LEADERSHIP PROGNOSTICATIONS.

Advices from Ottawa are to the effect that the Conservative party leaders have, within the past day or two, apent all their spare time in caucusing over the leadership. Where is still expressed why the Governor-General has not followed British precedent and sent for someone to form a new Government. The wonder will have to grow Lord Stanley sees fit to move.

It is made evident on all hands that there is the greatest diversity of opinion among the Conservative leaders as to what course should be pursued. There are so many antagonistic elements to reconcile, so many ambitious men to satisfy, and no man of overpowering personality to control and direct them.

Booms have been started for this man and for that, but only to collapse after the elements of weakness are laid bare, as they freely are by candid friends, who themselves have axes to grind.

One thing seems now certain, and that is the determination of Sir Hector Langevin not to be squeezed out of the leading place by any newcomer.

A Conservative correspondent tells us that Sir Hector will first be sent for, and that he will refuse the task of forming a Ministry, nominating Sir John Thompson. He will also decline, we are next informed, and suggest Mr. Abbott. We are left in the dark as to what he will do.

Mr. McCarthy, it is noted, does not wish to enter the Cabinet, but he desires to be kingmaker, and is booming Mr. Meredith. The Toronto World, a good Conservative authority, candidly tell its readers that the funeral journey to Kingston will be utilized for a meeting between Mr. Meredith and Sir John Thompson, with the object of promoting Mr. Meredith's chances.

The multitude of rumors and the assurance that the new Government will at best be a make-shift to tide over the session all betoken the chaos that reigns and portends the break-up that must bring a needed change. No wonder that the Montreal Star advises those Conservatives who are looking for jobs from the present managers at Ottawa to get them now, lest they escape their grasp.

AFTER THE VERDICT.

Sir William Gordon Cumming Commits Matrimony Instead of Suicide.

Comments of the London Press on the Verdict and the Judge.

The marriage was practically a secret one. Only twelve persons were present at the ceremony. The bride looked charmingly happy, and Sir William was proud-looking, cool, and entirely self-possessed. There was no trace in his personal appearance of depression or emotion resulting from yesterday's verdict in the Court of Queen's Bench. Lady and Sir William Gordon Cumming left this city shortly after the ceremony for the bridegroom's estate at Altyre, near Forres, Scotland, where they will spend the honeymoon.

LONDON, June 10.—Commenting on the Gordon Cumming trial, the Post says signing the document rendered it impossible for eminent counsel, however dexterous, to rehabitate the honor that Sir William Gordon Cumming himself treated so lightly.

The Sun says the accusation was secondary in importance to its surroundings. No other verdict was possible. It is a pity that the heir to the throne was at the baccarat table. The Prince should show a cleanly life to his future subjects. It is grotesque to have the Prince carrying about baccarat counters wherever he goes as a Mahomedan carrying his praying carpet.

The Telegraph defends the Prince, although regarding him as indiscreet, but thinks a generous world will forgive him for signing the paper of condonation.

The Chronicle condems the jury's finding and the partiality of Chief Justice Coleridge. Cummings, it says, is not the first loyal Scot made to feel the ban of the Prince's ingratitude. The paper asks what steps will be taken to vindicate justice in regard to the crime which the Prince compounded by signing a compact with Cumming or whether the scandal will be forever hushed up.

The Standard (Tory) says that if the plaintiffs come worst out of the affair it must be admitted that the defendants and their friends are somewhat tarnished.

To a friend who asked Sir William what he thought of the verdict, that gentleman said: "It was not of course what I hoped or expected, but you may say that I attribute it entirely to the biased and prejudiced summing up of the Lord Chief Justice. I have been told on what I believe to be good authority that Lord Coleridge intimated to several people before the trial that there was no doubt as to my guilt. It looked had also that the Prince of Wales, who is bitterly hostile to me, should lunch every day with the Chief Justice. Does anybody believe that the refrained from discussing the case?

"What Sir Edward said was perfectly true. I was bamboozled into signing that agreement solely to screen the Prince of Wales. I was made the scapegoat to avoid a scandal. Overtures were made to me not to proceed with the suit on the ground that the verdict would be sure to go against me, that I might save my commission by keeping silent, but I would not listen to any such proposition."

Speaking of his marriage Sir William said: "I have been engaged to Miss Garner for some time. When this Tranby Croft business first came up I urged her to break off the engagement, but she said she was willing to marry immediately after the trial, whether the verdict was in my favor or not. Whatever the jury decided it would make no difference to her belief in my innocence." There are many prominent men about town who do not hesitate to say they think Cumming has been badly treated and he has been sacrificed on the altar of the inordinate greed of the heir and of the gossiping women who on his princely conference.

Burial of Sir John!

Imposing Funeral Pageant at Ottawa.

Two Cars Filled with Handsome Floral Offerings.

Impressive Services in St. Alban's Cathedral

The Cortege Proceeds to the Railway Station in a Deluge of Rain—The Arrival at Kingston.

[Special to the ADVERTISER.]

OTTAWA, Ont., June 10.—The official portion of the funeral was hardly so long as was expected, though its expeditiousness may be due to the admirable way in which it was managed. It was eighteen minutes passing a given point. To this must be added the great concourse of sorrowing citizens who more than doubled it in numbers.

The heavily plumed hearse was preceded by two cars of funeral flowers that loaded the air with a heavy scent. Rev. J. J. Bogart and Rev. Ven. Archdeacon Lauder rode in the carriage for the officiating clergy; his Excellency and suite just preceded Major-Gen. Herbert, commander of the Canadian militia. On either side of the hearse walked the Cabinet Ministers, who acted as pallbearers, and just inside of them six Dominion police who carried the casket. The Senate and the Commons followed, preceded each by their speakers and maces. This is a variation of the usual order of precedence, which puts the Speaker of each House much higher in the procession than the ordinary members.

The service at St. Albans, conducted by the Rev. J. J. Bogart, was the simple Church of England burial service, at the close of which the body was taken to the C. P. R. railway station and deposited on the funeral train.

The immense funeral train moved off from the heavily draped main tower of the Parliament buildings at 1:15, the band of the Foot Guards playing the "Dead March in Saul." The bell in the great clock tolled slowly, as did all other bells in the city.

A low estimate places the number who passed by Sir John's bier yesterday and last night at 20,000. Shortly after daybreak crowds who were disappointed yesterday began to gather at the entrances to the center block waiting the opening of the doors that they might view the remains of the late Premier. When the hour for the funeral ceremonies arrived the entire street in front of the Parliament buildings was a vast sea of humanity, and the crowd extended down across Wellington street, and even the side streets from Sparks to Wellington were crowded.

PARTICIPANTS IN THE OBSEQUIES.

OTTAWA, June 10.—To-day, which began in brightness, wore on into cloud and storm, which burst with terrific fury as the late Premier's funeral cortege reached Parliament Square on the way back from the church. This served to break up the ranks of the pedestrians, but the State part of the funeral kept right on in undisturbed solemnity. Never in the history of Ottawa were such crowds seen on the streets and squares. Every window on the route was filled with faces, and platforms were specially erected at various points to accommodate those wishing to see the cortege. Three hours before the time appointed for the start people began to assemble on Parliament Hill and on the streets in waiting. From an early hour mourners arrived in town from all parts of the Dominion. Toronto sent deputations numbering over 200. Montreal's mourners were even more numerous. Scores of towns and villages in Ontario and Quebec sent their representatives. The Senate Chamber, where the body lay in state until noon, was the Mecca of the pilgrims. The corridors and halls of the Parliament Buildings were thronged again as they were yesterday. At noon the doors of the Senate were closed and the casket was prepared for burial.

At 1:15 the big bell in the tower tolled out a deep knell, and the casket was lifted by the six bearers from the Dominion police force. Preceding it, and bearing a beautiful wreath from the Queen, walked Messrs. Taylor and Trow, the chief whips respectively of the Conservative and Liberal parties. Behind the casket Messrs. Daly and Pope carried the floral offering of the Governor-General and Lady Stanley. The crowd at the door parted, and, with uncovered heads, watched the placing of the casket in the hearse. The regal and vice-regal wreaths were then laid on the coffin, and the procession started.

London Conservative Association — F. A. Fitzgerald, A. A. Booker, Jas. Priddis, Isaac Waterman, J. Stephenson, J. Cousins, W. J. Brasbie, G. W. Miller.

Two draped and terraced cars, each drawn by two black horses, bore the hundreds of floral offerings to the memory of the dead. The funeral car, surmounted by heavy sable plumes and drawn by four black horses, caused hundreds to murmur, "There goes the last of Sir John." Next to the mourners the Governor-General followed the body of his late adviser. For the first time in the history of the Dominion the maces of the Houses of Parliament were carried through the streets, and gave more than anything else a State character to the funeral.

AT THE CHURCH.

