BAXTER TO INVESTIGATE LIQUOR CHARGE

WILL PROBE ALLEGATIONS OF EX-INSPECTOR

Rev. A. M. Angus Asked to Return From Saskatchewan

LAXITY HINTED Former Westmorland Official Alleges Interference With His Operations

CHARGES regarding laxity of enforcement of the Prohibition Act as made by Rev. Austin M. Angus in a recent issue of the United Churchman, Sackville, will be promptly investigated by the New Brunswick Government, Premier John B. M. Baxter said this morning.

PORTLAND, Maine, Oct. 8.—Edith Bradley of this city, formerly of New Rochelle, N. Y., asking a divorce in the Superior Court yesterday, said her husband gave her a dime to buy a few cakes of soap and was waiting for the change which he demanded on her return.

PREMIER WIRE Premier Baxter got in touch with the chief liquor inspector, W. L. MacFarlane and in addition telegraphed the following telegram to Rev. Mr. Angus: "Will you come here to give evidence regarding your letter to the United Churchman on September 25. The letter was published in the United Churchman of Oct. 6 and was not drawn to Premier Baxter's attention until yesterday."

MR. ANGUS' LETTER Rev. Mr. Angus' letter is as follows: Sackville, N. B., Sept. 23, '26. Dear Bro.—Your letter of inquiry as to my experience during the period I served as liquor inspector is before me. In answer to your first question—Have you given up the duties of office mainly because you were not given a free hand in the discharge of duty? I would say yes.

Question No. 2: Is it true that you failed to secure the dismissal of at least one vendor against whom you obtained judgment for violation of the Prohibition Act?

I spoke to Chief Inspector W. L. MacFarlane about the vendors made against the appointment of Anslan LeBlanc, of Memramook, as vendor, to which he replied he should never have been appointed. I told him of complaints that had been made to me about him openly violating the law, and that I was going to investigate. This seemed to meet with his approval because he said if any conviction—nothing has been done so far as I know.

Question No. 3: Was there an understanding in the matter by those in authority, or were you under orders not to molest a certain class of beer manufactured within the province?

I went with my son on one occasion and we bought some ale at different places in the county of Westmorland, labeled Oland's and Ready's Ale, with more than two per cent. proof spirits. I informed the Chief Inspector as to what I had done, and what action I was going to take unless otherwise advised, to which he replied that he had sent a letter to one Mr. Goodwin, of Moncton, and for me to be guided by whatever he said. Mr. Goodwin came to see me, with the result that the cases were dropped.

And as a penalty for securing these cases, when my expense account was paid the amount of the cost of the trip was deducted.

Question No. 4: Was the Chief Inspector aware of any interference you had?

There are many other things to which I might refer, but I think I have said enough to show you that my resignation was the only thing under the circumstances.

Sincerely yours, AUSTIN M. ANGUS.

MR. ANGUS' RESIGNATION

Rev. Mr. Angus' resignation was as follows: MR. W. L. MACFARLANE—Chief Inspector Under the Prohibition Act, for Province of N. B. Dear Sir—I hereby tender by resignation as prohibition inspector for the Parish of Sackville, West County N. B., to take effect September 1st, 1926.

THREE MOOSE IN THREE DAYS VISITING HUNTSMEN'S BAG

Pennsylvania Party Thinks N. B. Best Game Hunting Area on Continent

FREDERICTON, Oct. 8.—Three moose in three days is the record attained by three hunters from Pennsylvania, who were in Fredericton for a day, while the fourth member of the party remained in the woods near Tracy Station, trying to get another shot at the moose he had a chance to bring down the second day they were in the woods.

MOOSE PLENTIFUL

"Moose are most plentiful in the district where we were hunting," said Mr. Amesbury, spokesman for the party, "and we expect that when we get back in the woods again to spend a few more days hunting here, our friend will have shot his moose too. If he doesn't get the one he fired at before, he will have plenty of chances to get another one, for we saw tracks of moose in three days' hunting."

LONDON PAPERS SPECULATE ON OBJECT OF MEET

Question of Industrial Understanding Believed Raised

IS UNOFFICIAL

Gathering Said, However, to Have Approval of Premier Baldwin

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Not a little mystery attached to a visit of a dozen German industrial and financial leaders to London today for a conference with a similar number of British industrialists and bankers under the presidency of Sir Robert Horne, former Chancellor of the Exchequer. There was much speculation as to the purpose of the unusual gathering, this ranging from the formation of a great European industrial pact or "Industrial United States of Europe," an Anglo-German industrial understanding and the formation of a world steel trust, to a desire by the Germans to raise funds in England to carry on their industries.

THOSE INVITED

The invitations are understood to have been sent to the Germans through the British legation in Berlin. Those invited were prominent representatives of the coal, iron and steel, electric and mining industries of both countries, in addition to bankers.

PRESBYTERIAN SYNOD TO MEET HERE IN 1927

Invitation of Knox Church for Next Year Accepted

Canadian Press
HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 8.—The Presbyterian Synod of the Maritime Provinces adjourned last night to meet in Knox Church, Saint John, on the first Tuesday of October, 1927. An invitation was also extended from the two Presbyterian churches in Pictou, but the Synod decided in favour of Saint John.

"That this synod use every effort to foster the cause of true Christian temperance, and enjoys its ministers to emphasize this virtue from their pulpits, believing that salvation from intemperance and other vices of excess can be found only in the gospel of Jesus Christ," was the recommendation brought in by Dr. Kerr, who moved its adoption.

In securing the motion, Rev. J. W. Britton, of Oxford, advocated that there be more education along temperance lines. Such matters as bootlegging and rum running, he said, are the worst evils which have recently befallen the Maritime, and express itself as standing behind the resolution made. He spoke favourably of the use of pledge cards by the Sunday schools, and young peoples societies, which he thought would have a very welcome effect on the young people in the days to come.

STINNES TO GET $25,000,000 LOAN IN U.S.

Two Holding Companies in America for All Family Interests Planned

Canadian Press
BERLIN, Oct. 8.—Hugo Stinnes, yesterday announced that negotiations had been completed between the Stinnes family and a United States banking syndicate for a loan. It is the intention, he said, to "combine the whole interests of the Stinnes family in two holding companies in the United States."

"The companies," he added, "will float in the American money market, two loans of 7 per cent. to a total amount of $25,000,000."

In the first company, it is explained, will be combined all the interests of the Stinnes family, which were the foundation for the development of the elder Stinnes firm—coal mining shares and all industrial plants connected with the mining industry, and its coal business with transportation facilities in Germany and foreign countries, including ships and river craft.

