ST. THOMAS FAILURES.

MANIA OF SPECULATION POSSESSED THE CITY.

Other Loan Companies Prepared to Meet a Run—Rowley Left for the East on Early Morning Train.

St. Thomas, June 17.—Though the haste to get rich is said to be at the root of much that is evil, it is seldom that the saying has been so completely exemplified as at St. Thomas. The craze for making money, whether by speculation or by financing that was shunned by those who had weathered many a gale, took possession of the town. One evidence was the existence of five loan companies to a population of 12,000 or 14,000. The ordinary banker, trained in finance, says now, "I told you so," but he must have the credit of having given the warning long ago. There can be no doubt that loan companies have been a drag on the town. Instead of putting their money into industrial enterprises, which would benefit the town, the savers and makers preferred a loan company, with alluring prospects of 5 per cent. and 6 per cent. There was plenty of money there, for St. Thomas is a big railway centre, surrounded by one of the richest farming districts in the country. So far did it go that one company tried to make money out of another. Mr. Baird, President of the suspended Elgin company, frankly admits that the reason his company put $31,000 with the Atlas Company, also suspended, was that he was offered 5 per cent., which he could not get elsewhere. Both of these companies will disappear, and a brighter day will dawn for St. Thomas.

Aside from a homely loan companies, there is little to be added to the situation to-day. There was practically no run on the remaining companies to-day. They are without doubt able to pay at once every depositor. Accountants are at work on the books of the Atlas and Elgin Companies, and people are waiting the result. The London & Western Trust Co. sent Mr. Ernest Weldon to take charge of the Elgin Company's books, in accordance with Judge Hughes' order. Mr. Home Smith, who is doing similar work for the National Trust Company at the Atlas Company, expects that a statement will be ready for presentation to the court at the end of this week. Manager Rowley of the Elgin Company, who is missing, was also manager of the G.N.W. Company, and Inspector Dickson has been sent up to investigate his accounts. There was a rumor that he was in hiding in the city, but this is unfounded, for a cabman drove him to the Michigan Central Station after midnight on Monday morning, and he is understood to have taken the train for the east, Buffalo or New York. This is one of the sad features of the affair, for he was a devoted family man, worshipped by a family whose sorrow is affecting.

A scapegoat must be found, and, rightly or wrongly, Mr. Wallace is blamed for everything. He persistently refuses to make any statement until Ames & Company do so to enable him to know where he stands. He, however, was involved by his neighbors, Messrs. Crossley and Hunter, the evangelists, to come down to the office to-day to assist the liquidators. He is in a very bad condition physically as well as mentally. He characterized the statement of Ames & Company that his company would not have failed on their account if it had been strong otherwise, and names a lot of gilded securities which he had with that firm, of which Dominion Steel alone is weak. He refused to say more, but that the National Trust Company was in charge of the office, and any statement regarding the business must come from them. "But," said Mr. Wallace, of the securities of the Atlas Loan, now in the hands of Ames & Company, recover their nominal value, as they are likely to do, there will be enough from that source alone to pay a very large percentage of the depositors."

Mr. Wallace admitted that he had made an egregious mistake, which had involved himself and his friends, but that he was determined to do right, and that he would never be worth a dollar himself until he had paid every body one hundred cents on the dollar.

MR. ROSS RESIGNS.

He is Leaving the Montreal Street Railway.

Montreal, June 17.—Mr. James Ross has resigned the Vice-Presidency of the Montreal Street Railway Company, and severed his connection with the directorate. No reason is given except pressure of other interests. It is understood here that Mr. Ross has gradually disposed of his street railway stock and that hereafter he will devote the greater part of his time to promoting the interests of the Dominion Iron & Steel and Dominion Coal Companies, of which he is the President. Mr. F. L. Wanklyn, the present General Manager of the Montreal Street Railway, succeeds to the Vice-Presidency, and Mr. Duncan MacDonald, formerly Superintendent, has returned from Paris to resume the duties of his old position.

The new oil well of the Chatham Oil Company on the Doyle place and about a hundred yards south of O'Keefe's Bridge, is progressing favorably. The time was secured, it is stated, about a foot higher in this well.

TRIBUTES OF HIGH ESTEEM

First Presbyterian Congregation Testifies to their Appreciation of Mrs. Cooper's Talented Services.

The Accomplished Vocalist the Recipient of a Handsome Souvenir of Her Successful Work—Many Eulogistic Words.

The large lecture hall of the First Presbyterian Church—tastefully decorated with flowers and foliage—was thronged by the members of the congregation last evening on the occasion of the farewell social gathering given to Mrs. John Cooper, for seven years the accomplished soloist and choir director of the church, who resigned recently on account of ill-health and leaves shortly for Toronto, where she will henceforth reside. A delightful musical program was rendered, the participants being, as Mr. McKellar pleasantly expressed it, "Mrs. Cooper's own pupils, trained by herself and consequently all young artists."

P. D. McKellar, chairman of the congregational Board of Managers, presided, and in his opening remarks alluded appropriately to the long, valued and talented services of Mrs. Cooper. "What Mrs. Cooper has done for the service of song in our church," he said, "cannot be estimated in mere words, any more than what she has done for voice culture and musical development in our city. Mrs. Cooper gave the First Presbyterian Church a choir unequalled by any in the large cities; she filled the church, and what was very practical from the managers' standpoint, the open contributions of the congregation were doubled. I can only hope that the church may be fortunate enough to secure such another choir as that which Mrs. Cooper so successfully organized and directed with such marked ability."

Concluding, Mr. McKellar said that the congregation were anxious to express their esteem of Mrs. Cooper and appreciation of her services in some appropriate manner, and, in consequence, the managers had requested Mr. Frank D. Laurie, Mr. J. S. Black and himself to arrange the present gathering.

Proceeding, the following excellent musical program was contributed by the former pupils of Mrs. Cooper, each soloist being heartily greeted with an encore:

Solo—Miss Edna M. Martin.
Solo—Chas. H. Gunn.
Solo—Miss Ada Ross.
Solo—William H. Brackin.
Solo—Miss Gertrude Somerville.
The accompaniments were perfectly played by Misses Lillian Pratt and Ada Ross and Wm. H. Brackin.
At the conclusion of the program Mr. McKellar asked Mrs. Cooper to come to the platform. As the applause subsided the patriarchal chairman gallantly extended his hand to the young lady, adding pleasantly, "This must be the union of May and December." The pretty sentiment was greeted with round upon round of applause.

ADDRESS.
Mr. McKellar then read the following address:—
Chatham, June 16, 1903.

To Mrs. May Cooper:
The Congregation of the First Presbyterian Church feel that they cannot permit your departure from Chatham without expressing their sense of the heavy obligation under which you have placed them by the very great excellence of the choir music furnished under your leadership, which we remember not only for its artistic finish and quality, but as being soul-satisfying and an inspiration to worship. In your conception of choir music you are entitled to the credit of elevating it to a standard of excellence never before attained in Chatham, and, as the other congregations have striven to attain the same eminence in the quality and character of their choir music, the benefit of your excellent organization and culture of our choir has been felt by all the Christian congregations of the city. In our opinion you more than anyone deserve the credit of stimulating and developing the latent vocal talent of our city. Your retirement is, therefore, a distinct loss to the musical culture of the city.

We deplore the cause which renders your retirement imperative, but we sincerely hope that complete cessation from labor may bring a speedy restoration to health and an early resumption of your vocation in our city.

