POLICE "COVER" TWO ROBBERS FOUND AT GROCERY STORE TILL

Deputy Jenkins and Detective Killen Catch Youths at Work

John Myers and Wm. McArthur Threw Up Hands at Police Call in F. E. Williams & Co.'s Grocery—Had Key to Shop and Went in Early in Evening—Shadowed by Police and Watched as They Were Suspects—Myers Had Two Empty Guns.

"Throw up your hands." Two boy burglars in F. E. Williams & Co.'s grocery, corner of Princess and Charlotte streets, put up their hands without delay last evening in response to the order. It was the only thing to do for the first objects they saw after hearing the call were the muzzles of revolvers held by Deputy Chief Jenkins and Detective Killen and pointed at them.

The hour was about 8:30 o'clock. People were passing, cars were running, teams were driving, but nobody suspected that behind the blinds of the corner grocery a couple of lads were being captured while rifling the till.

The prisoners are John Myers, sometimes called "Wildcat," and William McArthur, each aged about sixteen years. On one was found two revolvers (but unloaded), and on the other a jackknife. By their admission to the store was gained.

Have Keys. For the past week or so there have been several reports of petty robberies and in some cases the stores had been entered by means of keys.

Young Myers and McArthur fell under suspicion and early last evening the deputy and the detective started on their trail.

The Williams establishment takes up one entire corner of the streets mentioned. There are two stores—one for groceries and the other for meats. Between the two there is a florist. The latter store opens into Charlotte street, and it was through this door that the thieves entered.

SPLENDID WATER NEAR ST. STEPHEN

Town to Vote on Question of Utilizing It Instead of Present Service

WOULD COST $90,000

Calais and Milltown Could Have it Also for an Additional $20,000—Engineer F. A. Barbour Has Conducted Tests and Found Them Satisfactory.

St. Stephen, Feb. 5.—(Special)—What is looked upon as a supply of the best water in the province has been discovered about four miles from the town and a plebiscite to decide whether the necessary sum shall be expended to utilize it will likely be taken.

Investigations have been conducted during the past few months by F. A. Barbour, engineer, to secure a supply of water for Calais, Milltown and St. Stephen. These three localities have hitherto been served by the Maine Water Company. The St. Stephen contract expires this year and the question as to whether the contract should be renewed or a search made for a fresh source was under discussion.

For two reasons it was decided to endeavor to secure another source of supply. The quality of the water is not considered good and it was stated that residents were afraid to use it and were drawing water from springs in consequence. The operation of a pump at Sprague's Falls and the incoming of about 1,500 people was also regarded as a menace.

Some six or eight surface sources were investigated, but the water was found highly colored and to contain vegetable matter. Recently, however, by sinking wells in the gravel formation at Dema's Stream, near Maxwell's crossing, four miles from the town, a supply of ground water has been discovered.

Tests have been conducted these several weeks past by Mr. Barbour and by means of centrifugal pumps, secured from B. Mooney & Sons of St. John, for ten days and nights, to determine the quality of the water in the other towns mentioned. It was found that the water is of a high quality and in fact the ideal supply in the province.

Would Give Gravity Supply. The locality is situated 180 feet above sea level and is high enough to give a gravity supply without pumping, but it is proposed to establish a pumping plant to raise the water an additional 120 feet to 300 above datum at which elevation, a reservoir would be constructed. From this point it would be conveyed through a 16-inch pipe into St. Stephen and for fire purposes would provide eight fire streams with a pressure of 80 pounds at the hydrants.

UNIONIST PARTY WILL NOT TAKE COUNT BONI BACK

Countess of Castellane Entered Suit for Divorce Monday

DECISION FINAL

Efforts to Effect a Settlement Fruitless—Duel Likely as Sequel to Proceedings—Case Likely to Be Long Drawn Out Under French Law.