SECOND COMPANY

In the second company will be combined all the Stinnes family interests not connected with the main industrial group.

"The intention is," Herr Stinnes' statement says, "to dispose partly of these interests during the coming year. The second company will be the owner of all the shares of the first company.

The dominating interest will remain in the hands of the Stinnes family, who will also retain active management. The issues of the two companies will be taken over by United States banking syndicates.

"The obligations of the Stinnes firm to German banking interests will be paid off by the transaction, the surplus from the loans will be used by the two companies as additional working capital."

The inspector said the two men were about to deliver 127 uncut diamonds to a United States client.

FINANCE SAID
TO BE PROBLEM
RE SINGAPORE

Importance of British Base
Stressed in London
Letter
AUSTRALIA MAY BE CALLED ON TO HELP
Government of India Also News Topics in Metropolis of Empire

(Correspondence of Times-Star.)
LONDON, Sept. 29.—The difficulties in the Far East opened up the question of the importance of the Singapore base. The problem today, I am told, is not so much one of expediency as of finance. But the vital importance of the base to India and Australia is unquestioned. Will India and Australia, therefore, be asked to share the cost? I learn that such a viewpoint will be urged by the treasury, but help is more likely to be tendered in kind rather than in cash. The Indian argument will be that they will contribute their share by garrisoning the port with a brigade of native infantry, a point which I understand the military authorities in India are presently considering. The Australian government, which realizes that a strong base at Singapore means thought and money protected, will be able to contribute a quota to the naval defences, and it is not improbable that the question of artillery defence will likewise be related to Australian care.

THE IMPERIAL INSTITUTE
Considering the important part played by the Imperial Institute, South Kensington, in the development of the Empire's resources it is surprising to note how little is heard of it by the general public. Other institutions in London with less claim to notice appear to have the arts of publicity more at command, with the result that constant streams of visitors go to them.
It is to be hoped that when the gal-eries of the Imperial Institute re-open on September 29, the new arrangements and improvements effected will be duly appreciated by large numbers of the public who will be able to see exhibits illustrating, in a manner that recalls Wembley, the resources of the British Empire. The attention of youthful visitors ought to be won by the well-lit dioramas and models of typical scenes in the Overseas Dominions now provided, and which are of real educational value.

OTHER ATTRACTIVE FEAT-URES
In another gallery exhibitions of the work of the British School of Rome scholars in painting, sculpture, carving and architecture will be held, as well as periodical exhibitions of the work in these same branches of art from all parts of the Empire. The mention of these features will show that the Imperial Institute is really an attractive place for visitors from all parts. Apart from its exhibits, the important features of the Institute has other important features. In its intelligence section inquirers can obtain all available information as to the Empire's raw materials, and there is an investigations section in which raw

HOLDING HIS OWN
In these days of rush and bustle it takes some hustler to even hold his own. To see a salesman doing more than his share of the work and saying nothing about it is a rare treat;
but this chap has never said a word since he was hired for the job. We want you to meet this man and make his acquaintance because he knows just how valuable he is.
Step into Louis Green's Clear Store and let us introduce you to one of our silent sellers. Inside, he is displaying many articles of use, while outside,
you will see the greatest array of extra coupon sale specials ever arranged for your benefit.
Right here let's say just a word about these coupons. You buy a package of tobacco, a magazine or even a box of chocolates for your best girl, and with the package you are given coupons to the value of your purchase. Suppose, however, that you bought thirty-five cents worth of goods, then Mr. Green will give you a twenty-five cent and a ten cent coupon. These you can redeem at any time you wish and get a present, and just let us say that they are some gifts that.
If you can't come in at the moment,
then have a look at the windows, they are full of things good to use, and the beauty about it all is, "they are free."
Of course if you want to get it before you have collected enough coupons,
then return 25 per cent of the purchase
required and pay the remainder in cash.
(That's perfectly all right to Mr. Green.
Above all things, though, come and get your smoking supplies, magazines or chocolates. It's Louis Green's Clear Store, Charlotte Street we're talking about.)

MACDONALD'S NEW COURAGE
His friends say that Ramsay Macdonald has developed new courage as the result of recent events and that he will now stand up to the extremists as he has never done before. Hitherto, he has been accused of condemning them in private and obeying their orders in public. Now it seems he is going to say to them "Who are you?" He will light hard—and here he will have Mr.
Snowden with him—in resisting the resolution that would prevent the Labor Party taking office with the support of any other party. He will not despise Liberal support any more than the Liberals despise Labor support before the war.

IRISH RESIDENCE SOLD.
The Duke of Manchester has disposed of the old family residence in Northern Ireland, the famous Tandragee Castle. The historic seat has about

170 rooms, and contains gorgeous Turkish baths, to enter which, one passes through real marble halls. The sum of £250,000 was spent on the erection of the baths. The Dukes of Manchester have always shown keen artistic leanings, and the art objects at the larger family seats of the Montagues
at Kimbolton Castle, St. Neots, Huntington, and Brampton Park are of the choicest, including pictures by Reynolds, Rubens, Titian, Holbein, Van Dyck, Lawrence, and other old masters. Like his mother, Consuelo (a famous political hostess in the days of Disraeli and Gladstone) the present
duke's wife came from America—Miss Helena Zimmerman, a daughter of one of the wealthiest men in the United States.

AUTHOR OF 100 PLAYS Henry Arthur Jones has been the recipient this week of numerous messages of congratulation from all parts of his 76th year. It is only a few weeks ago that the famous dramatist,
who has over 100 plays to his credit,
underwent an operation, and that of so serious a character that it was expected he would never recover. Happily, he has had a wonderful and rapid recovery, and is full of ideas of more work for the stage. It is 50 years since his first plays were produced, and these will make an appeal by their significant construction. "The Silver King" was produced in the early 80's, and was the forerunner of a large number of fine pieces that met with creditable success both here and in America.

THAMES LIGHTERMAN
One of the interesting little things that have emerged from the evidence before the commission on the Thames bridges is that the lighterman on the river considered the shooting of Waterloo bridge the most difficult operation in the course of his craft. Lord Crawford seems to think that the lighterman's trade is an obsolete one,
but it is surely a hard thing to say.
The lighters are among the greatest picks to the picturesque of the Thames at London, and the craft which they thrust the sturdy fellows who manage them belong to an ancient and honorable that it would be a thousand pities to lose it. Few people probably read of the captain of the "Marryatt," who though most readers had at all events
heard of Peter Simple and Midship-man Easy. One picture of the "Marryatt" of Marryatt's stories is "Jacob

Faithful," which is entirely concerned with Thames lightermen and their life.
It will be of no avail to turn to it to find how to shoot Waterloo Bridge, for that was not in existence at the period of the story. But there is plenty about life on the river, its humors and its perils. If a Marryatt revival ever comes a good deal will be heard of Jacob Faithful.

