

ALBINO BARRED

Pure Type From Southern Italy Denied Admission to United States Because of Defective Eye Sight

Boston, Aug. 11.—Debarred from entrance into this port because of defective eye sight, Miss Esquina Gallinetti, a pure albino from Southern Italy, sits in the United States Immigration Station at Long Wharf awaiting the decision on her appeal from the finding of the special board of immigration inspectors.

Miss Gallinetti is described as a practically pure albino, having glossy hair of yellowish-white color, pink eyes, with red pupils and a clear milky-white skin.

Miss Gallinetti arrived on board the Canopic, second cabin, last Thursday, and was examined by a board of special inquiry composed of immigration inspectors.

According to the information she gave she was born in Switzerland, 33 years ago, but has recently been living with her mother, Emillio Varnoni, and comes straight from Brissago, Vevay, Italy.

She was coming to her brother, Giuseppe Gallinetti, 1880 Columbus Avenue, who is an apprentice waiter at a Boston hotel and paid her fare over here.

During her detention at the station Miss Gallinetti was given a medical examination by Dr. A. J. Nuts, who found her to be an excellent specimen of vision and system, trembling of the eye ball in his report to the commissioner he specified his opinion that this condition might affect her earning capacity and on this basis she was debarred from entering.

Miss Gallinetti may appeal from this finding and is planning to do so, it is understood. Later in the week it is possible that she may be admitted on bond in case the secretary of labor finds in her favor.

It is a strange fact that the girl's albinism runs through the families of her family, but her mother, who has called the albinism, her brother, who has called at the immigration station to see her, has black eyes and hair, dark hair and a stocky body, while the girl is of a frail, slender type, milky white, with pink eyes and white glossy hair.

The condition, according to medical authorities, is caused by a congenital lack of pigments in the skin, hair and eyes, the red of the blood vessels in the eyes showing through the pupils with nothing to obscure it.

While Miss Gallinetti says that she can read and write like others of this type her eyes are so sensitive to strong light and she keeps them half closed during the daytime.

Mr. Chate stated he regretted his son had offered the horse for sale. When the government veterinary passed it, he thought the animal was "soundable. He had no desire to defraud the government especially at this critical time in the history of the empire.

ASHAMED TO KEEP THE CASH FOR AGED HORSE

Kenilville, N. S., Aug. 11.—Before the Davidson war contracts commission resumed its investigation into horses sold for militia purposes in Nova Scotia this morning, Henry J. Chate, whose son, Roy, disposed of a horse to a remount department agent which often could not get up without assistance after lying down, asked permission to refund to the government the amount of the purchase price $105.

Mr. Chate stated he regretted his son had offered the horse for sale. When the government veterinary passed it, he thought the animal was "soundable. He had no desire to defraud the government especially at this critical time in the history of the empire.

SYDNEY A. HART IS CHARGED WITH BIGAMY

A case which promises to furnish interesting developments will be heard in the police court either tomorrow or Friday, when Sydney Albert Hart will have to face the serious charge of bigamy. He was taken into custody this morning and is now being held in a cell in jail. His first wife is dead, but it is said he has two other wives living. His second wife resides in this city, and she also claims to be his third wife and is also here at the present time, but is being detained in custody for the present.

LETTERS FROM OUR SOLDIERS

Thomas L. Wilson, Chesley street, was elated this morning when he received a letter from his brother, Corporal Walter Wilson, who is with the Canadian forces in France. The letter contained the welcome news that he was admitted to bond in case the secretary of labor finds in her favor.

It is a strange fact that the girl's albinism runs through the families of her family, but her mother, who has called the albinism, her brother, who has called at the immigration station to see her, has black eyes and hair, dark hair and a stocky body, while the girl is of a frail, slender type, milky white, with pink eyes and white glossy hair.

A LOT HITTING FOOT. Commissioner Russell will at this afternoon's meeting in committee of the city council propose that the sum of $200, paid the city some seven years ago by D. C. Clark of West Side for a lot then supposed to be 80 feet wide, but now discovered to be only 28 feet, be repaid. The lot would then revert to the city, but the city would not pay for any incidental costs to which Mr. Clark says he has been put. It appears that not only did the lot encroach on a site belonging to Mr. Allen, but that it formed a veritable "no man's land" partly due to its abutting sites or might be compared to a lot "sitting between two stools" without being properly on either.

SUGGEST FORMING ENGINEERING CORPS

An engineering corps for St. John has been proposed by Mayor Frink to two gentlemen who say that a number of civil engineers and students have been drilling for some weeks at Fort Howe. The communication to his worship says that they have felt the need of a corps of their own and to join such a corps if it could be formed and could receive the sanction of the militia authorities. They would then be available for home defence or for service abroad. They want recruits and desire to get on a regular footing. They would like a proper military organization. His worship said he thought the movement was worthwhile and would be glad to give it all the support that he could. He thought the idea of an engineering corps was a good one and would be welcomed by many.

Would it embarrass you financially if your Partner died tomorrow?

We have known cases where, on the sudden death of a partner, credit has tightened and the remaining partner has had a hard time keeping things moving while straightening out matters for his partner's heirs and executors.

Moreover, the family of the deceased man invariably looks to the remaining partner for first help. One cannot always realize upon the assets of a deceased partner, but an Imperial Partnership policy is ample protection against such a contingency.

'Business Conservation' is the title of a Booklet we have prepared explaining the operation of Partnership Insurance. It's most interesting and it's free—so why not write for a copy now? Address

TOMMY NEEDS THE SMOOKERS

Contributions taken by the Postmaster of St. John for Overseas Tobacco Fund.

To the Editor of The Times:

Sir—Having received from Overseas Amalgamated Tobacco Funds of Montreal (P. Q.), their "Collecting Funds" Card, I would earnestly appeal to you citizens for their contributions towards maintaining successfully the mission it represents.

I may here quote the following information contained in the appeal, and state the Postmaster will gladly receive all contributions, and as each card is filled will forward the same with the amount collected to headquarters, Montreal.

(1) Every cent contributed goes to purchase tobacco and cigarettes.

(2) By arrangement with the British and French governments the tobacco is packed in bond and shipped duty free. This enables the Overseas Club to secure tobacco and cigarettes at the lowest possible price.

(3) For one quarter (3c.) the Overseas Club are able to supply 40 cigarettes, 4 oz. smoking mixture, a box of matches and a postcard. For $1.00 the Overseas Club can supply 40 cigarettes, 4 oz. smoking tobacco, 1 briar pipe, 1 tinder lighter, 1 rubber lined pouch, some matches, a postcard.

WAR IS BUSINESS, CANADIANS APPLY BUSINESS METHODS

WHERE REGULARS FAIL

Cal. J. A. Currie, of Toronto, Speaks of Conditions at the Front and Reasons Why Canadians Make Good

"From what I saw at the front," said Col. J. A. Currie, who arrived in the city yesterday, "the Canadian officers did splendid work everywhere. When it came down to hard fighting under the novel conditions that prevail in Flanders the Canadian officers showed themselves as well trained and as ready to grapple with the situation as any of the British officers."

Col. Currie remarked that he and the rest of the Canadians should know something about what fighting meant, since his battalion, the 18th, had lost 691 officers and men during the heavy fighting in the Ypres and St. Julien.

"War today," said Col. Currie "is a large business. It is not only a matter of men, but of money, and the Canadian officers were all business men who knew business as well as military work and they were at once capable of applying business methods, where some of the other officers who had no business experience could not adapt themselves. It has been hard work for some of the other officers to get into line, and this has caused some difficulty."