We beg your acceptance of the accompanying gift, as representing in a small and insignificant measure our friendship to you and as a mark of our appreciation of your very great vocal talent.

I am,

Sincerely yours,
P. D. McKellar,

Chairman of the Board of Managers, on behalf of the Congregation of the First Presbyterian Church.

The chairman then presented Mrs. Cooper with a handsomely engraved and finished toilet set, each article of which was inscribed with a silver monogram. The case was mounted in silver and engraved:—"Presented to Mrs. May Cooper by the Congregation of the First Presbyterian Church, Chatham, Ont., as a mark of appreciation and esteem. June, 1903."

Mrs. Cooper was greeted with round upon round of applause.

"I'm so sorry I can't make a speech," she said, smiling. "But I can say thank you from my heart. May I ask Mr. McKellar to speak for me and tell you all of my appreciation of your goodness?"

Mr. McKellar bowed and smilingly proceeded,—"Mrs. Cooper desires to thank you all for this and all your past kindness. She regrets exceedingly that she has been compelled to retire from her work here temporarily, but she hopes that the rest and quiet of Toronto will restore her to her wonted health, when she will, of course, return to Chatham and be again at your disposal."

"Oh Mr. McKellar," put in Mrs. Cooper naively, amid laughter and applause.

"Mrs. Cooper also wishes me to say for her that while she cannot make you a speech, she will be delighted to sing for you."—Applause. "I'll tell you," added the chairman, "if Mrs. Cooper had studied oratory with the same success as she has experienced in sweet songs, she would have been in parliament long ago."—Laughter and applause.

"Mrs. Cooper then contributed a magnificent and soulful interpretation of the favorite, "O Promise Me." The Maple City's popular soprano perhaps never sang better and she was obliged to repeatedly bow her acknowledgments to the enthusiastic applause with which her singing was greeted.

Ex-Ald. Fred. Stone delivered a brief and appropriate address. Chatham, he said, was greatly indebted to Mrs. Cooper—and particularly the church where she worshipped. One was always particularly impressed with Mrs. Cooper's appreciation of what church music should be. Whether it was solo or anthem it was always in supreme harmony with the service, helpful, inspiring, elevating. Mrs. Cooper had set a high standard and he earnestly hoped an effort would be made to maintain it.

An hour of social intercourse was then enjoyed. The ladies of the church, Mrs. Geo. T. McKenough presiding, served light refreshments and the large gathering took occasion to extend personally to Mrs. Cooper their expressions of appreciation and esteem, and to wish for her in her new sphere and in her quest for wanted health and strength a hearty and earnest "God speed."

Forbearance and self control smoothed the road of life and open many ways which otherwise remain closed.

HOUSE ROBBED

The residence of Hugh McDougall, Harwich, was robbed Monday night. Mr. McDougall was away and Thos. Maynard was doing the chores. Mr. Maynard had occasion to go home and when he returned he found the lamp had been moved into another room. On investigation he found that the house had been ransacked. Outside, towards the townline, he saw two men. When they saw Mr. Maynard they started to run and he shot three times at them. One of the men called out that he was hit but didn't stop running.

Among the articles taken were a black leather toilet case with brown leather lining and initial H on the outside; gold locket with horseshoe engraved on one side and set with jewels on the other side the initials H. McD. and a gold toothpick with the initials H. McD. on it.

Messrs. McDougall and Maynard were in last night and reported the matter to the police.

No degree of knowledge attainable by man is able to set him above the want of hourly assistance.

THE JUDICIARY.

What do the people of Canada think to-day of the Canadian judiciary? The question is a vital one. It involves a nation's regard for law and order. It involves the integrity of our national institutions. And it involves our national morality and decency and self-respect.

A year ago there could have been no such question. Its answer would have been absolute, unhesitating, unqualified. The judiciary was the one thing in which the people trusted. In the midst of a general break-down of political morality, the disappearance of all party principle, the elimination from public life of almost all the big men who held the nation's confidence, the courts of Canada remained in full possession of the people's respect. Have they it to-day?

A terribly significant incident occurred at the decoration of the Veterans' Monument in Queen's Park a week ago. In the course of a patriotic oration, which was being enthusiastically received, the speaker made the customary eulogistic reference to the position of the Canadian Bench. It was received with rapt laughter, which compelled him to change his subject as soon as the jeers of his audience subsided and he regained a bearing. It was an incident that would have been impossible a year ago, and we can only hope against hope that it will be impossible a year hence.

The cause is simple, and easily to be avoided, if any Government had the courage to avoid it. The judges have been made a part of the political machinery of a party. The responsibility is largely their own. They have allowed themselves to be made political agencies when they need not have done so, and that is the charge which the public lays against them. But the burden lies mainly upon the Government which imposed this new obligation upon them. And as it is show the wind, so the laughter of the Queen's Park crowd—a crowd of patriotic citizens, assembled to honor their noblest dead—shows in what depths of degradation the present treatment of the judiciary will land this people.—Toronto News, Independent.

KICKING ALREADY.

Belleville Intelligencer.
If it's all the same to the weather man, we'd like a little warm, dry weather, for a change.

The independent press throughout Canada has pronounced on the decision of the judges in the Gamey case, and without a single exception the verdict is that, the finding of the commission is one which cannot convince any fair-minded man, that Hon. J. R. Stratton did not do exactly what Mr. Gamey said he did. When it is found that papers of non-partisan views are unwilling to swallow the special pleadings of Mr. Chancellor Boyd, it will be hard for independent minds to look upon it with favor. The canonization of Hon. J. R. Stratton by a process which necessitated the discrediting of much unimpeachable testimony is too great an effort to be appreciated by the ordinary individual. Mr. Gamey, the scapegoat of the commission, has received an assurance from his constituents in Manitoulin that he still enjoys their confidence. To date, Mr. Stratton has received no such mark of appreciation from the people of his riding. The country feels that the judges overreached themselves in their anxiety to make black appear white and white black, and when the time comes for the people to say their say, Mr. Gamey will probably be found occupying a seat on the legislature of which Mr. Stratton will have become an ex-member.

Sour Stomach—Bad Breath.

The body depends on the bowels to carry off all waste and poisonous matters from the system—it is Nature's drainage. If the bowels don't perform their functions properly and become clogged up, the system gradually absorbs this poison. It is this which causes sick headache, biliousness, sour stomach, bad breath, inactive liver, lack of energy, heartburn, etc.

Abbey's Effervescent Salt will cure you by clearing away the obstruction and thoroughly cleansing the bowels. This brings healthy action to all the organs of the body and rids the system of the cause of illness.

In this way Abbey's Effervescent Salt permanently cures. A teaspoonful in half a glass of tepid water every morning.

