in the presence of scouts, his first with Larry Doyle looking on and his two Thursday. He showed better yesterday.

* * * *

ROUND THE KITTY

St. Mathews' Club successfully defended the Dr. Robinson challenge trophy from a rink of the St. Marks' Club last night. The score was tie seven times, and there were five dead ends. The rink is skipped by C. B. Millier and is composed of Ben Davis, W. Dallard and Johnny Banks. The score was 13 to 6.

A. Billboro's rink won the Elmwood Club Friday night members' tourney by three wins and a plus score of 22. J. M. McIntyre, M. Patterson and G. Chantler compose the remainder of the rink.

ELGIN COUNTRY CLUB BEAT CHATHAM GOLFERS

CHATHAM, July 22.—The golf team of the Elgin Golf and Country Club were the winners by the score of 17 to 7 in an interesting competition held at the Elmwood Golf and Country Club yesterday afternoon and early evening. Each club had a team of twenty-four players on the courses.

NEW CHIEF STARTS WORK.

PORT STANLEY, July 22.—Chas. H. Goodman of St. Thomas, who has been appointed chief constable for Port Stanley, started his duties yesterday. The chief has had seventeen years' previous police experience, during which time he served with the force at Orillia, Ingersoll and Oshawa.

PUTTING ON NEW FREIGHTER.

HAMILTON, July 22.—Captain George J. Guy, a member of the Hamilton Harbor Commission and a vice-president of the International Deep Waterways Commission, says that a package freighter will soon be operating between Windsor, Hamilton, Toronto and Montreal.

More COALED Facts!

Mr. H. A. Harrington, ex-fuel administrator for Ontario, in the Toronto Globe of the 18th, says:

"There is absolutely no chance of any reduction in price of coal and the public should get their coal in now. You may expect an increase of 10c a month right along. Further, we must recognize that the law of average rules, for every day over 85 in the summer we will have a correspondingly cold day in winter. We are in for a hard winter."

A FURTHER WARNING FROM THE EX-ADMINISTRATOR:

"It is no exaggeration to say that in view of the indifferences of the public to many official warnings of coal shortage, a serious situation is developing, and unless a strong organization is perfected the difficulties that we shall encounter during the fall and winter will be insurmountable."

POLICE DOUBT HOLD-UP STORY

Officers Declare It Could Not Have Occurred As Stated.

HAVREHILL, Mass., July 22.—Police officials of this city tonight expressed doubt concerning the story told them today by Thomas J. Holmes, an agent of Attorney-General G. Weston Allen and George Kelley of Wakefield, that a deposition for use in the proceedings against District Attorney Nathan Tufts had been taken from Holmes at gun point by three men near this city early today.

Captain Sullivan, after investigating the story all day, said tonight: "I don't think there could have been a hold-up. I don't see how it could have occurred where they said it did."

NO PAPERS LOST.

BOSTON, Mass., July 22.—No papers belonging to the offices of Attorney-General Weston Allen have been lost, Mr. Allen said tonight, in commenting on the story told to the Havrehill police today by Thomas A. Holmes and George Kelley of Wakefield, that they had been robbed of a deposition for use in the Tufts proceedings.

COMMUNIST FIGHTING CONTINUES IN ITALY

ROME, July 22.—From 25 to 27 persons were killed during the conflicts between extreme nationalists, and carabineers and communists at Sarzana, province of Genoa, according to latest reports of the fighting received here late last night. It is impossible to give the number of dead with certainty because some of the bodies were thrown into the sea while others were scattered throughout the countryside.

NO CLUE SECURED TO HOLD-UP MEN

Stratford Police Are Still Working On Robbery.

STRATFORD, July 22.—Up to this evening the police had not secured any definite clue as to the men who held up Charles Dungey of Mitchell here on Thursday night.

The sum of $110 mysteriously disappeared from the office of the secretary of the Y. M. C. A. Thursday afternoon or evening. The matter has been reported to the police.

An important figure for many years in Stratford passed away Thursday night in the person of Robert Patterson, aged 72 years. He had resided here 45 years. During the greater part of his life he was associated with the G. T. R. as machinist. Besides his wife a family of four survive, including H. M. Patterson, secretary of the Stratford Brass Company.

MUSTAPHA KEMAL LOST 5,000 MEN

KUTAIA, Asia Minor, July 22.—Five thousand dead, wounded or missing is the estimate made of the casualties suffered by the forces of Mustapha Kemal in the fighting which preceded the capture of Kutaia. The Greek losses are said to be considerably less than those of the Turks.

Crown Prince George entered the town on Sunday and was given an enthusiastic welcome by the Christian population. Kutaia has not been damaged, as the fighting occurred far in the outskirts of the town.

TOOK MANY GUNS.

ESKI-SHEHR, Asia Minor, July 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Greeks in the capture of Eski-Shehr, took several guns and two hundred wagons. Ismet Pasha, the Turkish commander at Eski-Shehr, is fleeing toward Angora.

The Christian population of Eski-Shehr enthusiastically received the Greek trops when the town was occupied in the name of King Constantine.

Tan, Red or Freckled Skin Is Easily Shed

To free your summer-soiled skin of its muddiness, freckles, blotches or tan, the best thing to do is to free yourself of the skin itself. This is easily accomplished by the use of ordinary mercolized wax, which can be had at any drugstore. Use at night as you use cold cream, washing it off in the morning. Immediately the offending surface skin begins to come off in fine powder-like particles. Gradually the entire cuticle is absorbed, without pain or inconvenience. The second layer of skin now in evidence presents a spotless whiteness and sparkling beauty obtainable in no other way.

If the heat tends to loosen and wrinkle your skin, there's an effective and harmless remedy you can readily make at home. Just let an ounce of powdered saxolite dissolve in a half-pint witch hazel and bathe your face in the liquid. This at once tightens the skin and smooths out the lines, making you look years younger.

HEDGING SALES AT PIT COUNTERBALANCE BUYING FOR EXPORT

Doubt Expressed As To Whether Russia Can Pay For Wheat.