Paris, Feb. 5.—Countess Boni De Castellane (formerly Annet Gould), entered a plea for divorce today. Representatives of the countess and the count appeared before Judge Henry Ditté of the Court of First Instance, who in conformity with the French law, endeavored to arrange a conciliation before allowing a definite suit to proceed.

It is said on unquestionable authority that Judge Ditté's efforts were not successful, the countess absolutely declining to resume her relations with her husband and, that after repeated but vain attempts by Count De Castellane's advisers to arrange a settlement, the representatives of the count and countess left the court and that the suit will proceed.

Another judicial effort at reconciliation will almost certainly be made before the suit comes to trial in the ordinary course. No decision has been reached relative to the eventual custody of the children of the count and countess, but they, being under age, will for the present naturally remain in the care of their mother.

Friends of the Count and Countess De Castellane express little hope that any adjustment of their differences will be brought about, but as divorce proceedings under the French law are very lengthy, new developments may occur before the case comes up for trial. A decree cannot be pronounced under three to six months.

A Duel Likely. The sequel to the separation of the Count and Countess Castellane is expected to be a duel between the count and the husband of the baroness who is said to have been discovered by the countess with her husband.

The baron bears a name synonymous with high finance the world over, and all Paris is awaiting the details of his demand for satisfaction.

HORRIBLE MURDER OF A NOVA SCOTIA FARMER; TWO MEN UNDER ARREST

Body of Freeman Harvie, of Ellershouse, Found Under Pile of Potatoes in Cellar

Head Had Been Cut Off and Placed in a Bag Under Pail-- One of the Suspects, Calling Himself Stanley, Told Neighbors He Had Bought the Victim's Farm, and He Began Disposing of the Chattels--Simple-minded Young Fellow Named Fraser Thought to Be Accomplice.

Ellershouse, N. S., Feb. 5.—(Special)—A ghastly murder was committed here on Friday night, at least that is the opinion, for Freeman Harvie, whose dead and headless body was found in his own cellar this morning has not been seen since Friday evening. At that time he was at work preparing notices for the school taxes, of which he was a collector for this part of Hants county.

Two men are under arrest on suspicion of having committed or having shared in the crime—George Stanley, who says he came from London (Eng.), and pretended that he was agent of a company to install telephones, and James Fisher, a simple-minded young man, whom the authorities think was made a participant in the crime by Stanley.

The body was found in the man's own cellar, under a pile of potatoes. The head was severed and in a bag some feet away. Stanley had pretended to buy the property from Harvie for $1,500 a week ago, and was selling the stock and furniture for whatever he could get, saying that Harvie had gone to Halifax to see about the necessary legal papers.

A Ghastly Story. The story of the tragedy is weird and ghastly, unparalleled in the criminal history of Nova Scotia. All day Saturday and Sunday with the headless body of the old man in the cellar, he, whom the authorities believe is the murderer, was going in and out of the house. He and others were eating and drinking with gusto in its rear kitchen, and he was selling at bargain prices the dead man's goods and chattels.

This is not a rich country. It is peopled by a ghastly population of comparatively meagre means, but it was here that Stanley came ten days ago, alleging that he was the agent of the Western Union Telephone Company, and that he would install telephones in the farm houses for $25 a year. He took some orders, but his most treacherous deal was a treacherous transaction with old Freeman Harvie, whom he is believed to have murdered on Friday night, cutting off the head and burying the body in the cellar, under a pile of potatoes.

The head, roughly chopped off, he tied in a bag, which was covered over with a bucket. The middle of last week, Stanley announced to David Fisher, a poor farmer who offered him board for $2 per week, that he had bought Freeman Harvie's place, a few hundred yards distant, and that he wanted him to go and live on it and work it for $400 a year, with everything found. The offer was accepted and today, just before the murder was discovered, Fisher had moved half of his furniture down to the dead man's house.

WANTS UNCLE SAM TO PAY DAMAGES FOR GOBBLING PANAMA

Washington, Feb. 5.—Columbia has again renewed her demand for a re-compense from the United States because of the separation of Panama.

