FIRED AT THE KING.

ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION IN BRUSSELS.

AN ITALIAN WHO FIRED THE SHOTS CAPTURED.

HE WAS EXPELLED FROM AN ANARCHIST LEAGUE.

Brussels, Nov. 17.—King Leopold of Belgium narrowly escaped assassination today at the hands of an avowed anarchist. His Majesty had been to the cathedral at Brussels, accompanied by members of the royal family and Court officials, to attend a Te Deum in memory of the late Queen Marie Henriette. The royal carriages were passing the Bank of Brussels, in the Rue Royale, when an Italian fired three shots from a revolver. Fortunately no one was hurt, but a bullet passed through the window of the Count d'Outremont, the Grand Marshal of the Court, and grazed the Count's face.

Besides King Leopold there were in the procession the King's brother, the Count of Flanders, and the Countess of Flanders; their son, Prince Albert of Flanders, with the Princess Albert, and Princess Clementine, King Leopold's youngest daughter. Aides-de-camp and ladies of honor were in attendance, several carriages thus forming the procession.

The would-be assassin was immediately arrested, the police finding some difficulty in rescuing him from the crowd, who handed him roughly. As he was placed in a cab infuriated crowds of people surrounded it and attacked the vehicle with knives and sticks. The police had much trouble in forcing a way through the crowd, which shouted alternately "Kill him!" and "Long Live the King!" The cab was badly hacked with knives. At the police station the man gave the name of Rubino. He is 43 years of age and has a wife and child in London. The police were at first inclined to think that the firing was the work of an imbecile, as Rubino appeared weak-minded, and said his only reason for shooting was exasperation at seeing "so many tired-looking personages occupying such grand coaches."

During his interrogation by the police he maintained perfect calm. He stated that he had come from London, where he went on a futile search for work. The police obtained assistance from the Italian Embassy, and was temporarily engaged to watch Anarchists. He was dismissed, however, as the Embassy officials discovered that he sympathized with the Anarchists. Failing to find work, Rubino said he "determined to act," and went to the cathedral with the intention of shooting the King. But he did not fire at his Majesty for fear of hitting intervening soldiers. Then Rubino proceeded to the Rue Royale, where he awaited the procession. The royal carriage containing the King passed before Rubino was able to draw his revolver, hence the shots only hit the carriage following.

Brussels, Nov. 17.—According to some reports Rubino, in the course of his examination before the Magistrate, declared that he selected King Leopold for his attack on account of his Majesty's inhuman conduct towards his daughter, Princess Stephanie, at the time of her mother's death, and he also wished to show to the Anarchists that while they only talked he acted. He would have killed King Edward, he added, but for the strong feeling of the English people in favor of the monarchy.

BOND-HAY CONVENTION.

GREAT INTEREST BEING TAKEN IN NEWFOUNDLAND.

Mr. Chamberlain's Speech is Regarded as Evidence that Canada Must Not Interfere.

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 17.—Great interest is manifested here in the new Bond-Hay convention. Colonial Secretary Chamberlain's speech in the House of Commons on November 13 is regarded as an evidence that he does not propose to permit Canada to interfere and prevent the ratification of the treaty in the way in which Canada killed the Bond-Blaine convention in 1890. It is believed here that Mr. Chamberlain realizes how Newfoundland has been hampered by France on one side and by Canada on the other, and that he is determined to give her an opportunity to work out her future by a commercial union with the United States.

In the course of the speech referred to in the above despatch, Mr. Chamberlain denied that the Bond-Hay convention prohibited Newfoundland from according preferential duties to its mother country and her colonies; he admitted that if such preferences were made they would also, by in terms of the convention, apply to the chief imports from the United States.

GREAT TEA DRINKERS.

The Maritime Province people use about six pounds of tea per head, or say about thirty pounds per year to an average family. They are also said to be good judges of tea, and this must be a strong recommendation for Red Rose, which is the principal tea used.

TORONTO POLICE FINED.

FOR ATTACKING STUDENTS ON HALLOWE'EN.

Finding of the Police Commissioners.—Some Students Guilty of Outrage—Toronto Medical Students Innocent of Offence.

Toronto, Nov. 17.—The Board of Police Commissioners on Saturday handed out their report of the investigation conducted last week into the conduct of policemen on Halloween, and particularly with reference to the charge made by Dr. Reeve, Dean of the medical faculty of the University of Toronto, that Sgt. Goulding and his squad of mounted men behaved with unwarranted severity in dispersing a body of medical students at the corner of College street and Queen's avenue.

To mark their disapproval of the conduct of Sergeant Goulding and of the example set by his men, the board directed that a fine of seven days' pay be imposed on Sergeant Goulding, and three days' pay each upon Constables Guthrie, Ide and Ward.

As to the case of Constable Miles, the board are of opinion that the complaint against that officer was not proven.

The Board of Commissioners express the hope that as to future Halloween demonstrations, the professors and other heads of educational institutions in Toronto will use their best efforts along the very sensible line introduced by Professor Reeve, with the object of reducing the boisterous and disorderly conduct unfortunately heretofore occurring on this holiday.

A CRUEL EXPERIENCE.

THE SUFFERINGS OF THE ELIGMATE'S SURVIVORS.

Picked Up After Eight of Their Number Had Died From Exhaustion and Exposure.

London, Nov. 17.—The London Daily Mail correspondent at Wellington, N.Z., telegraphs that the eight survivors from the wreck of the British steamer Elgimate, who were rescued on a raft by the British steamer Penguin, went through a dreadful experience. The raft from which they were taken measured only twelve feet long by seven feet wide, and had sixteen persons on it when it left the wreck. The only food on board was two apples. The first apple was consumed on Tuesday, and the second on Wednesday, each being divided into sixteen portions. From Sunday, the day they were wrecked, until Thursday, when they were rescued, the survivors drifted sixty-six miles on the half-submerged raft.