CHICAGO, July 22.—Pressure of hedging sales more than counter-balanced in the wheat market today the effect of export buying. Prices closed nervous at 1@1½c net lower with September, $1.25@1.25¼, and December, $1.28@1.28¼. Corn finished ¼c off to ¼c up, and oats lost ⅜@½ to ¾c. In provisions the outcome was a gain of 2½@10c.

At first the wheat market was chiefly influenced by Russian famine reports and by indications that business with Europe was in progress on a considerable scale. On all the bulges in price, however, hedging sales were in evidence together with extensive profit-taking on the part of holders. Besides, great doubt was expressed as to whether money could be found to pay for the vast quantity of wheat that Russia was said to need. In addition, messages from Kansas City and Omaha indicated that consignment notices from rural sources were heavy, and that receipts would remain large for some time, as weather conditions favored threshing and hauling. Under such circumstances declines were the rule after midday, notwithstanding advices from the seaboard that Great Britain was in the market with Belgium and Germany as well.

Dry weather complaints of a scattering character received some attention in the corn market, but were offset by the late downturn in the price of wheat. Increased movement of the new crop tended to depress oats.

Higher quotations on hogs gave firmness to provisions.

RAW SUGAR MARKET QUIET AT NEW YORK

NEW YORK, July 22.—The raw sugar market was quieter early today, but the undertone was firm and prices were unchanged at 3c for Cubas, costs and freight, equal to 4.61c for centrifugal.

Raw sugar futures were steadier and leading positions were three points higher at midday on covering and some buying by trade and commission houses.

In refined sugar, prices were unchanged at $5.20@5.90 for fine granulated. There was a fair inquiry reported.

There were no transactions in refined futures.

EVENING STOCK LETTER.

NEW YORK, July 22.—While dullness is still very pronounced there is a very decided and noticeable change taking place in sentiment. Even the local professionals are disposed to be more friendly toward the market.

Developments in business as well as in Washington are, to say the least, very encouraging. The big move of wheat at this time is not only supplying the railroads with tonnage, but it is having the effect of liquidating bank loans and helping business generally throughout the country.

There is at this time one principal bearish element in the market, and this is the condition of the steel and iron business, but even here it would not be surprising if the coming statement of the United States Steel Corporation, even though bearish, will find the market bare of offerings, since this stock has been well distributed, and, of course, holders are dependent on the vast resources of the company, rather than temporary business conditions.

The excellent banking condition, the lower discount rate, improving railroad earnings, the efforts of Washington to promote exports, and the prospect of a revised income tax law creates a foundation for the buying of stocks on all recessions.

BAPTISTS RECOGNIZE ST. THOMAS CHURCH

Roderick Memorial Mission Is Admitted to Full Fellowship.

Roderick Memorial Mission, St. Thomas, was recognized Thursday as a Baptist Church when representatives from the Baptist churches of Elgin County and London met in the Mission Hall for recognition services.

Rev. O. C. Elliott, former pastor of First Baptist Church, St. Thomas, was appointed moderator. Rev. J. Marshall, Port Burwell, acted as secretary.

After hearing the history of the development and work of the mission and the articles of faith adopted by it, the council of fifty members retired to consider the advisability of recognizing the newly-organized body as a Baptist church. After some discussion, it was decided to fully fellowship the new church.

Rev. A. C. Bingham, pastor of Egerton Street Church, presided at the evening sermon. A sermon presenting the ideals of Christianity, sacrificial living, sanctified service and penetrating propaganda was preached by Rev. O. C. Elliott of Toronto. The recognition prayer was offered by Rev. A. J. Schultz.

Rev. W. S. Buckburrough, Port Elgin, charged the new congregation to love, to be loyal and to live active, Christian lives. He welcomed the church to the truth, trials and triumphs of the Baptist Church. The hand of fellowship into the world brotherhood of Baptists was extended by Rev. John Pollick of Dutton, and was received on behalf of the church by Chas. Geer.

The Ladies' Aid of Centre Street Baptist Church tendered a banquet to the council, at which O. W. Pollick, who gave the building to the mission, Dr. F. Bennet, St. Thomas, and Rev. G. A. Leichliter spoke.

CAPTAIN STEINHOFF DIES AT WALLACEBURG

Veteran Lumberman Also Had Very Extensive Shipping Interests.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WALLACEBURG, July 22.—Captain J. W. Steinhoff, the grand old man of Wallaceburg, died at his home here tonight at 10 o'clock. He was 80 years old and was widely known through his extensive interests in connection with the lumber business and a large fleet of vessels on the Great Lakes. He was a most public-spirited citizen and last year gave a plot of twelve acres to the town for a park. He also erected a handsome memorial tablet in honor of the Wallaceburg boys who fell overseas. The funeral will be held on Sunday.

MUST GIVE HIS WIFE SEVEN DOLLARS WEEKLY

SIMCOE, July 22.—John F. Wilson of Komoka, may be happy from now on. He appeared in police court here today charged with non-support by his wife. He declared that he had ben chased out of positions in London, Hamilton and Brantford by the woman taking action against him and telling people he would not support her.

The magistrate suggested that if a fixed sum were decided on each week for the support of Mrs. Wilson and her two children it might simplify matters. The sum of $7 weekly was named and as long as Wilson pays he is reasonably likely to be left alone.

He is employed as a machine repair man.

WINDSOR I. O. O. F. TO HAVE NEW TEMPLE

WINDSOR, July 22.—Plans for proceeding with the building of Centennial Temple for Centennial Lodge, I. O. O. F., will be discussed at a meeting of the lodge next Wednesday. The building is to be erected on property now owned by the lodge at Ouellette avenue and Erie streets.

It will be three storys in height. The lower one will be rented for stores, but the remainder of the building will be devoted exclusively to the use of the members. The cost is estimated at about $125,000. A considerable portion of this has been obtained. Members hope to start building operations this autumn.

IN CRITICAL CONDITION.

BRANTFORD, July 22.—Bert Skinner, who was so seriously injured in a Hamilton road accident last night was reported to be still in a critical condition at the hospital this evening. He suffered concussion and has not recovered consciousness.

PRICE OF SHORTS IS ADVANCED

Scarcity of Feed Is Given As Cause by Milling Firm.