"Our Canadian officers at the front," said Col. Currie, "grasped this fact. They knew what business meant and they applied it. As experienced business men they took up every detail. That is why the Canadian officers make good at the front. He does not turn his work over to a sergeant; he goes out and sees that it is done."

Col. Currie was on his way back from Fredericton, N. B., where he had addressed a patriotic meeting on Wednesday evening.

RECENT DEATHS

Mrs. Augusta R. Emmerson.

Dorchester, August 11—(Special)—The death occurred this morning of Mrs. Augusta Read Emmerson. She had been in delicate health for the past few weeks but here her illness was of a fortitude and passed away peacefully at 12.40 o'clock. With her at the end was her daughter, Mrs. Harry Alderson, of Ottawa, and two grand daughters, Mrs. J. T. Cornell, of Amherst (N. S.), and Miss Bernice Emmerson. Her son, Judge F. W. Emmerson and the Hon. Henry R. Emmerson died in 1914 and 1914 respectively. Her grandchildren surviving are Mrs. F. H. Descoe, Toronto; Mrs. Harry K. Bowers, Capt. H. R. Emmerson of the C.M.R., now in England, children of the late Hon. Henry R. Emmerson, and Mrs. F. E. McLeod, Lacombe (Alb.); Mrs. Charles F. McLaren, Moncton; Kathleen Emmerson, of Boston; Gordon, of the 1st Canadian overseas contingent; Robert H. and Frederick, of Moncton, all children of the late Judge F. W. Emmerson. She is also survived by three sisters, Mrs. Robert Christie, of River Hebert (N. S.); Mrs. L. R. Bates, of Sackville; Mrs. J. A. Christie, of Amherst, and one brother, H. C. Read, of Sackville.

The deceased had reached the age of 88 years and was born in the year 1827 at Minutic (N. S.), where she spent the earlier part of her life. Before her marriage she was Miss Augusta Read and in the year 1852 married the Rev. R. H. Emmerson who died 88 years ago, and whose memory is erected the "Emmerson memorial library" at Acadia University. In religion the late Mrs. Emmerson was a Baptist and was one of the founders of the First Baptist church here in the year 1878. The deceased was a Christian lady of most philanthropic nature, of high ideals and was beloved by all who knew her.

The funeral will be held from her late residence on Friday morning, a service will be held in the First Baptist church here after which the body will be taken to Moncton for interment.

A touching scene is that of Sadie Lois Fulton Thorne, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thorne, 71 Metcalfe street, which occurred yesterday. She was in her nineteenth year. From birth she had suffered from a heart affection which had always interfered with her physical development, but her intellect from childhood had been bright and remarkably clear. Unable for the greater part of her school life to walk she still

BISHOPS PICNIC AT TORRYBURN TODAY

Cathedral Children March in Lengthy Procession—Fine Weather and Big Crowds Expected

A lengthy procession of children of varying ages and sizes was witnessed this morning when the annual Cathedral Sunday school picnic was being started for the Bishop's grounds at Torryburn. Headed by the City Cornet Band playing a spirited tune, the youngsters marched happily along, accompanied by Rev. Wm. Duke, Rev. M. P. Howland, Rev. Hector Belliveau, Rev. C. J. McLaughlin, Rev. Dr. Bourgeois and some of the teachers of the school. The rear of the procession was brought up by Bishop LeBlanc, in his car, accompanied by Very Rev. J. J. Walsh, V. G.

The expansive grounds at Torryburn are in excellent condition for today's big outing, which is a week later than usual, to allow of a better crop of hay being cut upon them. A large staff of committee workers went to the grounds on an early train this morning to prepare for the crowds expected during the day, and there is every reason to expect a great success as formerly, particularly with such delightful weather favoring the event.

One day, when the roads were slippery with mud, the automobile skidded, and slipped part way down a bank, it brought up without damage against a large tree. Mr. Wade could not get back on the roads and appealed for help to a farmer ploughing in the field below. The farmer hitched his team to the front axle and soon pulled the car out of trouble.

Mr. Wade looked back and said: "That tree saved us from a bad accident; if it had not been there we should have turned over and been badly hurt."

"Yes, sir," drawled the farmer, "what certainly is a useful tree. This mornin' a young feller in a balloon got stuck in it and I had to 'fist him out'."

"Why, that was our son!" exclaimed both Mr. and Mrs. Wade, excitedly.

The farmer looked at them for a moment with a puzzled expression, then his face lighted up with a smile, and he said:

"I reckon you folks would find little easier if you was to stay at home more."

In religion the late Mrs. Emmerson was a Baptist and was one of the founders of the First Baptist church here in the year 1878. The deceased was a Christian lady of most philanthropic nature, of high ideals and was beloved by all who knew her.

The funeral will be held from her late residence on Friday morning, a service will be held in the First Baptist church here after which the body will be taken to Moncton for interment.

A touching scene is that of Sadie Lois Fulton Thorne, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thorne, 71 Metcalfe street, which occurred yesterday. She was in her nineteenth year. From birth she had suffered from a heart affection which had always interfered with her physical development, but her intellect from childhood had been bright and remarkably clear. Unable for the greater part of her school life to walk she still

THE WAR NEWS

The "baby killers" are at work again. German aircraft have again visited the English coast, dropping incendiary and other bombs, killing one man, nine women and four children.

Why is recruiting so slow in New Brunswick? The 55th Battalion needs men, and the 44th is yet to come.

There need be no fear of an over-supply of machine guns. The acting minister of militia says "additional contributions will be gratefully accepted."

The Globe appears to deprecate too much support for a government. May we hope the Globe will join the opponents of the Clarke government, for instance?

It goes without saying that the Patriotic Fair and Auction projected by the Daughters of the Empire will prove a brilliant social and financial success. It will afford a means of giving that will enable great numbers of people in town and out of it to contribute to the fund.

An appeal from Capt. (Chaplain) Hooper for a fund to be used by him in connection with hospital work should meet with a generous response. It also suggests that every chaplain should be enabled in this way to provide needed comforts when emergency requires such action.

UNCLE SAM UNPREPARED.

The New York Times, after a study of the most recent report of the Division of Militia Affairs, gives over sixteen million reasons why the United States is not at the present moment prepared for war.

The German spy is ubiquitous. What an enormous fund Germany must have devoted to the work of espionage for all years past, to perfect the system of intelligence which has excited the wonder of the world.

It is further pointed out that ten coast states are without artillery organizations, and of the total of coast artillery, more than half is in New York.

The Times today publishes an interesting letter from Rev. G. A. Kuhring, chaplain of the 6th C. M. R. That he supplied paper for many hundreds of letters on shipboard on the way over is another illustration of the fact that every chaplain should be supplied with a small fund for just such little helps as it may be in his power from time to time to provide for the men.

THE CHILDREN AND MACHINE GUN FUND

One "who would willingly give the last drop of his blood to destroy German militarism," writes to the Times as follows:—

"I have read for some time through the columns of your valuable paper of the efforts being made to raise sufficient funds to buy machine guns, and it seems to me that a great many people in this town could give far more towards this very patriotic purpose. If I were able I would independently give a gun, or several of them. I have offered myself but through I am an accountant and speak German fluently I have been rejected on account of weak eyes."

"Shameful fraud" is the term used by Sir Charles Davidson to describe the Nova Scotia horse sales, at which the Borden government accumulated a stock of tin-bone, spavins, heaves, pin swellings, lack spavins and boneyard specimens. If the whole of the expenditure for war materials of all kinds were care-

Nerve. "Can you wait on me immediately?" demanded the richly-dressed woman.

After a hurried rush through the night the doctor found his patient in a very bad way. "My dear sir," he said slowly, "I have been attending you for nine weeks and have done my best, but I am afraid your case is near. Have you any last wish to express?"

