CURRIE CLAIMS PROBLEMS NOT ALL SETTLED

Former Commander of Canadians Speaks at University of Pennsylvania.

HONORED WITH DEGREE

Institution Confers Title of Doctor of Laws On Sir Arthur.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 22.—(By Canadian Press).—There are problems still to be solved, and in meeting them the Anglo-Saxon ideals of Washington must not be forgotten or ignored. Let me tell you in all earnestness, in the words of a Canadian statesman who himself always advocated unity and tolerance and friendship, that in the solution of these problems we have a safe guide, an unfailing light, if we always remember that faith is better than doubt, and love is better than hate.

This was a potent thought in the Washington's birthday address at the University of Pennsylvania today, by Gen. Sir Arthur Currie, principal of McGill University, Montreal, and commander of the Canadian forces in France and Belgium during the latter part of the great war. Sir Arthur received the degree of Doctor of Laws from the seat of learning here this afternoon.

It is indeed a privilege to speak to this assembly on a subject suggested by the life and work of the illustrious statesman whose birthday you commemorate," said Sir Arthur. "It is particularly interesting to me to speak in this city of brotherhood, hallowed as it is by the memories of the immortal men, and by the glorious incident connected inseparably with your nation's birth. It is an honor, too, not unfrequently to appear as a successor to the many distinguished men who have spoken on a similar occasion in this place. This honor, I assure you, I deeply appreciate on behalf of myself, my university and my country.

Hopeful Tendency.

"Celebrations, such as these, of the birthdays of our former chief leaders are hopeful tendencies of the present. In the rush of modern life, with its fever and its fret, its widespread selfishness and enervating idleness, its vulgar ostentation and its fruitless chasing after shadows, it is well to hark back, if only for a brief period, to those who preached a purer gospel and lived and died for the higher things of life. We are sometimes told today that the age of ideals, like the old age of chivalry, is forever gone, that the present age is an age of expediency in church, in state, and in society, and that on the whole we are today indifferent to ethical and moral standards. There are those of us who do not join in that despairing lamentation. We still believe that the stars of faith are set high and eternal in the heavens, but in times of discouragement and of faltering feet, even we need strength and stimulus for our belief. We find that necessary strength always in a backward glance at the ideals and sacrifices of those lives from whose effort our nation sprang. For national honor is the highest possession.

Example Imperishable.

Their example cannot die. Their spirits are forever by our side to guide, to lead and to inspire. They are the leaders of men, these great ones," said Currie, "the models, patterns, and in a wide sense creators of whatever the general mass of men continued to do or to attain; all things that we see standing accomplished in the world are properly the outer material result, the practical realization and embodiment of thoughts that dwell in the great men sent into the world; the soul of the whole world's history, it may justly be considered, were the history of these great men, taken up in any way, are profitable company. We cannot look however imperfectly upon a great man without gaining something from him. He is the living light-fountain, which is good and pleasant to be near. The light which enlightens, which has enlightened the darkness of the world; and this not as a kindled lamp only, but rather as a national luminary shining by the gift of heaven; a flowing light-fountain, as I say, of native original insight, of manhood and heroic nobleness—in whose radiance all souls feel that is well with them. On any terms whatsoever, you will not grudge to wander in such a neighborhood for a while." It is, therefore, but fitting that on this, the anniversary of his birth, we should pause for only for a brief period, to consider a few thoughts suggested by the ideals of one of our great national heroes, and one of the great heroes of the world—your immortal.

3 Held In $1,000 Bail On Bet Recording Charges

POLICE RAID 3 RICHMOND STREET STORES

Proprietors To Face Trial For Allowing Use of Premises For Selling Pools.

MAKE GENERAL SEARCH

Crown Prosecutor Asks For Bail Equal to Maximum Fine Liable.

The efforts of The London Advertiser to exterminate the "handbook" pest from the city as a menace alike to the youth of the community and to the welfare and continuance of the "Sport of Kings" in Ontario, are meeting with success; despite the deplorable fact that a London morning newspaper still continues, for some mysterious reason, to publish mythical "selections" or "tips," camouflaged 1, 2, 3 in brackets opposite the names of the horses in the race entries at the New Orleans track in Louisiana, where betting of any description is wholly illegal.

Armed with search warrants Inspector Thomas Lucas, Sergt. Thos. Fish, Sergt. William Middaugh and Sergt. James Oakley swooped down on three Richmond street stores Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, leaving the premises raided with books and papers which will be used as evidence in the cases against the proprietors who face a charge of allowing their premises to be used for recording or registering bets or selling pools.

Julius Skind of 338 Richmond street; Herbert W. Mills of 471 Richmond street, and Verne Ryan of 336 Richmond street, appeared in court Wednesday and had their cases adjourned till March 2.

None of the trio was asked to plead.

F. E. Perrin, appearing for Mr. Ryan, and J. McEvoy for Mr. Mills, asked that they be allowed to see the papers seized by the police.

Deputy Magistrate Bartlett agreed that it would be the proper thing, but was not sure if he had the power to make such an order.

Mr. McEvoy maintained that the magistrate had the power to grant the request.

A. O. Douglas, crown prosecutor, declared that the court had no power in the matter, which was a matter of courtesy alone.

Chief Birrell objected to his evidence being looked at by counsel for the defence.

"I think Mr. Douglas will be reasonable in this matter," declared Mr. McEvoy.

"I haven't seen the papers yet myself," said Mr. Douglas.

"The limit of the fine that may be imposed is $1,000, and I think bail should be fixed at this amount."

The court agreed to this.

Quells Uprising!

PRESIDENT OBREGON.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 22.—The rebellion of General Rosendo Hernandez in Chihuahua is the first serious trouble President Alvaro Obregon has encountered since his inauguration on Dec. 1, 1920, and drastic steps are being taken by him to quell the revolt.

DIVA TO REMAIN ON STAGE

Mary Garden to Continue With Opera Company After Resigning as Director.

New York, Feb. 22.—Mary Garden intends to resign her position as director of the Chicago Opera Company at the close of the current season, if someone can be found to take her place, but she expects to continue with the company as an artist, "where she belongs and knows she belongs." It was announced today by her secretary, Howard Potter.

Mr. Potter said Miss Garden would make no definite decision until she had conferred next month at Chicago with Samuel Insull, the new president of the Chicago Opera Company.

The diva had received a $250,000 offer from a New York manager for a concert tour, and she had many other interests which she had found it impossible to carry out, she said, because of the demands of her time exacted by the position as director of the opera company, and the attending "responsibilities, annoyances, troubles and harassments" of that position.

BERLIN PRISONER DIES FROM FEAR

Berlin, Feb. 22.—When a jury returned a verdict of life imprisonment upon A. Koppe, a murderer, and then announced it would have to reconsider the verdict on account of an error, Koppe became so frightened over the possibility of a death sentence that he suffered heart failure and died within a few hours.

ADJOURN SINN FEIN PARLEY FOR 3 MONTHS

Agreement Reached Wednesday Among Leaders of Ard Fheis.

APPLAUD ANNOUNCEMENT

De Valera States Dail Eireann Will Continue To Function.

Dublin, Feb. 22.—An agreement to adjourn the Ard Fheis, the Sinn Fein national convention for three months was reached today among the political leaders in that body.

The agreement provides that no vote in the Dail Eireann shall require the resignation of the provisional government, and there shall be no election meanwhile. When the election is held a new constitution under the Anglo-Irish treaty, it is stipulated, shall be submitted to the country.

After Eamon de Valera and Arthur Griffith had answered several questions respecting the agreement, the Ard Fheis, by a viva voce vote, approved the agreement and adjourned.

The reaching of the agreement was announced to the Ard Fheis by Mr. de Valera amidst a storm of cheers. He stated it provided for the adjournment of the Ard Fheis for three months; that the Dail Eireann continue to function meanwhile, and that no vote in the Dail was to be regarded as a party vote requiring the resignation of the president and the cabinet, and that no parliamentary elections should be held in the meantime; also that when such elections were held a constitution for the free state should be submitted to the people, as well as the Anglo-Irish treaty.

PLAN WORLD WHEAT POOL

Sydney, N. S. W., Reported Forming Organization to Control Markets.

Regina, Sask., Feb. 22.—A world-wide co-operative wheat marketing organization could be only feasible provided each country participating had national control of its own crops according to the opinion of Hon. J. A. Mahars, president of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association, in a statement yesterday. He was discussing the report from Sydney, N.S.W., of a movement to organize a wheat marketing pool with the object of eventually controlling the Canadian, United States and Australian wheat crops, which he said he had never heard seriously discussed in Canada.

DENIES PETITION FOR COLUMBIA RECEIVER

Wilmington, Del., Feb. 22.—Judge Morris, in the United States district court yesterday granted a dismissal of the complaint, with costs to the petitioners, for a receiver for the Columbia Graphophone Manufacturing Company. At the same time the court denied the application for receivership on the basis of statements filed by the defendants reciting the consent of creditor interests representing an important portion of the liabilities to plans proposed for extending these claims.

JACK LEE, a local young man, was found guilty in police court Wednesday morning of procuring a young girl for immoral purposes, and was remanded one week for sentence by Deputy Police Magistrate P. H. Bartlett.

When Princess Mary Weds Lascelles!

Princess Mary and Weston Park, where she will spend the first days of her honeymoon.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—The ultimate in pageantry, music and ritual will be achieved Feb. 23, when Princess Mary will break all records of the British royal house by marrying a Commoner, Viscount Lascelles, whose title is only one by courtesy. He is the heir presumptive to Lord Harcourt, his father.

The only daughter of the king and queen of England will be married in historic Westminster Abbey, this being the first time a daughter of the royal house has been wedded there for six centuries.

On the wedding morning the route from Buckingham Palace down the Mall, through the great Admiralty Arch along Whitehall, where most of the governmental buildings are, past Parliament House, and to the Abbey, will be lined with rows of the gorgeous, scarlet-coated, bear-skin-hatted British Guards.

The wedding will be a white and silver one.

The bride will be attired in a white silk dress, ornamented with silver tissue, and with a long train of similar material.

Her bridesmaids will also wear white silk with silver tissue.

The princess's veil will be the same her mother, the queen, wore at her wedding.

It is probable the bridesmaids will not wear veils, but will have silver bandeaus in their hair instead.

The princess will wear plain white kid gloves and white and silver satin slippers, which have been made especially for her in the town of Norwich.

The wedding pair will spend the first part of their honeymoon in England, going to Weston Park, near Shropshire, in Shropshire, the home of Earl and Countess of Bradford.

Later they will go to Italy, where they will be lodged in the magnificent Villa Medici, overlooking the city of Florence.

LADY GLEICHEN PASSES

Death of Member of English Nobility Will Not Interrupt Royal Wedding.

London, Feb. 22.—Lady Feodora Gleichen died in St. James' Palace this morning. It was because of her illness that the parties being given by the King and Queen in honor of Princess Mary's coming wedding were transferred to Buckingham Palace.

It is officially stated that the death will not cause any alteration in the plans for the wedding.

Lady Feodora was unmarried, and the daughter of the late Admiral Prince Victor of Hohenlohe-Langenburg. She attained considerable success as a sculptor and painter, and had exhibited at the Royal Academy regularly since 1893.

34 PERSONS DIE AS U.S. DIRIGIBLE FALLS TO EARTH

Roma Plunges To Earth and Explodes At Norfolk Army Base.

FLAMES RETARD RESCUE

Three or Four More Bodies Still Believed To Be in Charred Wreckage.

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 21.—Flung earthward, presumably by a broken rudder, the giant army airship Roma plunged a thousand feet or more today to strike ground at the Hampton Roads army base, capsize across a high-tension electric line and burst into a roaring furnace of blazing hydrogen gas in which at least 34 of her army crew and passengers perished.

Many hours after her fall the ship was still an inferno of flames from end to end of her 410-foot mass. The fire was feeding on the million cubic feet of gas that had distended the great bag for the flight.

Barely a dozen of more than two score men aboard had been picked up alive. One died en route to a hospital. All of those who survived the fire escaped by jumping as the ship struck. The others, penned in the hull beneath the fallen bag, were burned to death. The heat of the fire fought back the rescuers for hours.

Three fire departments fought the flames with chemicals and by 7 p.m. it was conquered. Derricks began picking up the wreckage as the flames were driven back. There was scarcely more than the aluminum and the six Liberty motors to move. Within the wreckage lay the bodies, many of them charred beyond recognition.

Thirty bodies had been taken out by midnight.

Three or four more bodies were still thought to be in the charred mass that remained of what had been the largest ship of her type in the world.

Survivors Buried.

Accounts of surviving officers as to what happened were not available tonight. Every man who escaped alive was burned or bruised, or both.

Eye-witnesses who watched the catastrophe agreed, however, that the huge kite-like structure of the stern rudder, itself as large as a bombing plane, had slipped to one side as the Roma dove along a thousand feet above the army base. She was making a trial flight with a new battery of Liberty motors. They were installed to replace Italian engines bought with her in Italy, but which have not proved satisfactory.

Installation was completed at Langley Field three weeks ago.

It was just before 2 p.m. when those below at the army base at Hampton Road had their attention caught by the approaching thunder of the six motors and looked up to see the Roma dip down from her straight flight.

They agreed that the rudder seemed to have slipped bodily to one side. The ship nosed steeply down. As she came closer it was seen that her crew were hurrying out sand ballast from the ports in the fragile fabric that formed the covering of the space between her keel and back, the living and operating quarters of the ship. The dipping blunt nose of the bag did not respond.

On the ship came, unchecked in her glide earthward, head first. Her commander could not force her the few hundred feet that would have dropped her into the waters of the Turn to Page 2, Column 2.

WEIGHT OF ICE CAUSES BREAKS IN HYDRO LINES

Trouble Develops at Point Between Dundas and Niagara Falls.

WIDE AREA AFFECTED

Motor Cars Skid Into Ditches On Many Country Roads.

Hydro power trouble developing at a point between Niagara Falls and Dundas shortly after eight o'clock Wednesday morning halted until noon all manufacturing activity in London, Toronto, Hamilton, Niagara Falls and a score or more municipalities throughout Western Ontario.

Rain followed by sleet is responsible, officials explain, for the trouble; the severe weight bringing the wires crashing to the ground at several points throughout the country.

While hundreds of London's workers waived all hope of a ride to town, or else sat and fumed in a stalled street car, the local hydro authorities made frantic efforts to gain definite information as to the break in the line.

It was not until as late as 10:30 o'clock, however, that it was learned that the trouble developed on the line between Dundas and the Falls. Up until that moment the majority of the citizens were under the impression that the difficulty was of a local nature.

Wire Trouble Reported.

For more than two hours E. V. Buchanan, general manager of the local hydro department, tried in vain to get in touch with the Toronto commission or with the main power plant at Niagara Falls. As the Bell Telephone Company at that time reported but one line in operation between London and Toronto, and the Canadian National Telegraph also reported considerable difficulty, it was nearly 11 o'clock before he could obtain any satisfaction.

Information was eventually received, however, from the chief hydro-electric operator in Toronto as to the source, and extent of the trouble, and with the additional promise that power would be resumed about 12 o'clock. Manager Buchanan was then enabled to instruct the worried manufacturers and other employers of labor who complained that their people were standing around, to prepare for an afternoon's work as usual.

It was emphasized that London was not alone in this respect. As to be expected practically all business in an industrial nature was at a standstill in every hydro-consuming town, city or hamlet west of Toronto to the border, and thousands walked miles to work in the latter city or else remained at home.

Telephone Lines Damaged.

The Bell Telephone Company explains that while the local service remained practically up to the usual standard considerable trouble was experienced over the long distance lines out of London, more especially north and west. At noon the chief operator was unable to define definitely the extent of the wire damage out of the city, but reported every available member of the repair gangs out at work replacing fallen wires.

Early this morning light engines left the city over the Grand Trunk in both directions with linemen to inspect and re-establish telegraph connection between here and Hamilton. The Canadian National Telegraph reported that a line with Toronto was kept in operation throughout the morning, the greatest difficulty being experienced between the city and the Niagara peninsula.

Cars Skid Into Ditches.

Motorists experienced the most trouble in the storm. On nearly every Turn to Page 11, Column 4.

FAVORS STATION IN EAST LONDON

Ald. H. J. Childs Points Out Advantages of Site For Union Depot.

NEW EXHIBITION GROUNDS

Rifle Range at Cove Advocated As Location for Western Fair.

The site of the rifle range at the Cove as a new exhibition grounds. G. T. R. property between Adelaide and Rectory streets, as a union depot site.

The above two important suggestions were advanced by Ald. H. J. Childs at what was to have been a meeting of the Town Planning Commission Tuesday afternoon, but which failed to materialize because of lack of a quorum, only Ald. Childs and Ald. L. S. Holmes turning out.

Engineer H. A. Brazier was showing the two aldermen the map prepared under the direction or suggestion of Thomas Adams, the town planning expert. The engineer showed a plan of a section of South London, which includes the Cove, and this brought the remark from the aldermen as to the Cove being an excellent site for an exhibition grounds.