While this last presentation is in the nature of a claim against the United States government the amount of damage sustained by the parent state on account of Panama's secession is not set down.

Secretary Root has the last note under consideration but it is believed that nothing has occurred to change the position originally taken by the state department in this matter, namely that the United States was in no way responsible for the separation of Panama.

CHAMBERLAIN FIRM

Wants Balfour to Take the Helm, But Fiscal Reform Must Be the Slogan—London Times Thinks if Conventional Demands It ex-Colonial Secretary Must Lead.

WANTS Balfour to Take the Helm, But Fiscal Reform Must Be the Slogan—London Times Thinks if Conventional Demands It ex-Colonial Secretary Must Lead.

(From Our Own Correspondent.) New York, Feb. 5.—The metropolitan newspapers publish unusually full special cables and editorial comment on the British political situation. The London correspondent of the Sun says: "The political situation within the Unionist party is the question of the day here, surpassing in interest the political situation as between the government and the opposition."

"No official announcement has been made, but it is known for certain that the conference between Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. Balfour on Friday night was absolutely without result. The bulk of the Unionist party do not dispute their desire for Mr. Chamberlain's leadership, but all recognize the fact that he absolutely refuses to lead against Mr. Balfour.

"If the deadlock continues, a third course, that of selecting another leader, such as Walter Long, or as now suggested, Aretas Akers-Douglas, will be put forward. The practical utility of this in the house of commons with two personalities such as Chamberlain and Balfour sitting in the house does not need demonstration. The mental anguish of the Unionist press, which means practically all the London newspapers, is almost amazing.

London Times' Comment. "The Times says: 'It is probably one of the most nicely balanced questions that even politicians of long experience have seen. If it were simply a parliamentary problem it might seem absurd to dispute Mr. Balfour's leadership, but it is not simply a parliamentary question. If Mr. Balfour is the best leader in the house it will hardly be denied that Mr. Chamberlain is the best leader in the country.'

"The Times concludes that the wisest head to choose is that of Chamberlain, but it takes the same view as other Unionist papers, which desire a compromise as distinguishable from those who advocate Chamberlain outright, saying that the Unionist party all are not in office and are not required to produce a fiscal plan complete, but that the party together make the most effective opposition possible in the house when it meets.

"At the same time the Times declares that the clash of blades is heard, strong in other respects, is weak in that he is unwilling to take the leadership if Mr. Balfour would make way. It adds: 'If when the party comes together to prove as strongly in favor of Mr. Chamberlain's policy as he believes, we cannot see how he can honorably decline the position.'

"Other papers, which are avowedly strong Chamberlainite and actively anti-Balfourite, suggest that Mr. Balfour decline to call the party together for the purpose of declaring its views before the session opens.

"Mr. Alexander Ashland-Hood, chief whip of the Conservative party, although a denier that Messrs. Muller and Saunders have been appointed to the two chief posts in the Conservative machine. It is impossible not to give implicit credence to such a denial but it is equally impossible not to recognize that the announcement of their appointment was significant of an attempt on the part of supporters of ex-Premier Balfour to collar Mr. Chamberlain, probably with the view of securing the resignation of the latter.

Fredericton, Feb. 5.—(Special)—Frederick S. Hilyard, postmaster for 1903 in the maritime provinces, died at the Victoria Hospital this afternoon after an illness extending over a period of one week. On Friday last he underwent an operation for appendicitis, and it was thought at the time that he stood a good chance for recovery. On Sunday, however, he took a turn for the worse, and a second operation was performed, but failed to have the desired result. "BOBS," KITCHENER AND JAPAN

Without considering the lack of tact shown by the Japanese statesmen who openly discussed the advisability of requesting Great Britain to reform and strengthen her army, it may be said that the incident will tend to support Lord Roberts and others who are loudly demanding just what Japan would propose if she could do so without giving offence.

The United States secured the right of way two years ago, but thus far the work of digging has scarcely begun. More over, there is still going on a war of opposing experts, some of whom favor a canal at sea level, while the others assert that a lock canal is the only sensible plan.

