BIG TUG OF WAR

One To Be Held At The Firemen's
Benefit Concert On Oct. 23

The local Firemen will hold a benefit concert in the Brisco Opera House on the evening of Oct. 23, for the purpose of raising funds to meet the payments on their accident policies.

The firemen held a meeting Saturday evening, at which a program was drawn up for the occasion. It was decided that the concert should consist of one hour's entertainment with moving pictures of the recent Russo-Jap. war, after which select numbers will be given by local talent.

But the main feature of the evening's performance will be the tug-of-war for a cash prize of $25. The conditions are, that each team competing shall consist of five bona fide employees of any factory in the city. The members of such teams must be employees of the respective factories for a period of thirty days at least, and all entries must be in by Oct. 18. Entries may be sent to John Brennan secretary of the Firemen's Association. The factories which have already signified their intention to take part in the tug-of-war are, DeLancey Iron Works, Gray & Sons' Carriage Works, and the Blomberg Mfg. Co.

The Firemen are taking great pains to get up a worthy program and the event should be well patronized.

No. 147—Gilbert Stanley Wright, one storey frame building, part lot 10, east side of Baxter street, cost $570.

MEMORIAL SERVICES

Memorial services to commemorate the death of the late Miss Gertrude Somerville were held in St. Andrew's Church last evening. A large congregation was present.

Rev. Dr. Battisby, in an eloquent memorial sermon, paid high tribute to the deceased's young lady's talent, her winning personality, and her many other high qualities as a young woman. By the time that Dr. Battisby had finished his discourse there was not a dry eye in the church.

The musical service was of a special order. Mrs. Cooper sang in exquisite voice, "Some Sweet Day."

PASSED AWAY

James Guest, aged 52 years, a respected resident of North Dresden, passed away in the Public General Hospital, city, Sunday, as the result of injuries received by being kicked by a vicious horse some time ago.

The late Mr. Guest was born in St. Mary's, was a member of the Methodist church, and leaves to mourn his loss a wife and two daughters. The remains were conveyed to Dresden this morning, where interment will take place.

24 HOUSES BURNED

Albany, N. Y., Suburb in Grip of Fire For Five Hours.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 8.—Twenty-four dwellings destroyed, 31 families practically homeless, and a property damage of about $125,000, only a quarter of which is covered by insurance, summarizes the results of a spectacular and disastrous conflagration which visited Roseton, just across the river, Saturday night, and at one time threatened to wipe out the entire lower end of the city. After nearly five hours' strenuous labor the firemen gained control, but not before a large territory had been burned.

$250,000 Fire in Buffalo.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 8.—Charles F. Dolis' furniture store at the corner of Mohawk and Washington streets, was destroyed by fire Saturday night, causing a loss estimated at $250,000.

Swept by Forest Fire.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 8.—Extensive mountain fires in the San Fernando watershed have been raging since Friday. Reports from special correspondents state that the fire has burned 200 square miles of watershed and swept it clean; destroyed the stations of Lang and Humphrey, on the Southern Pacific Railroad, and caused a loss of $40,000 to the Standard Oil Co. by the destruction of boiler-houses, oil tanks and derricks.

Arbuthnot's Mill Burned.

Winnipeg, Oct. 8.—Arbuthnot's mill in Port Rouge, with a large quantity of lumber and three box cars belonging to the G. N. R. were burned Saturday night, entailing a loss of $25,000. The fire is supposed to have been started from the boiler in the mill.

SOCIETY IS PROSPEROUS

Annual Meeting Of The Macaulay Club An Enthusiastic One

THE OFFICERS ELECTED

The Macaulay Club, Chatham's highest literary society, held its annual meeting on Saturday evening, in the offices of Dr. Musson, Fifth St. There was a good attendance of the members for the first meeting of the year, and the society never started the year's work under more auspicious circumstances. Everything is favorable for a pleasant and profitable season.

The reports from the different officers showed that the society is in a prosperous condition, in every way. Last year was most successful under the excellent management of President Dr. Musson. The meetings have been well attended, the debates have been of the highest order, and the club was supremely successful in presenting The Magistrate for the local lovers of the drama. The treasurer reported a good surplus to the credit of the society. All of which is very encouraging and gratifying to the members.

COUNTY CROWN ATTORNEY H. D. SMITH.

Elected President of the Macaulay Club.

The meeting was opened by Dr. Musson, and after the preliminary proceedings, and the receiving of reports, the election of officers for the ensuing year was held and resulted as follows:

President—Herbert D. Smith.

Vice-Pres.—R. W. Angus.

Executive Committee—Dr. Musson (Chairman), J. Lane, F. D. Laurie, W. McCorvie and W. A. Collier.

After the election, the retiring officers were tendered a vote of thanks, which was responded to by Dr. Musson, after which addresses were delivered by the newly-elected officers. The new president, in an earnest and enthusiastic address, outlined the work for the year, emphasizing features which he will introduce to make the meetings even more interesting than they have been before, and hoping that the members would show the same interested spirit in the welfare of the society as they have exhibited in the past. His address was received with thorough commendation by the meeting.

The Executive committee was empowered to secure suitable rooms for the society, in which they will meet during the winter months. The first debate will be held next Saturday night, when the members will meet in President Smith's office, providing the Executive committee is unsuccessful in securing suitable quarters before that time.

GRADUATION AT ST. JOSEPH'S

Graduation exercises were held in the Lecture Room of the Hospital on Thursday evening, Oct. 4th, on which occasion Miss Eugenia Bellepeche, Walkerville, Ont., received her diploma and medal, and was also presented with an address, a volume of nursing literature, and glowers by the nurses.

The Lecture Room was tastefully decorated in yellow and white, the nurses wearing school colors of the same.

A very interesting program of instrumental and vocal music was rendered. Little Miss Edna Chadwick acted as maid of honor, and gave a recitation entitled "Scandal," which was enthusiastically received.

Dr. J. L. Bray, Dr. Charteris, Dr. R. V. Bray and Dr. Sullivan gave appropriate addresses, in which, among other qualifications for the nurse, they spoke of the necessity of discretion, and a practical knowledge of domestic science as essential.

Dr. J. L. Bray, LL. D., gave a short sketch of the growth and progress of the Hospital and its work, since its foundation, and the urgent need of increased accommodation to meet the demands of the public, and of the Training School, which though recent, already numbers nineteen graduates.

Rev. Father James, O. F. M., acting as chairman, thanked the medical staff, on behalf of the Sisters, for their valuable assistance in theoretical and practical instruction during the past, and hoped they would continue their kindly interest and cooperation.

LICENSE BOARD

Meet in Harrison Hall Saturday—
Transferred License For Duquette
Hotel

The West Kent License Board met Saturday afternoon in their chambers in Harrison Hall. The most important item of business before the Board was the transfer of the license for the Duquette Hotel, of Dover, from Zephire Emery to Alex. Lucier. Both parties in the transaction are residents of the township. The transfer was ratified by the Board.

Officer Thomas Groves, of the local police force, applied to the Board for information as to whether or not the informant in cases where parties have been caught and convicted for selling liquor without a license, is not entitled to a share of the fine. He referred to the recent case where a local man was up for keeping a gaming house and selling liquor without a license.

Secretary Stanworth stated that the Liquor License Act did not make any such stipulation, and the Board referred Mr. Groves to the department.

The following accounts were ordered paid:

H. D. Smith, $27.

The Planet, $12.

Inspector Massey, $250.

Those present at the meeting were—Chairman A. J. Wilson, Commissioners Rankin and Drew, Inspector Massey and Secretary Stanworth.

AN UNIQUE HONOR

Rev. J. C. Wilmore, Senior Rector of the U. M. E. church, is to be honored by the members of the Second Episcopal District, who will celebrate the Bishop's 28th anniversary with a silver jubilee reception to be held at the Metropolitan Union Church, 230 East 85th Street, New York, on Saturday evening, Oct. 30th next.

For over fifty years Bishop Wilmore has faithfully labored in the interest of his church. In 1852 he assisted in the organization of Canadian work, afterward serving as local preacher, deacon and elder; elected to Bishopric in 1878, filling each of these positions with great honor and credit.