Several attempts were made to land on the Three King's Islands, but without success. Three men died on Monday night through drinking salt water, all of the survivors suffered the tortures of thirst, and four other men and the stewardess died of exhaustion before they were picked up by the Penguin. They had a cruel disappointment on Tuesday night. A steamer was sighted in the distance, and frantic shouts were raised by those on the raft to attract attention. The steamer lowered a boat, which passed within 50 yards of them, but the boat's crew apparently did not see the raft and returned to their vessel. When the Penguin was sighted only one of the survivors was able to stand and all were terribly emaciated.

HON. WM. HARTY'S SALARY.

Mr. M. J. Haney Thinks $16,000 a Year is Too Much to Pay.

Toronto, Nov. 17.—The well-known railway contractor, Mr. M. J. Haney, seeks the assistance of the Court to prevent increases of salaries being paid to prominent officials of the Canadian Locomotive Company. Saturday, through Mr. Thomas Mulvey, Mr. Haney issued a writ against the Canadian Locomotive Company of Kingston; Hon. William Hart, President of the company; John J. Hart, Secretary, and Cornelius Bermingham, General Manager.

At a special meeting of the shareholders of the company, held on July 3 last, resolutions were passed authorizing the salary of Hon. William Hart, as President of the company, to be increased to $16,000, and the salary of Cornelius Bermingham, as General Manager, to be increased to $12,000. The resolutions also provided that these increased salaries were to be paid from the commencement of the present year.

Mr. Haney claims that the meeting at which these resolutions were passed was illegally held, and asks the Court to declare that effect, and also asks for the repayment to the company of any moneys paid under the resolutions.

THE FRENCH STRIKE OVER

THE COMPLETE COLLAPSE OF M. COTTE'S AUTHORITY.

Assumed to the Dictatorship of the Whole Organized Proletariat.—Scene of the Lessons.

Paris, Nov. 17.—The general strike of the French mining workmen is now ended, after six weeks' struggle. The failure of the strike has resulted in the complete collapse of the authority of M. Cotte, Secretary of the National Committee, who a short time ago was believed to wield absolute power over the "whole organized proletariat." Another result of the strike was to disclose to the public that the French miners work under more lucrative and advantageous conditions than most other callings represented in the strike, the most important on record in France, lost heavily in wages. It is regarded by cool-headed political economists, such as Paul Leroy Beaulieu, as a salutary object lesson, showing that a man like M. Cotte, who assumed dictatorial powers over all the workmen of France, was merely a cork that floated harmlessly without any directing force whatever on the stream, until he became lost amid the conflicting currents and whirlpools of Socialist agitation.

BIG BOYCOTT SCHEME.

SCHENECTADY UNIONS PROPOSE TO RUN THE TOWN.

Will Boycott Everybody Who Rides on the Street Cars, Whether Employer or Employee.

Schenectady, N. Y., Nov. 17.—The Executive Committee of the Trades Assembly has been in session all day arranging details of the boycott against the Schenectady Railway Company. The boycott officially goes into effect at midnight, but will actually be enforced at 6 o'clock this morning.

Seventy-one men, one from each union, will watch the cars and will be aided by others if necessary. Every union man found riding on cars will lose his union card, every business man will be warned not to ride again, and will be boycotted if the warning is disregarded; if any employee continues to ride after being warned his employer will be notified to discharge him. There are, it is estimated, 2,500 persons who live at such a distance from the General Electric or Locomotive Works that they are dependent upon the cars. It has also been decided to extend the boycott to the use of gas and electric light, both of which are maintained and controlled by the Schenectady Railway Company. The Trades Assembly has arranged for the importation of 70 carryalls to carry men to and from work. The Trades Assembly officers state positively that it will not tolerate violence of any sort. There are about 250 motormen and conductors employed by the Schenectady Railway Company at $2.00 a day, and the refusal of the company to compel these men to join a union is the cause of the boycott.

CHASING BURGLARS.

SUNDAY MORNING EXCITEMENT IN AILSA CRAIG.

THEY THREATENED TO SHOOT THE CONSTABLE.

BOOTY RECOVERED, BUT THE THIEVES GOT AWAY.

Ailsa Craig, Nov. 17.—Three daring burglaries were committed yesterday morning between 4 and 5 o'clock. The perpetrators were three unknown men, supposed to be tramps. C. R. Watcher's jewellery store was entered and $100 worth of goods taken, while ready-made clothing, hats, etc., were stolen from White & May's dry goods establishment. They also broke into the Queen's Hotel and extracted about $2 in silver from the till and carried away considerable of the bottled liquor. They were discovered at White & May's store, and word was sent to Constable Pridley, who was soon on the scene. He overtook them on the railway track just east of the town, but they turned on him and threatened to shoot him. The odds were too great against him and the men got away. He succeeded, however, in obtaining the clothing and liquor. Citizens and constables are now scouring the country in search of them. Up to the present no trace of them has been found.

MGR. ZALESKI DECLINES.

DOES NOT CARE TO COME TO THIS COUNTRY.

The Appointment of an Apostolic Delegate Has Been Suspended—Mgr. Sbarretti is Favored.

Rome, Nov. 17.—The appointment of an Apostolic Delegate in Canada to succeed Archbishop Falconio, made Papal Delegate to the United States, has been suspended. Mgr. Zaleski, who was designated for the position, said the cold climate of Canada would be bad for his health, which was injured by his residence of ten years in India. The most likely candidate is now said to be Mgr. Sbarretti, who is in Washington awaiting a new appointment. Archbishop Chapelle warmly supports Mgr. Sbarretti.