THE FIRST LORD

Lord Tweedmouth's statement that he would be prepared to extend the protection of the navy to the colonies without contributions by them has, naturally, attracted much attention in Canada. For one thing this attitude of the First Lord of the Admiralty is very different from much that Canada has heard on the subject from across the water.

A MODEST SOLDIER

Gen. Nogi, who visited the human hammer that pounded Port Arthur into submission, is not pleased with himself. This is not usual with successful generals; but the Japanese are different. We do not know how long the British public or the British government would have permitted a British general to throw his troops at a fortress like that Nogi finally carried. We do not know what the Japanese public thought of Nogi's failure to carry it sooner; doubtless there was some impatience. That there was much honor over the sacrifice of men is likely. The Japanese expected sacrifices.

States and Germany will be making tariff war upon each other, in which case valuable evidence as to the results following tariff reprisals may be forthcoming.

ANOTHER SLICE NEEDED

Mr. Shonts, chairman of the Panama Canal Commission, says the canal zone now possessed by the United States is not wide enough. He wants another slice. "In reply to a question he said that he thought it should be made so wide that no other nation could get close enough to blow the United States out of the canal."

A SERIOUS DIVISION

These same journalists, this morning's despatches announce, take the public into their confidence somewhat further by making it known that the statesmen "have agreed to disagree."

Mr. Beckles Wilson, a Canadian whose residence in London has caused him to lose the Canadian viewpoint, if ever he had it, is savagely attacking Canada because he has discovered here a reluctant to have this country used as an insane asylum, a poor farm and a convict station for the undesirable of the British Isles.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The last cold strike was settled long before the presidential election. The Republicans did not wish to go to the country in the face of an industrial disturbance in which the public was so keenly interested.

they are carried away by some of its successes and are too likely to be lulled in examining what he connects to have been his failures. He does not even give himself the benefit of the doubt. There is little danger that the generals of other nations will take pattern by this Japanese. Many nations are learning some of the lessons taught by Japan while she was beating Russia, but this example set by Nogi will not prove infectious. The Japanese, as has been remarked by many, are a peculiar people.

emigrants would be justifiable. The racial conceptions of the Briton-Swedes, Norwegians, Danes, Germans, and so forth—have a high ethical standard, are soon assimilated and absorbed, and make the best of citizens. It would be very unjust to exclude them. Moreover, justice demands that the French-Canadian, who has played his part in the building of the Dominion, should be allowed to admit his own European kinsmen to the liberties of life in Western Canada." As regards other types of non-British immigrants, "Canada" suggests that their fitness for entry to the Dominion should be carefully scrutinized, which contention is sound enough. A man is not necessarily undesirable because he is "unemployed." If he be "unemployable" it is quite another matter. Mr. Wilson does not appear to know it.

WATERWORKS EXTENSION MEANS $400,000, NOT INCLUDING THE DAMAGES

Claims for Various Causes and Cost of Property Expropriated Cannot Yet Be Figured—Details of Work Yet to Be Done—Probable Grounds on Which Damages May Be Asked by Contractors—City Protected by Language of Contract.

The progress of the water extension to Loch Lomond has now reached a stage where some idea can be formed of the ultimate cost of the work under the contracts. What the total outlay to the city will be must still remain a matter of uncertainty. No claims for damages have yet been submitted by the contractors, and the price to be paid for the properties expropriated has yet to be considered. Leaving these questions for future settlement, the accompanying tables show that in round figures the actual cost of the contractors' work to Feb. 1 has been $204,079.10, and that the estimated value of work still unfinished is $200,000, making a total in round figures of $404,079.10. The third table shows details of other expenditures in connection with the extension up to Dec. 31. Since that date there has been only such increase as is covered by payments to the inspectors and resident engineers, the balance of the grubbing contract, and the interest on the overdraft at the bank, making a total of about $1,500.

