BAPTIST CHURCH MEMORIAL TABLET

Unveiled at Sunday Morning Service—Splendid Address by Rev. Dr. MacDonald

On Sunday morning last at the Baptist church a memorial tablet erected by the congregation in honor of the sixteen young men connected therewith who made the supreme sacrifice in the Great War, was unveiled.

There was an unusually large gathering present to participate in the very appropriate dedicatory service. Among these were members of the local branch of the G. W. V. A. who marched from their quarters to the church, headed by the Wolfville band. The unveiling was performed by Paul W. Davidson, President of the Wolfville Great War Veterans' Association and the names and inscription upon the tablet were read by George C. Nowlan, Secretary of the G. W. V. A.—both companions and comrades in arms of the honored dead. E. O. Meisner sounded the solemn notes of the Last Post, and during the service Miss Evelyn Duncan sang "Land of Hope and Glory" with fine effect.

The speaker of the occasion was Col. Rev. Dr. J. H. MacDonald, C. B. E., who a few weeks ago retired from the pastorate of the church. He also conducted the service and performed the ceremony of dedication.

In his sermon he said it is fitting we erect this remembrance to our beloved dead in the place where we are wont to worship God.

These men are worthy of all honor. It was a heavy demand our country made upon them to give up their pursuits and prospects. They did not shrink from the call, but responded cheerfully to it. They made no complaint of the hardships they were called upon to endure. They treated them lightly, in fact. Their lives were not in the true sense taken from them. Their sacrifice was voluntary and therefore vicarious. They did not volunteer for war because they loved it. They hated war but they would not be away from it for anything. They surrendered personal liberty as the soldier must do, but they had a new sense of liberty vouchsafed them. God seemed far away and intended, yet he was never so near and so real. Death they dwelt continually under its shadow, yet looking into the faces of their fallen comrades for the first time they recognized death as a vanquished foe. War was indeed hell, but many of them found in it the first real glimpse of heaven, because it was their first real experience of unselfish service.

It is difficult for some of us to recognize these men as heroes. At home among us they were just ordinary beings like the rest of us. They showed no exceptional bravery or marked devotion. How then did it come to pass that in war they acquitted themselves so nobly and counted their lives not dear? The simple answer is that the God who inspired them to step into the breach also inspired them to do the utmost men can do, and this is why it is fitting we should honor their memory.

The children and young people who worship here will from time to time stand before this tablet and ask its meaning. You and others will tell them its story—a story which has grown so familiar that many of us are in danger of losing its significance. We desire our children to know that the heroic virtues are not confined to past generations and to countries remote from our own. We want them to know that real heroes were grown among us, in our own homes, our schools and churches. We want them to be assured of this in order that they may receive whatever inspiration it may bring to them, and that catching the spirit of those who honor, they may carry into the pursuits of peace something of the chivalry and devotion these men put into warfare. After the battle of Thermopylae the Greeks taught their children to recite the names of the three hundred Spartans, who with Leonidas, laid down their lives to save Europe from Asiatic hordes. It is by commemorating its great events and honoring its worthy dead that a nation attains to greatness.

We are doing our best to forget the war, and without doubt there are features of it we may well forget. But we must not permit ourselves to forget its sacrifices and its valor. It is significant that our Lord gave His disciples a memorial feast by which they and those who should come after them might keep in memory of his sacrifice. We may never be able to fathom the profound depths of its meaning, but it is manifest He would have us, by its observance, keep in touch with the sacrificial and the heroic, assuring us that in doing so our souls find their fittest nourishment. When one sees the sublime and the sacrificial and straightway forgets it, an influence sets in upon the soul which destroys its finest fibre. But when one sincerely honors the sacrificial and the heroic, his own soul is fed with spiritual food from an unseen source. The same applies, in a lesser degree of course, to our fitting remembrance this memorial commemorates. We may put what they have done from us, but we cannot do so without doing violence to our own souls. A wholesome and genuine remembrance of those who laid down their lives in a worthy cause has in it something akin to sacramental value. We are in the habit of speaking of these our comrades as dead. They are not dead. They are among our country's greatest assets. Their blood enriches the soil of Europe which some day will rejoice in the fruits of peace.

ABOUT BOOKS

[By THE ACADIAN'S REVIEWER]
The complete edition of Alice Mayne's poems (McClelland and Stewart) furnishes opportunity for those so inclined to make a definitive estimate of her rank as a poet. Like Gray, she wrote relatively little and took great pains to polish her verse. Like Gray, also, she may be regarded as a poet's poet. She is such not merely because of her excellent technique but also because of the subtlety of her imagination, which requires a fellow artist, or at least a connoisseur in poetry, fully to appreciate. She ponders much on the problems of life, and finds significance in what to the average person is trivial or commonplace; she even finds greater significance in what others had regarded as important. Among the best of her poems are those that deal with the march of mind, the progressive incarnation of love, and the processes of poetic creation. In the last she is supremely the poet's poet as far as subject-matter is concerned. Poets will delight also in her attitude toward the laws of verse. In them she finds not restraint, but liberty and the means to the richest poetic expression, not only in theory but also in practice, as is shown by her mastery of the sonnet form. Because of her penetrating imagination and technical skill, she will no doubt have a permanent place among the minor poets of England.

Francis Dickie's "The Master Breed" (McClelland and Stewart) is evidently a story based on the thesis that, though Nature is unjust, some men being born to rule, others to be ruled, yet it is the business of the "master breed", not to exploit those born weak, but recognizing that the two classes will always exist, to do everything possible to ameliorate their less-favored brothers. The thesis is embodied in a story abounding in physical conflict, with enough hand-to-hand fighting to satisfy the most ardent patrons of the ring. Readers unable to appreciate struggle on any other plane than the physical, will find few dull pages in the volume, and will be little bothered by the murdering of the English language that takes place very frequently when the author is telling the story in his own words.

PITCHER—HUTCHINSON

A marriage of interest was solemnized in the Methodist Church, Canning, which was prettily decorated with sweet peas and dahlias, on Wednesday morning of last week, when Avora May Hutchinson, daughter of Plomon Hutchinson, of Lockhartville, became the bride of Daniel Clarence Pitcher, son of Eli Pitcher, of Winterton, Newfoundland, Rev. Thomas W. Hodgson officiating. The bride was charming in a travelling suit of navy blue with hat of gray, and carried a shower bouquet of pink and white sweet peas, and was given in marriage by her father. The bridesmaid was Miss Flora B. West, of Halifax, who was lovely in a gown of sand color, the groomsmen being Mr. Avard Hutchinson, brother of the bride. The organist was Mrs. Charles Sinnett.

Mr. and Mrs. Pitcher will reside in Canning, where Mr. Pitcher, who is engaged in business, has leased the residence of William Irving.

MONDAY'S STORM

The storm which occurred on Monday of this week was one of the most severe ever experienced in this province. Rain began falling in the early morning and continued without interruption throughout the entire day, increasing in violence as the hours passed. At nightfall the wind which accompanied the storm increased in violence and did a great amount of damage. Orchards were badly wrecked and a very considerable portion of the apple crop was blown off. Many fruit and ornamental trees were up-rooted and the whole damage will aggregate thousands of dollars. The Wolfville electric service was put out of commission at about 10:30 in the evening by the falling of one of the high tension wires at the west end of the town, which made necessary the cutting out of the current in the public safety until morning.

AUTO DEMOLISHED IN COLLISION WITH TRAIN

In collision with a D. A. R. work train, a Nash car was demolished at Avonport crossing last Sunday afternoon, and five occupants of the car, including three women, escaped injury. The collision occurred at the notorious blind crossing, where many narrow escapes have been experienced by drivers of vehicles. The crossing is at a sunken spot, at the bottom of two grades, and on a curve, and its situation makes it impossible for a driver to see an approaching train. No alarm of any kind is provided at the crossing.