Sir Edward Carson is usually serious in demeanor, but he is a master in the art of making witty and telling retorts. During one case in which he appeared he had more than one passage at arms with the judge, who finally drew attention to a discrepancy between the evidence given by two of Sir Edward's principal witnesses, one of whom was a carpenter and the other a tavern keeper.

Jacob Johnson was one of those persons who always think other people cannot be left to attend to anything. They give so many directions that a multitude follows on their heels.

"Don't forget to feed the parrot." Early the next morning he was wakened by a helioph at his hotel, who brought him his reply.

Manitoba's New Premier

A Man of the Type Canada Needs to Remedy Conditions Resulting From Conservative Misrule

T. C. Norris is like unto his predecessor in office in one respect at least. He is a farmer premier for an agricultural province. Mr. Norris owns and farms over two sections of land near the town of Griswold, Manitoba, and is intensely interested in everything connected with the farm and farming. A good judge of a horse, lover of animals, a farmer with ideas that he has demonstrated to be successful, he is a man who commands the respect and admiration of the large class of substantial farmers who form the main proportion of Manitoba's prairie population.

Mr. Norris is one of nature's gentlemen. Almost invariably genial and good natured—except when some high-handed politician tyrannizes his scorn, and then he is a veritable tornado of wrath—Mr. Norris impresses everybody with his courtesy. His opponents readily admit his qualities in this respect, and at one time were not slow to say that he was too "nice" to be dangerous. But of recent years they have had increasing reason to know his strength in attack, and that kind of talk has gone for ever. Mr. Norris is a hard hitter in political controversy, but cherishes his retirement.

Long Legislative Experience The new premier comes to his office fortified by a long experience in the House. Elected member for the constituency of Lanadowne in 1896, he has been in the House since that time, the exception of the period 1908-1907. When the leader of the opposition, C. J. Mitchell was appointed to the bench in 1909, his fellow members in the House elected Mr. Norris as leader and their appreciation of his sterling worth was sustained at a convention of Liberals held in Winnipeg in April 1910. Mr. Norris fought two bitterly contested elections, and the growth of his personal popularity and hold upon the affection of the people was demonstrated at the general elections in July last year when he gave the powerful Roblin administration its severe shock by coming within an ace of beating it.

A Sane Performer. Equable, canny, well-balanced, Mr. Norris is a man of the highest calibre. He is not without a certain amount of wit, but he considers the people will support him because that is necessary for party purposes, but more because a reform is not workable unless it is supported by public opinion behind it. He will initiate and place on the statute books. Mr. Norris is not a bookman. In his early life he had few opportunities of schooling, a fact that no person deplores more than himself. But he possesses in an uncommon degree the faculty of assimilating from the conversation of others the best that men have to give, and this compensates for the lack of academic training.

Hit by Piece of Shell—Writes of Experiences in the Fighting on Western Front

In a recently received letter, Driver Wm. S. Neales, son of the Very Rev. Dean Neales of Fredericton, gives the following description of some of his experiences at the front: "We arrived there (Ypres) about the 15th April and found the trenches in a terrible condition, but everything was very quiet. We started the work of repairing roads and trenches, and there was hardly a shot fired till the afternoon of the 22nd, when the German shells came swarming over the hill and saying that the Germans were using gas. Then came the order to 'fall in' for the sappers and the drivers to harness up, the shells increasing every minute. Our major led the sappers out in the direction of the trenches, and there was a great mistake made, for in spite of our being killed within three miles of the trenches, all the tool carts had been clumped together and unlimbered and the poles taken out, which meant quite a bit of bother, even if the shells had not been flying; but with the horses excited, it was nothing of ourselves, it seemed impossible, for there was only one man to reach team, and it took one man all his time to hold four horses, and it was more than the other could do to limber up the carts. So before we got out the horses out of the barn, one end of the roof was carried away by a shell, but nobody was hurt. "I had my team about half way round the tool cart, when the rifle fire started, and three or four bullets struck the ground just a few feet ahead of the horses and frightened them so that they refused to go further, but just then a shell came over and exploded about forty yards back of us, and the team decided to take the lesser of the two evils, and we finally managed to get to the carts and with some difficulty got hitched up. We had to wait till the last cart before we got away. We got on to the highway, and the shells ceased to follow us down the road, and by the time we were about five hundred yards from the hill there was a machine gun turned on us, but with very little success, as most of the shots were high. Then just as we rounded a corner—Major Fell (second in command)—was leading me by a couple of yards or so—we were given a taste of rifle fire again, and the major's horse was shot under him, but his groom handed over to the major and jumped aboard the tool cart. "We had gone about a thousand yards further when a shell burst near by and killed one of our horses on the road, and we were not there long before we were hit by another shell, but there was so much noise that we knew nothing about it. Our sergeant rode up and told us they soon cut the other three horses loose from the car and got under way again. Then we got mixed up with the ammunition column and had not gone far when we were held up for a few minutes on account of a wheel coming off a limber cart just ahead of us. The next excitement was the driver of the cart being shot a few yards ahead of us by a bullet from his horse by a bit of shell. But he was only one of a great many who got on that road for the ditches were fairly lined on both sides with dead horses and men. We had it in our mind to get on that road for a while, but we were not long in being shot at by the shells, and we were all called on to volunteer as stretcher bearers, and as our horses were all harnessed and the hospital was just across the field, my pal O'Reilly, and myself ran across to help. We met one poor chap just at the door trying to hobble away and so Kelly (O'Reilly) gave him a hand, and I looked around and got hold of another chap and we carried stretcher out with a badly wounded man on it.

When we got about half way across the field we were in a high explosive shell came over, and as I heard it come I said to myself, "This will get some of us." It seemed to stop just as it got over us—and then the awful explosion. The concussion flattened me, and the man who was carrying the stretcher, just ahead of us was hit by a large bit of shell right through his left shoulder and side and was dead almost immediately, but such a shell will never be paralleled this side of hell. Several other men were hit at the same time. One chap who was on a stretcher wounded, was killed by the shock. That was when I got hit on the head, but I believe it was a mere nothing with most of them. As soon as we could pick ourselves up we hauled our stretchers, but had to stand by five hundred yards further, and then I had to beat it back to my horses, and got back just in time to find them all just pulling out. "We moved down the road about two and a half miles, and then halted, but had to stand by in case they should shell us from there. There I had a look at my foot and found to my surprise

WORK UNDER FIRE

Almost to Edge of Trench With Ambulance Corps

THE SHELLS ROARING

Batteries in Action Within Fifty Yards of the Life-Savers—Graphic Story of Battle by American Commander of Corps

Statements that American volunteer ambulances are never allowed to get near the fighting lines in France are refuted by a letter received by Elliot Norton of 28 Rector street, New York, from his brother, Professor Richard Norton, former head of the American School for Classical Studies in Rome and an archaeologist of note who early in the war organized the American Volunteer Ambulance Corps, and is its commander. This corps is entirely separate and distinct from the ambulance corps of the American Ambulance Hospital in Paris, with which it has been frequently confused. On the day the letter was written, June 7, Professor Norton and the American Volunteer Motor Ambulance Corps were operating near Arras, just behind the trenches. The letter was pencilled in the intervals of duty, partly while waiting for a car to be loaded just behind the firing line, partly while its freight was being transferred from the machine to the first line hospital.

The biggest battle that I have yet seen is under way. It is now 8 o'clock and we have been here since four. I am now writing at the dugout at the entrance to the trenches, where the wounded wait for us. Batteries are all around us and along the road we follow the shells are falling. One is fifty yards from the dugout.