GLITTERING PRODUCTION

Ringling Brothers Present Jerusalem and The Crusades

Jerusalem and The Crusades is the subject of a magnificent spectacle produced by Ringling Brothers with their world famous shows this season. There are 1300 people in the cast, a ballet of 300, and a singing chorus of 200. The music is original, and is rendered by a superb grand pipe organ, and a selected band of fifty soloists. The scene is a magnificent and gorgeous in the extreme, and the costumes of the most American artists, and the 2,000 costumes worn by the vast company are of Parisian make and design. The fabrics are of the costliest texture of exquisite coloring, and the fashions of the most brilliant effects and classical. The days of chivalry, when knighthood was in flower, are reproduced with faithful portraiture of splendid men and women, and their exhilarating pastimes and enjoyments. The great stage is larger than a hundred theater stages combined, and the massive settings and historical properties require a special train for transportation. Never in the history of the circus has a spectacle been produced of this magnitude and regal splendor of this Ringling Brothers performance. All the pastimes of the middle ages are exemplified in thrilling action by dueling experts of skill and strength. Jousting, sword fights, acrobatic, equestrian feats, riding accomplishments, and many other exciting sports of the chivalric age, are illustrated in whirling tourneys. The radiant costumes, and blinding jewels of royalty, its courtly dignitaries and smiling favorites; the imperial purple and sparkling gems of ecclesiastical rank; the glitter and clatter of armored soldiery; the charm of dancing girls with garlands, singing maidens and devoted matrons; the shield and helmet emblazoned of mounted knights; the prismatic coloring of the swirling scenes, animated by ever going and differing throngs; the majestic music of a soul stirring grand organ, blending harmoniously with fifty solo instruments; all these brilliant features, and many more of fascinating importance, enthrall the senses of the spectator, and make this production the most magnificent and attractive ever offered the American public. The grand pageant in honor of the departure of the Crusaders on their holy mission is a processional display in which are presented more interesting historical types, more beautiful costumes, more elaborate scenic decorations, more men, women and children, and horses, than ever seen in a huge spectacle at any other time in the history of the world. The voluptuous amusement of the Egyptian court is depicted in a grand Oriental ballet. This revelling scene is beyond the power of words to describe in its actual splendor and delights. The enormous stage is taxed to its utmost by the bewitching dancers, and the tremendous assemblage of variously dressed and costumed Egyptians. For cost of production, originality, enormous number of people employed, and overwhelming success, this gorgeous spectacle rises superior to anything of similar effort ever spread before the human eye. In the grand street parade show day morning tableau floats, bearing national types and characteristic scenes from all over the world, will be a novel and attractive feature. All the people with the great shows will participate in this free display of the wonders with the circus, and the costumes is the richest ever attempted. Forty elephants, 650 horses, 108 cages, lions and dens, 12 bands, 20 camels, 40 jolly clowns, troops of gaily accoutred soldiery, lady riders in Easter-like finery, children's chariots, fairyland picture, aristocratic whips, and a multitude of other distinctive features will be illuminating factors in the largest and grandest circus Brother will exhibit here.

Thursday, June 18, and give performances in the afternoon at 2 o'clock and evening at 8 o'clock. Reserved seats, numbered, and admission tickets will be sold at the Central Drug Store, King and Fifth streets, show day at the same prices charged in the ticket wagons on the show grounds.

The Baptist Young People's Union of this place entertained a party of members of Chatham Baptist Young People's Union last evening. The program was given by the visitors. Mr. Gunton acted as chairman and gave a short address. Refreshments were served and a very pleasant evening spent.

Miss H. Wellwood, of Ridgeway, is the guest of Mr. A. Cameron for a few days.

The first band concert of the season took place at P. Lambton last evening and was very well attended. The Wallaceburg Band has been engaged for the season to provide the music.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Gordon attended a musicale in Galt last week, at which Miss Ruby Gordon sang.

Mr. and Mrs. McGuire, of Florence, visited their daughter, Mrs. C. Sauey, here.

Stanley Shaw, of Belleville, Mich., spent a few days at his home.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Dickson, of Maumee, Mich., are renewing acquaintance in town.

Miss Annie Shaw left this morning to attend the graduating exercises at Alma College, St. Thomas.

C. Wilder, of Detroit, is a guest at the home of W. J. Taylor.

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK

"The Yellowstone Park is something absolutely unique in this world, as far as I know. Nowhere else in any civilized country is there to be found such a tract of veritable wonderland, made accessible to all visitors, where at the same time not only the scenery of the wilderness, but the wild creatures of the park, are scrupulously preserved."—President Roosevelt.

This delightful spot is more easily reached via the Union Pacific than by any other line. The stage ride from Monida, by the splendid Concord Coaches of the Monida & Yellowstone Stage Co., is through scenery hardly inferior to the park itself.

The popular route to Yellowstone Park is now via the Union Pacific. Very low rates during June, July and August.

WHEN BOYS WERE MEN

By JOHN HABBERTON,
Author of "Helen's Babies," "George Washington," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1901, BY JOHN HABBERTON

Such as were left of us went faster and faster, the horses, becoming excited, unconsciously taking the gallop.
This being a gait at which a child could keep the saddle, there was no more struggling. Assisted by some vigorous language from the captain, we formed new sets of fours and went along in really handsome style.

When our rush had lasted about a quarter of an hour, I began to wonder when we would strike the enemy. If we had already suffered so severely, what would be left of us after we had met the foe and been thrown into the confusion which always befalls a cavalry party at the instant of absolute dash? Well, if it must come, it were better that it should come while we
and our horses were nerved up to fighting pitch.

There came a time in our mad rush when the road led through a bit of low, damp ground on which there was no dust, so we could look along the column. Dusty though we were, the spectacle was really inspiring, with its hundreds of flashing sword blades and its successive guidons—small flags, one at the head of each troop. We ascended a gentle slope near the top of which
and perhaps a quarter of a mile in advance rode a man with a broad flat hat and a very small horse. I asked the lieutenant who he was and was told:

"He's the reb we're chasing, I s'pose."

What! All that effort to catch one man—a man who was apparently getting away? All the scare, the terror,
the wild thoughts, the helplessness,
the disorder, the suffering, merely to overtake one man! I felt angry enough to desert. I lost my temper and expressed my thoughts so loudly that the lieutenant overheard me and, looking angrily at me, said:

"Be quiet, you little fool. There's no better way of finding their main body than by chasing a man who is trying to get back to it, is there?"

"No, sir," I replied meekly as a flood of light descended upon my wits, and I longed to shrivel within my uniform so that I could not be seen. I did not long have to chew the bitter end of reflection, however, for soon we heard some shots in the advance. Our pace was slackened; we became tightly packed in the road, breaking our formation and causing much trampling on horses' hoofs, with the consequent kicking and swearing. Then down the column was passed in rapid succession
the orders:

"Halt! Dismount!"

Were we to fight on foot? Well, whatever might befall the enemy, I was sure it would be far safer for us.
Then came the orders:

"Loosen your saddle girths. Tie your horses to the fence. Stand by and prevent them from rolling, or your saddlebags will be broken."

What an inglorious conclusion! I did not dare ask the lieutenant what it meant, but he evidently saw I was curious, for he approached me and said:

"I guess the advance has gobbled them. There's never more than a company of these fellows on the road at a time around here."

That was better than I had expected, and I was wild to go forward and see the prisoners. Soon there was something else to look at, however, and I don't believe the prisoners could have presented as sorry a spectacle—it was the mass of stragglers being urged forward by the rear guard. There seemed no end to the dismal line of men without horses, horses without men.
Some of the stragglers were asking where their companies were, and once in a while a member of our company would recognize his place by the letter which each of us wore on his cap. What astonished me most, however, was Mick McVerry plodding along on foot and carrying little Brainerd on his back. I was so astonished that it was some time before I could ask Charley what had happened, and he told me that something was biting his side awfully. When the surgeon, of whom we had three, reached our company, Brainerd learned that in falling from his horse he had broken two ribs.

We went faster and faster.