In the course of his remarks he pointed out the natural beauty of the site, as well as the fact that it was two or three times the acreage of the present exhibition grounds. The natural waterways which surround the land had much to recommend it, and would lend themselves readily, making the park an ideal spot.

Ald. Holmes agreed that the spot was the best in sight for a new exhibition grounds. Engineer Brazier says that this site has been discussed before, the objection to it being that the ground was low-lying. However he thought that the natural waterways more than made up for this deficiency.

Advocates Union Depot. Ald. Childs said that the area between Adelaide and Rectory streets was equally good for a union depot. It would allow for a whole train without blocking any crossing. He thought that a station on this site was the only solution of the present difficulty, unless track elevation was adopted. He also pointed out that to the east of the city as well as the west, the C. P. R. and G. T. R. meet, so there should be little difficulty in getting both to agree to a union station. Ald. Childs could see some objection from people from the western part of the city to moving the depot so far east, but, he said, the location of railway depots in other large centers were an evidence that the depot did not have to be downtown.

Engineer Brazier said that the center of the city, as to area was Dundas and Adelaide streets, and as to population, Dundas and Colborne streets. He understood that there was a ruling of the railway board that it could take action in regard to a union depot if the roads were within a mile of each other. In the case of London, the two railways were just a few yards more than a mile apart.

Various maps have been prepared by Engineer Brazier for the use of the city. One large one shows the regional and urban parts of the city. A second shows that limits of the commission, which had authority jurisdiction of the town planning radius. Another shows all public over subdivisions within a five-mile buildings and railways, along with private open spaces, such as the barracks, ball park, etc. The engineer is also to prepare one showing the different values of property by colors. He asked that the assessment department show these values on a map, so that the work of preparation may be gone on with. The map will show the minimum and maximum values in each block.

The map showing the different kinds of streets, permanent pavements, improved streets, and just streets, elicited the remark from Ald. Childs, that if the engineer could go ahead for a couple of years at the rate of the last few years, the city would soon all be paved.

"Don't you think we are in a position now where we can rely on paying by petition?" asked Ald. Childs of the engineer.

Mr. Brazier called attention to the fact that there are some of the important main arteries of travel into the city unpaved. He thought that if these were initiated they would not be petitioned against. Two of the important streets, he mentioned, were Hamilton road and about two-thirds of a mile on Dundas street east.

City Clerk Baker said that the commission should get at its estimates at an early date. The engineer said that the only item that he knew that had to be met was the $1,250 to be paid to Mr. Adams.

In discussing the city's cost for highways out of the city, the engineer said that he had been told the new Lambeth highway, and noticed that there were a number of cracks in it. Ald. Childs thought that they would fill these up with tar, the same as they do in the states.

City Clerk Baker informed the aldermen that he did not know whether the mayor had been able to get J. J. Murphy to retain on the commission or not. Col. Leonard, another member, was out of the city for the day. George Belton is off on a trip to Europe and Ald. Brighton, the third council member, was absent.

Col. Gartshore, chairman of the hospital trust, states that with the necessary funds in hand for the completion and equipment, it would be possible to open the hospital in two months, at the same time making an appeal to the citizens of London to respond to the call of the Children's Hospital, when they are visited shortly by canvassers.

FINED $100 FOR STRIKING MAN WHEN HE "SAW FIRE"

Adolphus Allen of Parkhill Admits Attacking Fallen Enemy.

Adolphus Allen of Parkhill was fined $100, costs inclusive, by Judge Talbot Macbeth at the court house Tuesday afternoon for beating Samuel Gratton, also of Parkhill, to such an extent that he blackened both of Gratton's eyes. The complainant's shoulder was dislocated in the fall he sustained when Allen assaulted him.

According to the tale unfolded to Judge Macbeth the men met on the evening of Jan. 25 and discussed a deal involving some cattle and a motor truck. Gratton finally backing out.

The next morning the men met at Shaver's Hotel in Parkhill and after some discussion Allen stated that Gratton said he would "brain him as he did his father before him."

"I just saw fire and hit him," said Allen in the witness-box. Gratton was knocked to the floor and the defendant admitted striking the plaintiff as he lay there.

Four witnesses were heard for the prosecution, while ten witnesses for the defence were examined.

A. R. Douglas prosecuted the case for the crown, and N. F. Newton, Parkhill, appeared for Allen.

bay and comparative safety for her people. Hits Live Wires. Below ran the high double wires of the high power electric line. It carried a 2,300-volt current. The Roma's nose, shod with its aluminum guard, thrust into the wires, broke them as the ship flattened to earth and rolled over, and the next moment came the noise as of an explosion and the flames burst out along the hull space.

There was a rush of men to the rescue from the army post and the navy base beyond. Just as the Roma neared the wires two men were seen to leap from high up in her slanting hull. As the stricken, flaming monster writhed in her first death agony ten more men dropped from doors or ports, or through holes they tore in the fabric sides that inclosed them.

Some leaped from the platform where the engines stood, far out from the hull. So swift was the flare of the gas flame that rescuers were driven back before its terrific heat. They watched helplessly as the great eighty-foot bag shriveled in the fierce blaze of the liberated gas. The Roma was a wall of flames a city block long and until the thousands of gallons of chemicals and water had checked the holocaust it was impossible to reach the comrades mangled and dead in that fiery furnace.

The ship left no passenger list behind her when she set out for a brief trial run from Langley. She was

Would See Folly. "Strange and difficult indeed would be the task of him who would say to this audience anything distinctly new about George Washington. Even an attempt at such a task would be but folly. The details of his life, the earnestness of his struggle, the splendor of his achievements, the great powers of his constructive statesmanship, are well known to you all. Even the myths connected with his career are the common knowledge of mankind. But at times in these later days his ideals are clouded, the motives which actuated his efforts are obscured or ignored, and the true relation of his doctrines and his theories to other countries than his own is not clearly understood. It is, perhaps, therefore natural and wise that we should look briefly at his ideals as they have affected your country and mine, or rather those kindred countries of a common ancestry.

Represents High Type. "George Washington represents the best type of the English country gentleman of the eighteenth century. What he desired most was reform, rather than revolution. He would solve the problems of his beloved land by peaceful measures, but if those measures were to fail because of the obstinacy or the stupidity of his opponents, as his kindred had done over a hundred years before him, he would gladly give up the joys of home and enter the tragic tournaments of death in his desire to serve his people. If the question at issue was 'ought to honor the general good, he would set honor in one eye and death in the other and look at both differently.' He would pledge his person and his property to the cause of liberty. Not without anxiety and careful thought and sorrowful regrets did he take the final but inevitable step which he knew well would mean the severing of the sacred tie of kindred and of nation. 'Prudence,' he well knew, 'dictated that governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; he knew too that mankind are disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, rather than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed.' But he likewise knew, what the world today approves, that 'when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such government and to provide new guards for their future security.' Washington's rhetoric was never the rhetoric of a rebel; it was the calm, judicious and earnest appeal of a man with clear and far vision who represented the best and noblest spirit of his age.

Petition of Rights. "In formulating his theories of justice and freedom, his doctrines of the inalienable rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, his principles of governments instituted among men and deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, he was not alone in his generation, nor was he the first and only of the prophets. He represented the ideals of the majority of the thinking men of Britain. His was but one clarion voice in the great chorus singing in his time the psalm of freedom. Behind him were long traditions and the long advocacy of liberty echoing clearly through the un-forgotten years. The Magna Charta and the Petition of Right were there. There, too, were the memories and the spirits of those immortal kindred, who with no thought of self had de-fied the powers of an obnoxious monarchy or had challenged undismayed the tyranny of kings. Behind him was a goodly company. More and Tyndale, Milton and Hampden and Cromwell, and others, all were there, and there too in the long line were the political laborers and the con-stant martyrs, their pale and fam-ished faces contrasting strangely with their immortal and unbending spirits, which neither death nor torture could vanquish or subdue. The torch they lighted still burned in Washington's day, sometimes strongly, sometimes it is true with but a flickering flame; but its glow still lined the English sky; it never faded from the English cliffs; Washington had be-hind him traditions that inspired, traditions of protest against oppres-sion and a faith in common men, not merely in the elevated few, but in that great mass of lonely uncount-ed souls who possess the treasures of the humble.

Had Comrades in Ideals. "And even in his own day when he uttered these immortal words which brought as if by magic a new nation into being, Washington was not with-out friends and comrades in ideals in Britain. His ideals were those of Britain's best. The weight of power was against him, it is true, but we must not forget the courageous minority who sympathized with his views, Locke's political philosophy, ex-pressed nearly a century before, had declared that all powers were revoc-able at the will of the people. It had emphasized the rights of 'life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness'—the very words used later in your De-claration of Independence. It had declared that no power should exist without the consent of the governed. Already that philosophy was coming into practice. The alarm bell of liberty had already been struck, al-though its pealing sounds were muffled, but never silenced, by those who usurped political power. It was in 1763 that the first criticism of the king's speech from the throne at the opening of parliament was made in No. 45 of the North Britain by Jack Wilkes, that stormy petrel, whose name is immortalized in Wilkes's, your Pennsylvania town. The writer was expelled from parliament for his pains, but he was re-elected by his constituents. In Paris, to which he fled for refuge, he said when he was asked by Madame Pompadour how far could an Englishman go in criti-cizing his sovereign, 'That, Madame, is just what I am trying to find out.'

Scorned Expediency. That was exactly what many English-men were trying to find out, but the answer came in the momentary in-surrection long delayed. Edmund Burke, the statesman who was too fond of the right to pursue the expedient, stood side by side with Washington in his advocacy of the rights of the colonists. Robert Burns, at a later date, with his fiery Scottish spirit, re-fused to drink a toast to Pitt, but proposed instead a toast to George Washington, who, he said, was a bet-ter man. An old Chatham protested against the attitude of England to-wards her colonies, and summed up the situation by saying 'Three mil-lions in America prefer poverty and liberty to gilded chains and sordid affluence and they will die in defence of their rights as free men. For myself, I must declare that in all my reading and observation—for solidity of reasoning, force of sagacity and wisdom of conclusion under such a complication of difficult circum-stances, no nation or body of men can stand in preference to the Gen-eral Congress at Philadelphia.'

"The work of Washington was an extraordinary evidence of an ordi-nary and widespread aspiration, one phase of a general Anglo-Saxon movement on behalf of freedom, one milestone in the forward march of civilization, one of those glorious ad-ventures around him a growing nation gathered, Franklin, Hamilton, Jefferson, Madison, Knox, Greene and the Adamses, all stirred by the same ideals. It was Jefferson who said, 'I am not one of those who fear the people. I know of no safe depository of the ultimate powers of society, but the people themselves.'—an ideal voiced by his Anglo-Saxon kindred a hundred years before.

"In my own country the influence of Washington's ideals and of the revolution which these ideals brought about was far reaching. The dis-advantages which arose from the severing of the national tie were vanquished when the crisis came to Canada. When the influx to Canada of Americans who, while they believed in the principles of liberty, could not abandon the political system of their fathers. Not without deep regret did they move to another land. The thoughts of being driven from our country," wrote Jacob Baile of Philadelphia, "and from all those en-dearing connections we had been forming for so many years, and the expectation of landing on a strange and unknown shore depressed our spirits beyond measure." Jonathan Sewell, son of the attorney general of Massachusetts, wrote, 'I know the Israelites banded after the leeks and onions of Egypt, their native land. So do we after the nuts, cranberries and apples of America. Cannot you send me two or three barrels of New York Pippins, a large and a small, and a few Amer-ican walnuts commonly called Shag-barks and a few cranberries.' And John Coffin, a Harvard man, wrote to a friend who had remained in New England, 'I would give more for one pork barrel made in Massachusetts than for all the barrels of the world. New Brunswick since its settlement. Of those who moved to Canada, the Maritime provinces alone at least two hundred were Harvard grad-uates, while an equal number came from other universities. They brought to Canada an educational stimulus of great value. They had

WANT CITY RED CROSS TO HELP

Army and Navy Veterans Desire Funds Be Used To Alleviate Distress.

HOLD LIVELY MEETING

Charge Money Was Collected
For Destitute and Suffering Soldiers.

Every possible effort will be made by the London unit of the Army and Navy Veterans' Association to have the funds now in the hands of the Red Cross of London given out for the relief of suffering and distressed soldiers, it was shown at a lively meeting of the veterans held Tuesday night.

The discussion of the Red Cross funds and their distribution was brought on by the reading of a letter from the Red Cross executive, which contained a refusal to hear a deputation representing the veterans, read by the secretary of the Army and Navy Association, A. J. Glennie.

President John Rawlings, immediately upon the reading of the letter, went into a lengthy discourse on the reasons why the Red Cross refused money to help returned veterans, now destitute, who had been honorably discharged as A1 men.

Looked Up Advertising. He, President Rawlings, had looked up the advertising matter which had been used during an appeal for funds by the Red Cross in 1919. The advertising had stated that the money was for eight reasons. The one reason, said the president, that had been of particular interest to the veterans was one which stated that the funds were to be used "for destitute and suffering soldiers."

From a report printed in the press, he read a statement from the Red Cross, which stated that $8,500 had been spent since the close of the war for economic relief, and "they absolutely refuse to grant any more," he declared.

"Much was said of the way the soldiers had done their work in such a clean way overseas."

"In the letter read tonight they not only absolutely refuse to grant any more relief, but refuse to receive a deputation of soldiers. Comrades, I ask you is this clean?" said the president.

"I have been given to understand from reliable sources that the Red Cross has in hand from $5,000 to $11,000."

Ask G. W. V. A. to Co-operate. He had asked the co-operation of the G. W. V. A., and been given to understand by the secretary of that institution that he would supply him with a list of the needy men in the city who were destitute.

The promise had not been kept, for a day or so after he had called up the secretary and asked for the list, the answer was that he list could not be given, the reply from the secretary being: "I can't give them to you; the colonel says I mustn't."

He commended the excellent work that John Stuart had administered the Patriotic Fund, but nevertheless he believed the money should be taken from his hands and given to someone that "the returned men might have a voice in the distribution."

Praised Soldiers' Work. He read a piece from a newspaper clipping in which Col. Beattie had praised the work of the soldiers overseas. "I ask Col. Beattie if it would not be better than praising the work done overseas if something were done to help those men who are starving on the streets of London today."

While the Chamber of Commerce had done much to help the returned men, they had also "put every obstacle in the way that could be," he said, by immigration, to glut the labor market, so that "we poor devils would work for nothing," affirmed President Rawlings.

"The Red Cross had done good service during the war, but I maintain they fell down at the finish."

Give Money To Austria. Fifty thousand dollars had been given to the Canadian Red Cross in conjunction with the American Red Cross to the starving children of Austria. This was a lasting disgrace, so long as the children of the Great War Veterans were starving, said Mr. Rawlings.

At this juncture a sort of climax arose, one member rising to inquire if some legal action could not be taken.

Street Car Passengers Wait Patiently For Power

"How long should a traveler sit in a street car, after the power goes off, before he gets out and walks?"

This question came into the mind of a man on the street at 11:15 this morning, when he discovered people still sitting in a Dundas car, waiting for the power to appear again.

Over such a situation the street railway company seemingly has the advantage. On hopping on to a pay-as-you-enter car, the fare must be paid. If a passenger gets out and walks a block and the car catches up to him, it means another ticket.

So instead of getting out and hiking, passengers wait and wait, as in the case of the occupants of the Dundas street car. They had been waiting over two hours.

HOLD CONCERT AT ADELAIDE BAPTIST

The following was the program given by well-known artists, including Frederick Schofield, Mrs. A. Brown and O. Leo Herbert, organist, who are well-known in the city as musicians of unusual talent: Sonata No. 1 in D minor op. 42, A. Guillemot; Mendelssohn's "Hear My Prayer," "Remember Me, O Mighty One," J. Kinkel; Wagner's "Evening Star" and "Toccata," F. Ward; "With verdure clad," from Haydn's "Creation," "I Waited For the Lord," Mendelssohn; Schubert's "March Militaire," "When the Roses Bloom," Reichardt; "I Passed by Your Window," Brucke; "Oh, Lonely Night," J. Ronald, and "Feet Lux," Dubois.

Odor of Twine Pervades Fowl.

Twine that has a medicated odor has given London grocers much concern in the past few weeks, because farmers have been using it in tying up chickens for shipment after they have been dressed.

The senior members of the firm of McCormick & Sons, grocers, states that the odor pervades the chicken, and even after it is cooked it can be detected.

Mr. McCormick requests farmers to refrain from using red impregnated twine, and to use plain twine when tying up produce.

taken against the Red Cross, in view of the fact that one of the reasons for campaigning for funds cited on the charter of the Red Cross had been to "relieve suffering and destitute veterans."

It was a matter the president promptly replied that had been gone thoroughly into, and he said, speaking of the funds of the Red Cross, that "he believed an injunction could be taken out against that money today."

Not Doing Duty. Secretary Glennie, speaking next, said that he thought the disposal of the funds was a big thing and he had sent copies to all units of the association, passed at a previous meeting, urging that the funds be available for the relief of distress amongst veterans. He said:

"I contend that so long as there is a cent in that fund and so long as there is distress, they are not doing their duty."

