CORRESPONDENCE

Sir:—

Somebody called a meeting at Halifax during Exhibition week to discuss good roads. I do not know who called the meeting, but from the reports published in both the Herald and Chronicle I should judge that he had the whole thing cut and dried in advance. Of course the farmers attended and a lot of people other than farmers attended, but the reports savor to me of an attempt to help Premier Murray out of a hole. I may be wrong, but I notice that the moving spirit was G. Fred Pearson, the bosom friend of Premier Murray and the managing editor of the Chronicle, the paper which was as dumb as an oyster on the good roads question at the time of the local elections. Mr. Pearson's paper has recently been advocating the taking of the good roads question out of politics and the proceedings of the meeting held in Halifax as given in Halifax papers seems to let the cat out of the bag. From that report I glean that Councillor Schurman, of Hants, urged the roads be taken out of politics, that statute labor be abolished and that some form of direct taxation be adopted. Dr. Smith of Dartmouth, moved that the meeting declare itself in favor of the abolishment of the statute labor law and G. Fred Pearson thought that such a resolution should be left until after the municipal elections.

There's the whole story. Abolition of the strange labor law, direct taxation for good roads, but the postponing of these drastic measures until after the municipal elections. Mr. Pearson may consider himself very shrewd but there is not a farmer in the Province who will not see through his little game once it is brought to his attention.

Who is going to pay for the good roads? Not the city man with his high power auto which cuts up the roads and makes them worse than ever. Not the men in the towns. Then who? Why, the farmer.

But don't do anything with it until after the municipal elections. Don't let the farmer know or he will get on his high horse and spill the beans.

That is a great solution surely. The Government will be asked by the good roads association to abolish statute labor and to resort to direct taxation. It will gracefully bow to the wishes of the association and then it will take the question "out of politics" by appointing an "independent" commission and if the farmer kicks he and the "independent" commission will get the blame.

Nice little scheme that to help the Hon. George Murray over his hill. Will the farmer stand for it?

I understand Premier Murray has a good roads scheme which calls for direct taxation and this looks as though he were trying to get the approval of the farmer without letting the farmer know what he is approving of. It looks to me as though Mr. Murray, through Mr. Pearson, gave the farmers the "once over," at this meeting, but once they get wise to the little game they will not be fooled the second time.

Let the farmer keep his ear to the ground. Don't let him be caught napping. Direct taxation forsooth and the farmer pay the piper. Not on your life if he knows it.

"SOLD BY W. W. ROCKWELL"

A Zeppelin Air Raid

Dear Sir:

I thought the following letter from my father in England might be of interest to some of the readers, so am sending this clipping along. It gives us a little idea what sort of times they having now and then.

Mrs. J. Mullett, Canning

My dear daughter,—

I am sending this letter to tell you that we have just come through one of our biggest air raids, and I do not know what kind of garbled account you may have had of it. You have no doubt been told that one of the airships was brought down near us, but we are all quite safely through it. But, as the bringing down of the Zepp is an historic event, I had better tell you what really happened and you will have a good idea of the sort of things we have to put up with on raid nights. Just then I was on the day-shift, so was home on Saturday night. At about 11.45 p. m. I was just taking off my boots ready to go to bed (the last one up as usual), when someone knocked at the street door and Clem called out to me to go and tell them he'd be down in a minute. I opened the door, and someone in the pitch darkness said:—Quick!

I am special Constable, and we knew then that a raid was on. I put my things on and your mother and the girls came down into the breakfast parlor with a few valuables they have in a little box all handy. You know that the lowest part of the house is the safest, as a bomb dropped on the roof shatters the top rooms and the lower ones often escape. Well, I went to the top of the house to have a look round, the house being a three storied one we can see for miles round back and front. On looking round I saw the sky dabbled with patches of light flitting about the sky as if pieces of cloud had broken up and "come to life." They were seeking the Zepps you must know that they can cut off the beams of search light so that you can't see where they came from. I could not see or hear anything about, but I know that all the factory were all shut down, and in silence waiting for what might come. I should have liked to have gone into the fields where I could have had a wide view, but could not leave the women by themselves, so we sat in the parlor and waited. At last your mother called out "Hark! there's the guns and bombs going and the shells flying up hear them in the distance, so I ran upstairs and looked out of the window, and then could both see and hear the guns going and the shells flying up from all points. Then the big guns behind and in front of us began to send their shells shrieking over us and bursting with a roar and a black SHRDL with a roar and a flash, and I knew it was about time I went down stairs because the pieces of shell and shot coming down a great height may crash through the roof. Just as I was about to turn from the window I suddenly became aware that I had stopped a bit too long, for the shooting seemed to be coming right at me; and I could hear the downward rush of the bombs as they came through the air. So I rushed down stairs and got your mother and the girls into the middle passage so that if a bomb struck either the front or back of the house we were in the safest place. It dropped several bombs before it reached us and on the other side of the road just a little further on. Then the firing stopped for a bit, and when it began your mother said "Hark, that's a pom-pom,"—(a machine gun) up in the air." I heard it was past us, over the fields in front so I opened the door of the shop to look out of the big window, and suddenly there was a burst of dazzling light as if the sun had blazed out, and we saw the Zepp in a mass of flames. It turned over and came down endwise, burning fiercely like a great fire-balloon, drifting away in the direction it was going when struck by the aeroplane. It came down in a field about 3 miles away and did no harm to anything in falling. Later in the day I walked over and saw the soldiers packing the remains of the Zepp into motor lorries and taking them away. The girls were plucky and kept quite cool, though of course were a bit shaky. At daylight Clem and I went around to see what damage was done.