SAD DEMISE

A very sad death occurred in St. Joseph's hospital yesterday morning at 9:30 o'clock, when Edith Violet, beloved wife of Frank Hayes, of this city, passed peacefully away into the great beyond. Deceased has been ill for some time, but not until lately has her condition been considered serious. Deceased was a daughter of the late Dr. Winter, of Dresden, and was in the prime of life. Ten years ago she was married to Mr. Hayes, and since that time she has resided in the Maple City. Besides a bereaved husband, she leaves one four-year-old daughter to mourn her loss. Her mother also is living, and was present at her dying bedside. The other members of the family are—Mrs. Charles Bradden, Delaware Ave.; Dr. W. A. Winter, Princeton, Ill.; Roy J. Winter, Poplar street; Harry and Michael Winter, Dresden; Mrs. Pollock, of Dresden, and Mrs. McGee, of Goderich.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2:30, from her late residence, King street, to the Maple Leaf Cemetery. Rev. J. Ross will conduct the obsequies.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 17.

ABOUT OURSELVES.

"Prices are going up."
You hear it everywhere—you experience its truth everywhere.

And the brunt of it falls to the working man.

Times are prosperous, they tell us—and we believe it. Chatham is on the verge of a big industrial boom.

New factories have located here—more will follow, if the right class of citizens are put at the helm; merchants and business men are extending and enlarging their establishments—and will continue to do so.

The Planet is optimistic—intensely so, and with good reason. This journal is very strongly entrenched with the people, and the recent rapid growth in its large circulation and the splendid development in the business branches of the establishment have been in advance of all past records.

This satisfactory state of affairs—coupled with the sudden impetus in the prices for all necessities of the home and household—has resulted in the decision of the proprietor to reorganize the various departments of this establishment and to increase the stipend of the many employees.

The salary scale of the International Typographical Union has been accepted by this office and the work of the several departments will be entrusted to expert compositors and mechanics, whose services will be liberally recognized in a practical monetary manner.

The increase in the pay sheets for every month will be material, and this money will be circulated in the town among the merchants and business men, among the patrons of the office, among the enterprising advertisers.

"Prices are going up." This true. And, so far as the Planet is concerned, wages are going up, too. The present and future prosperity of the business world, the proprietor has decided, be shared by his employees throughout the office.

It is an extension and elaboration of the spirit which has always characterized the relationship between proprietor and employees in this establishment—the happy conditions to which so much of its past success has been due.

The result will, we are assured, be very satisfactory to the Planet's large clientele. All the departments of the establishment will be materially strengthened and the paper will be further improved and more extensively equipped throughout.

It will be brighter and better than ever.

BRIGHT'S WITTY RETORT.

Exchange.

Once in the course of a speech which was punctuated by interruptions in parliament, John Bright was saying: "Personally, I do not feel disposed to wage war against these Philistines," when an unruly member of his audience shouted "Hee-haw." "If, however," Mr. Bright continued, "my friend at the back of the hall will lend me one of his jaws I shall be encouraged to reconsider my attitude in view of the historic success of Samson when provided with a similar weapon."

GOLDWIN SMITH'S SOLUTION.

Bystander, in Weekly Sun.

Let there be national inspectors of the mines, and let them report not only on the safety of the mines, but on the conditions and claims of the miners. Let the service be made as regular, as near an approach to the public service, as possible, and be a benefit to society in itself under national guarantee, to the exclusion of trade unions and all private and external organizations. There would seem to be nothing in this at variance with the reasonable rights either of unionism or of private ownership.

The Small of the Back

That is where some people feel weak all the time.

They are likely to be despondent and it is not unusual to find them borrowing trouble as if they hadn't enough already.

The fact is their kidneys are weak, either naturally or because of sickness, exposure, worry or other influences.

"I was taken ill with a kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Thomas Innis, of Wallaceburg, Ont., "and became so weak I could scarcely get around. I had headache, and cramps in my stomach, and my food did not digest. I took medicine without benefit, and finally decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. After the first bottle I felt so much better I continued its use and six bottles made me a new woman."

ELECTRIC HEATING.

Toronto Globe.

The eleventh census of the United States shows that electric heating and cooking has become of practical service. Sales of electric heating and cooking apparatus and of rheostats amounted in 1900 to over $1,186,000. For 1901 these figures, according to the Canadian Electrical News, can probably be increased by 20 per cent with a fair approximation of the truth. It is stated upon good authority that there are now in the United States 5000 chafin dishes, 50,000 heating irons and 150,000 car heaters. A single hat factory in New Jersey is at present using 250 horse power for electric heating apparatus.

AUCTIONEERS' YAPNS.

Customs of the Trade and Quoted Experiences Told—How the Irish Taught English and Scotch.

English and Scotch members of the Auctioneers' Institute who are attending the autumn meetings of the organization in Belfast reached the U.S. capital in considerable numbers on Sept. 4th. Doubtless, most of the visitors from Great Britain arrived here under the impression that their Irish brethren could teach them very little. It turned out, however, that the boot is on the other leg, and that in some respects the Irish auctioneers are more clever. In their professional business they have a pleasant habit of exacting a commission both from vendor and purchaser. Thus, if a sale of chattels is taking place, and these, as told in the columns of the U.S. capital, the Irish auctioneer gets 5 per cent. from the seller and 5 per cent. from the buyer. The system is defended on the ground that the buyer knows that he has to pay this 5 per cent., and frames his bids accordingly. In England the attempt is occasionally made to saddle the purchaser in certain cases with 3 per cent. toward the auctioneer's costs, and another 1 per cent. toward the seller's costs, but this is unusual. It remains to be seen whether the English auctioneers will think it worth while to follow the lead of their Irish confreres in respect to a double commission, but the chances are that they are not likely to attempt it. It is custom which rules, and customs are difficult to transplant.