Soon the colonel came riding down
the column, looking keenly to the right and left. I asked him about the engagement, but he stared coldly at me and did not answer. When, however, the captain saluted, the colonel told him that the enemy's entire party had been captured, being unaided and therefore unable to get away. He also volunteered the information that our dash
had been worth more to the regiment
than a month of battalion drill in camp and that if half of the new men had kept up with the procession they had done better than he expected.

Thus ended the first charge of the Thirty-eighth, and it had been quite as successful in results as early cavalry charges in general. But what would have happened had we, with 600 or 700 raw men and only a third as many experienced members, encountered a well armed, well trained regiment as large as our own? Well, either we would have run away or been badly whipped.

It is unlikely, however, that the colonel, who knew his business, would have led us against such a body, and it is less likely that he could have done it if he would, for there was not at that time a well armed, well trained cavalry regiment anywhere in the southern army. Greenhorn against greenhorn was the rule in those days, and not only in the cavalry service either.

CHAPTER IX. BACK TO CAMP.

AFTER a long rest, followed by water for our horses, the regiment started again,
though as to where we were going we knew no more than
when we left camp.

I said to Cloyne that it would save a great deal of unnecessary worry if the colonel would post a notice before leaving camp for a scout or a fight to let us know where we were going, how long we were to be gone and what we were to do, but Cloyne replied that the colonel would first have to know all these things himself, which seemed a great deal to expect.

At any rate no such information had been given out about our present trip,
nor did we ever get any about any trip
on which we started afterward, so in time it came to be fun to ask when on the road, "When are we going?" so as to get a pleasing assortment of improbable answers. At first it seemed too dreadful to take part in some movement about which I knew nothing—not even whether or not it was ludicrous.

But when I saw the older members of the regiment calmly obeying all orders, asking no questions, I endeavored to be a veteran to that extent myself and let the government manage its own business in its own way.

As I had not made this resolve at the time of our first scout and charge I was curious and anxious about many things besides our probable route.
What would we do with our prisoners should a regiment of the enemy suddenly strike us? Suppose we were to get into a fight and have a lot of horses shot; how would the riders reach camp? How were our disabled men to reach camp again, as it appeared we had no ambulances with us?

Was any one sure that the colonel had calculated time and distance carefully,
so that we should reach camp in time
to save men and animals from starving? And, speaking of starving, where was I to get anything to eat during the coming day or more?

This question slowly but surely forced all others from my mind, for I had eaten all of my hockeas that I had not given away, I had roasted my sweet potatoes at dinner time and felt, as I ate them, so full that I wouldn't want another morsel till morning, but an hour of trot and gallop had caused a radical change of opinion. I had no more silver with which to buy should I be able to find any native who would sell, and my morning's search for corn soft enough to eat had not been encouraging enough to justify me in trying again.

As I wondered darkness approached,
and we halted to bivouac for the night.
Brainerd, whom I found in one of the straw filled country wagons which had been seized to carry the injured,
was as hungry as I and very dismal about it too. How both of us wished we had kept the fat pork which had been dealt as a part of our three days' ration! We still agreed that a very little of it would go a long way, but that was just the sort of ration we most needed at that particular moment, for the void in us seemed to reach nearly down to our boot toes.

While we pined ourselves and endeavored to deaden the pangs of hunger by the time honored truant schoolboy trick of tightening our belts, a detail was suddenly made from our own company to guard the prisoners, and I was one of the noncommissioned officers named.

MONKEY-LIKE MEN.

Race of Savage Swamp Dwellers Found
in New Guinea.

The Acting Administrator of New Guinea, Sir Francis P. Winter, in a report to the Governor-General of the Australian Commonwealth, describes a curious people who live in the swamps in New Guinea.

They are called the Ahgalambo,
and have lived in swamps for a period which goes back beyond native tradition. They dwell in houses raised on piles about 12 feet above the surface of the water, which they traverse in canoes dug out of logs.
These they propel standing up with a pole.

In addition, they are expert swimmers, gliding through beds of reeds
or over masses of floating vegetable matter with ease. They never leave the morass, and their mode of life has reacted upon their physical character, with the result that they are not able to walk properly on hard ground, their feet bleeding if they try to do so.

Sir Francis Winter describes two of the tribe—a man and a woman—as follows:

"The man would have been a fair-sized native, had his body from the hips downward been proportionate to the upper part of his frame. He had a good chest, and, for a native, a thick neck, and his arms matched his trunk."

"His feet were short and broad,
and very thin and flat, with—for a native—weak-looking toes. This last feature was still more noticeable in the woman, whose toes were long and slight, and stood out rigidly from the foot, as though they had not sensed no joints. The feet of both the man and the woman seemed to rest on the ground something like wooden feet would do. The skin above the knees of the man was in loose folds, and the sinews and muscles around the knee were not well-developed. The muscles of the arm were much better developed
than those of the calf."

"In the ordinary native the skin
on the loins is smooth and tight, and the anatomy of the body is clearly discernible, but the Ahgalambo
man had several folds of thick skin or muscle across the loins which concealed the outline of his frame. On placing one of our natives of the same height alongside the marsh man, we noticed that our native was about 3 inches higher at the hips."

"I had a good view of the man while he was standing sideways towards me, and in figure and carriage he looked to me more apellike than any human being that I have seen.
The woman, who was of middle age,
was much more slightly formed than the man, but her legs were short and slender in proportion to her figure, which, from the waist to the knee, was clothed in a wrapper of native cloth."

When Sandow poses and the muscles ridge his back and knot his arms, we think we have before us the very secret
of strength in those magnificent muscles.
But we haven't. Starve Sandow, or who is practically the same thing, let him be dyspeptic, and his muscle would soon fail. Strength is made from food properly digested and assimilated, and no man is stronger than his stomach, because when the stomach is diseased digestion and assimilation are imperfect.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery
cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of food so that the body is nourished into perfect health and strength.

"I had what my physician called indigestion.
He gave me medicine for the trouble but it did me no good," writes Mr. W. H. Wells, of Williams, N. C. "I wrote to Dr. Pierce and stated my case. He sent me a descriptive list and hygienic rules. I carried out these as best I could, bought six bottles of his Golden Medical Discovery and commenced taking it. A few days later I noticed a great change. I felt like a new man. Before I began the use of the Golden Medical Discovery I suffered greatly with pain
in stomach, my nerves were all run-down.
I was very thin in flesh, but now can eat heartily and sleep good at night."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps
to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps or the paper-covered book, or 50 stamps for the

THE LOCAL BUDGET

Mrs. G. A. Elliott, of Leamington, was a guest in the city yesterday.

D. A. Gordon, of Wallaceburg, was in the city yesterday on business.

Dr. Storey, of Blenheim, was a Garner House guest yesterday.

C. E. and Mrs. Loudon, of Tilbury, were guests in the city yesterday.

John D. Dunfield, travelling secretary for Trinity University, Toronto, is spending a few days in Chatham and vicinity.

The horse, attached to the delivery rig of Thomas Edmondson, ran away this morning on Joseph St. The rig was badly smashed, but the driver and a lad with him escaped injury.

Miss Anna Shaw, of Wallaceburg, passed through the city yesterday on her way to St. Thomas to attend the graduating exercises of Alma College. Miss Shaw is an ex-pupil of this college.

"Now that the lamp post is to be removed from in front of the post-office," remarked a citizen this morning, "it might be advisable to remove that unsightly fence around the boulevard. The posts are all chewed and spoiled, and there is no doubt but that should a runaway horse get mixed up with the fence the city would be responsible for all damages."