In recognition of these many years of faithful service, the members of the Second Episcopal District have decided in this way to express to him their love and reverence. The Bishop's many friends in this city will be pleased and gratified to learn that this merited honor is to be paid him.

BLENHEIM SUICIDE

Blenheim, Oct. 8.—Saturday evening about 6 o'clock Mrs. James Jefferys ended her life by cutting her throat. She was an old lady about 75 years of age and leaves a husband and one son. Domestic troubles are supposed to be the cause of the deed, as she has been in good health. An inquest was deemed unnecessary.

AN EVENTFUL DRIVE

A number of Chatham young men drove to Dresden a few nights ago, but very few people know anything about it—not even their dearest friends. The reason for this silence on their part is obvious when the facts are made known. It appears they wanted to see a real good show, and this is the primary reason for trip to this enterprising town. They saw the show, and started for home at the conclusion of the performance. All was well so far, but here the troubles commenced. Only one man seemed to know the way home. He was the man who owned the horses and rig. For some reason or other he was not driving, but he gave instructions to always turn to the right. The driver did so, and the result was that after three hours' driving, without seeing the Chatham lights, they decided to get out and find out where they were. Inquiry was made at a farm house, and the information was gained that they were within three miles of Dresden. The driver had followed his instructions and was doing nothing else but turning to the right, with the result that they were circling around near Dresden all the time.

The party got home early in the morning. One member of the illustrious crew lost his cap, and enlisted the services of a handkerchief; another got lost in an orchard, and another got lost in a shoe. The man who lost the cap bought another one almost like it, and his wife hasn't yet noticed the difference.

REAL WIDOW 'BROWN

The Real Widow Brown Company played for a large audience at the Brisco Opera House Saturday evening. The popular farce comedy was put on in satisfactory style, and the various scenes were interspersed with good live specialties, which one and all called forth quite an amount of applause.

All the roles were well taken, and every one appeared pleased with the performance. Next attraction Robert Griffith in MacBeth, at the Brisco Opera House, Oct. 11.

A WORLD OF BEAUTY

Splendid Discourse Given At Victoria Avenue Anniversary Service

REV. MR. MARTIN, LONDON

Anniversary services were conducted in Victoria Avenue Methodist church morning and evening yesterday by Rev. D. E. Martin, of London. Rev. Mr. Martin is an able preacher, who clothes his thought in eloquent language, and at the same time imparts his message in clear and concise form.

At the morning service he took his text from the last three verses of Psalm 48: Walk about Zion, and go around about her: tell the towers thereof. Mark ye well the bulwarks, consider her palaces; that ye may tell it to the generation following. For this God is our God for ever and ever: he will be our guide even unto death.

Rev. Mr. Martin began by stating that as Mecca has been the centre of heathen religions for thousands of years, so Jerusalem has been the centre of Christianity. The divine mission of the Christian church began in Jerusalem; from there going to the remotest parts of the earth. And the Church of God is the crowning institution of the twentieth century. Though strong in wealth and membership, its real strength does not consist of these things, but in the strength of the divine life as found in the Christian heart to-day.

It pleased the Creator to make the world a place of beauty. The church is beautiful also, and its greatest adornment is its capacity for working for the good of humanity; in the holding out of a helping hand to the sinful and falling brother; its ministrations to the sick, the needy, and the weak and depraved people.

The twentieth century church also awakened up to the thought that man has a body in addition to his soul, and is administering to the welfare of the body as it has never previously been done.

The greatest bulwark of the church is that it ministers to the heart that seeks love, the conscience that seeks truth, and the spirit that seeks peace—all these the church provides for. The church has a message for mankind—a message divine. The generations, who will follow, need the message, as well as the millions to-day. That message stands for something, and it challenges the world, the flesh and the Evil One.

MR. WILSON'S STATEMENT.

A statement from Matthew Wilson, K. C., explaining his connection with the Great West Land Deal, will be found on this page of to-day's issue. It will be seen by all who read it that Mr. Wilson seems to give a free and open presentation of the facts, and accounts in a satisfactory manner for the actions of Hon. Geo. E. Foster, Mr. McGillivray and himself. It is hard to understand the action of the commission in refusing to allow Mr. Wilson to make this statement on oath. The inquiry should be free, and fair to all parties concerned. It looks very much as if the statement were purposely withheld, on account of the favorable light in which it places the actions of Hon. Mr. Foster. Surely Mr. Wilson should be granted the same courtesy as was given to Sir John Boyd, who at his own request was allowed to give a statement before the commission.

The actions of some of the Liberal journals, in their extravagant statements regarding the commission, should be strongly condemned. This inquiry is a matter wholly apart from politics, and yet an effort is made to destroy Mr. Foster's political reputation through comments made by others before the commission. It is rather amusing to note how much space they devote to Mr. Foster and the Insurance Commission while they are as silent as a clam on the London election scandal, where it is shown that a Cabinet Minister in the Dominion Government owes his position to bribery and corruption.

IMPROVING THE TARIFF.

At the next session of the Dominion Parliament, the principal measure for consideration will be the revision of the tariff. Although there has been no intimation of what changes are likely to be made in detail, those who profess to know the mind of the Finance Minister have announced that the principle of the proposed new bill involves three features. In other words, there will be three schedules—a maximum, a minimum and a preferential, the last named to apply to British goods.

The Canadian Manufacturer in discussing the proposal, hopes that the feature relating to British preference will be cut out, and suggests that:

The tariff should be of a dual character—a minimum tariff to apply to imports from commercially friendly countries such as Great Britain—and a maximum tariff to apply to imports from commercially unfriendly countries such as Germany.

The duty imposed upon imports should be (a) specific and always where possible; or (b) compound, i.e., both specific and ad valorem; to be ad valorem only when neither specific nor compound is practicable.

Tariff rates, under all circumstances, should be sufficiently high to afford adequate protection to every Canadian manufacturing and industrial interest.

Every possible safeguard should be thrown around the administration of the tariff to prevent undervaluation and other frauds upon the customs.

There should be no special preferential provisions in the tariff as now exist, as such features would be included in the minimum tariff, and applicable not only to British imports but also imports from any other country which treats Canada with similar commercial favor.

The foregoing views are interesting as no doubt reflecting a large section of the Canadian manufacturers, although the Canadian Manufacturers' Association is not the official organ of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. It claims that such an arrangement would be automatic in its application, and it would be free to any country to decide under which its products would be admitted into Canada. Specific duties, it contends, would prevent importations of inferior goods of all descriptions, and also undervaluations. Compound duties would apply to textile fabrics, ready-made clothing, etc., and would prevent or restrict imports of shoddy or inferior goods; and, of course, first, last and always, it advocates "adequate protection" to every industry in Canada. "Adequate" is a very elastic term, and, like charity, could cover a multitude of sins.

It is wholly probable, however, that the finance minister has made up his mind definitely as to the principles the Government should adopt and will proceed upon the lines already indicated as his policy. There is no probability, and certainly no general feeling in Canada in favor of eliminating preference to Great Britain—Victoria, B. C., Col. onist.

JUST A LITTLE BIT OFF THE TOP

Hon. Charles Hyman will begin to think that this life is pretty much a case of "taking the bitter with the sour."

The recent gas boom is rather a recent thing, but the gas bag we have always amongst us.

Scientists deplore the monotony of breakfast. A greater monotony, in our opinion, is getting up these cold mornings in time to get any.

The Mayor of Akron, Ohio, has advised mothers to spank their daughters when they find them flirting. Akron Clandestines will thus have an opportunity of finding the slipper in a modern but perhaps painful fashion.

Russians are heretofore not to be admitted to Swiss hotels. Undoubtedly the space their names take up on the registers is the chief objection.

Now that the harvest is all harvested and the hay is all harvested, and the fall plowing all plowed, and the long green is on the home-ward stretch, our friend the farmer can shake hands with himself and tell the rest of the world to be darned.

Down east milkmen got into trouble for skimming the cream off their milk. Another proof that a Little Bit Off The Top is popular.

A Leamington man was almost struck to death by a horse's tail. In this enlightened and advanced age it is hardly necessary to go meddling with horse's tails. Trust companies, wildcat speculation artists and bookshops furnish such an infinite variety of cultured methods that it is rather surprising nowadays to hear of insects doing the trick.