THAMES EMBANKMENT
Not only was Waterloo Bridge not there in Jacob Faithful's day, but the Thames embankment also had not come into being. It came, in a manner of speaking by accident, and those who wonder why the south bank of the river has not a similar embankment may find some illumination in the story. Briefly, a new main drain was needed for North London, and it was decided to run it alongside the river.
The foreshore was largely utilized and the embankment built, which carried the splendid roadway we know today.
It stands as a permanent monument to the engineering skill and artistic taste of Sir Joseph Bazalgette, a famous engineer. His greatest piece of luck one supposes was in that the drain was needed on the northern shore, the outside curve of the river and consequently the bank with the largest extent of foreshore.

STAGE PAGEANTRY
The Prime Minister was one of the joyous audience this week at the Princes Theatre where "The Mikado"
in his new dress was rapturously greeted. Robert Charles Hilditch, A. R.
A., by inventing two new scenes and re-dressing the ever-popular characters, has given unity of style to the performance, and the delightful color effects with which he has endowed it are a decorative triumph. The welcome accorded to the artist in the gorgeous array showed how well the experiment succeeded, and old playgoers were quite as enthusiastic as ever they were in their earlier experiences of Gilbert and Sullivan opera.
The favorites are hailed with delight.
Henry Lytton is still the leading figure, and created much amusement
by introducing in his pantomimic references to eminent statesmen, one who smokes a pipe—a point enjoyed by Mr.
Baldwin—and including the "scorching motorist" in his catalogue of people who will not be missed. Doubtless a new fashion will be set in women's hats by the revived "Mikado," and the costumes of Katisha, to whom justice

in the decorative line is at last done,
are really wonderful. The dancing girl's hat worn by the chorus, a big flat brim worn high on a bandeau and a large pony for the crown, was greatly admired, and taken altogether
the re-dressed "Mikado" is a triumph
for the stage artist.

MON REAL, Oct. 7.—Movement of the bulk of the new Canadian grain crop through Atlantic winter ports is seen as a distinct possibility because grain stocks here show no signs of diminishing, and there is little improvement in the demand. There were more than 10,000,000 bushels in store yesterday and 30 vessels were waiting to unload another 2,289,132 bushels.
Should it be necessary to ship more of the 1926 grain through Atlantic ports
the American outlets presumably will attract a great deal of the traffic, and they will be the richer for Montreal's loss.

WAS MEMBER OF ORANGE ORDER FOR 46 YEARS

John Kerr Passes Away in North End—Accident Hastens Death

John Kerr passed away in this city yesterday, aged 80 years, succumbing to the ill effects of having been struck by a falling clothesline in the yard of his home, 74 Camden street, on Monday of this week.

He was widely known throughout the maritime provinces as an outstanding figure in the Orange Order, a brakeman of much experience on the C. N. R. lines, and a veteran of the Fenian raid.

Thomas Kerr, his father, was the owner of the first shingle mill operated in Saint John, and his mill was situated on Main street.

As far back as 1860 John Kerr joined the Orange order and became a member of Wellington Lodge, No. 21, in that year.

He was a life long Liberal and always took a keen interest in public affairs. In religion he was an Anglican and was always a faithful member of St. Paul's Valley church.

He is survived by two sons and two daughters. The sons are Francis Kerr, barrister, of this city, and John Kerr, in Winnipeg. The daughters are Mrs. William Smith, of Saint John, and Mrs. Gordon Smith, of Cliftondale, Mass.

CIVIC COMMISSION SEEKS AMENDMENT TO POWER CONTRACT

Conference to Be Held With Hon. J. B. M. Baxter Before $29,000 Adjustment Account is Paid—Bond Issue is Authorized—July Statement

The Civic Power Commission yesterday afternoon decided to hold a conference with Hon. J. B. M. Baxter, city solicitor and Premier of New Brunswick, on the possibility of having the contract with the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission for the supply of current from Misquash amended to provide that the city Civic Commission get credit for all current passing through their sub-station, no matter to whom it was sold, before paying the $29,000 adjustment account of the New Brunswick Commission.

The report for July showed that the Commission had made an improvement over July 1925 of nearly $1,800. It was decided to ask the city council for a bond issue of $10,000 to carry on extension work to the system.

A. M. Rowan occupied the chair in the absence of the chairman, F. S. A. McMullin, and others present were Mayor White, Commissioner Harding, James Lewis, Councillor G. H. Simpson and J. N. Flood.

Mr. Flood said that he felt it was only a technicality that enabled the Provincial Commission to withhold credit for the current sold to the New Brunswick Power Company, but felt that the city solicitor, even though he were premier, would give the city an unbiased opinion on their legal rights in the matter and this opinion had been upheld by other counsel.

His Worship said that he thought it might be well to have a conference with Hon. Mr. Baxter to see if the contract could not be amended to allow the city to get credit for the current passing through its sub-station, no matter who the buyer and His Worship and James Lewis were appointed a committee to interview Hon. Mr. Baxter on the matter.

Mr. Baxter on the matter. A recommendation of the account-ant-secretary that the city council be asked to authorize a bond issue of $10,000 for extensions to the distribution system was adopted.

The accountant-secretary presented the report for July. This showed that for the month the Commission had made an improvement of $4,477.73 over the corresponding month in 1925.

FRANCE AND TURKEY REACH AGREEMENT

In Accord on Submission of Lotus Case to World Court

GENEVA, Oct. 8.—Turkey has virtually reached an accord with France concerning the manner in which the dispute over the Lotus affair, will be submitted to the permanent court of international justice for settlement. This information was given last night by Mahmoud Esad Bey, Turkish Minister of Justice.

Mahmoud Esad Bey has been negotiating with M. Fromageot, of the French foreign office, and it has been decided to ask the court's opinion on whether or not Turkey, in arresting, condemning the captain of the Lotus had a right to apply the Turkish penal code for an alleged criminal committed on the high seas.

Turkey contends that the commander of the Lotus was guilty of negligence which caused the loss of the lives of Turkish nationals, and that consequently Turkey was justified in arresting him when he reached Turkish waters. France maintains that only French

Methodists See Skilled Men Lured Away in Prosperity Across Border

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—A statement of the temperance board of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States, condemning government control of liquor, reports the draining of the Dominion of skilled labor. Declaring that corruption has run riot since government control of liquor has been in operation, the report points to the recent customs scandal in Canada.