The altar at St. Alban's Church, to which church the remains were conveyed, was set with bluish purple hangings trimmed with white silk with two bouquets in gold vases standing at either end. The base of the altar was surrounded with rows of tropical ferns, palms and similar hothouse plants, rich in their dark colors, the pulpit and other portions of the church being appropriately draped. The seat usually occupied by Sir John Macdonald, immediately in front of the reading desk in the second tier, held a device wrapped in purple silk and gold. There was a wreath of smilax on the entrance side and on the top of the device a superb cross fully two feet in length composed of white and cream roses, tulips and immortelles. It was the gift of the young ladies of St. Alban's Church. The beautiful burial service of the Church of England was rendered with perfection. The choir chanted the 39th and 90th psalms. The 40th psalm,

Now the laborer's task is done,
Now the battle day is past, was impressively sung. Then the bishop's commissary, Archdeacon Lauder, read the lesson from I. Corinthians, xv., 20: "Now is Christ risen from the dead and become the first fruits of them that sleep." When he came to the words, "In a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last tramp, for the trumpet shall sound," the congregations was startled at the sound of the bugle, suggesting that last trump which is to call the dead from earth and sea. After this the choir rendered Franz Abt's anthem, "Oh, My Lord Most Holy, the solo prettily sung by Master Robert Gormally, the youngest member of the choir, a boy soprano, in his 11th year. Rev. Mr. Bogert intoned the prayers. After the collect and the benediction, Stainer's "Seven-told Amen" rose softly and sweetly from the organ, accompanied by the voices of the choir. The "Nunc Dimittis" followed, and as the coffin was raised once more and borne to the hearse the "Dead March in Saul" was played. Thus the affecting service was closed.

TORRENTS OF RAIN.

After leaving the church the bier had hardly reached Rideau street when the storm, which had been threatening, broke, and the rain descended in torrents. The thousands who lined the streets were driven to seek the nearest sheiter. The pedestrians in the procession scattered, and by the time the Parliament Buildings were reched the pageant was reduced to the vehicles and the military. Amid drenching rain the cortege wended its way through Wellington and Queen streets to the station, where, ankle deep in mud, the pall-bearers transferred the coffin to the funeral train. It was placed in the Canadian Pacific car No. 417, which had been specially prepared for its reception. The other cars were the C. P. R. private car Metapedia for Lady Macdonald and her family, the Government private cars, Ottawa and Cumberland, for Cabinet Ministers and a few others, and a buffet car for representatives of the press.

The Grand Lodge representatives of the Masonic body, of which Sir John Macdonald was an old member, were present. At the time of his death the deceased Premier was the representative of the Grand Lodge of England in the Grand Lodge of Canada.

One of the Senators fainted in the procession from the effects of the great heat.

The floral pillow laid on Sir John Macdonald's desk on Monday was to-day stripped of nearly all its roses by souvenir hunters, who also whittled the desk for the same purpose.

Lady Macdonald telephoned from Earnscliffe for a policeman to protect the trees there from visitors, who were cutting them to obtain twigs from the place where Sir John Macdonald died.

So great was the demand for silk hats that not one was left in any of the stores of the city. Notwithstanding the heavy downpour of rain, many ladies dressed in light summer materials stood through it all while the cortege was passing. It is estimated that 8,000 persons were in the procession.

An interesting coincidence is recalled by to-day's event. It was on the 10th of June, 1873, that Sir John Macdonald's old colleague, Sir George Cartier, died.

A beautiful wreath from the Queen was received this morning in the Senate Chamber. It was composed of white and yellow roses, and, by special request of her Majesty was placed on the coffin just before it was carried from the Senate Chamber.

AT KINGSTON.

KINGSTON, Ont., June 10.—The funeral train reached Kingston at 10:20 p.m. The casket was conveyed to the City Hall by six members of "A" Battery. At the hall the cadets of the Royal Military College formed a guard over the remains. The hall was immediately thrown open to the public, and up to a very late hour a continuous stream of people passed through to obtain a glimpse of the late Premier's features.

Man and Wife at Variance.

Rachel Cornstein, a Jewish woman 27 years old, has brought suit against her husband, David, for alleged neglect to support herself and family. This morning she appeared in the Police Court with four pretty children, and told her story to the magistrate. Ten years ago, said she, she was married to her husband in New York and given a paper at the time by the Jewish rabbi. This her spouse burned five years afterwards. Her husband deserted her at periodical times, and on one occasion went to the old country, where she sent him $50 at his request. She had six children, of which he was the father, two of which had died. The last time he left was in September, 1890, since when she has supported herself and children by peddling small articles, receiving only a few dollars and a pair of boots from her husband, who earned from $20 to $25 per week. She was unable to keep the family, and asked nothing more than contributions for support. Something was said between the pair about a divorce, and she had signed papers at a lawyer's office which gave to her the household furniture and $50, although at the time she did not know its contents. The defence evidently takes the ground that the plaintiff is guilty of adultery, and that the defendant is not the father of all the children. The magistrate decided to send the case to the next General Sessions. J. B. McKillop and E. Meredith represented the plaintiff and E. T. Essery the defendant.

Three Years Free

The Coming School of Medicine.

The Histogenetic System.

THIS SYSTEM IS COMPLETE, having different medicines for all the different diseases. The theory is entirely different from that of the old schools. The medicines are perfectly pure, containing nothing of a poisonous nature whatever, and are quite tasteless. For three years these medicines have been given away free and thoroughly tested in the most hopeless cases before being placed on the market. The result has exceeded the most sanguine expectations. Hundreds of cases supposed to be incurable have been cured, and abundance of proof can be produced to convince the most skeptical that Histogenetic Medicines have cured and are curing to-day DISEASES at a later stage than any other system of medicine in the world. In ACUTE cases the medicines act like magic. Chronic troubles require a longer time, generally from one to three months, according to the nature of the complaint. In FEMALE IRREGULARITIES, WOMB TROUBLES, etc., the medicines have been especially successful. Private EXAMINATIONS in these troubles are almost, if not quite, absolutely unnecessary. Call or send for one of our free books explaining the system. They should be in every house in the land.

RHEUMATISM and SCIATICA

LONDON, April 28, 1891.

I am happy to acknowledge, and now testify, to the efficacy of your medicines in curing Rheumatism. I have suffered with this painful disease in my shoulders, knees and hips for twenty-five years, also with sciatica for some time. I decided to try Histogenetic Medicines as a last resort, as nothing ever seemed to give me any permanent relief. The first week's medicine gave me relief, and in two weeks the sciatica disappeared and has not returned. I took the medicines for six weeks, and am cured of the rheumatism. I feel better in every way. I am sixty years of age, and feel quite smart and active. I can cheerfully recommend these medicines to the public, and will be glad to tell any sufferer about my case. It is now nearly two months since I ceased taking the medicines, and the effect is permanent.

London, Thursday, June 11.

THE MILITIA CAMP SCANDAL.

Once more the London Free Press asserts that the "dicker" between the City Council, Mr. Carling and the Dominion Government regarding the military and ordnance grounds, agreed to in 1886, was not conducted on an understanding that the Carling grounds so acquired should be the permanent yearly camping grounds of the militia in the Western district.

Our contemporary unnecessarily drags the first proposition into discussion, though it should not forget that the citizens of London voted that proposal down by a large majority, and accepted the arguments of the ADVERTISER, which still causes our contemporary so much solicitude, as the proper views to take.

Can we prevail upon our contemporary to keep to the one question now at issue, viz., whether or not the City Council consented to aid Mr. Carling in getting his property sold for military school and camping purposes on the distinct understanding that a portion of the ground was to be used every year for the district militia camp?

This is a simple question, and it at least deserves a candid answer. We will not go to a hostile source for an answer. We shall answer the Free Press by the Free Press.

If our contemporary will turn to its file and read its first editorial article on Wednesday, Jan. 6, 1886, a day after the meeting of aldermen at which the final bargain was ratified, it will find the following statement:

"The last important act of the outgoing Council has been to ratify, as far as possible, the unfortunate vote of last September, by which the establishment of a military school here and the continuance of the annual camp were sorely jeopardized."

Of course a portion of this declaration has not proper foundation. But there can be no doubt of the truthfulness of the contention that the final bargain entered on was understood to provide for the camp being held here every year, instead of being used, as the Toronto Empire has assured us it will in future be used, as an agency for promoting the political fortunes of sorely-pressed Conservative candidates.

That there should be no mistake about its belief that the understanding was a virtual agreement our contemporary, now professedly sadly ignorant of its then views, told its readers in the issue of Jan. 6, 1886, that the bargain then arranged had resulted in the "securing here, in this excellent center, two important aids to progress and public utility."

What were these two important aids? The permanent school and the annual camp without a doubt.

But the Free Press was not alone in viewing the final agreement, now existing, as providing for the camp being held here annually. When the bargain was brought up in the City Council on Jan. 5,. 1886, the aldermen who negotiated it maintained that it was an especially good bargain because the purchase of the 55 acres insured the holding of the camp every year. We find from the Free Press report that Ald. Green spoke of the value of "the annual camp" that was to be secured by adopting the bargain. Ald. Gardiner indorsed the report, recommending the acceptance of the report because "all wanted to have the military grounds and camp here if they could." Ald. Lilley supported the proposition to secure "a military college and annual camp on Carling's Farm," and Ald. Chas. Taylor warned the Council not to reject the agreement if they did not want to loose "the military college and camp." Ald. Watson expressed himself in similar terms.