Thorndale, July 22.—The representative of the St. Marys Milling Company visited Thorndale this week and stated that due to the scarcity of feed the price of shorts must be advanced $1 a ton, so the Farmers' Club has had to raise the price as a result.

Belton Bros. will ship a carload of cattle on Friday to Toronto.

Miss R. Duffin has been re-engaged as teacher of S. S. No. 2, Brampton, near St. Catharines, at $1,200.

Miss G. Duffin has been re-engaged as teacher of Thedford public school at $1,200. Miss G. Duffin is a graduate of Thorndale continuation school.

Fred Belton, worshipful master of Mount Olivet Lodge, Thorndale, is attending the Masonic convention which is being held in Ottawa.

Some of the farmers who were not aware that their wheat had sprouted, are discovering in threshing that some of it has been affected in that way.

Councillor Hugh Jones of con. 5, West Nissouri, threshed his fall wheat today. He had 35 acres, and reports an average yield of over 50 bushels to the acre. It is also the best sample of wheat that he has ever grown. He attributes the success of the crop partially to the fact that he sowed fertilizer with it.

Sidney Faircloth has sold the Central Hotel to W. Hoss of London for $4,000.

Junior IV. to Senior IV.—Madeline Brown, Kenneth Walters, Arnold Gee, Verna Barber.

Junior III. to Senior III.—Alma West, Ernest Goodfield, Charlie Duffin, Leona Walters.

II. to III.—Margaret Belton, Edna Duffin, Ross Miles, Agnes Gee, Gladys Barber, Elvy Irwin.

I. to II.—Marjorie Holland, Chester Walters, Mary Stayley.

Junior Primer—Lucille Westcott.

BROWN WANTED IN MANY PLACES

Youthful Fake Check Artist Swindled Many District Merchants.

ST. THOMAS, July 22.—The latest issue of checks uttered by Melvin T. Brown and his co-parner in crime, Roberts, were handed to Chief Armstrong today, and the spurious paper of the department of militia and defence was cashed by B. F. Honsinger, Roy Walt, grocer, and G. R. Rinn.

The chief of police, Collingwood, also wrote asking Chief Armstrong what the chances were of having Burgess transported to Collingwood. He had two checks of the M. and D. variety issued by a person signing himself R. S. Beresford and James Anderson, and had been accepted as genuine by Collingwood residents.

Wabash Highballs.

Five "highball" freight trains are rushed through every night over the G. T. R.-Wabash for St. Louis and New York, because of the perishable qualities of the consignments.

Rev. J. W. J. Andrew, rector of Trinity Church, will preach at the open air service, Port Talbot, on Sunday, July 31.

Teachers Appointed.

Miss McRobert, Longwood, has been appointed to teach the school in S. S. 10, Dunwich, at a salary of $1,050. Miss Vera Smith, Dutton, has been engaged at the Union S. S. 2, Aldborough and Dunwich. Miss Ferguson, Yarmouth, and Miss McGaw, St. Thomas, have been appointed to places on the Shedden staff.

DENIES THAT HE ALTERED CONTRACT

ST. THOMAS, July 22.—T. R. Duffie, agent for the Liberty Motors Company, Detroit, was locked up in the local jail this afternoon on a charge of altering a contract for the sale of goods of the firm and later was taken back to Windsor. Duffie is alleged to have raised the consideration of the contract from $300 to $500.

The young man, faultlessly dressed, was arrested in Woodstock and brought by Detective Yokum, Windsor, to St. Thomas. Duffie denies the offence and offered no objection to returning so that he might be relieved of the imputation of fraud.

Love Family Reunion.

A reunion of the Love family will be held on the farm of Alex. Love, Aldborough on September 5. It will be the 100th anniversary of the date when the first family of the Love clan settled on the homestead.

The farm has been owned by the family since it was acquired by the head of the house in 1821.

Wilfrid Johnson Honored.

Out of the four studios represented from Ontario at the international convention of the Photographers Association of America, the portrait studies of Wilfrid Johnson, St. Thomas were chosen to be hung in the national convention salon, and received special commendation from the committee.

Enlarging Port Bruce Hotel.

The hotel property at Port Bruce, which is owned by W. H. Heard, St. Thomas, and Mr. Winnett, London, will be enlarged and renovated, with a view to catering to the growing number of visitors summering at this resort.

Settlement Reached.

A settlement has been reached between W. Denton, White station, and Henry Stafford, Sparta, over the damage to Mr. Stafford's motor truck which was forced into the ditch near White station by the cows of Mr. Denton one evening last week. So that the dignity and prestige of the county magistrates' court would not be impaired, a nominal fine of $5 and costs was ordered to be paid by the accused. A charge was laid against Mr. Denton for having his cattle at large on the highway.

Benches in M. C. R. Park.

The Horticultural Society, to meet the requests of many railwaymen, have placed a number of stationary benches in the M. C. R. Park.

Mrs. T. Steen has received the mothers' cross from the militia department as a memorial of the death of her son, Chester Steen, who was killed in France. He was attached to the 91st Battalion.

Well Known in City.

B. A. Lewis of the Petite Cote bank, raided on Wednesday, was recently married to a St. Thomas lady, Miss Laingor, Queen street. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis have many acquaintances in St. Thomas.

The reduced M. C. R. pay checks will be distributed tomorrow morn-

SIR CHARLES FITZPATRICK, Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec, who was on the wharf to bid farewell to the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire when they sailed for England on Tuesday.

CHARLES NOT LIKELY TO TRY AND REGAIN THRONE OF AUSTRIA

Recent Paris Rumors Are Not Given Credence in London.

LONDON, July 22.—Official circles here are said to possess information contradicting rumors in circulation to the effect that former Emperor Charles of Austria intends to return to Vienna with the eventual purpose of regaining his throne.

A Paris dispatch of Thursday said Charles had demanded that he be allowed to leave Switzerland for Denmark, according to news received in French official circles. These circles, the dispatch said, expressed the belief that this move on the part of Charles concealed a plan for another attempt to restore him to the throne of Hungary.

MANY RUMORS AFLOAT.

