NOW IS THE TIME TO ADVERTISE

ALL READY FOR BATTLE

Oyama Was Just "Cleaning Up" in Recent Movements.

Five Days' Movements and Counter Movements Not Beginning of Big Engagement — Generals of Both Armies Anxious to Fight Before Armistice—Russian Advanced Lines Still Continue to Retire.

Gushu Pass, June 23.—(Delayed in transmission.)—The operations of the Japanese during the last five days, which at first were thought to be portentous, apparently ended after the last fight. The Japanese appear to be merely cleaning their immediate front. There is now no reason for any further delay in beginning the great battle, as the opposing armies are essentially equal. The Russian troops are under the impression that an advance is about to begin.

Correspondents are not allowed to refer to the sentiments of the army concerning the peace proposals. The heads of the various armies have adopted a bellicose attitude, especially since the opening of peace negotiations were reported here.

Russians Retreating. St. Petersburg, June 23.—News from the battlefield is exceedingly meagre. A press telegram of Tuesday's date speaks of a "rearguard action," and there are rumors that the Russian army is retreating; but the latest despatches received from Lieut.-Gen. Linkevich bearing the same date declared briefly that the Japanese advanced has paused.

It is probable that the Russian advanced lines are crossing the railroad, and will continue their retirement more or less hurriedly in order to avoid being flanked and pocketed until the positions at Sipinghai are reached. The main forces seemingly are not yet in collision.

Col. Lotyngsky, one of the correspondents of the Associated Press, died at Harbin of blood poisoning.

President National Defence. St. Petersburg, June 23.—Emperor Nicholas has definitely appointed Grand Duke Nicholas Nikolaevich to be president of the Council of National Defence.

The Novos Vremya yesterday announces definitely that the powers of the new popular assembly, which will be composed of 500 members, elected for five years, must pass both Houses and receive the Emperor's approval. Representatives of the press will be admitted to the assembly, but reports must be censored before publication.

22 DIE IN LODZ RIOTS.

Dragoons and Cossacks Fired into Mob of 50,000 Workmen.

Lodz, Russian Poland, June 23.—Twenty-two persons were killed as the result of Wednesday's firing by Dragoons and Cossacks on a procession of 50,000 workmen which had been organized as a demonstration against the Government. Ten of about one hundred wounded are dying. Two women were crushed to death in the rush of the panic-stricken crowds, after the firing began.

Yesterday morning some workmen, in revenge, shot and killed a Cossack and two policemen.

YOUNG HAD THREE WIVES.

Nova Scotia Murder Mystery Has Assumed Another Phase.

Halifax, N. S., June 23.—Upon the application of Crown Prosecutor Denison yesterday a warrant was granted for the arrest and detention of Elmer Young, who arrived from Boston Wednesday, accompanied by Hattie Hatfield, as a material witness for the prosecution in the Young murder case. Since his arrival in Nova Scotia Young has been continually under surveillance.

Marie Ward arrived from Boston via St. John yesterday, and is in communication with the prosecuting attorney. Her evidence is expected to be of great importance, and it now looks as if the perplexing question of motive would be cleared up. Wednesday Young and the Hatfield woman took the child, Elmer Young, from Mrs. J. A. Coe, who has kept it since the discovery of the crime, and after purchasing a few dollars' worth of groceries, drove out to the home of Joseph Mack, at Doucettville, a few miles distant from Plympton.

Investigation by the police of Nova Scotia and Boston reveals strange facts in connection with Elmer Young. No less than three women have believed themselves his wife, one of whom is Mary Hope Young, the woman arrested in connection with the murder.

KING CHRISTIAN IS ILL.

Father of Queen Alexandra in State of Great Weakness.

Kiel, Germany, June 23.—Emperor William received a telegram Wednesday night announcing that King Christian of Denmark is in a state of great weakness, which is giving his entourage much concern.

King Christian of Denmark was born April 8, 1818. He is the father of Queen Alexandra of Great Britain and Ireland, King George of Greece, the Dowager Empress Maria-Fedorovna of Russia, and other distinguished personages.

Emperor is Very Feeble. Vienna, June 23.—Amid accompaniments of medieval pomp and circumstance the aged Emperor of Austria, King of Hungary and Bohemia, etc., Francis Joseph, took part in the yearly Corpus Christi procession in Vienna yesterday. His Majesty was greeted enthusiastically.

POSSESSION OF INDIA

Lord Kitchener Fears Great Struggle With Russia For It.

Says There is Every Indication of Britain's Rival "Pushing Forward Her Preparations For a Contest in Which We Shall Have to Fight For Our Existence"—Existing British Arrangements Ineffective.

London, June 23.—Gen. Lord Kitchener, commander-in-chief of the British forces in India, seems to regard as inevitable a great struggle with Russia for possession of India, and he believes that existing arrangements for the defence of the Indian Empire are obsolete and ineffective.

These views form the striking and central points of interest in a bulky blue book issued last night, dealing with the recent conflict of opinion between Viscount Curzon, the Indian Consul, and Lord Kitchener, which the Government has just settled by a compromise giving the latter extended powers in the direction he desired.

Lord Kitchener speaks plainly in denouncing the faulty system prevailing in India, which, he points out, has not changed since the time of the mutiny, and which was framed to meet peace requirements instead of the possibility of a great war. He describes the system as one entailing endless discussion and delay, as well as great expenditure with poor results. Continuing, he says:

"Slowly but surely the deserts of Central Asia, once believed to be an impenetrable barrier, have been crossed by a great European power. They have now been spanned by railways which have only one possible significance, and we have every indication that our northern neighbor is pushing forward her preparation for a contest in which we shall have to fight for our existence."

In conclusion, Lord Kitchener instances Japan as having shown what was possible by thoroughly modern methods in army administration, while the disastrous consequences to Russia give the other side of the picture. He urges that there is danger in hesitating to break the chains of custom and intolerance of admitted defects.

BUILT HALF OF VICTORIA BRIDGE.

Andrew Onderdonk, Prominent Engineer, Dead From Overwork.

New York, June 23.—Andrew Onderdonk, well known throughout the country as an engineer and contractor, is dead, at his home in Ossawatomie, this State, from overwork and general breakdown. He was 54 years old. He had engaged in many great engineering and building enterprises, including the San Francisco harbor improvement, involving millions, built 400 miles of the Canadian Pacific Railroad in British Columbia, amounting to $10,000,000; built half of the Great Victoria Bridge at Montreal, Canada, and four sections of the Soulanges Canal; part of the Trent Valley Canal for the Canadian Government; nine miles of tunnel in the Chicago drainage system, and was engaged in dredging the Ambrose channel in New York's lower bay and in digging the tunnel under the East River to Brooklyn, connecting with the new subway at the battery.

QUEBEC TIMBER SALE.

Province Gets Prices Considerably Above Those of Last Year.