Thus, it is clearly proved that the Free Press of January, 1886, set forth the general understanding of the negotiations of the militia grounds deal when it so strongly asserted that the closing of the bargain meant the securing to London of the annual camp. The Free Press of June 10, 1891, must therefore be wrong when it refuses to stand by this understanding and to demand that the camp shall not be used, as threatened, as a counter in a political contest, but shall be held, as promised, on the grounds bought for the purpose with public money, viz., in the city of London.

OPPOSITION TO RECIPROCITY.

Vigorous protestations are made by the New York Tribune against the establishment of unrestricted reciprocity in trade between Canada and the United States. Our contemporary asserts that Canada would receive far greater benefits from free trade relations than would the States.

Our view is that the liberty to buy and sell with freedom would be mutually advantageous. Certain it is that no man, be he a United States citizen or be he a Canadian, would either buy or sell unless he considered the transaction advantageous to him. Unfortunately we have a class among us who hold that such trading is disloyal, and we must be careful, or to a dungeon cell we shall go!

IN DEFENSE OF THE PRINCE OF WALES.

The St Catharines Standard rushes to the rescue of the Prince of Wales. It says that the ADVERTISER used harsh language towards His Royal Highness when it called him a gambler. Now, we find that the dictionary definition of the word is as follows:

GAMBLER, n. One who gambles; one who games or plays for money or other stake.

The ADVERTISER, therefore, was right in saying, after the revelations in the baccarat scandal, that the Prince was a gambler, and that he set a bad example to the rising generation of the British people. The Standard says that the Prince is not a gambler because "he bets according to his means." How does it know? There is a rumor that the Prince lives above his means, and that his mamma pays his debts. Suppose that were true, would he be gambling according to his means? Then it is argued that a prince who spends his time in gambling is no worse than a commoner who does the same thing. In only one sense is this true. In the sense of the evils arising from a bad example it is not true. The elevated position which the heir to the throne occupies is such that he has it in his power to do much good or cause much evil by his example. We read in history that when the kings and princes lived evil lives they led the people into similar wicked ways. The power of example is always strong in the case of royalty—far stronger than in that of an ordinary citizen—therefore the ADVERTISER holds that the Prince would only be doing his duty by the nation that pays him $500,000 a year to maintain his position if he were to so live that no one could defend evil habits by a reference to the example set by the chief prince in the land.

It is a distinct injury to the monarchy of Great Britain to have it disclosed in a court of justice that the heir to the throne chooses frivolous persons as his associates and questionable amusements, the pursuit of which have ruined thousands, as his pastimes. We cannot take the statement back that the Prince is a gambler, or resile from the position that he sets his mother's subjects a bad example.

WHAT THE "ADVERTISER" THINKS ABOUT IT.

THE total of entries and clearances in the shipping trade of China last year was 34,876,000 tons, of which 26,000,000 tons were under the British flag, 6,333,333 Chinese, and 1,333,333 German. The free trade country leads by nearly 10,000,000 tons.

‡‡‡

THE Bay City (Mich.) Tribune looks for changes in Canada now that the master strategist of the Conservative party is gone. It points out that "the Liberals have recently made powerful accessions to their forces, and it is a matter of common belief that no one but the dead statesman could have carried the last election in face of their united and vigorous efforts."

‡‡‡

A GOOD deal of nonsensical gush is being sent from Ottawa these days. For example, the correspondent of the Toronto Empire, writing on the day when the death of Sir John Macdonald was announced to the House of Commons, said:

"The members of the press gallery were all dressed in black to-day. There were a good many members of the House that did not show the same respect."

In this locality men and women truly condole with those who are bereaved, and even attend funerals dressed in clothing that is not black, and they are not accused of disrespect to the dead, either. Suppose a member of Parliament did not have a suit of sombre hue to don, was he less respectful than those who appeared in the "solemn trappings of woe?" The extremely sensitive critics might well suspend judgment on that question.

THE EXODUS CONTINUES.

[Muncie, Ind., Herald.]

Barrett Griner, Martin Nolan, Patsey Hollaran, John Reed, Thomas Pearson and Joseph Cahill, all of Hamilton, Canada, have arrived in the city, and are now engaged in blowing glass at Ball Bros'. glass factory.

THE LOSS IN EGGS.

[East Kent Plaindealer.]

McNaughton, Walker & Co., the Chatham egg dealers, are still shipping eggs to the States. The price in New York is 19½ and 19⅜ cents per dozen. In Toronto it is 12 and in Montreal 11. In Buffalo and Oswego, frontier towns, it is 17 and 18. Where is that English market? What is the matter with the West India negro?

SOME EFFECTS OF SIR JOHN MACDONALD'S DEATH.

[Toronto Labor Advocate.]

The most immediate and obvious consequences will be the break-up of the Tory party. There is no living man who can hold together and animate with a common purpose the incongruous elements which make up the strength of the dominant faction. Even Sir John's powers of manipulating men and his wonderful personal magnetism have been sorely taxed of late in preserving the appearance of harmony and discipline among the various cliques and sections of widely differing views, sympathies and interests who are ranged under the Conservative flag. Men of ability in political life are few—and such of them as wear the Conservative label are too closely identified with sectional interests to prove acceptable leaders.

LITERATURE OF TO-DAY

A NEW WORK BY REV. DR. DEWART.

The noise of theological controversy is filling our ears at present. For some months an earnest discussion has been carried on over Prof. Briggs' inaugural address delivered on his appointment to the chair of Biblical theology in Union Seminary, New York, a discussion which the decision of the General Assembly, vetoing the professor's appointment, will not end. Canada, as well as the United States, has a professor, whose delivery and publication of a lecture on Messianic prophesy has created a stir in theological circles. The editor of the Christian Guardian has written a sharp criticism of Prof. Workman's position under the title of "Jesus, the Messiah." Dr. Dewart's style is vigorous, and one can scarcely wonder at Prof. Workman so writhing under his lash as to enter a temporary protest against what he terms a "spirit of injustice" pending a more formal reply, which he promises is forthcoming. "Jesus, the Messiah," contains nine chapters. Its author enters upon his task, which he frankly avows to be the controversion of the views contained in Dr. Workman's lecture by a study of the origin and development of prophecy. The predictive and ethical elements in prophesy are declared to be in harmony, and the value of fulfillment in support of the presence of the predictive element touched upon. The right to use New Testament statements as an aid in determining the meaning of the Old Testament prophesies is claimed, and the testimony of eminent expositors in support of this claim quoted. The negative theory, which denies all predictive reference to Jesus Christ in Old Testament prophesy, is examined and combatted. A number of Messianic prophesies are quoted and held as clearly predictive of Jesus Christ, and a chapter given to general and typical Messianic prophesies. Prof. Workman's statement that "New Testament writers invariably employ the language of the Old Testament in the way of adaptation or accommodation" is assailed, and the testimony of Christ cited as irrefragable evidence of the application of Old Testament prediction to Himself. In the last chapter Dr. Dewart states the position of Prof. Workman to be rationalistic, and directly opposed to the corruption of Messianic prophecy and fulfillment taught in the Holy Scriptures. Dr. Dewart's book will add to his reputation as a vigorous polemic, and the orthodox brethren will doubtless take great delight in seeing Prof. Workman's "advanced" views handled without gloves. The book is published by William Briggs, Wesley Buildings, Toronto, and is a creditable production.

The Atlantic Monthly. (Boston, Houghton, Mifflin & Co.) "The Last Watch," by our Canadian poet, Bliss Carman, is finely conceived and felicitously expressed. Some very interesting "Reminiscences of Professor Sophocles" are given by a former pupil of his at Harvard. To a dozen generations of impressible college students he presented an example of encyclopædic learning and of an ideal life directed to serene ends. A single room sufficed him during his 40 years of college life, and his simple meals were prepared by himself. Eating was always treated as a subordinate and incidental business, deserving no fixed time, no dishes, nor the setting of a table. Like a peasant or a monk, he lived chiefly on bread and fruit, relished with a little wine. He is described as rugged, paradoxical, witty and benignant. In the opening article on "Abraham Lincoln" Carl Schurz says that sympathy was the strongest element in Lincoln's nature. When on a journey he would dismount from his buggy and wade waist-deep in mire to rescue a pig struggling in a swamp. The writer of "What the Southern Negro is Doing for Himself" shows clearly that the new generation of Afric-Americans is animated by a progressive spirit, and is rapidly copying the organic, industrial and administrative features of white society.

"Give Me a Cigar."

"Give Me an El Padre"

QUERY: Who do you think obtains the best value for his money, the man who asks for a cigar, or the one who asks for an "El Padre" or any other of our brands?

It is Difficult to Obtain a Good Cigar,

This expression, heard so frequently, is used only by those consumers who at cigar stores, hotels and restaurants, simply say: "Give me a Cigar."