We have three groups of four cars each doing the work today, the others doing regular evacuations (transferring wounded from one hospital to another, and reserve service. "It is a wonderfully brilliant summer day, but a strange haze from burning shells and tons of flying earth hangs heavily over the fields. The poor fellows are carrying on as bravely as manly patients, and uncomplaining. In fact, almost the only ones that get angry are those who have gone out of their minds; but there are few of them.

The prisoners look a bit cast down, but otherwise bear themselves like men, and are treated absolutely well. "We are under a tree surrounded by some twenty women from the village, stretcher bearers, and the doctor who manages at the dugout. A couple of batteries of big guns—two twenties—are booming and shells scream over our heads. It is curious to note the different sounds these shells make. These twenties sound like big caliber shells when they begin to revolve, with the same jerky whirr. If you are sufficiently near you don't notice this. One went off just as I was passing. "Taken all in all, this is the most tremendous and interesting and horrible scene I have ever seen. Overhead are aeroplanes, surrounded by long-lasting puffs of heavy white smoke. The horizon line, a few kilometers away, is one long string of black or white volleys, booming, whirring batteries, ambulances, fresh and tired troops, uncomplaining, pain-stick wounded, and magnificent, cool, patient, heroic doctors. "Back again to the home camp, safe and sound. For some hours shells have been going off all around us, making us run for the dugout. "P. S.—Have just got our lists and find we have carried just a few more than 600 today."

HEADACHES

Thousands of men and women suffer from headaches every day, other thousands have them occasionally, but not as regular sufferers. The best doctors advise that the cause of many of these headaches, is not most often, as is usually supposed, due to some brain disease, but to the small pain relievers, which give temporary relief, but the headache returns, and treatment is again necessary. If you suffer from headaches, the matter when satisfied, take An-Kamnia Tablets, and the trouble will be entirely gone. You can obtain them at all drug stores in any quantity, 100 boxes, 50 boxes or more. Ask for An-K Tablets.

SICK-HEADACHES

Sick-headache, the most miserable of all ailments, leaves its victim when An-K Tablets are taken. When you feel an attack coming on, take An-K Tablets every two hours. The next attack will be averted off. During an attack take one An-K Tablet every two hours. The next and one for which follow, can be obtained in no other way. Genuine An-K Tablets bear the K monogram. At all druggists.

USE THE WANT AD WAY

WILL GIVE ONE OR MORE MOTOR AMBULANCES

Fredericton, Aug. 10.—The grand lodge Knights of Pythias of the maritime provinces decided this afternoon to raise funds to furnish one or more motor fire ambulances for Canadian Red Cross Society with headquarters in Toronto. The fund will be raised by voluntary subscription among the members of the order in the domain comprising the maritime provinces together with a grant from the grand lodge funds. The reports of the various lodges were presented showing that the order is in a flourishing condition in this domain with a net increase in membership of upwards of 200 during the past year. "This evening the visitors were entertained by the local K. of P. to a supper on the steamer Victoria on the St. John river. Several hundred people enjoyed the sail, although the weather was not of the best. Tonight at Oddfellows hall the members of D. O. K. K., who are in attendance at the grand lodge, instituted a branch of the organization here. A delightful garden freshness is apparent in every sealed packet of "SALADA" Tea. Fragrant leaves and buds only are used in its preparation.

WHERE THEY COME FROM

Ottawa, Aug. 10.—According to figures of total enlistment in Canada for overseas service up to June, which are the latest figures available, approximately 106,000 men, or 1.233 of the total population, have enlisted. The percentage of enlistment of probably some 10,000 men since June, the percentage is by now about 14, based on an estimated population of 8,000,000. Alberta leads the list on the percentage basis with a total of 14,200 recruits, or 8.78 per cent. of the population, according to the latest census. Manitoba and Saskatchewan come next with a total enlistment of 24,000, or 3.78 per cent. of the census population. British Columbia comes third with 24,500 per cent. and Ontario next with 144 per cent. The Maritime Provinces have contributed 79 per cent. and Quebec, 61 per cent. Ontario volunteers, according to the last tabulated figures, totaled 36,800; Quebec, 18,300 and the Maritime Provinces, 7,400. Ontario's contribution is now well over the 40,000 mark, but if the rate of enlistment from Alberta is to be caught up to, the province will have to send nearly 100,000 to the front, and if the rest of the dominion is to do as well as western Canada, nearly 800,000 men will have to be recruited. Before the war ends it is expected that this figure will be reached. I. O. O. F. Past Grandmasters Charlottetown (P. E. I.), Aug. 10.—Tonight the Oddfellows are giving up their ceremonial and entertainment. The past grand master's banquet was attended by 85 members. W. S. Rogers, P. G. M. of Halifax, was elected the new president and D. A. Fraser, of Bridgewater, secretary. Addresses were given by Benjamin Bremner, Charlottetown; J. R. MacDonald, Sherbrooke (N. S.); M. MacKean, Sydney; Joe. Edwards, Annapolis; W. S. Rogers, J. McLachlan, Charlottetown; D. A. Fraser, A. J. Messervey, Halifax; Dr. Walker, Truro; G. A. Kent, Truro.

FORTS STRIPPED TO HELP RUSSIA

Mikado's Government Sends Many Big Guns

WILL MAKE MUNITIONS, TOO

Thousands of Small Plants and Homes Busy on Cloth For Armies—Will Alter Situation

Tokyo, Aug. 10.—Now that the danger of war with China is over and Japan and Korea is engaged in making supplies for Russia and her allies. The war brought big financial losses to Japan, but the gaps are being filled in part by the furnishing of guns, ammunition and general necessities to the armies at the front—particularly the armies of Russia.

Foreigners who visit Japan are especially astonished at the almost limitless number of tiny shops in the big cities of this nation—miles upon miles of streets filled with them—all occupied in making something, when they are not selling something. These shops are really the factories of the empire. It is here that cloth goods and innumerable articles needed to keep huge armies in supplies are turned out, handed over to commission merchants, assembled in great quantities and distributed to Russia, France and even England.

The Japan Celuloid Company at Aboshi, near Kobe, has abandoned temporarily the celluloid business for a more profitable business of making explosives. This company recently received an order from the Russian government for 440 tons of gunpowder to be delivered before the end of the year.

Leather materials, belts, pouches and sacks are manufactured at Tokio. A series of temporary sheds have been erected on vacant land near the houses of the Diet and are busy night and day.

The production of rifles in Japan is limited in capacity compared to other countries, and Japan is anxious to fill out her own reserve stock. The available number of rifles for the reserve strength of the Japanese army is estimated at 500,000, and it is understood that the General Staff of the army is desirous of increasing the number to one million.

A good part of this output was held up by the recent congestion at the port of Vladivostok. When Japan's contribution to the munitions of Russia actually reach their destination it is expected here that there will be a noticeable change for the better in Russia's power of defence and offense.

LIONS HAVE NO TERRORS FOR VICTORIA CROSS HERO
Pitlagard, Eng., July 24.—(Correspondence)—Sergt. Fuller, who recently won the Victoria Cross in Flanders and has since been assisting in the recruiting campaign in England, won two recruits here by entering a lions' den.

one who has been in the front trenches in Flanders. He strode over to the manager, obtained permission of the proprietor, and out of the cage and resumed his place entered the cage, where there were two on the recruiting platform.

Amid tremendous excitement in the crowd, he calmly stroked the lions for a moment or two and then walked to the cage and resumed his place on the recruiting platform.