The unfortunate motorist on Sunday afternoon evidently failed to see the crossing until he was close upon it. He had sufficient presence of mind to swerve parallel with the track and the car which became overturned with the top toward the track was practically eaten away by the full length of the long train. How the occupants escaped is a miracle.

MIDDLETON YOUTHS DEFEAT WOLFVILLE

The Middleton High School baseball team scored an easy victory over the Wolfville High School nine here last Saturday, when they defeated the local boys by a score of 19 to 4. Both Prescott and Spinney pitched good ball for the locals but lacked support, whereas J. Wilson, of Middleton, who also pitched stellar ball, was well supported by his team-mates. The game was a return match, Wolfville having defeated the valley team at Middleton. M. Burgess and V. Reagh umpired. The teams: Middleton.—Keddy c, J. Wilson p, D. Wilson 1b, Bentley 2b, Parsons 3b, Baker ss, Chesley lf, Hoyt cf, Kelly rf. Wolfville.—Phinney c, Prescott p and cf, Graham 1b, Williams 2b, Johnson 3b, Regan ss, Eaton lf, Spinney cf and p, McKenna rf.

The regular fall sitting of the Supreme Court will open at the Court House, Kentville, on Tuesday of next week, Chief Justice Harris presiding.

THE I. O. D. E. FAIR

Wolfville Ladies Score Another Brilliant Success

The second annual bazaar and fair given by the Sir Robert Borden Chapter of the I. O. D. E., which was held in Evangelical rink on Thursday and Friday of last week, proved to be a decidedly interesting and successful function. The weather was ideal throughout and nothing happened to mar the pleasure of the occasion.

At two o'clock on Thursday the exercises opened with a parade of automobiles and bicycles starting from the school grounds. Although rather meagre in its proportions the individual pieces which made up the procession were most creditable and indicated much artistic skill and originality on the part of the designers. Had the competition been more generally entered into the result would have proved most gratifying. As it was the parade received a great deal of attention and most favorable comment.

The float which won the first prize was decorated by the members of the High School under the direction of Principal Silver. It was a very handsome car, trimmed with leaves, flowers, grains, etc. On a platform stood Majestic Canada and near was Nova Scotia and Little Wolfville. On each side of the car walked eight maidens, each representing a province of Canada and the territories, holding streamers attached to the car, the whole effect being most pleasing.

Mrs. Otto Fosha had an artistically decorated car with yellow crepe paper and yellow flowers, and all the occupants dressed in harmony with the car. It was a very handsome outfit.

Mrs. Justin Gates of Port Williams had a car whose decorations attracted much attention. It represented Free Masonry with the emblem arranged in flowers and leaves on the back and the whole car ornamented.

Mr. W. O. Pullisier was the only merchant who attempted a display and his car was a good advertisement for Red Rose Tea.

In decorated bicycles the winner of the prize was Miss May deWitt, as a Japanese lady. This was a pretty design, carried out in a most artistic manner. Competing closely with her was Miss Betty deWitt, as a most charming valentine; Master Kenneth Murphy, with his aeroplane; and Rex Porter with his mechanical horse, a very original device. These three all received honorable mention.

Others competing were Norman Phinney, riding under an ornamented arch; Jean Shaw, who looked like Autumn; Sam Cook, a Crusader; Buster Smith, Sunflower; Pauline Miller, Flower Girl; John Roach, Berries and Ferns; George McKenna, Black and White; Vernon Brown, Red Berries; and Ralph Creighton, Union Jack.

The parade was headed by a fancy dress musical band, and a band of boys and girls band accompanied it and rendered inspiring music. After traversing a number of streets it terminated at the rink where the winners of the prizes were announced. Mrs. (Dr.) Patterson, Mr. H. G. Harris, of Kentville, and Dr. J. H. MacDonald acted as judges. The prizes, a ten dollar gold-piece for the car and three dollars for the bicycle, were awarded by Mrs. H. W. Phinney, Regent of the I. O. D. E.

Evangelical Rink, where the fair was held again this year, was beautifully decorated for the occasion under the capable direction of Mrs. G. K. Prescott. In its dress of evergreens and autumn leaves, interspersed, with bunting and streamers, and with its rows of handsomely and artistically trimmed booths, it indeed presented a scene of enchantment. A large number of patrons were present both days, many coming from a distance. The booths, with their array of beautiful and useful articles, gave evidence of the energy and skill which the ladies had lavished on the undertaking and were generously patronized. Most attractive and amusing side-shows furnished plenty of fun for the young folks and the fish-pond and shooting gallery were always busy scenes. Where all the features were so good it would be unfair to institute comparisons.

The prize-winners in the various contests were as follows:

For the cake donated by the Crown Bakery the winners were—Mrs. C. N. Brandy, Mr. J. D. Harris and Mr. Bert Bruchman. All guessed the exact weight (7 lbs. 2 oz.), and the cake was divided between them.

Jimmy Gorham won the first prize and Mrs. Hugh Crawley second in the bean guessing contest. The correct number being 2177.

In the sugar contest Mrs. G. K. Prescott won first place and Mr. J. D. Harris second.

The umbrella-stand went to Mrs. Gertrude Burgess, who drew the lucky number.

Miss Sarah Eyer won the entrance ticket prize on the first day and for the second day the prize has not yet been applied for. The lucky number is 1072.

The net proceeds of the fair is something over eight hundred dollars which will assist very materially in the good work which is constantly being done for the community by the I. O. D. E.

TOWN COUNCIL IN SESSION

New By-Laws To Be Submitted At Next Meeting

The only absentee at the regular meeting of the Council on Wednesday evening was Coun. Eaton, who was out of town on a hunting trip. There was, however, the usual failure to be in attendance on the part of citizens, who ought to be present to manifest their interest in town affairs.

After the reading and confirming of the minutes of the last meeting the Town Manager presented a statement of the work done in the various departments during the month of September. The pay-roll for the month amounted to $202.55 made up as follows: Streets, $130.26; Water, $75.35; Sewer, $4.00.

Mr. Stairs also submitted an elaborate draft of new building by-laws proposed to take the place of those now in force, and Coun. Whidden, as chairman of the committee on by-laws, gave notice that at the first meeting in November he will move for the repeal of the present building by-laws and the substitution of these. It was decided that in the meantime an informal meeting shall be held when the builders of the town and others will be invited to be present and discuss the proposed changes.

Coun. Peck also gave notice that at the November meeting he will move the adoption of a code of traffic by-laws, which was submitted and filed.

Coun. Balcom, for the Finance Committee, reported the receipts during the past month $1967.63 and the expenditure for the same period $2844.12. The debit balance at the bank on Sept. 30th was $3242.71. The clerk reported $19,214.58 in unpaid taxes overdue.

The Finance Committee reported on the appeal from the assessment of M. J. Driscoll and on motion of Coun. Balcom the valuation was reduced from $300 to $50. The property in question is a lot on the old Fruit-land Improvement Co. holdings. It was assessed in 1921 at fifty dollars. Last year it was increased by the assessors to one hundred dollars and by the Appeal Court to three hundred dollars.

Coun. Peck reported that the two matters referred to the Committee on Water and Fire, viz., regarding conditions at the reservoir and the proposed new fire alarm, were being considered by the Town Manager.

The following bills were read and ordered to be paid:

Provincial Dept. of Health	$ 5.00
Has. Robertson & Co.	78.65
T. McAvity & Sons	103.95
T. McAvity & Sons	242.11
Lloyd Mfg. Co.	15.34
Burton Croft	14.00
Wright & Baltzer	10.18
Dr. G. E. Dewitt	16.50
Priest & Sons	9.50
Hotel of Kentville	15.50
Maritime Tel. & Telephone Co.	12.85
H. R. Pierce	7.95
Aubrey S. Dakin	7.00
A. M. Wheaton	5.22

An application was read from the Valley Laundry Co., asking for the granting of free water for use in their plant until the business had been placed upon a paying basis. The matter was referred to the Water Committee for report.