M. WILSON'S STATEMENT REGARDING LAND DEAL

This Director Of The Union Trust Is Refused The Privilege Of Giving Voluntary Statement Before Insurance Commission—A Strong Defense

The following is the statement by Matthew Wilson, K. C., re the Union Trust Co. and the land deals, which he offered to the Commission, verified on oath, and upon which:

According to my recollection, the Chancellor was present when he said, "While I cannot recollect just the details I may have said to Mr. Matthew Wilson in my interview with him, that it was competent for this company (the Union Trust) and this syndicate to enter into this joint deal, and that there might be proper compensation made if the syndicate required that as a condition. They being an independent concern, and having it in hand, might say the terms on which they might come in; if it was satisfactory and acceptable to all parties concerned that it might be carried out." That was, however, not the origin of the $95,000. The Chancellor was, I think, equally correct when he said, "If the transaction had been understood by me that there might be a sum of money paid to them, $95,000, or anything else, and they to put nothing in, then the transaction would have assumed a different form." Neither he nor I ever understood or discussed this latter condition, and neither $95,000 nor any other sum, either in money or stock, was to be paid or given to the syndicate by the Trust Company, nor was there any such gift.

The Chancellor's advice applied to the following circumstances: A syndicate composed of Foster, McGillivray and myself, bought one-half interest in 200,000 acres on a basis of $4.50 per acre, payable partly in cash and partly in stock. At the time of our agreeing to this purchase there was no thought, or intention, that the Union Trust Company should be financially interested. McGillivray said he would mortgage other property and pay his share, and Foster said he could finance his share except the first payment, and I agreed to meet his first payment as well as my own. The intention then was to put the property into a company on the basis of $5 per acre. The fifty cents per acre (to be paid, not in cash, but stock), being the profit or the turnover to be divided amongst the three of us. We were then to sell stock in the company, and agreed to a prospectus to be prepared.

After the purchase of the half interest in the 200,000 acres we procured an option to purchase on similar terms the larger part of the other half interest. I believed that, if it had turned out to be a valuable option, but I did not care to undertake more than my one-third of the half we had purchased. McGillivray and I then proposed turning this latter option over to the Union Trust Company, and giving the Union Trust Company the profits therefrom. I objected to having any bargaining with a company in which I was a director, but they considered that if we could turn a profitable transaction to any company, we ought at least to offer it to the Union Trust Company. The matter was then discussed in detail at an informal meeting of the Union Trust Company Board. Fifty cents per acre on the whole 200,000 acres represented $100,000, out of which our vendors were to receive $5,000 in stock, while on the prior purchase of the half interest Foster, McGillivray and I were to receive one-half of the remaining $95,000 of stock or $47,500 in stock. The other $47,500 being represented by the option and the interests of the numerous other interested parties. It was found on consultation that this latter option covered one-fourth of the whole (representing 1-4 of $95,000 stock profits or 237 1-2 shares), and in addition thereto one hundred and odd shares out of the remaining fourth. Consequently, turning this latter option to the Union Trust Company without any profit whatever to us, would turn to the Union Trust Company the profits from these shares. It was never proposed or suggested that the Union Trust Company should have any of our first and separate purchase.

When this proposal was made I objected, upon two grounds, firstly, the debatable property of dealing with a company of which I was a director, and secondly, the Union Trust Company was requiring a higher rate of interest than otherwise I might have to pay on any money I might borrow. Finally, I gave way on the latter point. Mr. McGillivray undertaking to use his utmost endeavors, which he was confident would be successful, to have the interest fixed at 4-1-2 or 5 per cent, at most; and the other question was left to the Chancellor to say whether there was any impropriety in handing over to the Union Trust Company the latter option and the attendant profit stock of 237 1-2 shares, and leaving the Union Trust Company to make the land deal, and the company to take the advances required for the company, which included perhaps a dozen shareholders besides ourselves, the Trust Company being secured by the Land Company and paid stock of the Land Company, and receiving a rate not to exceed 5 per cent, on its advances.

It was to that question after discussing the matter in detail that the Chancellor gave to me and to the Union Trust Company the advice which he mentioned. "I might have said to Mr. Matthew Wilson in my interview with him that it was competent for this company (the Trust Company) and this syndicate to enter into this joint deal, and that there might be proper compensation made if the syndicate required that as a condition. They being an independent concern, and having it in hand, might say the terms on which they might come in; if it was satisfactory and acceptable to all parties concerned that it might be carried out." The transaction was carried out by both companies. The discussion of the matter extended over not only days but weeks, and the recorded minutes merely represent the conclusions as formally entered, and not the discussions, and no transaction was ever put through the Union Trust Company with more publicity, and there are but few transactions that could be more profitable to the Union Trust Company.

By the agreement the Union Trust Company was given the option to take stock in the Land Company for its advances, and, on motion, I think of the Board, the Union Trust Company was given the option to take stock in the Land Company, it elected to take stock. I entirely concurred in that motion. "Afterwards, on motion of Messrs. Stevenson and McGillivray, the position was changed, and all the stock was given to the Union Trust Company, and the Union Trust Company treated as a creditor, and given a mortgage, with six per cent, from the inception of the advances. I was against this change, because, as I said, I thought (as now turns out) that the stock would be a valuable bonus to the Union Trust Company, but Mr. Stevenson persisted in his preference to give back the stock and take a mortgage for the advances, as he did not seem to place much value on the stock. I also pointed out that this made us bear a higher interest than if my original intention had been carried out, and Mr. McGillivray vigorously pressed for a five per cent, rate, as the I. O. F. had made loans as low as four and one-half per cent. Mr. Stevenson was firm, and the interest was made six per cent, yearly. An advance of a million dollars at six per cent, by the Union Trust Company when it pays four per cent, for the money, represents a profit to the Union Trust Company of $20,000 per year, besides the profit which the Trust Company makes in the selling of the lands.

Of course any stock subscribed for by any of us in the Land Company had to be paid for in cash. That did not apply to the 337 1-2 shares which the Union Trust Company and its President received for its option (given from us) from the Land Company, nor to the 158 1-3 shares (being 1/3 of 475 shares mentioned) which Foster, McGillivray, and I each received, nor to the shares which we agreed that the others should receive, as set forth in the written agreement. But any additional shares had to be paid for in cash. Others, including the Chancellor, took and paid for additional shares, and bought and paid for many other shares which were outstanding.

I never received from the Union Trust Company a single share or a single dollar in the transaction, except when on motion of Messrs. Stevenson and McGillivray the Union Trust Company gave back to Foster, McGillivray, and me the 337 1-2 shares which we had given to the Union Trust Company, and I have heretofore mentioned, and took in preference the mortgage.

The return, according to agreement, of the 337 1-2 bonus shares was not done in haste or secrecy, nor was it done immediately after Mr. Stevenson's mortgage and agreement were first submitted to the different companies and approved and executed by them. Had the Union Trust Company remained shareholders, it, with other shareholders, it, with other shareholders, in the general profits and losses, but the representatives of the I. O. F., the Union Trust Company, preferring to substitute a mortgage, it now gets six per cent, in preference to the ultimate profit to the shareholders, including Foster, McGillivray and myself.

The details of this transaction are clearer in my recollection, because of all my undertakings, since I became a director of the Union Trust Company, it is the first, last, and only one in which that company was a party, and I am glad that in it no one suffers loss.

I was not a member of the executive of the Union Trust Company, but I, with the Chancellor, formed the inspection committee, and all investments came under our notice. I never borrowed, or sought to borrow, or had occasion to borrow any money from the Union Trust Company, or from the Independent Order of Foresters.

THE DRAGO DOCTRINE.

Something About South America's Claim Upon the World Powers—It Originated in Argentina.

An event that is likely to have considerable influence upon the future relations of South America with Europe and the United States, is the Pan-American Congress at Rio de Janeiro. In ordinary circumstances not much attention would be given to a gathering of South American Presidents, they being for the most part mere phantoms, in power only by the force of tradition, or the presence of Elinor Roosevelt, the most eminent of the Republican party's statesmen of his day, has given a new significance to the congress. His speeches have aroused the utmost enthusiasm, and have betrayed the keen anxiety of the United States to be regarded, not as a dragoning bully with "the big stick," but as an elder brother whose destiny is bound up with the other republics on the continent rather than with the powers of Europe.