The matter of injunctions was thrashed out here. An injunction, it was brought out in the discussion, would tie up the funds, a thing hardly wanted when the need of the money was so great as at the present.

Get Legal Advice. Others thought that the association should inquire of its legal adviser if a legitimate claim for an injunction against the money could be found.

Secretary Glennie then stated that he believed funds would be forthcoming in a few days to relieve present distress, but if an injunction were taken out, he said they could hardly expect to get money to the over the present. Several organizations could be relied upon to assist. He placed great faith in the Chamber of Commerce.

Finally it was decided that the matter of an injunction would be temporarily dropped. One action, however, was taken. It was to appoint a committee to look into all aspects of the case, including the legal aspect. The committee nominated were J. C. Glennie, John Rawlings, Col. Reason and Col. C. W. R. Graham.

Several cases of distress were heard, and the organization promised to lend its aid in getting help from the government.

TRANSFER PUBLIC WORKS OFFICE

On the first of March the Dominion Public Works office will take up new quarters in the customs house owing to the fact that the Inland Revenue, which is now with the customs department, does not require its old offices on the second story of the customs house.

At present the office of public works is in the Royal Bank Building. It will require a shifting of offices at the Customs House to admit the Dominion Department of Public Works, but plenty of space is available.

Bill drove me part way down to work this morning. Kind hearted stuff, you know. Getting down to the bench today was a real problem.

When I reached the side line that connects my hut with K. S. C. (which, being interpreted reads King's street cars) said K. S. C. were there waiting. Offered plugged nickel for a lift down town when conductor took me to the motor was in a state of disinterested non-operation owing to the kiltawatts and the amperes having double-crossed the cycles. I nodded and sat down to hear the rest of the talk until he came to that Shakespearean phrase, "Power's off."

Took to the road. Breathed deep and was making good time—about 2 1-2 knots per hour. Bill pulled up beside with a flourish.

I said: "To the daily toil, Bill, and make it snappy." Bill is C. M. of this great city—which being interpreted reads Colquhoun Mangle.

Traded in old car that used to carry all the "bums" that wanted a ride. Now drives one of those me-and-you cars.

Nice 'bus, and I was wishin' the folks back home could see me picking off this kind of high-brow cartage. Works nice. Bill says engines purrs like a kitten—and also surprised auto people 'lowed him so much kate on the old chariot.

Turns off main road past skating pool, where "Tiser Demons" played their one winning game of hockey. Something goes wrong. Car suddenly heads the way we were coming from.

Does the same thing again. Engine used to be on a merry-go-round. ### CLAIMS COSTS WILL DOUBLE

Campbell Asserts Proposed $637,000 Expenditure May Total Over Million.

OUTLAY AHEAD OF 1921

School Tax Rate for Last Year mounted to 31 Per Cent of Taxation.

That the proposal of the board of education to spend $637,000 to be raised by debentures will ultimately cost the city over $1,200,000, was the statement made in the mayor's office at the city hall on Wednesday morning. Bryden Campbell, of the school board, was the authority for the figures.

The action of the school board in approving of such an expenditure as it did on Monday, has caused quite a furore in municipal circles and is now the main topic of discussion.

Mayor Wilson continues to maintain a neutrality stand on the subject, but on two occasions during the discussion, he gave a slight inclining of his closely guarded views.

Bryden Campbell, the biggest member added fuel to the fire of school board conversation, and during this Mayor Wilson revealed that he had carefully figured out just what the school board budget will mean to the city by the time the debentures would be retired. Mr. Campbell had also figured it out.

The proposal to spend $637,000 will leave the board's capital expenditure total for 1921 far behind, although last year was looked upon as being big year, the total work undertaken on capital account being $579,055, the two main items being public school, $242,800, and Collegiate, $255,000.

The school tax rate in 1921 was 14.83 per cent. The total amount raised in the tax rate for education was $342,638.21, or $278.34 per cent of the total amount raised by taxation. This total was made up as follows:

Public schools . . . . . $512,634.12
Collegiate Institute . . . . . 37,457.16
Technical school . . . . . 36,169.84
Western University . . . . . 60,559.21
Total . . . . . $646,810.33

For 1922 will be added the yearly sinking fund charge and interest of the Western University grant of $250,000, and the 1921 expenditure of the board, $579,055.

MAY CARRY DANCE
QUESTION FURTHER

Rev. J. Agnew, Methodist Pastor, Declares Issue Not Finally Settled.

SEES WIDE SIGNIFICANCE
President of Ministerial Alliance Expects Clergy as Body To Rest Case.

Public opinion is still rampant over the fact that dancing in the collegiate institute at the opening exercises has received the official sanction of the board of education.

Rev. J. Agnew, of Ridout Street Methodist church, speaking on the subject Wednesday, claimed that the question was not a local issue, only in Portland, Oregon, the anti-dance element have taken the matter before a court of law, in an effort to substantiate their claim, that dancing in a public institution of this kind is not only undesirable but against the law.

The question of dancing may be revived," said Mr. Agnew, "if not by the Ministerial Alliance as a whole, by members of the clergy who are not satisfied to let the matter go as settled."

Others thought that the association should inquire of its legal adviser if a legitimate claim for an injunction against the money could be found.

Secretary Glennie then stated that he believed funds would be forthcoming in a few days to relieve present distress, but if an injunction were taken out, he said they could hardly expect to get money to the over the present. Several organizations could be relied upon to assist. He placed great faith in the Chamber of Commerce.

Finally it was decided that the matter of an injunction would be temporarily dropped. One action, however, was taken. It was to appoint a committee to look into all aspects of the case, including the legal aspect. The committee nominated were J. C. Glennie, John Rawlings, Col. Reason and Col. C. W. R. Graham.

Several cases of distress were heard, and the organization promised to lend its aid in getting help from the government.

TRANSFER PUBLIC WORKS OFFICE

On the first of March the Dominion Public Works office will take up new quarters in the customs house owing to the fact that the Inland Revenue, which is now with the customs department, does not require its old offices on the second story of the customs house.

At present the office of public works is in the Royal Bank Building. It will require a shifting of offices at the Customs House to admit the Dominion Department of Public Works, but plenty of space is available.

Bill drove me part way down to work this morning. Kind hearted stuff, you know. Getting down to the bench today was a real problem.

When I reached the side line that connects my hut with K. S. C. (which, being interpreted reads King's street cars) said K. S. C. were there waiting. Offered plugged nickel for a lift down town when conductor took me to the motor was in a state of disinterested non-operation owing to the kiltawatts and the amperes having double-crossed the cycles. I nodded and sat down to hear the rest of the talk until he came to that Shakespearean phrase, "Power's off."

Took to the road. Breathed deep and was making good time—about 2 1-2 knots per hour. Bill pulled up beside with a flourish.

I said: "To the daily toil, Bill, and make it snappy." Bill is C. M. of this great city—which being interpreted reads Colquhoun Mangle.

Salvation Army Authorities Buy House For Use As Domestic Lodge

Final arrangements have been made for the installation of a domestic lodge under the supervision of the Salvation Army. Brigadier Southall of the Toronto Immigration offices, Brigadier T. R. Tudge of Montreal, a long resident secretary for immigration in Canada, have completed the purchase of a 14-roomed house on the west corner of Ontario and King streets, from Thomas J. Carter. It is expected that the furnishing of the house will commence on the 21st of March, immediately it becomes vacant.

The purpose of the lodge is to provide a home for girls who emigrate to this country to take up domestic service. Before entering their new positions, it will be possible for them to spend a night or two in the lodge, and in case of changing from one employment to another, the girls are to consider it their home and spend the intervening time there.

The Salvation Army has guaranteed the Chamber of Commerce to provide at least 50 domestics a year, but it is expected by authorities here that the number who arrive in the city yearly will be closer to a hundred. Since the war, emigration has greatly increased and many girls are coming to Canada, induced by higher wages and more attractive employment. Homes of this nature are in successful operation in Toronto, Winnipeg, Vancouver, Calgary, Montreal, Halifax, and other large sources of emigration distribution.

There are seven fine commodious rooms on the second floor and fifteen single beds are to be installed, since from ten to fifteen girls arrive at a time. An officer of the local Salvation Army is to be in charge.

Trustee Hunt Favors Popular Vote on Proposed Educational Building Program.

Claims Combining of Technical and Primary School Costs Deceives Ratepayers.

That she welcomes the suggestion that the board of education building program go to the ratepayers for approval was the opinion expressed by Trustee Mrs. John I. A. Hunt at a meeting of the audit committee Wednesday morning.

"I wish they would send this estimate to the people," declared Mrs. Hunt, "and when they do have the proposed expenditures so divided that the citizens will understand beyond a shadow of a doubt just what they are voting for."

"What I mean is this, place the public school estimate separately, the collegiate institute estimate by itself, and the technical estimate by itself. It is my contention that the citizens should know what these proposed sums are for."

Trustee Hunt also pointed out that to the best of her recollection Trustee Thomas Rowe had promised faithfully that public school expenditures should have prior consideration above any technical proposal.

That assurance has been given by certain ones," said Mrs. Hunt, "and now they are trying to pull the wool over the people's eyes by the cry that the department may at any moment stop the grant. Why don't they get in touch with the department in Toronto and ascertain definitely. It's no wonder that the people are making a complaint. They have stood for a lot."

Aids Sunday School.

The church wardens of Christ Church will receive $300 to be used for the purchase of books for the Sunday school library.

The church wardens of St. Luke's Church were left $300 for Sunday school work and $300 for an organ fund.

The Protestant Orphans' Home will receive $500 and the Women's Christian Association of London $500 for the benefit of the Home for Incapacitated.

"I direct my executors to hand over to my god-daughter, Mary Louisa Kersteman, and my old friend, Mary Emma Campbell, as being most intimately acquainted with the tasks and requirements of my friends and cousins, all my jewelry and personal articles," reads another portion of the will.

The hand-printed china of Miss Priddis will be divided among the original members of the Abigail Becker Chapter, I. O. D. E.

Furniture To Relatives.

The rest of the household furniture and effects go to the brothers on Miss Priddis, and on their death will be sold and form a part of the estate.

The remainder of the estate will be divided among the Victorian Order of Nurses, Child Welfare Association of London, or whatever association may then be carrying on the work of the association with which Miss Bertha Smith is now connected.

By a cordill, dated July 4, 1921, Miss Priddis included the Women's Auxiliary, Missionary Society of the Anglican church, diocese of Huron, in the final division of the estate, for the Marjorie Nash Memorial.

The will was made June 18, 1921, and was witnessed by J. P. Moore, and Gertrude M. Dumaresq.

The principal item of the estate consisted of 80 shares of stock in the Ontario Loan and Debenture Company, valued at $6,400.

PRESBYTERIANS TO SEND RELIEF

Churches of City Decide On Appeal To Aid Famine Sufferers.

SCHOOL ISSUE LAID OVER

Toronto Resolution Against Roman Catholic Claim To Be Considered Later.

An appeal is to be made for funds for the Russian famine relief throughout Presbyterian churches in the city. This action was decided upon at the afternoon session of the London presbytery, in the First Presbyterian Church Tuesday, Feb. 21.

The proposal was made that time should be taken to inquire more definitely about the means of getting money to Russia, as it was felt that any association with the society now in operation in the city, "The Friends of Soviet Russia," might create a misunderstanding on the part of congregations and hinder generous subscriptions.

Dr. Beattie, however, pointed out that the matter was most urgent, and that there was already a society in operation in the cities of Toronto and Ottawa, whose object was to provide relief for the starving children of Russia and which has received the full approval of the Canadian government. It was decided that money should be sent through this channel.

Dr. W. J. Clarke, formerly of First Presbyterian Church, London, and now of St. Andrew's Church, Westmount, Montreal, was proposed unanimously as moderator of the coming General Assembly in Winnipeg.

Lay Over Resolution.

A resolution, passed by the Toronto board of education, of a nature unfavorable to the proposed claim of Roman Catholics for increased allotment of tax money, was laid over until the March meeting, when it was felt there was not sufficient information available on the subject.

Rev. D. C. MacGregor, the moderator, explained that there were two issues involved, the question of tax allotment and the question of whether separate school education should include merely the public school work, as is the case at present, or should be carried on into the high school or university system.

The first question, that of tax allotment, was a matter to be settled purely by legislation and rested with the churches, only in so far, that if they felt opposed to any measures to be passed on the question, they might create an unfavorable public opinion.

Inspector Thompson pointed out that there was not sufficient data upon which to discuss the question fairly. During the next month, the matter would be thoroughly discussed on the floor of the House, and by the next meeting it would be known whether there was any legislation, countenanced which would be in any way detrimental to the present system of Protestant education.

A committee was appointed to bring data on the subject before the March Presbytery.

Discuss Minimum Stipend.

A committee of laymen was appointed to interview congregations on the matter of the minimum stipend, and it was felt by many that although at present several congregations in the city are unfavorable to the amount proposed by the general assembly, yet the matter may be settled to the satisfaction of all concerned.

Rev. W. R. McIntosh brought to the attention of the court the following resolution, passed by a congregation at Dayton, "That while this congregation is small (about 65 families) and not very wealthy, the members approve the action of the general assembly in raising the minimum stipend for ministers to $1,800, thus bringing it a little nearer the remuneration of other professional men, and that we pay our minister $1,800."

The following men were appointed as commissioners to general assembly: J. H. McDonald, W. R. McIntosh, J. Elder, D. C. MacGregor, J. McKillop, J. O. Stewart, J. Anthony.

Will Prepare Overtures.

Dr. Beattie and Col. Graham were appointed a committee to prepare overtures for the general assembly, and Dr. E. B. Hooper for the general assembly committee on business.

James Gorill, A. V. Bentum and A. N. Miller, students for the ministry, were certified by the home mission committee for work during the summer.

Rev. W. R. McIntosh submitted the report of committee appointed to consider nominations for vacant chairs at Westminster Hall and Knox College. Rev. A. C. Miers, Rev. A. W. McIntosh are to be considered for the chair of religious education in Knox College, and Prof. McNeil, Prof. Morton and Dr. E. B. Hooper for the chair of church history. Mr. McIntosh stated the qualifications which are necessary in men who were to fill these positions, and asked that careful consideration be given the matter, pending the March meeting. A committee was appointed to consider the matter of Chelsea Green and Chalmers Churches.

PARIS WALKS TO WORK.

PARIS—Recent increased fares on omnibus and tram car lines have brought on a "strike" of passengers. A large number of persons are walking to and from work.

Careful consideration be given the matter, pending the March meeting. A committee was appointed to consider the matter of Chelsea Green and Chalmers Churches.

Alderman Minshall Tells City Council Treatment Has Been "Shameful."

Special to London Advertiser.

BRANTFORD, Feb. 21.—The police investigation will finish tomorrow or Thursday unless something unexpected happens. There are still about ten more witnesses to be called.

This morning Police Constable T. Tyrrell told about a raid on Carter's place which had proved false because Carter had been tipped off that the police were coming after him.

Tyrrell also told of a liquor seizure at the G. T. R. station, in which he had taken part. He said that he believed that 195 bottles of liquor which were taken from a taxi cab belonged to Louis Stander.

Detective Inspector Chapman was also placed on the stand this morning.

"In the discipline of the police force all that could be desired," asked Commissioner Gregory.

"I think so, sir," replied the inspector.

Inspector Chapman questioned by Mr. Jennings, said he thought there ought to be six plainclothesmen.

Could Not Remember.

Mr. Jennings referred to the inspector's savings account book, asking the witness to account for some entries in August, 1914. These were

Imposes "Light Fine" of $250 On Operator of Handbook.

WINDSOR, Feb. 21.—George Foster, proprietor of the International Bar, Sandwich street, was fined $250 and costs in Windsor police court today on a charge of operating a handbook on the horse races. Foster pleaded guilty to the charge.

City police officers raided his establishment Tuesday afternoon, seizing a quantity of racing paraphernalia and several betting slips. When taken into custody, Foster admitted to police that he had received three bets on horses the afternoon of the raid.

In view of the fact that it was a first offence, Judge Gundy imposed a light fine.

for $100 on the first of the month, $70 on the seventh, $250 on the eighth, and $150 on the thirteenth. Witness said he could not remember just what instances these deposits were connected with.

In 1917, the bank book showed deposits totalling $1,350. Most of this came from an endowment policy in the name of Life Waterloo, which came due in that year.

"I was worth more before the war than I am now," remarked the inspector. He told of turning over a piece of property out west at a handsome profit.

Switching to police court discipline, Mr. Jennings asked "Isn't it true that you used profane language to the chief?"

"No, never in my life," replied the inspector.

To a query from Mr. Jennings, the inspector denied laying any charges against Chinamen for gambling in the Loggia Club.

Mr. Jennings looked up the magistrate's book and found that the inspector had laid several charges for gambling against Chinamen.

Upon this being pointed out the inspector admitted that the entries must be correct.

"I am unable to see what the people of Brantford get for what salary they pay you," remarked Mr. Jennings.

During Inspector Chapman's evidence, Commissioner Gregory asked him several questions about the clothing allowance which is given to police force members for their uniforms.