Coun. Peck's motion providing for an increase in the sewer frontage tax from fifty cents to seventy-five cents per foot was again introduced as per notice at a previous meeting. It was discussed at some length and deferred until a future meeting when all the members would be present.

Mayor Phinney read a letter from the Provincial Fire Marshall regarding the observance of Fire Prevention Day (Oct. 9th) but no action was taken.

Coun. Whidden reported regarding the resignation of Stipendiary Withrow and the existing vacancy in that office. No information has so far been received regarding a new appointment but it is expected that an interesting announcement will soon be made.

WINNING NOTORIETY

On Sunday night between 11 o'clock and midnight, Chief McDonald received a phone call from one of the camps near the Hydro Works, requesting his presence in that locality. The Chief secured a taxi and on arrival learned that a man under the influence of liquor had attempted to clean camp. The one man who remained in the camp was badly marked up from the blows of the intoxicated Wolfville resident, who was out on a spree. The officer was informed that the stranger had two kegs of liquor in his car near the Hants-Lunenburg Co. line and that the car was in the ditch disabled. Continuing on, Chief McDonald discovered the car but the man wanted and the supply of fire-water had disappeared. The number of the car had taken and at 2 a. m. the officer returned. The creator of the disturbance was notified to appear at Windsor on Wednesday morning to answer the charges laid against him.—Hants Journal.

Trinidad to Ontario

As a suggestion of how far the fame of Moir's Chocolates and Biscuits is spreading, one day brings orders from Demerara, Grenada, and Trinidad, from St. Pierre, Newfoundland and England, as well, of course, as from the Maritime Provinces, Quebec and Ontario. This particular day there were none from Western Provinces but on others shipments as far as British Columbia run into carloads.

"What part of the turkey do you care for?"
"I'm not fussy; just give me some of the meat."

That's the way many people feel about Moir's Chocolates—Hard Centres. Soft Centres, nuts or fruits—it doesn't matter as long as they are Moir's!

That's a great idea! Moir's Fig Bar Biscuits in miniature—dainty for afternoon serving. Ask for them under the name Fig Newton.

HANTSPORT NOTES.

The Lecture and Demonstration on "Better English" given by Miss Rosamond Archibald in the Empire Theatre on Thursday evening of last week, under the auspices of the Hantsport Women's Institute and the management of the School Board, was largely attended. Dr. Shankel, Chairman of the Board presided. Mr. K. Parker, Principal of the Hantsport School, also occupied a seat on the platform. Miss Archibald's address was interesting, instructive, and inspiring. She is to be highly commended for her untiring and zealous endeavors in the direction of securing a more correct use of the English Language in the Province. There was no meeting of the School Board on Monday evening, none of the members being present at the hour appointed.

THREE COUNTIES EXHIBITION

At Kentville This Week One of the Best Ever Held

Ideal weather conditions and an excellent display of fruit and vegetables combined to make the Three Counties Exhibition at Aldershot this week one of the best ever held in the Valley. There was a good attendance each day and all seemed much interested in the produce and articles displayed.

The exhibition was officially opened Tuesday afternoon by Premier Armstrong who was introduced by A. E. McMahon, president of the exhibition, who congratulated managing director, Prof. Saxby Blair, Secretary W. E. Porter and the remainder of the committee on the success of the fair.

Premier Armstrong spoke of the wonderful display of fruit and stated it was one of the greatest, if not the greatest exhibition of fruit ever shown in Canada. He said that he believed in district exhibitions as it gives the people from all parts of the Valley a chance to meet once a year, compare their products and discuss different problems.

E. W. Robinson, M. P., paid a high tribute to the fine display of educational work, but deplored the small exhibits from the rural districts.

Other speakers were Col. Dennis, publicity agent for the C. P. R., who warmly congratulated the management on their fine display of fruit, and Prof. W. S. Blair.

A fine program of music was furnished during the afternoon and evening by the Kentville Citizens' Band.

This year's exhibition is one of the largest ever held in the Valley. Some idea of the products exhibited can be gained from the fact that there were over 600 plates of apples, 100 plates of plums and pears, 200 barrels of apples, 300 boxes of apples, large exhibits of roots and vegetables, 300 entries in the housekeeping and fancy work department. The school exhibits were probably the best ever shown, and conspicuous among them was the exhibit of the Wolfville school which carried off a majority of the prizes. Other schools which had exhibits were Kentville, Grand Pre, Port Williams, Church Street.

Special features in the main building were the wonderful displays of the Dominion Experimental Farms and the Dominion Entomological Laboratory. Other attractive exhibits in this building were those of Phinneys Limited and M. W. Graves & Co.

The exhibits of cattle and poultry were not up to the average, and the visitors to the fair were very much disappointed in that part of the exhibition.

Wednesday was Annapolis county day and there were a large number present from that part of the Valley. During the afternoon a splendid program was rendered by the Wolfville Band in front of Borden Hall which everyone found to be an interesting spot. Here Edson Graham had on exhibition a splendid collection of his hand tinted photographs which received the warmest praise of all. Other displays in this building were furnished by J. C. Mitchell, L. E. Shaw Ltd., Avonport; Avon Craft Shop Ltd., Hantsport; Alabastine Co.; T. P. Calkin and Baird Electric Co.; Kentville and by the Red Cross Society. In the evening the band played at the main building.

Yesterday was Hants county day and a special train from Windsor brought a large crowd who were accompanied by the Windsor Band, which furnished the music on the closing day.

As always the Midway was one of the most interesting features of the exhibition and all the booths did a flourishing business.

Horse races were held each day under the auspices of the Kentville Driving Club and drew large crowds of the followers of this sport.

The horse races on Tuesday resulted as follows:

RAFFLES AND LOTTERIES

The holding of raffles and lotteries seems to be on the increase notwithstanding that under the Criminal Code of Canada this is an indictable offence for which a severe penalty is imposed. There is, however, one notable exception by which authority is given the mayor, reeve or other chief officer of any town or city to give permission at any bazaar held for any charitable or religious object where value of the prize does not exceed fifty dollars, the object of such raffle having first been offered for sale. Quite a flurry was occasioned at Bridgewater recently where it was proposed to run lotteries in connection with a "fishermen's picnic". A citizen threatened to bring action by virtue of the Criminal Code to punish any such offenders. The matter was referred to legal opinion when the rather amazing and not altogether consistent section in the law was discovered. It must be remembered, however, that this exception only applies when the raffles or lotteries are held for a charitable or religious object and consent must then be secured in advance.

THE PROVINCE OF A NEWSPAPER

It would be comical, were it not somewhat pathetic, the way newspaper offices are besieged every day by their friends; urging them to "roast" this and that; to "see to it" that this and that is corrected; to have this and that done in the city or country; to start this and that kind of movement to correct evils in government. These friends actually appear to believe that it is the newspaper's business to handle all these affairs. But a self-respecting newspaper, though ready and willing to carry all responsibility, must remind its readers that they—the people—are the authority upon whom rests the responsibility for the present state of affairs, local, provincial and national. A self-respecting newspaper tries to report the news of what actually happens, not what it might wish had happened. The relation of such a newspaper to the general public is not always understood. It is the duty of a newspaper to be in a position to support any good act and to criticize any bad act of public policy. This relationship cannot exist where favors are asked and granted. Honesty is the only policy of a newspaper. If objectors do not like the way things are going, they should qualify as voters and then raise Cain about it.