"This customs scandal," the report adds, "isn't anything less than the child of unholy relation between a government-protected liquor traffic in Canada, and a lawless, criminal traffic in the United States."

"Another unfortunate result of the Canadian system has been the undoubted handicap upon prosperity," the statement continues. "Prohibition at its worst in the United States, half-chance prohibition, has yielded billions in profits to the plain people. Busi-

SAVE THE CHILDREN FOR CANADA

40,000 Canadian children die yearly, under 10, chiefly from maternal ignorance regarding food. Food-ignorant mothers cater to children's whims and give them foods robbed by refinement of all stamina-building elements, to make nice-looking food. Such are white flour, "part-grain" cereals, sugar, preserves, etc.

Children should eat home-cooked whole grain cereals, milk, eggs, steamed, leafy vegetables, salads, fruits. Roman Meal is an absolutely whole grains cereal, made from three whole grains and bran. What one grain lacks is provided by another. Dr. Jackson, dietetic editor, "Archives of Therapeutics," New York, a physicians' journal, advises to "Defensive-Diet League," a physicians' association is a food expert. He invented Roman Meal. BALDWIN COMMENDS CANADIAN SPIRIT

Refers to Act Which Made Possible King's Attendance at Empire Meet

SCARBOROUGH, Eng., Oct. 8.—Profound satisfaction that the Prime Ministers of all the Dominions would attend the Imperial Conference was expressed by Premier Stanley Baldwin in his speech at the mass meeting held here last night in connection with the Conservative party conference.

"I should like to add," he said, "that the action by which all the parties in Canada, immediately after the general election, united to facilitate the presence of Mackenzie King, is to my mind, a remarkable illustration of that spirit by which all over the empire an endeavor is now being made to place the interests of the empire above all the interests of local or party politics."

We Can Never Marry Our Ideal Man or Woman, Because No Such Person Exists—How Much Wiser to Make the Best of Our Human Partners Instead of Being Unhappy Because Dreams Don't Come True.

A WOMAN writes me that she is married to a man who is tender, kind and considerate to her, and who gives her every comfort and luxury, but that she is thinking of leaving him because he doesn't come up to her ideal.

If this lady's grievance is admitted as a just cause for breaking her marriage vows, divorce will become universal, for no man comes up to his wife's ideal of what a perfect husband should be. Neither does any woman approach within a million miles of a man's ideal of a perfect wife.

BEFORE marriage, both men and women indulge in dope dreams of matrimony, in which they exist in an earthly paradise that has none of the sorrows and difficulties of the real world, and through which they wander hand-in-hand with the godlike creatures who possess none of the nerves and tempers and cussedness that afflict ordinary human beings.

How people of ordinary intelligence can so betel themselves into believing that the marriage ceremony is going to wait them into Elysium and give them the gods and goddesses for wives and husbands is beyond explaining, but we all do it.

AND we get the shock of our lives when we find out that no miracle has been wrought in our behalf, that matrimony is strewn with rocks for us just as it is for every one else, and that it does not take long for the halo with which we have crowned our brides and bridegrooms to dim, and let us see them as mere ordinary men and women with their faults and defects thick upon them.

SOMEbody has said that every wife holds her husband responsible for the wreckage of the dreams of her girlhood. This is true. Many a bewildered man, doing his honest best to be a good and indulgent husband, wonders why his wife is disgruntled and discontented and utterly indifferent to him.

He would find the answer in the fact that she is taking out on him her disappointment in not realizing her impossible ideal. It is not what he does, or he, that she objects to. It is what he is not that she can't forgive. She feels herself cheated because her visions have not materialized.

SHE is not fair enough, nor just enough, to realize that no such human being as her ideal man ever existed, for she had wedded together in her imagination every virtue and every charm that the whole conglomeration of mankind possesses, and left out all of the faults and blemishes. It sounds like a joke, but in other truth every young girl dreams of marrying a man who will be as handsome as a movie actor; who will dance like Maurice, who will have the money-making talent of Mr. Rockefeller, who will be as soulful as a poet, as humble and patient as Job; who will be a perpetual lover, and who will never weary of petting parties and telling her how wonderful and beautiful she is, and that the first time he ever saw her he knew she was his predestined mate.

Of course, she can't get this wonder being, for the very sufficient reason that no such paragon has yet been born of woman. She finds that she is married to a fellow who is a go-getter in the money line, he is apt to be very short on sentiment and have little time for gossiping. Or the discoverer that her dreamer who walks with his head among the stars is mighty apt to be a poor provider. Or that her gay and handsome money-maker, who will fawn over her as if she were a queen, will be as cold as ice and that he isn't satisfied to two-step with his wife. Or that the husband who is an adept at love-making is generally a philanderer.

SO SHE walls and beats upon her breast and cries out that she is miserable, that her husband doesn't come up to her ideal, because he isn't. Whereas the fault is really her own, in expecting and demanding more than any human being had to give.

Men are just as unreasonable about women as women are about men.

A man's ideal wife is a woman who stops the clock at 25 and never gets a day older; who never loses her hair, or her teeth, or her complexion, or her girlish figure; who is always beautifully dressed in dainty chiffons, that she conjures out of the air, and who walks without looking sallow and biary-eyed the next morning; who is always sweet and amiable and jolly and good-natured; and who is always ready to pay the bills, or to go with him if he wishes to step out; who never desires any amusement herself, but realizes the necessity of his diverting himself; yet who can set a good table and run a house without running up any bills.

NEEDLESS to say, no such female marvel exists, and when the man finds that his domestic wife smells of bread and butter and babies, instead of black orchids, or that a fashion-plate wife costs money, and that his wife no more has the secret of perpetual youth than he has, why, then, he also in his secret soul calls marriage a failure, because he has failed to get his ideal woman.

Sometimes he starts out to hunt her up among the flappers, and sometimes he revenges himself for his disappointment in being mean and grouchy to the poor soul he is married to, and who is breaking her neck trying to please him.

So when we talk about marrying our ideals we talk foolishness. There are no ideal men and women, and the part of wisdom is to make the best of the imperfect wives and husbands we have, instead of being disgruntled with them because they are not the embodiment of our own romantic dreams.

A Thought

We beseech you, brethren, that ye increase more and more; and that ye study to be quiet, and to do your own business, and to work with your own hands, as we commanded you.—1 Thes. 4:10, 11.

THE old proverb about having too many irons in the fire is an admirable old lie. Have all in, above, tongue and poker.—Adam Clarke.

Fads of The Famous.