BERNE, Switzerland, July 22.—Many rumors concerning the future plans of former Emperor Charles of Austria are current here, but no official announcement has confirmed any of the reports. Meanwhile the former emporer is at Hertenstein, near Lucerne, awaiting a decision of the Swiss Government on his future, which at present seems uncertain. Charles' poor financial condition is said to be an uncomfortable feature in his plans.

The recent visit to the former ruler of the dowager queen of Spain revived rumors that he would go to that country, while the knowledge that Charles has been the subject of diplomatic conversations with France has given rise to the belief that he desired to live in the Riviera. In the meantime the fact that the former monarch's secretary and several servants have gone to Budapest has been thought to indicate that another attempt to regain the Hungarian throne would be made.

TRADES COUNCIL BACKS CARMEN

Supports Request For Five-Cent An Hour Increase.

WINDSOR, July 22.—The Border Cities Trades and Labor Council at its regular meeting commended the city council for supporting the request of employees of the local street railway for a five-cent-an-hour increase, and followed up the action of the city council by passing a similar resolution.

Members of the trades council expressed the opinion that in view of the recent increase in fares to a straight five cents the Hydro-Electric give the men the increase they are asking for.

Several members referred to the rate of pay received by street railwaymen at the present time as starvation wages, and claimed it was a disgrace for the commission to expect men to work in an expensive place like the Border Cities for 50 cents an hour.

The men have been promised that they will be informed of the commission's decision in regard to their request for more money by next Tuesday. This is the second time the day of announcing the commission's decision has been postponed.

AUTO CRASH MAY CAUSE TWO DEATHS

Toronto Man and Woman Are in Very Critical Condition.

TORONTO, July 22.—When their motor car struck a sharp rise in the Dundas road last night at a spot where a bridge is being repaired in Cooksville, the driver and three passengers, two women and a man, were hurled out of the car so violently that two of them, Mrs. Ogden and Mr. McInerney of Toronto, who alighted on their heads, are now lying in hospital in a serious condition.

The driver, who was not injured beyond receiving a severe shaking up, is being held by the police pending an investigation. The other woman also escaped uninjured.

PRINCETON PLANNING HOLIDAY CELEBRATION

PRINCETON, July 22.—A largely attended meeting was held in the hall yesterday to make arrangements for Princeton's Civic Holiday. The date was left undecided.

Mr. and Mrs. Blackmore and family and Mrs. Harvey are taking a holiday of two or three weeks at Grimsby.

DIPS ARE BUSY AT THE BORDER

St. Louis Man Lost All His Money and Railway Ticket.

WINDSOR, July 22.—Pickpockets have been virtually reaping a harvest in Windsor and at the racetracks since the betting plants opened. Less than one-fifth of the robberies committed have been reported. The majority of the victims do not report their losses to the police. They consider it useless to do so because they are unable to furnish descriptions or any information that would aid the police in making an arrest. In nearly all cases the "dips" do their work so dexterously that the victim does not suspect he has been robbed until he places his hand in his pocket to take out money for a definite pur-

Was Left Stranded.

The latest robbery left J. W. Wiggins of St. Louis Missouri, penniless, when he was boarding a racetrack radial car on the Windsor, Essex & Lake Shore Railway at the terminal station on Pitt street. He lost $300, contained in a pocketbook with a Wabash Railway traveling pass. He was jostled in the crowd which was boarding the car.

Windsor police are doing everything possible to round up the light-fingered gentry, and at noon today, plain clothes men succeeded in picking out one ma[n] from a crowd at the W. E. & L. S. terminal, who, they say, was in the ac[t] of picking a man's pocket. He is bein[g] held at police headquarters pending in[-]vestigation.

Nearly a dozen others have bee[n] rounded up by the Windsor police, bu[t] direct evidence against pickpockets i[s] difficult to obtain, police say, unles[s] some person witnesses the robbery. Th[e] dozen arrested were chiefly racetra[ck] followers and have been deported.

Pinkerton detectives are scattered throughout at the racing plants and a large staff of plainclothesmen from the Windsor police department are also on watch. So far about twelve pickpocket cases, involving a loss of about $1,000 have been reported.

ENGINEER DIES FROM SCALDING

Twenty-Seven Injured in the Wreck Near the City of Scranton.

SCRANTON, Pa., July 22.—One person was killed and 27 were injured, three of them seriously, this afternoon when the Lackawanna Limited, one of the fastest trains on the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad, was wrecked at Glenburn station, twelve miles west of the city.

All the injured were given first aid by physicians and nurses sent on a relief train from here. The most seriously hurt were brought to Scranton Hospital, those with minor injuries being sent to Binghampton, N. Y.

Charles Coolbaugh, Scranton, engineer of the wrecked train, was so badly scalded that he died within two hours. As the engine left the rails, taking the baggage car, mail car and two day coaches filled with passengers along with it, a freight train traveling east at a rapid rate crashed into the wreckage. Close examination of the roadbed in the vicinity of the wreck, railroad officials said, showed the accident was caused by an inch and a half nut which had been dropped on top placed on top of the rail.

NEW LOW LEVEL FOR BRAZILIAN REACHED ON TORONTO MARKET

Paper Stocks Weak—Only Two Transactions in Brompton Issue.

TORONTO, July 22.—Liquidation of Brazilian stock took on an increasing scale on the Toronto Stock Exchange today and although a new low level of 21½ was reached there was some recovery in the afternoon and an easing off of pressure. This was not accomplished however until 1,480 shares had changed hands, in lots running from 5 to 50 in each transaction.

The other principal influence in the day's trading was the weakness in the paper stocks, following the passing of the Brompton dividend. This was expected and it was thought had been well discounted, because a four per cent stock at around 20 did not seem reasonable. However, Brompton eased off further, closing 1¼ down here at 19⅛. There were only two transactions in Brompton on the Toronto market.

Laurentide again declined and losses were made by the three Riordon stocks.

Apart from Brazilian and the paper stocks, local trading was exceedingly light. General Electric was firmer, Canadian Pacific, following the advance it made in New York, gained a point here, but Sawyer-Massey preferred and Canada Cement made declines.

TRADING INTEREST CENTERS IN PAPER GROUP AT MONTREAL

List Generally Weak—Brazilian and D. U. R. Make New Lows.