Eighty-five cars, double the regular railway size, are required to transport Ringling Brothers' World's Greatest Shows; 650 horses, 375 performers, 300 dancers, 200 choristers, 50 musicians, 108 animal cages and lairs and 1,000 workmen and affiliates are indicative of the enormous size of this distinguished American amusement enterprise, twice bigger, fully, than any other ever organized. They will exhibit here to-morrow.

Miss Doty Wilson and Miss Annie Cockran, piano pupils of Miss Mabelle Edmondson, Head street, tried the Toronto Conservatory of Music examinations held at the Academy on Monday last and succeeded in obtaining: The first little girl first class honors and Annie Cockran "honors." This speaks well for Miss Edmondson as a teacher. The examiner complimented these two little ladies on their careful and well prepared work.

ODDFELLOWS' GRAND LODGE.

Reports Presented at the Kingston Meeting.

Kingston, June 17.—The annual convocation of the Grand Lodge of the Canadian Order of Oddfellows has brought together about one hundred and fifty members in this city from various parts of the jurisdiction, including representatives from Quebec and Manitoba. The reports presented by the various grand officers and the Executive Board indicate a marked degree of prosperity, and show that the order has made satisfactory progress in all departments during the past year. The first session this afternoon was devoted to the appointment of special committees and consideration of the reports of the Grand Secretary, the Grand Treasurer and the Grand Medical Referee.

The Grand Master, Bro. W. H. Shaw, presented his annual address, which was received and referred to a special committee to report upon tomorrow. A brief synopsis of the address would include his reference to the complete list of delegates present; the death roll of the past year, which included the late Grand Treasurer, P. G. M. George Boxall of Toronto; the condition of the insurance and other funds, which show the largest surplus in the history of the society; the re-establishment of a monthly journal; a recommendation for the appointment of agencies in the newer districts; for the formation of lodges of Daughters of Ruth and juvenile lodges.

The membership was reported as 4,000, an increase for the year of 551. For the seventeen months ending June 5th $27,300 was paid in benefits and disability claims. The death rate was 7.01 per 1,000.

ELECTIONS IN GERMANY.

One Seat Captured by Socialists in the City of Berlin.

Berlin, June 17.—The result of the Berlin elections constitutes a distinct success for the Socialists. They have obtained an actual majority in all the six electoral divisions, and an absolute majority in five. So far as information can be drawn from the returns to hand, the Socialists have materially increased their polls in a large number of constituencies and have probably won a good number of others from their opponents.

The authorities of Collingwood have been notified of the arrest, and the Chief of Police was called up by telephone and given a description of the man, which tallied with the negro wanted at Collingwood.

"The blood is the life." Science has never gone beyond that simple statement of science. But it has illuminated that statement and given it a meaning ever broadening with the increasing breadth of knowledge. When the blood is "bad" or impure it is not alone the body which suffers throughout. The brain is also clouded, the mind and judgment are affected, and many an evil deed or impure thought may be directly traced to the impurity of the blood. No one can be well balanced in mind and body whose blood is impure. No one can have a wholesome and pure life unless the blood is pure. Four blood can be made pure by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. When the blood is pure, body and brain are alike healthy and life becomes a daily happiness.

TO BE REPAIRED

It was found that to put new bridge across the creek at Princess St.
and Adelaide St. would be a very expensive undertaking at this season of the year. At the present time of the year the bridge builders are so busy with contracts that it would cost considerable to build a bridge. Therefore the Board of Works have decided to repair the old ones. John Flook will drive piles to furnish support for the bridges and it is estimated that when this is done the structures will last about two years more. The best time to get prices on a bridge is during the winter, and when the Council decides to put up a new bridge they will begin preparations in the winter,
when they can work to better advantage.

PROTEST FROM ONTARIO.
Dominion Interference in Provincial Jurisdiction.
Toronto, June 17.—The Legislature spent the greater part of yesterday afternoon in a discussion upon Mr. Pattullo's motion protesting against the interference of the Dominion House in matters of exclusively Provincial import. The opinion on both sides of the House was unanimous that the Province's rights were encroached upon, and that every possible means should be taken to have a definite decision upon the respective powers of the Dominion and the Province. Sheriff Dana's reappointment was criticized by Mr. Whitney, and Col. Gibson justified the action of the Government in the matter.

The Ganey report will come up for discussion to-day, when the House opens at 11 o'clock. The printing of the evidence will probably not be concluded for a day or two yet.
The unfinished shreds of business will be postponed until after the Ganey debate is finished.

Before the orders of the day were called Mr. Whitney asked if the remuneration for the Judges in the Royal Commission had been fixed.
Mr. Ross—We have not settled that yet.

nouncements must be received at this

pear in The Planet.

CHAMBERLAIN'S PLANS.

Government Will Conduct An Inquiry.

London, June 16. — A number of questions bearing on Colonial Secretary Chamberlain's preferential tariff proposals were asked in the House of Commons. Premier Balfour, replying to Mr. Labouchere (Advanced Liberal), said the inquiry into the suggested changes in the fiscal system would be conducted by the Government, which would be responsible therefor. Asked if it was proposed to protect Canada by retaliating on Germany, Mr. Chamberlain said the situation created by the differences between Canada and Germany was precisely that upon which he had invited a discussion, with the view of ascertaining the opinion of the country.

London, June 16. — The discussion of preferential tariffs was revived in the House of Lords by Lord Goschen (Liberal), who called attention to the recent declarations of Cabinet Ministers on the subject. Lord Goschen pointed out that the whole question rested upon the taxation of food. He considered that the colonies were asking infinitely more than they themselves were prepared to give.

Foreign Minister Lansdowne said he did not wish to disagree with the practical point Lord Goschen had raised, namely, to act with extreme caution before committing themselves to a radical departure from free trade principles. He wished it to be clearly understood that the Government had not proposed any measure to the country. The plan put forward was not one to which any member of the Government was committed. It had been broached simply because the signs of the times showed that such a discussion would soon be inevitable. It was impossible after the resolutions passed by the Colonial Conference to brush those suggestions lightly aside, but the Government was going into the investigation with a perfectly open mind. If it collected statistics it would not be with the object of supporting any particular thesis of theory.

SERVIAN KING CHOSEN.

Peter Karageorgievitch Will Soon be Crowned.

Semlin, Hungary, June 16. — The Skupstchina and Senate of Serbia met in joint session at Belgrade precisely at noon, and within fifteen minutes had elected Prince Peter Karageorgievitch as King of Serbia. Despatches received here say that long conferences were held between the Ministers and Deputies on Sunday night and all this morning. These resulted in a cut and dried programme, which went through without a hitch.

Geneva, June 16. — King Peter, in an interview, announced that he had accepted the crown of Serbia, and would assume the title of Peter the First. He has telegraphed to Belgrade his acceptance of the crown.

"I am profoundly touched," he said, "at the confidence shown me."

The King has addressed a proclamation to the people of Serbia, which will be placarded and read throughout the country. In it he thanks the Servians, who have shown a desire to return to the traditions of their ancestors. He promises to be faithful to those traditions, drawing special inspiration from the memories of his regretted father. The King promises to ignore all that has happened during the past forty years, and not to bear ill-will to those who opposed him. He concludes with promising to respect the right of all employees of the State, whom he invites to retain the positions to which they are legally entitled, and to resume the normal condition of their duties. King Peter will probably start for Belgrade on Thursday evening by way of Vienna, accompanied by his Swiss attendant and a deputation from the Servian Parliament.