Pure Beer Means Better Work

Good beer is almost an ideal beverage with a simple meal," says Dr. Leopoldt, author of Compensense Dietetics. The slight amount of bitter it contains is a direct digestive stimulant. Millions of people would work better if they drank and their meals would be twice as enjoyable. For Schlitz is pure, and there is no better beer brewed. Its malt is food; its hops, tonic, and the Brown Bottle protects its purity from the brewery to your glass. It costs no more than light bottle beer.

STEEL INDUSTRY IS BOOMING

Prospering Beyond All Previous Measure

WAR CONTRACTS THE CAUSE

Every Steel Plant Busy—Employing More Men Than Ever Before—Some of The Companies Which Are Reaping a Harvest

The Montreal Financial Times says that Canadian steel plants, as a result of war orders, are prospering beyond all previous measure. Every steel plant is booked with enormous orders. The Dominion Steel Co. plant at Sydney is booked with the largest volume of business in its history. The Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Co. has 6,000 men on its pay roll, or more than ever before.

The New York Journal of Commerce on Thursday published an article stating that the Canadian Car and Foundry Company's Russian Government war order has been enlarged from $88,000,000 to $154,000,000. Delivery date has been extended to April, 1916. The Montreal office of the company published an article stating that the Canadian Car and Foundry Company's Russian Government war order has been enlarged from $88,000,000 to $154,000,000.

The return of D. A. Thomas, special representative of the British Minister Munitions, to Montreal today is expected to bring announcements of the placing of a vast amount of new war orders. Mr. Thomas says British munition contracts directly to Canada total $160,000,000. One year ago only the one small arsenal at Quebec represented Canada's war material capacity. Today there are 150 war factories in the Dominion.

RECRUITING IN THE SISTER CITY
A Couple of Dozen Each Day in Halifax—Some Heroic Families—Women Doing Their Part

Major Vincent is now the commanding officer of the 40th Nova Scotia Battalion, mobilized at present at Valcartier. Colonel Vincent was formerly in the Royal Marine Light Infantry. After leaving he settled in the Annapolis Valley, and on the formation of the 40th Battalion, offering his services to his country, was appointed second in command.

Twenty-four men enlisted in Halifax yesterday, twenty-three of whom signed up at the parade tent and one at the Armories. Today thirty-one men will leave for Aldershot, while on Monday about sixty or seventy will be sent forward to the depot. Although these figures are an improvement on the recruiting before the campaign, they show a falling off from the early days of the war.

TWO WOMEN SAVED FROM OPERATIONS
By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Their Own Stories Here Told.

Edmonton, Alberta, Can.—"I think it is no more than right for me to thank you for what your kind advice and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have done for me.

Beatrice, Neb.—"Just after my marriage my left side began to pain me and the pain got so severe at times that I suffered terribly with it. I visited three doctors and each one wanted to operate on me but I would not consent to an operation. I heard of the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and was doing for others and I used several bottles of it with the result that I haven't been bothered with my side since then. I am in good health and I have two little girls."—Mrs. R. B. CHILD, Beatrice, Neb.

Defy Dyspepsia!
Among the symptoms of Dyspepsia or Indigestion may be mentioned a heavy cutting pain soon after eating; a distended, full feeling of the stomach; belching of wind and eructations; burning, nausea in the stomach, which indicates acidity; heartburn; palpitation of the heart; oppression of breathing; pain under the ribs and shoulder-blades; headache through the temples and eyes; constipation; coated tongue; and sometimes nausea or vomiting.

A GOOD PLACE TO BUY GOOD CLOTHES

Gilmour's 68 King Street

There are men enlisting who set the highest possible example to the manhood of Nova Scotia. There are women ever, accompanying their husbands to the recruiting tent to give their consent on the spot, proud that they are able to do that much in contribution to the great cause. Those men and women have met a supreme test and not failed. One instance of this was witnessed at the Parade Tent last night when a young man and his wife entered. He desired to enlist and she, not much out of her girlhood, had accompanied him there to give her consent. She did it with no air of bravado, but as a matter of duty. She knew the seriousness of what she did, but she realized that she would never live a prouder moment of her life.

Five Brothers at Front.

Another instance of sacrifice is that of D. J. O'Connell, of Dartmouth, who, although with a wife and six children dependent on him, has enlisted. Mr. O'Connell has five brothers at the front, and he, the last of his family, now goes, despite the fact that he has ties which are keeping many men at home, and far more than have those who have not yet enlisted.

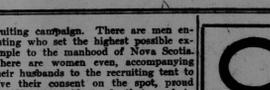

Mr. Benjamin Orton, of 6 Gerrish Lane, Halifax, who has at present three brothers in the service of the Empire, has enlisted, making the fourth and complete number of his family in service. The only remaining one of his family is his mother, who will live alone in Halifax, while her sons are doing their bit for Canada. Mr. Orton was third engineer on the icebreaker Home, which was sent across by the Canadian government to Archangel, Russia, for the use of the Russian government. The crew returned to Canada by way of New York.

Mr. Orton said that the women of Russia certainly set an example to those of Canada, for they were doing even more than the men, in order to release the men, all of whom, from eighteen years of age upward were in the army.

WHERE GERMAN HOSTS ARE PRESSING RUSSIANS

The army of General von Buelow is pushing eastward from Poznanow (1) with the objective of Dvinsk (2) on the map. Further south the German advance has reached the first-class fortress of Kovno (2) and the attack on the fortress has begun. Osovetz, lying between Grodno and Lomza, is also being attacked.

MORNING WAR CABLES

London, Aug. 10.—The commencement of new and greater efforts to force the Dardanelles and thus bring succor to the Russians, who are still being hard pressed by the Austro-Germans in Eastern Poland, and the Balkan states, together with a Zeppelin raid on the east coast of England, in which fourteen persons were killed and fourteen wounded, are the features of the war news tonight.

For some time the news from the Dardanelles, from the British standpoint has been more cheerful. While no details of the operations there have been given out, the public has been allowed to learn that the hope for a successful issue in the fighting on the Turkish peninsula was brighter.

The renewed attempt against the Turkish positions, which apparently is in full swing, seems to be a concerted one. Attacks are being made at the tip of the peninsula, along the Krithia road, where a gain of 200 yards on a front of 300 yards has been made, and at Sari Bahr, where an important crest has been occupied, according to General Sir Ian Hamilton, commander-in-chief of the British forces.

"Elsewhere," General Hamilton's report continues, "a fresh landing has been successfully effected and considerable progress made."

In their latest aerial raid over the English coast, which occurred Monday night and this morning, the Germans lost one of the Zeppelin airships which took part in it. It was attacked by gunboats on its return home, after having dropped bombs, and was so seriously damaged that it fell into the sea and was towed into Ostend, Belgium, where allied airmen attacked and destroyed it. It is believed that four or five airships took part in the raid. A despatch from Holland says that five more airships passed over that country, going in a northerly direction this morning, so that another air raid on England is expected tonight.

The armies of the Tzovons which are advancing east of Warsaw, and those which have crossed the Vistula at Ivangorod, and Field Marshal Mackensen's forces, are now joining hands and making another effort to catch and destroy the Russian armies. The Russians, however, are believed in military circles here to be by now fairly safe.

On the western front German attacks, according to the French report, have been repulsed in the Artois and Argonne regions, while Field Marshal Sir John French, in a communication, says that the British, under a heavy artillery fire, found some of the trenches captured from the Germans south of Hooge untenable and evacuated them.

Bevanston Towns Raided. Berlin, via London, Aug. 10.—An official communication issued here today tells of an allied air raid Monday over Zwickbrucken and Sanktingberg, Bavaria. Eight persons were killed and two wounded in the latter town.