BUYING POWER IN SMALL TOWNS

Politicians who doubt where the strength of a country lies should examine the report made from a survey of thirteen north-central states of the U. S. A. in relation to farm and town trade. It is found that in towns of 2,000 or less population, the farm trade represents about 76 per cent. of the total. In dry goods it represents 80 per cent.; in hardware, 85 per cent.; in building material, 80 per cent.; in furniture, 70 per cent.; and in clothing, 68 per cent. Automobiles are sold in these small towns to the extent of 80 per cent. of total consumption. These figures are startling and they run only slightly lower in towns of from 2,000 to 25,000. The small town consumption is more than fifty per cent. in every line. This survey shows where the market lies for manufactured goods. It emphasizes again the importance of national legislators looking after the interest of the farmer. The farmer is awakening to a sense of his strength politically and economically. Unless he receives more serious consideration he is likely to prove a troublesome factor. The writing is on the wall. Politicians both provincial and federal should keep their ears to the ground. The voice of the home town is well worth listening to.

A PROPOSED NEW INDUSTRY

Considerable interest has been occasioned of late by statements regarding the likelihood of a new industry in this Valley that should add considerably to the material prosperity of its people. The proposal is to establish a sugar refinery in the Western End of the province, the undertaking being made incidental upon the farmers of the Valley agreeing to enter into contracts to give the necessary quantities of sugar beets to ensure its economic carrying on. Such an industry as is proposed should prove of incalculable value to our people and is well worthy of their careful consideration. In order that our readers may the better understand what is involved in the proposed undertaking we are reprinting in this issue from a recent number of The Country Gentleman an account of what is being done along this line in the United States. The article will be found well worthy of careful perusal and we commend it to the public attention. The establishment of such an industry in the Annapolis Valley would mean to our people stable and remunerative occupation and the manufacture of cheap sugar at our doors making possible the organization of jam, jelly and preserve establishments throughout the fruit-growing sections of Nova Scotia, using thousands of tons of sugar which comes from the farm.

ARE YOU INTERESTED?

"Have you been down to Hamilton Park this summer? If not you missed a real treat and although the flowers are past their best it is not too late to enjoy the sight of much loveliness. When we remember what an unsightly, stinking dock used to be where now are great flower beds filled with beauty we bless the Hamiltons for their grand work in Hamilton Park. If more of us had the spirit which created this little beauty spot we would have the fairest town on earth." The above paragraph is taken from the editorial columns of our bright contemporary, the Pictou Advocate. We republish it because the lesson is so obviously applicable to Wolfville. What has been for years a blot upon the general loveliness of our town might easily become a thing of beauty. We refer to conditions at "the bridge" and would again invoke the civic pride and patriotism of our people. The story is an old one but is still a live issue. Wolfville possesses possibilities for a park system that are unsurpassed by any small town in Canada as any person who takes the trouble to investigate will readily observe, and the development of that which nature has provided is exceedingly simple in accomplishment. Haven't we some citizens who are public-spirited and far-seeing enough to lead in this matter? The call is to these.

IT'S A BIG INDUSTRY

If all the pulpwood consumed by the Canadian paper pulp and paper industry, in one year, were placed end to end it would stretch twelve times around the earth at the equator. The newspaper paper produced in Canada in one year would be sufficient to print your copy of your morning newspaper, every week day for 16,000,000 years. The water power used in the pulp and paper industry would provide light, heat and power for the industries and homes, and ample lighting for the streets, of the ten largest cities of Canada.

DON'TS FOR CHEQUE WRITERS

- Here is a list of "Don'ts for cheque writers" compiled by bankers as the result of their experience with fountains of depositors' signatures:
- 1.—Don't fail to write your cheques carefully, as carelessness may easily result in their being raised or altered. Be sure and write your words and figures so closely together that nothing may be added to them.
 - 2.—Don't fill in the amount of your cheque in the center of the dotted line printed for this purpose. Start right at the edge of the lefthand corner and write every letter clearly and carefully.
 - 3.—Don't leave any space between the alteration of the amount written and the line which you draw to fill up the vacant space.
 - 4.—Don't use an undulating line in filling in such gaps as may exist after you have filled in the amount of the cheque. Always use a ruler and draw a heavy, straight line.
 - 5.—Don't forget to see that the figures on your cheque correspond with the sum written in its body.
 - 6.—Don't forget, in writing in the numerals on your cheque to see that they are written so closely together that it is impossible to add any other figures either before or behind them. Start your figures close to the dollar sign and close them off sharply with the cents.
 - 7.—Don't put a period and two large "0's" for cents in your cheque. Always use the decimal sign and line with either "00" or "00/100" or "00/1000".
 - 8.—Don't forget the payee's name.
 - 9.—Don't forget that the payee's name is just as important an item in your cheque as the sum. Write it in carefully, beginning at the extreme left hand corner and keep the letters close together.
 - 10.—Don't permit any cheques to go out on which you have made an erasure or attempted to make one.
 - 11.—Don't write over any figure or letter in a cheque. All such marred cheques should be destroyed and others written.
 - 12.—Don't typewrite your cheques. These lend themselves admirably to alteration, as it is a comparatively easy task to erase a cheque filled in on an ordinary typewriter. Remember that the sight of a typewritten cheque carries joy to the heart of the forger!
 - 13.—Don't write cheques with a lead pencil or an indelible pencil.
 - 14.—Don't change your form of signature. Always sign your cheques in the same way.
 - 15.—Don't use counter cheques one day and your regular cheque form the next day. Always number your cheque and carry your cheque book with you.
 - 16.—Don't blot the ink used in writing your cheques, if possible.

SUGAR DOLLARS

Beet Growers See Two Roads to Next Profits—(By George Frederic Stratton in the Country Gentleman.)

There is a great staple crop raised in this country under more remarkable conditions of both production and marketing than any other from Portland, Maine, to Portland, Oregon, or from Key West to San Diego.

Before the farmer buys a pound of seed for planting, he knows exactly what the crop will sell for when harvested. High freight rates and car shortage cause him no more concern than does Lavater's study of physiognomy, for the crop goes direct to his customers without being loaded onto anything but his farm wagon or truck.

It is the sugar beet—the source of three-quarters of the sugar produced in this country—the other quarter being cane sugar. The acreage devoted to it runs to nearly one million, producing average times as many tons of the beets for which the growers received last year between $70,000,000 and $80,000,000.

It is grown in seventeen states: California, Washington and Nevada, comprising the Pacific Coast area with eighteen sugar factories; Utah, Idaho, Montana, Colorado, Wyoming, Kansas and Nebraska, comprising the Rocky Mountain area with fifty-five factories; and the Midwest, Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, with thirty-three factories.

Some idea of the size and importance of this crop may be gained from the fact that not one of those 106 factories cost much less than a million dollars; many of them cost far more. The total capitalization of all the sugar companies is nearly $150,000,000, which is some investment in a crop of which people on the sunny side of the Mississippi River know very little and hear least.

And there is a by-product of the great crop of which nearly all people on the sunset side of the big river, excepting the growers, are as ignorant. Not only do those factories furnish the nation with upwards of a million tons of sugar each year, but cattle and sheep are fattened and the finest quality of beef and lamb is produced from the by-products.

Farmer-Factory Cooperation The factories are all operated by stock companies owning from one to sixteen of the plants each. The largest is the Great Western, of Colorado, with sixteen plants in Colorado, Montana, Nevada and Wyoming. Next comes the Utah-Idaho Sugar Company, of Utah, with fifteen plants in Utah, Idaho and Washington, and the Amalgamated Sugar Company, also of Utah, with eight plants in Utah and Idaho.

Some of the others are owned by companies of which the farmers are stockholders. Their production is chiefly in Colorado, Idaho and Utah.

In describing the organization and cooperation which govern the industry it is necessary to explain first that not one of the great factories has been built until the farmers in the proposed district have agreed to grow sufficient beets. From 4000 to 5000 acres is the minimum that will furnish sufficient material to operate a factory and when that quantity is assured the factory is built right in that district.

Consequently with a very few exceptions no grower is distant more than three or four miles from his market. Every winter, meetings are held by the farmers of that district, or it may be of the whole state, to discuss the contracts for the coming year. Representatives of the manufacturing companies attend and the price to be paid for the beets, the acreage each farmer will plant and other minor details are settled—an individual contract being made with each grower.