Had Ragged Trousers.

"I passed a policeman on Market street this morning. He was wearing ragged trousers and was really disreputable," the commissioner commented.

When the inquiry recommenced after dinner, P. C. Tyrrell was recalled by Mr. Jennings, and asked about a phase of the attempt to capture Carter. Witness said that his information was that Carter had come to the city on Saturday and would likely stay over until Monday.

Because of the length of his stay, P. C. Tyrrell felt that it was not necessary to make the search at Carter's house immediately after receiving the information about Carter's whereabouts.

"I think it would be very strange if a constable was to go up there alone," commented Commissioner Gregory.

Asked by Mr. Jennings as to leakage of information from the police station, P. C. Tyrrell denied the charge.

He himself, P. C. Colborne and Sergt. Northwick were named by the witness as police officers who felt loath about disclosing information about offenders, fearing the news would leak out.

A taxi-driver, Mr. James Merrill, was next called by Mr. Jennings.

He drove the taxi which was concerned in the Cockshutt road robbery. He was driving three men at the time. Witness said that he gave evidence against the three men and was himself arrested. In the cells Chief Slemm came out and suggested that he had better get a lawyer. Witness felt it wasn't necessary and was indifferent on the subject. Mr. Hewitt had previously acted for him on one occasion.

Shortly afterwards Mr. Duff Slemm came up and acted for him. The witness was cleared of the charge at the trial. He said that his lawyer's bill came to $150. The trial took place before Judge Hardy.

Drove Without License.

The witness lost his taxi license over the affair. He had since driven without a license and had never been summoned. He hadn't yet taken out a 1922 license.

P. C. Stanley was asked about the Joe Willets incident, which P. C. Tyrrell referred to. He recalled that Willets told him and Tyrrell that Stander had offered him $200 if he would say that P. C. Tyrrell had got liquor from Carter's.

Questioned as to the police force, Acting Detective Stanley told of trouble in the force between the men higher up and the subordinates. He recalled an episode where a bottle of whiskey disappeared from the chief's office. The chief accused Schuler of taking it. Subsequently it reappeared. One of the lawyers brought it back. There had been a joke involved.

Acting Detective Stanley said that discipline was not good in the police force. The impression had been that some one was giving out tips as to prospective raids.

Brewster was continually interrupting.

"I didn't expect him to be convicted, having Stander as an interpreter," commented Mr. Gregory, referring to Martino's case.

Will End This Week.

Commissioner W. D. Gregory expressed assurance that the investigation would reach its end this week. He said that his report on the evidence would be forwarded to the attorney-general, Mr. Raney. Whether the report would be made public from Toronto, Mr. Gregory could not say.

He thought, however, that it might be sent to Mayor Wedlake, as head of the Brantford City Council.

The question of the accounts in connection with the police probe was briefly discussed at the meeting of the city council last evening. It was explained that these are being taken care of, in some part, through the mayor, and that a fully audited statement of the costs will be presented.

Sheriff Maines of Port Huron Finds Lacerated Form on the G. T. R. Tracks.

REQUESTS OFFICIALS' AID

Will Employ Every Means To Find Mother Believed Guilty of Crime.

Special to London Advertiser.

FARNIA, Feb. 21.—Finding the body of a new-born babe lying beside the Grand Trunk tracks a few miles from Port Huron, Sheriff Harrison Maines of St. Clair County, visiting this side of the border to-night, announced that he would ask railway officials in London, Toronto and Montreal to assist him to unravel a mystery that confronts his department.

After an examination tonight, it was concluded that the child had been born aboard the train, probably in a sleeping car, and that after birth a window in the car had been broken and the body thrown out.

Heavy glass, such as is used in railroad coaches, was found a short distance from where the body was found.

By following a trail of blood, and from the location of the glass, the officers concluded that the body had been thrown from an eastbound Grand Trunk train. The body was wrapped only in a sheet, and was badly bruised and lacerated from contact with the rinder roadbed.

Sheriff Maines has wired railroad officials at Toronto and Montreal to ascertain if a coach or sleeping car with a broken window arrived in either of these cities. He has also asked for a list of people who occupied sleeping berths out of Chicago, the train from which the body of the infant was thrown was bound from Chicago to Montreal. Members of the train crew will also be questioned, as well as railroad employees along the line to ascertain if a woman in a weakened condition had left the train at any way point.

P. DELANEY SENTENCED IN TILSONBURG FOR THEFT

Accomplice, E. Boughner, Allowed His Freedom on Probation.

TILSONBURG, Feb. 21.—P. Delaney, 22 years old, was today sentenced to one year in prison for robbing the E. S. Law & Company shoe store three weeks ago, and E. Boughner, 19 years old, was allowed to go by Magistrate Hare on suspended sentence. The prisoner Delaney has already served a year for theft, and a few weeks ago was convicted of having robbed a local Chinese laundry of its cash, but was allowed to go on suspended sentence. Delaney, it is said, had shipped the stolen shoes to a relative, who reshipped them, but local officials prevented the shoes from reaching Delaney on the return trip. A pair of rubber boots were also found at Boughner's home with the size and other marks erased.

Ald. Bragg asked if witnesses who came up were entitled to $150 a day. The mayor stated that so far as he knew they were. He added that he had advanced $400 for accounts, so that all could be presented to the council at the close of the inquiry.

Ald. Harley thought the mayor should speed up the inquiry.

The mayor replied that he expected that the inquiry would be over in two or three days. He had asked the commissioner if it should continue. The latter said that he thought not, for he wanted to reassure the foreigners of Brantford that in a court of law in Canada all men stood equal.

Ald. Minshall told of visiting the homes of fifteen foreigners, all of whom had been "fleece." It was a shame the way these foreigners had been treated, he said.

2 WOMEN ELECTED TO RUSSIAN SOVIET

Wife of Premier Lenine Heads Political and Educational Commission.

MOSCOW, Feb. 21.—Only two women were elected members of the central executive committee, the real governing body of Soviet Russia, at the last All-Russian Soviet Congress recently held here.

The two women members are N. K. Outalova, wife of Premier Lenine, and president of the chief political and educational commission, who is active in organizing women's communist organizations; and Mme. Alexandra Kollantzy, who formerly was minister of the commissar of social welfare.

The committee has 350 members. Among them are Bela Kun, who was leader of the communist movement in Hungary; G. E. Zinovieff and Karl Radek, all three of whom are especially active in the affairs of the Third International.

The great attention that Moscow is paying to the Ukraine, which is daily becoming more independent in its attitude, and takes its orders less and less from Moscow, was indicated by the election to the central executive committee of three Ukrainians. They were Rakowsky, president of the Ukraine Republic; Manulsky, the Ukrainian commissar for agriculture, and Skrybnik, Ukrainian commissar of home affairs.

All the other well-known Bolshevik leaders were returned to membership on the committee. Among the number were: Premier Lenine, Leon Trotsky, General Eudymov, cavalry leader, George V. Tchicherin (commissar of foreign affairs), L. B. Krassin (commissar of foreign trade), J. V. Stalin (commissar of national minorities), and Kameneff (president of the Moscow Soviet).

REINSTATED BY COUNCIL

Discharged Pair at Kitchener Given Jobs Back.

KITCHENER, Feb. 21.—The rather protracted dispute between Kitchener's jobless and the city council came to an end this morning when a delegation appointed by the local branch of the workers' party of Canada waited upon a joint meeting of the sewer committee and the board of works, presided over by Mayor Greb, and thrashed out their difficulties in a round-table conference.

The result of the conference was the agreement by the city officials to put J. Pryce and S. Pope back on the city job so long as the two offenders refrained from agitation while on the job.

It appears from the facts brought out at this morning's meeting that Pryce and Pope, both experienced sewer laborers, were causing a constant disturbance among the men who were anxious to work by demanding that the ditches in which they were laboring were unsafe and not properly framed by the city engineer. Because of their constant heckling of the foreman on the job they were fired without explanation.

The wedding coach will be drawn by bay horses instead of the traditional four.

Every new detail of the ceremony is displayed by the newspapers and avidly seized upon by the public, which thus learns today that the hat in which the bride will start her honeymoon is of "mole and larkspur blue georgette," the mole to match the mole skin wrap which the princess will wear, and the blue georgette to match her dress.

Further details are that the marriage knot will be tied by the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Archbishop of York, the Bishop of London, the Bishop of Oxford, the Dean of Westminster Abbey and Canon Lascelles, the bridegroom's uncle.

A new flag, the abbey flag, will be flown from one of the abbey's towers on the morning of the wedding. It has been specially designed by heraldic experts and embodies historical symbols from the time of Edward the Confessor forwards. The flag will be lowered when King George enters the abbey, and the royal standard substituted; after the ceremony the abbey flag will again be hoisted.

The shadow of the defence of the realm act still hangs over London to some extent, but within the limits of what remains of that law, society is endeavoring to persuade London to try to enjoy itself next week.

In social, court and diplomatic circles such a round of dances and dinners and receptions has been planned as London has not seen since the coronation.

LONDON INDENT HOUSES WANT CANADIAN GOODS

Insist, However, That Prices and Samples Should Be Available.

TORONTO, Feb. 21.—(By Canadian Press.)—Canadian manufacturers are becoming aroused to see the benefits of showing their products in London, England. On the 6th inst., the department of trade and commerce published in their weekly journal a very strong article by A. T. Wilgerson, Canadian government trade commissioner, specially appointed to interview the great indent houses of London, who act as purchasing agents for world markets. He reported at length to the effect that Canadian goods would be very welcome, but could not be considered unless our manufacturers had permanent representation in London with samples and prices always available.

A few Canadian manufacturers and exporters have now completed arrangements for permanent exhibition in London with selling service for all departments. All commercial exhibitions are valuable assets to seller and buyer, but for export purposes continuity of efforts is the only method of producing permanent results.

The deputation was introduced by Hon. Peter Smith and the speakers included J. B. Buchanan of Ingersoll.

ACID IN STOMACH SOURS THE FOOD

Says Excess of Hydrochloric Acid Is Cause of Indigestion.

A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion are nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation, then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflame the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we eructate sour food, belch gas, or have heartburn, flatulence, waterbrash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast while it is effecting, and furthermore, to continue this for one week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure, digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.—Advt.

HARWICH GRAVEL PITS ARE ORDERED CLOSED

BLENNHEIM, Feb. 21.—So dangerous has the situation become in some of the gravel pits in Harwich Township from farmers digging under the frozen banks and taking the chance that the embankment won't fall in upon them while at work, Reeve Cameron has closed all the pits and forbidden persons getting gravel from them until the frost is out.

It is said that in places the surface is frozen several feet thick, and that a great deal of dynamite was used by the township in blowing up the frozen surfaces while they had gangs of men hauling gravel upon the roads during the last month.

OFFER TRIBUTE AT HERO'S BIER

Huge Throngs Line Streets As Mayor General Watson's Funeral Train Passes.

KING AMONG MOURNERS

Rev. Canon Scott Reads Lesson At Impressive Quebec Ceremony.

QUEBEC, Feb. 21.—Amidst scenes indicating the general esteem and affection in which he was held in his native city, and followed by representatives of the militia, state, the church, and general public, the body of the late Major-Gen. Sir David Watson was taken to Mount Hermon Cemetery this afternoon for burial.

Twenty thousand persons lined the streets as the impressive procession of soldiers and statesmen marched behind the gun-carriage bearing its burden, draped in a Union Jack, while the Dead Marches in Saul and Chopin were played by a military band.

At Chalmers Church, where the funeral service was held, Rev. S. T. Col. the Rev. Canon Scott reading the lesson, and Rev. Dr. Love read the prayers.

Mr. Martin referred to the deeds which the dead soldier had rendered to his city, his country and the empire. He pointed out that it was Sir David Watson's services overseas which would linger the longest in public memory. His death was no doubt due to the unrestricted manner in which he threw himself into the service of mankind in France.

The chief mourners were a cousin, J. Grant, his son-in-law, James Craig, his brother-in-law, Walter Sharpe, and T. M. Houghton. The pallbearers were: Lieut.-Gen. Sir Richard Turner, Major-Gen. MacDonald, Major-Gen. MacBrien, Major-Gen. Morrison, Brig.-Gen. King and Brig.-Gen. Semblay.

Prominent in the funeral train were: Major Willis O'Connor, representing His Excellency the Governor-General; His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor; Sir Charles Fitzpatrick; Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, prime minister of Canada, and a number of cabinet ministers.

Premier Taschereau and the members of his cabinet, the speakers of both local houses, as well as many of the members, followed the body.

OUTLINES BOYS' WORK AT KIWANIAN LUNCHEON

KITCHENER, Ont., Feb. 21.—"Boys' Work" was the subject of the noonday luncheon address of the Kiwanis Club here today, and A. A. Rose, one of Kitchener's live Kiwanians to show his interest in the boy movement, brought "Sammy" Goldman, Kitchener's popular "newbie," to the luncheon with him as his guest.

The speaker of the day was Edward J. Moore of the Ryerson Press, Toronto, who in his opening remarks declared that Kitchener was noted throughout Canada for three things, "hockey, homes and hard workers." He declared he might also add "humanness." Mr. Moore emphasized what boys' work meant to the country, declaring that it is by taking an interest in the boy and directing him into the right channel of occupation that the best from boy genius is realized.

MAY HALT PROBE OF FREIGHT RATES

Railway Board Hears Technical Evidence From Traffic Manager.

MAY HAVE TO MAKE CUT

Railways Expect Great Competition From Grain Carriers on Lakes.

OTTAWA, Feb. 21.—(By Canadian Press.)—Adjournment of the equalization of the freight rates between the East and the West case, now being argued before the board of railway commissioners, will probably be made tomorrow afternoon following the examination of C. A. Hayes, vice-president in charge of traffic for the Canadian National lines, and C. D. Lewis, a leading British Columbia engineer. The case will be resumed on March 13 or 14 for argument of counsel, although G. C. McGeer, counsel for British Columbia, has reserved the right to further examine W. B. Lanigan, chief traffic manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The session this afternoon was devoted to an exhaustive examination of Mr. Lanigan by H. J. Symington, counsel for the government of Manitoba. This examination involved a lengthy technical discussion of the effect of water traffic on the great lakes on the all-rail route between Port William and Montreal. Mr. Lanigan asserted that it was possible the railways would have to reduce the rates from Port William east this year in order to meet the competition of lake boats. Mr. Symington argued that the eastbound grain traffic made the bulk of the railway eastern freight. He vigorously denied statements made outside the hearing that the eastern lines were carrying the western. He believed the opposite was the case.

Following the session today Mr. McGeer said that through Mr. Lewis he would

A Word of Caution.

THE VIEWS of the rural parts of the province are being voiced in the hydro-radial plan, and the noteworthy feature is that strong opposition is being met from many who are favorable to the principle of public ownership.

The ADVERTISER is in receipt of a letter from J. WILSON of Marshville, Ont., in which the matter is taken up. After commending the attitude of this paper on the question as being "rational and business-like," Mr. WILSON goes on to state:

"It would be nothing less than a calamity for the Hydro Commission to become involved in a losing battle to enterprise that must, of necessity, increase the cost of power at a time when the price of every other commodity is being radically reduced, and rightly so. I feel that the policy, if persisted in, can only injure the cause of public ownership, in which I am a firm believer. The policy of duplicating lines already existing, is an old one in Ontario, and is responsible to some extent for our present problems. Our burden of debt, with the low price of farm produce, which must prevail during the next decade, owing to the financial stress prevailing in Europe, is already all that we can well afford to carry."

It is well that the voice of rural Ontario should be heard in this matter, and that the spokesmen for the rural parts should be men who are right now actively engaged in facing the problems of the farmer.

Lo, The Poor Indian.

THERE ARE over 100,000 native Canadians, Indians, who are not represented in the Legislature of any province they live in, nor in the Parliament of the Dominion, and are actually debarred by law from voting at elections for members of any such assemblies.

The reason may be, as the late Hon. DAVID MILLS, the best constitutional lawyer of his day, was wont to point out, the British North America Act forms a Federal Union for all classes of the people of Canada, except the Indian. For him, it represents an Incorporated Union.

The consequence is that the sole jurisdiction over Indians and their affairs rests with the Dominion Government. Millions of dollars in trust funds and lands of equal or greater value, becoming more valuable every day, are held in trust for the Indian by the Dominion authority. It speaks volumes for the management of Indian affairs by Canada, that losses suffered by the Indian trust have been so few, for there is no law, statutory or otherwise, in the case of a private trustee, would be a breach of trust.

Recent decisions of the courts have, however, created some fear in the minds of the Indians as to the responsibility of the Dominion for property dealt with by it as belonging to this trust, and they are asking the Ottawa Government to add to the Standing Committees of the House of Commons one on Indian affairs. Public opinion will support any act of justice to the Indians, and such a committee could do valuable work and afford a suitable medium by which Indian affairs would receive due and impartial consideration.

One of the arguments used in favor of manhood franchise was that a man who could be forced to fight for his country ought to be allowed to vote for it. The Indians have always fought for Canada, and many of them are well educated men, quite as well qualified to vote as the white man. The day is not far distant when the Indian and white man will be on an equal footing and the law will declare that an Indian is a white man.