The Calvo or Drago Doctrine.

There have been two Pan-American Congresses in the past, one in Washington and the other in Mexico. The purposes of these gatherings is the discussion of intra-American affairs, and the South American republics realize that they had interests in common that might have to be defended against European interests. The congress of 1906 has been in session for a couple of weeks, and a great number of matters have been debated. It was found that there was harmony of opinion on all topics save the Calvo or Drago Doctrine. This proposition of South American relations with Europe is the most interesting of the matters that remain unsettled, and a brief account of it is timely.

An Argentine Dogma.

The doctrine takes its name from Senator Carlos Calvo, a very eminent Argentine jurist, who formulated it, and from Dr. Luis F. Drago, the Argentine Minister of Foreign Affairs, who brought it forward for international adoption. The pith of this doctrine is that force should never be employed in the collection of pecuniary claims by the citizens of one country upon the Government of another. As the Washington correspondent of The London Times points out, this principle is an old one, and was advocated by Alexander Hamilton in the eighteenth century. Since then it has been affirmed by a long line of American Presidents, although President Jackson held that a nation was bound to take up the claims of its citizens and carry them to the point of war. In 1835 a wise American statesman, Albert Gallatin, declared this view to be utterly untenable, and in 1856 the American Secretary of State, William M. Marcy, officially laid down the rule that "the Government of the United States is not bound to interfere to secure the fulfillment of contracts made between its citizens and foreign Governments, it being presumed that before entering into such contracts the disposition and ability of the foreign power to perform its obligation was examined and the risk of failure was taken into account."

South American "Welchers."

Lord Palmerston laid down the same rule for the guidance of English investors, and a general principle it seems to be accepted, but the South American case proved such inveterate "welchers" that there soon grew up a sentiment that the law should be suspended in the case of their defaulting. But in 1882 the United States Government announced that it could not regard but with grave anxiety the attempts to coerce the South American republics. The American statesmen perceived that if failure to maintain this principle might defeat the ends of the Monroe Doctrine, at that time not surely established, for European countries might secure such heavy claims against South American republics as to gain an American foothold by foreclosing mortgages. In 1875 it was asserted that when States had left claims to arbitration and then failed to abide by the result the doctrine did not apply.

The Venezuelan Blockade

The Drago doctrine was last brought forward at a time when Britain, Germany and Italy, accessible to an understanding with the United States, were blocking Venezuelan ports to compel Castro to pay some debts. It was understood at the time that Dr. Drago's action was intended as a rebuke to the United States Government's participation in the blockade. Several South American statesmen indeed flatly accused the Washington Government of denying the principle laid down in 1883. Indeed, complaints acted of the United States did much to make her unpopular in South America, for almost without exception, the Southern republics were strongly opposed to being coerced into paying their debts. But the United States, whatever its academic views on the question are, has no desire to be considered the official protector of South America. It would not mind undertaking the job if there were compensations, but now that the Monroe Doctrine is an acknowledged principle of international law, its earlier anxiety on the subject has disappeared.

Dodging the Question.

Therefore Secretary Root took care, in assisting in the preparation of a program for the congress, that the discussion of the Drago Doctrine was limited to a resolution recommending "that the second Peace Conference at The Hague be requested to consider the extent to which the use of force for the collection of public debts is admissible." South America desired something stronger than this colorless resolution, and the chief and only important debate of the congress was upon this topic.

It will remain the policy of South American republics to reiterate the Drago Doctrine and secure its endorsement by the United States Government. Without this backing, or the support of the Hague Tribunal it is not likely to prove an effective protection to national defaulters.

HOW TO CLEAN JEWELS.

A sharp-pointed implement should never be employed to clean rings, as it loosens the stones. Soak them in liquid ammonia and the dirt will be loosened. Afterward they should be polished with a soft cloth. It is a good plan to keep rings in sawdust, as it enables the gems to retain their brilliancy. Warm water and a little prepared chalk are all that are required to clean plain or chased rings.

THE SEASON'S SHOWINGS IN TRINKETS.

Diamond topped combs possess a magnetic attraction for fastidious femininity. A set of three, combs with a barrette to match has a narrow faceted diamond bow inserted in an open cut across the amber top. Severely plain monograms are being used now on women's bags in preference to decorative ones that previously found so much favor. Plain almost to ugliness, if it were not for the symmetry of the letters, these metal ornaments are exceedingly popular.

Camoes are great favorites with fair women. Elderly women choose black and white camoes, and many buy amethysts set in an almost invisible band of gold without any ornamentation or simply surrounded by pearls.

Every woman knows that a gleaming throat is made all the more attractive when its whiteness is thrown into effective relief by black. That is one reason why we see a revival of the old fashioned velvet throat band, this time ornamented with an old fashioned brooch. It is to have the genuine antiquity if it is to have the place of honor on its sable velvet

Petitioners Counsel Hold H's Motives Were To Secure Support

CORRUPTION IN 1900

Ottawa, Oct. 6.—In the Supreme Court yesterday argument proceeded in the appeal of Cowie vs. Fielding, the Sheburne-Queens election case. Judgment was reserved and court adjourned till Monday.

The appeal is on the refusal of Mr. Fielding to answer questions with regard to the election of 1904. Mr. Fielding admitted paying to Hon. E. M. Farrell, Speaker of the Nova Scotia Legislature, a bill contracted in the 1900 election, but would not say what was the nature of the services rendered. In 1904 he gave $500 to Mr. Farrell, and the judges found that it was corruptly expended. It was argued that if Mr. Farrell spent the money in corruptly procuring the election of Mr. Fielding, Mr. Fielding's action in contracting him with $500 in the 1900 election constituted a grave offence.

Mr. Lovitt, for the petitioner, argued that if it could be proved that Mr. Fielding was guilty of corrupt practices in the 1900 election, he would have been an unfit person to represent the party in 1904.

Turns on the Statute.

This largely turned on the wording of the statute. Section 126 of the Dominion Election Act provides that if, in an election trial, corrupt practices are proved in fact, the appellant is entitled to a new election. This, the appellants argued, allowed them to range over previous elections. Had the act intended to restrict the enquiry into the one election from which the petition arose, it would have said "such election."

Mr. Lovitt, during the course of his argument, was frequently interrupted by the bench, particularly by Mr. Justice Ilderton, who at one point remarked that public men must be treated as fairly as common criminals must not be brought against them unless there is a connecting link between them and new charges.

In elaborating his argument counsel for the petitioner said that the motive in Mr. Fielding's mind, when he paid Farrell's account, was to secure his support at the 1904 elections.

Mr. Justice Ilderton remarked that it would have to be shown that Mr. Fielding's act was "a part of the system."

Mr. Lovitt contended that the "connecting link" could not be established in the lower court because the judges refused to allow petitioner to give evidence which would connect. If Mr. Farrell had been available as a witness he would have been asked what sum of money he had received from Mr. Fielding in 1902.

PUBLIC MEN MUST BE CLEAN

Rev. Mr. Campbell Gives a Very Forceful Address in First Church

RELIGIOUS SIDE OF LIFE

Rev. Mr. Campbell, the preacher who filled the St. Andrew's church pulpit during the summer months, gave an excellent address in the First Presbyterian church last evening. Mr. Campbell is a preacher of more than ordinary ability, and those who attended the services at St. Andrew's this summer can testify. There was a large congregation present at last evening's service, and all were more than delighted with the earnest and eloquent discourse.

During the course of his remarks, the speaker gave some strong advice on the manner of electing men to public office. It is not the duty, he said, for the Government of any country, to compel people to electing men, but it is their duty to provide such conditions which make it possible for people to live upright lives, and to engage in the worship they deem necessary. It is their duty to provide the means, and as elected to govern the country, should by all means be men who take an interest in religious affairs, men of integrity, truth and honor—men who are clean.

Mr. Campbell, of Elk Rapids, Mich., is the guest of her brother, John Kenney, Taylor Ave.

A selection was rendered at the morning service in Victoria Ave. Methodist Church yesterday by the mixed quartette, and a solo was at the evening service by Miss Jackson.

CANADA FINANCES

Revenue and Expenditure For First Three Months of Fiscal Year.