Quebec, June 23.—The annual auction sale of timber tracts in connection with the Provincial Department of Lands, Mines and Fisheries took place and was a complete success. The sale was presided over by Minister of Crown Lands, Hon. Mr. Sturgeon. The upset price of the limits put up were from 20 to 40 per cent. higher than last year, which caused the bidders to be careful and slow, but notwithstanding the sales were favorable to the Government and $97 miles sold for $171,000 or an average of $190 per mile. One thousand four hundred and fifty-four miles of timber limits were sold at an average price of $140 per square mile. John Breakey, secured most of the limits on the Upper Ottawa and Centre Gaspé districts which comprised the major part of the sale. The total amount realized was $396,645.55.

Quebec Gives Good Terms. Quebec, June 23.—The Harbor Commissioners yesterday agreed to remove all harbor and other dues charged on vessels and on through freight brought to or shipped from Quebec by the new Quebec Transport Co. to give the exclusive use, free of charge, of the former Leyland berth and shed, upon conditions that the company maintains a regular service with Quebec as its terminal port on this side of the Atlantic during the season of navigation.

MAY HAVE BEEN PROVOKED.

But That is for Patrick McAuliffe Yet to Prove.

Peterboro, June 23.—The inquest on the death of Frederick Hudson of the Royal Hotel, who died on Saturday, June 10, the result of a blow delivered, it is alleged, by Patrick McAuliffe of Emily street, the evening of June 1, was concluded with the verdict "That the late Fred Hudson came to his death as a result of a blow delivered by Patrick McAuliffe with some hard substance, but that some provocation may have caused McAuliffe to strike the blow."

McAuliffe's preliminary hearing before the magistrate will probably be held next Thursday.

SCHOOL PICNIC

NOW OF AGE

McKeough School Right Royally Celebrates its 21st Anniversary

Glorious Weather and Splendid Sport Combine to Give Pleasure—Good Work by Teachers.

Yesterday was a gala day at McKeough School, it being the occasion of the annual picnic. Teachers, scholars and parents each did his or her share towards making this, the twenty-first annual picnic, one that will ring down in the annals of the school as the best success yet achieved. Even the heartless weather man, who has been known to send bad weather to spoil the outings of their elders, succumbed to the wistful pleading of the children and contributed a glorious day.

To appreciate how this was looked forward to, just turn back back your own life calendar until when, aged ten or so, you got up bright and early the day of the school picnic—much to your relief the sky was fine—little tingles of expectation played tag up and down your spine all morning and, long before the hour you had been dressed in your bravest clothes and had gotten dirty again. Childhood never changes, and so it was yesterday.

The fun started about three o'clock in the afternoon, when Central and McKeough schools played a lacrosse game, resulting in a victory for the Central, the score being 5-0. The McKeough School boys say courtesy to their visitors accounts for their defeat. This was followed by supper for the children, when sandwiches, ice cream and cake disappeared rapidly.

About six o'clock, in the cool of the evening, the races were run off.

ANOTHER AUSTERLITZ.

Says the Toronto News:
The opposing forces in Manchuria are again in battle array. The grand army which Kourapatkin barely saved from annihilation at Mukden having been rallied, its demoralized units reorganized by Linovitch, and reinforced from Russia, is once more on the eve of a battle, in all likelihood a defeat. The lessons of history will gather ineluctably to the belief that the force of Oyama, fired with enthusiasm and rendered invincible by the prestige of a dozen successful general engagements, will easily vanquish the legions of Russia, which must long ago have lost hope of conquest, and be suffering from the lack of spirit inevitable thereto. Between Mukden and Harbin, on the Chinese Eastern Railway, will probably be fought the Austerlitz of the Russo-Japanese War, and as the Western Napoleon a century ago this year, overthrew Alexander of Russia and his ally, terminating a great campaign, so Oyama, the Napoleon of the East, is likely to win a signal triumph over the forces of Alexander's successor. The situation resembles cartographically and strategically that which preceded the march of Lord Roberts upon Pretoria. The town of Harbin, the Russian base, in the present campaign, is similar to Pretoria-while Vladivostok, to the east, stands for the Portuguese border. Having seized Pretoria, Roberts turned eastward along the line of railway running across the Transvaal towards the sea, driving the Boer remnant before him, effecting on the way a junction with Buller, who had marched northward from Natal. In all probability, Oyama, having driven the Russian army opposing him northwards, will press toward Harbin, and afterwards turn eastward toward Vladivostok, which will later be invested, effecting en route a junction with that portion of his force which may have occupied Kirin, from which a road runs to the Chinese Eastern Railway, connecting Harbin and Vladivostok. With the fall of Harbin, the junction of three great railway lines, Vladivostok will be cut off by land in the same way as Port Arthur was isolated earlier in the war, and the fall of this second Eastern stronghold of the Russians will be assured. It is extremely probable that Oyama is now maneuvering to keep the Russians to the westward, so that upon defeat no considerable body of them can retire upon the seacoast to swell the strength of the Vladivostok garrison. For this reason the right of the Japanese army is doubtless extending far to the north of the left flank, so that any Russians moving eastward will be cut off, while the avenue of escape, if any, is left to the westward. It is also likely that preceding or concurrent with the capture of Harbin, the line to Vladivostok will be cut, as part of the plan to isolate the latter place.

AN EXCELLENT REPORT.

The annual statement of the Standard Bank of Canada shows that the bank has had a most successful year. The net profits amounted to $156,995.59, while dividends at the rate of 10 per cent. were distributed. In his report President W. F. Cowan said that the profits for the year have been satisfactory, and after providing for the usual dividend of 10 per cent. ($100,000), reducing bank premises and office safes and furniture accounts, $17,394.72, the balance, $30,600.87, has been carried forward to profit and loss account, which account now amounts to $62,114.83.

ART IN THE DRUG STORES.

Some attention is being attracted lately to a series of etchings in the leading drug stores. Close examination shows that they were issued by the Abbey Effervescent Salt Company. These etchings are little gems in nature studies and are practical demonstrations of art advertising. They are by two famous American artists, Randall and King, and are quite worthy of a place in one's library or den. The Abbey Salt Company are to be commended for sending out advertisements so artistic; they are far above the usual store hanger and merit a prominent place in every first class pharmacy.

RUNNING AFTER THE POLICE

Demented Woman is Causing Considerable Excitement Among the Members of the Force

Was Former Domestic for Lacroix St. Resident but Lost Her Job—Says She Wanted Her Wages.

Chief of Police John Holmes is having a strenuous time these days. The Chief is not generally known as a ladies' man but, nevertheless, there is one woman who has been running after him with persistent regularity lately. The other day she was seen following him down King street, weeping, while the Chief pursued his way with measured tread, doing his best to appear unconcerned and trying to avoid her approaches. It is thought that it is not the Chief's personality alone that attracts this woman, but rather the position which he holds as an administrator of the law.

The woman in the case is a domestic and was recently employed by a man on Lacroix street whose wife was in the hospital. He was to pay her $2.50 a week according to his story, but the woman claims the emolument was to be $4 per week. When the wife returned home there was no more need for the domestic so she was paid for her money and given notice to leave. The girl refused to go, as she was evidently satisfied with her place and surroundings and, as a last resort, she was put out last Monday.