MONTREAL, July 22.—The list was generally weak on the local market exchange today, only three issues making advances, while fourteen showed declines, ranging from fractions to 2½ points. Trading interest again centered in the paper group, which furnished two-thirds of the transactions. This division, though mainly weak and furnishing three of the five new low records established during the day, also furnished the strongest advance, that of Spanish River common, up 3¼ points to 50.

Brompton, Laurentide and Riordon made new low marks. Wayagamack lost a full point at 40; Price Brothers was off a quarter at 30½ and Spanish River preferred closed unchanged.

On the other hand, Abitibi was up 1¼ points at 26¼.

The utilities were weak. Brazilian made a new low at 22¼, and Detroit United Railway at 62. Quebec Railway lost half a point and Toronto Railway a quarter point at 73. Bell Telephone was down a point at 103. Montreal Power lost a fraction at 81½.

Other weak stocks were National Breweries which lost half a point at 51½; Canada Steamships preferred lost a fraction at 45½. The industrial and miscellaneous lists were only slightly touched on and were universally weak.

STEADY TRADE IN FLOUR AT MONTREAL

MONTREAL, July 22.—The domestic grain market was quiet and without feature today. There is a good steady trade for domestic account in flour. A very firm feeling prevails in the millfeed market. There is no change in the baled hay market which is strong. The tone of the egg market was strong. Potatoes, dull. Butter, weak and declining 1⅜@1½c a pound. Cheese was quiet. Quotations:

Rolled oats—Bags, 90 lbs., $3.35.

Bran—$25@27.

Hay—Carlots, No. 2, pr ton, $28@30.

Cheese—Finest easterns, 20@20¼c.

Butter—Choicest creamery, 38¼@39c.

Eggs—Selected, 42@43c.

COTTON.

NEW YORK, July 22.—Cotton futures closed steady. Closing bids: September, $12.60; October, $12.75; December, $13.18; January, $13.18. Spot closed quiet; middling uplands, $12.75.

LIVERPOOL, July 22.—Cotton: Spot, quiet; prices, steady; American middling, fair, $10.83; good middling, $9.13; fully middling, $8.73; middling, $8.28; low middling, $7.38; good ordinary, $6.23; ordinary, $5.48. The sale of the day were 5,000 bales and included 4,200 American. Receipts were 2,000 bales, all American. Futures closed quiet.

PARTIAL FAILURE OF POTATO CROP IS CLAIMED BY FARMERS

Both New and Old Spuds Continue To Advance in Price.

Eggs, vegetables and fruits were the predominating features on the local market today, although there were not many changes in price of these articles. Cucumbers took a decline from 50c and $1.25 to $30c and 60c a dozen. The potato market is very firm, and there is a good demand for both old and new products. Old potatoes advanced from 75c and $1 to 90c and $1 a bag, and it is expected they will go higher next week. The new crop is not turning out nearly as good as was expected, owing to the storm of two weeks ago washing out the roots or rotting those that were left in.

Fifteen loads of hay sold on the market yesterday, filling most of the waiting orders and making a lighter demand for it today. The price still remains the same, but the demand will not be so brisk next week, and it is probable that the price will decline.

A good supply of raspberries and thimbleberries were in evidence, and although the prices advanced slightly, there was a good demand. Several small pickings are expected next week. No cherries were seen, and it is thought by local dealers that they are nearly completed.

Nearly every farmer brought in a basket or two of eggs this morning, but the extra supply did not seem to bring a change in price.

Ducks dropped slightly, selling at $1.25 and $1.75 a change from $1.25 and $2. Spring chickens advanced from $1 to $1.20 for selects.

TONE OF EGG MARKET FIRMER AT OTTAWA

OTTAWA, July 22.—Cooler weather and more plentiful feed since the commencement of harvesting resulted in an improvement in quality and to this may be attributed the indications of a little firmer tone to the egg market. Advertiser Specialists Tell of Markets' State

(Copyrighted Collyer's Publishing Company.)

NEW YORK, July 22.—Wall Street's primary market in speculative securities is moving at present in a trading area from which it is not likely to emerge until the summer has about run its course. The powerful coterie of professional operators, dominating the market for eight months, is still in the saddle, and is responsible for the greater part of the daily turnover in stocks at the exchange. Having abandoned a fortnight ago the bear position for the long pull this crowd is trading on the day to day swings, and has not yet taken up definitely a position on the bull side, although it is known to favor the purchase of the good rails. The stock market as it stands today does not offer much promise of speculative profits, either on the long or the short side, excepting for the most agile trader who is well cushioned with a bank roll to cover any losses.

All of the important underlying economic, financial and political problems confronting a sorely troubled world today are working toward gradual improvement. Fundamental conditions affecting securities and commodities are reflecting steady betterment. Even the most confirmed bears have to admit this, and so far as any one can see ahead there is little prospect of any change from the present trend. Why, then, does not the stock market reflect this, folk who are interested in speculative securities are asking. The answer is that the readjustment, while it has been completed in many lines of industry, remains to be finished in others, so that a cross-section of American industry today presents an extremely uneven and irregular appearance. Commodity prices have fallen below reasonable levels in certain lines, while in others the bottom has not yet been reached. We will not have to wait for better times until every one of the basic industries is booming again, but we will have to wait until enough of them have come back to afford increasing employment, expanding payrolls, thus restoring the badly crippled buying power of the public.

The American Farmer.

Basically today the worst feature of the economic situation is the depression in which the American farmer finds himself. Without entering into a discussion of the rights and wrongs of the agricultural system, one must not overlook the hard fact that at least three-quarters of our present business slump is due to the fact that the farmer can't buy because he has no money. When the prices of agricultural products took their toboggan they halved and quartered the buying power of the great American agricultural populations. When the farmer stopped buying business began to slow down. Now when the farmer gets into a position where he can buy again to cover his normal requirements, then we shall see a return of much better times. Advices received in the district here from western bankers indicate that in the great crop belt the farmer has passed through the worst of the readjustment, and is facing the future with increasing optimism. It seems a far cry from the horny-handed son of the soil to the dapper broker of the Wall Street community, but after all it is impossible to consider the stock market without going below the surface and finding that the latter is tied up close, with the ups and downs of the farmer. No one ever spoke truer words than these: The country is prosperous when the farmer is prosperous and vice-versa.