The occasion, of course, served for an exchange of professional experiences, and some of these, as told in conversation across the table, certainly discount the impression that an auctioneer's business is prosaic and uninteresting. For instance, a story was passed on about a "rummage" sale in London, at which one of the lots put down by the auctioneer's clerk consisted of three silver cups which had been found in a cupboard. Nobody attached any importance to these utensils, and a well-known firm which is noted for collecting the cream in this class of article had overlooked them. However, somebody hurriedly drove up in a hansom to the auctioneer's office, and said he should like to buy these particular cups. The auctioneer asked how much he would give for them, and the reply was £300. The auctioneer was staggered, but managed, nevertheless, to preserve his equilibrium, and remarked: "I do not think my client will take that." Shortly afterward he sent around for an expert, who pronounced the cup to be silver chalice of sixteenth century work, and said he himself was prepared to give £700 for them. This last-mentioned price was not accepted, however. The cups were put up for sale and they realized £1,135, as they had originally come out of the monastery in Spain, and their possession was vigorously competed for by two Roman Catholic noblemen. Of course, if the individual who first discovered the value of the chalice had kept his own counsel, he probably would have secured them at the sale for £50, but then the story would have been spoiled.

Another rather unusual experience in the auctioneering world was related before the toast list was reached. A London auctioneer was asked to conduct a probate valuation at Wimbledon, which it was expected would reach something like £1,150. The estate was that of a lady of some what miserly habits, and accordingly, a careful search was made for any little parcels of jewelry which might have been stowed away. As it turned out, jewels were found to the value of between £15,000 and £16,000. They included a string of pearls which had never been worn, which fetched £4,700, and another string of pearls, which sold for £2,000. Jewels had been hidden away in toast and other substances which seemed likely to ward off the inquisitive. Meantime the old lady had contented herself with wearing Scotch petticoats, and had a couple of rooms to which no one but herself had access for twenty years, and there some magnificent old silver was found. Not a little of the property, which sold altogether for £24,000, was found in a lot over a stable—London Times.

A New Sport for Women.

"Hammering" is an unpleasant process on the Stock Exchange, but the word has recently acquired a new and more agreeable significance. At antipodean bazaars "hammering" is now an established institution. Ladies who enter for the competition go on a platform with hammers in their hands. Each is supplied with a piece of hard Australian timber largely used for the paving of London streets. Each lady is also presented with three nails, and at a given signal they start to work. The lady who is the first to drive three nails home at the head wins the prize. Says one descriptive reporter: "Steel sparks and splinters flew around. The nails would go anywhere but through the wood. The hammers would go anywhere but on the nail heads."—London Chronicle.

A Dickens Fellowship.

There is a Dickens Fellowship in London, and Percy Fitzgerald, who knew Dickens well, and has written so much about him and his works, is to be the first president. It will seek to extend the power and influence of his writings in the English-speaking world. The Other Half

Half the children in the world actually need Scott's Emulsion. The other half would be benefitted by it. A goodly portion of the latter half have already been helped by Scott's Emulsion. They have been made comfortable and well. They have been supplied with the element of fat that their bodies are constantly in need of. Scott's Emulsion has done even more for them; it has furnished nourishment which their ordinary food has not supplied.

The lack of proper nourishment in a child's food is responsible for its failure to thrive and grow as it should. So long as the important elements of nourishment are not contained in the child's food it will remain thin and lack the plumpness and glow of youth that marks the properly fed child.

What can be done for such children? Give them Scott's Emulsion. It is so palatable and acceptable that children like it. Cream of cod liver oil it could be called, for it resembles cream very closely. Moreover, being predigested, Scott's Emulsion enters the system quickly and with least tax upon the stomach. The delicate digestive organs of a backward child accept and retain Scott's Emulsion when other forms of nourishment are repulsive. It makes up the short-comings of a child's ordinary food and furnishes nourishment and fat in proper proportions and in the proper way.

So-called wines, cordials and extracts of cod liver oil should always be avoided. No matter what the claims may be, they do not contain the value of the whole oil, and hence are worthless in cases where a reliable cod liver oil preparation is necessary. Their sole purpose is to taste nice, and the use of alcohol and strong extracts makes them really harmful in many cases. Scott's Emulsion contains the whole oil carefully prepared, palatably presented, and is a safe and reliable preparation.

We'll send you a sample free upon request.

To Recognize Purity.

Adulteration has grown to such a fine art, that it is almost impossible for a woman now-a-days to detect the false from the true; but a chemical analysis will always detect adulteration. Prof. W. TALK ABOUT AUDITS

AUDITOR-GENERAL OF THE DOMINION ADDRESSES CANADIAN CLUB.

Safeguards Surrounding Disbursements From the Public Treasury—Interesting Reminiscences of Early Days in Auditor-General's Department—Stories of Former Premiers and Their Methods—A Quarter of a Century's Audit.

Mr. J. Lorn McDougall, Auditor-General of the Dominion of Canada, recently before the Canadian Club, Toronto, gave a most interesting and instructive talk upon the topic "A Quarter of a Century's Audit." Mr. McDougall related several interesting anecdotes respecting Sir John Macdonald, Sir Mackenzie Bowell, Sir John Thompson and other prominent figures in the political history of Canada.