FRANK B. KELLOGG Diplomats are expected to play golf—but not very well. Frank B. Kellogg is the exception. It is whispered that this was partly responsible indirectly for his promotion from American ambassador at London to Secretary of State.

As the story goes, he gained such prestige on the diplomatic golf links in London that he was better able to "put over" the United States program at the famous London Conference, which was followed by his promotion to the State Department.

This may not be altogether accurate, but there is no doubt that Kellogg takes his golf with awful seriousness and regularity. And thereby hangs another tale.

Washington discovered the other day that the Secretary of State was the only cabinet officer not planning a summer vacation away from the hot and humid capital. Press and public jumped to the conclusion that crucial events in the nation's foreign relations were impending.

Investigation revealed no "diplomatic incident" on the horizon. It also revealed that Kellogg preferred the old home course to the more famous but stranger links of the summer resorts. Persons desiring to find the Secretary during the afternoon will save time if they begin by asking him—well, not at the State Department.

He rides for two stations, quickly passes a hat and, amid a burst of applause, slips out. Then he rides back, so it goes through the evening. Back and forth. Over and over again his little program of dog steps.

Once he danced to crowded theaters and he took his bows gracefully. That was when he won the title of "Light-foot." Faded badges beneath the fitting coat tell the story of conquests in the days when the dog was a favorite dance.

There's something about the old-fashioned steps that stir the sentiments of the watchers. A white-haired old man who all but sneers at the antics of the Charlestoners from a dollar bill in the quickly passed hat.

An old "hooper." Once a hooper always a hooper, says Broadway. Even those who grow prosperous like to step upon the slick floor of night club and show their skill. The rhythm of the dance gets into their blood.

And sometimes it is well that this is so. For old "Light-foot's" ironic sobriquet—finds it his livelihood.

AND the street gamins who sneak subway rides as urchins elsewhere jump on the back of autos or sleighs. They creep under the turnstiles when no one is looking, hop aboard a subway and ride back and forth. It's a great game when there's none other to play. Watching them I wonder what is written for the future of these urchins of the New York streets. Certainly their wits must be sharper than those of the small towns. Literally they live by their wits from the first day they toddle forth into congested streets. A newspaper survey says that the daring young bandits age, after all, so fast in

A Few Suggestions Are Offered to The Fall Bride

Above is shown a table decorated for the bridal breakfast with (left) heart-shaped drop decorated with autumn leaves which may be used in place of ball over table. Right, another centerpiece consisting of heart and ring.

BY MRS. MARY MORTON. Artificial flowers are used for the bride's bouquet and her veil is simple as it possibly can be, the wedding should be the happiest event possible for the young couple concerned. Where there is not a surplus of money the whole affair may be managed inexpensively and still be delightful. Don't you remember Meg's wedding "Little Women" where the richest said to her husband afterwards that it was the prettiest wedding she had ever attended but she didn't see why, as it couldn't have cost much.

The table set here might be used for a pre-wedding shower for the bride, an announcement dinner or for the bridal table at the wedding table. As crepe paper is extensively used in the decorations you can see that the cost would be slight, but the effect is great. Flowers may be elaborated as much as one cares to.

The bride and groom stand in the middle of the table under a large wedding bell made of cardboard and tied with a maline bow. Both are dressed in crepe paper. The bride's dress being composed of so many stiff paper ruffles that she stands alone. The groom's dress is a large sheet of crepe paper, cut and folded to resemble a suit, and is fastened to a small box so that he may be properly upright beside the bride. If the groom's dress seems too difficult in fashion of the paper, black tulle is a good substitute marking the dinner coat and trousers. Artificial flowers are used for the bride's bouquet and her veil is simple as it possibly can be, the wedding should be the happiest event possible for the young couple concerned. BEHIND THE SCREEN

SHE'S just like 10,000 other girls in the country—and Colleen Moore gets paid something like $7,500 every week for being that way. Colleen's success is ample proof that doll-like beauty and high-hat airs are not necessary to stardom. Her triumphs are a result of "being herself."

"I always try to portray characters that are within the scope of every girl," declares Colleen. "Also I insist that my stories tell a tale of every-day life. They must be full of reality—not absurd, improbable yarns."

In that paragraph Miss Moore sums up the "why" of her popularity. It is a simple matter for her followers to vision themselves in her shoes. And they flock to see her pictures that they may enjoy an hour and 15 minutes of this blissful imagination.

"I always get the tough breaks," complained the "queen" of the First National lot. "Every time my friends sign for a new picture they spend from 10 to 20 weeks getting new clothes made. But for my last three pictures all I have done is visit the wardrobe room and say 'let me look over your old clothes.' And my costumes were picked from those garments."

"Just this morning I received a note from the front office telling me not to eat so much because I am getting fat—I've gained three pounds." She was interrupted by the waiter for her dessert. "I'll have some apple pie, as I'm not," said Colleen.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michells

So many plans as we go along, little of sorrow and much of song; joy in a task well done; laughter of children and lit of birds, kindly handiaps and loving words, thus does the Journey run, Glimpses of gardens where poppies bloom, breezes that bring us a faint perfume, lengthening shadows that creep, bearing the twilight sense of peace, bringing their promise that eves will cease, soothing the soul for sleep; all of these hours on the day's swift wings, longing and laughter and sacred things, memories sweet as music; song of the lark with the dawn's bright; tender hands that make burdens light; kisses at star-strewn dusk. Something of sorrow and much of song, dreaming and love to the years below, shadows sometimes and strife, yet in the picture such beauty lies, ever men watch it with eager eyes, only a glimpse of life.

WORK AND DOLES.

John Bull makes the pointed statement that, while grown men are kept idle on the dole, girls from 14 to 16 years make most of the uniforms for the army, navy and police. Of the 50,000 persons engaged in the clothing industry in Britain, the majority are girls of about 15 years.

I wear three new dresses and all of them are very pretty. "I know I'll like it much better than 'Twinkles', in which I was a street cleaner. That was too rough. I had to wear a blond wig, too. And I don't like being a blond—I don't seem to be me."

COLLEEN MOORE

That flood us for a count of seven. Apple pie a la mode on top of chicken a la king—and she was told to stop eating. When we came up for air Colleen was talking again. "I'm getting a chance to show off some new dresses in 'Orchids and Emeralds', the picture we are filming now."

THE third dance . . . and tired, utterly tired . . . sinking into the first chair—there perhaps to spend the rest of the evening. This was not the vivacious girl she had been a few years ago. Then thirty dances would have been her portion. What tragedy would this, that she, so young, should seem so old.