Well, you may talk of wonders of the past, but what do you think of this? With all these bombs dropped there was not a single person hurt all round us or anywhere in London. Plenty of windows and houses damaged but no one (but a little girl I was talking to, who told me she had a bump on her head) really hurt. As a specimen of what a bomb can do, take the case of a cottage up a lane opposite here. The folks all came down and sat in the parlors, and it dropped into the back yard, smashed the whole back of the house upstairs, and down, washing machine and flung it into the fields. And never hurt a soul. Five bombs were dropped onto the field and fell into clay and did not explode. Almost wonderfully lucky was it not? Don't waste any sympathy on us because in passing over a little village down Harboro way they dropped a bomb onto a group of innocent woman 2 little sisters (the children of the blacksmith) and wounded 28 others. I am sending you a paper with some of the pictures I saw taken. Now I must stop. Lots of love to all. From FATHER

SELF SACRIFICE

Could anything better illustrate the point of self-sacrifice than the following anecdote:

One scorching day when his comrades were nearly prostrated, he was seen carrying his own gun and another's, two cartridge belts, two knapsacks and a dog. The colonel stopped him.

"Look here, you marched all yesterday and fought all last night," the colonel said.

"Yes, sir," said the young soldier respectfully.

"Well, then, what are you carrying that dog for?"

"—cause, colonel," said the soldier, "the dog's tired."

LEAD, KINDLY LIGHT

Lead, kindly light, the bells are softly telling;
 Till night be gone;
 In many a heart the silent song is welling—
 Leading Thou me on;
 Oh, bells! That sing the hymns my mother sung—
 Oh, bells! That sing the hymns my mother sung—
 Lead Thou me on!
 Life's cup I left, with braver lips to drain it.
 For that ye sing;
 My cross I kiss, nor may I dare disdain it.
 Oh, bells! Ye voice the voice of one passed on!
 Oh, bells! Till night be gone—till night be gone!

I hear the grasses 'o'er a dead face growing
 Beyond your song;
 From out the year, my mother's sweet eyes showing—
 And night is gone;
 Oh, bells! That sing about the rain and cold!
 Oh, bells! That sing 'ajar the gates of gold!

Lead, kindly light, the bells are softly pealing—
 Lead Thou me on;
 A child again against her heart-beats kneeling—
 Till night be gone;
 Oh, bells! Till night be gone—lous story on—
 Oh, bells! Till night be gone—till night be gone!

MARITIME MEN BORE THE BRUNT OF HUN ATTACKS AT COURCELETTE
 London, Sept. 25—Nova Scotia and New Brunswick battalions bore the brunt of the fierce counter attacks which the Germans made at Courcellette. Once the enemy managed to gain a foothold on the outskirts of the village, but after an hour's hard bombing they were driven out. A wounded maritime officer just arrived in London describes the repulse of these onslaughts as the toughest he has been in during three days fighting. The Huns seem to have supreme contempt for death, he said. "Our machine guns decimated them, but others pressed on, though in bayonet fighting and clubbing they were no match for the Canadians who had tasted the glory of victory in the offensive."

BERLIN PUBLIC STUNNED BY ZEPPELIN LOSSES

New York, Sept. 25—A news agency despatch from Geneva today says:
 Loss of the two Zeppelins in Saturday night's air raid on England has stunned the Berlin public. Swiss correspondents in the German capital telegraphed today.
 No recent reverse on the battlefield has had such a depressing effect on the German people the correspondents reported.
 The two Zeppelins are understood to have been among the new aircraft turned out recently at the Friedrichshafen factory.