It was then that this domestic commenced to rush Chief Holmes and, in fact, she has been rushing the whole police force ever since with Henry Darr as a worthy favorite. The Chief investigated the case on Monday and found out that the woman, who is about 30 years of age, is somewhat unbalanced in her mind and the story she told the Chief about some money that was coming to her from her former employer was foundationless. The Chief told her he could do nothing for her, but she evidently believes the Chief is trifling with her and she intends to stick. She met Mr. Holmes on King street and went up to him weeping and wailing and asking him to get her money for her. She has also been worrying Judge Houston, but he very deftly turned her attention towards Henry Darr. She found Henry very patient listener, but so far he has been rather slow in taking her case up as she would wish. Every plea which could be brought to bear was used on Henry but to no avail. He even maintained his passive countenance when she implored him in wild and excited yells to get her money for the sake of her children.

Last night the woman failing in her attempts to enlist the services of P. C. Darr decided to do her own collecting, so she wandered out to Lacroix street and called on her former employer. He refused to listen to her and she made so much noise with her yells and screams that he assisted her to the gate and started her down the street. The incident caused considerable excitement for a while and now the woman is after the police again. Chief Holmes says he is almost afraid to walk down the street and run the chance of meeting her. She has the eyes and can spot a policeman a block away, but the whole force is wise and so there is considerable ducking going on when she arrives in sight.

CUBAN DIARRHOEA.

U. S. soldiers who served in Cuba during the Spanish war know what this disease is, and that ordinary remedies have little more effect than so much water. Cuban diarrhoea is almost as severe and dangerous as a mild attack of cholera. There is one remedy, however, that can always be depended upon, as will be seen by the following certificate from Mrs. Minnie Jacobs, of Houston, Texas: "I hereby certify that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy cured my husband of a severe attack of Cuban diarrhoea, which he brought home from Cuba. We had brought home, but they did him no good. One bottle of this remedy cured him, as our neighbors will testify. I thank God for so valuable a medicine." For sale by All Druggists.

LEARN DRESSMAKING IN TWO WEEKS

I will be at the Garner Hotel, Chatham, on Saturday, July 22nd, between 9 and 6 o'clock, to show how dressmaking can be taught in two weeks. Why spend from six to nine months learning dressmaking in a shop, and then not know anything about cutting, when I teach you everything from measuring to finish in the making of ladies' and children's garments in two weeks. I have taught over 700 girls in this way within the past three years, and all were more than satisfied. If you are the wife or daughter of a farmer, mechanic, laborer, merchant or millinaire, you should learn dressmaking. No accomplishment you can acquire will prove of such every-day, life-long value to you as a practical knowledge of Dressmaking. And if you have this knowledge you can, by saving dressmaker's bills, be able to dress much better, with less money, than you probably do now. I teach you how to put together, not only the lining, but all the outer goods, in coats, skirts, waists, wrappers, sleeves, in fact everything in dressmaking. And you are losing nothing by trying for if you are not satisfied at the end of the term, then there will be no charge. School teachers, college girls and everybody who are having your holidays now, do not fail to take advantage of this splendid opportunity. You may never get another like it.

Charge for full course is $10, when you are through, if satisfied, including one of the most perfect fitting systems in use, which I give you free! I will also at the same time teach part of the course, consisting of shirtwaists, sleeves and skirts, and teach you how to use the system for $5.

I will teach at Chatham from July 24th to August 5th. Hours from 9:30 to 5. All wishing to learn, or for full particulars, be sure to see me in the upstairs parlor of the Hotel Garner on Saturday, July 22nd, at the hours named above.

An evening class will also be taught at Chatham the same time. Full particulars for it can be had upon application on July 22nd.

About August 31.

Ottawa, June 22.—The Grand Trunk Railway will likely take over the Canada Atlantic Railway about the end of August. The line will then be known as the Canada Atlantic division of the Grand Trunk.

THE AUDITOR-GENERAL.

Describes the Right Kind of a Man to Hold the Office When He Steps Down and Out.

Ottawa, June 22.—The Auditor-General, T. Lorne Macdougall, before the public accounts committee, yesterday, advocated the desirability of a smaller committee to review his report and to investigate any instance wherein his remarks had been overruled.

"If you are to get the right kind of a man," said Mr. Macdougall, "the Auditor-General, he will be anxious to know that he is in a position to defend the financial interests of the people against all the attacks which may be made on them. He will see that, if others should have some room to innocently accept pickings from the government which may appoint him or one of a different political stripe, he cannot do so."

Degradation in Emolument.
"He will see that the Auditor-General gets a smaller salary than those officials who were in the same scale as himself until quite recently. He will probably examine the circumstances under which the degradation of the Auditor-General on a point of emolument was brought about. The degradation in this respect was determined upon because the present holder of the position was detected in bringing about the largest legitimate saving ever made in the public funds of Canada without his being able to point out that any other person ought to bear part of the punishment for so great a crime. These matters might be considered and settled by the sub-committee before the new man takes office."

Too Heavy Expenses.
Referring to letters of credit, Mr. Macdougall said that the present overdraft of one million will be attended with much trouble in adjustment. Dealing with Mr. Foster's reference that there was difficulty in getting himself and Mr. Courtney to agree, Mr. Macdougall said that the interruption of the agreeable intercourse with Mr. Courtney arose from his strong objection to the Deputy Minister of Finance getting $19 a day expenses while crossing the Atlantic.

Mr. Macdougall said that he refused to take such payments for himself, although he could have saved $500 by his so doing.

Leave It to Parliament.
Mr. Fielding pointed out that this was an established practice under both Governments, and Mr. Macdougall replied that he thought he had a right in opposing such payments until Parliament had taken some action. He did not think that the Treasury Board or the law officers of the Crown ought to deter him bringing this matter before Parliament. Once Parliament acted, that settled the matter as far as he was concerned.

DUNDONALD TALKS.

Says He Was Not Long in Canada Before He Lost All Confidence in Sir Frederick Borden.

London, June 22.—At a banquet at the Ironmongers' Hall Tuesday evening Lord Dundonald, replying to the toast to the military forces, stated that shortly after his arrival a Canadian, in answer to the pressing enquiries of his adjutant, one of the prominent officers of the Canadian service, told him that effective means were taken to overlook the claims of officers to promotion who were not persons grata with the political head of the Department.

No Confidence in Borden.
Lord Dundonald added that he had not been long in Canada before he lost all confidence in Sir Frederick Borden, who was charged with the responsibility of administering military affairs by the council of officers, with the Minister of Militia as chairman of the council. He pointed out that the latter controlled the actions of the council, and that his experience with Sir Frederick Borden as Minister of Militia was not such as to lead to the conclusion that efficiency should be the reason for promotion in the Canadian militia.

MIDDLETON NOT HIDING.

Living in Cheap Lodging House in New York City.

New York, June 22.—Mysterious Mr. Middleton, president of the New York Realty Corporation, is still in this city. Although he disappeared abruptly, having a host of creditors and a dozen love-lorn women to mourn him, his wanderings seem to have terminated in the Continental Hotel, in Newark, N. J. He is now in New York living in a cheap lodging house in the neighborhood of Eighth Avenue and Twenty-third Street. He walks around the city freely, despite the fact that two warrants charging grand larceny hang over his head. Influence of some sort apparently is being exerted to prevent an earnest effort to prosecute Middleton.