What tragedy indeed is constipation—one of the worst diseases to afflict the human race. It saps strength. It thieves beauty, their time. But the hopeful part of it is—constipation can be safely and permanently relieved without the use of habit-forming pills and drugs. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is the answer.

No matter if constipation has become chronic, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN will bring permanent relief. This is why: Bran—ALL-BRAN—goes completely through the system without changing fiber. It is what regular elimination.

Products which are only part bran are doubtful. They bring only partial results—often none at all. Don't take unnecessary chances. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is ALL-BRAN—100% bran. That's why doctors recommend it. Sold by all grocers and served in leading hotels and restaurants.

HAIR SHINGLED; SHE SUES BARBER

The moral is—Let no hairdresser become absent-minded. For in such a state a Budapest hair dresser shingled Eily Hoffman's tresses. As a consequence, she claims, she lost her employment—her boss being prejudiced against short hair—and the man who was to have married her fell violently out of love. So she is suing for $1,750 dollars.

Letters To The Editor

THE PROTESTANT ORPHANS HOME

To the Editor of The Times-Star: Sir—For very many years the Protestants of New Brunswick bear the stigma that adequate provision was not made for Protestant orphans. Great numbers of such children were denied a fair chance in life. From pulp and platform and through the Press, year after year, came heart-breaking appeals for the removal of this stigma to a Christian people.

Today we have in the suburbs of Saint John, apart from the Britain street home with its 52 infants, a splendidly equipped institution with 146 children in residence. It is known as the New Brunswick Protestant Orphan's Home. The inmates range from six weeks to fourteen years of age, and come from all parts of the province. They are cared for with loving regard. They are being educated in an excellent school. They are being prepared under Christian auspices for citizenship. Instead of growing up in want and ignorance to be some perhaps a burden, perhaps a menace, to society. They go out to carefully selected homes.

It is this great adventure in human welfare to prove a failure because only a tenth of the Protestant people of New Brunswick give it its support? Despite the hopes entertained and pledges given, the Directors are today faced with a shortage of $27,000. In the fall of 1923 the Manchester property in Lunenburg, through John County was secured and an appeal made to the people of the province for funds to erect fireproof buildings suitable for a permanent home for the institution. This has been done, but in the meantime, with an increasing number of children to care for and with the collection of the building fund, etc., the maintenance fund has fallen behind to the extent of $27,000, on which six per cent. interest charges are being paid. A hard fight has been made from time to time to reduce this amount, but without avail. The new Home has accommodation for ninety-four girls and eighty-eight boys over four years of age. There are at present fifty-eight girls in residence, and eighty-eight boys, with a number constantly on the waiting list. The old Britain street home is being used to house infants under four years of age, fifty-two inmates at present through full up at times. Foster-homes are found for many of these children, thus keeping the number down to a minimum.

Early in May last the writer was approached re organizing a Fair to assist in wiping out the overhead of $27,000 on the Maintenance Fund of the New Brunswick Protestant Orphan's Home. Having held one the previous fall and knowing that business conditions were far from favorable for a repetition so soon thereafter, he was somewhat reluctant to undertake it. He, however, promised to consult the usual workers and members of various fraternalities who he is glad to say were Erompton lost a quarter at 54. Power sold unchanged at 74. Winnipeg Rails advanced a half at 57, and Shawinigan was down a half at 24.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Stock prices moved irregularly higher at the opening of today's stock market in response to heavy short covering, after five successive days of declining prices. Morning Stock Letter
NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—There is still no indication that the decline over, although drops in some stocks have been so precipitous and extended and the short interest is so large that a rally is close, no matter how badly stocks act on the tape. There is no further need to equate the action of the market. A great deal will depend upon the action of the cotton market, just as much as when it comes out today, could easily affect the general market just as much as the cotton market. For the time being, the general market is likely to be around anything but get out of stocks on any rally. However, since no recovery has been reached, it is better to be prepared for a further decline. There is no reason to believe that the market will be followed by a recovery. There is no reason to believe that the market will be followed by a recovery. There is no reason to believe that the market will be followed by a recovery.

Brokers' Opinions
NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Hornblower & Weeks—When a rally does develop, it will probably have its main motivating force in short covering, and while speculative preference would call for a rally, it is likely to prove a recovery, and not the beginning of another sustained rally. The market is likely to be followed by a recovery. There is no reason to believe that the market will be followed by a recovery.

Descriptive circular, copies of which will be supplied upon request, contains a letter from D. R. Turnbull, Esq., Managing Director of the Company, from which he summarizes as follows:
Acadia Sugar Refining Company, Limited, incorporated under the laws of the Province of Nova Scotia to carry on the business of sugar refining, etc., has acquired as a going concern the assets and undertaking of Acadia Sugar Refining Company, Limited, incorporated in 1893 under the laws of Great Britain. The business of the Company and of its predecessors has been in operation since 1879.
The Company owns a modern fireproof sugar refinery of brick, steel and concrete construction, completely equipped for the manufacture of the highest grade of refined sugar, with a daily capacity of 1,250,000 pounds, situated at Woodside, on Halifax harbour. The plant is operated throughout by electrical power generated by the Company at low cost. Its own deep water docks situated on tidewater on Halifax harbour enable it to receive raw sugars by ocean vessels throughout the year and to ship its finished product by water or rail direct from its plant. The Company also owns its own coopeage plant at Moncton, N.B., which is operated in conjunction with a modern box and barrel factory at Woodside, N.S., ensuring an adequate and low cost supply of barrels and containers for shipment of its product. All of these properties have been maintained in the highest state of efficiency.
Bonds are secured by specific first mortgage and charge on all plants, properties and other fixed assets now owned and by floating charge as to all other assets.
An annual cumulative sinking fund of 2% of the largest amount of Bonds issued under the mortgage plus interest on Bonds previously redeemed, commencing July 1, 1927, will be sufficient to retire at par, by maturity, an amount equivalent to over 70% of First Mortgage Bonds now issued.
Plants and properties have been certified by the Canadian Appraisal Company, Limited, as at May 15, 1926, as having a replacement value of $5,261,944, and a depreciated value of $4,416,058. Net current assets, after deducting all current liabilities, and on giving effect to the above transaction, as at May 31, 1926, have been certified by Messrs. George A. Touche & Co., Chartered Accountants, as $558,345.20. The combined value of fixed assets, after depreciation, together with net current assets, certified as above, exceeds $4,970,000, as against $2,500,000 of First Mortgage Bonds.
Based on annual earnings for the three years ended December 31, 1925, as certified by Messrs. George A. Touche & Co., after deducting operating and maintenance expenses and local taxes, but before depreciation, average earnings available for bond interest were at the annual rate of $579,356, equivalent to over 3 1/2 times annual interest of $150,000 on the First Mortgage Bonds now outstanding.
Based on actual results of operations for the first eight months of the current year it is conservatively estimated that net earnings as above for the year ending December 31, 1926, available for bond interest, will be approximately $600,000, or at the rate of 4 times annual bond interest charges.