Roumanian Troops Won Victory Over the Teutons

Bucharest, Sept. 20—Roumanian troops have won a victory over the main Bulgarian, German and Turks forces in a battle at Enigae, Dobruja. It was officially announced. The fighting continues.

London, Sept. 20—Serbian troops have advanced to within seven miles of Monastir and are engaged in sharp fighting with the Bulgars, said a National Athens despatch today.

The Bulgarians have been driven from one trench position after another, much fighting is going on in the open. For the first time since the war in the Balkans began, cavalry are engaged at several points, along the serbo-Greek front.

A Central News despatch said it was learned from reliable sources that the Germans and Bulgarian staffs had left Monastir.

Four 112th Officers Saw Hun Zeppelin Brought Down.

A rare sight was witnessed by Major Parker, Lieut. Lithgow, Sergts. D. Cochran and A. P. Dill, of the 112th Battalion, when in London a few days ago, it was the occasion of the bringing down to earth of a monster enemy Zeppelin flying over London. "Jimmie" secured a button from the uniform of one of the crew and Don got away with a souvenir picking off the radiator.

The thorough-going extent of the censorship set up by England and her allies as the result of the war was brought home to the film industry, when a decree was signed in Ottawa permanently barring from exhibition in Canada the 5-part Vitagraph feature "The Suspect." This film was condemned because of its obvious reflection upon the Russian political system. The V. L. S. E. representatives are planning to resubmit the picture to the Board of Appeal at Ottawa. Australian censors are also busy. The "Kiss of Hate," (Metro) starring Ethel Barrymore, is held up. They contend that it shows Russia, a British ally, in an unfavorable light.

RELIEF FROM INDIGESTION

The Most Common Cause of This Trouble is Poor Blood

All conditions of depressed vitality tend to disturb the process of digestion. There is not a disturbed condition of life that may not affect digestion. But few causes of the trouble are so common as thin, weak, blood. It affects directly and at once the process of nutrition. Not only is the action of the gastric and intestinal glands diminished but the muscular action of the stomach is weakened. Nothing will more promptly restore digestive efficiency than good, red blood. Without it the normal activity of the stomach is impossible.

Thin, pale people who complain of indigestion must improve the condition of their blood to find relief. The most active blood builder in such cases is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They make the rich, red blood which quickly restores the digestive organs to their proper activity, and the dyspeptic who has hated the sight and smell of food now looks forward to meal time with pleasure. As proving the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in curing indigestion Miss Edith M. Smith, R. R. No. 4, Perth, Ont., says: "I can honestly say I owe my present good health to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. My stomach was terribly weak and I suffered from indigestion and sick headache, and was always very nervous. I was troubled this way for nearly three years, and in that time took a great deal of doctors' medicine, which, however, did not help me. I could not eat anything without experiencing the most agonizing pain. My sick headaches were most violent and I could not rest night or day. I was asked one day by a friend to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and consented to do so. After taking them some time I found they were helping me, and I continued to take them steadily for several months, until I found that I was completely cured. While taking the pills I gained both in strength and weight, and I feel it impossible to praise Dr. Williams' Pink Pills too highly."

You can procure these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ANOTHER GAIN FOR THE BRITISH

London, Sept. 26—The British troops have captured the villages of Morval and Lesboeurs, together with several lines of trenches on a six-mile front between Combles and Martinpuich, south of the Ancre river, says the official report from Britts. headquarters, issued about midnight. This front was penetrated to a depth of more than a mile. Many prisoners were taken and heavy losses were inflicted on the Germans.

It is reported from New York that a combination is being formed headed by the Shuberts and the Wm. A. Brady Co., together with 20 other theatre magnates, who have pooled $2,000,000 for the purpose of organizing 50 stock companies to fill engagements during the coming fall season. The object of the new move is to produce high class shows at as little cost as possible in order that the public may be enticed away

Cabinet to Resign.

London, September 29—"The Greek Ministerial Council held in Athens yesterday evening," says a wireless despatch from the Greek capital, "will be followed by the resignation of the Kalogeropoulos Cabinet and by the issue of a proclamation from King Constantine to the Greek nation."

BEST TWO DAYS
BRITISH ARMY HAS HAD IN FRANCE

British Front in France, Sept. 27, via London—The total number of prisoners, what are regarded in all quarters as the best two days' the British Army has had in France, approaches 5,000.