Canadian Absconder Arrested.

Winipeg, June 22.—Early last October, Cecil L. H. Branson, a trusted employee of the local branch of the Union Bank and halfing from the Eastern Townships, disappeared, suddenly with $5,000 of the bank's money. The local authorities have received word of his arrest in Mexico. Solicitors of the bank are now considering the advisability of instituting extradition proceedings, but it is doubtful whether the existing treaty between Britain and Mexico is effective.

Valuable Furs Seized.

Ottawa, June 22.—One of the most valuable seizures of furs of some years was made by Game Warden Lovelady at the C. P. R. station. It is valued at $3,000 and contains over $800 worth of other skins, the season for which animals has been closed for five years. The shipment was made from New Liskeard to Revillon Brothers, Montreal.

Love is sometimes a hard taskmaster. He drives women to tasks beyond their strength and lays heavy burdens on their shoulders. Love's husband, love's family, forces many a woman day by day to labor for the home when aching back and throbbing head make her almost insupportable. Weak, nervous women who suffer from headache, backache, bearing-down pains and other consequences of womanly disease, can be completely cured by the use of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"About two years ago I was taken sick and it seemed as if I had no nerves at all," writes Mrs. F. Woodcock, of Detroit, Mich. "Could not work an hour in the day without being tired out. I doctored first with one physician, then with another, but did not receive any benefit. One would say one thing and the next something else. I had almost given up when I thought your medicine might help me, so I wrote to you asking what to do. You advised me to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I did so and could see a difference right away. I only took four bottles in all and felt better. I had it a long time. Can work all day now and do not feel tired as I would in an hour before taking your treatment. I think it is the only medicine."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure dizziness and sick headache.

Indian Relics.

The rage for Indian curios will soon be upon us. Sunday Mr. A. M. Ross was walking along the lake shore near Wining Point when his eye was attracted to an unusual looking object partly buried in the sand. With a little excavating he unearthed it and found the complete skeleton of a man, who, in his lifetime, must have been over six feet in height.

Beside the skeleton, which was in perfect condition, except where the spine was slightly decayed from exposure to the air, he found an Indian tomahawk, some beads, a pair of copper wrist bands, and several other curios.

Mr. Louis Hawksworth also reports finding bits of flint, arrow heads, and Indian curiosities on his place, since he has commenced plowing.

This country, we understand, was inhabited by a branch of the Algonquians called the Nipissings, and it was for here Champlain started once on his search for a route to the Orient. Led on by the misrepresentations of Nicholas de Villegat, who claimed to have been here, he worked his way up the Ottawa nearly to Renfrew when stopped by the Indians, who described the country as full of roaring streams and entirely impassable, and brought Villegat, who was an absolute impostor, to an acknowledgment of his lies, and a confession that he had never seen this country.

Two years later—1615—Champlain started on an Indian war and again came up the Ottawa, passed his former terminus, and pushing on through the Mattawa crossed Lake Nipissing and went down the French River to Georgian Bay. From there he paddled down Lake Simcoe took a long portage across to Lake Ontario. Though very near Temiskaming Champlain was never actually here.

Just near where Mr. William Murray's place now is the Indians years ago had a moose farm. But civilization has crept over it all. The hand of man has swept away the forest and the moose, and what the Indians told Champlain four centuries ago was an impassable country, is to-day the greater Ontario—Tas. Keewatin Herald.

GREAT DISORDER.

New Hungarian Ministry Sails Upon a Troubled Sea.
Budapest, Hungary, June 22.—The Fejervary Ministry presented itself before the lower House of the Diet yesterday. Premier Fejervary produced a Royal autograph letter which the united Opposition concluded was an order for the dissolution of the Diet and the united Opposition thereupon broke out into a tremendous uproar and the session was suspended without the letter being read.

When the Diet re-assembled it was resolved not to hear the letter until the regular business was completed. Francis Kessuth, leader of the united Opposition, and former Premier Tisza, were assailed by opprobrious epithets. The president of the House again suspended the sitting but ultimately secured a hearing of the Royal letter. The House then adjourned amid intense excitement.

Justice Booker's Disgrace.
Albany, N. Y., June 22.—An extraordinary session of the Legislature, the first since 1899, began yesterday a few minutes after noon. The business to be taken up was presented to both Houses in a message of Governor Higgins, recommending for consideration the conduct of Warren B. Booker, and the question of his removal from the office of justice of the Supreme Court for having been "wilfully guilty of corrupt, unlawful and immoral acts."

Tramps Prove Alibi.
Montreal June 22.—Six tramps who were arrested at different localities in the Province as the result of a circular despatch sent out by Provincial Detective McQuill in connection with the Quin murder mystery, are free so far as the murder is concerned. They were gathered in on suspicion.

Green Hair.
There are men living today with green hair. This weird color is not a curious fad, but the result of working in a copper mine, where in order to become a marketable commodity the crude ore is roasted in furnaces. It is stated that, although no offensive odor emanates from this process, there is nevertheless some strange substance therein that produces a chemical change of the hair and beard, so that they become as green as grass. Strange to say, the texture of the hair suffers no injury, but remains as soft and glossy as ever.

Brief Criticisms.

Of Gray's "Elegy" a contemporary reviewer wrote: "The excellence of this little piece amply compensates for its lack of quantity." That and nothing more. Of "In Memoriam" a contemporary estimate was that its "simple but touching verses" were evidently inspired by "the full heart of the widow of a military man."

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.
We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free.

A Queer "Fish."

Farmers from the neighborhood of the Little Lakes, near the Brussels Post, report the presence in the large lake north of the Shakespeare road of a large water animal, probably of the snake species. It appears that no one has seen it on land, but during the past week it has been seen at various times swimming about the lake, with only its head visible. It is described as having a head dog shaped and about the same size as an ordinary dog's head. Its body is that of a snake.

Iron Ore in Keewatin.

Good Amendment.

Husband—This cake is very good, my dear, but it seems to me there ought to be a little more— Wife (in clear, incisive tones)—That cake came by mail and was made by your mother. Husband—Yes, as I was saying, there ought to be a little more—of it.

MUST COME TO TIME

When Engineer Lascelles of the Pere Marquette was in the city yesterday, Mayor Cowan spoke to him about the condition of Head street.
For years this street has been a source of annoyance on account of the railroad tracks being above the level of the street. In this condition the street is unsafe. "For instance,"
said the Mayor, "the fire department could not cross the street unless at the regular crossings."

The railway wishes merely to repair the existing holes on the street, but the Mayor gave Mr. Lascelles to understand that the tracks must be put on a level with the street, even if the space between the rails has to be planked.

RALEIGH ST.

The electric road has reached the C. P. R. track on Raleigh St. in their operations. They intend utilizing a vacant lot between Hugh Macaulay's property and the C. P. R. tracks for a switch, and in order to get into it they deviate from the centre of the street, leaving only about three feet between the tracks and the curb on the east side of the street, while there will be over eighteen feet clear on the other side of the tracks.