Maritz Arrested. Maritz, rebel leader in South Africa, has been arrested by the authorities in Anglia, Portuguese Africa. Submarines' Crop. Cables yesterday tell of the sinking of the British torpedo boat destroyer "Lynx" in the North Sea, after striking a mine; three British trawlers, Harbor Wilper and Benardna; the Norwegian steamer Ganger and the Danish schooner Jason, were sunk by a German submarine. From the "Lynx" four officers and twenty-two men of a crew of 100 were saved. Benardna claims to have sunk the British auxiliary cruiser "India" of 7,500 tons. Eighty of her crew were saved.

"SHAMEFUL FRAUD" IN HORSE SALES. Sir Charles Davidson Denounces Nova Scotians Who Sold Useless Animals For War Purposes.

Kentville, N. S., Aug. 10.—Slaying the passing off by farmers of defective and aged horses on a remount department buyer as "shameful fraud," Sir Charles Davidson, of the commission, at this morning's session followed upon this remonstrance by refusing to remove their witness fees.

The sales that brought down Sir Charles' denunciation were made by George Porter, of Lakeville, and P. E. Porter, of Waterville. The evidence followed that of several other farmers, who confessed that the horses they sold were over eight years old. Further evidence of the payment by agents of purchase money when receipts were given was submitted.

Geo. Porter said the horse he sold to the government buyer for $165 was twenty years old. The animal fractured an ankle eight years ago, but had got over that. Sometimes its wind bothered it, and it had a choking in its throat. These were old troubles, however.

To Sir Charles Davidson, the witness said he did not tell the veterinary of the horse's age, or defects. "Did you know that the horse was to be used for military purposes?" asked Sir Charles.

"Yes," replied witness.

EXPLOSIVES OF GRASS TREE GUM

Immense Quantities Imported From Australia SUPERIOR TO DYNAMITE

Government Has Now Stopped Its Shipment Overseas — Germans Have Been Getting It

Sydney, Australia, July 9.—(Correspondence)—It has just come to light here that with the astounding preparedness with which the Germans entered upon this war they had for several years prior to the declaration of hostilities been buying immense quantities of Australian grass tree gum, which is convertible into an explosive more powerful than dynamite, and that this explosive is probably now being used against the British and their allies.

"Over 25 years ago I witnessed a number of experiments with grass tree gum in which a comparison was made with a dynamite cartridge and a grass tree gum cartridge, and judging from the bulk of rock dislodged the latter was by far the more powerful. Later the Explosive Company gave a series of demonstrations with a mixture of nitrated cellulose, grass tree gum and nitro-glycerine at Narrabeen and Pymont (two places on the outskirts of Sydney) both of which were reported in the daily press. Again at Sorell Head (at the entrance to Sydney Harbor) a company made an explosive called xanthorite and used it very successfully. The chief in the manufacture of this explosive was a German agent in Sydney who had been buying and shipping to Germany immense quantities of grass tree gum for the past quarter of a century and the North German Lloyd agent at Adelaide (the capital of South Australia), inside the Cape of Good Hope, had large quantities from the Kangaroo Island gum-getters. The German exporters used to say that the grass tree gum was used for making varnish, but the varnish made from this gum is very inferior and although the red grass tree gum is probably used as a cheap substitute for dragon's blood gum for coloring the varnish the yellow gum is not used for this purpose.

"The price paid at one time by the Germans was as high as $80 per ton, a better quality bringing $120 per ton, but shortly before the war there was a great demand for the best quality, and Germany was then willing to pay $225 per ton. Knowing that large quantities of grass tree gum had been used in Australia for the production of explosives the inference is that Germany has all the time been buying it for the same purpose.

"The chemical composition of this explosive is a mixture of xanthorite, nitro-cellulose and nitro-glycerine, which yields benzene and toluene. It is possible that the Germans substituted the gum for special treatment and vitrified the product in order to obtain a more perfect explosive. A German chemist who has been working in Australia for some years ago and who projected the establishment of an explosives works in a gum country in New South Wales but I believe that he failed to get the required local capital, and nothing came of it.

Mr. Wright pointed out that it was possible to produce a distinctly Australian explosive for the use of the British War Office now was certainly the time to do so.

Francis C. Gashler, another Sydney expert in the press about the time that Mr. Wright made the statement that as great damage to the British might be done by the use of neutral countries through the medium of neutral countries, the Commonwealth Government upon the exportation of the gum. He also wrote: "Holiday makers on the sandy slopes of Coogee and Bondi (two very popular surf-bathing and sunbathing resorts on the outskirts of Sydney) are familiar with the peculiarly shaped plant, looking like a mass of huge grass, commonly called spinifex; but few suspect that in this apparently useless plant is a material for wholesale destruction of mankind. This plant known to science as Xanthorrhoea hastilis exudes from the roots a resinous substance called grass tree gum. The color of the resin, according to the species of plant varies from primrose orange and greenish red. The resin is converted into pearly sand, the most efficient component in many up-to-date explosives. An advantage of its use is not only the cheapness and simplicity of manufacture, but the suffocating yellow fumes which are generated in explosion."

Many tons of grass tree gum have been exported to the United States yearly for it is an important raw material in many industries, notably in the varnish manufacture, but now that the military value to the Germans has been emphasized it is safe to say that a rigid surveillance will soon be exercised by the Australian government over shipments of it overseas.

FATHER AND SON ENLIST. "Jack" Dorn, one of the best known hunters guides in New Brunswick and formerly a well known baseball player on the old champion Fredericton team, has gone to fight for his king and country. He and his son Frank, the only son he has who is capable of military service, have answered the call of the empire and both are with the 50th Battalion. Jack Dorn was one of Fredericton's best athletes, having been the "Tartars" catcher as well as one of the standbys of the best football teams in the city. He has never turned out. During his absence other guides will be in charge of his camps near Clarendon.

Managed by Mower. On Saturday at Casey's Settlement, near Grand Digue, just on the border line between Kent and Westmorland counties, a little eight-year-old girl, playing in a hayfield, had both legs seriously mangled by the knives of a mowing machine driven by her father, who did not perceive the child until she was in the grip of the big reaper. The little girl is but eight years of age, and is the daughter of Thaddeus Arsenault of Casey's.

RECENT WEDDINGS. In Andover on Wednesday last, Miss Vena Houston of Perth, Maine, was united in marriage to Arnold Finley of Fredericton.

COCONUT OIL FINE For Washing Hair. If you want to keep your hair in good condition, the less soap you use the better. Most soaps and prepared shampoo contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just picture unrefined coconut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than soap or anything else you can use for shampooing as this can't possibly injure the hair. Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage. You can get multifaceted coconut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

J. L. Stewart, M. P. P., Most Faithful Attendant at I.O.O.F. Grand Lodge Meetings

(Moncton Transcript) J. L. Stewart, M. P. P., for Northumberland and editor and proprietor of the Chatham, N. B., World, was in the city yesterday en route to Charlottetown, P. E. I., as a delegate to the Grand Lodge meeting for the Maritime Provinces, of the Independent Order of Oddfellows. This is the thirty-fifth consecutive meeting of the Grand Lodge for the Maritime Provinces, which J. L. Stewart has attended. It is doubtful if any other member of the order or indeed of any other organization can boast of such an unbroken record. Incidentally Mr. Stewart, speaking about the growth of Moncton and how small it was thirty-five years ago, said that he happened to have gone from Moncton to Campbellton in 1878 on the first regular passenger train from this town to the northern railway town. "Nearly all the prominent people who were on the train," he says, "are now dead and even the newspaper which he represented." The late W. Kilby Reynolds, formerly well known in Moncton, was the representative of the St. John Telegraph on the trip, and Mr. Stewart himself was representing the new daily St. John Daily News. Alonso Hillson was the conductor of the train. Among those aboard were Collingwood Schreiber, then Chief Engineer, and Mr. Luttrell, who was the General Superintendent. The late Joe Moore, of Shediac, Mr. Stewart thinks was the locomotive driver on that occasion. There was only one house in sight from the railway train besides the railway stations all the way from Berry's Mills to Barnaby River. It was entirely a burnt land country at that time. He remembers writing country was known as "the invader." "We left Moncton," added Mr. Stewart, "about 11 o'clock in the morning on the arrival of the train from St. John and we did not reach Campbellton until two o'clock the next morning. This train we took up the first station masters for the stations along the road between here and New Brunswick. I remember, had a dog and a gun with him and also a package of novels for reading."