Through the night there was heavy fighting, while the British were pressing forward their guns in the path of the preceding day's gains.

More than 1,000 prisoners were taken in Thiepval and the Zollern work. In a military sense this work, lying between Thiepval and Courcellette, was regarded as more important than the crushed ruins of the village. Here, at the hinge of the battle front, with the old first line fortifications all the power guns could command has fought against every art of modern defence. German dugouts, which were so deep that could not penetrate them, had the 12-inch high explosive shell their doors closed in by debris from explosions. Indeed, with shell fire of all sorts, the British literally locked the Germans in their refuges, and under cover of its curtain appeared at the remaining open doorways of the dugouts, which were all connected with underground galleries, and marched out the occupants as prisoners.

"The Tanks," or new armored motor cars, assisted in the attack, overwhelming machine gun positions. The taking of Thiepval and Zollern work means that the German gun position around Grandcourt and in the valley of the Ancre have been revealed, and already the Germans are reported to have begun withdrawal of their batteries in that neighborhood.

London, Sept. 27—A despatch from Reuter's correspondent at British Headquarters in Northern France says: "The recent fighting illustrates how completely our army now has the upper hand. We are advancing with the deliberate calculation which is only possible to the side of irresistible strength. The German army in the West is now fighting a slow rear-guard action. The enemy gun fire also has been considerably less in volume than we had reason to anticipate from past experiences. I hear that a patrol, even the word cavalry is mentioned, has been forward into the positions where down to a very few days ago no horsemen could possibly have ventured."

GREEKS WILL CO-OPERATE WITH ALLIES

London, September 28—The Council of Greek Ministers has decided upon an agreement with King Constantine upon military co-operation with the Entente Powers, says a Reuter despatch from Athens dated Wednesday.

SIGHT-SEEING IN THE ROCKIES

THE enormous height of the mountains through which the Canadian Pacific passes is such that passengers are apt to miss the majesty of the scenery unless they are able to look up and see these snowclad peaks. Mount Sir Donald, for instance, is a mile higher than the railway track over which it towers. Those who sit on the platform of the observation car of course see everything, but the space here is limited. A great lift has therefore been made with the new type of open observation or sightseeing car which was placed on all through trains this summer on certain of the most picturesque districts in the Canadian Pacific Rockies, and on the local trains between Banff and Lake Louise.

RECRUIT IN CANADA OVER 60 YEARS AGO

Enlisting Repeating Itself In Current War—Forgotten Chapter in Our History

Ottawa, Sept. 23, '16—With Canada recruiting, training, and sending overseas thousands of her best and bravest for service in the greatest war ever waged in the history of the world, it may seem somewhat paltry to be resurrecting accounts of what was after all a comparatively small undertaking—the raising in 1858 of 100th Prince of Wales Royal Canadian Regiment. Yet, oddly enough, there are certain points of similarity between the experiences of 1858 and those of 1914-16, which lend to the story of the "Old Hundredth" a keen, present-day interest, and make it well worth while to recall what is unfortunately becoming an almost totally forgotten chapter in Canadian history.

During the course of the Crimean War, Canada had more than once expressed a desire to help the Mother Country by sending to her support forces of men raised in the colony, but these offers had all been refused. Then came the menace of the Indian Mutiny with all the fears and horrors it engendered, and again Canadian sentiment was roused to the point when it was felt that something tangible should be done to lend assistance in the hour of need. This time the proffer of aid was not rejected and the Governor-General, Sir Edmund Walker Head, was commissioned to raise a regiment for the Imperial service.

To recruit the necessary number of men, an ingenious scheme was evolved. Sir Edmund Head had the authority to appoint a certain number of the officers, these including the junior major, six captains, eight lieutenants, and four ensigns. He decided that each man applying for one of these commissions should be required to enlist a certain number of men. The major was to be responsible for two hundred, each captain for eighty, each lieutenant for forty, and each ensign for twenty. The result was most satisfactory. Within two or three months eleven hundred men had to be recruited and partially trained and held in readiness to sail for England.

BRITISH TROOPS CAPTURED MORVAL AND LESBOUEFS.

London, Sept. 26—The British have captured the villages of Morval and Lesbouefs, together with several lines of trenches on a six mile front between Combles Martinpuich, south of the Ancre River, says the official report from British Headquarters, issued about midnight. This front was penetrated to a depth of more than a mile. Many prisoners were taken and heavy losses were inflicted on the Germans.