Those smokers who ask for an "El Padre" "Madre e Hijo," "La Cadena," "La Flora," "Cable or "Mungo," and insist upon having the brand they ask for, do not have occasion to use the expression: 'It is difficult to obtain a good Cigar."

The consumer who permits dealers and others to hand him any brand they choose has himself to blame if he is dissatisfied with his purchase.

It is Human Nature for business men to push the sale of goods that pay the large est profit.

It is Policy for the consumer to insist upon having Reliable Brands.

There are some dealers who decry our brands, more especially the "La Cadena" and "La Flora" (the cream of the Havana crop), solely on account of their desire to push the sale of Inferior Goods and Private Brands that pay a larger profit.

If the same attention is given to the purchase of cigars as to wearing apparel, the complaints that are frequently heard would soon cease to exist.

We manufacture only the Highest Grade of Cigars. We are not cheap cigar manufacturers. We aim to give the best of quality consistent with prics charged, and do not pretend to offer the public Gold Dollars for Ninety Cents.

The Great Blood Purifier.

A Word to the People. | "Truth is Mighty, and will prevail."

THE remarkable effects and most satisfactory results, in every variety of disease arising from IMPURITIES OF THE BLOOD, which are experienced and made manifest from day to day, by those who have taken NORTHROP & LYMAN'S VEGETABLE DISCOVERY, for complaints which were pronounced incurable, are surprising to all. In many of these cases, the persons say their pain and sufferings cannot be expressed, as in cases of Scrofula, where apparently the whole body was one mass of corruption.

This celebrated medicine will relieve pain, cleanse and purify the blood, and cure such diseases, restoring the patient to perfect health after trying many remedies, and having suffered for years. Is it not conclusive proof that if you are a sufferer you can be cured? Why is this medicine performing such great cures? It works in the BLOOD, the Circulating Fluid. It can truly be called the

GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER.

The great source of disease originates in the BLOOD, and no medicine that does not act directly upon it, to purify and renovate, has any just claim upon public attention. When the blood becomes lifeless and stagnant, either from change of weather or of climate, want of exercise, irregular diet, or from any other cause, NORTHROP & LYMAN'S VEGETABLE DISCOVERY will renew the Blood, carry off the putrid humors, cleanse the stomach, regulate the bowels, and impart a tone of vigor to the whole body.

The conviction is, in the public mind as well as the medical profession, that the remedies supplied by the VEGETABLE KINGDOM are more safe and more effectual in the cure of disease than mineral medicines. The Vegetable Discovery is composed of the juice of most remarkable roots, barks and herbs. It is pleasant to take, and is perfectly safe to give an infant. Allow us to ask you a candid question:—Do you need it? Do not hesitate to try it. You will never regret it. All druggists have it for sale.

MR. JOHN C. FOX, Olinda, writes:—"Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery is giving good satisfaction. Those who have used it say it has done them more good than anything they have ever taken."

IN ITS WORST FORM.—MISS JULIA A. PILSWORTH, Toronto, writes:—"I had Dyspepsia in its worst form for over a year, but after taking three bottles of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery, a perfect cure followed. I take great pleasure in recommending it to anyone suffering from Dyspepsia."

MR. W. THAYER, Wright, P.Q., had DYSPEPSIA FOR TWENTY YEARS. Tried many remedies and doctors, but got no relief. His appetite was very poor, had a distressing pain in his side and stomach, and gradual wasting away of flesh, when he heard of and immediately commenced taking Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. The pains have left, and he rejoices in the enjoyment of excellent health; in fact he is quite a new man.

Peculiar

To itself in many important particulars, Hood's Sarsaparilla is different from and superior to any other medicine.

Peculiar in combination, proportion and preparation of ingredients, Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the full curative value of the best known remedies of the vegetable kingdom.

Peculiar in strength and economy—Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which can truly be said, "100 doses one dollar." Medicines in larger and smaller bottles require larger doses, and do not produce as good results as Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Peculiar in its "good name at home"—there is more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell, where it is made, than of all other blood purifiers.

Peculiar in its phenomenal record of sales abroad, no other preparation has ever attained such popularity in so short a time. Do not be induced to take any other preparation. Be sure to get

Result of the Richardson-Gallagher Wrestling Match.

ATHLETICS.

THE WRESTLING MATCH.

The Gallagher-Richardson wrestling match at the Grand Opera House Tuesday night attracted a fair crowd. Prior to the match a couple of amateur boxing exhibitions were put on—one between two boys and the other between Harding and McVean.

The first bout lasted twelve minutes, being collar-and-elbow, three points to constitute a fall. Gallagher seemed to have a decided advantage and closed the bout by tossing Richardson clearly on his back after a short struggle.

The second bout was the most interesting of the night. Richardson twisted his opponent around on his head like a top. Gallagher threw Richardson down, but the latter turned on his shoulder. Richardson seemed likely to get the Buffalo man down several times, but quick twisting saved the latter every time. These tactics were continued for eighteen minutes, when Richardson forced the shoulders of his opponent down and scored a fall.

Both men became badly fagged out in the final bout, but some lively work was indulged in. The Dorchester champion gripped Gallagher's legs together and twisted him over, but failed to touch the shoulders. Gallagher a few minutes later took hold of Richardson's legs and ran him around like a wheelbarrow. Three or four rapid falls followed each other, and both agreed to a two minutes' rest. They resumed work, but after a few scrimmages Gallagher proposed that the match be decided a draw. Richardson agreed and the crowd filed out—disappointed at seeing neither man win, but agreeing that the exhibition of skill was certainly creditable to both men.

It is not considered likely that another match will be arranged, so Richardson can still claim the championship of the United States and Canada, while Gallagher's friends have the satisfaction of knowing that he certainly made as good a showing as the Dorchester man in the final match.

A correspondent asks how the $50 surplus which the Athletic Association cleared on its day's sport in Queen's Park last fall will be applied; also who threw the cricket ball the furthest on that occasion. As to the first it is impossible to say whether the cash, if a balance really exists, will be utilized in furthering similar events this season, or will remain idle long enough to accumulate sufficient interest for the purchase of a tombstone dedicated to the memory of the association, which died in its infancy. It is to be hoped the former course will be taken. J. S. Brown, of this city, won the cricket ball contest.

CRICKET.

For the first time since 1885, when the collegians won by one run, Upper Canada College cricketers defeated Toronto University on Tuesday, winning by seven wickets. Score, 73 to 69.

The first match of this season between East Toronto and West Toronto ladies was played on the Toronto Cricket Club's ground Tuesday afternoon in the presence of 1,000 spectators. The match ended in a victory for the west end ladies by seven runs in the first innings 42 to 36.

FOOTBALL.

The first game with the American visitors from the New England League was played at Seaforth, Ont., Tuesday afternoon. The weather was warm and the attendance moderate. The team opposing the Americans was, owing to inability to get players from Detroit and Berlin, largely made up of Seaforth men, Sims and Young, of Berlin, being the only players from outside. The Americans won the match 4 goals to 1.

THE ROD.

A fisherman who always catches his bait minnows by hook and line instead of by net asserts that the fish thus taken are larger and longer lived than those which are netted. In the rush for bait, runs the theory, the big and strong fellows get there first, and the weak little chaps are crowded out; but on the other hand the big ones escape the net and the little ones are caught. The hooking does slight injury or none at all; and the fisherman who hooks his minnows will thus have the most healthy, vigorous and attractive bait.—[Forest and Stream.

THE TRIGGER.

The pigeon shooting match between Capt. A. W. Money, of England, and Edward Gibbs Murphy for $2,000 a side was won by Capt. Money. Murphy now wants to meet the captain in a series of three matches of 200 birds each for $5,000 a side

BASEBALL.

The Northwestern League is near its end.

Bierbauer is recovering from the injuries he received in the last Boston game more rapidly than his most sanguine friends hoped for.

The death of the Detroit Baseball Club will not cause a commotion. It lacked two elements of success—it could not play ball and it could not attract a crowd.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

J. G., Fort Gratiot, Mich.—We are not prepared to state that this or that work is "the best authority" on the subject specified. 1. "Wright's Practical Poultry Keeper," published by the O. Judd Co., 751 Broadway, New York, is a useful book. 2. "Bees and Honey," by Thos. G. Newman, 246 East Madison street, Chicago, would probably suit you. 3. "Gardening for Profit," by Peter Henderson, New York, is good, but a newer work is "How to Make the Garden Pay," published by Henry Maule, Philadelphia. If you are going into these lines specially you had better read some good periodicals devoted to bees and poultry as well as books. Hon. Wilfrid Laurier is Liberal leader.

M. F., Thorndale, Ont.—On the subject of your note Wright's work on poultry keeping says, "Pip is no disease and demands no treatment, being analagous to 'foul tongue' in human beings. Cure the roup or bad digestion or whatever may be the real evil, and the thickening of the tongue will disappear too." M. F. says his young turkeys "act as if they were choking, then gasp off and die; seem to be affected in the throat." Perhaps some of our poultry readers can suggest a remedy.

A Railway Across the Great Desert.