Municipal Matters.

LONDON City Council at its last session, decided to pay the aldermen "reasonable remuneration" for their services.

With the general principle involved there may be some general approval, but with the manner of its passage, and having in mind the ability of the taxpayers, many of whom are out of work just now, it cannot be admitted that the action of the council was right or proper.

The question of payment for aldermen has been tried in other places, but it has never been shown that any better service was secured in this manner. The experience has been that under the pay system, men have been induced to run for office because of the mercenary inducements, and not from the point of offering their services to the citizens as their contribution to the growth and development of the community in which they live.

The big objection to aldermen voting salaries to themselves lies in the fact that they were not elected on that basis.

The payment or non-payment of aldermen was not an issue at this campaign. The plea that the aldermen think the public are in favor of payment, or the fact that some may have the impression that aldermen are paid, has nothing to do with the case at all.

The fact that the aldermen were elected on a non-salary basis is the big, dominating factor in the case—greater even than the fact that the municipal act allows aldermen to vote themselves remuneration.

It takes only a very little thought to see where this paid-aldermen scheme is going to lead. At present the city draws upon the services of many men to carry on its work in one capacity or another. These men give their time because they are very much interested in the affairs of the city.

Put the aldermen on a paid basis, and it surely follows that it would be rank injustice to leave the others on a voluntary, work-for-nothing plane.

Very well. Once established the principle of payment for these services and we will have to meet the following bodies on the same level: Board of Education. Board of Health. City representatives to Western University. Public Utilities Commission. Town Planning Commission. Hospital Trust. L. and P. S. Railway. Public Library Board. Housing Commission.

By including members of the city council and the members of the bodies mentioned above—and there may be some others—we have at least 60 men from whom the city will have no right to expect further voluntary service once the payment of aldermen principle is established.

Whether the citizens at large—the people who put up the money—are ready to be committed to such a course is not a matter that can be decided by a snap verdict in a council session.

LITTLE 'TISERS

Seven years ago today the Russians took Przemyśl. We could all pronounce it then. Can you do it today?

Small progress is being made in the steps toward revising or reforming the calendar. Putting in a few more pay days would be a mighty popular move.

Now Guelph is to be the stage setting for some sort of a police probe. Guelph is not going to sit back and see its southern neighbor, Brantford, get all the police investigation glory.

When it comes to salesmanship, BARE RUTH must have graduated from a bank-up affair. He wants a salary of $75,000 with a $500 bonus for every home run. Up in this farming land he'd be referred to as a hit of a Tamworth.

There's no such thing as equality in this world. When we got married it only nailed down about 2½ inches in the local paper, and now before PRINCEPA MARY has got started she's had about 176 columns in every paper in the country.

A Listowel merchant, advertising his stock of chicken feed, incubators, etc., breaks into poetry as follows:—"The chicken is a useful bird. You can eat it before it's born. And after it is dead."

TO THE EDITOR

ARE WE CANADIANS FORGETFUL?

Editor ADVERTISER:—The other morning I boarded a crowded Dundas street car which contained the usual number of stragglers at the rush hours. This, of course, was nothing unusual, and it is not the topic to which I wish to draw attention. Only a few years ago we were in a life and death struggle with the most powerful and unscrupulous of enemies, and many of our best young men were offering themselves as our protectors. Many, many, realizing the privations that were before them, bravely left comfortable homes and dear ones to protect and keep this country for the rising generation of Canadian boys and girls who were too young to fight for themselves, but who now have grown to young men and women.

On this particular car were some of both classes of which I speak, one, a fine fellow who had enlisted, and in doing his duty to king and country, had lost a leg, and supported himself by the aid of two crutches. This fine fellow was one of the stragglers, hunched about by the lurching of the car, and the other, a strapping young fellow, who was sitting in a comfortable seat, without offering a seat to the one so very seriously handicapped when protecting them.

One could not help but think what a change.

Only five or six years ago these brave fellows were given every consideration, and were led to believe when they returned the best would not be good enough for them. Now the smart young chaps, who will enjoin for a lifetime the independence of the car, and who by this broken veteran, will not so much as offer him a seat in a crowded street car.

REMEMBRANCE.

Editor ADVERTISER:—Sir, As you know, we usually leave our best bouquets for the funeral of our friend, but I would like to take this opportunity of throwing a large and appreciative bouquet to the London Mothers' Club for their progressive movement in holding a convention so interesting and elevating as the one outlined for Friday and Saturday of this week in the Collegiate.

As an old resident of the city I have watched the movement of the Mothers' Club in London through your paper, etc., and so at first I, a bit askance at the mothers leaving an old job and handing together for outside work, must say hats off to them, for evidently they are capable of the extra work without neglecting "the daily round" we depend on them for, and speaking from the viewpoint of a ratepayer, I consider their organization one of the biggest assets of our city and think they are indeed to be congratulated and commended in the choice of the program they have succeeded in arranging for the campaign.

I am also glad to see that the city council is assisting with a grant towards their expenses. I understand one of the objects of this campaign is to put London on the map as an educational center, a laudable object, as indeed many of our own citizens are deplorably ignorant of the opportunities afforded their children in the educational sphere right at their own doors, and the program that you advertise, beginning at the pre-school age, which has not yet been given a place of importance necessary to the highest and best interest of the child, is indeed splendid and commendable, and will be handed well by the speakers assigned. I believe this organization of the Mothers' Club has a very large membership, certainly their ideas are large, in that they stand for all that is highest and best in the life of our community and their influence must be felt very greatly in the schools in which they are interested, and I feel that any club or society doing such all-round good community work should have the hearty support of our men and women, and we can take this opportunity of enlarging our own vision of the subject under discussion in these meetings as well as showing our appreciation of the work the women are doing by attending at least some of the sessions. And here's success to the mothers, God bless 'em—about the only union we know still working the 24-hour day and no strikes for higher wages.

Editor ADVERTISER:—Dear Sir, Would you please give me some information in your column regarding the following: A and B were discussing the rights of women voters, and the following question arose: A Canadian-born woman married an American, lived in the States for years, and voted there, and then she and her husband came to Canada to live. Her husband is still an American citizen, but both have lived in Canada for a year, we will say. A contended that as the woman was now living in Canada she is entitled to vote. B says not, as her husband has not taken the oath of allegiance to Canada, which still makes her an American citizen and not entitled to a vote in Canada.

READ YOUR CHARACTER

[By Digby Phillips.]

NO. 131—RUMBLING CHUCKLES.

Voices and laughs, like feet and foot-prints, tell more about character than the average person realizes. And the laugh is to the voice what the footprint is to the foot.

Laughs are less subject to control than voices, at least less likely to be controlled. The man who has learned to use his voice as a concealment rather than a revelation of his mental processes will very often betray himself in his laugh.

Most salesmen tell jokes to amuse their prospects, to break down their reserve, and put them in a good humor. The joke is good for this purpose. But if the salesman knows it, it is also a splendid means by which to get a quick "line" on the character and temperament of his prospect.

The salesman who gets a rumbling chuckle from his prospect is likely to find himself up against a "tough proposition." In the first place, he won't get much of a chance to stampede him, for this sort of laugh denotes a strong and vigorous character well under control.

And he'll have to work pretty hard to "draw him out." The rumbling chuckles have a constituting aversion to being drawn out. They prefer to keep their own counsel. They have a natural tendency toward secretiveness, which, when coupled with low mentality, often amounts to cunning.

Have you noticed that most politicians, of high or low degree, are rumbling chucklers?

EARLY DAYS IN WILLIAMS
By J. B. McLACHLAN, 322 High Park Avenue, Toronto.

THIS township (Williams) formed part of the grant to the Canada Company, which consisted of English capitalists, incorporated 6 Geo. 4th, Cap. 75 and assented to June 27th, 1825. Canadian headquarters being either at Goderich or Guelph. The loghouse built by the commissioner at the latter place had been occupied by the C. P. Ry. until recently as a railway station. The local agent in Williams was Mr. McIntosh, miller at Nairn, and often settlers were directed by him to my grandfather who could locate every corner post in the neighborhood. I well remember the last three lots in block that he located, namely 7, 8 and 9 in the 7th con. They were taken by Mr. Millikan, a sea captain, for his three boys. The front of these lots was very wet, and one of our neighbors asked my grandfather why he chose such low lands, to which he replied that he supposed the water was very partial to them. In those days fever and ague were very prevalent, and low lands were evaded on that account, but I will venture to say that no better land can be found today in the township than that comprised in the lots above mentioned.

I can recall a visit made by Mr. McIntosh one day when my grandfather had a fit of ague and the bed all but danced on the floor when Mr. McIntosh remarked that it was "the last blow off," and so it was. I had several attacks of it when between the ages of eight and ten, and the efforts I used to put forth to keep from shaking I can picture to this day. Some times the ague would come on every day, more generally every second day. I knew a man, Donald McDonald, who shook every night and worked every day, but he was the only one, for it required a sturdy Highlander fresh from the heathery hills to undergo such an ordeal as a nightly attack of fever and ague, and a daily attack on the harvest field all within the 24 hours.

AMONG the many rambles I had with grandfather, was one to the west, by him unexplored. The River Sauble enters the township near the northeast corner and traversing it in a southern direction, turns west to near the southwest corner, then turns to the northwest corner and enters the County of Lambton, thus describing a large bow. When near the Centre road, with the assistance of Mud Creek, a peninsula was formed containing about 400 acres, afterwards settled by John and Don McLeish and Archie and John White. We went through this island, as it was commonly called, before it was settled. The isthmus was sedentary men who sit at their desks or watch machinery show that they require from 2,000 to 2,500 calories a day. It is possible to supply this amount of fuel in the form of cereals, beans, pork, bread and butter, hot coffee and milk from 15 to 25 cents a day.

Men, however, prefer a more varied diet, and it is easier to secure all the elements for good nutrition as well as good digestion, if it is possible to spend more than this for food.

A model day's food plan for a sedentary man might be: For breakfast, fruit, cereal, eggs or liver and bacon, or creamed dried beef on toast, toast or rolls or muffins, butter, coffee with cream, top milk for cereal, sugar for cereal and coffee.

For lunch, thick soup or broiled fish, or a cheese dish, rolls, butter, pudding or pie (occasionally), coffee with cream and sugar.

For dinner, clear soup and crackers, roast beef (rump) or stuffed steak or meat loaf, or baked fish, potatoes or rice or macaroni, bread, green cooked vegetable, lettuce or celery or other crisp vegetable, ice cream or ice or pudding or fruit.

was only a blazed trail for the reason that persons from Glasgow, Scotland, were among the first settlers.

SOON after this, and the years immediately before the Crimean War, immigrants began to pour in from the western islands of Scotland, principally from North and South Uist, Benbecula (Long Island) and other islands of Scotland, as well as from the older parts of Upper Canada, as was the case with the 5th and 10th concessions, west of the Centre road, where settlers came from the Townships of Malahide and Yarmouth, as the Richards, Teeples, Gilberts, Yorkes, Smiths and Doanes, not forgetting the old tanner, Henry Streeter, and his two boys Ben and Bill, and Tom Lemon, who was considered the wag of the settlement.

Among the Doanes, Scripture names largely prevailed as Abraham, Moses, Joseph and Israel. Israel had always made his living by fishing in Lake Erie, and when they moved to the banks of the Sauble his occupation was gone, and so he resolved to move to Kettle Point, Lake Huron. One evening a number were standing in front of Robert Jackson's house, 19th concession, when along came Tom Lemon, who informed the group that he had seen a sight that day he had never expected to see nor would he ever see again, and on being asked for an explanation of this wonderful sight he declared he saw Moses leading the children of Israel through the wilderness. And so he had.

Logging bees were industrial functions of those days, and Tom Lemon and a yoke of oxen could throw more logs together than any other crew and a half on the field, and it should be mentioned in this connection that for every acre logged, a gallon of whiskey was consumed in those days and not only at logging and other bees, but at births, marriages and among my earlier recollections of an individual under the influence was one of the guests at a wedding on Glasgow street trying to get both limbs into one side of the garment, and swearing in disgust at the tailor who did not know how to make a pair of trousers.

DRURY ANSWERS FERGUSON PLEA FOR HYDRO AID

Declares Government Must Insist On Efficiency and Economy.

WILL APPOINT COMMITTEE

Raney and MacBride Clash in Legislature On Brantford Inquiry.

BULLETIN.
TORONTO, Feb. 21.—An act to repeal the privy council appeals act was introduced in the Legislature today by Hon. W. E. Raney, Ontario attorney-general, and passed first reading.

TORONTO, Feb. 21.—The Ontario legislature caught its stride this afternoon, when, surrounded by crowded galleries, and with almost every member of the house in his place, Hon. C. Howard Ferguson, leader of the Conservatives, and Premier Drury joined in the debate on the reply to the speech from the throne.

It was an intensely interesting clash between the two leaders.
Mr. Ferguson said that the government was taking credit to itself for many measures which were really all prepared for them by the Conservative administration. He criticised the government's road policy, but centered his chief onslaught on the attack of the government on hydro and hydro-radials.

Mr. Ferguson supported hydroradials, and claimed the government had not given the hydro commission and Sir Adam Beck whole-hearted support, and was antagonistic to the commission and to its chairman.

The premier, replying to Mr. Ferguson, outlined the support the government had given to the Chippewa project even when its cost soared millions and millions above the estimate. The government had gone out and found the money, the premier said, but the time had come when the Legislature must take its share of responsibility in the project and vote on the interim estimate of three and a half millions, which were being submitted shortly.

Mr. Drury maintained that the gov-

Anthony Scully Remanded For Trial On Charge of Murder At Port Huron

SARNIA, Feb. 21.—Anthony Scully of Stratford, charged with the murder of his father, Cornelius Scully, 81 years old, appeared this afternoon in the police court before Judge Clair Black in Port Huron and was remanded to appear in the circuit court on a charge of murder.

During Scully's appearance in court a commission may be appointed to inquire as to his sanity, and if found insane he may be sent either to the asylum in Hamilton or to a Michigan State criminal insane asylum.

The courtroom was crowded beyond capacity, and a number of residents of this side of the St. Clair River were spectators.

Judge Black advised Scully that he would be remanded to the circuit court and that he would have an attorney to look after his interests.

Scully exclaimed: "I have been in the asylum in London for three years.
They should never have let me go away from there, but should have informed me to go back, and you should send me back there now."

There was no evidence taken as to the state of mentality of the accused man.

mittee which investigated the question. There was also the bill introduced from last year by Attorney General Raney, which would do away with appeals from the Ontario courts to the privy council in England.

This bill is destined to be the cause of considerable debate this session.
G. G. Halcorow, Hamilton East, Labor member, who recently moved from the government benches to those of the opposition, will continue the debate tomorrow.

The session opened with plenty of action, for scarcely had the usual few minutes been taken up in introducing bills and J. Walter Curry, Southeast Toronto, read from a report of a meeting in Hamilton, in which Hon.
G. Howard Ferguson was alleged to have compared the members of the commission conducting the timber investigation with skunks, and to have intimated that if the commission were to hang him before he was tried the government had chosen good men to do it. Mr. Curry wanted to know whether this report was correct.

Denies Allegation.
"Has my honorable friend any doubt but that I made those statements?" asked the Conservative leader. He then went on to explain that he had said that he had the highest respect for the judiciary of Canada, but that this commission had been carefully selected by the attorney-general and his friends and had shown itself in many of its acts "not in the slightest sense judicial but in the strongest sense partisan and political." He continued, he did, during his discussion of the commissioners, tell of his experience with a skunk, and that they were known by their aroma, pungent and disagreeable, but not dangerous, and that he had ever since been able to recognize that animal whether it was on four legs or on two legs.

Mr. Ferguson gave several instances which he claimed stamped the commissioners as partisan and not judicial. He said he could go on for hours giving justification for great deal stronger statements when the proper time came.

This inquiry is to the everlasting discredit of the attorney-general," he maintained, and charged the minister with being responsible for having it conducted.

"It has dragged the fair name of Brantford into the dust," he declared.
He thought that the best of men would find it difficult to defend their reputations against the type of witnesses being heard there. He had no doubt but when the report reached Brantford that he had dared to bring up this question in the house he would at once be picked as the next victim. He claimed that the people who had asked for the probe had not seen fit to give evidence.

Explains Reasons.
"Since my honorable friend has seen fit to drag me into this Brantford trouble," said Mr. Raney, "I wish to state that a unanimous resolution by the city council of Brantford asking for the inquiry was presented to me.
No attorney-general could ignore such a resolution."

"Didn't the attorney-general ask that such a resolution be passed?"
shot back the member for Brantford.
The minister replied that the first resolution submitted to him was not clear, and he asked that if they wanted an investigation of the police court a different resolution should be presented. That was the only request he made. However, there had been turnover in Brantford for a long time, and many requests had been made to the attorney-general's office. In fact, Mr. MacBride himself had requested an investigation.

Mr. MacBride broke in to deny that he had ever asked for an investigation and demanding that the attorney-general retract this statement.