"South of Ancre our troops attacked Monday and have been everywhere successful. Enemy positions were stormed on a front of about six miles between Combles and Martinpuich to a depth of more than a mile. The strongly fortified villages of Morval and Lesbouefs, together with several lines of trenches, have fallen into our hands.

"The village of Morval stands on the heights north of Combles and, with its subterranean quarries, trenches and wire entanglements constituted a formidable fortress. The possession of these two villages is of considerable military importance, and practically seer the enemy's communication with Combles.

"A large number of prisoners, machine guns and other war material were taken. Heavy losses were inflicted on the enemy. In comparison with the results achieved our losses have been, so far, comparatively small.

"On Sunday six enemy aeroplanes were destroyed in air fights, and at least three others were driven to the earth damaged. Three of our machines are missing."

THE WAR MOVING FORWARD FAVORABLY

Official Bulletins

Attacking simultaneously on an area of fifteen miles, running from Martinpuich to the Somme, the British and French forces have delivered another smashing blow on the German lines and pushed forward their positions for notable gains.

From Martinpuich to Combles a distance of six miles the British have driven in their wedge to a depth of more than a mile, and captured in the attack the important strategic towns of Lisboeufs and Morval, the latter a scant mile of Combles.

To the French fell the town of Rancourt, two miles east, and the outskirts of Fregicourt, one mile northwest of Combles. In addition, trenches near Fregicourt, in the vicinity of Bouchavesnes, and to the south from the vicinity of the Canal du Nord to the Somme were taken.

The capture of Morval by the British and of part of Fregicourt by the French, apparently seals the fate of Combles, which the Germans have stolidly held for weeks, despite the violent attacks thrown against it. The defenders of the virtually surrounded town have left to them for escape only the valley a mile in width, running north-northeast, and in the traversing of which they must come under the guns of the British and French, respectively, from Morval and the vicinity of Fregicourt. Another notable step in their approach upon Peronne is marked in the capture by the French of trenches in the Canal du Nord region.

Except in France there has been no important engagements on any of the various fronts. Berlin reports the repulse of Russian attacks in Volhynia, mountains. Petrograd is still silent as to the operations on the Galicia and the Carpathian eastern front, but unofficial advices say the Russians have begun a new offensive on a large scale in the hope of cutting down the counter-attacks of the Teutons and piercing their front before winter sets in. The Rumanians are still struggling for supremacy over the Teutonic allies in the Azurduk and Vulcan passes of the Transylvanian Alps, but according to Berlin all their attacks have been repulsed.

In the Macedonian campaign continued reports of successes for the entente allies come from their various chancelleries. The Bulgarians have captured a hill from the Bulgars. The Serbians have crossed the frontier into their own country and reached a position north of Krusograd, while the French northwest of Flarina have penetrated the outskirts of Petorak. The British to the north of Lake Tahinos, on the eastern end of the battle line, also report an advance, but Berlin says that all their attacks were repulsed.

POPULACE REVOLTS IN CHEMNITZ AFTER HEARING OF LOSSES

London, Sept. 20—Serious rioting, in which a number of lives were lost, occurred at Chemnitz on Saturday afternoon, according to a Central News despatch from The Hague. The despatch says that the rioting started when the news arrived of the heavy losses of Chemnitz workmen in the Somme battle.

Crowds assembled on the streets and sang "The Internationale." They refused to disperse and were charged by Hussars. Five Hussars were killed and forty civilians were killed and 300, armed with revolvers, were arrested.

A MOTHER, 1916

Where shall I lay the spirit of my son—for he is dead,
For he is dead and I must find his grave,
In the grey town amid the noise and stir?—but no, not here,
I wander far to rest my son—for he is dead,
For he is dead and I must find his grave,
The people of the town they catch my dress,
But I rush on for I must find a deep, quiet grave
Where I can lay my son, for he is dead,
For he is dead and I must find his grave,
I search the deep waters, but they shift and sigh;
Dim places where the trees are shaking—"Not not here."
Wear my feet to climb this last steep hill,
But I must find a place to lay my son, for he is dead,
For he is dead and I must find his grave,
Where the grass is blowing on the hill—and the young corn is growing—
There have I laid the spirit of my son—for he is dead
For he is dead—I have found his grave.
—Idonea Ingoldby, in London Daily News.

THERE'S A BATTLE TO FIGHT

There's a battle to fight—will you fight it?
There's a debt to be paid—will you pay?
There are grave wrongs to right—will you right them?
Then join as a man in the fray.
There's the cry of an outraged Belgium,
And about that the voice of our slain,
Those men who have died for our freedom—
Would you let all their striving be vain?
There's a grave that lies out near St. Julien;
It is filled with Canadian dead;
There are fields out there "Somewhere in Flanders"

With Canadian blood running red.