Table I. Actual value of work to Feb. 1. Section 1... $43,000.00; Section 2... $43,000.00; Section 3... $118,079.10; Section 4... $1,000.00. Total... $204,079.10.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP IN ST. JOHN

The Waterworks the Only Utility Controlled by the Council That Pays Expenses.

To the Editor of The Telegraph: Sir,—The water department of the city of St. John is the one redeeming feature of municipal ownership. It cannot be said that the department has been well managed by the aldermen but unlike the other utilities owned and controlled by the corporation there is a margin of profit in its operation. That is, there has been a margin in the past, but that was perhaps due to the failure of the city council to provide a sufficient supply for the needs of the city. When the alterations and extensions now under contract have been completed the annual surplus of the past few years will be wiped out and, like all the other utilities under the control of the common council the surplus of the water department will be turned into an annual deficit. This can only be avoided by a complete reform in the methods of the department or an increase in the water rates levied on the citizens. The water supply system of St. John is a double headed affair—the supply for the east side being entirely separate from that from the west side, in everything but the rates charged, which are the same on both sides of the harbor. The east side waterworks were commenced by a company and taken over by the city of St. John and parish of Portland in 1858, their management being vested in a commission. At the union of St. John and Portland management by a commission ceased, control being vested in the common council. It is not possible to give the exact cost of the water system, owing to the curious manipulation of accounts which went on for a long period under the control of the commission, but as the chief portion of the expenditures for construction are represented by bonds, the total cost of the east and west water supply has been in the neighborhood of a million and a half of dollars. A small portion of the debt has been paid but the major part is still floating. The rates do not take into consideration any portion of the cost of the extension of the works to Loch Lomond, on which a large sum has already been spent. Great complaint was made by the aldermen of long ago regarding the extravagance of the water commission, but placing the control in the hands of the common council does not seem to have mended matters very materially as more than double is now spent annually for maintenance than was ever spent by the commissioners in any one year. There has been a large increase in the revenue of the department and the refunding of the water debentures at a lower rate of interest in 1894 resulted in a saving of $10,000 a year in the interest charge, but the expenditures have increased in equal ratio and from present indications will keep pace with the revenue for some years to come. In the first few years after the average annual expenditure for labor in the maintenance department was $80,000 annually. For the

BLAMES LEARNING FOR RACE SUICIDE

Dr. Wm. L. Felter Says Higher Education of Women is Eliminating Posterity
NEW ENGLAND LIKE FRANCE
Its Birth Rate Lower Now Than That of Any European Nation and Still Declining.

(New York Herald.) That higher education for women and race suicide are going hand in hand and that the percentage of marriages among college bred women lend color to the statement that women's college promote celibacy was asserted by Dr. William L. Felter, principal of the Girls' High School, in Brooklyn, in an address before the Adelphi College convocation on Friday night. "Dr. John Dewey found that twenty-three per cent of the graduates of women's colleges marry and that the percentage among educated girls is twenty-eight per cent," he said. "Miss Shim concludes, after an examination of 1,805 cases, that only twenty-eight per cent marry and that under twenty-five college women rarely marry. "Birth rates are the indication of national growth or decay, and only the constant immigration of foreigners prevents us from occupying the position in which France finds herself. "In New England, where for two centuries the homes were almost model, the birth rate has steadily declined for a half century at a very rapid rate, until now it is actually lower than that of any European nation. France itself does not exceed. Comparing the forty years ending with 1890, native marriages averaged 2.3 children each, while those of foreign born averaged 2.4 each. "It is evident that if the race depended upon the educated classes for replenishment it would be doomed to speedy extinction. Any college that depends upon the children of its graduates for fresh students would be doomed to extinction. An examination of the question thus far inclines one to the view that if higher education became universal posterity would be gradually eliminated, and the schools and teachers would progressively exterminate the race. "There is actual danger of the possibility of higher education among women becoming a bid. If the women's colleges are established chiefly to devote their energies to the training of those who do not marry, or if they are to educate for celibacy, their point of view is entirely correct. If their ideal is that of maiden aunt or school teacher or bachelor woman, they are certainly realizing their ideal."