Carefully Chosen Seed Seed is obtained by the sugar companies chiefly from Belgium, Russia and Germany, although some excellent seed has recently been raised in this country on factory experimental farms and by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Whatever the source, it is the companies who obtain the seed and test it thoroughly to insure its perfect fertility and quality. Then it is sold to the growers at cost. Planting is by the farmers. Deep plowing is necessary and in a new district where perhaps, some farmers have not efficient horse power, the company sends in a tractor gang plow and harrow and prepares the soil, charging the grower actual cost—sixty-five cents an acre, last year.

Thinning the young plants, a very necessary and tedious hand job, is usually done on a fairly large acreage by tramp labor

It was good for a hundred years but fire destroyed it. FIRE danger lurks in every home. No matter how well-built it is, fire can destroy it in a few hours. Investment, property, furnishings—all may be lost unless insured. Financial protection against loss from fire for you lies in carrying adequate fire insurance.

This agency of the Hartford Fire Insurance Company will explain to you how Hartford policies have served property-owners for over a century as a means of indemnity for loss caused by fire.

H. P. DAVIDSON INSURANCE WOLFVILLE, N. S. Phone 217 P. O. Box 462

Japs or Mexicans. Here again the companies help by bringing in such labor from the Mexican Border or California who contract at so much an acre to do the thinning and topping.

The growers attend to the cultivation and irrigation through the summer. Experienced field agents of the company visit every farm frequently, noting the progress of the crop, diagnosing any appearance of trouble and giving advice—especially on the irrigation.

No harvesting is commenced by any grower until the company gives the word, for the growing season is prolonged as long as it is deemed safe from a hard freeze. Also this delay enables the farmer to get his other crops—potatoes or fruit—out of the way.

Payments are made within a month after delivery on a large portion of the crop; any balance being liquidated when all the beets are worked up, which never takes more than a hundred days. At any time after planting, if the grower needs some cash to pay help or buy some machine, the company advances him money without any delay or red tape.

Up until the days of the late unpleasantness, the price of the beets was flat, irrespective of condition. Since then a sliding scale has been adopted. A minimum price is first fixed and a bonus for sugar content above a definite percentage. Also the wholesale price of the sugar when marketed contributes to that bonus.

Thus, last year the minimum price was fixed at $5.50 a ton to be paid no matter how low Cuban competition smashed the price of sugar. But through the winter, as the sugar was sold, the price and the then determined quality of the beets made a bonus which gave the growers a total return of from $7.50 to $8 a ton.

This past winter, because of the eagerness of the manufacturers to get a great increase of the beets, the price has been increased. The $5.50 minimum is retained but the bonus, computed on the same quality and condition as those of last year, will bring the total returns up to over $8.50 a ton.

A Big Increase in Acreage In 1922 the acreage of beets all through the country was 30 per cent below the year before, the growers having been diverted to potatoes, wheat and some other crops; ignoring the fact that returns from such crops could only come after paying freight charges and sales commissions to markets one or two thousand miles away.

Several of the great sugar factories were not operated because of the great shortage of material in their districts. The companies preferred to take what beets were grown and pay railroad charges into the nearest district where they had another factory. The plants which were operated made a lamentably short run, entailing much loss as the operating cost of those gigantic and complicated plants is about as large with a light supply of material as with a full load.

So the new scale of prices, with the nearness to ruin of those growers who went into potatoes last year, is influencing a very large increase in beets this year. One of the officials of the Utah-Idaho Company told me that he felt confident that the increase would be 30 or 35 per cent. It is the same with all the companies in the Intermountain Region and Colorado and I, think, in the other outlying states.

By-Products Agents of some of the companies are working in new districts to get farmers interested in beets and if they succeed in signing up from 4000 to 4500 acres in such districts, factories will be built in time to work up the crops next fall. America is importing over 3,000,000 tons of sugar each year and making only round 1,250,000—sending away up around $200,000,000 for foreign sugar; which tidy sum would be distributed at home if we only grew all our own.

But there is another very big influence now arising which will undoubtedly help towards a great increase—in the processing of the 8,000,000 tons of sugar beets—a normal crop—the by-products are 2,500,000 tons of wet pulp and 400,000 tons of molasses. The molasses has never been used for food, having a quality and flavor which are not acceptable to the average palates; but as a mixture with hay or grain for stock fattening purposes, it is very valuable, as is also the pulp.

There are also the tops and crowns which weigh nearly as much as the beets or roughly 8,000,000 tons for the entire production. These are highly valuable for beef cattle or sheep and can be siloed successfully, or in the semi-arid country, may be dried and stacked like hay. These tops are left in the fields and belong to the growers. The pulp and molasses are sold by the sugar companies at seventy-five cents and $7.50 a ton respectively.

Dr. F. S. Harris, Professor of Agronomy and Director of the Utah Experiment Station, who has made very protracted and extensive study and tests of sugar beet by-products, says that each acre of beets yields as much feed from the by-products as an acre of good corn. The tops when dried in the field contain the same quantity of nutrients as the same weight of alfalfa hay. On an acre of tops there is ample feed for one steer for 100 days. Pork fed on tops is of very good quality. Hogs pastured on the tops with one-third grain ration make excellent gains.

Regarding the pulp the professor says that rationed with alfalfa it is "almost an ideal feed." With a ration of grain, it puts a fine finish on beef cattle. Range stock wintered on pulp and oat straw will come through in fine condition.

Properly fed with alfalfa or other roughage, wet pulp stimulates the flow of milk in dairy cows and makes a very economical feed, equal in quality to corn silage. Thousands of lambs are annually fattened to the best market condition with pulp and alfalfa without grain. The Colorado Experiment Station shows that a ton of wet pulp has the feeding value of two hundred pounds of corn, which means a cost of seventy-five cents against $2.50.

Carefully fed, in view of its laxative qualities, pulp is a useful and cheap ration for horses—especially for growing stock and in wintering brood mares. It is also used advantageously in wintering brood sows.

The molasses is highly valuable to feed with alfalfa hay as it contains the carbohydrates that balance the high protein in the hay. Combined, that feed has proved to be equal to grain and at far less cost.

It will be interesting to note the actual total value of these by-products. The dried tops from the million acres are equal in nutrient, our authority, Doctor Harris, affirms, to the same weight of alfalfa. As those tops dried would average at last one and a half tons an acre, the total value of all would be 1,500,000 tons at $7 a ton—a total of $10,500,000.

The pulp—2,500,000 tons—at seventy-five cents would bring $1,875,000, and the molasses—400,000 tons, selling at $7.50—would total $3,000,000, a total of $15,375,000. If all was fed, that respectable sum would easily be doubled by its return to the districts in which the by-products are made. That would increase by 50 per cent the returns from the entire crop of sugar beets.

Colorado has for years been a much more liberal user of the by-products than its sister states west of the Rockies, but the developments of this plan of utilizing these by-products last year and winter in that great mountain stock country have astounded every man connected with meat and sugar production. Several million lambs and thousands of steers have been fed to a fine market condition on hay and beet pulp or ground alfalfa and molasses with a very small wheat or barley ration.

Beet growers, almost all of whom have large alfalfa acreage, have more than doubled their returns from that hay by feeding instead of shipping out as before; the pulp and molasses largely taking the place of corn. Consequently they're feeling more in love with sugar-beet production than ever before.

THE APPLE GROWING INDUSTRY

(Grade 9 Prize Winning Essay—at Sheffield Mills School Exhibition - Written by Alice Pye.)