As indicating the lightness of the touch of Sir John, Mr. McDougall related his experience when he went to him to get his aid in preventing some expenditure. "Sir John, that will not do the Government any good," he remarked, and Sir John immediately replied: "No, no, you are quite right. It would only give rascally Grits like you a ground to run up and down the concessions abusing us. You can always count upon me helping you. Be sure to call upon me when anything like that occurs." (Laughter.) Mr. McDougall related other anecdotes of interviews with Sir John, who, he said, was, he knew, turning him inside out, but there was something pleasant to feel that he was operated on by so skillful a surgeon that there was not a scar felt. (Loud laughter.) Mr. McDougall said he was also warmly assisted by Sir Mackenzie Bowell, who was his personal friend, although a political opponent when they were in Parliament together.

Dwelling upon the responsibilities of auditing the accounts of the Dominion, Mr. McDougall said: "A public servant, like any other servant, although engaged for a special duty, is a faithful servant only when his eyes are open to the general interests of his master as well as to the special." He explained the routine of expenditure of the public money of the Dominion, concerning which the general public have but a dim and hazy idea. There are, he said, two general methods of making payments: First, by Receiver-General's cheques, and second, by cheques drawn under letters of credit. Receiver-General's cheques are, as a rule, confined in their issue to payments for contracts of magnitude on monthly estimates, and to repay the banks, chiefly the Bank of Montreal, for letters of credit cheques issued by the department at Ottawa, or their servants in remote parts of the Dominion. Cheques of all kinds are made payable to the order of the public creditor.

There is much more use of the letter-of-credit system than at first sight seems consistent with a careful safeguard of the public purse from improper payment. The public mind is greatly startled when information reaches it that there is a payment before audit. But anyone can see that a most important step has been made if payment without delay accompanies a process which removes the most important dangers of irregularity. Credits are never issued to a single person, except when there is a cheque only between issuing a credit to him for advances to himself, as may be required, and issuing a direct cheque at once for the whole amount of the credit. The credit is in the name of two public servants of prominence, generally the deputy of the department and the accountant, or such substitutes as may be entrusted with the performance of their duties during their absence. Credits are issued where payments are required to be made at distant points, and without delay, to permanent officials. Now, it seems manifest that we cannot hold the bank on which the credits issue for any improper amount unless its neglect were most palpable. You will, therefore, inquire what is the justification for giving so much latitude.

The credits being to men of prominence, who are presumably intellectually and otherwise reliable, the first source of confidence is secured. To bring about misappropriation it would be necessary that both should be dishonest, and that one of them should suggest the dishonest action to the other, and therefore put himself at the head of the band of the latter. A cheque once drawn, the amount of it cannot be refunded, and therefore the amount of a cheque cannot be simply borrowed. At the end of the month a statement of cheques drawn, giving the number of each and the amount is sent to the audit office for repayment to the bank. Under this system there is no money to be accounted for by the disbursing officers. They have the means of paying without having any money to handle. There is, therefore, no fear that if a statement of vouchers is not sent in, it is because the holders of the credit have to account for money which has been used by themselves. The best evidence of the success of the method in the one respect of its security against defalcations is that none has occurred so far as I can recollect.

The probability of differences between the department and the Ministers respecting the practice to be followed, and the desirability of adopting definite rules were touched upon by Mr. McDougall, who spoke also of amendments which he deems necessary to render his work more perfect. Incidentally, he remarked that it is not generally known that Parliament's audit owes its origin in Canada to Hon. Edward Blake. "That wonderful man, who works like a slave on every detail of anything which he takes up, and yet grasps a subject with the greatest quickness."

A Thing of the Past.

The town crier is a thing of the past, but medical methods as old and as obsolete as the town crier are still practiced in many a country town. Women suffering from womanly diseases shrink from the officious examinations, delicate questionings, and obnoxious local treatments, still in vogue with some local practitioners. Any sick woman is invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free, and so avoid methods which are offensive to her modesty. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N.Y.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is peculiarly and particularly a medicine for the treatment of womanly diseases. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness.

"You have my heart-thanks for the kind advice you sent me," writes Mrs. Florence Archer, Boston, Mass. "I had to endure each month, so long as I could express, the burning-down pains, backache, headache, distress in my stomach and sores in my breast, cramp in limbs—they have all left me and health has taken the place of these distressing troubles. What caused them to leave? It was the best medicine I could get—Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. In one week's time I began to feel better. After taking six bottles of this medicine I feel like a new woman." Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is always used with "Favorite Prescription" whenever a laxative is required.

FRENCH PARLIAMENT

CEREMONY OF OPENING THE CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES.

Monarchical Customs Still Observed in the Republic—Perquisites of Some Cabinet Members—M. Combes, French Premier, Who is Also Minister of the Interior—How Deputies Sometimes Give Administration a Majority.

The opening of the French Chamber of Deputies, always interesting as a spectacle, attracted unusual attention at the recent reassembling by reason of the troubles in France during the past summer caused by the enforcement of what is called the associations law.

Premier Jean Louis Combes, who succeeded M. Waldeck-Rousseau as prime minister a few months ago, is held responsible for the enforcement of the law, which is aimed to bring certain orders of the Catholic church under Government control or to disperse the congregations. In this Premier Combes has the support of the majority of the deputies, and the country at large by the last general election and by the resolutions recently adopted with an overwhelming majority of departmental legislatures is committed to the same policy.

The opponents of the law have been clamoring for the return of M. Waldeck-Rousseau to the head of the Cabinet, but it is unlikely that they will prove strong enough to cause the downfall of Premier Combes.

Dr. Combes is a man of wealth and great mental force. He has been active in politics since 1876 and is known as a progressive Republican in politics. He was formerly vice president of the French Senate.

Before he entered politics Dr. Combes, who is sixty-two years of age, had amassed a fortune in business. When he made his first race for membership in the chamber he had a hard fight to secure his seat, but triumphed over his difficulties.