Ald. King was the first to notice what was being done, and he brought Ald. Potter to the scene of operations. Finally the Mayor, Ald. Austin and Engineer Jones were added to the conclave. All agreed that the small space between the curb and the tracks made that part of the street highly dangerous, but none could see a solution of the problem unless the switch ran across Mr. Macaulay's lawn, giving a wider sweep, and all agreed that such a course would be very unfair to Mr. Macaulay. It was decided to let Mr. Macaulay reach some agreement with the company, to be approved by the engineer.
The daggers all quit work on the road yesterday, returning to Detroit again. To-day only city men are working. The pavement will be 28 feet wide, the electric road right of way eight feet four inches, laid in a bed of sand and concrete eight inches thick. The tracks will be on a level with the street.

WORLD OF SPORT

CRICKET

Detroit is expected here on Tuesday and Cleveland on July 3rd.
There was a good turnout last night when, besides batting and bowling, a splendid fielding practice was indulged in.

LAOROUSSE

Wallaceburg defeated Detroit at Windsor yesterday in a scheduled C-1.
Wallaceburg gained about two hours for Detroit to put in an appearance and, as a consequence, only a thirty minute game was played as Wallaceburg had to catch a boat.
The play was fast, Wallaceburg having strengthened its team greatly. Notwithstanding that two Wallaceburg players were injured the game was quite free from rough play. Detroit has protested the match on the ground of shortened time.

A TALENTED SINGER

That Miss Gertrude Somerville is rapidly climbing the ladder in her profession is shown by the fact that she was chosen by her teacher, Bons
L. Ganapol, of Detroit, to sing at a recital given by a few of his advanced pupils in Detroit last evening.
Miss Somerville sang an aria from "La Gioconda" in a manner reflecting the greatest credit upon her own musical genius and the ability of her teacher. The Detroit Tribune of Sunday's date contains a cut of Miss Somerville and an exceedingly complimentary notice of her work.
Fred Somerville and his mother attended the performance.

LEADING JEWELER AND OPTICIAN

CASE DISMISSED

Before Judge Dowlin, in County Court, this afternoon, Wm. Elliott, of Wallaceburg, appeared on trial, charged with indecent assault on
Mrs. Pangborne, of the same town.
The evidence was somewhat contradictory and his honor, giving the accused the benefit of the doubt, dismissed the case. Crown Attorney Smith prosecuted and A. B. Caracallen, of Wallaceburg, defended.

GOOD REPORTS

Henry Primeau, Fred Trudell, J.
Carron and J. Masses attended the German picnic in Harwich yesterday and report having had a most enjoyable time.

The farmers are certainly going to have good crops this year, remarked Mr. Trimesia this morning.
"The country through Harwich" is looking fine and the crops are coming along well. Some people were raising a cry about corn, but I saw yesterday fields of corn that were great. Some of the stalks were fully 12-12 feet high. Other fields were not so good, but the crop generally will be a big success. Sugar beets are O. K. and wheat is very good.
Harwich is not looking as well as Dover, though. I never saw better crops than they will have in Dover
this year."

Glowing Crop Reports.

Winnipeg, June 23.—The crop report for the week ending June 20 was issued at the general offices of the Canadian Pacific Railway here. From all along the company's lines the agents have sent in glowing reports of the crop prospects. The grain is progressing rapidly in all sections of the west, and the heavy rains that have recently visited all districts seem to have done an immense amount of good to the crops. No damage to grain is reported at any point.

SCHOOL PICNIC NOW OF AGE

thing in particular. Outside the school looks very pretty, decorated with Chinese lanterns and the school-room windows with candles. Sky rockets cleaved the air and many other kinds of fireworks delighted the beholders. Gradually, however, the tired children grudgingly retired from the scene of their day's merriment and the twenty-first annual picnic had become a memory.

All the teachers used their best endeavors to make the affair a success and Miss Abram, the energetic principal, is to be thanked for her splendid efforts and congratulated that they resulted in such a splendid success.

Help for Women Passing Through Change of Life

Providence has allotted us each at least seventy years in which to fulfill our mission in life, and it is generally our own fault if we die prematurely.

Mrs. M. J. Dabruzzi

Nervous exhaustion invites disease. When everything becomes a burden and you cannot walk a few blocks without excessive fatigue, and you break out into perspiration easily, and your face flushes, and you get excited and shaky at the least provocation, and you cannot bear to be crossed in anything, you are in danger; your nerves have given out; you need building up as once! To build up woman's nervous system and during the period of change of life we know of no better medicine than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Here is an illustration. Mrs. Mary J. Dabruzzi, of 150 Main St., Winnipeg, Manitoba, writes:

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been a blessing to me through that delicate period known as the change of life. For six years I was extremely nervous, became pale and debilitated, very irregular in the monthly flow, and the blood all seemed to be in my head; I had frequent palpitation and throbbing of the heart; in fact, my whole system seemed to be in disorder."

"I received no relief from the suffering incident to this period until I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; but I date my relief from the time I took the first bottle. I gradually improved, nature took her course peacefully, and in due time I was a well woman."

Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., invites all sick and ailing women to write her for advice. Her great experience is at their service, free of cost.

NOT FOUND WANTING

By KATE M. CLEARY

Copyright, 1933, by Kate M. Cleary

"You know, of course, that France Delamere is staying at the Oaks?"

"Yes, I know."

Harrison Hill, stretched out on the yellow beach under the shade of a huge umbrella, turned on his elbow and looked curiously at his friend.

"You know, too, that you're most idiotically in love with her?" he said quietly.

Dr. Bergen's patrician face flushed hotly under its deep bronze tan.

"That's a nice speech to fire at a man!" he commented.

Harrison Hill laughed leniently. "Oh, you never mind what I say. That's one of the privileges of friends."

"And fools," cut in Bergen coolly. "You have me there," acknowledged Hill. "I believe those who were the motley were permitted to express their opinions with some frankness. Well, you may class me, with those if you wish."

But I'm going to tell you straight that you're making a mistake about that girl. You admired her tremendously last winter in the city. Well, we all did, for that matter. But you had the best show of the bunch. She wouldn't look at a little three-for-a-cent chap like me, for instance. And you held off—you're holding off now. I wish I knew why! You're in love with her!" he repeated stubbornly.

"I haven't known you all my life for nothing."

Max Bergen laughed uneasily and evaded a direct reply.

"Miss Delamere is a very beautiful young woman," he said. "She has wealth, social position, many friends."

"You have all those," his friend insisted eagerly.

"I met her frequently last winter," went on the young surgeon. "She was always bediamonded, exquisitely costumed, perfectly coiffured. Her shoulders were like white marble, and her hands were the loveliest a man could look at. But—was there a woman's heart under that fair bosom? Did her feet ever go on an errand of mercy? Was that perfect hand ever extended in kindly deed? I doubt it!"

"Ah, so that's the reason," said Hill. "Well, I can't prove it, but I think you're tremendously mistaken."

"I wish to heaven you could prove it!" said Bergen, with an intensity that shook him. "I'd give ten years of my life to know France Delamere is what I wish to believe her!"

"Hark!" cried Harrison. His red head was lifted—listening. "Yes," he called. "Dr. Bergen is here!"