The young apple trees are procured from nurseries. As there are very few nurseries in Nova Scotia, we get most of the young trees from Ontario. When we get these trees they are quite small about four feet high. The ground is made ready for the trees ploughed, harrowed, and fertilized. They are planted in rows about 30 ft. apart, each way. It is from eight to ten years before a tree bears fruit in any quantity. Each year the orchards are cultivated and fertilized. They are sprayed three or four times a year, with a poisonous mixture, to prevent insect pests from eating the leaves and fruit. Between the trees, some farmers sow cadlock, others buckwheat to prevent weeds from gaining a foothold, and to cultivate the land.

Some apple trees have an excellent crop one year, and a very poor one the next, others have a fairly good crop every year. A well grown tree in a good year, yields from eight to ten barrels of apples. The apples are picked and put in barrels, and taken to the warehouse, where they are graded according to quality. No. 1, No. 2, No. 3 and Domestic. Then they are shipped principally to the English market for fruit growing is the principal industry of the Annapolis Valley, and there we find our finest orchards although there are some very fine ones in Lunenburg, and Northern Queens and in the valley of the Medway and La Have River.

THE APPLE GROWING INDUSTRY

(Grade 10 Prize Winning Essay at Sheffield Mills School Exhibition, Written by Ruth Ellis.)

In the Annapolis and Kings Valleys, apple growing is the chief industry. Nearly all of the independent farmers own orchards. The orchards vary in size according to the amount of capital invested by the farmer. The trees are bought from men who raise large quantities of small apple trees, for the purpose of selling these to orchard growers. These trees are set out in rows, the trees being about twenty-five ft. apart, and the rows about 30 ft. but the distances vary according to the ideas of the farmer. They are carefully looked after and are ploughed, harrowed, and fertilized. They are supposed to be ploughed in the spring or fall, and afterward harrowed as many times as is necessary to remove weeds and loosen the soil. They are fertilized once or twice in the spring. The best kinds of fertilizer are potash, nitrate of soda, bone-meal and mixed fertilizer. There are many different kinds of apples. The best selling kinds are Northern Spies, Golden Russet, Baldwins, Mackintosh, Reds, Ben Davis and Wagners. Some kinds ripen earlier than others amongst which are Gravensteins, Duchess, August Apples, Astrachans, and various kinds of Sweet Apples. The apple trees are carefully pruned in spring. In this way all the dead wood, and small shoots, called suckers, which take the sap from the tree, are cut off. Like every thing else the apples and apple trees are eaten and blemished by insects, so to prevent this, the trees are sprayed with poison several times in the Spring. At first the farmers used a hand spray pump for spraying. This meant the poison had to be pumped through hose and rod by hand. This was slow and tedious work. Soon however the spray engine appeared on the scene, this being worked by machinery. The next proved even better, it was called the Duster. The poison used in this is like white powder. It is blown by machinery through a large pipe, and covers the tree very quickly, whether the Duster can be improved on has yet to be shown. The fruit grows during the Spring and Summer, and is usually ready to pick about the middle or last of Sept. The fruit is put into barrels which are made in Cooper shops, and hauled to the warehouse where they are packed and graded. The large apples without spots are called No. 1. The smaller clean ones, are called No. 2's, and the small ones with spots No. 3's. A large apple with a spot is called a Domestic. After being packed and headed, they are shipped to different places, most of them going to England. When a barrel is headed, it means that it covers its pound, and is secured. If a tree is heavily loaded with apples, it is propped up with sticks to prevent the limbs breaking. The farmers usually hire extra men, during the picking of the apples and the orchards in the Fall present an animated scene. While some are picked apples, other are hauling them to the warehouse. The fruit is nearly always picked by the middle of October, and then the farmer's rush is over for a short time.

CROP REPORT

The crop report issued by the Bank of Montreal, under date of Sept. 27th, has the following to say concerning conditions in the Maritime Provinces:

New Brunswick—Crops generally fairly good, but lack of moisture has done harm. Potato acreage estimated 80% of last year, but production fully as large averaging 100 bbls. to acre. Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island—All crops in excellent condition but warmer weather needed in some localities to ripen grains. Weather favourable for apples but it is now anticipated the crop will be smaller than in 1922.

ELECTION SIGNS IN NEW BRUNSWICK

MONCTON, Sept. 30.—It is said on excellent authority that preparations are now being made by the government party in different parts of the province for the coming general election. Considerable advance work is being done in a quiet way in Moncton and elsewhere, the object being to give as little notice as possible and take the opposition by surprise. It is thought the Legislature will be dissolved in October, with the elections early in November.

Two Pounds Equal Three

Two pounds of the new Rakwana Golden Orange Pekoe are equal to three pounds of other tea. Make the discovery for yourself:

Take a slim spoonful of Rakwana Golden Orange Pekoe. Place in warmed earthen or china pot. Pour on violently boiling fresh water. Let stand three minutes. Stir thoroughly and steep again.

Three (3) bracing cups from one spoonful—160 spoonfuls to a pound. It costs less to buy the best:

ACADIA ACADEMY DEFEATS KING'S

A game here Wednesday afternoon between King's Collegiate and Acadia Academy as contenders for The Herald Junior High School cup, was marked by good tackling on Acadia's part and fine half work for King's with the result, 4-3, in favor of Acadia. King's had the better of territory but found it hard to pass Rettie and L. Jenkins, who tackled well.

Deveber and Oylar made fine rushes for King's and threatened the local line several times. In the first period Acadia got their four points by a neat 20 yard drop from Hutchinson with ball in play. In the second session Jakeman made a good touch for King's but failed to convert.

Fifteen minutes of this period were played with King's minus Deveber, their star, who had an injured leg.

King's.—K. Jakeman, full back; halves, Deveber, Oylar, Makinson, Bayly; quarters, Boutillier, Cavicchi, Gunning; forwards, Herman (Capt.), Zwicker, Johnson, Miller, Cooper, Skeat, Fisher.

A GOOD SUGGESTION

To the Editor of THE ACADIAN
Mr. Editor.—The word "Evangeline" coined by Longfellow has become almost a classic in our literature and is a great asset in attracting tourists and summer visitors, but it is not of much value in either securing to our town either permanent or temporary residents or keeping our young people at home. The latter classes cannot be fed up either on a name or on even the splendid scenery our hills afford. The town needs to keep moderate and up to date. Is it? When I read that Ontario possesses over 800 public libraries of various kinds, so that every country village and settlement is in touch with one, and many of them also enjoy the attraction of a reading room, I feel that Wolfville is not keeping step with the times.

Cannot this be remedied? Cannot the Trustees of the Methodist church about to be vacant, offer space in perhaps the basement for a room for library purposes and an adjoining one for a reading room? Could not an organization be formed by the ladies of the town to forward a movement, to give the young people of the place an intellectual centre in the winter evenings, where amid refined associations, they may be better employed than in some other resorts. We live in an age of great National and social upheavals. Is it not worth while for the growing generation to use all the facilities that the times afford to keep in touch with movements that are changing destinies of nations.

FIRE PREVENTION DAY

The fire loss in Nova Scotia last year amounted to the stupendous sum of $2,336,397, or a per capita loss of $4.46. Such a statement certainly should cause the people of this province some concern. It is high time that every possible means should be taken to prevent a continuance of such a waste. Tuesday next, Oct. 9th, has been set apart by Royal Proclamation for observance as Fire Prevention Day. The object of this is solely to direct the attention of the people to the subject of fire prevention, with a view to inducing them to clean up their premises and thus help in reducing the fire waste. Through the home and the school and in every way possible the lesson should be taught. A very large proportion of the loss which our province sustains through fire might be very easily saved by the hearty cooperation of all.

ADV. RATES TOO LOW

The following is a copy of a letter recently received at this office from a former resident of this town, Mr. S. C. Gove, now a leading advertising expert of Toronto:
I enclose cheque for $2.00 to cover subscription to THE ACADIAN for another year. You have certainly made a great improvement in the paper, both typographically and in every other way. I cannot understand why every local merchant and business man, with a commodity or service to sell, does not use its columns. Your rates are very moderate, too low, I should say. THE ACADIAN is certainly a very welcome weekly visitor.