The NUT CRACKER by Joe Williams

MR. TUNNEY'S victory was, as you might say, one for the books.

SCHOOL teachers the country over will find it easier to interest the youthful bean in English text books now that the listic championship address an erudite class.

THE probable procedure: "Now, Herman, you get right to your syntax and rhetoric this very minute, or you never will attract Tex Rickard's notice."

MR. DEMPEY wired: "I'm not coming east for a champion. I'm coming for a husband."

KEARNS was right. Dempsey is hard-headed and obstinate. This is proved by the fact that he wants a return match.

BABE RUTH caught a ball thrown from an airplane the other day and the job dazed him. Heavily dazed!

FROM all accounts of that Hollywood divorce case the lady was the aggressor. We always did maintain that Red Grange wasn't much without his interference.

IT CERTAINLY is inspiring the way the house ladies of Whiston, Ill., are rallying to the support of Mr. Grange. Apparently they realize a good ice man is a good ice man whereas a movie actor is only a movie actor.

IF IT is true that consistency is a jewel then the eight ball clubs scrambling for the American League pennant are just a lot of $3 diamonds.

ALEXANDER IS SELECTED BY MGR. HORNSBY

New York Win Tomorrow Will Settle the Issue

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 8.—Chances of the St. Louis Cardinals for continued participation in the 1926 world series today rested on the broad but seasoned shoulders of the 39-year-old Grover Cleveland Alexander. Only a veteran pitcher stands between the Red Birds and the loser's share of the gold at the end of the world's series rainbow.

As both teams moved out of the dugouts today, the series stood three games to two in favor of the New York Yankees with the American League entry meeting but a single game to insure its election as world baseball champion. The Cards, as a result of defeat in the fifth game of the series, are in a position where they cannot afford to lose another game. All of today was needed for traveling to get the contenders back to the Yankee Stadium for the sixth game Saturday.

Outcome of the fifth game was a shock to St. Louis supporters, who established a new city record with 99,992 paid admissions. The Yanks had to come behind to win 3 to 2, in ten innings.

A battle of left-handers, Pennock and Sherdel, was a repetition of world series history, the same pair of southpaws starting the classic in New York last Saturday. Pennock then won a one-run decision, the score being 2 to 1.

Yesterday's game offered more excitement than was developed in the opener, both teams were able to take advantage of frequent errors of judgment by the opposition. A sun, which refused to shine during the early innings, came out late in the game to disquiet Cardinal fielders.

Two of the three hits used to manufacture a safe punt finding their way to the Yanks in the ninth inning, were pop flies. The other hit of the inning was a safe bunt. Finding that home runs were not absolutely necessary to win baseball games, the Yanks preferred to economize further with their regular safeties and tucked the game away with the needed run in the tenth through the medium of one hit, two bases on balls, and a sacrifice fly.

Tomorrow's game will find the Cardinals fighting desperately to prolong the series to seven games. "Alexander" is a magic word in the St. Louis camp and with a wonderful pitching game behind him in the series, Rogers Hornsby and his men believe the old master of the team will be at a post in the sixth game, the most important "money game" thus far. Opposing the Nebraska, but it is Bob Shawkey, a curve ball pitcher, or Urban Shocker, noted for his partiality to the deceptive spinnable, slow-motion pitched game, who will be the mainstay of the Yanks.

Shocker was Alexander's opponent in the second game at the Yankee Stadium last Sunday, suffering defeat, 6 to 2, when Southworth's home run proved the decisive blow.

The Yanks came to life in the ninth after playing "possum" for eight innings. A run was scored in the sixth but it came after the Cards had had a chance to retire the side, and on the whole, was not impressive.

Three separate periods were recorded before the Cardinals broke through to score the first run. Bottomley hit into left and made two bases when the ball bulled Ruth, attempting a feinting bunt. Lester Bell singled to center and Bottomley ran home. Babe Ruth then demonstrated that in addition to his offensive power, he must be rated a defensive factor, as well. The big fellow dashed across the left field foul line to make the feature catch of the series by dragging Henry's foul with one hand from in front of the stands.

CONSTRUCTION WORK LOOKING UP IN THE CITY

Five Buildings in Course of Erection to be Ready Soon

At the present time there are five important pieces of building construction going on in the city, the new building for the Western Union Telegraph Company at the corner of Union street and Chipman Hill, the addition to the Central garage in Waterloo street, the new residence for J. B. Patchell in Brunswick Place, the new warehouse for N. S. Springers, Ltd., Pond street, and the new work at the nurses' home of the East Saint John county hospital. Work on all five structures is well advanced.

two storeys and a basement. The building is to be fireproof and constructed of concrete columns, beams and floors, all reinforced with steel rods. The reinforced concrete slabs have been poured and the building is now ready for the roof framing. Masons have started to build the exterior walls, which will be of pressed brick, backed with interlocking tile of hollow terra cotta.

It is expected to have the building closed in and heat on by the middle of November. Garnet W. Wilson is the architect; James Gilchrist, the general contractor, and the sub-contractors are for plumbing and heating, Hyman and McGough, and for electric wiring, Driscoll and Mackie.

Garnet W. Wilson is the architect. The three-story dwelling on the site is now being torn down in preparation for the erection of the extension of the garage which is to be a large two-storey structure.

The walls of the new building will be of hollow terra cotta interlocking tiles finished with cement stucco, with brick pilasters and concrete sill courses. The floor over the basement will be of reinforced concrete, and the second floor and roof will be carried on steel beams.

The residence for J. B. Patchell, Brunswick Place, has been roofed in and the exterior is now being finished with a waterproof cement stucco. The building will give a pleasing appearance, having light stucco body, color-bleed roof, and dark oak projections and finish. Frank E. Wetmore is the contractor for this work.

2-STOREY WAREHOUSE.
The two-storey warehouse limited, in Pond street, is to take the place of present premises which are being vacated for railway extensions. It is nearing completion and is 67 feet by 60 feet in size. The contractor for the work is B. H. Williamson.