To sort of add a refreshing note during a period of summer dullness, I presented this week to a banker friend of mine a brief questionnaire regarding the outlook for business. I asked him about the prospects of money rates, how long before genuine improvement may be looked for in stocks, what he thinks of the European situation, etc. I have summarized his replies, which are herewith presented.

1. The stock market is full of bargain stocks at current prices, and the discriminating buyer who has plenty of patience will make some easy money.

2. The era of really tight money is over, and we are entering into a period of declining money rates with all that means for investment securities.

3. Europe is getting along as well as could be expected and better perhaps. It would be an excellent thing for us if we could stop talking about the "European situation," and pay more attention to our own situation.

4. Another six months should have completed the cycle of industrial readjustment so that by the spring of 1922 business ought surely to be resuming normalcy.

5. The bond market is in an almost perfect technical position. The market in old line seasoned bonds is bare, and with the trend of money rates downward, bond prices will tend to work upward.

6. The new administration at Washington has made an excellent beginning. It is proceeding along constructive lines and President Harding has surrounded himself with strong men who recognize the pressing problems of the day and are big enough to cope with them successfully.

7. The Government's stand on the proposed national bonus legislation is highly commendable. Prospects now are that the country is to enjoy an abatement of the taxes which today are strangling industry and depressing business.

Getting back to the stock market, signs appear that a large short interest still exists, and the fact that many industrials have lately been flat or at premiums indicate a favorable market position. It would appear as if the market is getting ready for another one of its technical rallies, such as recently occurred, although fundamentals are not favorable at this time to any sustained change in the general trend. Some of my banker friends inform me that it would be unwise to let the stock market run into any undue expansion of speculative activity on the bull side at this time, for the reason that too many uncertainties remain to be settled, and a good deal of bad news is yet to come out.

[BY AURELIUS.]

The grain market has sprung definitely into a bullish trend. All grains should be bought on breaks, and those traders who can restrain their emotions when they are on a winner to the extent of sitting out their original trades, will make big money. September wheat should sell above $1.60, and what more can a trader want than 30 cents a bushel in a few weeks?

If the advance were to move steadily, like a glacier, $1,000 could be pyramided into a fortune. But unfortunately the market doesn't move that way. On the recent break few bears made money, being run in on badly based pyramids and frequent price reversals. Strong as the wheat market is it cannot be pyramided. Starting on three thousand bushels, and taking profits on swells, then reinstating on the sharp dips, a shrewd and lucky trader doubtless could be dealing in 50,000 bushel lots before the expiration of the December option. But not one trader in a million will trade that way—and there aren't a million traders marketeering around in the whole world.

Probably the better way to trade in the long run is to buy and sit tight and wait for the fireworks. Wheat is getting into a more bullish position every day. Supplies are short and the great drought in Europe has simply wreaked havoc in the grain fields of France, Belgium, Spain, Germany, and even England has not escaped damage.

They call it the "sun spot year," and account for the freakish weather by consulting the astronomical dope book. Abnormal weather always results from big spots on the sun—and the present are the largest ever known.

Few margineers are experts on sun spots, but most of them are expert at getting sunstruck trying to follow the weird predictions of the crop experts and commission house managers.

Wheat is strong because the United States and Argentine must supply the wheat surplus for the world. The United States in the fiscal year exported 1,000,000 bushels wheat a day to Europe—or a round lot of 365,000,000 bushels. This is a record, but it will be broken again this year. Last year there was a big carry-over from the previous year. Now there is no carry-over to spiel about. Europe is drought-stricken and Russia is out of the producing picture.

All these facts combine to put wheat in a class by itself. Europe will buy more wheat in United States markets than can be exported, and next year is likely to witness a distressing wheat shortage at home.

Corn conditions is the reverse of wheat, but still the price will not break much, since it costs farmers about 45 cents a bushel to produce corn, and present prices on the farm are not over 30 to 35 cents. When any commodity is below the cost of production it is a dubious gamble to risk money that it will go lower. Shorts will be run in as often as bulls get shaken off. A market charged with a triple extract of danger—that's the grain market from wheat to oats. Nevertheless, all grains are a much safer buy than a short sale. Wheat has had a good advance, but is ticketed for higher levels. Bulls in wheat will make money, but corn and oats should be let alone.

OFFERINGS OF CASH WHEAT AT WINNIPEG ARE FAIRLY LIBERAL

Only Very Moderate Demand—Future Markets Somewhat Better.

WINNIPEG, July 22.—During the early trading on today's market there was only a very moderate demand for cash wheat with fairly liberal offerings. At the close, cash wheat was ⅛@½c better than the delivery difference. There still exists a fair export demand for barley.

In the future markets there was somewhat better demand for wheat, July improving 1c over yesterday's prices, while October was 3c up. December wheat was quoted for the first time this season, opening at $1.48 and closing 2¾c lower.

There was considerable demand for oats and some trade was worked at advanced prices, July being ⅝c up; October 1c up, and with December opening at 48½c and closing at that figure. Barley closed ⅛c lower for July; October, unchanged. Flax receded 5c from Thursday's break, closing 1c up for July and 2½c for October. Rye dropped 5c for July and advanced 5c for October.

EVENING GRAIN LETTER.

CHICAGO, July 22.—There was an early demand in wheat which had the appearance of foreign account, but beyond this, the market was neglected. Cables tell of the likelihood of a heavy demand from us in the course of time, but just now, the buying is slow. Clearances from the seaboard do not harmonize with the many statements received some time since telling of heavy export sales for shipment. It seems to be the common idea that considerably higher values will prevail at some time in the distant futures. Just now the market is influenced to some extent by the southwest movement, the small clearances from the seaboard and the lack of investment demand. Prices may drag a little tomorrow under these, but we deem it improper to anticipate any important weakness.

Coarse Grains—Shippers report sales of 600,000 bushels of corn to Montreal late yesterday and today. This, together with light receipts, keeps cash at relative prices. Drought over the major portion of the belt also contributes to firmness, although low temperatures are preventing any great harm. Oats have lost only on reflection of the other grains. Old oats are wanted by shippers and are being withdrawn from elevators.