Ottawa, Oct. 8.—With this month three months of the current fiscal year are completed. The revenue for that period amounts to $21,093,475, or at the rate of some $84,000,000 in the year; last year for the same three months it was $18,162,475, or an increase of close upon $3,000,000. Of the revenue for the three months $12,722,000 comes from customs, $3,615,000 from excise and $2,540,000 from public works and railways.

The current expenditure during September, 1906, was $4,343,093, as against $5,469,769 in September, 1905, or a decrease of $1,126,676—over 20 per cent.

For the three months, however, the expenditures have been $10,901,295, a slight increase over the $10,776,015 of the corresponding three months of 1905. The expenditure on capital account in September was $1,083,142, as against $1,059,822 in September, 1905.

So far this class of expenditure has been $1,883,707, a decrease from the $2,223,226 of the first three months of 1905.

The total net debt stands at $258,734,504, as against $261,023,600 on Sept. 30, 1905, and $260,917,459 on Aug. 31 last.

THE MARINES TAKE CUBANS

39 Belligerent Insurgents Made Prisoners By Yankees

A GENERAL DISARMED

Washington, Oct. 8.—Governor Magoon has started on his journey to Cuba. On Saturday, Secretary of State Root and Gov. Magoon were in conference with the President, the purpose being to instruct the governor relative to the treatment of the Cuban question when he assumes office at Havana. Gen. Bell, chief of staff, also had an interview with the President.

Yankees Soldiers in Cuba.
Havana, Oct. 8.—The first landing of United States soldiers in the present occupation of Cuba was accomplished yesterday, and last night the first four battalions of the Fifth United States Infantry are settled under canvas in Camp Columbia. Gen. Frederick Funston established his headquarters at Marianas, convenient to his command.

Arrest 39 Insurgents.
A detachment of 200 insurgents Saturday rode into the Caridad suburb of the City of Puerto Principe, waving machetes and threatening people. Twenty U. S. marines from the detachment on duty at Puerto Principe went to Caridad, dispersed the insurgents and arrested 39 of them. Gen. Caballero, the insurgent leader, with 100 men, thereupon proceeded to the headquarters of the commander of the marine and demanded the release of the captured insurgents. Instead of releasing them, the Yankees disarmed Caballero and all of his followers who could be caught. Thereupon, Caballero promised that all the insurgents under his command would disarm.

Still Disinclined to Disarm.
Disarming of former insurgents went on much better yesterday. Reports from members of the disarmament commission in various provinces, indicate that the trouble which was threatened Saturday may be avoided, although ex-rebels and volunteers in a few towns in Santa Clara Province are still disinclined to be the first to disarm, and it is feared that United States soldiers will have to be sent to back up the demands of the disarmament commission.

Lively Fighting in Hayti.

Cape Haytien, Oct. 8.—Gen. Jean Jimenez, a nephew of ex-President Jimenez, Friday night attacked Monte Orteil. He took advantage of the panic that resulted to enter the Haytien consulate and secured important documents, but was forced to fly before superior Government forces. During the skirmishes the insurgent Gen. Rodrigue was captured. The rebels are furious at the information secured by the Dominican Government by Hayti to back troops on Haytien territory and in retaliation have killed many Haytiens.

Cecil B. Smith Resigns.

Toronto, Oct. 8.—Cecil B. Smith has resigned the chairmanship of the Ten-Mile Commission, and accepted the offer of the City of Winnipeg for half his time to take charge of the construction of the new hydroelectric development works there. Mr. Smith's salary at Winnipeg will be $5,000. Premier Whitney made the announcement on Saturday evening. He stated that the arrangement had been made with the approval of the Government. Mr. Smith would continue as consulting engineer to the Railway Commission, and would also continue to serve on the Hydro-Electric Power Commission. Mr. Smith, who will continue to reside in Toronto, will spend alternate periods of a couple of weeks or so in the two cities.

Premiers Gather

Conferences of Heads of Provinces Begin in Ottawa.

Ottawa, Oct. 8.—The Provincial Premiers are commencing to gather for the conference, which opens to-day. British Columbia, Alberta and Prince Edward Island Premiers were in the city last night, and others will arrive during the night and in the early morning.

It is not expected that much more will be done to-day than the preliminary skirmishing and outlining of the procedure.

This evening Sir Wilfrid Laurier will hold a reception, and on Tuesday night there will be a banquet under the auspices of the Canadian Club.

That Mysterious Suicide Note.

Hamilton, Oct. 8.—The police have a mystery on their hands. Friday they got a note saying that they would find the body of the writer, who claimed to be from Detroit, in the back of the Turbine dock. The body of Mrs. Embury, a Hamilton woman, was found there soon after the note was received, but Mrs. Embury's family say that the writing in the note was not in their mother's hand, and it is feared that there may be another victim of suicide in the bay.

Suicides in Ice Cream Parlor.

Kenora, Oct. 8.—On Saturday afternoon J. Dollard, recently employed on the G.T.P., walked into the ice cream parlour of Jackson Bros. and deliberately cut his throat. Only a few days ago he came out of a hospital, and since then he had been acting strangely and had several times troubled the police by his actions. He purchased the razor a short time before committing suicide and evidently premeditated the act for some time.

Mr. Chamberlain Better

New York, Oct. 8.—Cabling from London to The Tribune, L. N. Ford says:

"I have authentic information from Birmingham that Mr. Chamberlain is decidedly better. He is walking in the garden every day, sleeping well and mending rapidly. The family are not anxious about him. Austin Chamberlain states that all the alarmist reports have been exaggerations."

Suicide At 81.

Brookville, Oct. 8.—Tired of life at 81 years, Peter Van Aukew of Sandy Creek made a deliberate attempt upon his life first by hanging, and when the knot slipped, without accomplishing his purpose, he hacked his throat with a jack-knife. The old man was found in a wooded shed, and his life was slowly ebbing away from loss of blood. He cannot recover.

He who would be a great soul in the future must be a great soul now.

An Ingenious Accusation.

Emperor Tsi, said a Chinese statesman, "died through negligence on the part of the royal master of the horse. The emperor was so enraged at this that he drew his sword and would have run the careless functionary through the body."

"But the learned mandarin, Yen-tse, struck up the emperor's sword, saying:

"Sire, this man has not yet been formally accused of any crime. He deserves to die, but his accusation should come first. It is the law."

"Well, said the emperor, 'tell me what he has done.'"

"Listen, your majesty," said the mandarin, turning to the trembling master of the horse—"listen to a catalogue of your heinous offenses. In the first place, you have allowed a horse to perish that his majesty had intrusted to your care. In the second place, it is on your account that the emperor became so exasperated that he was actually on the point of disgracing himself in all his people's eyes by killing a man for the sake of a horse."

"Enough," said the emperor, appreciating the rebuke. "Let him go. He is pardoned."

How Fast the West Grows.

There are a few figures in the Calgary Alberta which give one an idea, not otherwise suggested, of the rapidity of the growth in population of the new provinces. The figures deal with Alberta, but, as the growth of Saskatchewan will match it, it will be seen that the new provinces have been forging ahead at five times the rate of Manitoba between 1890 and 1900. The old days of doubt and suspicion are over. The Alberta says: "The increase of population in the Province of Alberta will be 177 per cent, since 1891, or 56.1-2 per cent. per year. The increase which Manitoba made between 1890 and 1900 was only 14.1-2 per cent. per year. The increase between 1890 and 1900 was little more than 6.1-2 per cent. per year. The Province of British Columbia never averaged an increase of 9 per cent. for a decade. The increase in any of the other provinces never averaged as much as that for any census period."

Matches.

Friction matches are a comparatively modern invention. They were first made in the United States in 1828, by L. C. Allen, of Springfield, Massachusetts. Before this time a clumsy form of match was imported from France, which had to be dipped into a bottle of sulphuric acid before it was lighted. This took a great deal of time and trouble, and Allen, seeing the necessity of friction matches, set about to make them, and succeeded. He neglected to patent them, however, and on finally applying for a patent, found that a man named Phillips, who was a peddler, had discovered through a third person the secret of making the matches and had already obtained a patent. Allen, though the real inventor, was forced to become a mere manufacturer under another man's patent.

DOUBLED UP WITH CRAMPS.