Since then he has been a prominent figure in the chamber and the senate and has made many friends in both bodies.

A good deal of the pomp and ceremony which pertains to monarchies still clings to the opening of the French Chamber of Deputies.

The president of the chamber lives in a mansion on the Quai d'Orsay, the grounds of which contain those surrounding the Chamber of Deputies. Before the opening of each sitting he is escorted through the long salons des peripus (reserved for the use of members and journalists) by a detachment of police in uniform of a captain. The drums beat and the procession is preceded by a gorgeousy attired usher, who announces, "Monsieur le president." Other ushers, policemen and police officers precede the president in a double line to keep the passage clear.

Thus escorted, the president mounts to his seat, high above the tribune from which the members speak, and immediately there is a rush of the members to be seated. After tapping his desk with a large paper knife or in case of much noise ringing a brass bell the president declares the sitting open, and the discussion of the day begins.

The ushers form a not unimportant part in the proceedings. Those inside the chamber wear evening dress, white ties and swords, and when in the heat of debate depose as a second excited the ushers have frequently to interpose to prevent a bout of fist-cuffs.

It is upon these occasions that the French assembly treats the world to some of those surprises, which are hard to understand, whereby a Government majority to-day is turned into a minority to-morrow.

But still the majority of the deputies are men who would be loath to lose their pay of 25 francs per day and the honors attached to the post of representative of the people. That is why the fear of dissolution often induces them to give a ministry a majority rather than provoke its overthrow and the crisis consequent thereon, with the added doubt of their being returned as members of the chamber.

Mr. Combes, besides being Premier is also Minister of the Interior. This post and that of finance are the most sought after, for, besides the importance of the posts, there is an ancient custom in connection with them, which is that the holder of either of these portfolios of the ushers calls upon each Minister and hands him an envelope containing 60,000 francs for moving expenses. If he retains the portfolio for a single day, he does not return the $12,000, nor is he expected to.

A Varied Experience.
Mme. Pate, who has just taken out papers of naturalization as an English subject, was born in Madrid, brought up by an American stepfather in the United States, married a Frenchman, and then an Italian, and is finally settled in Wales, the wife of a Swedish roblemann.

TheatricalFAUST.

At the Grand to-night, under the direction of Shipman Bros.

"Faust" have come and plays have gone, but the immortal Faust, like the bubbling brook, goes on forever. There have been many previous performances of Goethe's poetic conception, but none to compare in elaborateness of scenery, costumes and effects, with that of Alan Tabor's production, which introduces Mr. Tabor as Mephistopheles, and that beautiful southern actress, Miss Helen Hawthorne, as Marguerite. Mr. Tabor and Miss Hawthorne's personal success, have been unequalled—and their supporting company have been accorded a most gratifying reception.

Mr. Tabor has striven to avail himself of the magnificent opportunities for mounting which this play offers—the mechanical effects are bewildering, particularly those of the Broken Scenery, one of the most remarkable scenes known to the world of stage-dom. Almost a mile of wiring is necessary for the electrical effects of the Broken and Electrical Mountain scenes alone. "One of the features of the production says the newspaper critics, 'is the singing of the Gounod Quartette, Jeanne Elton, prima donna soprano, Lawrence Whitham, tenor soloist and Henri Schlotter, bass soloist."

FATAL ERROR CAUSED DEATH

Stephen Corbett Stepped in the Path of Mail Train to Avoid Freight.

Tragic End of a Well-Known Maple City Character This Morning.

Stephen Corbett, the Veteran bricklayer of this county, was killed this morning on the G. T. R. tracks about two miles east of the city by the east-bound mail train, No. 12, with Conductor McKenzie, which leaves the city at 8.32 a. m.

It seems Corbett was going out in the country to work, as he had his bricklayer's tools with him, and was walking out the south track when he saw the west-bound way freight, No. 99, coming toward him. He stepped from the south track to the north one to get out of the way of the freight, and got right in the track of the mail train.

As the freight passed Corbett the engine driver, McGarvey, cried to him to watch for the other train. He couldn't have heard the warning, as he did not get out of the way. The engine struck him and the unfortunate man was thrown many feet, expiring a few minutes later.

Driver Knight, of the mail train, put on the emergency brakes, but it was too late.

Stephen Corbett is supposed to be a native of this county, his only known living relative is a sister, Mrs. B. B. Corbett, River Road, Dover. He was never married. He learned his trade in the early fifties with the Oldershaws and is thought to be in the neighborhood of 75 years old.

There was a movement in the city to have him placed in the County House of Refuge, but he would not conform to the rules of the house and wanted his freedom.

He was a notable police court character, figuring on the register probably more than any other person. Deceased has worked for all the contractors in the neighborhood and was known to all as a good mason but a veritable crank.

Coroner Dr. J. L. Bray visited the scene of the fatality and viewed the remains. He found it was unnecessary to hold an inquest and has notified the Township of Harwich to take charge of the remains for burial. In the meantime deceased has been taken to Coltart & Wilson's morgue.

"The railroad is in no way to blame in the matter," said Dr. Bray to The Planet, "as the deceased had no right on the track."

Didn't Want Too Much. A Lone Star State man tells the following story of a negro baptizing in Texas:

An old negro preacher did the honors, and the candidate for baptism was a coal black negro woman. The preacher led his victim far out into the stream, where she could be thoroughly immersed, and at the auspicious moment he cried in a loud voice:

"Be stiddy, sister, be stiddy, and you'll cum up whitish den snow!"

"Oh, parson," she exclaimed, "dat's askin' too much; a cream colour'll do!"

March of Refinement. "Now that I think of it," remarked the passenger with the skullcap, "there used to be a little place on this line they called Kiss Station, but it must be something else now. I haven't heard the conductor call it out."