MISS MCGRATH'S BODY BROUGHT TO THE CITY. The body of Miss Kathleen McGrath, the victim of the sad drowning accident of Cronce yesterday morning, was brought to the city last night and taken to her parents' home in Golling street. It was accompanied to the city by Mrs. Kate O'Malley and her daughter, Kathleen.

Miss Evelyn Walsh and Miss Genevieve O'Brien, the two other girls who were saved from a watery grave by the heroic efforts of William Turner, of this city, and a lad named Guthrie, are recovering from the shock. They are expected home today with the other members of the party. The two girls became hysterical when they saw their companion sink and as they had gone over an embankment they would have met a similar fate if they had not been rescued by Mr. Turner and the boy.

MORNING NEWS OVER THE WIRES. The U. S. government yesterday replied to the Austrian note of some weeks ago, denying that the export of munitions to the allies was not in accordance with the definition of neutrality. That means it will go on shipping ammunition to the allies.

Kurdish Subjects. It is reported to have massacred 10,000 Armenians Christians in the vilayet of Bitlis and the Armenian bishop fears that 100,000 will be driven from their homes by the Kurds. Some of the bodies have been thrown into the Tigris and the Euphrates.

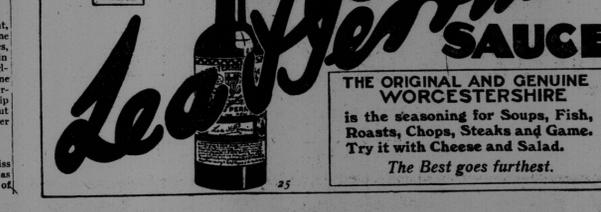

John Woodman, a prominent architect, who gave evidence before the royal commission on the parliament building, stated, according to a report today given out by Chief Justice Mathers, that Thomas Kelly & Sons were, in his opinion, overpaid $37,450 for the work on the fifteen foundation caissons alone. Only six of these were found on rock, which was easily reached, and the concrete, he thinks, was never put in the quantities specified.

It is estimated that the loss to the Ontario crown alone through the bad weather of the last fortnight will amount to $200,000,000, according to the estimate of Hon. James S. Duff, minister of agriculture.

To Aid the Commission. That all information collected and compiled by the taxation committee of the board of trade be turned over to the taxation committee, was the decision of the taxation committee at a meeting yesterday. Members of the committee expressed their willingness to render to the taxation committee all the assistance in the power of the board of trade.

Committed for Trial. Policeman Leonard Moore and his brother Cyril were committed for trial by Magistrate Ritchie on a charge of assaulting Mrs. Mary L. Truscott, of Hanover street. In submitting the case to the high court, Magistrate Ritchie said that the evidence did not furnish a strong presumption of guilt.

THE BEST EXERCISE

Four or Five Mile Walk a Day, Says New York Doctor

Walking is the form of exercise which Nature herself devised to keep man in good physical condition, declares Dr. Alvan H. Doty of New York, who adds that to secure the full benefits of it the average person should take a continuous walk of from four to five miles a day.

Moreover, he declares, there is no real substitute for walking for the purpose of adjusting circulation to physical needs.

The special function of exercise is the adjustment of the circulation, in order that certain parts or tissues of the body may be relieved of their overcharge of blood. While Nature is able under ordinary conditions to maintain what may be termed a normal equilibrium of the circulation, it cannot be depended upon to do this if the various organs of the body are constantly overworked.

In the light weight class, Ritchie of the 40th easily showed his superiority. In the 150 lb. weight, Godfroid, a Belgian, from the 50th, was successful also. These were the only classes with contestants from the 50th entered, but there came loud calls for Godfroid to go up against the champion heavyweight of the 40th, who has a record as a professional wrestler.

The Belgian responded to the call and the men saw an exhibition which was highly exciting. Although his opponent had an advantage of some 25 pounds weight, yet the Belgian kept him busy all the time, and at the end of the time limit the bout was declared to be a draw. This contest will be resumed on Tuesday evening.

stiff. The term "hardening of arteries," which is now familiar to the public, is applied to this condition.

Nature is not unmindful of the frailty of the human being, and has provided for the maintenance of health means which are simple and easily carried out; and if begun sufficiently early will go far to prevent the unpleasant conditions above referred to, even among those who do not lead the simple life.

I refer to personal hygiene, and particularly to the adjustment of the circulation of the blood, by which undue and prolonged congestion of the internal organs may be prevented or relieved. This can be effected only by proper exercise.

Walking is the form of exercise provided by Nature for this purpose, and, contrary to the general belief, there is no substitute for it. There are, of course, many other forms of outdoor exercise and sport which are very valuable and go far to maintain health, particularly when walking is possible, but compared with the latter, at least so far as the adjustment of the circulation is concerned, they are of secondary importance.

There are several hundred muscles attached to the human skeleton used in locomotion and in the various movements of the body, some of them being of great bulk and power. From the moment they become active there is a demand for an increased supply of blood, for under these conditions waste rapidly takes place and nourishment is needed for repair.

As the amount of blood in the body practically remains unchanged, it follows that if the general muscular system calls for a largely increased supply, it must be drawn from other parts. This is exactly what occurs, and it is the brain and the abdominal organs which contribute very largely to this emergency call; gradually at first, but more rapidly later.

Just at this point an important practical illustration of this detail of the exercise is ended before sufficient supply of blood is abstracted; neither is a long walk in pavement so apt to interrupt, although both of these are valuable in their way.

Physiologists have shown that we need a certain amount of food during twenty-four hours and have also indicated that the amount of water we should drink during this period. It may also be approximately stated that the distance should be walked each day in order properly to perform the function of exercise.

A continuous walk of four or five miles is a fair estimate of the distance required each day to secure the benefit of this form of exercise. The fact that many take no exercise and remain fat and otherwise generally deficient in health, and apparently enjoy good health, and may continue to do so indefinitely, but, as a rule a reckoning occurs late in life, unless it may happen to be some one who has an unusual resisting power.—New York Tribune.

"SUCH A LITTLE QUEEN" Five Famous Players' Roles

THE play deals with kings and queens of toy kingdoms and the trials which beset them in both the hard field of politics and the imaginative realm of commerce. Anna Victoria, Queen of Hesperos, exiled by reasons of political dissensions, finds refuge in America. Stephen, the Debonair, King of Bomla, has also been deposed, and also comes to America. As may be suspected, they are deeply in love, and their troubles spring from the political enmity which forbids their marriage. Both are penniless, and Anna drifts into a small flat in Harlem, while King Stephen goes to a cheap hotel. There's where the exquisite, almost pathetic comedy comes in. Everything ends delightfully, however, and both King and Queen come into their own again.