Stomach feels like an infernal machine and you want relief mighty quick. Nothing does the work half so soon as Polson's Nervine. Why, it kills the pain instantly. If your bottle is empty get another today. Nervine keeps the doctor bill small because it cures little ills before they grow big. Nothing for indigestion, heartburn and cramps like Polson's Nervine. Large bottles for 25c.

Many Misfortunes.

The Magistrate at the Guildhall remitted the poor rate of a resident of the ward of St. Sepulchre's. The collector reported that the man's house was falling down, his trade was gone, all the members of his family were ill and his ledgers had left him.

Schoolmasters As Dealers.

Complaints have been made to the Radcliffe Education Committee that some schoolmasters have become dealers in caps, which they sell to their pupils. Not long ago it was found that haircutting was carried on in one school.

One of the players in a football match at Leicester was a young man with one leg. He was able, with the aid of a crutch, to run as fast as most of the other players.

BRITAIN'S LEVIATHAN TUMORS CONQUERED

THE DREADNOUGHT, WORLD'S GREATEST WARSHIP.

Built in Record Time and Ready For Her Steam Trial—Driven By Turbines, This Ocean Greyhound Among Battleships Displaces 18,000 Tons, and Can Hurl Over Four Tons of Metal a Minute.

The giant of the seas is almost ready for war, and England is overjoyed because her navy is at least a year and a half in advance of the navies of the world. Her new battleship, the Dreadnought, the most remarkable warship ever built, is practically equipped with its boilers, engines and other machinery of locomotion. Unless some unforeseen event necessitates delay the Dreadnought will have its steam trial in a few days. The celerity with which the Dreadnought is being built is establishing a new record in naval construction.

Started in October, 1905, and launched on Feb. 10 last, it is expected that the Dreadnought will be completed by February, 1907, six months less than the usual time for constructing vessels of 15,000 tons displacement. And the new record will be made with an 18,000 ton vessel, the largest ship of war ever laid down.

Sheer size is not the only remarkable thing about the Dreadnought, although most of the other novel features depend necessarily upon her immense size. She is the greatest fighting machine built by any nation. Let us hope that she will ever have to prove it, but she has been erected so that she might prove it if occasion should arise. Until then or until some greater monster is built, the prowess of the Dreadnought is the prowess of the British Empire.

RADIUS OF FIRE OF THE DREADNOUGHT.

of the Dreadnought will be a generally accepted fact.

The most striking feature of the Dreadnought is the enormous concentration of offensive and defensive energy. In the way of armament she will have ten twelve-inch guns and the usual auxiliary batteries of rapid fire guns for repulsing torpedo boat attacks. Aside from the latter, all the gun metal has been designed to fire the greatest number of the largest projectiles the greatest distance possible for warship.

The Dreadnought's defensive qualities mark a gain in naval science. Her armor protection is thick enough to resist the direct impact of twelve-inch projectiles fired at a distance of 3,000 yards. Great care has been taken in planning the underwater body so as to furnish reasonable immunity from torpedoes and mines.

With all its massiveness, the Dreadnought is intended to be a greyhound among warships. She will be the first battleship in the world to be driven by turbine engines. She will have four propellers, two more than any previously built British battleship. Her average sea speed will be twenty-two knots an hour, placing her almost in the class of crack cruisers. She was not made to run from anything, but if occasion requires she can outdistance old style cruisers that were famed for their swiftness a few days ago. Moreover, the use of turbine engines will give the Dreadnought a steadier deck. The Dreadnought is also designed to be more easily and smoothly manoeuvred than any vessel approaching her in size.

In addition to speed, armament and defensive armor, there are many things that help to win naval battles, and it is believed that on the Dreadnought gains will have been made in many details. Most of these changes will be apparent until the great ship has been thoroughly equipped.

The Dreadnought is a progressive type of vessel, and a case of battle would follow to a marine in modern tactics of big ships in modern warfare—that is, fighting at long range. Therein lies the Dreadnought's power. The new twelve-inch gun, such as being constructed for her, can easily fire 300 pounds of projectile, weighing 850 pounds at a velocity of 2,250 feet per second and at an effective fighting range of five miles.

With the necessary speed and the manoeuvring capacity the Dreadnought could keep out of range of the longest distance guns of several opponents, and at the same time hurl at them four or one-quarter tons of metal a minute, gradually wearing them down, striking them or rendering their batteries useless before the latter could be possibly brought within range.

Nothing so overwhelming as this concentrated destruction has ever been conceived by the brain of man. It is impossible to picture the result of one minute's well directed fire at an enemy's ships, and when the gunners get the range and fire as at target practice, the effect will be followed by others. To this length has the contest for sea power gone, and even this is not the end. The Dreadnought will cast as least $7,500,000.

Chloroform Cures Whooping Cough.

Dr. Henri de Rothschild of Paris has discovered that chloroform will cure whooping cough. A child suffering from this disease and whooping cough at the same time was in his hospital, and the youngster was put under an anesthetic while an operation was performed. It was noticed that on regaining consciousness the cough decreased. It occurred to the doctor to try chloroform as a cure for the cough. He found that it worked admirably, effecting a speedy recovery. Baron de Rothschild has a report on the subject before the Hospital Medical society, and the physicians are greatly interested in his discovery.

SERIOUS OPERATIONS AVOIDED

Unqualified Success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the Case of Mrs. Fannie D. Fox.

One of the greatest triumphs of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the conquering of woman's dread enemy, Tumor.

The growth of a tumor is so slowly and frequently its presence is not suspected until it is far advanced.

Mrs. Fannie D. Fox

So-called "wandering pains" may come from its early stages, or the presence of danger may be made manifest by profuse monthly periods, accompanied by unusual pain, from the abdomen through the groin and thighs.

If you have mysterious pains, if there are indications of inflammation or of placement, secure Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound right away and use it.

Mrs. Fannie D. Fox, of Lynn, Mass., will give you her advice if you will write her about yourself. She is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years has been advising sick women free of charge.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham— "I take the liberty to congratulate you on the success I have had with your wonderful medicine. Eighteen months ago my periods stopped. Shortly after I felt so badly that I submitted to a thorough examination by a physician and he said I had a tumor and would have to undergo an operation. Soon after I read one of your advertisements and decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. After trying five bottles I directed the tumor is gone. I have been examined by a physician and he says I have no signs of a tumor now. It has also brought my periods around once more, and I am entirely well. Fannie D. STOLE QUEEN'S MONEY.

Count Wrangel of Sweden Exiled For Pilfering From Royalty.

A sensational scandal in the royal palace at Stockholm came to light a few days ago when Count F. U. Wrangel left Swedish soil by request, having been found guilty of robbing the Queen's own treasury.

Count Wrangel for many years had held the position of chamberlain to her Majesty, Queen Sophia. During her recent visit to southern Europe, which he said to have taken large amounts of the Queen's purse, he had been entrusted to his care, and he squandered the money at the gambling tables.

Moreover, this was not his first offence. Once or twice before the Count's "fascination" and position are said to have been saved by his brother, the present Swedish Minister in London, whose immense wealth is more than ample to cover up the deficit.

Refusal of Conditions. The latest stallings, estimated at from 150,000 to 300,000 crowns, Minister Wrangel would have made good in the same manner, it is rumored, but only on conditions to which Chamberlain Wrangel refused to agree. Hence his exile.

Count Wrangel for years has figured as a scoundrel and a scoundrel. His confidential position in the royal household naturally gave him high standing among the nobility. More than that, the ex-chamberlain is a man of brains as well as of blood. His writings on heraldry and genealogical topics have won for him an honored place in literary circles. Possessed of personal charm and all the chivalric qualities of a gentleman in the social sense, he was a veritable lion in court circles, until his ardent courtship of the Goddess of Chance proved his undoing.

The best education in the world is that got by struggling to make a living.

FOR SCHOOL DAYS.

Comfort and Luxuries For the Boarding School Miss.

If getting a young girl ready for boarding school meant only the selection of her clothing the task would be a comparatively easy one, but nowadays when each student has a room and bed to herself mothers feel that they must make these small boudoirs as attractive and homelike as possible and to this end send furniture, pictures and rugs and hangings, besides the bed and table linens that are required in most institutions.