As he received congratulations, King Peter became more excited, laughed hysterically, marched vigorously up and down the room, and finally flung himself into a chair, trembling with excitement.

King Peter received at 2 o'clock this afternoon a telegram from Belgrade announcing that a sharp fight had taken place in the streets between the partisans of the new King and those of Milan, the legitimized son of the former King Milan, father of the murdered King Alexander. Young Milan had recently been living in Constantinople. His partisans posted a proclamation on the walls of Belgrade, and it was torn down by King Peter's supporters, after a free fight.

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

SAVED BY A DOG.

Roused the People in a Burning House.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., June 16. — Mr. and Mrs. David Frickleton of the Canadian "Soo" were saved from death in the flames by the sagacity of their dog. Early yesterday they were aroused by the dog jumping upon their bed, barking and tearing off the coverings with his paws and teeth. They found the room full of smoke, and they were nearly stifled.

An attempt to escape by the stairs proved futile, because of the smoke and flames. With a coil of clothes line Mr. Frickleton first lowered the dog out of the window, and then his wife, he being the last to leave. The house was reduced to ruins.

Disaster at Warsaw.

Berlin, June 15. — A despatch to The Lokal Anzeiger from Warsaw today announced that a large apartment house there collapsed suddenly, and that the bodies of nineteen persons were taken out of the ruins. The despatch added that probably there are many more dead in the debris.

A Jovial Don.

Among the masters of Balliol College, Oxford, in the eighteenth century, was Dr. Theophilus Leigh, whose talk was a perennial stream of jests and retorts. When he was told that in a dispute among the Privy Councillors the Lord Chancellor struck the table so violently that he split it, Dr. Leigh replied: "No, no; I can hardly believe he split the table, although I believe he divided the board." Being told in his last illness that a friend who had recovered from a long illness by eating eggs had been asked on to matrimony, the wit at once replied: "Then may the yoke sit easy on him."

A Land Bill Love Feast.

When Secretary Wyndham met the representatives of the Irish landlords and tenants and laid before them his land purchase scheme, William O'Brien pushed his chair back from the table and exclaimed, "For the first time in my life I say 'God save the King!'" Lord Clanricarde, the most unpopular and most unmerciful of Irish landlords, capped this utterance with the words, "For the first time in my life I say 'God save Ireland!'"

The poorest man is not the one who has the least, but the one who wants the most.

Could Not Sleep At Night.

Was All Run Down.

Had No Appetite.

FOOD WOULD NOT DIGEST.

Mrs. L. W. Warner, Riverdale, N.S., is glad there is such a remedy as Burdock Blood Bitters.

IT CURED HER

AND WILL CURE YOU.

She says: "I wish to add my testimony to the many others who have spoken so highly as to the unfailing virtues of Burdock Blood Bitters. I was all run down, had no appetite, lost all ambition, could not sleep much and had terrible headache and backache, and my food did not digest properly. I saw B.B.B. advertised, so concluded to give it a trial, thinking if it did no good it could do no harm. But after using one bottle I began to feel better, and by the time I had used three bottles I was feeling like a new person. I am so glad there is such a remedy provided for suffering humanity, and cannot praise it enough for I think there is no medicine like it on the market."

A Pioneer of Woman's Emancipation—First Woman Physician in Canada—Her Kinsmen Services.

Dr. Emily Howard Jennings Stowe, a pioneer in the cause of the emancipation of women in the Province, died recently at the residence of her daughter, Dr. Augusta Stowe Gullen, 461 Spadina avenue, Toronto, after only a few days' illness. Mrs. Stowe was born in Norwich, Ont., of Quaker parentage, and at the early age of 15 started to teach country school, working her way up till she became principal of the Brantford Grammar School, from which position Miss Jennings married Mr. John Stowe, dentist. A few years' later her husband's ill-health suggested to her the advisability of making an income for herself and family. Mrs. Stowe decided to study medicine—an unheard-of and unprecedented procedure in Canada. She attended the New York College for Women, because unable to secure such an education in her own country, and graduated from that college in 1868. Returning to Toronto, Dr. Emily Stowe began practice of her profession. Few can realize the courage required for this step, being the first instance in Canada of a woman physician. In order to introduce herself and educate the people along progressive or even tolerant lines, Dr. Stowe started her career by lecturing in Toronto in 1877, with the assistance of some sympathetic friends, she organized "The Women's Literary Club," taking up every subject that perpetual to woman and her higher education.

THE LATE DR. EMILY STOWE.

In 1883 Dr. Stowe instituted the petition to the Local Legislature that the privileges of the University of Toronto be extended to women, and in the session of 1884 and 1885 the doors finally swung open to women.

Many were the reforms instituted and aided by this progressive woman. As pioneer woman suffragist, Dr. Emily H. Stowe accomplished a work in Canada similar to that done by Susan B. Anthony and Elizabeth Cady Stanton in the United States. In 1893, at the World's Fair in Chicago, Dr. Stowe met with an accident, since which time she had given up active practice, spending most of her time at her island home in Muskoka. Deceased leaves two sons and a daughter, Mr. J. Howard Stowe, Dr. Frank Stowe and Dr. Augusta Stowe Gullen.

BLOOD POISON

On account of its terrible effects, blood disease is called the king of all diseases. It may be either hereditary or contracted; no while it may not be a crime to have the disease, it is a crime to permit it to remain in the system. It may manifest itself in the form of Scrofula, Eczema, rheumatic pains, stiff or swollen joints, itching of the skin, eruptions or blotches, sores in the mouth or on the tongue, sore throat, falling out of hair, disordered stomach, and a general depression of the system. If you have any of these symptoms don't neglect yourself. You have the system. Beware of "old fogey" treatment—beware of mineral poisons—beware of Quacks and Fakes. OUR NEW METHOD TREATMENT Our treatment is not injurious in any way, but reaches the very root of the disease and eliminates all poisons from the system. The symptoms of disease gradually disappear. The blood becomes pure and enriched, the whole system is cleansed and purified, and the patient feels prepared anew for the duties and the pleasures of life. GUARANTEED OR NO PAY. 25 Years in Detroit. 100,000 Cured.

THE AVERAGE BRAIN.

What It Weighs and the Number of Cells It Contains.

Whether it be the brain cell of a glowworm or one trembling with the harmonies of "Tristan und Isolde" the stuff it is made of is much the same. It is a difference of structure apparently rather than of material. And the chemical difference between a brain or nerve cell and that of the muscles or the skin seems reducible mainly to a difference in the proportion of two substances—water and phosphorus. Lean beef, for example, is from 70 to 80 per cent water; the brain is from 90 to 95 per cent water. And a brain or nerve cell may contain from five to ten times as much phosphorus as, let us say, the cells of the liver or the heart. The actual quantity is of course extremely small—by weight but a fraction of 1 per cent.

About three pounds avoirdupois of this very complex phosphorized stuff make up an average human brain. There is a lot more of it distributed down one's spinal column, and little plexuses all over the body wherever a group of muscles are to be moved, and others still, the sensory or feeling nerves, which are everywhere. It is hard to find a cubical half inch outside the bones where they are not.

All told, the nervous substance, which for the sake of making its functions clear I have called the matter which thinks, forms a not inconsiderable portion of the body outside of the bony skeleton. It is made up of distinct and separated units, for the most part extremely minute, though some attain a length of two or three feet. These units, for lack of a more misleading name are called cells. The "cells" which run from the small of your back down into your legs and wiggle the same or inform you when a member of the family is stubbed, are the longest.