"I repeat that the honorable member did ask for an investigation," replied Mr. Raney. "I will not retract it. The house has his statement and my statement, and can believe which it chooses."

Speaker Nelson Parliament first ruled that Mr. MacBride had been unparliamentary in declaring Mr.
Raney's statements were absolutely out, and after this was smoothed out, ruled that Mr. Raney was within his rights in refusing to retract in case where it was a statement between one member and another.

GALT, Feb. 21.—Seventy-five representatives of the urban and rural municipalities along the line of the Galt-Elmira branch of the Grand Trunk gathered here this afternoon, at the request of the Galt board of trade, and by a unanimous vote went on record in favor of the electrification of this line, believing that it is in the best interests of the communities and will provide a much-improved transportation system, which is badly needed. Immediate consideration of the project is re-

Oppose Act Changes.
While the meeting was called for the purpose of obtaining co-operative action with a view to having the Galt-Elmira branch electrified, a resolution was also passed approving the proposed line from Galt to Hamilton. Other resolutions passed expressed confidence in Sir Adam Beck as chairman of the Ontario Hydro Commission, opposed any change in the hydro-electric railway act, to permit the creation of local radial commissions and indorsing the present system of central control of the hydro-electric system.

The meeting was a most enthusiastic one, presided over by S. L. Clark, mayor of the Galt Board of Trade.
Mayor H. E. Charlton welcomed the delegates and went on record as not only in favor of the electrification of the Galt-Elmira branch, but as a supporter of Sir Adam Beck's hydro-radial scheme, and was strongly in favor of the proposed line from this city to Hamilton.

Mayor Favors Scheme.
Ald. J. L. Holtz of Kitchener and Mayor W. G. Weichel of Waterloo were heartily in favor of the scheme, and also that for a radial from Galt to Hamilton. Other speakers were C.
P. Mills, Kitchener; A. M. Edwards, Galt; William Elliott, M. P. for South Waterloo, and Reeve Walter Oliver of North Dumfries.

That the project to electrify the G.
T. R. branch line was favored was evidenced by the fact that every municipality along it, including the townships, had large delegations.

DIES FROM SCALD

MONTREAL, Feb. 21.—Scalded by boiling water from a basin she overturned on Sunday, which had been placed on a table preparatory to washing dishes, two-year-old Aurore Massie of Lachine, Que., died last night from the burns she suffered.

This fatality makes the fifteenth of its kind in thirteen weeks. All the victims were under eight years of age.

Claims Doughnuts Drove Poor Man To Drink.

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 21.—A dozen theories of diet were annihilated by Dr. J. N. Swartz in an address before the Meridian Club of Damascus commandery here today.

"The vegetarian is cantankerous, as wrong as the man who eats only meat or the chap who says fasting will cure troubles," Dr. Swartz said.
"Poisons are poisons, talk of calories is humbug, too much starch and sugar are dangerous, tea isn't fit to drink, the frying pan is health's greatest enemy."

"Eat a balanced meal, well cooked. Forget food-free hay and other health foods. Eat whole wheat and bran. If you can, eat lots of rice cake and corn pone. Not much or what you eat counts as what you digest. Doughnuts drove more men to drink than any other one thing."

FREE WOMAN OF SELLING CHARGES

Sarnia Magistrate Dismisses O. T. A.
Case Recently Preferred Against Mrs. Veersmeersch.

PROOF OF SALE LACKING

Declares Evidence Given Only Proved Liquor Was Made on the Premises.

Special to London Advertiser.

SARNIA, Feb. 21.—In the county police court this afternoon the liquor charges laid by High County Constable Scott against Mrs. Roma Veersmeersch collapsed, and Magistrate Jarvis dismissed the case on the ground that although the evidence showed that liquor had been made on the premises there was no proof of sale.

In the witness box, Mrs. Veersmeersch denied the sworn statements of Constable Scott and E. J. Harding, Methodist preacher of Wilkes-port, regarding many circumstances in connection with the investigation.
Marcel, the 11-year-old son of Mrs.
Veersmeersch, who is said to be a nervous wreck, following alleged intimidation by the constable, was brought into court to give evidence, but before the arrival of the magistrate he collapsed and had to be carried out.

Mrs. Veersmeersch is under remand for attempting to bribe Constable Scott, and will be tried at the next sitting of the supreme court, which opens here February 27.

Counter-charges against Scott of alleged handcuffing of the boy Marcel are still standing, though it is stated that no date has yet been appointed for the hearing of the charges.

KEMP GIVES $500
AS SCHOLARSHIP

TORONTO, Feb. 21.—Sir Edward Kemp has placed $500 at the disposal of the governors of the University of Toronto to be used as a scholarship for a graduate of a Western Canadian university during the session of 1922-1923.

This is in response to an appeal from President Falconer of the University of Toronto for graduate scholarships at the local university.

Ontario Power Plant at Niagara Falls Makes a Good Showing

STATEMENTS FOR FISCAL YEAR MOST SATISFACTORY

A Surplus of Nearly Twelve per cent. of Total Revenue

OVER TWENTY-EIGHT MILLIONS INVESTED

Income Provides for all Operating and Administrative Cost, Interest Charges, Sinking Fund, Renewal
Reserve and Contingencies.

The Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario presents its financial, audited statements on the financial standing and operations of the Ontario Power Company of Niagara Falls and the Ontario Transmission Company, Limited. These enterprises were purchased by the Commission four and a half years ago, under the authority of the Legislature (7 Geo. V., cap. 20), and with the express approval of the Hydro-Electric municipalities of the Niagara zone. The plant has been operated by the Commission since August 1st, 1917. The statements submitted show the Balance Sheet as of October 31st, 1921, the Operating Report for the year ending on that date, and a digest of the Appropriation Account showing the distribution of the surplus earnings, and the net surplus transferred to the Balance Sheet.

The Operating Statement for the year ending October 31st, 1921, shows a surplus of $362,456.46, after providing for all costs of operation, exchange, discount on bonds, bond and other interest charges, and an adequate yearly provision for renewal of the plant. This sum is augmented by the credit balance brought forward from 1920, the surplus arising from bond redemption during the year, amounting to $65,429.46, and by a reduction of the claim in respect to power supplied by the Toronto Power Company, amounting to $193,564.18. Thus there is a surplus balance of $724,770.18, which has been appropriated to meet bond interest, exchange and the sinking fund requirements in respect to the bonds issued by the Commission, leaving a net surplus of $59,197.03.

The first contract for energy, signed by the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, was made in 1908 with the Ontario Power Company, then a private corporation operating under a Federal charter.
The agreement was for the purchase of an ultimate maximum of 100,000 horse-power at a rate ranging from $9.40 to $9.00 per horse-power per annum.

Within five years the full amount of energy contracted for was being taken, and more was urgently required to serve the needs of the associated municipalities of the Niagara System.

The Ontario Power Company was the only one of the three generating corporations which was not using its full allotment of water. There was talk of expropriating one of the plants as a war measure, but while that proposal was still being discussed, the Hydro-Electric Power Commission obtained by negotiation an option on the Ontario Power Company's property as a going concern.
Authority to acquire the shares of a private electrical corporation was granted to the Commission by the Legislature, and the municipalities of the Niagara System gave their approval to the proposed purchase.

The agreement provided for the purchase by the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of the stock of the Ontario Power Company and its auxiliary, the Ontario Transmission Company, Ltd., for the sum of $8,000,000 in forty-year, four per cent. Bonds of the Commission, guaranteed by the Province, and the assumption of the bonded indebtedness of the corporation.

The purchase was made on August 1st, 1917. As soon as the property came into the hands of the Commission plans were made to increase its normal generating capacity by putting in a new conduit, and adding two generating units. The cost of this conduit, a wood-stave pipe line, and of the equipment which it was designed to serve, was $3,515,094.93.

The Operating Report shows a revenue for the year of $3,032,405.27, a little more than one-half of which was collected from the municipalities of the Niagara System for power supplied to them; that is to say, the private contracts of the plant provide a sufficient income to meet about 43 per cent. of the carrying charges—if the prices for power sold were equalized to municipal and private customers.

After providing for interest charges of $1,065,199.28, operating expenses of $183,605.48, taxes, water rentals and other items of current outlay, the revenue permitted the setting aside of $385,814.69 for the renewal of the plant, the provision of $164-705.56 for maintenance charges and of $569,291.67 for the purchase of additional power required. There was a surplus balance of $362,456.46 carried into Appropriation Account, as the statement shows.

GIRL DRIVES MOTOR, GIRL'S FEET BOUND

London Girls Hear of Contrasts of Orient.

"In the city of Canton I followed a middle-aged woman down the street, pitying her for her bound feet, thinking of the stories I would have to tell of the manner in which Chinese women are handicapped by this custom. Just then I was startled by the toot of a motor horn, and had only time to step out of the way of a big automobile with a young Chinese girl at the steering wheel."

The foregoing was one of the many stories told Tuesday evening by Miss Mary Edgar to illustrate the striking contrasts met everywhere in the Orient, in the course of her address on "Peeps at the Orient," delivered under the auspices of the Girls' Work Board of London, at 7:30 o'clock, in Dundas Center Methodist Church.

Mrs. W. Leslie Armitage, chairman of the board, presided, including the speaker to the large audience of girls and girls' work leaders.

Queer Mixtures of Old and New.

"Japan, China and India," said Miss Edgar, "are queer mixtures of the East and the West, of the ancient and the modern, of the superstition of old religions and idol worship, and the new light which has come through Christianity. The woman with the bound feet is a typical of the old China; the girl at the steering wheel of the motor car of the new day in which the heavy responsibility of the establishment of the new order rests upon the shoulders of the young people, who, in a very real sense, 'have their hands on the wheel.'"

In her recent trip around the world, following the great Sunday school convention in Tokio, the young Canadian play writer and leader in girls' work found Japan the most beautiful of the countries of the Orient, in many respects the most fascinating.

Not Just Dolls.

"Perhaps," she said, "you think as I did of the Japanese girls before seeing them, think of them as doll-like creatures, dressed up in fancy kimono, always elegant, tea or walking around chrysanthemum gardens carrying parasols. I found them very real people with interests just like those of Canadian girls, working in factories, going to school, working as telephone operators, in clerical positions, even serving as conductors on motor buses, dressed in smart tailored uniforms. They go to picnics, go in for sports, for camps just as our girls do here. Ninety-six per cent of the children in Japan, it is claimed, are in school under their compulsory education system, the highest rate of any country in the world."

Demand the Best.

In India, the speaker went from a room of visits to heathen temples and the discouraging spectacle of heathen rites still observed to a girls' school, where she arrived just in time for an exciting basketball game.

"Only the best we can give these people, those girls of awakened Japan, awakening China and India, is good enough for them," was Miss Edgar's message to the girls of London.

TEACHERS LOOK FOR LARGE RALLY

The success of the Western Ontario Educational Convention to be held under the auspices of the Mothers' Clubs in the new collegiate building on Friday and Saturday of this week, is assured.

The attendance not only of local educationalists but of representatives of educational interests throughout Western Ontario will be large, judging by the replies being received daily by the committee in charge.

In addition to a very attractive programme there will be a supper and luncheon.

The supper will be held Friday evening and Principal Dearness of the Normal School will deliver an address on "Education Through Self-Activity."

The luncheon will be given Saturday noon and will be addressed by Miss E. B. Smith, M.A., J.L.D.

Both these functions will be held in St. Andrew's Hall. Those desiring to attend should communicate with Mrs. H. B. White, phone 759.

TO URGE MEMORIAL FOR MRS. H. A. BOOMER

Owing to the illness of the president, Mrs. E. B. Smith, London Local Council of Women is represented at the quarterly meeting of the executive of the national council in session in Ottawa by the first vice-president, Mrs. Gordon Wright. Mrs. Wright was urged to go to a meeting of the executive of the London Local Council of Women held on Monday evening, in order to support two resolutions sent down from London, the first, asking that steps be taken by the national body with regard to a memorial for the late Mrs. Harriet A. Boomer, on the ground that her work was of national significance, and, a second, suggesting that the memorial take the form of endowment for the War Memorial Children's Hospital in this city, an object in which the late Mrs. Boomer was deeply interested.

Several resolutions coming before the national executive were considered, one of these heartily approved to the effect that all children born in Canada, whatever the nationality of their parents, be recognized as Canadian citizens.

Approval was also expressed of resolutions regarding amendments in the criminal code affecting women and children. The sub-executive will represent the local council at the memorial service in connection with Paardburg day.

Cheering news was that of new affiliations with the local council on the part of the Catholic Women's League and one or two chapters of the I. O. O. E.

THE HOLE IN THE WALL.

One day in the playroom in the Day Nursery in London a mischievous wee boy discovered a hole in the otherwise fair and unbroken plaster of the wall. He was poking his fingers into it, trying to make it larger, when discovered by nurse and a visitor. No matter how his attention was called to toys, and seemingly more interesting things, he persisted in returning to that one ugly spot on the wall. In a few minutes, every other inch in the room was following his example. Even the tiniest baby, scarcely able to toddle, wiggled its way to a position under the hole and tried vainly to stretch up and poke it. Play had lost its magic. The bright sunshine streaming in through the windows meant nothing to the tots. The beloved animals of other times, the Teddy bears, the horses and sheep on wheels, the rocking horses, dolls, toy dishes and furniture, the little swing meant nothing in young lives. One and all, those small girls and boys had one overwhelming interest, that blemish in the wall.

They were immensely curious about it.

Ever seen grown ups act like that, grown ups with all sorts of blessings in their lives? But they can't see or be interested in any of these because one little thing has gone wrong in their plans. They must magnify the grievance until it crowds out everything that is fine in life. They can't see their possessions or the beauty of their surroundings because of one thing missing, the one little hole in the wall.

Ever meet people like that?

Dear Miss Grey—Well, as this is my first letter to your cosy corner, I must not take up too much room. What's the matter with the old Boxites? Where's Ura Kidd gone to? We never hear from her any more. If anyone would like the words of the following music I would gladly send it to them: "My Sunny Tennessee," "Tuck Me to Sleep," "When Francis Dances With Me."

I would like to correspond with a girl between 14 and 16. I can skate, and I also enjoy dancing very much.

SOMEBODY'S SWEETHEART.

Won't you try and remember to write on one side of the paper only next time. Thank you for offering us the words of your songs, "Somebody's Sweetheart." I have placed your name on file in case it is asked for.

BLUE BIRD VISITS MAIL-BOX.

Dear Miss Grey—I have been reading your letters for quite a while, so I have decided to join the Boxites. I am 16 years of age. I would like to hear from other Boxites. I am a schoolgirl, and hope to be for some years. I will close, wishing your box much success.

BLUE BIRD.

I sincerely hope you receive some interesting correspondents, Blue Bird. Won't you write a longer letter next time?

WANTS CORRESPONDENTS.

Dear Cynthia—How are you and all the Boxites getting along these days? This is my second letter to the Mail-Box. I would like someone to write to me about my own age (10), if they would write first. What day did April

REPEAT "LITTLE WOMEN."

"Little Women" (Louisa May Alcott), as dramatized by Miss Jean Waugh, leader, will be presented by the Pollyanna Club of the Y. W. C. A. on Thursday evening at Hyatt Avenue Methodist Church, under the auspices of the Daisy Bible Class. As a prologue to the play, a colorful pageant will be given, "Follow the Gleam," or "The Secret of An Ideal Girl's Life." "Little Women" are characterized as "ideal but very human girls," the initial successful performance by the Pollyanna Club in St. Andrew's Hall a couple of weeks ago fully bearing this out.

SCOTCH CHAPTER TO ENDOW COT.

Among the ambitious plans for the new section of the newly-organized Loch Lomond Chapter, I. O. D. E., is that of endowing a cot in the War Memorial Children's Hospital. In the meantime a start will be made immediately on the making up of layettes for the Child Welfare Association and outfits as well for the new children's hospital. Plans to this effect were made at the fortnightly meeting held Tuesday afternoon at the home of the regent, Mrs. B. M. Tagg, 561 Gray street. In order to raise money to purchase materials, it was decided to hold a rummage sale Saturday next in the former Peters' store on Richmond street. A concert party will be taken out to the Westminster Hospital on the evening of March 9, and it is intended to give the entertainment later for the benefit of the Byron patients. Mrs. Stark and Mrs. Day were the tea hostesses of the meeting. Mrs. F. J. Greenaway, secretary of the War Memorial Children's Hospital committee, dropping in at the tea hour.

12, 1911, fall on? There are six in our family, and I am the oldest. I have one sister, and her birthday is on the 12th of April, the same date as mine, but there is one year's difference between us. I am enclosing my name and address as you asked for it in my first letter. I guess I will go as I see you coming with the broom.

April 12, 1911, fell on Wednesday. You put R. R. No. on your address, but did not give the number. So state your address in full the next time you write, won't you, Magazine?

WANTS TO MAKE LADIES' AID "GO."