Both men were on their feet in an instant. Bergen towering over his companion. An excited group was bearing down on them. The foremost—a hysterical woman—spoke.

"I'll take so long to go up to the town. Dr. Frees is away anyhow. A woman's burned a gasoline stove—we seen the fire in the back yard, and—"

Bergen tossed his keys to Hill. "Run up to my room for my medicine case and follow me. Where did the accident happen?"

The woman knew him for one of the rich city guests at the White House.

"Maybe you won't go," she whined. "It's over in Washerwoman's row."

Bergen was off on a run. He knew the poor part of this flourishing summer resort, where the laundry work of visitors was done by resident women. The little creature who met him at the gate of the frame cottage had an appealing face and an air of singular refinement. Her speech also confirmed the latter impression.

"She would put on one of my cotton dresses and help me," she explained. "She knew I was up with the baby all last night. Not that it's the first time she has helped, and—"

"But how did it happen?" he interrupted hastily.

"Fannie was sprinkling the clothes and laughing. She didn't know how to iron. But she said she could mind Teddie and do that at the same time."

"And the stove exploded?"

"Not right away, sir. I was ironing, and she noticed the stove was smoking—hard. Teddie had crawled up close to it. She just flew across the kitchen, tossed the child to me and grabbed up that stove—it's one of those little ones you put on the table. She carried it and flung it out in the yard, but just as it left her arms it went to pieces. It's a mercy," she added trembling, "it didn't explode an instant sooner!"

"She was a brave woman!" said Dr. Bergen.

He went into the small bedroom to look at his patient. She was lying on the cheap little bed. A print gown showed marks of fire, and on the left arm the flimsy material was badly scorched, but that lovely hand! The bewitching face that, drawn with pain, strove to smile up at him! Those deep, unforgivable eyes!

"France Delamere!" he cried.

"Women are so awkward!" she protested—and laughed.

He jerked off his coat and went to work, but his fingers trembled and there was a queer blur before his eyes. Hill came up with the bag and heard all that Greta Fallows had to say. On his way back he told his companion what she had said.

"She's a proud little woman. She would not take all that Miss Delamere would have given her, for she's poor, as you can see. But because they had been friends and neighbors when both were children she has allowed Miss Delamere to come and help her, chiefly in taking her children off to a secluded part of the beach and minding them, while she got through her laundry work. Is the injury bad, Max?" he ended anxiously.

"Nothing to what it might have been, thank God! They will bring her back to the Oaks this evening. I examined the stove. It was rotten—worn out. She saved the baby—all but it!" He broke off shuddering.

"According to Mrs. Fallows, France's kindness to her is only part of what she's been doing for many poor women. So your opinion?"

"May God forgive me—and may she!" prayed Max Bergen. It was not professional, but next morning when he banded the poor arm he bent and kissed it.

"Will you be very angry if I tell you that I love you?" he questioned.

She smiled up at him from her couch.

"I'm afraid I would be very disappointed if you were never to tell me that," she said.

At the whispered words his face grew radiant.

"But you don't know what has kept me so long from telling you! You don't know—what an idiot I was! You've no idea what I—I thought!"

A smile flickered across her mouth and lingered in her eyes. She laid velvety pink finger tips against his lips.

"I know what you have just said," she answered, "and that is—enough!"

"FRANCE DELAMERE!" HE CRIED.

ENGLAND'S TREASURE.

How the Millions in Gold in Its Bank Are Guarded.

Officials of the Bank of England are said to be worried for the safety of the hoards of wealth stored in their strong boxes. The bank station of the new underground railway in London is close to the vaults of the world's greatest institution of finance. At a recent meeting of the bank directors it was suggested that some brave and wicked person might set off a quantity of explosive in the bank station, wrecking the foundations of the stately building above and sending the bars of bullion and the streams of gold coin leaking out on to the station platform. The feasibility of this scheme has been conceded by the bank governor. It is figured, however, that the "tube," as the underground railway is called, is a little too deep at this point. To reach the bullion vaults of the bank, the conspirators would have to drive a shaft nearly 100 feet and then they would face a mass of concrete, thick masonry and steel. At one time the Bank of England was the object of conspiracy. From a church tower close by the bank was bombarded. A few years ago the authorities had the church and its threatening tower destroyed. Officials of the bank do not like the tunnelling going on in the clay beneath their foundations. The constant pumping of water has affected even the solidity of the clay, and from this cause one of the walls which is within the three acres comprised within the bank's precincts has dried up. Those three acres are valued at about $5,000,000 each, and the treasures within them are guarded in fitting fashion. On either side of the main entrance to the bank are two rows of glass houses. In one row are a wide-awake detectives. Other detectives are in and out of the rooms, but always unobtrusively. At night the police force is a heavy one. Every evening a compact body of men, commanded by a lieutenant and including two sergeants, two drummers, a bugler and thirty privates, marches from Wellington barracks to the bank. They are in full marching order, and before they enter the technical limits of "The City" exercise that privilege of the guards of law beyond the city walls. They are on duty twelve hours, and but for the recurring spells of sentry-go have an easy time. Officials of the bank provide moderate refreshments for these guards. In the guardroom, which is of regulation pattern, are the usual coat and blanket lockers, sufficient accommodation for a soldier's inattentive dozing when on duty of this kind. The officer has a suite of rooms at his service—the dining room of paneled oak, a neat bedroom and a bathroom. There is hidden away in the centre of the bank one of the most pleasant gardens in London, where after dinner cigar may be enjoyed on a summer evening to the full, while the roar of the great metropolises around his died away to inarticulate murmurs.

Propeller Fitted Inside Caisson.

The work of putting on the wheel of the dynamite steamer Dorothy at Kingston, refused admittance to the Government dock for repairs, was no small undertaking. The contract was taken by Capt. Thomas Donnelly, who would have preferred putting on the propeller with the divers, and without the aid of a pontoon, but the underwriters and the owners of the boat insisted on the propeller being put on inside a caisson, so that the work could be examined and completed to the satisfaction of the engineer. The Dorothy is the deepest vessel that has ever been pontooned in such a manner on inland waters. An extra precaution had to be taken to make everything safe and secure on account of the cargo of dynamite. The vessel's stern was raised five feet, and the pontoon leaked so little that ten minutes' use of a siphon every two hours kept the water out of it.

Canadian at Soo Celebration.

One of the features of the semi-centennial celebration in July of the American Soo locks will be the presence of Charles Thompson Harvey, C. E., now a resident of Toronto, the engineer who constructed the original locks in 1853, who has been asked to deliver an address. Mr. Harvey built two locks, each 350 feet long, 700 feet wide and 12 feet deep, which cost $1,000,000 at that time the largest locks in the world. He formally broke ground on June 4, 1853, and opened the sluice gates of the coffer dam to the waters of Lake Superior on April 13, 1855 when the work was practically completed. These locks were removed in 1876, but the achievement stands as the world's record for water-way construction, both as to time and economy, the time being less than twenty-two and one-half months and the cost falling below a million dollars.

Beef at Twopence a Pound.