"We're pretty close to it, I think," replied the passenger with the goggles. "But it isn't Kiss Station any more. They've changed the name, but retained the idea. It's now—"

"Happy Junction!" bawled out the conductor as the train slackened its speed for the next stop.

Proud. "I want you to understand, sir, that my pride forbids me to accept anything from you after I marry your daughter."

"How are you going to live?" "Well, I thought you might make some kind of a settlement beforehand."

The Good Time Coming. "Jerry," said Fleaherty, "phwat is the m'ent' of this word 'millinnum'?"

"It means that glad time a-comin'," said Jerry, "whia ivery man will be his own boss an' shuck on his job."—Indianapolis News.

DOCTOR HITS FROM SHOULDER

Vigorous Temperance Address at the Prohibition Rally Sunday Afternoon.

The Fighting Spirit was Manifest—Signers of Manifesto Were Scored.

"The liquor manifesto as published in the local papers, by the liquor men of the city, was weak in its arguments, misleading in its statements, and was signed by men who have given the subject practically no thought whatever, and who did not fully realize the importance of their action."

This is a short synopsis of the strong speech delivered by Dr. A. W. Thornton at the mass temperance meeting held in the Grand Opera House yesterday afternoon. After making his charges the doctor went on to produce arguments to prove the truth of his statements. Dr. Thornton is a clever and masterly speaker, and his presence on the platform during this campaign will be of wonderful benefit to the temperance party. The intense earnestness with which he speaks and his clever argumentative powers make his speeches interesting and effective. He made some telling points yesterday.

The meeting was a good one, both in attendance and management. The ground floor and the first gallery were fairly well filled, and the temperance workers, while gratified with the success of their first mass meeting in the Opera House, are expecting a well filled house next Sunday.

Some of those who occupied seats on the platform were E. E. Parrott, President of the County Temperance Association; A. D. Westman, city secretary; James Brackin, and a number of the members of the Park Street Methodist choir. Mr. Brackin presided over the meeting, which was opened by the singing of a couple of hymns and prayer led by Rev. T. T. George.

Dr. Thornton, the chief speaker, was then introduced. The doctor based his speech on the aforementioned liquor men's manifesto.

"I am a temperance man," first, last, and always," said he in opening, "and I do not hesitate to express my views when I am called upon to do so. I think that the only place for alcohol is on the shelf of the druggist. This, I think, should also be the view of every honest and conscientious citizen."

"I noticed in the local papers the other day, a manifesto from the business men of the city which was signed by about 100 of these business men. I desire to call your attention to certain clauses contained in it. It says, 'After a careful consideration of the Liquor Act, we, the business men, etc.' I have a copy of the Liquor Act with me, and which I had some trouble in securing. It contains 36 pages of closely printed matter, and it would take any ordinary man about one hour and a quarter to read over its contents; and in order to carefully consider it, it would be necessary to take several hours. Yet every man who signed that manifesto said that he had given the bill a careful study. I would like to know how many in the audience have seen the bill, and where the signers of that petition secured their copies of it."

"They say that the Act is not what we asked for. It was the best we could get, and we are forced to sign it, but you will find that the temperance party will not rest until they have secured all—Applause."

The manifesto says that if this bill passed, liquor would be sold in private houses. Now this is, to say the least, misleading. The law strictly provides against this, and anyone who violates the law in this respect is open to a heavy fine and a term of imprisonment."

"The manifesto also goes on to say how Chatham has made such great commercial progress—factories are springing up, the population is increasing, and everything is in a prosperous condition."

"We are all proud of the increase in our population, and the great success our industries are experiencing. When Mr. Tate, the late Minister of Public Works, was here we took special pride in showing him through our factories and exhibiting the splendid products they manufacture. Did we show him the products of our liquor industry? I saw one yesterday. It was a woman walking along one of our principal thoroughfares in a state of intoxication. Are we proud of this industry? Go to the cemetery. There you will find more finished products of this vast industry."

"I saw in the papers the other day an account of a man 70 years of age who asked the magistrate to send him either to the Central prison, or county goal, or the House of Refuge. This is another product of this industry."

"I noticed that the manifesto contained the names of a number of lawyers. I consulted with three lawyers whose names did not appear on the list and asked them what they thought of the prohibition measure. From the first I received the reply that it was his opinion that if the measure passed, not one-quarter of the liquor at present consumed would be sold. I then asked him if he thought the commercial interests of the city would be injured. He failed to see how they would. The lawyers who signed might be afraid that they would lose their police court business. Now I do not believe that. I don't think the lawyers in this city are that kind of men. Another lawyer said that he could not understand how men could be induced to sign such a foolish and silly document.

"Of course if this law does pass, it will be broken. We have a law against murder, and yet murders are committed in our own province. When it is broken, however, we will have the law behind our backs to punish the offenders. Prohibition can be enforced. It is done in other places and the effect is found to be most satisfactory."

"The manifesto also says it would be wise to leave well enough alone. When the bill was introduced Mr. Ross announced that the number of licenses had been reduced and as a result the crime of the country had also been reduced. Why not take all of the licenses and have no more crime reduced? This is good reasoning."

"The liquor men also seem to think that if the liquor traffic is done away with, a direct tax will be kept down upon the people to make up the money now paid in licenses. A man at McKay's Corners was recently punished for running a gambling den. There is gambling going on in Ross city to-day, and if licenses were sold there would be many men here who would buy them, but they are not granted. If they were, the present taxation of the country could be greatly reduced. Is it any more reasonable to suppose that any conscientious far-sighted citizen would grant a license to a hotel man, in order to keep down the taxation? What man is there who would sell his son or his daughter for pavement stone?"