French scientific men and engineers are discussing the feasibility of a railroad across the desert of Sahara to develop the North African provinces that France holds. A more wonderful triumph of skill, and one more far-reaching in its benefits than any Sahara railway can be, has been the introduction of that great remedy, Paine's Celery Compound—nature's great bridge or highway for the safe passage of humanity from the shores of sickness and disease to the land of health, joy and peace. By this triumph of medical skill the victims of nervous disorders, clouded brain, insomnia, headaches, neuralgia, dyspepsia, moroseness and morbidness are enabled to shake off the tightening grasp of disease, and cross over to a new state and condition of perfect health, robustness, perfect digestive vigor and long life.

Sufferers who have not yet tried this justly popular and well-known bridge of escape are warned not to tarry long in the land of uncertainty and suffering; else their condition may become so hopeless that no earthly power will be able to rescue.

"Citizens of London, Rejoice and Be Glad."

You have within your reach a mineral water called St. Leon, which, for gout, rheumatism and diseases of the kidneys, including diabetes and even Bright's disease of the kidneys, when freely used, is superior to all other mineral waters without any exception. It contains purgative and revivifying agents of the highest order. For persons in health it is an excellent regulator and health preservative as well as an agreeable beverage. It is the strongest antidote known to science as a blood purifier. To crown all, it carried off the gold medal and diploma, the highest honors awarded at Quebec in September, 1887, the judges giving it a very strong recommend. The company owning the St. Leon Springs have a fine hotel in connection with them, managed by Mr. M. A. Thomas, than whom as a caterer there is none such. The hotel opens on the 15th of June with a full staff of efficient cooks and waiters and with rates to suit all. They expect to fill the hotel, which can accommodate between five and six hundred guests. The baths in connection are an institution that many of our own citizens can speak of in the most glowing terms. Mr. Thomas invites you all to come, to drink and to be merry. The president, on behalf of the Conference, presented Miss Learoyd with $35 in gold for the excellent manner in which she had managed the Conference postoffice.

Niagara.

BRANTFORD, June 9.—At the Conference missionary meeting last evening D. W. Stevenson, M.D., missionary-elect to China, made a stirring address. He said the Stationing Committee experienced difficulty in finding work for all the ministers, but there was plenty of room for them all in China. We spend more for chewing gum than for missions, and more for Christmas cards than for missions. The yellow fever—a love for gold—has attacked too many Christians in Canada. Rev. George Hartwell, B.D., said if we had 20,000 missionaries going out with us to China we could give each a parish of 50,000 souls.

When Conference re-assembled yesterday morning the Rev. George Douglas, LL.D., the venerable principal of the Wesleyan Theological College, Montreal, with enfeebled step ascended the platform and received an ovation from the Conference. After reference to the work of the college under his care he proceeded to pay tribute to the memory of the late Premier of the Dominion. Continuing, he said: "I look at the great providence which has come to this nation in the death of the Right Hon. Sir John Macdonald. I differed from him on many questions. His genius was great, his ability unquestioned, and his patriotism, as he conceived it, was undoubted. But if what I hear be true—that there is to be called to the head of the Government of this country a man of North of Ireland Methodist parents, who at one time taught in a Methodist Sunday school, but who under peculiar social circumstances forsook the faith of his father and went into the Church of Rome and threw himself into the arms of the extreme section of that church; made league with the Jesuits and sent his sons to be educated in their colleges; and who is opposed to the legislation of your brethren in Manitoba, and seeks to impose on that Western Province a system of separate schools; if what I hear be true we must protest as well as pray. I look upon this possible appointment with great dismay. (Applause.) I am not a party man. I have struck right and left as you know and shall continue to do so. It is time for us who are not party men to lift up our voice and protest against the Government of this country being passed into the hands of such a man. (Renewed applause).

Rev. Mr. Orme reported for the committee upon Epworth Leagues. There are over 300 leagues in the entire church; over 50 of these, with a membership of 1,800, are in the Niagara Conference.

The president of the Stationing Committee said: "We sat continuously from 8 o'clock last evening till 4:15 this morning without settling a single appointment. I never put in a more laborious and prayerful night in my life in this work. The effort to do justice to everybody and every interest has utterly failed." The committee meets again this afternoon. It is freely avowed, by some in authority, that the invitatian system and the determination of Quarterly Boards to press for the man invited have come into conflict with the claims of men who have long moved in a certain class of stations and who now are not willing to accept pastorates paying smaller salaries.

The Committee on Temperance submitted a lengthy report, which was adopted by the Conference. It strongly endorses national prohibition, and states that the time for compromise and delay has long passed—that straight prohibition now, without any evasion, is the clear duty of the Government—and says we hereby put ourselves on record as favoring Mr. Jamieson's resolution and declare that we regard all the amendments thereto as subtle and dangerous attempts to thwart prohibition. The evil of tobacco-using is also condemned, the report stating: "We earnestly request that every member of our church be urged to be a total abstainer from the use of tobacco, and that ministers, Sunday school superintendents and teachers, and parents especially employ most diligent efforts to save the young from its use."

Delegates were appointed to the World's Temperance Convention, Rev. D. L. Brethour, Ph.D.; to the Dominion Alliance, Revs. R. Hobbs, J. W. Cooley, Mr. W. H. Young and James Lund.

At 9:15 o'clock the Stationing Committee filed into the Conference room. Their work was done. The following is a list of the changes reported from the first draft to stations:

Zion Tabernacle, Hamilton, Geo. Clark; Hannah Street, Hamilton, G. W. Kirby, M.A. Dundas, John Kay. St. Catharines, St. Paul Street, S. Cleaver, B.A.; Welland Avenue, George Mitchell, B.A. Thorold, John Wakefield. Niagara Falls, E. H. Koyle, B.A. Grimsby, L. L. Wilkinson. Tintern, S. J. Kelly. Brantford, Wellington Street, A. E. Russ, M.A. St. George, Dr. E. Brownell. Grand River, William Walker. Oxford Center, David Hunt and Richard G. Martin. Drumbo and Richmond, J. E. S. Baillie. Jarvis, Charles R. Morrow and S. A. Lardman. Hagersville, J. H. Robinson and S. W. Fallis. Selkirk, James M. Wright. Welland, Vernon H. Emory. Port Robinson, W. J. Sipperell. Castoryille, J. T. Davis. Canboro, James Webb. Wellandport, R. L. Ockley. Stromness, E. V. Smith. Oakland, Wm. C. Watson, M.A.

The ballot for chairmen resulted as follows: Hamilton, D. G. Sutherland, D.D.; Isaac Lovell, M.A., finance secretary. St. Catharines, John Wakefield; T. W. Jackson, finance secretary. Brantford, A. E. Russ, M.A.; G. W. Calvert, finance secretary. Woodstock, J. S. Ross, M.A.; R. J. Elliott, finance secretary. Simcoe, John Saunders, B.A.; C. R. Morrow, finance secretary. Milton, J. S. Williamson; John Pickering, finance secretary. Welland, J. Hazelwood; V. Emory, finance secretary. Norwich, W. Nettlewell; Rich. Hobbs, finance secretary. Conference was then brought to a close.

Montreal.

BROCKVILLE, June 9.—The work of the Conference yesterday was meager. In the evening the temperance report was read by the Rev. W. Hall, M.A., which recommended the sending to the House of Commons from the Conference of a resolution favcrable to prohibition. It also recommended the ministers to urge their congregations to support those candidates for Parliament who favor prohibition and to oppose any effort to secure compensation to those engaged in the traffic.

At yesterday's session it was resolved that the Conference strongly recommend that superintendents of circuits and missions shall exercise very great caution in the employment of evangelists not specifically appointed by Conference.

TERRESTRIAL HEALING

A branch office of the Magnetic Meridian Vitapoise Company is now permanently located at 294 Dundas street, for the purpose of giving practical demonstrations of the healing virtues of the "Vitapoise," (or miniature earth.) It is the most wonderful healing instrument ever discovered. It only fails to cure the afflicted when their case is hopeless, and it makes no difference what ails you.

If you would like to investigate "TERRESTRIAL HEALING," call at the office, and Prof Reid, will cheerfully explain to you the mysteries of the subtle healing force contained in a Magnetic Meridian Vitapoise.

Separate rooms are fitted up for the treatment of ladies and gentlemen. We want every family and physician in Canada to buy a "Vitapoise," and we will accomplish our object if an afflicted member of every tenth family will give the instrument a trial, by taking a "course of treatment." Its application is absolutely painless and is also harmless: but disease will flee from before it as if driven away by magic.

Physicians! try a "Vitapoise" on one of your patients, having either la grippe, inflammation, fever, insomnia, neuralgia or rheumatism, and thereafter your "medical case" will be a secondary consideration so long as you have a "Vitapoise" with you

WEEKLY REVIEW.

LONDON, Wednesday, June 10.

Since our last weekly review the amount of trade done in wheat in this market has been light, partly owing to small receipts and partly owing to disinclination on the part of millers to pay over $1 per bushel, giving as their reason the difficulty in selling flour. Eastern Province men are not buying, and claim they will not until prices are lower. Prices in this market have lowered 3c per bushel and 5c per 100 lbs. Closing values were $1 per bushel and $1 65 to $1 68 per 100 lbs.