Those of the brain are mostly so small as to tax the powers of the microscope. Their average length would be measured in thousandths of an inch. There have been many attempts to get at their actual number. It is certainly large. Computations for the brain alone range from 600,000,000 upward. One, due, I think, to Waldeyer, sets the total number of brain cells (average) at 1,600,000,000. This would mean a brain population exceeding the known population of the earth.

FACTS ABOUT FOLKS.

Boys grow more regularly than girls. The memory which acts quickest acts best.

Urban life decreases stature from five years of age on.

Firstborn children exceed later born in stature and weight.

Children born in summer are taller than those born in winter.

Red and yellow are visible at greater distances than green and blue.

Truant boys are inferior in weight, height and chest girth to boys in general.

Dull children are lighter and precocious children heavier than the average child.

Great men, though often absentminded, have strong memories on the lines of their interests.

Healthy men ought to weigh an additional five pounds for every inch in height beyond sixty-one inches, at which height they ought to weigh 120 pounds.

Baldness Caused by Fear.

Several carefully observed cases of falling hair from emotion have been recorded, but the following is probably one of the most curious: A normally healthy farmer, thirty-eight years of age, saw his child thrown out of a cart and trampled upon by a mule. He supposed it killed and experienced in his fright and tension a sensation of chilliness and tension in the head and face. The child escaped with a few bruises, but the father's hair, beard and eyebrows commenced to drop out the next day, and by the end of the week he was entirely bald. A new growth of hair appeared in time, but much finer.—London Answers.

Curing a Snake Bite.

This is how the Indians of Central America cure a snake bite: They pin the unlucky patient to the ground and wind strong creepers above and below the bite until they cut into the flesh. Then they apply a live coal to the wound to cauterize it and follow that up by rubbing in a mixture of chewed tobacco and crushed garlic. By this time the victim is nearly mad with pain and ready to kill everybody in sight, especially when he finds, as he often does, that the snake was not venomous.

Pleased Him.

"I think we might give Bridget a dollar more a week," said the family man.

"What?" exclaimed his wife. "I set her to work cleaning the parlor today, and you should see the way she left it."

"I did. That's what influenced me. I noticed she fixed the piano with the keyboard close up against the wall."

Dividing the Deck.

"Now, Johnny," said the teacher, who had been describing a war ship to the class, "how is the deck divided?"

"A deck is divided," replied the bright boy, "into spades, hearts, diamonds and clubs."

A STALLION FIGHT.

Battle Royal Between a Thoroughbred and a Wild Buckskin.

A contest between two stallions, one the leader of a wild band, the other a Kentucky thoroughbred that had run wild, is thus described by Sewell Ford in "Horses Nine":

Again the buckskin stallion charged, ears back, eyes gleaming, wickedly and snorting defiantly. This time the black stood his ground until the buckskin's teeth snapped savagely within a few inches of his throat. Just in time did he rear and swerve. Twice more—for the paddock raised black was slow to understand such behavior—the buckskin charged. Then the black was roused into aggressiveness.

There ensued such a battle as would have brought delight to the brute soul of a Nero. With fore feet and teeth the two stallions engaged, circling madly about on their hind legs, tearing up great clods of turf, biting and striking as opportunity offered. At last, by a quick, desperate rush, the buckskin caught the thoroughbred fairly by the throat. Here the affair would have ended had not the black stallion, rearing suddenly on his muscle ridged haunches and lifting his opponent's fore quarters clear of the ground, showered on his enemy such a rain of blows from his iron shod feet that the wild buckskin dropped to the ground, dazed and vanquished.

Standing over him, with all the fierce pride of a victorious gladiator showing in every curve of his glistening body, the black thoroughbred trumpeted out a stentorian call of defiance and command. The band that had watched the struggle from a discreet distance now came galloping in, whinnying in friendly fashion.

Black Eagle had won his first fight. He had won the leadership. By right of might he was now chief of this free company of plains rangers. It was for him to lead whither he chose, to pick the place and hour of grazing, the time for watering and his to guard his companions from all dangers.

As for the buckskin stallion, there remained for him the choice of humbly following the new leader or of limping off alone to try to raise a new band. Being a worthy descendant of the chargers which the men of Cortes rode so fearfully into the wilds of the new world, he chose the latter course and, having regained his senses, galloped stiffly toward the north, his bruised head lowered in defeat.

Length of Life is Increasing.

The average length of human life is constantly and steadily increasing, having, according to a professor of hygiene, doubled within the past three centuries. In the sixteenth century it was between eighteen and twenty years, while today it is forty.

The principal agencies in this prolongation of life, the scientist believes, are more attention to the air we breathe and more care as to the water we drink. This opinion is sustained by the statistics of large cities, which show that, owing to improved sanitation, the introduction of sewers and of public water supplies, their rates of mortality within the past forty years have been reduced to about one-half. Do you want to prolong your life and increase your powers? Then breathe deeply and drink plenty of pure water between, not at, meals—noticed water or boiled water, but distilled water.

The Tall Hat in France.

The tall hat, variously called "chimney pot," "stovepipe," "cylinder" and what not, became fashionable in Paris in 1790, soon after the death of Franklin, in whose honor it was known as "chapeau Franklin." In spite of numerous changes of style, it has maintained its ground ever since, unexpected as such a result would have seemed at its first introduction. For a time this style of hat was considered revolutionary in Germany and Russia. Any one wearing a "cylinder" was liable to punishment, but the evil reputation soon passed away, and the tall, stiff hat, the ugliest head covering that was ever worn and the most ridiculed, outlives all other styles.

Getting Acquainted.

"We hesitated about renting this place," said the woman who had just moved in, "until we learned that the families on both sides of us owned their houses. It is so unpleasant to live where the people next door are always changing and you never know what kind of neighbors you are going to have."

"Yes," responded the woman on the other side of the fence. "That's one reason why we're trying to sell our house."

The Picture.

Ethel—What do you think of this landscape, aunty?

Aunt Hannah—Well—er—I don't think so much of the trees, but that grapevine is pretty good.

Ethel—Grapevine? Why, dear, that is the artist's signature.

The Spade and the Rake.

Cora—I think mother is altogether too outspoken in her criticism of my husband's actions.

Mildred—Yes; it's not always wise to call a spade a spade.

Cora—No, nor a rake a rake.

The Very Good Man.

"He's forever prating about what his conscience tells him. What does his conscience tell him, anyway?"

"It usually tells him apparently what awful sinners his neighbors are."

Though the world may owe every man a living, only the persistent collector gets it.

All those who love life know something of the magic of a great city. Paris, Rome, St. Petersburg, London—these are the names to set the heart beating. Low though we profess to rate it in deference to cosmopolitan opinion, we have, all of us, a shame-faced pride in our grubby British capital. Yes, it is a glorious thing to be a cockney; there is no harmony like the roar of Piccadilly, no melody like the chimes of Big Ben. The Englishman returning from his travels alights at Victoria with a long sigh of contentment.—The Speaker.

CURED HIS BRIGHT'S DISEASE

Former President of Bricklayers' Union used Dodd's Kidney Pills

Andrew McCormick, of Toronto, Tells of a Cure for the most Dreaded of all Diseases.