The doctor concluded his address with an earnest appeal to his audience for support.

Mr. Lowe, tenor, then gave a vocal solo, which was much appreciated. Rev. T. T. George was then called upon for an address. He devoted his time to explaining some of the clauses of the Liquor Act, and the manner in which its adoption would effect the country at large.

The meeting was then brought to a close.

FOOTBALL

VICTORY FOR CHATHAM.

Hyalekah, Hyalekah, Boonalekah, Boonalekah, Boonalekah, Boonalekah, Chatham, Chatham, Boonalekah, Boonalekah, Oae! Two!! Three!!!

The foregoing intricate, classical football composition—more or less artistic—set to music and rendered with an elaborate staccato movement, was presented by the lusterful of the Chatham football club to the fortunate (or unfortunate) pilgrims who paraded the popular precincts of this magnificent commercial metropolis ere the curfew summons homeward.

It might be mentioned, incidentally, that the performance was an impromptu arrangement by the now celebrated musical maestro, William McKenzie Messer, Brackin (the reformed member of the sinner wing) majestically swung the baton and devoted exceptional energy to the forte passages.

It was the grand final of the hardy contested Peninsula League football match played at Darrell on Saturday, which resulted in a victory for Chatham by a score of three goals to nil.

This struggle had been looked forward to with some anxiety by Chatham enthusiasts. Twice before this season have the colors of the local club been lowered by the speedy Darrell lads, but the locals succeeded in recruiting the services of their old captain, F. D. Laurie, and with him at the helm considerable confidence was maintained by the Chatham players. Laurie himself as was ever the case—played a strong and aggressive game.

The work of the Chatham forward line was especially brilliant and speedy. The honors of the day were earned by H. E. Kellington, who placed all three points to his credit. In his successful run he was cleverly assisted by R. K. Grant, the new centre forward, who seemed always to be in the right place at the right time, and whose playing throughout was very telling.

P. B. Petherly won the toss for Chatham and chose to kick with the wind, Darrell in consequence taking the kick off. J. Fisher started the game with a pass to the right wing and a rush was started down that side of the field, but the combination was soon broken by Percy Piggett's aggressive kicking, and the play started in the opposite direction, getting a return kick from Dick Asher.

Shortly after there was a foul on Chatham which drew the Darrell defence out and which the local players took advantage of. The first goal was scored by Laurie, and the first goal Chatham has scored against Darrell was tallied.

This produced in the Chatham team a confidence they had not known before and on resuming play the ball again worked its way down Darrell way and another goal was all but scored on Sisson's shot.

It was now Darrell's turn for a rush and down the field they ran, by pretty and effective passing, Les. Gregory made a hard shot on goal which resulted in a clever stop by Sowerby.

Play continued, and in one of the scintillating near the Darrell goal Dick one of the full backs, was injured and was substituted by Pettigrew, who put up a good game.

At half time no more goals had been scored and the ball was in play in the middle of the field.

With ends changed and the home team now having the advantage of the wind, the game resumed and the Chatham boys scored the ball, but some one fooled R. Pettigrew kicking it to the Chatham end. The sphere, however, was again returned and captured by Sissons, who rushed down the side line, making a pretty centre to Grant, who skillfully passed it on to Kellington, the latter sending the second goal in.

It was now growing quite dark and the playing went on with difficulty. Gregory and Jenkins made many well managed rushes on the left wing but Darrell's effective work on the right half back line usually broke up the combination but, if he failed, there was Wilson, always aggressive and full of checking qualities. Gregory, however, played at an unfortunate disadvantage, his knee being weak and in no condition for playing.

Chatham's third and last goal was scored by Kellington, who took Sissons' centre on the fly and banged it through the space between the Darrell kicked off in centre and the ball came down to Chatham territory, and before it was finally repelled two ineffective corners were kicked.

The scoring and the game also was practically ended, because neither ball, nor goal, nor players could be distinguished at any distance.

The teams were as follows:

DARRELL.
Goal—H. French.
Backs—B. Fisher, Dick (Pettigrew).
Half backs—Pugh, Asher, M. Abram.
Right wing—R. Abram, F. Pugh.
Centre—J. Fisher.

CHATHAM.
Goal—F. Sowerby.
Backs—S. Cossery, W. Wilson.
Half backs—P. Piggett, F. Laurie, L. Parrott.
Right wing—W. Messer, C. Sissons.
Centre—R. Grant.

Referee first half, Dr. Davis; second half, H. W. Anderson.
Goal umpires—J. W. Aitken and James A. Reid.

The Chatham team and its supporters adjourned after the game to the residence of Mrs. Ed. French, who generously invited all to luncheon. Two large tables, laden with good things, were filled and refilled by the hungry and appreciative young men, all of whom voted the hostess and her dainty and energetic staff of fair assistants, royal entertainers. At the conclusion of the supper President John Piggett took the chair and briefly expressed the gratitude of the Chatham club for the splendid manner in which they had been entertained.

Captain F. D. Laurie then rose and in a few well chosen words proposed the toast of the Darrell ladies. Mr. Laurie took occasion to compliment the generous-hearted and skillful manner in which the ladies had entertained, expressing the sincere gratitude of the Chatham visitors and the cordial feelings and pleasant memories which must always be associated with the visit.

Vice-Captain P. B. Petherly followed with a toast to the Darrell football club, the members of which he characterized as right royal good fellows on the field and off it.
Both toasts were honored amid hearty applause.

After two excellent songs by W. H. Brackin and a mandolin solo by Harry French, the goal keeper of the Darrell team, President Piggett in concluding moved a hearty vote of thanks to Mrs. French for her splendid entertainment of the Chatham club. The motion was seconded by H. W. Anderson and carried by three hearty cheers.