A rather novel boycott has been started almost within sight of William O'Brien's cottage at Westport, Ireland. An American meat company has begun operations in the west. In Longford it goes into conflict with the butchers, and a war of prices ensued, the home producer and the foreigner offering beef at twopence a pound. Lately the company invaded Westport, and the other day, when the small farmers brought their pigs and other stock to the fair for sale, they discovered that they could not sell, since a boycott had been started owing to the poor people having given their custom to the company butcher. The movement has inflicted considerable hardship upon the peasants, whose custom is to sell their stock and purchase supplies, including food and seed, with the money.

The Planet Mars.

Flannmarion, the famous astronomer, says of the planet Mars: "The climate is very mild. There are no gales, while the atmosphere is very light, with scarcely any clouds. The inhabitants enjoy fine weather, the climate being something like that of Davis Plains, in Switzerland—dry and clear. We know the globe of Mars perfectly—in fact, far better than the earth."

King Chloroform Horses.

One of King Edward's rules is that when a horse has been in his service it shall not be sold. The horses are kept until they no longer can be used and are then chloroformed.

Officials of the bank do not like the tunnelling going on in the clay beneath their foundations. The constant pumping of water has affected even the solidity of the clay, and from this cause one of the walls which is within the three acres comprised within the bank's precincts has dried up. Those three acres are valued at about $5,000,000 each, and the treasures within them are guarded in fitting fashion. On either side of the main entrance to the bank are two rows of glass houses. In one row are a wide-awake detectives. Other detectives are in and out of the rooms, but always unobtrusively. At night the police force is a heavy one. Every evening a compact body of men, commanded by a lieutenant and including two sergeants, two drummers, a bugler and thirty privates, marches from Wellington barracks to the bank. They are in full marching order, and before they enter the technical limits of "The City" exercise that privilege of the guards of law beyond the city walls. They are on duty twelve hours, and but for the recurring spells of sentry-go have an easy time. Officials of the bank provide moderate refreshments for these guards. In the guardroom, which is of regulation pattern, are the usual coat and blanket lockers, sufficient accommodation for a soldier's inattentive dozing when on duty of this kind. The officer has a suite of rooms at his service—the dining room of paneled oak, a neat bedroom and a bathroom. There is hidden away in the centre of the bank one of the most pleasant gardens in London, where after dinner cigar may be enjoyed on a summer evening to the full, while the roar of the great metropolises around his died away to inarticulate murmurs.

Till He Tried Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets—Now Edward Rousseau is a New Man.

"Yes," remarks Mr. Edward Rousseau, of Bruce Mines, Ont., "I can prove that Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets cure when other medicines fail. 'You remember I was a severe sufferer from dyspepsia for ten years or more. Well, I doctored and did everything I could think of for it, but I couldn't get relief till I began to use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. Two boxes of them made me feel like a new man. Words cannot express the good they have done me. You don't wonder I am always ready to recommend Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, do you?'"

If you would eat what you like and when you like, use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. Carry a few in your pocket and take one after eating.

SIR JAMES WATSON'S OPINION.

He says that the commonest of all disorders, and one from which few escape is Catarrh. Sir James Watson, who has been in local treatment, is best supplied by "Catarrhoxone." No case of Catarrh can exist where Catarrhoxone is used; it is a miracle worker, relieves almost instantly and cures after other remedies fail. Other treatments can't reach the diseased parts like Catarrhoxone because it goes to the source of the trouble along with the air you breathe. Catarrhoxone is free from cocaine, it leaves no bad after-effects, it is simply nature's own cure. Accept no substitute for Catarrhoxone which alone can cure Catarrh.

Boy Bitten by Mad Dog.

London, June 22.—Yesterday morning Langford, the 4-year-old son of Dr. McGregor, was bitten by a small black dog, blood being drawn. The dog was followed and captured, and on examination, in the opinion of several medical men the dog has an unmistakable case of rabies. In the afternoon Dr. McGregor left with the bitten boy for New York, where he will undergo treatment.

HOW TO GET CONSUMPTION.

Ninety per cent. of the "lungers" contract consumption by allowing power of resistance to fall so low that a favorable condition for the development of the bacilli is provided. In a healthy system consumption can't take root. But where there is weakness and debility, there you find tuberculosis. For developing strength and building up the weak, nothing equals Ferrozene. It makes the blood nutritious and the nerves enduring. The way it converts food into nutriment, the appetite gives is surprising. Just what the man verging on consumption needs—that's Ferrozene. If tired and weak don't put off. Fifty cents buys a box of fifty tablets—at all dealers.

One Bank Has Closed.

Philadelphia, June 22.—The City Trust & Safe Deposit Co. of this city closed its door yesterday, and has gone into the hands of a temporary receiver, by order of the banking department of Pennsylvania. The receivership is due to the discovery that the bank was the victim of forgeries of Benjamin J. Gaskill to the extent of $80,000.

THE WATCHWORD OF WOMEN.

Modesty is woman's watchword. Whatever threatens her delicate sense of modesty, frightens her. For this reason many a woman permits diseases of the delicate womanly organs to become aggravated because she cannot bring herself to submit to the ordeal of unpleasant questioning, offensive examinations, and obnoxious local treatments, which some physicians find necessary. Doubtless thousands of the women who have taken advantage of Dr. Pierce's offer of free consultation by letter, have been led to do so by the escape thus offered from a treatment repugnant to true modesty. Any sick woman may write to Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., in perfect confidence; all letters being treated as strictly private and carefully confidential, and all answers being sent in plain envelopes with no advertising or other printing upon them. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been long hailed as "a God-send to women." It makes weak women strong and sick women well. "Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine or other narcotic.

DUKE OF SUTHERLAND

OWNS ONE-FIFTEENTH OF ENTIRE AREA OF SCOTLAND.

Taken in Conjunction With His English Properties Renders Him One of the Three or Four Biggest Landowners of Europe—Will Shortly Travel Through Canada On the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The Duke of Sutherland, Knight of the Garter, who recently arrived on the Baltic in New York and started at once for the Pacific Coast, from which he will return by the Canadian Pacific Railway, for the first time since his accession to the title, owns in Scotland alone estates that embrace a sixteenth of the entire area of the northern kingdom, or about 1,500,000 acres. This, when taken in conjunction with his 30,000 acres in Staffordshire and Shropshire, besides his landed property in other countries, renders him one of the three or four biggest landowners in Europe, the private estates of the Duke and of the Esterhazy family alone surpassing the Sutherland property in size. With all that he is the most quiet, unassuming, and democratic of men, with an almost morbid aversion to notoriety, says the Marquis de Fontenay, a great sportsman, a fine yachtsman, and a frequent visitor to this country for the sake of the shooting in the Rockies when still Lord Stafford, prior to his accession to his father's honors. He is a little over 50 years of age, not tall, with a shock of hair, a mustache, and a beard, and sat for a time in the House of Commons as a Liberal member for the county of Sutherland, almost every square mile of which he owns.