Oats opened easier at $1 36 to $1 37; the demand was good; receipts dropped of on Monday and Tuesday, and prices ran up 3c to 4c per 100 lbs and closed steady at the advance.

Peas offered very sparingly, and are taken at $1 20 to $1 25; the demand is only moderate.

Corn was scarce; dry feeding samples sold at $1 40.

Barley, quiet; there is a steady demand for it, but very little coming; last sales reported were made at $1 25 to $1 27.

Seed buckwheat is in good demand, and would likely bring about 75c to 80c per bushel.

Rye—None offered, prices are based on last transactions. No Hungarian or millet came forward.

Offerings of seed corn have stopped; the season for it is about over.

The provision trade has witnessed very few changes; butter and eggs remain steady, and closed with moderate demand.

A few dressed hogs are being sold on private contract, but there is none offering on the open market.

Potatoes easier at $1 to $1 10.

Flour is easier, selling at $2 50 for roller, and $2 75 for patent.

Shorts advanced $2 per ton.

ONTARIO CROPS.

The Outlook as Noticed in Different Sections.

Fall Wheat in Fair Condition—Poor Prospect for Hay—Rain Required.

The following are the reports received from various parts of the Province concerning the crop prospects:

Durham — The crops are looking fairly well, but are suffering badly from want of rain. The fall wheat is looking tolerably well. The hay crop is far behind last year.

Brampton—Prospect of crops since the last rain has been considerably improved.

Meaford—Fall wheat, medium; spring grain, early sown, is looking well; late sown, rather poor. Hay crop, very poor. Fruit crop looking well.

Welland—Fall wheat, good. Oats, peas and barley below the average. Hay, very poor. Rain needed. Fruit promises fair.

Chatham—The crops in this vicinity give promise of being the largest for some years. Fruit was somewhat damaged by frost, but it is thought that there will be a good yield of all kinds. The recent rains had a very beneficial effect.

Galt—Fall wheat is suffering least by drought. Hay won't be half a crop.

London—In this district hay will be a very light crop, especially in the old meadows. Fall wheat is looking splendid, but spring wheat is very backward and not looking at all well. Oats and barley promise very fairly. The fruit crop will be much better than was expected, frost not having done so much damage as was at first thought. The rain of last week was most beneficial to the growing crops.

Windsor—Fall wheat is in good condition. Oats and other spring grains are not in very good condition on account of dry and cool spring. Grapes damaged by frost considerably; other fruits not hurt much except in spots. Hay will be very light.

Lindsay—The crops throughout the county of Victoria as a whole are in fair condition.

Woodstock—Fall wheat, which in the early spring promised so well, will scarcely be an average crop. Peas, oats and barley are looking bad, and will soon be beyond redemption unless rain comes. The hay crop will be a failure.

Sarnia—The crops in general throughout Lambton are in bad shape on account of drought and the cold weather which has prevailed. In rich land fall wheat is fair, but generally speaking the crops are in a critical shape.

Barrie—Prospects for fall wheat fairly good. Spring crops, oats, barley and spring wheat looking well. Peas and roots suffering for want of rain. Hay very light.

Niagara—Wheat and oats doing well. Corn and hay looking better. Good show for all kinds of fruit.

Cobourg—The absence of rain in this section has kept back growth of all kinds of grain, but otherwise crops look well. The hay crop will be scant.

Campbellford—The outlook for farmers is decidedly bad. Everything is suffering for want of rain.

Colborne—Hay will not yield more than half crop; fall wheat not one-third crop; rye one-half crop; barley good; spring wheat fairly good; peas good; oats fairly good, and apples are looking their best for years.

Kingston—The lack of rain in this district is having a serious effect upon crops of all descriptions.

Simcoe—Wheat is looking very well, but is suffering from drought. Hay and spring grains will be very light. Small fruits an average crop.

Ayr—Wheat is looking well, much above the average. Spring crops look fairly well, and with rain will be a large crop. Hay a short crop on account of the drought.

Blenheim—The crops in this district are on the whole far ahead of average years. Fall wheat is in good condition. The spring crops, which were kept back for the want of rain, appear to have recovered, and all look well. The acreage of beans this year will be far in excess of previous years. Fruit trees generally look extra well.

Uxbridge—So far as can be gleaned from the farmers the crops are in fair condition for this season of the year. Hay will be short.

Oakville—The spring crops in and around this vicinity will be rather light owing to the dry season.

Amherstburg—There is every prospect of fall wheat being an excellent crop Barley, oats and peas look well.

Brussels—Fall wheat promises an average crop. Spring grain is likely to be far short of an average crop. Hay will not be more than half a crop. For small fruits the outlook is fair.

Exeter—Of fall wheat the prospects are that there will be a good crop. Spring crops want rain. The hay crop is going to be light. Fruit an average crop.

Essex—The spring crops of this part will not exceed the average. Fall wheat will be an average crop, and the prospects for small fruits are excellent. The peach yield will be above the usual quantity.

Goderich—In every grade of cereals today small returns are looked for. In some sections everything is almost scorched.

Listowel—Winter wheat shows signs of an average crop. The spring wheat looks well, but wants rain. Peas extra promising. White oats and barley are in some high sections reported half an average crop. Fruit, especially apples, will be short.

Port Stanley—Crops in this neighborhood fair. Fall wheat very good; spring wheat backward. Hay light, as well as pretty much all spring grains. Small fruits look very good; apples light.

Ridgetown—Fall wheat above the average. Hay and spring crops promise to be up to the average. Fruit on the lake shore will be a good crop, but in other sections fair.

Sandwich—Prospects are good for all but grapes.

Seaforth—Prospects good for small fruits. Apples very scarce. Plums and cherries good. Early-sown spring crops are fair. Fall wheat will be good. Grass and late-sown spring grain suffer from drought.

Stratford—The winter wheat wants rain badly. Spring crops are all backward. The hay crop is very short.

Watford—The crops in this section do not promise well. Hay is very short and thin; will be only half a crop. All spring grains and roots promise very little better. Fall wheat looks well and will be an average crop. Apples, plums and most small fruits promise an abundant yield. Peaches are totally destroyed by the heavy frosts. Pears and strawberries are also badly injured.

Wingham—Hay and clover will be very light. Spring wheat is doing very well. Fruit almost completely destroyed by frost.

CANADIAN FORESTERS.

The Progress of the Order Very Satisfactory.

The Annual Meeting of the High Court in Progress at Toronto.

TORONTO, June 10.—The annual meeting of the High Court of the Canadian Order of Foresters opened its annual session in Victoria Hall about 2:30 yesterday afternoon.

About 200 delegates and the following officers of the High Court are in attendance: High chief ranger, Edward Towe, London; past high chief ranger, Robert Elliott, Wingham; high vice chief ranger, George Sinclair, Parkdale; high secretary, Thomas White, Brantford; high treasurer, John Nelands, Wingham; chairman medical board, Dr. U. M. Stanley, Brantford; associate medical board, Dr. R. C. Young, Ridgetown; referee medical board, Dr. Luke Teskey, Toronto; auditors, H. Gummer (Guelph), Ernest Gartung (New Hamburg); high registrar, D. R. Kennedy, Montreal; high senior woodward, D. E. McKinnon, Winnipeg; high junior woodward, R. T. Kemp, Listowel; high senior beadle, J. Waddell, Kingston; high junior beadle, Chas. Doe, London; high court solicitor, A. J. Wilkes, Q.C., Brantford; high court solicitor for Manitoba, A. Monkman, Winnipeg; elected members of the executive committee, R. Kidney (Toronto), R. Elliott (London), A. McNeil (Peterboro.)

It was decided that a committee be appointed to draft resolutions of condolence with Lady Macdonald in her bereavement. Committees were then struck on credentials, distribution, finance, appeals and good and welfare.

The high chief appointed the following to be officers in the High Court: High marshal, John Smith; high chaplain, D. M. Gordon; high messenger, A. Stuart; high conductor, J. W. Taylor; high minute secretary, J. H. Pittifail; high press reporters, H. Gummer and W. A. Stuart. It was decided to hold three sessions each day, commencing at 9 a.m., 2 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Upon the opening of the meeting a delegation from the Reception Committee of the Toronto City Council, on behalf of the people of Toronto, tendered the High Court officers and delegates a welcome to the city. The high chief ranger, Edward Towe, of London, in a few well-chosen remarks thanked the delegation on behalf of the same, after which they withdrew.