A St. John woman, Mrs. William Stockford, of West Side, enjoys the distinction of having four brothers enlisted for foreign service. WITH C. M. R. ON S.S. HERSCHEL
Chaplain Kuhring Writes of Trip Across—Pays Tribute to Men—How They Spent Their Time
The following very interesting letter has been received from Capt (chaplain) Kuhring of the 6th Mounted Rifles, Kurling at sea, on board the steamer Herschel, on July 26:
I am writing to give the friends in St. John some idea of the life of the 6th C. M. R. on the voyage to England on the S.S. Herschel.
The voyage up to the present moment has been in fairly calm waters, and although the wind and waves have been landing this ship more roughly today, the men have got their "nauseas," and there has been little sea sickness aboard, and we expect to make England in two days.
The men of this regiment and the forty out of the 30th C. M. R. who accompany us are, without doubt, a superior lot of men. Physically, they are splendidly fit, and their intellectuality is marked by the title of the books I see in many of their hands as they lie about the deck reading and looking in the sunbath. There are a number of Arts and Divinity students in our midst, some from Lennoxville, Kings and Wycliffe Colleges.
My lot as chaplain has been a very happy one, as officers and men have given me a warm welcome, and their co-operation has enabled me to do much I must have otherwise left undone. We have had two official eleven a.m. services on the ship. The singing and responsive reading by 200 men was inspiring, and I personally enjoyed addressing this gathering. Each Sunday we gathered at seven o'clock and until dark sang the favorite hymns of the men as they were called for. Having on board no piano or band, necessitated my leading the singing with my violin, and I had the practice improving my execution.
In the same way, almost every evening at seven we gathered in the main hatch, which we named "assembly square," and sang choruses, patriotic sentimentals and otherwise. Two evenings we had a gramophone concert, in which we heard many celebrated bands, vocalists and entertainers from far distant lands. You will understand what value we place upon our gramophone when you remember it takes the place of hand and piano.
I applied to the "Khaki" club of Quebec and secured an instrument valued at $250.00, and from them and other friends about ninety records. I shall have these for use in barracks in England, where I expect we shall spend at least six weeks after arrival.
Bart of the 810 given me by Mrs. A. Adams, Chapter I. O. E. D., I spent in securing 3,000 sheets of paper, 1,000 envelopes. When I tell you that the two occasions on which I distributed these, once as we started on our voyage to let them pen letters home by the pilot, and again last Sunday, to be ready to mail letters on arrival in England, over 1,500 letters were written, you will understand the importance of having this writing material.
At the beginning of the voyage I distributed two large cases of magazines. These have been constantly changing hands so long as even a few leaves have held together.
Tonight, Monday, we had a minstrel show and concert. Of course the chaplain had to get the component parts together. That was easy, seeing I had such material as Belding of St. John, N. B., and the Rogers boys of Amherst, N. S., with their friends. The jokes

SUBMARINE WAS AWAITING THEM

Chased by Hesperian's Convoy—Three Spies, Altogether, Found on the Transport—An Interesting Diary
Mrs. W. J. Brown has received from her husband, Lieutenant Brown, of the 6th C. M. R., who was one of eleven officers of that regiment to sail on the steamer Hesperian, a very interesting diary of the voyage. He tells of the German spies arrested and of a rumor that a German submarine was waiting for the Hesperian but was driven off by destroyers. Writing on the morning of July 28 he says:
"I was up all night. I went off duty at midnight, and there was apparently no place to sleep so I stayed up. At daylight the men gathered up their goods and chattels, and went below. They had slept on deck. It was quite a sight to see 1,500 or 1,600 men stretched out on the decks, each man with his life belt under his head, or on. We sighted a couple of steamers and one sailing ship during the night, and this morning three steam trawlers came close to us. We passed the Scilly Islands about a half hour ago. We are right in the danger zone. Nobody is allowed on deck in uniform this morning.
"12 noon—We have sighted all sorts of craft but no war vessels. Nobody is allowed on deck, whether in military, or we wander about inside, up and down, aimlessly.
"2:30 p. m.—There are 10 small fishing boats on this side of the ship and one steamer. The bedroom steward has just told me the escort has arrived. I went out and looked. One destroyer is about 100 yards off on one side, and one is abreast of the other side, so I guess our troubles for this voyage are over.
"3:30 p. m.—Through some freak of fate the Hesperian has been ordered to stop at noon. We will lie in the stream and disembark at 2 o'clock tomorrow morning. Ronald McAvity has just come aboard. He is looking after transportation matters. It was quite a short trip from the harbor up here to Devonport, only a short distance, but the people lined the docks, hills and parks and cheered as we sailed by. We got here all right but it appears we had a narrow escape about 2 o'clock this morning. The two torpedo boats which were coming out to meet us in the night, and chased her away and lost us, the submarine fired on a C. E. R. boat which was coming out, but was chased again by the torpedo boats. We don't know whether the submarine was sunk or not, as the British admiralty are not saying what they are doing to the submarines. It is all warlike here—the harbor full of training ships, four or five torpedo boats, submarines, two battleships and innumerable other small armed craft. Plymouth is certainly a most beautiful place viewed from the sea. I never dreamed of such beautiful parks and buildings right at the water's edge. Just got word our regiment, the 6th, got away at 7 o'clock; don't know where, probably Shorncliffe. We'll catch up to them tomorrow."
THREE SPIES ARRESTED ON STEAMER HESPERIAN.
Lieutenant Brown also refers to the spies discovered on board and arrested. Writing on Thursday, July 22, he said:
"3:45 p. m.—Have just returned from a meeting of the officers. We arrested a spy last night. He was a soldier and had a flashlight in the shape of a pistol for signalling, also other signalling devices in his possession. He was found among the ammunition workers making enquiries. Two other men are under suspicion, father and son. One is a munition worker called 'Patchy' and his son is the only second class passenger. We are having them watched, and all the soldiers with foreign names are under scrutiny."
Continuing his diary of the voyage Friday morning Lieutenant Brown writes:
"We arrested two more suspected spies tonight and put them in the guard room. One was the only second class passenger and the other was his father, one of the munition workers. Tonight somebody was signalling from our signalling post, when it was supposed to be closed and nobody there. The spies will be tried in England."
WITH THE 24TH
Mrs. Thaddeus J. Scribner received a letter yesterday from her son William, who is a member of the 98th battalion, now stationed at Shorncliffe camp England. He speaks about the life in camp and the drilling they are having in order to make them hard and fit for service at the front. He said the buglers are being used as stretcher bearers and ammunition carriers, but he asked Major Dunfield to allow him to join the ranks.
The men are daily practicing shooting on the range, and sometimes are called up at two o'clock in the morning to start on a march. He is in the best of health and spirits and said he is enjoying the life of a soldier.
The roar of the big guns across the channel can be plainly heard on a still night. He said they do not mind that as they soon get accustomed to the sound of guns. The only drawback he finds to the drill is the lack of cigarettes. He is expecting some from home, but they had not arrived when he sent the letter.
He told of one detachment of soldiers leaving for the front to reinforce some battalion and one of the number returned and said there were only about fifty left fighting as the others had been wounded or taken prisoners.
He said they had received orders to prepare for a week's manoeuvring in some trenches they dug. They were to be sent into the trenches with rations to last forty eight hours. He wished to be remembered to all his friends.
were clean and original, and among them many exceedingly good local hits. We asked for a collection for the fund for aged sailors and widows and obtained $20.22.
I am looked upon as a sort of intermediary, and the men come to me for all sort of things and advice. The ten days on the steamer has enabled me to get into close touch with men and officers, and has led me more clearly to see how distinct my call has been to this important work.
Tell the friends not to cease praying for us. Our work will be serious both in physical, moral and religious realms. Divine power alone can enable us to do our duty.
Yours faithfully,
GUSTAV A. KUHRING,