SCOTS PICNIC TO BE HELD AT PORT STANLEY

The annual Scottish picnic under the auspices of St. Andrew's Society will be held at Port Stanley next Wednesday. The Scotsmen are making preparations to accommodate a record crowd.

The main feature of the picnic will be the baby show. Competitive dancing and piping in Highland costume will be among the events distinctly Scottish in character. The services of a juvenile pipe band have been secured, which will entertain the picnickers throughout the afternoon. A program of sports will be run off, commencing on the arrival of the special trains at Port Stanley. These trains will leave London at 12:20 p.m.

Among the prizes to be awarded for the sports, baby shows, dancing and piping events are two silver cups.

SOCCER AT ONTARIO HOSPITAL.

EXAMINE THE TIRE CAREFULLY
after we have vulcanized it for you, and you will find it practically as good as when you first bought it. Our vulcanizing process is, therefore, a wonderful source of economy for you. It insures longer life for both tires and inner tubes, and during the year will save you the cost of many new tires.

WHAT'S DOING AT THE LOCAL PLAYHOUSES

AT LOEW'S.

TODAY—Alice Lake, in "The Greater Claim"; Torchy Comedy, with Johnny Hines; "Torchy's Nighthood"; Loew's Screen Pictorial, and Vaudeville.
MONDAY, TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY—Elsie Ferguson, in "Sacred and Profane Love"; Charlie Chaplin Comedy; Loew's British and Canadian News, and Vaudeville.
THURSDAY, FRIDAY, SATURDAY—Wm. Crane and Buster Keaton, in "The Saphead"; a Sunshine Comedy, "Who's Who?" Loew's News Events, and Loew's Vaudeville.

AT ALLEN'S.

TODAY—Thomas Meighan, in "Civilian Clothes"; Lloyd (Ham) Hamilton, in "Moonshine"; Allen World News; third episode, "The Hope Diamond Mystery"; "The Forged Note"; matinee for children.
MONDAY, TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY—"The Passionate Pilgrim," with an all-star cast; Allen News; Chester Outing Pictures; "Snub" Pollard Comedy, musical program.
THURSDAY, FRIDAY, SATURDAY—Elaine Hammerstein, in "Whispers"; Christie Comedy, "Moviemad"; fourth episode, "The Hope Diamond Mystery"; "The Jewel of Sita"; Allen News.

AT LOEW'S.

"SACRED AND PROFANE LOVE" AT LOEW'S COMMENCING MONDAY.

This picture is remarkably well done and should find real favor with audiences. It has had success both in novel form and on the legitimate stage, and the star has the added experience of having played it in the spoken drama. The story is well told, and is gripping at all times. The picture has about everything to commend it. The story is good, the acting is fine, and it seldom or never drags.

Elsie Ferguson, of course, is the paramount figure in the story, and her acting is as finished as ever. She has the ability to express on the screen that same rare touch that she gives to her stage performances. Conrad Nagel is more than acceptable in the part of the pianist Diaz. Others in the supporting cast are all that could be desired.

In addition to Elsie Ferguson in "Sacred and Profane Love" the picture program will include another Charlie Chaplin comedy and Loew's British and Canadian news.

BUSTER KEATON IN FAMOUS PART.

Buster Keaton playing the Lamb, as co-star with William H. Crane in "The Saphead" will be shown at Loew's for three nights commencing next Thursday.

Mr. Keaton had been playing with Roscoe Arbuckle in his horseplay productions for three seasons, when he was seen by Winchell Smith, who supervised the production of "The Saphead." Mr. Smith detected under the uproarious effects achieved by Mr. Keaton a quiet subtlety of method that convinced him the slapstick actor would be a "find" in the more human field of straight comedy.

AT ALLEN'S.

"THE PASSIONATE PILGRIM" AT THE ALLEN MONDAY, TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY NEXT WEEK.

"The Passionate Pilgrim," which will be the feature attraction at the Allen Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, is a picturization of the novel of the same name. The story of the "Passionate Pilgrim" deals with Henry Calverly, an author, a married man, who to protect his mother-in-law from the consequences of an involuntary crime, sends her away and is himself sent to prison for three years. Assuming the name of Stafford, he begins life anew as a reporter on his release and is assigned to interview the mayor, Tim McIntyre, who is in league with the trustees of the rich Cantey estate, of which Meriam Cantey, a beautiful but invalid daughter of the testator, is the guiding mind. When Stafford's story is published, McIntyre causes him to be discharged. Meriam prevails upon Stafford to write a biography of her father, and during that period they fall in love with each other.

Among the added attractions will be shown "Snub" Pollard comedy. Allen World News, Chester Outing Pictures, and a special musical program.

"WHISPERS," STARRING ELAINE HAMMERSTEIN, SHOWING AT THE ALLEN THURSDAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY.

In Elaine Hammerstein's latest starring vehicle, "Whispers," showing at the Allen Thursday, Friday and Saturday next week, the playgoing public is offered a picture theme which never fails to fascinate and compel the interest of those who are deeply absorbed in the game of life, and with all its vicissitudes, its intrigues, and its high spots of romance and drama. This picture deals with social whisperers—they who speak low in order that the news may travel far. Scandal is the subject of their whisperings, trouble-making their object, and the complications they create are of the variety that plumb the depths of human emotions and make for drama of the first order.

Elaine Hammerstein in this photoplay strikes a new note of accomplishment—she portrays a role different from any previous interpretation of hers—yet just as charming, powerful, appealing as anything she has ever done.

The production takes in scenes in the gilded salons of society, with all its pretenses and its cynical, "refined" mud-slinging night life in the New York theatrical world; night life in the "seamy" part of the world; newspaper life, with all its feverish rush for the sensation of the moment, and the comparative quiet and tranquility of the country.

Among the added attractions will be shown a Christie comedy, "Moviemad"; Allen News, and fourth episode of "The Hope Diamond Mystery"; "The Jewel of Sita," and special Saturday matinee for children.