Dear Miss Grey—I have a number of old pants, vests and coats, and one overcoat, also a lady's coat, size 46 bust. Was wondering if anyone would like to have them. They can have them by paying postage or express. I see where so many are asking for clothes to make over, that it seems a shame not to hunt up everything we can and help out. The clothes are good for working in. Now, just a little help, please. Can you or any of the Boxites suggest a way to make a Ladies' Aid a success? I have been appointed president here of the L. A. and am fearfully "green" about such things, but feel as though I would like this to be the best year yet. I think each year should be the best, don't you? I would certainly appreciate any help very much.

Here is a splendid opportunity for the Boxites who have had experience along this line to help Q. E. E. with her Ladies' Aid. But I am sure it will be a success, as you seem so interested in that I know you will work hard. Thank you for offering the clothes for the poor, needy ones. I have placed your name on file, and anyone wanting it may have it from the Mail-Box.

MRS. DUFF'S HELPFUL HINTS.

Dear Miss Grey—Am taking the pleasure of just one little peek into the Mail-Box, and hope I have escaped the notice of the ever-ready W. P. B. Have read and copied many of the useful and helpful hints and recipes, and now will give a few household suggestions, which I know will help many and which is a valuable help around the home. When hanging out clothes in cold weather, rinse the hands well in vinegar, leave damp and one will not suffer from cold hands. To make a delicious cake without the use of eggs, dissolve one level teaspoon soda in one teaspoon of vinegar. When silver is to be put away, rub it with olive oil and roll it in a piece of old table linen to prevent tarnishing. Wash in hot soapy water when required for use. To remove scorch from linen rub the scorched part with a cut onion, then soak in cold water. Now for a good cake recipe: Cocoa 2 eggs, 1/2 cups butter, 1 cup sugar, 1/2 cups flour, 2/3 tea-spoons baking powder, 1/2 cup milk, 1 tea-spoon vanilla, 3 tea-spoons cocoa. Cream butter, add sugar, then the well-beaten eggs, then the sifted dry ingredients and the milk alternately. Then add the vanilla and well-beaten egg-whites lastly. Leing 2 tea-spoons cocoa, 1/2 cups sugar, 1-3 cup butter, 1 tea-spoon vanilla. Cream butter, add the rest and mix until the consistency to spread. Less butter may be used and a little milk.

MRS. DUFF.

You are splendid to bring so many helpful hints, Mrs. Duff. I am sure all the housewives will be busy with their scissors and paste-pots, clipping them for their scrapbooks. We will be pleased to hear from you soon again.

Embroidering Aid

BY MARIAN HALE.

LONDON, Feb. 21.—Wool embroidery is an interesting feature of the light silk frocks being shown for summer wear. And, as in this Claire frock, such embroidery is always brightly colored, intense, outstanding. A combination of blue and orange is the rather startling color note which extends panelwise down the side opening of the dress and bands the sleeves. Otherwise the garment is quite colorless.

Quite an unusual draping breaks the straight slimmness of the line of the gown at the shoulder and back. A collar, which begins in a cascade below the left shoulder, at it crosses at the back and right shoulder until it finally flings over the left shoulder again in a wide and smartly knotted sash. The sash extends quite below the hem of the gown, thus lengthening the effect.

HUGH NIVEN CHAPTER CONSIDERS REQUEST

A request from the War Memorial Hospital Committee to take on the responsibilities of a purchasing committee for materials to be made up for the new institution was dealt with at length on Tuesday afternoon by the Hugh Niven Chapter L.O.D.E. at the annual meeting held on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Walter Biggs in South London.

The members expressed themselves in favor of taking on the work, provided the co-operation of the other chapters of the order is assured and a suitable room is provided in which to store the supplies and patterns and do the sending out and receiving of parcels. Before making final decision, it was decided to go into the matter thoroughly with the hospital committee.

All officers were re-elected by acclamation as follows: Honorary regent, Mrs. J. S. Niven; regent, Mrs. Emerson Nichols; first vice-regent, Mrs. H. Sutherland; second vice-regent, Mrs. E. Moore; treasurer, Mrs. F. Asplund; secretary, Mrs. W. A. Martin; standard bearer, Mrs. W. Anders Biggs.

In the absence for three months abroad of Mrs. Emerson Nichols, the first vice-regent, Mrs. Sutherland, consented to act as regent and also carry the responsibility of convener of the purchasing committee of the Children's Hospital, provided the work is taken on.

The treasurer reported more than $400 raised for various objects in the past year, including proceeds from a bridge party for which Mrs. Niven opened her house in January amounting to $141.

Several of the newspaper women of London had the pleasure on Tuesday of having as their guests for luncheon at the De Luxe Cafe two distinguished visitors in the city, Miss Grace Kennedy, of National Life, Toronto, and Miss Mary Edgar, dramatist. An interesting story was told by the guest of honor of girl guide activities she had witnessed in many countries in a recent trip around the world, and of her experiences with girls' camps, extending over a period of eight years.

Immediately afterwards she was whisked away to the Ball Street Baptist Church, where the C. G. I. T. group is preparing one of her plays, "The Torch," for presentation. After the novel and valuable experience of actually being coached by the author herself, the girls entertained Miss Edgar at supper.

ORGANIZE ZONE CENTRE INSTITUTE.

A group of "the cleaning up party," decided to meet at the home of Mrs. Mahuskey (nee Miss Gwen Greene), to organize a branch of the Women's Institute. The date decided on was Feb. 15.

Promptly they assembled and were much pleased to have with them three officers of the Bothwell W. I. One of these, Mrs. Kinner, president, proceeded with the organization formally.

Scrutineers were appointed, and blank ballots were passed. "Decide by voting 'yes' or 'no' whether or not you wish to be organized" was her word of command.

Every ballot was marked "yes." A secretary (pro tem.) in a few minutes eleven paid-up members.

The Bothwell ladies took charge of the election of officers, resulting as follows: President, Mrs. Mahuskey; first vice-president, Mrs. C. Chapman; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. P. Weaver; directors, Miss C. Dalton and Mesdames Lawson and Kew. Several committees were chosen. The name of this branch it to be Zone Centre W. I.

The executive decided to meet the third Wednesday of each month. For the March meeting of the new institute each member will answer roll call by telling a comical story, and call by telling by Mrs. F. C. Sifton, Muir Kirk president of E. Kent W. I.

Mrs. Mahuskey served a dainty luncheon.

ERSKINE DALE PIONEER

by JOHN FOX JR.

"You haven't made me unhappy. I don't know what you have made me. Papa says a girl does not understand and no man can, but he does better than anybody. You saw how I felt if you had killed him, but you don't know how I would have felt if he had killed you. I don't myself."

She began patting her hands gently and helplessly together, even as she dropped her chin into them with her eyes lifted to the moon.

"Whenever you look at that moon over in that dark wilderness, I wish you would please think of your little cousin—will you?"

"You don't know how often our thoughts will cross, and that will be a great comfort to me. Sometimes I am afraid. There is a wild strain on my mother's side, and it is in me—I am afraid I may sometimes do something very foolish, and it won't be me at all. It will be somebody that died long ago." She put both her hands over both his and held them tight.

"I never, never distrusted you. I trust you more than anybody else in the whole world except my father, and he might be away or—he gave a little sob—she said, 'I want you to make me a promise.'"

"Anything," said the boy huskily. "I want you to promise me that, no matter when, no matter where you are, if I need you and send for you you will come." And Indian-like he put his forehead on both her little hands.

"Thank you. I must go now." Bewildered and dazed, the boy rose and awkwardly put out his hand.

"Kiss me good-by." She put her arms about his neck, and for the first time in his life the boy's lips met a woman's. For a moment she put her face against his and at his ear was a whisper.

"Good-by, Erskine!" And she was gone—swiftly—leaving the boy in a dizzy world of falling stars through which a white light leaped to heights his soul had never dreamed.

WITH the head of Clark's column of stalwart backwoodsman went Dave Yandell and Erskine Dale. During the months Kashkashie fell then Vincennes passed into the hands of the Americans and there came one morning, when Erskine went forth at dawn, and his coming of a king. Early Morn greeted him with glowing eyes, his foster-mother brought him food looking proudly upon him, and old Kahtoo harangued his braves around the council-pole.

"My son spoke words of truth," he proclaimed. "He warned us against the king over the waters and told us to make friends with the Americans. My son is the true prophet. Bring out the false one, and Crooked Lightning and Black Wolf, whose life my son saved though the two were enemies. My son shall do with them as he pleases."

Many young braves sprang willingly forward, and the three were halted before Erskine.

Erskine rose and fixed his eyes sternly on the cowering prophet: "He shall go north from the village, and shall not return. He is a false prophet, and he must go." He turned to Crooked Lightning.

"Crooked Lightning shall go or stay, as he pleases. Black Wolf shall stay, for the tribe will need him as a hunter, and a warrior against the English foes of the Long Knives."

The braves granted approval. Black Wolf and Crooked Lightning averted their faces and the prophet shambled uneasily away.

WITH HIS FIST HE CAUGHT THE SAVAGE ON THE JAW.

she told little, and his own native delicacy made him understand. She, too, had been captured with a son who would have been about Erskine's age, but her boy and her husband had been killed. She had been made a slave and—now she drew the blanket across her eyes—after the birth of her daughter she felt she could never go back to her own people.

She loved her daughter; she would not subject her or herself to humiliation among the whites, and, anyhow, there was no one to whom she could go. Her concern was with her daughter—what would become of her? Many a young brave, besides Black Wolf, had put his heart at little feet, but she would have none of them. And so Erskine was the heaven-sent answer to the mother's prayers—that was the thought behind her mournful eyes.

All the while the girl had crouched near, looking at Erskine with dog-like eyes, and when he rose to go the white woman dropped the blanket from her face and got to her feet. Shyly she lifted her hands, took his face between them, bent close, and studied it searchingly: "What is your name?"

At dusk Erskine stood by the river's brim, with his eyes lifted to a rising moon and his thoughts with Barbara. Behind him he heard a rustle and, turning, he saw the girl, her breast throbbing and her eyes burning with a light he had never seen before.

"Black Wolf will kill you," she whispered. "Black Wolf wants Early Morn and he knows that Early Morn wants White Arrow."

Erskine put both hands on her shoulders and looked down into her eyes. She trembled, and when his arms went about her she surged closer to him, and the touch of her warm, supple body went through him like fire. And then with a triumphant smile she sprang back.

"Black Wolf will see," she whispered and fled. Erskine sank to the ground, with his head in his hands. The girl ran back to her tent, and the mother, peering at the flushed face and shining eyes, clove to the truth. She said nothing, but when the girl was asleep and faintly smiling, the white woman sat staring out into the moonlit woods, softly beating her breast.

Urges Canadians To Rear Their Families by Rhythm!

LONDON, England, Feb. 21.—Winifred Sackville Stoner wants to teach mothers her theories of raising children by rhythm.

It is Mrs. Stoner's belief that being rhythmic prolongs life.

"If people were rhythmic," said Mother Stoner, "they would live to be 150 years old."

"Rhythm is the very fluid of existence. It is the foundation of all natural education."

"And that is why," said Mrs. Stoner, "I started from the very moment my daughter was born to teach her rhythm."

Mrs. Stoner's daughter is the Countess Bruche and during her childhood, as Winifred Sackville Stoner, Jun., won world-wide fame as a prodigy.

"I am a jingle maniac; I have a jingle for everything, even jingles which tell the antidotes for poisons—and why not?" she queried. "Don't you remember the months by 'thirty days hath September' and so on? Didn't you learn it so when you were a child? Then why not learn everything that way from babyhood on?"

"Environment is the architect of heredity," continued Mrs. Stoner.

"Toys are the architects of environment. 'Thus if a child is surrounded with rhythm and beauty in its toys from its earliest days, that child will become practically anything its mother wants it to become.'"

"Even a baby's rattle should be the loveliest toned one that can be found. There should be music and beauty about everything."

"And by that I'm not suggesting that every mother ought to sing her sides Black Wolf, had put his heart at little feet, but she would have none of them. And so Erskine was the heaven-sent answer to the mother's prayers—that was the thought behind her mournful eyes.

All the while the girl had crouched near, looking at Erskine with dog-like eyes, and when he rose to go the white woman dropped the blanket from her face and got to her feet. Shyly she lifted her hands, took his

"Erskine Dale." Without a word she turned back into her tent.

At dusk Erskine stood by the river's brim, with his eyes lifted to a rising moon and his thoughts with Barbara. Behind him he heard a rustle and, turning, he saw the girl, her breast throbbing and her eyes burning with a light he had never seen before.

Erskine put both hands on her shoulders and looked down into her eyes. She trembled, and when his arms went about her she surged closer to him, and the touch of her warm, supple body went through him like fire. And then with a triumphant smile she sprang back.

"Black Wolf will see," she whispered and fled. Erskine sank to the ground, with his head in his hands. The girl ran back to her tent, and the mother, peering at the flushed face and shining eyes, clove to the truth. She said nothing, but when the girl was asleep and faintly smiling, the white woman sat staring out into the moonlit woods, softly beating her breast.

XVIII. IN the white woman Erskine soon saw a change. Once she had encouraged him to stay with the Indians; now she lost no opportunity to urge against it.

Her face had blanched, she argued passionately that he must go, and—

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

DRIED BEANS

If you would use dried beans as a meat substitute remember two details: All beans require, long, slow, cooking and the addition of fat. The long cooking softens the skins and makes them digestible and the fat adds the element lacking in beans.

There are at least eight varieties of dried beans to choose from—white, speckled and colored. The colored beans are richer in flavor than white beans.

1. Thou shalt not administer unto thy child physical punishment.
2. Thou shalt not scold thy child but give rewards for good behavior.
3. Thou shalt never say "don't" to thy child.
4. Thou shalt never say "must" to thy child.
5. Thou shalt not give thy child occasion to disrespect thee.
6. Thou shalt never frighten thy child.
7. Thou shalt not allow thy child to say "I can't."
8. Thou shalt always answer thy child's question.
9. Thou shalt not tease thy child.
10. Thou shalt make thy house the most attractive place thy child can find.

child to sleep at night. That might be inhuman! Some mothers sing their babies into a state of coma! They make them miserable by squawking at them.

"I would suggest for the mother who can't sing and has no music about the house, the reading of poetry to her baby at bedtime."

"I used that system with my daughter," said Mrs. Stoner, "and that is why at six months she talked; at 17 months she wrote poetry; at three years she published a book and by the time she was 17 she had published 17 books."

Mrs. Stoner's daughter is now 19. "Rhythm did it," continued Mrs. Stoner, "and rhythm can do that for any mother's son or daughter."

"Children do not need to be spanked. They can be controlled by song suggestion. They can be made to eat the porridge they don't like by having music at their breakfast. They can be taught their letters and figures and to be graceful with music."

"A musical marmalade should take the place of the slipper."

Erskine was sorely puzzled. The girl, too, had grown rebellious and disobedient, for the change in her mother was plain also to her, and she could not understand. Moreover, Erskine's stubbornness grew, and he began to flame within at the stalling insolence of Black Wolf, who continued to seek the hand of Early Morn.

One day in the open village the clash came. Black Wolf darted forth from his wigwam, his eyes bloodshot with rage, and drink, and his hunting-knife in his hand.

A cry from Early Morn warned Erskine and he wheeled. As Black Wolf made a vicious slash at him he sprang aside, and with his fist stayed Erskine's savage on the jaw. Black Wolf fell heavily and Erskine was upon him with his own knife at his enemy's throat.

"Stop them!" old Kahtoo cried sternly, but it was the terrified shriek of the white woman that stayed Erskine's hand. Two young braves disarmed the fallen Indian, and Kahtoo looked inquiringly at his adopted son.

"Turn him loose!" Erskine scorned. "I have no fear of him. Next time I shall kill him!"

The white woman had run down, caught Early Morn, and was leading her back to her tent. From inside presently came low, passionate pleading from the woman and an occasional sob from the girl.

An hour later at dusk, Erskine turned upward toward the tent, and gave a horrified cry, flashed from the tent, and darted for the high cliff over the river.

Add more water as necessary during the first four hours of baking. Then pull the pork to the top of the beans to

CHAPTER XXVIII.—CAPITULATION.

By Zoe Beckley.

"ALL right," said Paul, with a shrug. "You win."

He turned away wearily, crossed the room and sat down at the desk. He let his head drop and he said no more about it. I can make out without Rigaud's order."

Polly remained staring out of the window moodily trying to justify her refusal to "do the snappy social stuff" that would, her husband believed, get him the order from Rigaud's big firm. Polly hated the idea. It seemed cheap to her. Yet she knew it was done every day.

Wasn't it an old story that big business deals were constantly put over "by the boudoir route," by social angling, dinners, teas? Didn't the diplomats' wives and cabinet women in London have quite as much to do with getting appointments and preferment as the men themselves did?

In her heart of hearts Polly knew it was not only the idea of entertaining the Frenchman and exercising a few innocent blandishments she objected to. It was that the idea was Violet Rand's.

She began to be honest with herself—to admit she was jealous. She realized now that she had disliked Violet from the moment that dashing young woman had edged into the heavenly orbit of the honeymoon.

Much as she disliked Violet, Polly suspected that in this particular instance she was acting in good faith. The realization burned and rankled.

"It isn't that I'm perverse, Paul," she began haltingly, still unable fully to admit the truth, "it's simply that a Canadian girl feels too proud to play a game of wits."