Yet by some the call passes unheeded
You let other men go, while you stay,
Don't you know it is you who are needed
To help the "Day," Britain's

"Day"
Let the slacker hang back if he wants to,
But if manhood's not dead you will go
To the aid of a country who needs you
Help vanquish her crime-

ridden foe.
There's a battle to fight—will you fight it?
There's a debt to be paid—will you pay?
There are grave wrongs to right—will you right them?
Then enlist for your country to-day.

—Elsie Hammond.

WEDDING BELLS

Best-McGill

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Waterville, was on the evening of Tuesday, September 12th the scene of an exceptionally pretty wedding, and one of interest to the many friends present. The principals were Miss Myrtle Inez Best, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Best, and Mr. Arthur Kendall, McGill.

The impressive double ring ceremony of the Presbyterian Church was performed by Rev. W. H. Spencer, B.A., assisted by Rev. J. A. Smith, of Berwick Methodist Church, the decorations were in charge of the choir, and were very beautiful. The green of potted plants and ferns exquisitely mingled with roses, sweet peas, and asters was a marvel of beauty. Preludes and wedding music were played by the organist of the church as the guests were being seated and to the lovely strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march the bridal party entered the church and were escorted by ushers to the chancel where amid a profusion of flowers they stood beneath a ribbon arch arranged to form a true lover's knot, with the pendant wedding bell suspended from the centre.

The bride was a picture of girlish beauty, in a gown of duchess satin with crystal banding. The bridal veil was arranged in a cap effect with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of carnations and maiden-hair fern, and was attended by Miss Hazel Ritchie, of Morden, looking very debonaire in a gown of ecru lace over mauve silk. She carried a quaint bouquet of sweet peas and mignonette. The groom was attired in the conventional broadcloth and was attended by Mr. Phillip Illsley of Somerset.

The ushers were Miss Adelia McBride wearing taffeta silk and Miss Gladys Durling in pink silk, with corsage bouquets, thus making the bridal party replete in loveliness and effective color scheme. Following the ceremony a dainty buffet luncheon was served to the bridal party at the home of Mrs. Burgess MacMahon, and amid a shower of sweet peas, the happy couple left by motor to points of interest throughout the Province, visiting Halifax and other towns.

Among the valuable wedding gifts were cheques, cut glass, silver and embroidered linen. The groom's gift to the bride was a necklace and pendant to the bridesmaid a pearl brooch and to the groomsmen a set of gold cuff links.

A mahogany parlor chair was given by the choir of St. Andrew's Church, of which the bride has been a valued member, and the leading soprano soloist for some years.

Serbia is said to lead in centenarians, and Ireland is a close second.

We know an insurance agent who always has a good list of prospects. When he closes one contract, he asks the insurer about any friends that might be interested, and often gets a note or a verbal message of recommendation to some of those friends.

Merchants could use similar methods to advantage, modified to suit their business. First give your customers perfect satisfaction; then get them to recommend you to their friends. If you sell a washer, wringer, stove, piano, a brand of paint, or baking powder, get your customer to write his experience and publish it in your advertisement.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Albert E. Eaton

The call to the Beyond came to Emily C., wife of Mr. Albert E. Eaton, Lower Canada, early Sunday morning last, aged 55 years, she had been ill for a number of years but during the last six weeks she remained in a critical condition death being almost daily expected. The funeral service was held on Monday last at 2.30 o'clock conducted by Rev. A. J. Prosser. A large number were in attendance and the sisters of the Ladies Aid Society with whom she long and faithfully labored in good works, dropped white flowers into the open grave.

Mrs. Eaton was a daughter of the late James Edward Lockwood for many years a merchant at Canada. She was a person of unusual energy and endearing qualities. Her noble life is reflected in the large family surviving. She leaves beside a sorrowing husband the following children: Nellie, wife of Mr. H. Frank Eaton, Kentville, Ross, now completing his theological course at Newton; Warren of Canning; Winnie, missionary at Palacoada, India, Gertrude, a graduate of Acadia, Evelyn and Emma at home and Kenneth of the 1st Canadian Contingent, who is now at home and recovering full strength from wounds received in Flanders.

Mrs. Eaton's death occurred very soon after that of her elder sister Myra H. Lockwood which took place at Boston, August 5th, after a long illness.