Claire Whitney and Rubye de Remer in a scene from the Cosmopolitan Production "THE PASSIONATE PILGRIM" A Paramount Picture

NEWS OF MOVIES

When Maurice Tourneur puts Blackmore's famous novel, "Lorna Doone," into picture form, Noah Beery will play the role of Carver. Mr. Beery's character work has scored heavily in such successes as "Bob Hampton of Placer," "The Red Lantern," Lasky's "The Sea Wolf," "Dinty," "Go and Get It," and "The Mark of Zorro."

Claire Adams' mother and sister have come from Winnipeg, Canada, to Los Angeles. They intend making their home with her.

A movement is under way to establish in Southern California a permanent motion-picture exposition. At yearly intervals the various aspects of film-making will be on view.

Disaster cut short Lloyd Ingraham's anticipated vacation at the California ranch of David Kirkland, his friend and directorial colleague. Hardly had he arrived when the ranch house took fire and burned to the ground. On his return to Hollywood with the news, Mr. Kirkland accompanied him on a deep-sea fishing trip.

Marshall Neilan is making an anti-censorship picture, which he intends presenting free of charge to exhibitors as propaganda. Rupert Hughes, the novelist, has contributed his services to write the titles.

Considerable publicity accrued when Mrs. Clare Windsor, a Lois Weber discovery, became lost in the Hollywood hills during a horseback ride. She finally made her way to a farmhouse, where aid was summoned. Now she is in a hospital.

Promoters of a rodeo in Buenos Aires, Argentina, desire to get William S. Hart to make a personal appearance. It is not expected, however, that he will accept, as he has presumably retired from theatricals.

Mildred Davis is a pupil in a Los Angeles art school. She has agreed to write and illustrate a series of newspaper articles and is "brushing up" her sketching. Off-stage, Miss Davis is a clever pen-and-ink artist.

Two of the screen's early matinee idols are working together at Universal City. Harry Myers, the famed "Connecticut Yankee," and one of the original Lubin stars, is playing opposite Marie Prevost in "The Girl Who Knew All About Men," and King Baggot, former heartbreaker, is directing.

During a location trip to the San Bernardino Mountains, Tom Santschi and various members of his company went on several hunting jaunts after working hours. Santschi bagged considerable game. He is now on his fifth picture for Pathe, and has returend to his studio.

WEST END GROCERY IS ROBBED OF $100

After business hours Thursday night thieves entered the grocery and fruit store of A. Hassan & Co., 58 Dundas street, and stole an amount of money from the cash register. Yesterday afternoon members of the firm had not concluded just how much was missing, but it was thought to be in the neighbor of $100, according to one report on the matter. The police were not notified until yesterday afternoon. The thieves gained entrance to the building by way of the coal chute.

TRUCK RAMS TRAIN TALBOT ST. CROSSING

A commercial truck, license No. C6-558, crashed into eastbound G. T. R. passenger train No. 16, at the level crossing on Talbot street, about 7 o'clock last night.

The truck had been standing on the south side of the tracks, waiting for the train to pass. The watchman, who had lowered the gates, raised them a little too soon and the driver of the truck in some way threw in his clutch and crashed into the train between the dining car and rear coach. The truck, which became fast between the two cars, was dragged down the track for about 25 yards.

The steps of the rear coach were badly smashed, while the truck escaped with a damaged radiator. Apart from being badly frightened the driver suffered no injury. After getting back on Talbot street, the truck proceeded to a garage for repairs.

CO-OPERATIVE DAIRY PLANNED FOR CITY

At a meeting of the executive committee of the London District Milk Producers' Association held last evening in the agricultural offices, the question of establishing a co-operative dairy was gone into at some length, and it was decided to call a mass meeting of the farmers of the district in the county buildings for Friday evening, July 29.

Several plans are under consideration. One is to erect a large central plant in London. Another is to erect smaller plants at several points in the immediate vicinity of the city.

At the meeting in the county buildings Prof. Dean of the O. A. C. will be present and go into the question thoroughly.

J. C. Nichol of Wilton Grove presided at last night's meeting.

G. W. V. A. BAND CONCERT AT VICTORIA PARK

Another excellent program has been arranged for Sunday evening's band concert in Victoria Park by Conductor Irwin of the G. W. V. A. Band. Many citizens will be pleased to know that the popular local band has made application to take part in the band contest to be held at the Toronto Exhibition this coming fall, when it will do its utmost to bring back first-class honors to London. Many engagements continue to be booked, an outstanding one being the Ford Motor Company's picnic at Grand Bend next Wednesday. Lawrence Heathcote, tenor, who made such a hit at the last G. W. V. A. Sunday evening concert, has been engaged for the day. The following is the program for Sunday evening:

"O Canada"
March—"Great Little Army"...Alford
Overture—"Morning, Noon and Night" ..... Suppe
Clarinet Solo—"The Rose" .....Lavalle
Bandsman Walsh.
Selection—"Iolanthe" .. Winterbottom
Novelette—"Eleanor" ..... Miles
Waltz—"Danube Waves" .... Rondeau
Caprice—"Solitude" ..... Beyer

CHAIRMAN DONATES 24 BATHING SUITS

To add impetus to the campaign for bathing suits to be used by city youngsters attending bi-weekly playgrounds picnics at the north-end bathing camp, Chairman Philip Pocock of the playgrounds committee donated two dozen suits to the city. There are now 175 suits in use at the camp, which are supplied to the children free of charge, and at Thursday's picnic several kiddies were denied a dip in the Thames because the demand surpassed the supply. The suits are boiled after use daily.

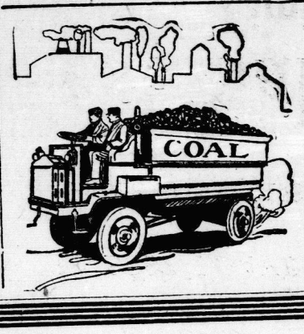

As a result of a visit to the camp Thursday Mr. Pocock started the ball rolling Friday with the offer of 24 suits. Any public-spirited citizen desirous of increasing the supply of bathing suits is requested to notify General Manager E. V. Buchanan of the public utilities commission, or Chief Supervisor Mel Brock, who is in charge of the city playgrounds and bathing camps.