Toronto, June 15.—(Special).—In these days when the dreaded Bright's Disease seems to be selecting its victims at will the report of an authenticated cure is received with relief by all classes of the community. And such a report comes from Andrew McCormick, of 243 Spadina avenue, this city.

That Mr. McCormick is well known and highly respected, is evidenced by the fact that he has held offices in several fraternal societies, and was for several years President of the Bricklayers' Union. Interviewed regarding the cure, Mr. McCormick says:

"I suffered with an attack of Bright's Disease and naturally was much troubled concerning it. I heard of the wonderful cures effected by Dodd's Kidney Pills and concluded to try them. The result was so satisfactory that it gives me pleasure to recommend them."

Make and keep the Kidneys sound by using Dodd's Kidney Pills and there can be no Bright's Disease.

In Case of Poison.

When any one is accidentally poisoned and you are not sure of the antidote, give an emetic of some kind immediately. Mustard and salt are two things found in every household, but a bottle of ipecac costs little and is better than either and should always be kept in the house. If mustard is to be used, put a dessertspoonful in a glass of lukewarm water and make the patient take two or three glasses; then by tickling the throat with the finger vomiting is certain. The dose should be repeated in about ten minutes, so that the stomach may be thoroughly emptied. No matter what the poison, remember, the thing you should do is to give an emetic.

WORLD OF SPORT

LACROSSE

THE BLENHEIM TRIP.
The intermediate lacrosse team will hold their last practice to-night before going to Blenheim. The executive will meet after practice and choose the team from among those who are out to-night.

WALLACEBURG WON.
Wallaceburg 3, Chatham 2.
This is the history of the lacrosse game played in Wallaceburg yesterday afternoon.

It was purely Wallaceburg's game and the Chatham team have themselves to blame for the loss. The game played well and stopped many a fine piece of combination work on the part of the Wallaceburg home. Elliott, Knight, Grant and Petherly showed up particularly strong. Feed made a good goal keeper and has a number of brilliant stops to his credit.

Every man on the Chatham home, however, was off color and put up a very loose game. Several times good opportunities to shoot were missed altogether. The ball was missed repeatedly and the passing and combination work was careless and loose. It was clearly a case of being outplayed, and the better playing team won. Loller and Tierney, of the Wallaceburg home, were the life of the field, while Les Appleford and Chas. Rose, of the defence, were always in the right place.

Loller, Wallaceburg's centre man, was considered the best man on the London team last year. He, however, was held down well by Higley yesterday.

One notable feature of the game was the system played by the Wallaceburg team. Their play was very pretty at times.

Chatham had a good gang of rooters along and their excitement knew no bounds when at half time the score stood 2-0 for Chatham. In the third quarter, however, Wallaceburg scored one goal and in the fourth they notched two more.

The game was a hard one and no grandstand playing was indulged in by either side. The defeat will do the Chatham team good as they will, as a result, work all the harder for the next game.

DETROIT-CHATHAM GAME.
The Detroit Lacrosse Club promises to put in the field to-morrow, against Chatham, the strongest line-up that has ever been seen on a Detroit field.

Brusso will be out again, a loss that weakens the team, but Tierney, the famous Montreal goal keeper, and the other men, who have been secured with a view to making the club the strongest in the country, will be on hand. The game will be at the D. A. C. at 3:30 o'clock.—Detroit Free Press.

A WOMAN'S ADVICE.

To Those Who Suffer From Headaches, Backaches and Ailments Peculiar to the Sex.

Every woman needs plenty of pure, rich, red blood and sound nerves to carry her safely through her times of pain and sickness. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are good in a special way for women. They actually make new health-giving blood. They give ease, strength and vigor. They stimulate all the organs to perform their functions regularly and well. They banish all pains, and depression, all headaches and backaches, and all the secret distress that only a woman knows.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills bring the sparkle to dull eyes and the rosy glow of health to cheeks once pale and pinched with a rent suffering. They bring health and strength when all else fails. Here is a bit of strong proof from Mrs. John McKerr, Chickney, N. W. T., who says: "For some years I was greatly afflicted with the ailments that make the lives of so many of my sex miserable. I tried many medicines, but found nothing to relieve me until I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills have made me feel like a new person; the almost continuous suffering I endured has passed away, and life no longer seems the burden it once did. I know other women who have been similarly benefitted, and I think the pills are worth their weight in gold to all who suffer from female complaints or general prostration."

All over the land are suffering women who can obtain new health and strength through the use of these pills. Only the genuine should be taken and these bear the full name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" on the wrapper around every box. Sold by all dealers at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, or sent by mail by writing to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

DEATH ROLL AT HEPNER.

IT WILL REACH FIVE HUNDRED OR MORE.

Wall of Water Overwhelmed the Town—The Inhabitants Were at Dinner, and Had no Intimation of Danger.

The Dalles, Ore., June 17.—A telephone message from Ione states that the latest finds in the ruins of Heppner indicate that the loss of life will be much greater than at first supposed.

The casualty list will foot up from 350 to 500, and many the bodies will never be recovered.

The property loss and destruction of buildings alone will aggregate probably a million dollars. This is regarded as a conservative estimate.

One hundred and fifty of the best residences were swept away.

Among the incidents of the catastrophe was the saving of three lives by Julius Keitley, 70 years old, who rode a mile and a half to do it. James Kernan, the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company agent, met his death at the telegraph key trying to call Portland to inform the outside world of the impending calamity. His little daughter Katie, who was saved, said her father and mother were lost in the whirl of the waters. Katie stood by while her father was calling the Portland office, when the flood swept in the lower floor and curled round him. Mrs. Kernan rushed out of the house and started for a high point of ground, but was drowned.

One of the most thrilling adventures was that of Tom Shuter, who, with his family, was "carried" down stream in his house for a mile and a half. His wife and two children went to the upper rooms. Below town the house was shot across the creek to the west side, where it lodged in debris 150 yards from the canyon bank. Shuter then took his little ones and swam two hundred yards. He landed the children and then rescued his wife.

Ione, Ore., June 17.—The names of 189 persons whose bodies have been recovered or who are missing and believed to be dead as a result of the Heppner flood have been obtained. In addition, the bodies of seven Chinese, three Japanese and 21 strangers and babies, whose names are unknown, go to swell the list. More than 100 people remain to be accounted for.

Elise Connor, a stock-rafter of Ione, returned from Heppner to-day with the latest details of the disaster. "It is now known," said Mr. Connor, "that at least 275 or 300 people were drowned. One hundred and fifteen corpses have been hastily buried in wooden boxes, and some were merely wrapped in blankets. There were still several wagon loads of dead on their way to the cemetery when I left. Heppner itself has now been pretty well searched, except piles of debris, where it is thought great numbers of bodies will be found. Between Ione and Heppner there are great piles of debris, but the flood passed so quickly that the roads have not been seriously damaged. In Heppner itself the flood swept a clean path a mile long and two blocks wide."

Estimates of the loss of life differ widely, but the number of dead is certain to reach 300, and it may be 500, when all are accounted for. One hundred and ten bodies have been buried, and it is known that 50 are missing. Still others, who were strangers in the town, are supposed to be among the lost. People are coming here from all directions, in wagons and on horseback, and the work of recovering bodies and burying the dead is proceeding as fast as possible.

Mr. Hugh Clark, M.P.P., is anxiously looking for news of his brother, who has been a merchant at Heppner for several years. Mr. Clark says it is a grazing country, and that as the wires are all down no news can be expected, but no news may be good news.