ENGLISH DEBATERS TO VISIT WOLFVILLE

That the English debating team, which is now in America for a series of contests with the leading universities of the United States and Canada, is to visit Wolfville is announced. They have already debated with Bates and Dartmouth Colleges and are scheduled to meet Vassar, Princeton, Bryn Mawr, Swarthmore, George Washington and Harvard this week. Next week they will debate with Columbia, Yale, Syracuse and Cornell. Coming to Canada they will meet Toronto, McGill, Dalhousie, Acadia and Mount Allison. They will debate with Dalhousie at Halifax on Oct. 20th and come to Wolfville to meet the Acadia debaters on Oct. 21st. They will go to Sackville to compete with Mount Allison on the following day.

General Gardner, of Magdalen College, one of the debaters, is junior treasurer of the Union, and has travelled extensively through Europe and Africa. He served in the World War and was second lieutenant in the famous Coldstream Guards. He has appeared on the stage. He served as president of the Oxford Dramatic Society, and is a supporter of Lloyd George. J. D. Woodruff is one of the most academic and witty undergraduates Oxford has known for a long time, according to the English press. Some of his epigrams have passed into political phraseology. Rejected by the army, Woodruff went to Amsterdam on the staff of the foreign office. He is a Liberal.
C. H. O. Scaife is mentioned as a poet as well as a speaker. He is the winner of the Oxford University prize poem contest. This will be the first visit of the Oxford Debating Team to the Maritime Provinces.

TIPS

Of anything that comes my way, I've been inclined to taste. . . It's been my privilege to see that nothing goes to waste. . . an' when a feller boasts me, from the bigness in his heart, I tell him that I'm much obliged. . . I allers do my part. If I get in a mud-hole—an' my neighbor pulls me out, I'm apt to do the same fer him—it's only turn about. . . I never let a favor pass without a recompense, as any other man would do, that's got a lick of sense. . . But, when it comes to givin' tips, there's a principle at stake. . . They blame extorted hand-out is a holdup an' a fake! I try to pay my hired help the wages that's their due, but as to furder dividends, I'm a tight-wad through an' through! They bait me in the varnished kyara, an' places where I eat. . . They flatter me from every hand—you never seen the beat! They even call me "Senator" when I am off the range,—and that's why I'm so devilish slow in partin' with my change!

Value with bonus added at issue $7500. For illness pays $25. weekly, hospital, surgeons fees, etc. Ordinary accident $25. weekly—$12.50 for partial disability and $7500 if death results. Certain specified accidents $50. weekly—$25. partial disability and $15,000 if death results. Also pays generous indemnity for permanent disabilities or loss of limbs—double indemnities for certain accidents. Larger or smaller policies for proportionate protection. Let us tell you all about it.

HALF A MILLION FOR ADVERTISING

The State of California intends to let the world know what it is and how superior it is to other states of the union. To that end an advertising campaign has been started with a budget of nearly half a million dollars for the coming year, of which San Francisco alone has subscribed three hundred and fifty thousand dollars for the advertising of northern and central California. Thus again collective advertising has scored a big point. As a usual rule a pretty girl and a good housekeeper are not found in the same wrapper.

A SUITABLE REBUKE

One day while a case was being tried the court was disturbed by a young man who kept moving about in the rear of the room, lifting chairs and prying under seats. "Young man," exclaimed the learned judge at last, "you are making a good deal of unnecessary noise. What are you doing?" "M'lord," replied the offender, "I have lost my overcoat and am trying to find it." "Well," came the witty reply, "people often lose whole suits in here, without making all that fuss."

Stimulate Your Skin

The skin with its network of tiny pores and glands should never be allowed to become sluggish and inactive. Dirt, cold cream, rouge and powder will clog the pores, enlarge them and produce blackheads and blemishes unless the skin is cleansed thoroughly with soap and water at least once every day. This simple method of beautifying was Cleopatra's secret. She knew that to have a fresh fine skin thorough-cleansing was necessary. She used Palm and Olive oils, the same rare oils which are blended in Palmolive. If you use a fine mild soap, there is no danger of irritation. Palmolive with its creamy lather, is lotion-like in its action. It freshens, revives and stimulates and leaves the skin delightfully fresh and rosy. You can buy Palmolive Soap at all first-class dealers.

New Lamp Burns 94% Air

Beats Electric or Gas. A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no putting up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal oil). The inventor, J. M. Johnson, 246 Craig St. W., Montreal, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

APPRECIATES BEAUTY

It has been said that a young woman can use her head for two purposes—to hold brains or to hold earrings. This is unjust. We may not agree with all prevailing modes, from powder to puttees, or from knickers to nearly nothing, but the instinct of woman for decoration is sound. Woman loves and appreciates beauty more than man does. The world was meant to be full of beauty and woman tries to realize that fact in her own life, tries to make it an actuality. She misses it a little, sometimes, but she is on the right track. The instinct is sound.

In Canada are located 5,000 wood-using industries and it is an odd coincidence that the forest fires average one for each industry, or five thousand a year.

About the time you think you make both ends meet, somebody moves the ends.

WE INVITE EVERY MAN AND WOMAN IN WOLFVILLE

Every Person in this Section Who is Weak, Rundown, Sick or Nervous to Try This Great Medicine at Our Expense—Free Bottle Will be Given to All Who Come Early.

All Have the Same Chance to Get Well and Strong

This is an invitation you can't afford to ignore. We'll tell you why. We are going to give you a free bottle of medicine that will tone you up and put an end to all chances of indigestion, rheumatism, constipation, catarrh and kindred ills. The medicine of which William Bronson said, "It is the only medicine that eased my stomach and stopped the gas, wiped away stomach troubles and put strength and vitality into my blood."

A highly efficient stomach medicine made from roots, herbs, barks, leaves and a few other good things for the nerves, stomach, kidneys and bowels. You may be starving your blood in the midst of plenty. It isn't how much you eat that counts, but it's how you digest the food you eat. You cannot get steam out of water without fire; you can't get brain power, nerve force, and red blood corpuscles—out of food without digestion. Thousands lack sufficient vital force and don't know why. They think they need a tonic, a vacation or a change of scenery, but they don't. It's old indigestion that's the matter with them and six days of Dreco will prove it. They don't get the strength out of their food, it's like running corn through the mill with the rollers too wide apart, the corn goes through but the mill doesn't grind.

DON'T THINK YOU MUST HAVE A PAIN TO HAVE INDIGESTION. Lack of flesh, too much fat, pimples, blotches, sallow complexion, lack of nerve force, impoverished blood, sleeplessness, headaches, backaches, aches, weak brain power, dizzy spells, spots floating before the eyes, may all be due to the faulty digestive process either in the stomach or the bowels. Take Dreco with your other food for a week and find out how your digestive organs are working. If the Dreco helps you greatly, gives you more force, strength and brain power, you may set it down that your liver and bowels are not doing their duty.

Only yesterday your head may have felt dull and heavy, you had the "blues," were cross, nervous and irritable, everything seemed to go wrong and you couldn't tell why. It's ten to one it was old dyspepsia shyly getting in his work, not enough to cause you pain, but just enough to dull your brain, rob you of your vitality, upset your liver and deplete your nerve force. Maybe you don't think so, but try a bottle of Dreco and see if it doesn't change "blues" to a bright, cheery red, make the old world laugh in a merry glee, and put new vigor in your life again. Lewis A. Todd, the travelling salesman, had stomach trouble so bad he practically had to live on liquid foods. He couldn't even eat vegetables without suffering terrible pain. He took two bottles of Dreco and can now eat anything he wants and without any distress whatever—sounds like a miracle! Well, we have Mr. Todd's own signed statement to that effect.

C. L. Matlick, the B. & O. conductor; says he had rheumatism so bad that he had to use a cane to get around at all. On his fourth bottle of Dreco he said: "I am now feeling fine—have thrown away my cane." These are only two of hundreds, yes thousands.