Woodstock, Feb. 5.—No illness of any man in recent years has caused as much interest in this town as has that of Dr. W. N. Hand, and it appears to be the sole topic of conversation. A few weeks ago while pursuing his duties, he contracted blood poisoning from a patient. No alarm was caused at first, but about nine days ago it was necessary for an operation to be performed by Dr. G. H. Sprague. Since that time Dr. Hand has been dangerously ill. Many doctors have visited him as friends and professional. Last week Dr. Tracey, of Philadelphia, a warm personal friend and one of the county, came to visit the sick man, and will remain here long as his recovery is required. Misses Murray and Brown are trained nurses in attendance. Drs. Kilburn and Booth, of Presque Isle, are expected this week. A dozen incisions have been made in Dr. Hand's neck.

THE MAN FOR GALWAY
IN TOWN; C. R. DEVLIN, M. P., SPEAKS ON IRISH CAUSE

Home Rule Hopes Increased by Result of British Elections

People, He Says, Showed by Their Votes That They Wish Ireland's Cause Well—The Nationalists' Position and Power—The Liberal Leader—Mr. Devlin Returning Home to Take Up His Parliamentary Duties.

C. R. Devlin, Nationalist M. P. for Galway in the British house of commons, is in the city at the Dufferin on his way to England to resume his parliamentary duties. In an interview with a representative of The Telegraph Friday he spoke of the political situation in England and of the attitude of the Irish Nationalists on the questions of the day. He considers that the British electorate in the recent elections declared strongly in favor of home rule and that every member of the Liberal government is pledged to it.

In a series of lectures in the States and Canada Mr. Devlin has recently added $15,000 to the Irish election funds. His reception in Boston was most enthusiastic.

Missed the Election Battle.
The Telegraph representative was received by Mr. Devlin with true Irish courtesy. Accounted as the Nationalist member must be to the ways of newspaper men, he was a delightful subject for an interview and talked freely on all questions in which his party was concerned. "I left Ireland," he said, in reply to a question, "on December 1, and came to Canada with my family to spend Christmas. It was only after I left England that the elections were announced on the other side, and I knew it would be too late for me to do effective work even if I returned immediately, so I decided to remain and enjoy my holiday and a rest."

It is a matter of history now that during Mr. Devlin's absence he was unanimously selected as the candidate for Galway city at the Nationalist convention held there on Jan. 3, and on nomination day in that constituency was re-elected without opposition.

Home Rule Affected Results.
"And what of Lord Rosebery's attitude?"
"Lord Rosebery is a dead letter. When he said he would not serve under the banner of home rule, down he went."
"You consider then that the question of home rule affected the results in the recent elections?"
"It must have done so. The people of Great Britain were appealed to by both Mr. Balfour and Mr. Chamberlain on that great issue. Mr. Balfour had no other word on going before the country but the one cry, 'Home Rule.' Mr. Chamberlain, on the other hand, had a number of other slogans, but the damage sustained by the Unionist, and I'm a Nationalist, but it is only fair to say that he was exceedingly popular not only with the members of his own side, but with those on all sides."

In conclusion Mr. Devlin spoke of his present visit to St. John and his many friends in the city. "I have come direct from Ottawa," he said, "and am on my way to London to attend to my parliamentary duties. I will sail tomorrow on the Lake Erie. I am particularly pleased to be able to spend a little time in St.
John where I have many friends. I am sure you know, a Canadian in every respect, and I trust in the fullest respect, and it is for that reason that I come to my native land every year. Today I have met many old friends—some even who were known to me fifteen years ago when I was first elected to the Canadian house of commons—and it has been a great pleasure to recall old times."