If convenient ship from home as many pieces of furniture that the girl likes as can be spared, for when she is tired or blue and sees a familiar writing desk or easy rocking chair, a picture from the living room she is fond of or even a small rug that has pleasant associations in her mind she feels soothed and the room becomes a real haven of rest. Send things to make this bedroom bright and cheerful. The dainty comb and brush sets, manicure pieces or pin cushions, boxes for holding ribbons and ties if made in delicate pink silk or light blue chintz or cretonnes make a remarkable difference in the appearance of the apartment and give the finishing touches that immediately stamp the room as a comfortable one instead of a furnished room fitted for a temporary lodger.

A small set of book shelves hung on the walls and filled with the volumes the occupant likes best adds to the real comfort as well as to its appearance. Even solid linen bags attached to the dresser or wall if made of pretty denim or cretonnes and tied with a big white cord and tassel give a desirable personal touch, besides being eminently useful for storing away collars and shirt waists that have been worn.

Whether a girl does fancy needlework or not, a workbasket lined with bright colored cloth or silk and fitted with black and white thread in both silk and cotton as well as any other shades that correspond with the frocks she possesses should be a part of the contents, for they may be needed at any time to mend a rent in the material or to sew up a seam that is ripped. Then, too, darning cotton and an egg shaped darning must be included, for holes in stockings should be mended, and careful girls will find a well equipped workbox with plenty of needles of all sizes, scissors and bodkins an advantage in keeping their wardrobe in condition.

In cases of emergency a small medicine chest will be found useful, and the mother who provides one for her daughter before she leaves home for the year will have supplied her with the means of caring for a cold, curing a headache, serving for a cut or healing a bruised spot that might cause suffering except for the home remedies. In this chest there should be, besides the cold cream for chapped hands and skins roughened by the harsh winds, alsa, a simple cough mixture and one of the Sun cholera mixtures.

Another chest that should be carefully prepared is the toilet chest, with all the necessities for a comfortable and refreshing bath. It should include at least half a dozen cakes of good soap, such as castile or any of the white varieties that are free from scent; two bottles of a choice toilet water, either violet, lemon verbena or a scent that girls prefer; and a box or two of talcum powder.

There should be half a dozen large bath towels; a dozen wash rags in addition to a dozen hand towels, for a girl should never be skimped on these articles necessary for personal cleanliness, as well as for health. A large sponge, a brush for the nails and perhaps one for the face and body may be included in this wash list if not too expensive.—New York Telegram.

To Make an Oil Stove Burn Well.

Thoroughly clean and refill every time after using. If you allow oil and dirt to accumulate on it, it is sure to smell unpleasant when lighted. Don't cut the wick, but rub off the charred parts with a rag or a piece of paper. Always turn the wick down before extinguishing it and leave turned down till you are going to light it again. Remember that the top of the lamp and down which the wick runs needs to be kept thoroughly clean. Give it a rub inside and outside every time you clean the stove, and if a crescent forms round the top scrape it occasionally.

BEAUTY AND STRENGTH.

Illuminating Discourse on the Properties of True Character.

The necessity of both beauty and strength in life, and the imperfection of life when either of these qualities is lacking, were the central thoughts of an interesting and impressive sermon by Rev. Prof. Wither, of San Francisco, at St. Andrew's Church, Toronto, on the second Sunday. The thoughts of the sermon were suggested by the building of the pillars in the porch of Solomon's temple, as described in the seventh chapter of first Kings, part of the twenty-second verse, reading, "And upon the top of the pillars was lily work." "In those pillars strength was topped by beauty," said the speaker. "Those were the heroic days of labor; the course of all our work to-day is that we have lost the idea of God in it. The highest conception of religion is the getting of it into lowly things, and work faithfully done is worship. In our day there is great desire for the lily work without the pillars; thousands of men would like to have the virtues of their fathers, but they have not their fathers' faith. These are the days in which many want the beauty without the work of putting in the solid foundation."

"The decay of principles to-day," continued Mr. Wither, "is alarming to all but the flippant. I wonder what we would do if we had the slave question to settle today. We sing, 'Onward, Christian Soldiers,' but much of our singing of that hymn is a mockery. This is a generation which yields itself to trifles light as air. This age tolerates a religious life, but the religious man is not supposed to give expression to his convictions."

Dealing with the other side of the subject, that is, that strength alone is not sufficient, the preacher pointed out that nature shaped itself to loveliness, and that beauty was wrought in all its patterns. The world owed much to the Puritans, but a higher type of man was he who put his seal into man's tenderness, gentleness and refinement. Some men were so conscientious that they exhibited diabolical qualities, and some business men conducted their business so punctiliously that, in spite of their honesty, nobody liked them. There were some such people whom we wanted to "meet in heaven," but did not want to meet very often on earth.

Lack of beauty in life was as much a sin against Christ as was lack of strength, said the preacher. Christ combined strength and beauty, and it was for the people of to-day to follow his example. History gave examples of great men of the same age, some of whom had showed great strength, and the others strength combined with beauty. Napoleon had been mighty with his sword, and had convulsed a continent, but Scott had been mighty with his pen and had found "sermons in stones, books in the running brooks, and God in everything." In 1871 Napoleon's monument had been hurled down, but in the same year Scott's had been wroth in flowers. Carlyle had had a powerful and profound intellect, and had been a good father, but Ruskin had incarnated in his life the beauty of which he wrote.

Lady Sybil's Nerve. Very happy was the inspiration which led Lady Grey to take a trip to Newfoundland for whatever of the future nothing but good can come of each side knowing the other better. Newfoundlanders have been captivated by the good sense and graciousness of Earl Grey and the presence of His Excellency's family aroused that personal and human interest which is so much of the bond between the different parts of the Empire. One of the incidents which brought the party in touch with the people of Newfoundland is thus chronicled in The West Coast Star: "Lady Sybil Grey had a very exciting experience one day last week while fishing Harry's Brook. She hooked a large salmon in Green Camp Pool, and after making a leap or two in the pool, and started the fish, when it headed down stream. It was very gamy, and in order to have the salmon, Lady Sybil had to follow it for about half a mile, over slippery stones through nearly two feet of water. The fish was finally captured after fighting it an hour and ten minutes. It tipped the scales at 11 pounds."

SOME EXCUSE. Science has proved, said the professor of astronomy, that there is no water at all in the moon. Now, what do you decide from that? That there is some excuse, replied the freshman, for its getting full so regularly.

TWO MEN WERE KILLED

The Auto Races In New York Have Commenced With Same Results

THE VANDERBILT CUP

New York, N. Y., Oct. 8.—France Saturday won the third international automobile road race for the William K. Vanderbilt Jr. cup, completing a record of three straight victories in this event, which is run over the turnpike of Long Island, the centre of the course being about 20 miles from New York City.

Justly second in the race, France filled third and fourth positions, while Germany furnished the fifth car. Only these five machines completed the tenth and last lap of the irregular rectangular course, which was 29.71 miles in length. The total distance of the race was 297.1 miles, and Louis Wagner, driver of the winning car, made the distance in 290 minutes 20.25 seconds, a speed of more than a mile a minute for the entire distance.

A Spectator Killed. One of the more than two hundred thousand spectators who lined the course paid with his life the penalty of too great curiosity. He was near the dangerous turn in the course known as Krug's Corner. Two cars had flashed by when the man ventured out upon the road to get a better view of the others coming. The French car, driven by Elliot F. Shepard, an American, crashed into the unfortunate man, who, in the view of thousands, was hurled high into the air. When picked up many yards from the scene of the accident the man was dead. His skull had been fractured both legs broken and he was frightfully crushed. After a few minutes he was identified as Kurt L. Gruener, a business man of Passaic, N.J.

Mcny Others Hurt. Joseph Tracy, in his American car, crashed into a crowd of men and boys and seriously injured Sylvester Baldwin, a boy of Norwalk, Conn. Several others were slightly hurt. Tracy held the course. Dr. Wallace, an amateur driver of an Italian car, lost control of his big 120 horse-power machine in the first round. He ran down two boys on a bicycle, then plunged down a 30 foot embankment. Both the driver and Colombo, his mechanic, were picked up unconscious, but quickly were revived. The injured boys are John Brooks and Robert Ten Brook, both living near the course. Several persons were run down by touring cars in the crash going to and returning from the race.