TEST THIS MEDICINE FREE

Mr. Sufferer, have you ever heard of the wonderful medicine that talks, that really tells you itself what it can do—that's Dreco. Five minutes after you take it the medicine begins to unfold its virtues, and it will by actual demonstration, unfold to you more in regard to its merits in ten minutes than we could probably make you believe if we wrote you ten books as large as the dictionary.

"Words cannot tell you how glad we are for Dreco," declared Mrs. Treason, Copley. "The first bottle fixed me up," said Walter P. Dixon. "Am a changed man now," states Rev. Joseph L. Butler.

You may know something of these people, or know somebody who knows them. We'll send you their full addresses if you want them, so that you can find out about Dreco and the wonders it has wrought.

Probably you are now thinking whether all this can be true; stop it. Come at once to the Druggist listed below. Here you will receive absolutely free, a good-sized bottle of Dreco. This offer is open to every man and woman in this vicinity. There are no ifs, ands or buts attached to it, except that you come early before the generous supply of free bottles has been used. You don't have to buy anything if you don't want to. All we ask is that you step in and test this wonderful medicine, and see for yourself what it can do for you. So please come as early as possible.

DR. TOLD NURSE TO TAKE DRECO

Crippled Up By Rheumatism So She Had to Hold on to Banisters—Feet Swollen, Limbs, Ankles, Elbows Full of Pain.

"I am writing to say a few words in praise of your wonderful medicine, Dreco. I have often been asked to endorse this or that medicine, but always refused, but Dreco is different," said Mrs. D. S. Simpkins, Indiana. "I have suffered greatly from rheumatism and been treated by excellent physicians, finally tried a change of climate, but always my relief was temporary. While nursing, I've had doctors pity me, saying I should be the one in bed with a nurse to attend me. My feet were so swollen and painful I could hardly keep my shoes on, my ankles and limbs were so sore and stiff I had a limp in my walk. I often had dark circles under my eyes and that tired look in them. "Constipation was a source of great annoyance and I couldn't secure relief from it. I was often nauseated and had a repulsion at the sight of food. "To-day my feelings are entirely changed. I have taken two bottles of Dreco and I am so much better the doctor told me to keep on taking it. Every ache and pain is gone, the constipation is completely relieved. I am no longer nauseated, but eat and relish every meal. Instead of being a sore, crippled creature, limping around, I am happy, and can nurse cases to-day which I was forced to refuse before. I give all the credit for my grand relief to Dreco, and unhesitatingly recommend it to everyone who suffers as I did." Free samples given.

Go to-day to A. V. Rand's Drug Store, Wolfville, and they will give you a generous size sample bottle of Dreco and will explain the merits of this great remedy. Dreco is sold by a good druggist in every town.

NEW SETTLERS IN CANADA

The Arrivals During August Totalled Over 25,000. OTTAWA, Sept. 28.—The August immigration returns issued today by Hon. J. A. Robb, the new Minister of Immigration, shows an increase of not less than 281 per cent.

It may be noted that the British arrivals include only those harvesters who on entry signified their intention of becoming permanent residents. There were 12,000 of these harvesters arrived, but several thousands are not counted in the month's total of new immigrants since on entry at Quebec they did not signify definitely that they intended to stay permanently.

SPREADING GOSPEL OF CO-OPERATION The success of the co-operative movement among farmers has been rightly recognized by the Department of Agriculture as one of the most important developments in American agricultural life.

But perhaps the most interesting thing about the co-operative movement is the extent to which agricultural co-operation is being taught in the colleges. Eleven agricultural colleges and eight State universities are now giving one or more courses in co-operation, and there is every prospect of an increasing number in the near future.

In this type of instruction there is much hope for the future. Co-operative organizations can be of great help to the farmers, not only in the disposing of their products but in improving the methods of cultivation.

GREENWICH

The United Fruit Company's warehouse opened for work over a week ago, and a good number of men are employed there. These are busy times. They are also doing a good business at their store, with Mr. Ormond Forsythe in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fenwick, who have been in Wolfville all summer, recently moved into Mr. Leslie Bishop's house here. Mr. Fenwick is still employed at a garage in Wolfville.

Miss Marion Bishop left last Wednesday for Truro, where she is now a pupil at the Normal College, to further complete the B work for teaching. She was one of the most successful B's of Wolfville High School last year. We wish her further good success in her course.

Mr. and Mrs. George L. Bishop and little daughter Helen returned home last Thursday, from a motor trip to Truro, having taken their daughter Marion there the day before.

Miss Annie Pearson is now at home, attending Acadia Seminary as a day pupil.

Miss Georgina Bell, R. N., of Massachusetts, is visiting her friend, Mrs. Harris Forsythe. Miss Bell has many friends here who give her a welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Cobb and two little daughters, Charlotte and Betty, of Bedford, motored up on Saturday and were guests for week-end at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. B. L. Bishop.

The Rally Day Service on "Growth", held at our church on Sunday afternoon, was thoroughly enjoyed by the audience present. The children did their parts well and the pastor's address to them was an ideal one and the whole audience enjoyed it. The church was very prettily and tastefully decorated, in ferns, autumn leaves, and many bouquets of beautiful cut flowers of harmonizing colours. Many remarked on the lovely effect.

The "Sing" on Sunday evening was held at the home of Miss Lillian Bishop and enjoyed by a very good number.

Rev. D. B. Hemmeon, our Pastor, will not be present at our services next Sunday, but a good supply speaker will conduct service and a good audience should be present.

A few from here attended the Rally Day Service at Port Williams last Sunday afternoon in the Sunday School.

Miss Lillian Bishop, who is taking the eighth grade work at Wolfville School this year, was the successful pupil, from her large class, for the Scholarship in Art offered the school pupils, which will give her a year's instruction in Art at Acadia Seminary. This is good news to her many friends in this community and all extend hearty congratulations to her.

A good number from this place attended the Three Counties Exhibition held at Kentville and enjoyed it all.

Our farmers are very busy picking, packing and shipping apples. The heavy wind storm with rain Monday and Monday night caused great destruction and heavy loss in the orchards, many trees being blown over completely also large limbs broken off others. Heaviest gale of wind that has been experienced here for many years.

Grounds for Divorce.

"Isn't Braggard an awful egotist?"

"Yes, indeed. I understand his wife is going to sue him for alienation of affections—he loves himself so much."

COLONIZATION CONFERENCE

Gathering Called at Halifax to Promote Immigration to the Maritime Provinces.

Following the announcement made by W. D. Robb, vice-president of the Canadian National Railways, on Transportation Day at the Canadian National Exhibition, regarding the colonization campaign proposed for the Maritime Provinces, "which offers singular opportunities to the people of the British Isles"—a conference has been called at Halifax for today.

This will be attended by representatives of the Dominion and provincial governments, the railways and prominent citizens of the Maritime Provinces.

Among those to attend will be W. D. Robb, vice-president, C. N. R.; W. J. Black, former deputy minister, Department of Immigration and Colonization; Colonel J. S. Dennis, chief commissioner, C. P. R.; Messrs. E. A. Schofield, St. John, Angus McLean, Bathurst, R. K. Smith, mayor of Amherst, E. F. Higgs and A. A. Pomeroy, Charlottetown. Also C. Price-Green, commissioner, Department of Colonization and Development, Canadian National Railways.

The Canadian National have already under way a survey in the Maritime Provinces for the purpose of determining the conditions prevailing throughout the country and its needs, also the compilation of a record of lands and farms available for settlement and colonization activities.

It is realized that in the past little, if any, real attention has been given to the promotion of settlement in this part of Eastern Canada, which badly needs more population, and which is capable of supporting a much larger population under favorable conditions.

The proposed meeting is very opportune and should have the effect of bringing together all the forces in a co-operative effort.
