REPORT.

THE Committee of the MICMAC MISSION are happy in being able to report a degree of prosperity during the past year. The mission has not indeed been remarkably abundant in outward fruits; and yet it has evidently been advancing towards maturity. It is becoming strengthened in its interests, and it is beginning to assume a more definite and promising character than heretofore.

First, with regard to the establishment at Mount Micmac. The industrial department has not been resumed. It was sustained sufficiently long to demonstrate that the Indians are capable of being employed in industrial pursuits; when for want of accommodations they were obliged to disperse. The committee in a resolution published in the last year's report, directed, that in future, employment should only be afforded to those Indians who would consent to send their children to school. There is no doubt that such families could be found and brought to Hantsport. But a considerable amount of Indian work remaining still undisposed of, and the sum of £200 being needed to pay the balance due on the land, besides the ordinary expenses, no attempt has been made to establish a school during the past year. It is, however, still the intention of the Society so soon as arrangements can be made, to establish the mission on a permanent basis. For this purpose a tract of land containing 450 acres, near Hantsport, in a position central both to Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, contiguous to extensive hunting and fishing grounds, and fit for cultivation, has been purchased. Some delay has occurred in the final arrangements for securing the title. It will probably be all arranged in a few days.

In the second place, your committee would refer to the labours of the missionary. We rejoice that his health is mercifully spared to continue the good work for which he seems eminently qualified. A part of his time, during the past year, has been spent in collecting monies to support the mission, and to pay for the land. For this purpose he has visited, with success, various counties in both provinces, in the direction of Pictou, Liverpool, Fredericton and Miramichi. In these tours his object was kindly promoted by Christians of every name. But the collection of money, however important, has been regarded by the missionary as only of secondary moment. He has made it his chief employment to visit the Indians in different places, and to labour for their spiritual good. He has neglected no opportunity of reading and expounding the scriptures,—in this way “preaching publicly and from house to house” in the various Indian encampments, by the way side, in their villages, their wigwams, at the houses of the white people, and wherever they were to be found. He has also distributed various portions of scripture and tracts to those who can read. In this way he has distributed copies of the printed gospels and of the Micmac spelling-book, which were often received with great eagerness. Copies previously distributed were found carefully preserved and read, though they have sometimes been destroyed.

Mr Rand has also, even in his travels, prosecuted the study of the Indian language, and the work of translation. During the past winter the latter half of the book of Psalms was translated, completing the book; and the books of Genesis and Luke were revised. The gospel of Luke was copied for the press; the last proof-sheets have been corrected, and sent to the printer in Bath, England, and will soon be issued. He has begun to copy Genesis for the press. In his late tour to Fredericton the missionary visited settlements of the Maliseet Indians, and translated into their language one of the Micmac Tracts, and a portion of the Psalms. The language of this tribe being similar to that of the Penobscots, the benefit conferred upon the former will also be available to the latter. Both the Maliseet and the Penobscot tribes can read their language in the script character. Thus the Word of God may be conveyed to them also through the medium of the press, and the influence of the mission may be felt beyond the sphere of our more immediate operations. “They shall come out of every nation and kindred and tongue.”

The committee would not close their report without referring thirdly, to the state of the Indians.

The Micmacs in the three Provinces number, so far as can be ascertained, about 2000. Micmacs are to be found also in Canada. They perform pilgrimages from these Provinces to the great cathedral in the city of Montreal, expecting thereby to procure salvation. Who would not rejoice in turning their minds from these lying vanities to the true Saviour, in freeing them from a ruinous superstition, and bringing them under the influence of genuine piety? They usually receive the missionary with great cordiality, not only on account of their remarkable hospitality to strangers, but from their strong religious character, and the deep interest they feel in the glorious truths of the gospel. Many of them will not be persuaded by the Romish Priests that the Bible is a bad book, after they have heard it read in their own language. With eager interest do they gather round the missionary in their wigwams, and listen to the word of life as read and expounded by him. A few of them can read, and are becoming acquainted with the literature which has been supplied for them in their own tongue. They now possess in Micmac the gospels of Matthew and John, together with a couple of tracts, and a spelling-book. And many are awaking to the necessity of education for their children. Instances of bitter hostility to our missionary and his mission do sometimes occur, but they are few and far between. On the other hand they often regard with great favor, the work of transferring the scriptures into their own language. Our missionary in his letters from New Brunswick, makes honourable mention of individuals who aided him there in his work, despite all attempts to prevent them.

But the committee would mention particularly the case of Benjamin Christmas, who was referred to in the last year's report, as rendering valuable assistance to our missionary, in the work of translating, and who was desirous of removing to Hantsport with his family. A proposal was made to him to that effect, which was accepted, and about the 12th Decr. he arrived with his family from Cape Breton. This family consisting of a wife and three children, have adopted the costume and customs of the whites, have ever since their arrival resided in a house, and have no wish to return to the wanderings and wretchedness of Indian life. The wife is quite an adept in house-keeping, and has learned to read since her arrival. She has not yet avowed herself a convert from Romanism; but she eagerly listens to the scriptures, and to evangelical instruction. She also cordially coincides with her husband in his plans for gaining further information, and making himself useful to the mission.

During the winter months Benjamin was engaged in assisting Mr. Rand in the work of translation and revision. He, at the same time, pursued his studies in several English branches, such as reading and writing, arithmetic and geography, and especially the Bible. He had also opportunities for reading the scriptures to the other Indians, and of conversing with them in their wigwams, and at his own house. For two months after that he was employed by a house-joiner, and was able to earn a dollar a day in carpenter work, besides his board.

About the middle of July Mr. Rand commenced a missionary tour through New Brunswick, and thought it advisable that Ben. should accompany him. To this the committee agreed. Mr. Rand found him a valuable assistant. The Indians would crowd around him, to hear him read the scriptures, and would listen to his addresses and remarks with great candour and interest. His open avowal of attachment to the primitive gospel, and his dependance upon Christ for salvation, and not upon the Church, occasioned him some persecution and trouble from white Romanists. But by the Indians he was almost universally received with kindness.

"Often," says Mr. Rand, "would they enquire, 'When will Pasumei visit us again?'" Ben. was well received also by the white people. He occasionally addressed public assemblies with much acceptance in conjunction with Mr. Rand's lectures in behalf of the mission. He not only avows himself a convert from Popery, but indulges the hope that he has been born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the Word of God, which liveth and abideth forever. He has not united with any branch of the christian Church, and wishes to take no step rashly. He expresses, too, an earnest desire to labour as an evangelist among his kindred, his brethren according to the flesh. For this purpose he is seeking the necessary qualifications. Can your committee entertain a doubt respecting the forthcoming means of educating him?

It is only necessary to add that Mr. Rand bears testimony to the christian deportment of Benjamin. He says,—“I have known him for more than seven years. I often contrast his appearance and conduct seven years ago, with what they are now. With the deepest solicitude have I watched him for the last eighteen months. But I have never seen or heard any thing inconsistent with his profession. How often has my heart been moved, while listening to addresses in his own tongue to our 'Father in Heaven.' How has my soul been stirred while hearing him read and speak to his people. I have been led at such times to exclaim: Lord, now lettest thou thy servant depart in peace!”

The report of last year gave an account of a Micmac, dying in the triumphs of faith, and going as he firmly believed, to be with Christ. We are happy in now being able to speak of another whose conversion we hope is genuine. We pray that he may be spared to labor on earth for the salvation of his people, and that he may be only a drop before a plentiful shower—the first fruits of an abundant harvest.