The annual report of High Chief Ranger Towe was presented. The order's progress had been very satisfactory and the greatest harmony prevailed. The membership was now 12,514, compared with 10,282, an increase of 2,232. Sixty-nine new courts were established during the year, a larger number than during any previous year in the history of the order. The H. C. R. referred to the work in British Columbia and Nova Scotia, the appointment of Bro. J. H. Emery, of New Westminster, B. C., to the position of D. H. C. R. being calculated to greatly promote the growth of the order in the far west. The speaker had traveled 4,920 miles in the discharge of his duty among the courts. He organized two courts during the year. The correspondence of the year was referred to as being particularly heavy. The H. C. R. had appointed the following D. H. C. R.s: Bros. Strong, Stewart, McEwing, Clayton, T. J. Grant Campbell, Clark, McCall, Robinson, Clark and Barton, and all were doing good work. D. D. H. C. R.s to the number of 69 had been appointed, and were all zealous workers. The official organ of the order and the auditors came in for a share of the H. C. R.'s eulogy. A large number of decisions as to the workings of the bylaws and other matters were referred to. Bro. Towe closed by expressing his sympathy with the movement to create a fund by all subordinate courts (not member) to the High Court for the purpose of relieving courts having members sick over fifteen weeks in one illness.

The court will continue in session all week, and on Thursday afternoon they will have an outing at Toronto Island Park. An excursion over the C. P. R. and G. T. R. from various points east and west will run on Thursday in connection with the demonstration.

Business Failures.

TORONTO, June 9.—The Bradstreet Mercantile Agency reports the following assignments in Ontario: Oil Springs—Snively & Crites, general store, assigned to C. B. Armstrong, London. Toronto—Wm. Hewlett, sen., Hewlett Manufacturing Company; John O'Leary, plumber.

"Short" as Well as "Small."

OGDEN, Utah, June 11.—The court appointed by the M. E. Conference, which has just closed, to audit the accounts of Sam Small in connection with the university, report that they find him in arrears over $11,000. It was decided that the case be left with the Georgia Conference for whatever settlement Sam's brethren in the South deem best.

Mr. N. S. Hayes, of Atwood, Kan., who has been under the care of Dr. Graham with a cancer in the face for the past three months, returned home yesterday completely cured.

CHAPTER XXXIX.

ARTHUR AND A FRIEND TALK CONFIDENTIALLY.

Arthur and his bride were back again in Dublin, where Kitty had begged for a day or two of sight-seeing and shopping. Their return had been delayed a little on Anthony's account, but that redoubtable man continued unmoved, and Lady Frayne had said she could no longer dispense with Arthur's assistance at Doyne. His father's obduracy, which Kitty treated as a joke, affected Arthur more seriously. It was not at all to his liking, neither had it been any part of his scheme, to settle himself as a dependant upon Lady Frayne; but his present allowance from his father was insufficient for a comfortable married maintanence.

Arthur was galled in his spirit and uneasy; he had withstood Anthony in nothing, and he had a right to expect an only son's portion from a wealthy father. The course he had taken had seemed to him a quite legitimate method of attempting to force his father's hand; its failure or success so far was the more annoying and disquieting that he knew for how long a period Anthony was capable of maintaining his ground; and if this disappointment could not have been said quite to have overshadowed their honeymoon, it had hung over Arthur, at least, like a little cloud in his serene.

Kitty's enjoyment was full and complete. She said twenty times a day that she did not care twopence where or how they lived, since, in whatever circumstances, they must at any rate live together; unimpeachable honeymoon sentiments, which of course were greatly sustaining to Arthur. Kitty had him all under her own control; took on little airs of authority, on the plea that Arthur was still an invalid, and must be dieted and otherwise kept within bounds, which meant that he must never go out without his wife. To all of which Arthur submitted with exemplary contentment.

A day or two after their arrival in Dublin they met in Grafton street an old school friend of Kitty's, who, hearing then for the first time of the change in her little ladyship's fortunes, insisted on taking her home there and then to afternoon tea for a further and more detailed recital, Arthur being dismissed to rrturn to the hotel alone. His way took him past his father's bank; and in sight of the bank he was startled at seeing his father leave it, staggering under the weight of the celebrated and mysterious portmanteau. He had a car in waiting for him on to which, with the assistance of the carman, the bag was hoisted and Anthony, taking his seat beside it, was driven off. Arthur, standing within the shelter of the shop door, had watched the proceeding.

When the car had disappeared down the street an impulse seized him to enter the bank, the junior partner in which had been a college friend of his at Trinity.

The bank was just closing and the junior partner on the point of leaving.

John Tresidder, the junior partner, was son to the principal, and the bank of Tresidder & Co. had transacted the Carriconna business for generations.

"Your father has just been here," said Arthur's friend to him.

"Has he?" said Arthur, who did not care to say that he had just watched his father's departure from the bank.

Perceiving from Tresidder's words that his father had evidently made no mention of his marriage, Arthur went on to communicate that great piece of information, and to receive the rather astonished congratulations of the junior partner.

"Why, he never said a word about it," said Tresidder.

"He's hardly got over it himself yet," said Arthur. "So he's been here again today."

"Yes, we've seen a great deal of him lately. But, I say, where are you going, Nugent? Are you staying in town?"

"For a day or two," answered Arthur. "Look here, we are not five minutes from the hotel; come over and have a chat. Stay and dine if you will."

"Can't dine; but I've got an hour to spare, so let's go across."

As they went to the hotel Arthur deliberated how he could best say what he had on his mind without confessing his entire ignorance as to his father's affairs. His friend, however, smoothed the way for him by remarking suddenly:

"By the way, Arthur, I don't believe I've seen you since you came home, that's to say since the Carriconna balance went up so suddenly. Nice luck for you to get a wife like that and a fortune within six months."

"Well, I've got the wife anyway," laughed Arthur, "and to a man of my taste that's the better part of the two. But between ourselves, up to the present, I haven't seen a great deal of the fortune."

"Eh?" said his friend, "then what has your father been drawing at such a rate for?"

"Gad! I know a great deal less about it than you do, Jack," returned Arthur, not feeling too comfortable.

"But you know how he's been drawing on us, I suppose?"

"Not a bit," answered. And having said this much, he was compelled to say more.

"The fact is, my dear fellow," confessed Arthur, "we none of us know what has come to the old gentleman lately. He spends no money on the place, and as far as we can see none on himself, and talks as if he were poorer than ever. He bought a telescope, and rigged up the tower as an observatory, and engaged a lady to teach him astronomy; but those have been his only visible expenses, and they can't have amounted to much."

"That's odd," says Tresidder; "for I may tell you in confidence—in strict confidence, of course—that your father has been reducing his balance steadily for a long while past. That venerable portmanteau has become a joke in the bank; but he has carried away thousands in it."

It was Arthur's turn now to express amazement.

"Thousands!" he cried; "you must be joking, Jack."

"It's a fact, upon my word. My governor said the other day that your father must be graveling Carriconna with gold."

"What in the name of wonder can he be doing with it?" asked Arthur.

"Our only idea has been that he is making secret investments," replied Tresidder. "It's a fascinating game when you begin it."

"Yes, and a precious risky one, I should think, for any one as ignorant of it as the old gentleman must be. Why, he never had a shilling to invest until he got this money from my uncle. What does he know about investment?"

"Would you like me to say anything to my father?" asked Tresidder; "he might say a word to yours on the subject. Only, as you know," he added, "we, of course, cannot prevent him doing just what he pleases with the balance he has at our place."

"No," replied Arthur; "and what is worse, I am afraid nobody can. But I don't see that any mischief can be done if your father were to say something. He knows him well enough to be able to do that."

"I'd better tell my father, I suppose, that I've seen you," said Tresidder.

"Yes, you can tell him that; only don't let my father know that any suggestion came from me; he won't be in town again just yet, I expect."

"He has been to us every ten days or so for some months past," said Tresidder.

This was all they said upon that subject, and the conversation passed to Arthur's marriage, and his prospects therewith connected. Tresidder had left before Kitty returned. Arthur decided to say little to her in reference to what he had heard; he would talk it over first with Barbara.

CHAPTER XL.

A WEDDING AND A STORM.

Dora had not left herself much space for self-questionings, or debatings, as to whether she should, or should not, marry Trenchard. She had, in effect, given him her answer on the night when they met upon the road. But she did, of course, consider with herself once again, and long and deeply, before she sent an answer to his letter. True, she could not well have retreated at this moment; on the other hand, she had not, upon full and final consideration, any desire to do so.

To begin with, she was in love with Trenchard, and that would at any time have been reason enough for her. On the practical side, she would gain what it had been one of her chief objects in life to gain, since the days of her poverty in Paris, the ample and solid comforts of a wealthy home. Neither had she much fear for the future as touching Trenchard. Her influence, added to his own moral strength, would aid him to redeem himself.

So on the evening of the day that she received his letter she sat down and wrote that she would marry him.

Breakfast was scarcely over the next morning when she saw his tall lithe figure coming up the drive. He carried his arm in a sling, and walked rather slowly, but there was animation in his face and cheer in his voice as he cried "good morning" to Anthony, who was just setting out from his house. Trenchard turned about with him, and they paced the drive together.

Demonstrated.

Sometimes it costs hundreds of dollars to convince a man; very often less is required, but in the case of Polson's Nerviline, that sovereign remedy for pain, 10 cents foots the bill, and supplies enough Nerviline to convince every purchaser that it is the best, most prompt and certain pain remedy in the world. Nerviline is good for all kinds of pain, pleasant to take, and sure to cure cramps and all internal pains. It is also nice to rub outside, for it has an agreeable smell, quite unlike so many other preparations, which are positively disagreeable to use. Try it now. Go to a drug store and buy a 10 cent or 25 cent bottle. Polson's Nerviline. Take no other.