Charles Ramsay Devlin is the son of Charles Devlin, who came to Canada in 1842 from Roscommon county (Ire.). He was born at Aylmer (Que.) on Oct. 29, 1858, and was educated at Montreal, the College of St. Joseph, and at the University of Ottawa. In 1883 Mr. Devlin married Blanche, daughter of Charles de Montigny, of St. Scholastique (Que.). Mr. Devlin was returned to the Canadian parliament as a Liberal at the general elections of 1891 for the county of Ottawa. He was re-elected in 1896 for Wright. He went to the old country in connection with immigration matters and subsequently settled in Ireland, being elected Nationalist member for Galway.

DRIVE SCHOONER
AGAINST THE WHARF

The Ravola Torn from Berth by Wind is Swept Against North Wharf and Coal Pocket.

The bermit of the two-topmast schooner Ravola, owned by J. Willard Smith, was driven through the corner of the Dominion Coal Company's coal pocket
at the end of the North wharf about noon Sunday, the vessel, through the violence of the gale, was forced adrift from where she was berthed at Walker's wharf.
Almost beyond recovery, the schooner was swept across the end of the slip and crashed against the opposite wharf. The tide was high at the time, and the schooner nearly to the top of the Howard and the mate, Mr. Parry, there would no doubt have been greater damage. As it was she was almost unmanageable, and it was impossible to board her until she had drifted into the coal pocket where she was smashed, and a hole almost three feet wide was made in the wharf, but as the tide went out her stern grounded, leaving the bow still afloat and pointed towards the Howard. The mate of the schooner, however, the schooner floated freely and her position became better. The bermit was smashed.

Rev. Father Holden.
Halifax, Feb. 2.—The news of the death

more widely known and more universally liked than any other priest in Nova Scotia. Father Holden was born in this city on June 19, 1829.

year 1884, a member of the firm of Dunn & McMurrin, shipbuilders and ship turnishes. Late in the sixties the firm was

Word of the death of Mr. Hagerman, one of the veteran C. P. R. conductors of this province, was received Friday morning. He was 82 years of age. His home was announced. He was aged about seventy years, and about a year ago last fall was superannuated. Of late years he had been in failing health. Deceased ran on the Fredericton branch of the line almost from the time it was constructed, and no one in the employ of the road
was more widely known and more generally esteemed throughout that part of the country. His wife and two daughters, residing in Fredericton, survive.

Thomas Bright.
Sealey's Cove, Charlotte county, Feb. 1.—
On Jan. 27th Thomas Bright passed of his eternal rest, after an illness of some months. By his death the community has lost a prominent and highly respected citizen and one whose place will be hard to fill. Deceased was born at Sealey's Cove, Charlotte county, forty-three years ago,
and has always made his home at that place.

Seventeen years ago he was united in marriage to Miss Julia Butler, of Mussagetown, who has been his cheerful helpmate during those years, and who was undergoing her last illness.

The funeral took place Monday morning from the Roman Catholic church at St. George, where a solemn high mass of requiem was sung by Rev. Father Carson.
Besides his wife the deceased leaves six children—one son and five daughters—to whom much sympathy is extended in their sad bereavement.

years church warden of St. Margaret's,

aged 20, was knocked down by a shifting locomotive of the Boston & Maine railpital and it is thought she will not recover.

October from her home at Gushers (N. S.),

GIVE UP FALLS IDEA
President of Board of Trade Believes
Plan Now Is to Turn Elsewhere.

H. B. Schofield, president of the joint committee appointed to arrange for an investigation of the power at the falls, said Friday evening that he did not think it likely the committee would proceed further in that direction owing to the opinion expressed by H. A. Ross, of Ross & Holgate, Montreal, at an informal discussion in the board of trade rooms on Thursday that the cost of development would be prohibitive. Mr. Schofield thought the committee might ask for authority to make investigations elsewhere.

He added that the committee had not yet met to consider the matter, but that personally he believed the course mentioned would be adopted. It is understood that Elijah Ross has not given up his idea of developing the falls along the lines of his patent, but that he will endeavour to reduce the cost for the construction of a plant to a figure which will render it more valuable for commercial purposes.