His face grew stern.

"Now look here, Polly, cut it! You know perfectly well I'd slash off my right hand sooner than ask you to do anything to hurt your pride—or mine. I merely asked you to do a little tactical social stunt. If you're not a good enough sport to do it, let's drop the whole thing and say no more about it. I can make out without Rigaud's order."

He turned back to his writing. The words "not a good sport" flashed in her mind. With an effort of will she choked it back. A quick retort was on her lips. With an effort of will she choked it back.

He was right. . . . Suddenly she remembered an old saying of her mother's, so oft repeated that it had lost its meaning. Now it sounded in her ears: "It's the first quarrel that matters. Fend it off—before it becomes a habit."

Polly went over and gently laid her cheek against Paul's hair. With the action came an amazing sense of peace. It was as though something cold and hard within her suddenly broke and melted into waves of happiness.

"I'm sorry, dear. I'm wrong." The simple words wrought magic. With a swift movement, he turned and held her close.

"Good! It's said," said Paul softly. "Trust my girl to think straight and act square every time! Mrs. Dawson," he rose and bowed gravely, "you are a brick, Madam—a square little, straight little pure gold brick!"

"Sounds like a doubtful compliment to me," caroled Polly, "but I'll show your silly old Frenchman a thing he'll like the brown taffeta—or the blue brocade crepe?"

"Wear the blue—for me—and I'll bring you a bunch of violets as big as a house and lot."

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS.

Diddyvvers and Korsknotts

[By Olive Roberts Barton.]

Long ago a soothsayer had decreed.

"AND now," said the Magical Mushroom. "I cannot stay with you, children. It would only be a drawback, because no other magic is allowed in the kingdom of the Diddyvvers, nor yet in that of the Korsknotts, except that which they practice themselves. That is the reason, I haven't any doubt, why Nimble Toes stumbled on the rubber moustache and lost the magic record of Longhead the Wizard."

"Can't we take our Magic Green Shoes?" asked Nick.

"Yes," answered the Mushroom quickly. "But run and get your goloshes. Not that the goloshes will deceive anybody, but if anyone tries to get your Magic Shoes the goloshes will prevent them. Goodbye, when you find the Fairy Queen's Palace, and she will summon King Indig of the Diddyvvers and King Verdo of the Korsknotts, to hear what the Wizard said. You see it's this way. The Diddyvvers have perfect bows, but they can't make good arrows, while the Korsknotts have famous arrows but their bows are no better than barrel hoops. And long ago a soothsayer decreed that after a thousand years had passed, the ones who had become the handsomest would have to give up their secret to the other. Then the fortunate ones would be able to conquer the world."

"Perhaps we'd better not find the lost record then, with the Wizard's words on it," said Nanny. "The world doesn't wish to be conquered, I heard Daddy say."

"Well, it might be a good thing," said the Mushroom. "But anyway this only means the world of Fairy Land. There isn't any sense in people fighting for a thousand years."

Spare Time Jobs for Father—

IT is not always necessary to discard a broken piece of china. A simple way to mend is to melt some powdered alum in an old spoon and before it hardens rub over the pieces to be united. Then press them together and put aside to dry.

White spots on furniture, oilcloth or linoleum can be removed by an application of camphor.

One cup dried lima beans, 1 cup sliced raw potatoes, 1 cup diced carrots, 3 tablespoons butter, 2 cups tomato juice, 2 tablespoons catsup, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon pepper. Wash beans and soak over night in cold water. Drain and put in kettle with cold water to more than cover. Simmer for an hour after the beans begin to boil. Add potatoes and carrots and salt and pepper. Cook an hour longer, adding water to prevent burning. Let the water cook away as the vegetables become tender. Add butter, tomato juice and catsup and simmer half an hour. Serve with soda crackers.

Now You Can Understand Ibsen--With Aid of Nazimova!

BY JAMES W. DEAN.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Let those who think they cannot understand Ibsen see how Nazimova has interpreted him for the screen in "A Doll's House."

If there is anything deep or complicated about this film then this interpreter has a simplified complex. The picture is so simple that it is flat, colorless, as kickless as a marshmallow sundae.

The highbrows have held Ibsen for their own long enough. The screen matches him away from them and shares him with the hot polloi for what he really was. The picture holds true to the book and to the stage play.

The story of "A Doll's House" is simply that of a woman slamming the door on her husband after six years' of his domination. That might be startling in Europe, but the tang is taken from the situation in Canada, where women have had the right to slam doors on domineering husbands for many years and full franchise since 1917.

The stage play ended with the slamming of the door. Since the movies have undertaken to improve stories so much of late, one expected the film story to show what happened to Nora after she slammed the door.

Nazimova rested content to button up the neck of her coat and lift up her face to the falling snow.

That one really would like to have seen whether her feet became causing her to return to her husband and children, or whether she went around the corner and obeyed a job washing dishes.

It was very satisfactory in that regular and Nazimova didn't help him.

From unnecessary acrobatics the early footage by which the ought to portray the emotions quitted or those of a lark. Nazimova gave a notable performance.

It was quite a relief to see such a able performance on her part. The anguish she created in her stylized version of "Camille."

to have observed that Nazimova is more effective in middle-distance action than in close-up posing.

A few weeks ago it was announced that the big Long Island studios of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation would remain closed until next fall, and it was reported that they might be permanently abandoned.

LONDON MOTORS ISSUE STATEMENT

Shareholders Hold Annual Meeting in Company's Premises, King Street.

ELECT 1922 DIRECTORS

H. Soper Declares Organization Now Entering on Production of Cars.

Opening their proceedings with the Doxology, followed by a fervent prayer, the annual meeting of the shareholders of London Motors, Limited, was held on Tuesday afternoon in the company's premises, King street.

Some 300 shareholders were in attendance, and although a couple of them criticized some of the items on the "condensed balance sheet" presented, the criticism subsided after W. R. Stansell, president and general manager, had made a vigorous defence of the company's position.

After that the shareholders accepted the balance sheet as presented, and voiced confidence in the directors. Incoming directors were elected, and at a subsequent meeting of the board, W. R. Stansell was re-elected as president and general manager. The other officers will be elected later.

The condensed balance sheet, which was placed in the hands of each shareholder as he entered the room, was as follows:

| Assets.                            |              |
|------------------------------------|--------------|
| Current assets                     | $ 23,417.4  |
| Plant and property                 | 285,307.71   |
| Plants, designs and specifications | 300,000.00   |
| Inventories                        | 53,821.58    |
| Preliminary expenses               | 51,726.95    |
| Liabilities in excess of assets    | 75,146.67    |
|                                    | $79,430.85  |
| Liabilities.                       |              |
| Current liabilities                | $ 24,692.77 |
| Mortgages                          | 20,878.08    |
| Capital—Preferred stock            |              |
| Issued                             | 267,020.00   |
| Common stock issued                | 466,840.00   |
|                                    | $739,430.85 |

Following a brief prayer, the secretary, H. W. Soper, read the three by-laws adopted during the year. One of these provided that any two of the directors might perform the duties of treasurer when occasion necessitated such procedure, and that two signatures of directors were required to any check or document. Mr. Soper explained it had been found that the treasurer was not always in attendance, and in the automobile business "the time to do a thing is when it has to be done."

The second new by-law provided that the date of the annual meeting of shareholders should be on Feb. 21 in each year, or if such date fell upon Sunday or a holiday, upon the next succeeding day. This change was explained by the circumstance that when the date of the annual meeting came around every effort was being directed toward preparing the company's exhibit for the London motor show, and it was felt that nothing should be permitted to interfere with that work.

A new by-law providing that no financial statement or balance sheet should be sent to shareholders with the call for the annual meeting was made necessary by delay in the auditors' statement, and the directors did not want to send out a statement in which there could be any possibility of a mistake. These explanations were all received as satisfactory and the by-laws were accepted as read.

Speaking on the financial statement, President Stansell said the company had had experiences with some men which are not pleasant, but finally Mr. Barnum, a particular friend of his, and with much experience in the financing of automobile corporations, had come in and he wanted the shareholders to welcome him so he might feel that he had connected himself with one of the best organizations of his kind.

Careful Study.

Mr. Barnum, replying to President Stansell, said he made a careful study of the statement, and was convinced that the proposition of the London Motors was one of the best things he had known, and had come in prepared to take charge of the balance of the financing.

"When entering this room this afternoon I overheard a shareholder say that the statement was a shock to him. I can tell you all that it is a shock to me as well—a distinct shock, for how the company has been able to do what it has done with the funds at its disposal is almost more than I can believe."

He then analyzed the financial statement, explaining its various items. He explained that the valuation of plant and property, $285,307.71 was for the property occupied by the company, another property added, as well as a 10-acre site to provide for the future development of the business. The sum of $300,000 for plants, designs and specifications was an arbitrary figure fixed by the directors. "I say the design is moderate, at least at $500,000 or $1,000,000. If the directors wanted to, they could stop today and sell out to you people and get $500,000 cash. Another property, successful in the motor business, has much plans in it for $25,000, so I think it is a fair valuation." Inventories, amounting to $53,821.58 represented machinery and equipment. The item of $51,726.95, for preliminary expenses represented the cost of financing, all expenses and part of the cost of the product for the first year. This would be written off usually within the next five years, though he thought the directors would well have assigned 16 or 15 per cent as the time in which to write it off. On this showing Mr. Barnum placed the total assets at $841,818.

Current liabilities and mortgages showed the total indebtedness to be $55,570.85, and so the company's liabilities to shareholders was concerned, Mr. Barnum held the net worth to be $688,247.13. "I think our bookkeeping is as good as any of the best of the industry. This is $267,020 into the net worth of $458,713.23, and you can see that there is $25 of actual value back of every $10 worth of preferred stock." Total preferred liabilities to preferred stockholders and outsiders, he said, amounted to $322,500.85. Deducting this from the net worth left $336,112.48 for 46,684 shares of common stock, or an average of $3 per share.

"We have just reached the productive period," Mr. Barnum continued. "There have been no sales of cars yet. Everything has been an expense, and when the company can account for every dollar received on stock except about $2 a share I feel it is a wonderful success. I have never seen a company which, under the same circumstances, has made a showing like London Motors Limited is making."

Case of Selling Assets.

H. W. Soper said it was apparent to all that in the first year of a company's existence it was a case of selling assets with which to purchase more, until the company got into production, a state it had now reached. He hoped no one was going to be so unreasonable as to expect a dividend or that there would be a favorable balance when all that had been done up to the present time was the sale of stock. The next two months would do more for London Motors than the last nine months had done, because that period would see cars on the road and in the hands of car owners. "We invite helpful and constructive criticism, but we want your co-operation. I would far rather have your good-will and hearty moral support than all the dollars you could heap in this room."

Samuel Willis, R. S. Morris and Mr. Ferrier then spoke, expressing confidence in President Stansell, and their gratitude for the co-operation they had received from the staff and the great majority of the shareholders.

W. W. Day said the criticism of some of the shareholders was well meant and fair. He thought President Stansell had been well served, but there was really no antagonism to him.

Mr. Stansell replied that he did not believe there was a shareholder in the room who had gone through what he had. In regard to his salary, he said he had drawn none for five months, and had paid expenses out of his own funds. In the Rickenbacker Company the plans and designs had been put in at $928,450, and Mr. Rickenbacker had got as well as a salary of $45,000 a year. He had put his designs in at the stated figure, and in the salary matter, he thought, should be taken up.

The election of directors was then held, and resulted in the choice of Thomas A. Conley, Samuel Willis, Dr. Norman Schram, R. S. Morris, H. W. Soper, Roy Littlejohn of Highgate, and W. R. Stansell. At a subsequent meeting of the directors Mr. Stansell was elected president and general manager. The other officers will be named later.

EXPECT BOARD TO ACCEPT SCHOOL

Whether No. 2 committee of the board of education will accept from the contractors the new Victoria public school must be decided at a special meeting of that body at the school Thursday at 6:45 p.m.

There is no doubt new in the minds of the trustees generally but that the building will be approved and ready for occupation, as planned, Monday morning next, Feb. 27.

Representatives of the contractors and the school architect will attend Thursday evening. This evening the trustees will have all plans, specifications and other necessary data at their disposal for the final inspection.

It was freely acknowledged on Wednesday that when all accounts are presented and approved, it will be found that the school has been completed as per agreement, well within the original sum authorized by the board.

LONDON CUSTOMS OFFICERS BANQUET

Make Annual Meeting in Tecumseh House Indian Room Delightful, Informal Affair.

B. C. McCANN PRESIDES

Officers Are Elected and Addresses By Toronto and Other Speakers Heard.

The annual meeting of the London Customs and Excise Officers Association was held Tuesday night in the Tecumseh House, with President B. C. McCann in the chair. Officers for the year were elected, after which a splendid banquet was served in the Indian room.

Several speakers were introduced by President McCann to the civil service, men at the conclusion of the banquet. They were Inspectors Westman of Toronto and Wilson of London, Messrs. Jackson of Port Stanley, Farrell of St. Thomas, Little of Strathroy, and Jones of Glenora. In addition to the foregoing speakers there were also some brilliant and eloquent speeches by London members of the organization.

Without doubt the feature of the evening was the hearty sing-song of popular songs, to which, under the leadership of Harry Wooster, the banqueters lent hearty vocal effort. Two fine solos were rendered by R. C. Cochran, which were given an ovation reception. The accompanist was Reginald Hodgins, Charles Summers and George Geoghegan, who have lent the employ of the government, told "the boys" that their heart was still with the customs and excise boys and that they were very proud to be with them again.

All in all it was an outstanding jolly occasion, and voted such by everyone attending. B. C. McCann was elected president again for 1922, the other officers being: O. H. Talbot, honorary president; B. C. McCann, president; John Farrell, vice-president; H. Wooster, secretary-treasurer; executive committee, J. T. Robinson, J. H. Kidner, George Smyth, J. W. Kingsmill, P. C. Lewis, auditors, George Tyley and W. R. Roome; B. C. McCann, representative at Ottawa.

SEES TROUBLE CAUSED BY MISUNDERSTANDING

"Most of the small troubles over school matters between parents and teachers arise from misunderstanding," said Principal D. J. Ferguson of Boyle Memorial School Tuesday evening, in an address at the meeting of the St. George's Mothers' Club.

His solution for difficulties that arise was frank talks between the parents and teachers over their mutual problems. He urged mothers to visit the school from time to time, suggesting the desirability of round-table talks with the teachers. An enjoyable feature of the program was a solo by Mrs. Alfred Drew presided, and it was decided to hold a shamrock social evening in March instead of the regular business meeting. Mesdames Birnie Smith, Garfield McCormick, George Hardy, and E. C. James to be the committee in charge.

DR. WEIR WARNS CITY EMPLOYERS

THREATENS PROSECUTION

Truant Officer's Request for Salary Increase Referred to Committee Chairman.

Still unable, he asserts, to impress upon the employers of labor that failure by them through ignorance or neglect to comply with the provisions of the adolescents school act renders them liable through the courts, Dr. George S. Weir, London's public school attendance officer, has declared that he will, should this last warning be of no avail, prosecutions must result, he states decisively.

Dr. Weir continues to encounter, he explains, untold worry and trouble in investigating cases where the employers fail to return a child's work permit once the latter has left his employment.

When Major Cowie, of Toronto, provincial attendance officer, visited London recently he expressed the opinion that with the increasing number of adolescents local conditions would soon warrant the services of another attendance officer, who would be a stenographer.

While provision was made for eventually by No. 1 committee of the board of education in its estimates for the year it was subsequently decided to leave this question in abeyance it being reasoned that it will be September next before a larger increase in adolescents will be noted.

Although broached casually at the recent meeting of the board, the question of an increase in salary for Dr. Weir was referred to Trustees Edwin Smith, chairman of the board, and Trustee Udy, chairman of No. 1 committee, motion to submit the proposal to the salary committee, under Trustee A. Bice, was not supported, and the latter urged that the two chairmen consider the officer's request.

STORM TIES UP MANY INDUSTRIES

road in Middlesex County traveling was impossible, and many cars skidded into the ditch, where their owners were forced to let them remain until the ice cleared away. The new highway from London to Lambeth was a sheet of ice, and many accidents were narrowly averted. One large car skidded into the ditch at the top of the Wharfedale road hill, but the occupants escaped uninjured. The Lambeth bus driver would not take a chance at driving down the long Wharfedale road hill, and as a result the passengers had an exhilarating ride, as they were not soon forgotten, as they were obliged to walk the remaining two miles into the city.

While no details were yet available at 2 p.m. Manager Buchanan of the hydro department reported that such repairs had been accomplished in the Niagara district as to render the customary service uninterrupted.

Use Gas For Operations. No accident cases were admitted to the hospitals, and the only difficulty experienced by them through the power being off Wednesday was that the elevators were put out of commission. Superintendent W. H. Hoard of Victoria Hospital stated that he had been expecting accident cases because of the slippery condition of the roads and sidewalks, but no accidents were reported.

It was necessary to use gas for illuminating purposes in the operating-room. One operation was performed while the power was off.