FUN, FACTS AND FICTION.

A lady says that the difference between a silk dress and a calico gown is material; but that's all stuff.

Among the pains and aches cured with marvelous rapidity with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, is ear-ache. The young are especially subject to it, and the desirability of this Oil as a family remedy is enhanced by the fact that it is admirably adapted not only to the above ailment, but also to the hurts, disorders of the bowels, and affections of the throat, to which the young are specially subject.

If you were to take the conceit out of some people the remains would defy identification.

A Dinner Pill.—Many persons suffer excruciating agony after partaking of a hearty dinner. The food partaken of is like a ball of lead upon the stomach, and instead of being a healthy nutriment it becomes a poison to the sytem. Dr. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are wonderful correctives of such troubles. They correct acidity, open the secretions and conver the food partaken of into healthy nutriment. They are just the medicine to take if troubled with Indigestion or Dyspepsia.

"UP WITH YOUR HANDS!"

An answer to which has more meanings than one. One is an answer to the question, "Your money or your life!" The other an action of surprise and also of gladness when we both see and hear of the good qualities possessed by the St. Leon Mineral Water in curing rheumatism. LONDON AND ENVIRONS.

—She wore my roses at her waist,
Oh! bliss, too deep, oh! joy, too keen,
As down the lighted room she paced
With step and bearing of a queen.
She wore my roses, did I say?
Well that is hardly what I meant;
I lost my sit the following day,
And paid the florist not a cent.

—The Quarterly Board, of Sherbourne Street Methodist Church, Toronto, has adopted a resolution strongly objecting to the action of the Transfer Committee in refusing to sanction the call of Rev. A. —Eli White, a Frenchman, was before Judge Elliot yesterday charged with stealing a pair of shoes from Nicholls' store, Longwood. White went into the shop and tried on a new pair of boots, as his own were too small, and walked away with the new ones, leaving the old behind. He was remanded until Monday.

—The many friends of the family will regret to learn of the death of Miss Mary Palmer, second daughter of the late James Palmer, of Delmer, and sister of James Palmer, of London West. The sad event occurred on Tuesday morning at the residence of her brother. Miss Palmer bore her sufferings for several months with Christian fortitude and resignation, and was beloved by all who knew her.

—Delegations from Petrolea and Chatham to attend the funeral of the late Sir John A. Macdonald passed through the city yesterday. The Petrolea delegation consisted of Messrs. J. Kerr; J. D. Noble, A. C. Edward, A. Pollard, R. I. Bradley, Dr. Longhead and others. About 30 from Chatham traveled in a special car under the guidance of W. N. Warburton, general passenger agent of the Erie and Huron Railway, chairman of the committee.

—The Medical Association of London held its regular meeting on Monday evening in the Medical College. There was a fair representation of the members, and a number of visitors and students were also present. Dr. J. B. Campbell read a paper on the "Convulsive Affections of Children," and Dr. W. Woodruff read a paper on the treatment of "Phthisis." The papers were discussed by several of the members. The association has now been in existence for about nine months and is every month growing in numbers and in interest to the profession. A resolution was passed not to hold meetings during the summer months, and the next meeting will be held on Oct. 5.

—T. Chinnick and family, of East London, left yesterday to reside permanently in Calgary.

—Secretary Browne, of the Western Fair, is a busy man these days. The greatest farmers' exhibition in Canada promises to fully merit its name again this year.

—"A resident of Palace street' writes complaining of the saucy children who play on that thoroughfare, and he also calls attention to the unclean condition of the street.

—The Conservatives of this city have passed a resolution expressing their sympathy for the relatives of the late Sir John A. Macdonald and have forwarded a large floral tribute to Ottawa.

—An excursion from Glencoe and points west of that town on the Grand Trunk passed through the city yesterday for the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph. It was largely patronized.

—The Omaha Bee of Sunday contains an extended report of the wedding of Charles T. Cullen, of Pittsburg, and Miss Stella T. Hanlon, of that city. James R. Dewar, son of J. S. Dewar, this city, was best man.

—Thousands attended the Seventh Band's second concert in Victoria Park Tuesday. A feature of the programme was the rendition of Chopin's "Dead March" as a tribute to the memory of the late Sir John A. Macdonald.

—Rev. Father James Walsh, pastor of Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Toronto, formerly of London, and secretary to Archbishop Walsh, has left on a trip to Europe. Father Walsh will visit Ireland during his trip for the first time in fifteen years.

—There is a bad hole on English street next the sidewalk at the Carling creek bridge. Mrs. George Cox, of Elias street, fell into the hole the other day and fractured her ankle, and will be three or four weeks confined to the house. The place has been in need of repairs ever since last fall.

—At yesterday's meeting of the Niagara Conference, in adopting the report of the Committee on Temperance, it was resolved "That, we indorse the joint memorials from the London Temperance Union and Commercial Travelers' Circle, and express the utmost disapproval of the treating custom as unnecessary to business and very seductive to evil influences."

The Congregational Church Concert.

A musical and literary entertainment in the First Congregational Church lecture room Tuesday drew a fair crowd. The affair was one of marked merit, as the names of the contributors indicate. H. Mathewson was the chairman. Following was the programme: Piano solo, "Triumphal March," Mr. E. Green; song, "Gathering the Myrtle with Mary," Miss H. Gardner; recitation, Walter Crawford; flute solo, Mr. Smith; song, "I'm King o'er Land and Sea," Jas. Connors; song, "Possibly," Miss Mutch; quartet, "My Old Kentucky Home," Messrs. Annundson, C. Pink, Brock and Greenway; double quartet, "The Belfry Tower;" duet, E. Green and W. Bryanton; song, "The Song that Reached My Heart," Miss Hiscott; song, "The Yeoman's Wedding," Mr. Pink; recitation, Walter Crawford; chorus, "See Our Oars," the choir; "God Save the Queen." E. Green made a very efficient accompanist. The recitals of Mr. Crawford were both encored.

Methodist Mission Bands.

A large number of ladies representing the various auxiliaries and mission bands of the Woman's Missionary Society of city and suburbs met in the Wellington Street Methodist Church to hold their quarterly union meeting, Mrs. (Rev.) G. W. Henderson presiding. The secretaries of the following city auxiliaries presented encouraging reports: Queen's Avenue, Dundas Center, South London, London West and Wellington Street. The country auxiliaries reporting were Westminster and St. Johns. The mission circles reporting were Dundas Center, Queen's Avenue and South London. An admirable paper was read by Mrs. McMechan on "The Need of a Special Paper for the W. M. S." Mrs. Wright gave a most interesting talk on "The Relation of Women to Mission Work," and "What Claims the Work Has on Us as Women," being an urgent and effective plea for women's work. The exercises were varied by a solo rendered by Miss Raymond, Mr. Pococke presiding at the organ. After the meeting was concluded an adjournment was made to the lecture room, where refreshments were served and a most enjoyable social time was spent by all present.

The Water Commissioners.

Chairman Jones, Commissioner Davis, City Engineer Tracy, Secretary Ellwood and Inspectors Platt and Plastow attended the water commissioners' meeting last evening. H. Hunt, 88 Van street, asked the Board to repair a broken water pipe on his premises. The request was refused, as with over 5,000 services it was considered that a compliance would establish a troublesome precedent. The city solicitor informed the commissioners that in respect to prompt action in making the required alteration at the waterworks dam, the Attorney-General would stay proceedings. A letter from No. 3 Committee stated that four hydrants in the city needed to be moved outside the sidewalk for street watering purposes. The Board will act accordingly. A two-inch water main will be laid on Bathurst street east of Adelaide and a four-inch one on Pall Mall street between Colborne and Waterloo. H. Johnson asked for remission of rate owing to tenant leaving. Rebate from the time notice was given was allowed. Instructions were given to have the pump houses and the hydraulic machinery thoroughly painted.

BEECHAM'S PILLS cure Bilious and Nervous Ills.

Average Woman—How am I to know which is poison ivy and which isn't? Average Man—By looking at it, of course. How else would you know? One has three leaves and the other five. Every man of sense knows that, and I don't see why women shouldn't. "Yes, I know, my dear, but which kind is the poison kind?" "Why, you goosey, the three-leaf, of course, or the five-leaf, I forget which."

Nothing impure or injurious contaminates the popular antidote to pain, throat and lung remedy and general corrective, Dr Thomas' Eclectric Oil. It may be used without the slightest apprehension of any other than salutary consequences. Coughs, rheumatism, earache, bruises, cuts and sores succumb to its action.

To nearly all men a good cigar is an invaluable companion, but a bad one is intolerable. The latter may be easily avoided by procuring a brand that is recognized by the smoking public as above reproach. The leading favorite in the race is the Highland Lassie, a 5 cent cigar, and one of the choicest makes on the market. H. McKay & Co., this city, are the manufacturers, and their shipments extend from the Atlantic to the Pacific.