BRINGS CHEERY BUSINESS WORD ABOUT CANADA

R. Henderson, Canada Permanent Mortgage Corporation Inspector, in City

CONDITIONS IN NEW BRUNSWICK SOUND

Business on Even Keel; No Trouble With Collections and Loans

General business conditions in Canada were very good at the present time and getting better, it was stated this morning by Robert Henderson, of Toronto, inspector of branches for the Canada Permanent Mortgage Corporation and Canada Permanent Trust Company, who is at present in Saint John.

Speaking of conditions in New Brunswick, Mr. Henderson said that there was not much fluctuation in conditions here, the province sailing along on an even keel. Business here was thoroughly sound, he said, and his company has no trouble in regard to collections and loans.

Mr. Henderson is here on his annual inspection tour which is held independently of the regular audits conducted by the company and the Government.

WAS IN WEST

Mr. Henderson has just returned from Western Canada where he spent three months in connection with his duties. He said conditions there were steadily improving. Last year was a lot better than the previous one and this year was better still. The weather and snow had held up threshing operations somewhat, 60 per cent. of the threshing in the south and eastern portions of Saskatchewan, and 20 per cent. in the rest of that province were completed two weeks ago. This province was the biggest wheat producer, and harvested about twice as much wheat as Manitoba and Alberta together. The good crops of the last three years had largely changed the sentiment in the west and the people there were optimistic.

There was a good deal of building activity also in the west, especially in Vancouver and Regina and while it was not of a boom nature, there was a lot of development going on. The building permits for Regina for this year were three times those of 1925.

DEVELOPMENT WORK

All the way from Quebec through Ontario and Manitoba, it was estimated that $200,000,000 was being expended in developments such as pulp and paper mills, aluminum plants, etc. To quote an instance, at Fort Alexander, about 100 miles north east of Winnipeg, $5,000,000 was being expended in a large pulp and paper plant.

Another thing that was increasing the prosperity of the people and making the west more stable was the fact that the farmers were going in more for diversified farming, the developments of the prairie provinces had helped greatly in this through the establishment of co-operative marketing organizations.

Tourist business also was a big factor now in the prosperity of the country. Mr. Henderson declared, improved roads and better hotel accommodations helping this. The C. N. R., who was here yesterday and looked over the situation.

The proposed shed, which, if built, will be located between the present Pettigill and McLeod warehouses, was asked for by shipping men who bring coal from the United Kingdom to this port and up to the present have been piling it on the street in the rear of the sheds. It was asserted by the shipping men that a considerable loss was occasioned during the winter months by the bags freezing and breaking.

C. N. R. AGREEABLE TO SHED PROPOSAL

W. N. Rippey Inspects Location of Suggested Storage Place For Coal

That there would not be any objection on the part of the railway, even though it may involve the shifting of one track, to the erection of a coal shed on the McLeod wharf, was the assurance given City Engineer G. G. Hare yesterday by W. N. Rippey, of the C. N. R., who was here yesterday and looked over the situation.

HERE ON MISSION.
Inspector Harris, of Moncton, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon to take charge of a car reported to be coming here on the C. N. Express from Montreal. It was said to have been hired from H. S. Steeves of Moncton by a party of friends of Miss J. Hazel Hughes, who is to leave the city on Saturday to make her home in New York. After a pleasant evening of cards and music Mr. Campbell, on behalf of those assembled, presented to Miss Hughes a lovely club bag accompanied by the good wishes of her friends. PLANS ARE MADE.
At a meeting of the executive of Saint John's Y. W. A., met last night at the home of the president, Mrs. Hugh Miller, 68 Queen street, a program for the year was drawn up. S. and other missionary organizations in their rally on October 18 during the opening of the Memorial Hall. They will also assist in the social hour for November 10. Committees were formed to work in the new departments. The meeting closed with a social hour during which refreshments were served.

As Hiram Sees It
THE SETTLEMENT: — "Look here," says I to the town feller—"p'intin' at some queer lookin' craft crossin' the craft of moonlight on Long Reach."
"Them," say the town feller, "is the ghosts of the craft of the Frenchman, Soulanges goin' up to take yer from Sir Thomas Temple, the English, the fort at the mouth of the Jimsag. It was after him, old river, steamer Soulanges—that you kin remember. That was about the year 1670. Three years after that he got a grant of what's now Saint John—on the east side of the harbor an' four leagues up the river—but he went on livin' at Jimsag an' his craft sailed up and down Long Reach for eight years. His wife was a daughter of the attorney-general of Quebec—an' they had a daughter born at the Jimsag two hundred an' fifty three years ago. That little gal grewed up to be the wife of the Governor-General of Canada; at Quebec—an' her son was a Governor-General, too. She had twelve children. Jimsag in her father's time was the capital of Acadia—an' her father was a great favorite with the government at Quebec. It was the ghosts of his craft we jist seen in the moonlight on the river."
"I'll be seein' ghosts," says I, "whenver I go up or down Long Reach."

ARE WINNING IN WAR AGAINST TUBERCULOSIS

N. B. Officials Here Today After Attending Washington Congress

Dr. R. J. Collins, superintendent of the River Glade Sanatorium, and Dr. G. J. Wherrett, of Moncton, traveling tuberculosis diagnostician for the department of health, passed through the city today en route to River Glade and Moncton respectively. They were returning after attending the International Congress of the Anti-Tuberculosis Association in Washington. Dr. Collins said that it has been a most successful congress and the reports received showed that there had been a big reduction in the number of deaths from this disease. It also was shown, said the doctor, that the countries that provided the most hospital beds for the treatment of tuberculosis had the smallest death rates. New Zealand, which provided the most number of beds in proportion to its population, had the lowest death rate of any country, while Japan, which provided practically no beds, had a very high death rate.

The next congress is to be held in Rome in 1928.

SAW 37 MOOSE WHILE IN BACK OF ELGIN

Local Sportsmen Return After Trip—Partridge Close Season Observance Urged

Leigh DeVoe, manager of Oak Hill shoe department, and Hilyard Campbell have returned after a week of big game hunting back of Elgin, Albert county. Mr. DeVoe brought down a bull moose of about 550 pounds, dressed, with very fine horns. He reports moose plentiful, but says he would strongly advocate the most rigid enforcement of the law relative to the close season for partridge.

"The season we covered," said Mr. DeVoe, "is fine for big game; we counted no fewer than 50 moose partridge. I regret to say, were none too plentiful and I think every effort should be made toward the enforcement of the law regarding the close season for partridge."

Mr. DeVoe, who is a keen sportsman, has enjoyed many hunting trips throughout the province and speaks in glowing terms of New Brunswick as a hunting ground. Messrs. DeVoe and Campbell were accompanied on their hunting trip by two very efficient guides, Weldon Bannister and Fletcher Collier, of Elgin.