The Vanderbilt Cup again goes into the possession of France, and the next time probably will be raced for in that country. Sheriff Gherlesie said he did not intend to arrest Elliot F. Shepard in connection with the killing of K. L. Gruener on the Vanderbilt Cup course Saturday.

This is the list of deplorable accidents issued later than first account:

The Dead. Kurt L. Gruener, aged 35, married, Passaic; got on course in front of Elliot F. Shepard's machine. Joseph A. Stadler, Long Island City; killed by auto on its way to the races.

The Dying. Ralph Baldwin, aged 14, of South Norwalk, Conn.; struck by Tracy's machine, which left the course at the sharp East Norwich turn; leg broken and internal injuries.

Mary Gegan, New York, run down in Thirty-Ninth street by race bound auto; three ribs broken and internal injuries.

Felix Salzkroge, run down in Hoffman boulevard, Long Island City, back broken.

The Injured. John Crooks, aged 14, Fort Washington, L. I.; hit by Wellschott's racer when steering gear failed; cut and bruised.

Lionel W. Williams, in collision with race bound auto; knee cap broken.

Robert A. Streiten, run down in his auto by repair car in Jericho turnpike; knee cap broken and internal injuries.

Tony Colucci, run down by an auto on Brooklyn bridge; badly bruised.

Fatality to An Electrician. Niagara Falls, Ont., Oct. 8.—William H. Keller, night electrician at the Niagara Falls, St. Catharines & Toronto Railway power station, was killed by getting in contact with the electric machinery somehow about 10 o'clock Friday evening. He was alone in the building, and, on it being noticed that the motor was short-circuited, Conductor Brown was sent out and found Keller on the floor, unconscious, and badly burnt on both arms. Medical assistance was called, but the young man died about 1 a. m., never regaining consciousness. Keller was 25 years of age, unmarried, and lived with his widowed mother.

Killed at Burketon. Bowmanville, Ont. 8.—A strange man was killed on the C. P. R. track near Burketon Saturday by being run over by a train. He had given his name as Ryley, was fairly well dressed in dark clothes and light hat, aged about five feet seven inches high, and weighed 160 pounds. He had sharp features and wore whiskers and moustache. The body will be buried this afternoon, if not claimed. He had in his pockets some money, a watch and some papers, among which was the name of W. Hutchison, 115 North MacNab street, Hamilton.

Killed by Yard Engine. Kingston, Ont. 8.—John McDonald, a sailor, whose home is in Ganouque, met a terrible death at noon Saturday while under the influence of liquor. The suburban engine was backing some freight cars to the city yard, when McDonald got on the track and was knocked down, the wheels crushing his head.

Captain Falls Overboard. Southampton, Oct. 8.—The schooner Julia Larson arrived Saturday afternoon and reports losing her captain, James Mitchell of Goderich, overboard, about eight miles off here, during the sale of that day.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

At the Brisco Opera House—
John Griffith—Oct. 11.

The following is taken from the Ottawa Evening Journal of Sept. 20, 1906:

The presentation of King Richard the Third in the Russell theatre yesterday, with John Griffith in the title role, was decidedly well received by the audience at the afternoon and evening performances. It was a remarkably real and vivid portrayal of character on the part of Mr. Griffith, calling for a big amount of physical and mental effort. His capable acting was made additionally effective by his realistic make-up as a hunch-back with a deformed leg. All through the presentation of the play the interest of the spectators never flagged and there was considerable appreciation. Good support was given to Mr. Griffith by a capable company, including Charles Sutton as King Henry VI. and William Lloyd as the Duke of Richmond and Buckingham. Other members of the cast filled their roles acceptably. A feature of the production was a wealth of splendid costumes, which added much to the effectiveness of the presentation.

Date for Chatham is Thursday, October 11th.

JOHN GRIFFITH

fective by his realistic make-up as a hunch-back with a deformed leg. All through the presentation of the play the interest of the spectators never flagged and there was considerable appreciation. Good support was given to Mr. Griffith by a capable company, including Charles Sutton as King Henry VI. and William Lloyd as the Duke of Richmond and Buckingham. Other members of the cast filled their roles acceptably. A feature of the production was a wealth of splendid costumes, which added much to the effectiveness of the presentation.

TWO STRUNG UP TO TREE

A Big Crowd Then Leaves Mobile To Burn The Bodies

TWO NEGRO PRISONERS

Mobile, Ala., Oct. 8.—Two hundred masked men met Sheriff Powers with the two negroes charged with criminal assault at Richardson Switch, three miles north of Mobile, on the Southern Railway, took his prisoners from him on Saturday morning and hanged them on the spot.

No others were hurt.

The negroes had been taken to Birmingham for safe-keeping and were being brought to Mobile for trial.

Tremendous crowds surrounded the railroad station during the morning, and when the report of the lynching of the negroes was received the greatest excitement prevailed.

The crowd was apparently dissatisfied with the method of lynching, and a mob has departed for the scene of the lynching with the declared intention of burning the bodies.

SLAIN BY FIEND.

Eight-Year-Old Child Assaulted and Killed by Negro.

Monessen, Pa., Oct. 8.—Anna Kunpak, eight years old, was found murdered in a field near here yesterday, with her throat cut. From the appearance of the body, the child had been assaulted.

She left home early Saturday evening to bring the cow in, and never returned. After an all-night search, the body was found in a lonely spot, partially covered with ashes.

Upon approaching the spot, the men saw a negro running rapidly through a piece of woods nearby. He is being searched for.

Riot Follows Shooting.

Macon, Va., Oct. 8.—Charles Adams and William S. Omon, young white men, last night were shot by a negro and seriously injured, at the fair grounds during an encounter followed by alleged insults offered by the negro to young women they were escorting. The negro was arrested, and a general riot followed. There were no further casualties.

Negro Lynched.

Little Rock, A. S., Oct. 8.—A negro has just been lynched in Argentina.

Lynching in Michigan.

Basin, Mich., Oct. 8.—A negro Saturday attempted criminal assault on Mrs. Ketchum of this town. He was captured and lynched.

KICKED TO DEATH.

Two Winnipeg Bartenders Under Arrest and Bail Refused.

Winnipeg, Oct. 8.—Thomas Humphries of Minto, Man., was killed in the Stock Exchange Hotel on Saturday evening.

Two bartenders at the hotel are under arrest, charged with causing his death. The information obtained by the police is to the effect that Humphries went to the hotel about 7.30 and got into an altercation with the bartenders about change. It is said a fight ensued, and during the mix-up the victim was kicked over the heart.

He was removed to the boarding-house, where he died in fifteen minutes. Bail has been refused the men arrested, pending the coroner's enquiry, which is to take place to-night.

For Slaying His Brother.

Carleton Place, Oct. 8.—The preliminary hearing of George Bradley, who is accused of slaying his brother John, will take place on Tuesday. It is expected that Miss E. Parsons, who saw the brawl from Mr. Blair's cottage, will give testimony. The prisoner is very disconsolate. Though his life was unmarked by great industry his moral character was never before seriously questioned.

Thief Gets Five Years.

Brookville, Oct. 8.—Atwood, the convict, who robbed several postoffices in the district across the line from here, was found guilty and given five years. He was also condemned to pay a fine of $2,000.

$3,000 Jewel Robbery.

Toronto, Oct. 8.—There were no developments yesterday in the theft of jewelry from Mrs. Deur, a resident at the King Edward hotel. Mrs. Deur, however, stating that the amount of loss was not $3,000, would not discuss the matter. The police, too, were uncommunicative.

Van Horne's Gift to U. S.

New York, Oct. 8.—Sir Caspar Pargson Clarke, director of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, gave a private view of some of the museum's recent accessions. On an easel in the room in which all accessions will hereafter be shown for a month before being assigned to their proper galleries is William M. Chase's "Carmenita." This canvas was painted by Mr. Chase some years ago. It is a gift to the museum from Sir William Van Horne.

Lord Mayor's Procession.

London, Oct. 8.—Sir William Trevelock, lord mayor elect, has made a new departure in regard to the traditional parade. Instead of the traditional parade there will be a procession consisting of the representation in costume of seven centuries of civic life. There will be seven groups of ten persons each. Each group will illustrate the lord mayors and sheriffs of a century, and will be dressed in the costumes of that particular time.