His marriage to the daughter of the late Earl of Rosslyn was something of a romance, and may be said to have been brought about by the deep rooted superstition with regard to the ominous character of the number thirteen.

on the part of the now Dowager Lady Rosslyn. The latter was giving a dinner in honor of her eldest daughter, Lady Warwick. At the last moment it was found that, owing to the unavoidable absence of one of the guests, there would be only thirteen at table. Horrified at the idea, the countess immediately summoned her daughter, Lady Millicent, who was barely 16 years of age, from the schoolroom in order to take the vacant place. Alone of all those present she was not "en grande toilette." No time had been given her to brush her curly hair before she was hastened down from the schoolroom, where she was enjoying a romp with her little sisters. Yet such an attractive picture did she present that her neighbor at table, Lord Stafford (now Duke of Sutherland), straightway fell in love with her and asked her hand in marriage. A few weeks later, her wedding took place on the day of her seventeenth birthday, and she may be said to have gone straight from the schoolroom to the altar.

With one lamentable exception the dual house of Sutherland has always been singularly fortunate in its marriages. In fact, it may be said to owe to the latter the dukedom, the marquessate, the five earldoms, the four viscounties, and the five baronies, as well as the vast territorial possessions which now stand to its credit. And all this has been acquired since the reign of King Charles I, when Sir Thomas Cowie, high sheriff of Yorkshire, started the ball rolling by marrying the heiress of the Levesons, who brought him Lilleshall, with its rich coal fields. His son, Sir William, inherited also from the Levesons the magnificent estate of Trentham, which Lord Beauchamp presents as an elaborate picture in his novel "Lothair," crowded with old masters and superb statuary brought by the second duke from Italy and Greece, the billiard table being constructed of the wood of the Royal George, the historic ship which went down at Spithead with the admiral, officers, and the entire crew on board at the end of the eighteenth century, a catastrophe immortalized in Cowper's well known verses.

Sir William Leveson-Gower's son was created Lord Gower and married into the ducal house of Rutland. The second Lord Gower was raised to an earl and married in succession three wives, each better portioned than the last. The second earl in the next generation did even better for himself. For he married the heiress of Scrope, first duke of Bridgewater, and the great Bridgewater estates in Lancashire afterwards fell to his grandson. He was made a marquis. His son married the countess of Sutherland in her own right, the intimate friend and confidante of Queen Marie Antoinette at Versailles, and lady paramount over the best part of two Scottish counties. The present duke's father kept up the family record by marrying as his first wife the heiress to the broad lands of Cromartie, who was created a countess in her own right with remainder to her second son. Three separate earldoms, those of Granville, Ellesmere, and Cromartie, are now held by members of the duke's family in addition to his own.

The duke's London home is certainly by the most beautiful palace, not merely of the British metropolis but of most European capitals. Discreet in one of his novels described it as "not unworthy of Vienna at its best." Empress Eugenie was so taken with it that she wanted Napoleon III. to build for her an exact copy of it in Paris, and Queen Victoria, when she used to drive from Buckingham palace to visit her great friend, Duchess Harriet of Sutherland, grandmother of the present duke, was wont to greet her with the remark: "Well, dear, I'm coming from my house to visit you in your palace." It is a noble pile, looking on to Green park and on to Bridgegate walk, and was built less than 100 years ago for the Duke of York, second son of King George III., on money borrowed from the then marquis of Stafford. The duke died before his wonderful new house could be finished, and the marquis of Stafford, who had meanwhile become the first duke of Sutherland, took possession of the building and secured the land in which it stood on a Crown lease. He spent no end of money on its completion under the direction of Sir Charles Barry, the designer of the houses of Parliament. According to the terms of the lease the building as it now stands, with the fixtures, though not with the other contents, will in a few years come into the possession of the ground landlord, that is to say, the Crown, without any compensation to the duke or his heirs, and there is no doubt that then the palace—for it is impossible to describe it by any other name—will be assigned to one of the members of the reigning family as a metropolitan residence. Like Trentham, it is crowded from garret to cellar with art treasures, including two of the most famous murals in existence, a number of Van Dykes, Rubenses, and Raphaels, while between the immense reception hall and the carriage entrance stand an immense pair of glass doors, which are never opened except for royalty or for a departing bride.

It was at Stafford house that the first anti-slavery meetings were held in the United Kingdom, and at which Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe was the principle figure. The author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" relates that she felt uneasy at her own appearance when the gorgeous appointments of Stafford house burst upon her view, and she found that she had to address an audience composed largely of people of high social rank, dressed in the height of fashion. She at once sought the duchess—the famous Duchess Harriet—in her boudoir, and stated her difficulty. Mrs. Stowe was quickly put at ease by the duchess, who, treating her more like a sister than even a friend, pinned a ribbon or two to her bonnet, fastened back here and there a stray curl, put those little deft touches to her visitor's toilet which make all the difference to the "tout ensemble," and then led the distinguished authoress to the drawing room. After the meeting was over the duchess, talking from her own arm a bracelet of massive links of gold, typical of the fetters of the slave, clasped it on the arm of the creator of "Uncle Tom," saying: "We trust it is the memorial of a chain soon to be broken."

The duchess was a wonderful woman. Her husband had married her after an unhappy and romantic infatuation for Queen Louise of Prussia, and she herself, the duchess, after his death, and when Garibaldi visited London, stood with her at Stafford house, conceived such a romantic admiration for the Italian patriot, that she made up her mind to marry him irrespective of his other matrimonial entanglements, and, indeed, there is no knowing what might have happened had not her son, the late duke, settled matters by practically kidnapping the great Italian patriot and carrying him back to the island of Capri on board his yacht.

The duke owns not only a private railroad station but a railroad of his own, scores of miles in length, and, being a practical engineer, often drives the train himself, which caused a couple of his tenants to remark as the train passed by that it was only their own duke who could boast of running "his own blank train, with his own blank coal, on his own blank railroad, through his own blank county."

The World's Coal.

According to the United States census special report on mines and quarries, there was mined in the United States in the year 1902 rather over 300,000,000 tons of coal, or a little less than four tons for each inhabitant. During the same year there was mined in Great Britain 254,000,000 tons, in Germany 166,000,000 tons, in all other countries of the world 163,000,000; in other words, more than a third of the entire production of the world was mined in the United States, while in 1880 only 20 per cent. of the world's coal product came from that country. This gain has been chiefly in bituminous coal.

The Island of Pearls.

A rise in the price of pearls two or three years ago produced great activity among the pearl fishers of the Venezuelan Islands of Margarita, whose name is the Latin word for pearl and whose gems were fought over by the early Spanish explorers. About 2,000 men find constant employment in this business, which has its thrilling moments, since the opening of a shell dredged from the pearl oyster banks may disclose a jewel of great price. The Margaritan pearls are of fine quality, usually white or yellow, with an occasional black one, and such a one is greeted with joy, for it bears a high value. About $600,000 worth of pearls are found near Margarita every year.

A Great Dam in Danger.

That great dam in the Nile river at Assuan is threatened with what may in time prove a grave danger. This much is admitted by Sir Benjamin Baker, under whose general supervision the dam was constructed. The water rushes out of the sluices with tremendous force and dashes like a mountain torrent over the rocks outside, in which it has already worn great holes, sometimes more than twenty feet deep. At present they are fifteen yards or more from the foot of the wall; but, as they will almost certainly work toward it, it is feared they may at last seriously weaken the dam's foundations. So this part is being protected by a strong bed of masonry.
